Allied War Lull Begins Despite Four Attacks By Red Guerrillas

SAIGON (Thursday)—A military spokesman said today the Viet Cong had violated their announced cease-fire for the lunar new year with four attacks on Vietnamese outposts near Saigon and an assault on a village near Hue, about 390 miles from the capital.

The Communists had announced on their clandestine radio that they would observe a truce beginning at 11 p.m. Saigon time and lasting for four days.

BY MARCH 15 LBJ Asks Quick Okay For Revisions On Tax

WASHINGTON—President Johnson Wednesday asked Congress to give quick approval to tax revisions that provide nearly $6 billion more over the next year and a half for the Viet Nam war.

The president wants his new tax bill passed and on his desk before March 15.

That's what Johnson told Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark) Chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, as Mills opened hearings Wednesday on the proposed legislation.

Both the President and Sec. of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, who was the first witness before the committee, emphasized that the administration has this choice:

Accept a budget deficit in the coming year of $6.5 billion, or raise some taxes. "I chose to raise the money," Johnson said in a letter to Mills.

But he said he decided against raising corporate or personal income taxes.

Car Found 24 Hours After Crash

Longtime Residents Of Spade Victims

LITTLEFIELD—Two Spade women were found dead Wednesday in the wreckage of their late model car, after it apparently ran off the road and crashed into an excavation pit 24 hours earlier on FM 54, after 2.8 miles east of Littlefield.

Department of Public Safety identified the victims as Mrs. Mary Alice Mouser, 68, and Mrs. Mary Greer, 79, both longtime residents of Spade.

Their bodies and the wreckage was discovered about 11:30 a.m. Wednesday by Johnny Gallini and Lindell Holly of Spade who were searching for the pair after they failed to return from a shopping trip to Littlefield.

Texas Highway patrolmen who investigated the incident could give no apparent cause for the one-car crash. Justice of the Peace James Bowen of Littlefield ruled the women had died of injuries received in the wreck, after conducting an inquest at the scene.

The car, owned and driven by Mrs. Mouser, was discovered by Collins and Holly in an excavation, 20 feet deep, 60 feet wide and about 130 feet long. The car was about 120 feet from the road.

Patrolman Bill Angel, who conducted the investigation with patrolman Weldon Parson, said that the women were last seen alive about 10:30 a.m. Tuesday. There were no witnesses to the accident.

The car was believed to be traveling west on FM 53, Angel said. The women had left their Spade homes on a shopping trip to Littlefield.

Apparently the car went off the road and traveled 112 feet before hitting the excavation, and then sailed another 56 feet before hitting the north side of the pit. Although the car was near the road, it could not be seen from the highway, Angel reported.

Mrs. Mouser's body was found pinned under the steering wheel, while Mrs. Greer's was discovered just outside the vehicle.

The car apparently did not turn over and was found with its front into the north side of the embankment.

The deaths were the fourth reported in the area.

NEXT YEAR Schools Due Massive TB Test Series

ATLANTA, Ga. — A task force plans such mass testing for tuberculosis in public schools next year that it hopes a whole generation of school children can grow up without the disease.

Officially, the reaction from other union leaders and from government officials to Reuther's proposal was a deafening silence.

But, privately, many highly placed officials found it astonishing that any strike limiting suggestion should come from a labor leader of Reuther's stature.

Reuther left everyone in the dark about whether such machinery to forestall strikes would be voluntary or compulsory.

What are they going to do, government spokesmen put it.

Reuther said that while he was crumming for term exams at Tech some of his "friends" apparently crammed his car with old newspapers, making it impossible to cram anyone into it. Now, he's all out for an anti-litter campaign. (Staff Photo By Jim Coker)

ANTI-STRIKE PLAN Reuther Proposal Stuns Labor Chiefs

WASHINGTON — Organized labor, already puzzled over President Johnson's anti-strike proposal, was further mystified over a somewhat similar suggestion from one of the nation's top union chiefs.

Like Johnson, Walter P. Reuther, Auto Workers Union president gave no details in proposing a "new mechanism" to prevent strikes in public service industries as well as major industries like Big Steel and auto makers.

Moisture Possible For Area

Fog Hits Plane, Highway Travel

By DAVE KNAFF
Avalanche-Journal Staff

A frigid front prowled the nation's midsection Wednesday, unleashing 12-inch snowfalls, sleet and freezing rain before aiming its full fury at the Texas Panhandle-South Plains area and threatening it with the season's coldest temperatures and new snow.

The frigid blast is due to knife into the Panhandle early today, driving southward over the Plains by tonight while dropping the mercury 10 to 12 degrees below freezing, where it is expected to remain throughout Friday.

A bitterly cold weekend also is in prospect.

The U. S. Weather Bureau Station, Lubbock Municipal Airport, said snow flurries would accompany the front into Texas but no heavy accumulations are anticipated.

As the vast storm pushed into the nation from Canada Wednesday it dumped a foot of snow on the southern Rockies and flailed the southern and central plains with snow, sleet and freezing rain.

Intense cold gripped the upper Midwest and zero weather chilled the Midlands as far south as central Illinois and southern Iowa.

As Texas braced for the third blast of winter in a week, freezing mist and fog hampered Panhandle traffic and cut visibility in the Dalhart and Borger areas to about two blocks late Wednesday.

Children also reported freezing mist and drizzle in that area Amarillo had freezing drizzle and Wichita Falls heavy fog.

Earlier in the evening, snow fell over a large portion of the state as the Arctic front advanced. At one time, snow or sleet fell in a 60-mile wide area from 10 miles south of Fort Worth to Tyler and Grand Saline.

Another snow belt stretched over the Sulphur Springs-Commerce-Cooper triangle in northeast Texas.

None of this weather, except for fog, was due to reach the South Plains Wednesday night. Generally, area residents welcomed the brief respite after the "surprise" snowstorm of Tuesday night and early Wednesday.

The widespread snows forced some South Plains schools to close, snarled highway traffic and disrupted airline schedules.

Dense fog added to the dilemma. See ANOTHER Page 18

BALTIMORE Churchmen, Taverns Join In Beer War

BALTIMORE, Md. — An odd alliance of preachers and publicans has shaped up against one of the oldest partnerships in the field of human recreation: beer and skittles.

Church and tavern leaders are determined to keep Baltimore bowling alleys beerless.

The men of the cloth expressed fear that a mixture of suds and tempers threatened the moral fiber of the city.

Makes For Competition
The saloonkeepers said they had competition enough without bars in the bowling emporiums.

Ranged against the no-beer element at a Liquor Board hearing Tuesday were 41 pro-beer bowling league presidents, counsel for 21 bowling alleys and petitions signed by 5,400 bowlers for beer.

Awash in the foam of argument, the board recessed until Feb. 8, when it will hear further evidence.

Bowling Alley Appeals
At issue is a bowling alley appeal for exemption from a rule limiting the number of retail alcohol outlets per election district.

In most districts, the taverns got there first and the alleys can't obtain bar licenses.

Reville S. Armiger, representing a group of alleys, argued that beer bars among the skittlers would help keep the bowlers off the hard stuff.

"Where we don't have a beer license they bring in whisky," he explained, Armiger said the alleys deplored this practice because many of their leagues are composed of teen-agers.

Joshua R. Wheeler, assistant superintendent of Baltimore County Schools, rebutted:

"I question the wisdom of developing recreational facilities for teen-agers and also dispensing alcoholic beverages."

MACHINE 'KNOWS' VOTERS

Democrats Rent Computer For Super Campaign Aid

By LESLIE CARPENTER

WASHINGTON—The Democrats are first with the most in politics by computer.

At a cost of $16,000 per month in rental and salaries, the Democratic National Committee has that mechanical marvel, the IBM 1401. As big as a room, it is capable of making Democratic candidates pen pals with virtually every voter, while the computer does all the work.

Letters In Jiffy On its tapes and punch cards it can catalogue Americans by sex, race, religion, national origin, economic status, special interests and the like. A press of buttons can pull out Protestant women of Scandinavian ancestry with a high school education who have at one time done volunteer work for Democratic candidates.

When the same cards are reinserted, the machine will write each a letter, sign it, address the envelope and stamp it. So far, the machine, delivered last month, is only being used to help freshmen Democratic Congressmen who won in the 1964 Johnson landslide get re-elected. But its full potential of electronic miracles will surely be put to work on a national basis for the 1968 Presidential election. The Republicans will no doubt have one by then, too.

Technique For Re-Election The first-term Democratic Congressmen who furnish the envelopes can have them addressed at a rate of 36,000 an hour. The machine can also sort out his constituents so that if he wants to write every voter in his district who has sent him a letter in favor of Administration policy in Viet Nam, it can be done automatically and ever so easily.

The machine is merely one of many new techniques attempted by the Democratic National Committee to re-elect the 71 new House members, mostly from Republican districts, who won last year. Indications are the efforts are paying off. Reports from all over the nation are that most of them have a good chance of coming back to Congress.

Public Relations Aid A five-man team from the committee's public relations staff has been working with the freshmen Congressmen all year teaching them how to make interesting radio and television home, how to write "newsletters" for general mailings and how to get into the news columns of their district's newspapers.

The committee has seen that the first-termers meet bureaucrats who have the most money to talk over how federal spending can be increased in their districts. And when grants are made for projects in their towns, they are tipped off first so they can announce it to the newspapers and get the credit.

Flow Of Information President Johnson wants the flow of information between the departments and agencies of government stepped up. He has ordered out to the top officials of his Administration to tighten the organization of their offices. To use his word, he is insisting on "lean" staffing. He means you increase efficiency and move papers faster with fewer people if they are good at their jobs.

He reasons that decisions can be made quicker if information is transferred at a faster clip. The McGeorge Bundy office in the White House is a case in point, whether Bundy leaves for the presidency of the Ford Foundation or not, his office is due to be reshaped along tighter lines to speed the movement of national security information to the President.

Johnson thinks there are too many "hedge rows and delays" in key federal offices, not to mention "excess fat" in the staff, according to an important official.

Address To Congress President Johnson will again deliver his State of the Union message to a joint session of Congress in television's "prime time."

Last year, he became the first President to make the speech at night. Out of habit rather than consideration for citizens wanting to hear the very important address, other Presidents have always faced Congress at high noon.

While he chose the session's opening day for his 1965 speech, he probably will schedule it for later in the week in 1966. Congress opens on Monday, Jan. 10.

Big City Legislation The delay would give a little more time for budget decisions which must be resolved before his new domestic programs can be settled. The big decision is how much he is willing to spend on new proposals still under consideration.

Essentially, he wants new federally sponsored attacks on the problems of cities. Johnson expects to have the organization of the new Department of Housing and Urban Affairs blueprint, with its top officials, including a Cabinet Secretary, appointed by the time Congress

'CONVERTED' RUSSIAN PREACHER

Strong In His Non-Faith, He Won Pravda's Blessing

MOSCOW (UPI) — A former preacher who was "converted" to atheism won praise here for sticking to his non-beliefs despite attempts to assassinate him.

The newspaper Komsomol Pravda told how Mikhail Sergeyevich gave up his wife and son to become an atheist propagandist, spent weeks leading another little boy away from religion, and appeared as an expert witness at trials of persons charged with practicing illegal faiths.

He picked the only true vocation," the paper said. "He declared war on faith and its slaves."

The paper said Mikhail became a well known preacher in a Lithuanian sect called the "50-Man Adventists," one of the many fringe sects banned by Soviet law.

But he suddenly swung to the other extreme and became "an active atheist." His wife divorced him "because I cannot live with an anti-Christ."

Other members of the sect sent Mikhail threatening letters and packages containing knives. Three days after the trial of a member of the sect, he was fired upon by another member, who missed.

In the past six years, the paper said, Mikhail has persuaded more than 40 persons to give up religion.

For his pains, it said, he received only more pain. Mikhail is now in the hospital with injuries to his right lung, which the three crew members were able to take showers inside their ship, the article said.

SEAMEN PLAN STRIKE TOKYO (AP) — The All-Japan Seamen's Union has announced it will start another 14-day strike Jan. 24. The 134,000 member union has staged three similar strikes since November in campaigns for higher wages.

The union said it would tie up 47 ports and 1,239 ships.

Both books are early works by Stalin, considered "classics" in their field, and are apparently non-controversial to the present Kremlin leadership.

One deals with the question of nationalities and the other basic ideological problems.

But the sources pointed out that the publication of "Marxism and the national question" and "problems of Leninism" should not be considered political rehabilitation of Stalin.

Instead, they said, it is intended to introduce a measure of objectivity on the major historic role he played during his lifetime despite his lust for power and the bloody purges of the late 1930s.

Publication of Stalin's work have been banned since 1956 when former Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev launched a de-Stalinization campaign which depicted the man who ruled Russia for almost 30 years as a common criminal.

Reds To Publish Banned Books

By Josef Stalin

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet authorities will shortly publish two banned books authored by Josef Stalin in an apparent Kremlin effort to give credit where credit is due to the former ruler, informed sources said Wednesday.

Both books are early works by Stalin, considered "classics" in their field, and are apparently non-controversial to the present Kremlin leadership.

Sukarno To Get Public Support

SINGAPORE (AP) — Radio Jakarta announced Wednesday that President Sukarno is getting a public show of support today from his cabinet ministers and the four chiefs of the Indonesian armed forces.

The station, which fell under army control with frustration of a Communist-backed coup last October, said the declarations of these officials will be made public at the presidential palace in Jakarta.

The Cabinet ministers and armed forces chiefs also will express their support for Sukarno's drive against enemies of the Indonesian revolution, it said.

Another broadcast from the capital of Indonesia, which has ousted Western newsmen, said Sukarno will make an important statement today. There was no hint of the subject, but there was speculation that it would concern Indonesia's food crisis.

Jakarta has been the scene of violent demonstrations recently protesting soaring prices for food.

One Killed, Four Hurt In Crash Near Hedley

HEDLEY, (AP) — A Sheppard Air Force Base airplane was killed, two companions and a Colorado couple were injured Wednesday in a two-car crash on snow-slick U.S. 287 one mile east of here.

Hedley is about 90 miles northeast of Amarillo in the southwest Texas Panhandle. Killed was Cludis R. Barnett, whose hometown was not immediately learned.

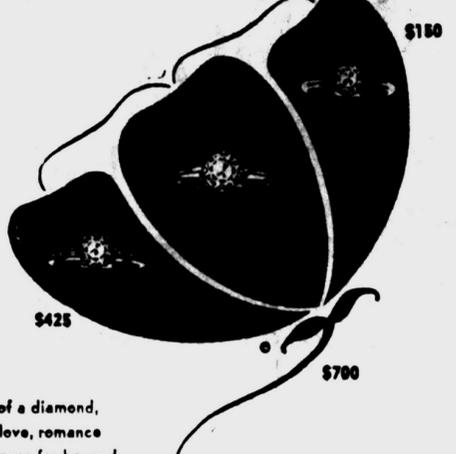

In serious condition at Hall County Hospital in Memphis, Tex., were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Urdy of Denver and Andrew Moryham of Sheppard AFB near Wichita Falls. Larry Branum, also of Sheppard, was in satisfactory condition.

The Department of Public Safety said one of the drivers apparently lost control of his car and it flipped into the other lane of traffic.

EVOKES CLASHING REACTIONS

Nixon Maintains Strong Position In Party But Nomination Doubted

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion... Since the defeat of Richard Nixon in 1960 by the smallest number of popular votes in any election since 1888, he has retained a strong position within the ranks of the Republican party.

once lost a presidential race. Not in this century has a candidate won a second time after an earlier defeat. This was the fate of William Jennings Bryan, Thomas E. Dewey, and Adlai E. Stevenson.

Republicans would like to see him become the President, they take a pretty dim view of his chances. At the same time an overwhelmingly majority of all voters believe that Mr. Nixon harbors presidential aspirations.

parking lot and yelled for help from a man who was getting into a car. The man, identified as Jack Douglas, followed by car to Amherst Street and College Avenue, where the suspect got into a car and escaped.

When typical voters—Republicans, Democrats, and Independents—were asked what they liked best and least about Mr. Nixon, a total of 49 per cent named at least one characteristic or quality they liked; in contrast, 46 per cent named something they disliked.

District Judge Warns Against Discussing Case

BASTROP (AP)—Dist. Judge Leslie D. Williams warned officers of his court "from the sheriff up or down" against saying anything about "any case, any crime, anything, until it comes into this court."

Williams, of Brenham, made the comments Tuesday in accepting a jury for the first murder trial in his court under the new State Code of Criminal Procedure, the Austin Statesman reported.

Code Criticized Many lawyers and all news media have criticized the new code which went into effect Jan. 1. Newsmen are particularly concerned with a portion of the code which says, "It is the duty of the trial court, the attorney representing the state, the attorney representing the accused and all officers of the law to insure the defendant a fair trial upon the presumption of innocence and at the same time afford the public the benefit of a free press."

SON SLAYER

Greek Father Sentenced By Family, Axed

WUPPERTAL, Germany (UPI)—A Greek family sentenced their father to death and then watched while a son carried out the execution with an axe, city prosecutors said here.

The prosecutors said the grandmother, wife, two young daughters and the son of 41-year-old Salonika-born Miliadis Vlachos decided Sunday night he should die for allegedly seducing the son's wife.

Family Watched

Then, the prosecutors said, the whole family stood in the doorway of the bedroom where Vlachos lay sleeping and watched while the son killed him with an axe.

VIOLENCE COINCIDES WITH POLITICAL UPHEAVALS

Murder, Arson, Rioting Leave Scores Dead In Capital Of Western Nigeria

IBADAN, Nigeria (AP) — Monday in this capital of western Nigeria, residents said, scores of people were killed in a military regime in Nigeria, political upheavals that ultimately placed Maj. Gen. Johnson Aguiyi Ironsi at the helm of the military regime in Nigeria.

Africa's most populous country. Army officers who plotted overthrow of the government seemed to be losing out Wednesday in their struggle with Ironsi for power. The general consolidated his position with the appointment of military governors to rule the country's four regions. He said disturbances must stop in parts of western Nigeria or he would have to use "firm military measures."

flames from dozens of burning houses, shops, clubs and cars lit the night.

Maj. Chukwuha Nzeogwu, who led the army revolt in Kaduna, capital of the vast northern region, announced he had come to terms with Ironsi. "We have pledged allegiance to Gen. Ironsi on behalf of all the men who for some unknown reasons were referred to as rebels," declared the tough, 28-year-old major.

But he claimed he had not surrendered to the Lagos authorities and warned that his men would fight if they had to.

A rumor reaching Lagos army headquarters, that Nzeogwu was planning to march south, so far has proved groundless.

Navy units ordered an American construction company to vacate the Lagos power station in case there was trouble. Small boats approaching ships in the harbor during the night were fired on.

The fate of former Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, kidnapped in the early hours of the coup, still was a mystery. Ironsi claimed he had launched an all-out search and it was known that an army major believed involved in the abduction was being hunted.

INDIRA GANDHI GREW UP IN POLITICS
New Indian Leader Points To Tasks Ahead, Is Enthusiastic For Position

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The oldest child of the late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, Indira Gandhi, once said: "I like politics. I don't like being in the public eye."

Like it or not, as the next prime minister of India Mrs. Gandhi, 48, is in the public eye. And the indications are she likes it.

Fraught But Hardy
With some enthusiasm, she points to the tasks ahead to ease the many problems of India and promises to follow in the path of her famous father.

Can these multiple problems bend the slender, graying Mrs. Gandhi? A reporter asked about her health at a news conference shortly after the Congress party had elevated her to the prime minister's post. He mentioned that she was frail.

"I think those who have watched me grow know I am frail and hardy at the same time," she replied.

Politics actually have been a part of her life since she was a young child.

"I have no recollection of games or playing with other children," she has said. "My favorite pastime as a very small child was to deliver thunderous speeches to the servants, standing on a high table."

By the time she reached womanhood she was standing on a stage making speeches to cheering audiences. She was her father's companion and confidant.

Her mother died in 1937. In 1959, Mrs. Gandhi became president of the Congress party. She joined Shastri's Cabinet as minister of information and broadcasting and put long hours trying to streamline the agency.

This small, intense woman also kept her place on the elite, policymaking 21-member Working Committee of the Congress party.

In that capacity, her influence was formidable, and it was not by accident she was chosen by most of the top leaders of the party to take over as prime minister — the first time a woman ever has ruled India.

Mrs. Gandhi wears the traditional Indian sari. Unlike most Hindus, she is no vegetarian. Recently she stopped eating cereals because of India's campaign to conserve wheat and rice.

Her husband died in 1964. Two sons, Rajiv and Sanjay, were born in 1944 and 1946. She says she wants them to be scientists, not politicians. They are studying in England.

Her husband died in 1964 and Mrs. Gandhi lived with Nehru until his death in May 1964. With Nehru's death, Lal Bahadur Shastri, like Nehru a Gandhi disciple, offered to support her bid for the prime ministership. She refused and Shastri became India's second prime minister.

Thompson, 69, has been the Galveston area representative continuously since Aug. 23, 1947, and prior to that in 1933 and 1934.

Brooks was expected to announce for re-election soon. He and Thompson had told mutual friends earlier they would not announce their plans until after the courts ruled on the legality of the redistricting law.

In his announcement, Thompson criticized the legislature for the way it reshaped the districts. He also expressed surprise that the act was upheld by the courts.

Thompson's reaction upon passage of the redistricting law, he said, was "one of amazement, deep-seated anger and continuing resentment."

He said he was asked to run in whatever new district was "finally concocted" and received an "abundance" of money pledged and gratifying support of all kinds.

Thompson denied recurring rumors that he would be appointed an ambassador or to any diplomatic post. He said he and Mrs. Thompson have "no plans for the future except to go on living about as we do now, maintaining our home in Galveston and our house in Washington."

Both Thompson and Brooks are Marine veterans. Thompson is married to the former Libbie Moody, a daughter of the late Texas publisher and financier William L. Moody.

Thompson said he set in his mind the age of 70 as the "logical time for retirement." He will be 70 Aug. 1.

ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT
Thompson Ends Chance For Primary Fight With Brooks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clark Thompson (D-Tex.) said Wednesday that he would retire at the end of his present term.

Thompson's announcement eliminated the possibility of a primary contest between Thompson and Rep. Jack Brooks in the newly-created Galveston-Beaumont district along the Texas Gulf Coast. Brooks, 43, of Beaumont, has been a member of Congress since Jan. 3, 1953.

The reapportionment act passed by the Texas Legislature and recently upheld in federal courts threw the two men into the same district. The decision by Thompson gave a big boost to Brooks' chance for re-election.

Thompson, 69, has been the Galveston area representative continuously since Aug. 23, 1947, and prior to that in 1933 and 1934.

Brooks was expected to announce for re-election soon. He and Thompson had told mutual friends earlier they would not announce their plans until after the courts ruled on the legality of the redistricting law.

GEMINI-GAME
Bonehead Title To NBC-TV For Split Program

DALLAS (UPI) — The Dallas Bonehead Club will award its "Bonehead of the Year" award trophy to the NBC News Department Friday for its broadcast of a professional football game and the Gemini 7 launch Dec. 4 on the same screen at the same time.

"This is our only way of expressing the sorrow we have for those poor souls in the NBC TV News Dept. who must have sat up many a night trying to decide which program should have priority, then in a moment of complete frustration, threw common sense to the wind and blundered their mistake across the screens of millions of unbelieving television viewers," the Boneheads said.

NBC Washington bureau chief William B. Monroe will accept the trophy of walnut and silver topped by a large silver nut.

Jim Marshall, defensive end of the Minnesota Vikings, received the award last year for his 86-yard, wrong-way run with a fumble for a safety against San Francisco. Marshall caught the wrong flight to Dallas for the presentation and ended up in another city.

Confirmation Well Gauged In Howard

Wilburn H. Seals has completed an oil producer and one-half mile extension to production in the one-well Coronet (Canyon) pool of Howard County, one mile east of Vincent.

An open hole section from 7,433-73 feet was completed to flow 207 barrels of 45-gravity oil through an 18-64-inch choke in 24 hours. Gas-oil ratio was 290-1. Tubing pressure was 350 pounds per square inch.

The operation drilled to total depth 7,473 feet and set 5 1/2-inch casing at 7,453 feet. Location is 2,009 feet from south and 467 feet from west lines of Section 5, Block 25, H&TC survey.

Project Abandoned ANDREWS — Allen K. Trobaugh has plugged and abandoned No. 1 Monaghan & Rea, project in the Stateline (Ellenburger) area of Andrews County, 27 miles southwest of Andrews.

The operation drilled to total depth 12,280 feet. It spots 660 feet from south and east lines of Section 6, Block A-51, PSL survey.

Re-Entry Wildcat STERLING — A. E. Walker Jr. of Big Spring has scheduled a re-entry wildcat, No. 1 I. W. Terry, three miles southwest of Sterling City in Sterling County.

The operations will deepen to 7,000 feet for tests of the Clear Fork inside a previously abandoned 717-foot dry hole. That test was plugged in 1956, by Cincinnati Uranium and Oil Co.

Location is 467 feet from north and 2,200 feet from west lines of Section 11, Block T, T&P survey. It is on the southeast edge of the Elkay field, although separated from it by depleted wells.

New Producer Maresium Drilling Co. of Midland No. 3 E. F. McEntire has been completed as an upper Glorieta producer in the multipay El Kay area of Sterling County, three miles southwest of Sterling City.

On the daily potential test it pumped 72 barrels of 29.4-gravity oil plus 35 per cent water from perforations at 1,720-26 feet which had been stimulated with 500 gallons of acid.

The location is 1,467 feet from south and 2,053 feet from west lines of Section 7, Block T, T&P survey. The operation is a work-over of a former producer from the Clear Fork from perforations at 1,915-17 feet, which now is plugged back to 1,750 feet.

Test scheduled BORDEN — Curtis A. Kinser of Houston No. 1 W. J. McAdams is projected to 8,000 feet to try for production on the east edge of the Vealmoore (Pennsylvania) pool in Borden County, 20 miles northwest of Big Spring.

The location is 560 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of Section 26, Block 22, T-S-N, T&P survey.

Producer Completed HARDEN — Shell Oil Co. has completed dually the No. 1 J. T. Mulkey, the third well from the Osage and Chappel sections of the Mississippian in the multipay Thrash field in Northeast Hardeman County.

The Chappel sections was perforated between 8,733 and 8,808 feet, acidized with 1,000 gallons and potential for a daily flowing yield of 272 barrels of 53.2-gravity oil.

Flow was through a 10-64-inch choke under 2,050 pounds tubing pressure and gas-oil ratio was 2,258-1 The Osage was completed earlier from perforations at 8,905-55 feet. That sector, after stimulation with 1,000 gallons of acid, completed to flow 403.12 barrels of 53.2-gravity oil through a 10-64-inch choke with no gas-oil ratio reported.

Location is 10 miles northeast of Quanah, 1,000 feet south of the dual discovery of the field oil producers. Site spots 3,300 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of Section 10, Block H, W&NW survey.

The well flowed 102 barrels of oil through a 17-64-inch choke from perforations at 4,187-212 feet in 24 hours. Gas-oil ratio was 650-1. Gravity of the oil and stimulation of the zone were not reported.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of Section 24-T-3.

Wildcat Scheduled CHAVES — J. C. Maxwell of Fort Worth has scheduled No. 1 Superior-Federal as a 4,500-foot San Andres exploration, 18 miles north of Caprock in east Chaves County.

The venture is 660 feet from south and east lines of Section 4-6-73, and is five miles southwest of the recently opened Chaves area.

Oil Firm Given SEC Suspension WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission ordered Wednesday a 10-day suspension of trading in common stock and debenture issues of Associated Oil Gas Co. of Houston.

The commission at the same time ordered its staff to develop and clarify all pertinent information respecting the firm's involvement in a company that is using a new process to extract gold from ores in western Idaho.

The SEC action followed that of the American Stock Exchange Tuesday in halting the opening of trading in Associated Oil Stock.

On Monday, Associated Oil shares rose $1.50 closing at $8.50. The SEC order also covered trading in over-the-counter markets.

Associated Oil recently acquired a substantial interest in Salmon River Mining Co., which has rights to more than 40,000 acres of mineral leases in the Riggins area of Western Idaho.

Associated Oil's president, Walter L. Maguire, was quoted Tuesday as saying that a pilot plant has been operated by Salmon River for some months, using a new recovery process to extract gold from ores which heretofore had not been considered commercially usable.

Earlier investigations, conducted for the SEC by independent mining authorities, had challenged the gold-mining potential of operations conducted by another company in the Riggins vicinity.

IN AFRICA

Basic Link In Military Coups Seen

By MAX HARBELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.
(AP)—The experts think they see a basic link in the military coups which have toppled five African governments in two months. The entire continent, they say, is suffering from political repression, poverty and—in some instances—corruption. African specialists at the United Nations, including African diplomats, blame the recent coups on one or more of these factors.

Few Thought Immune
They believe that few of the 36 African countries are immune to the type of takeover that occurred in the Congo, the Central African Republic, Dahomey, Upper Volta and Nigeria since late November.

In fact, the publisher of the influential African periodical Jeune Afrique said the coups should serve as a warning to other governments, as well as to military regimes in the five countries.

The experts are unanimous in the belief that the uprisings stemmed from internal problems and that there was no foreign inspiration. They reject suggestions that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency had a hand in the coups. This theory had been advanced by some French newspapers and by some African students in foreign universities.

Foreign Policy Same
The internal motivation of the coups seems to be borne out by the fact that foreign policy has been affected very little. Although Dahomey and the Central African Republic have broken relations with Red China, there has been no basic change in foreign policy in any of the five.

Most African experts agree with the assessment of Bechir Ben Yahmed, publisher of Jeune Afrique, that political repression and lack of an opportunity to criticize and oppose the governments were at the bottom of the coups in Upper Volta and the Central African Republic. Internal political quarrels were blamed for the uprisings in the Congo, Dahomey, and Nigeria.

Underlying these factors were serious economic problems, including a general discontent with living conditions. This was aggravated in some cases by widespread corruption, ostentatious high living by officials, nepotism and alleged fraud in elections, the latter in Nigeria.

Nigeria Looked Stable
Many had cited Nigeria as the most stable country on the continent, despite internal disorders persistent since last fall's election. The Nigerian government was regarded as the nearest thing to democracy to be found in any of the new African countries.

Now these specialists are saying that if it could happen in Nigeria, it could happen to any country in Africa.

Approximately half of the new African countries have had coup attempts since they attained independence. In 17 years, 14 uprisings succeeded at least temporarily.

There is a notable similarity in posture taken by the new military rulers of the five African nations. Each insists that he acted only to rid his country of an impossible political situation and that he will step down as soon as a new constitutional government can be established.

Tech Grad Has Second Patent

Donald C. Pilkinton of Metuchen, N.J., a 1958 graduate of Texas Tech and former employe of the City of Lubbock, has been granted his second patent in less than a year.

Pilkinton, an electrical engineer with Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc. in Holmdel, N.J., was in charge of two-way radio maintenance for the City during his college years.

The patent is entitled "Signaling Circuit" and relates to a circuit which enables a circuit operation or equipment function to be controlled at a remote location. His first patent, entitled "Trunk Make Busy Circuit," was granted in April.

Pilkinton has been with Bell Labs and a resident of Metuchen since 1958. He is secretary of the Metuchen Lions Club and affiliated with various professional organizations. He holds a master's degree from New York University. He resides with his wife, Helen, at 4 Newman Street, Metuchen.

GRANTS FUNDS FOR PROJECTS IN 61 DEVELOPING NATIONS

U.N. Approves Largest Economic, Social Assistance Program In History

By JAMES BLY
 UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The governing council of the U.N. Development Program approved Wednesday funds totaling $104,837,200 for 84 economic and social assistance projects to 61 developing nations.
 Recipient governments will contribute an additional $150,822,000 for a total investment of $255,679,200.
Largest Programs
 The action marked the largest program of assistance to developing countries ever approved by the United Nations at a single time.
 Paul G. Hoffman, administrator of the U.N. Development Program, said 82 new projects were approved for assistance and further funds were given two projects which already were under way.

Including funds just approved, he said, the U.N. Special Fund has earmarked $384 million for development projects, with recipient countries contributing another $823 million.
FOR COUPLE
Wedding Drinks Ruin Marriage
 DENVER (UPI) — A wedding night bottle of champagne ruined marriage for Myrna and Arthur Dassart. Dist. Judge Saul Pinchick granted Dassart an annulment because he said his bride drank too much on their wedding night.
 "She drank too much champagne and got real sick," Dassart said. "The next day at noon she just left. I'm afraid I could never trust her again."

The projects range from preinvestment surveys and feasibility studies of a country's resources to support for applied research centers and establishment of technical training institutes.
'Reservations' About Project
 A total of 604 large-scale preinvestment projects affecting 130 countries and territories have been undertaken, he said.
 Hoffman confirmed at a news conference that the United States, in a closed session Tuesday, had expressed "reservations" about a project for Cuba to beef up the faculty of technology at the University of Havana.
 U.S. Ambassador James Roosevelt objected to the project on grounds that it was the Cuban government's own fault for establishing policies causing its trained technicians to leave the country.

 Hoffman said the Soviet Union had objected to projects in South Korea, South Viet Nam and Nationalist China.
Texas Unemployment Pay Drops Sharply
 AUSTIN (AP) — Total unemployment payments under the state unemployment insurance program dropped almost 39 percent last December compared with payments in December 1964, the Texas Employment Commission reported today.
 The 1964 figure was 159,658. Last December's figure was 99,110.
 Approximately 2,089,000 Texans are covered by the program.

and Nationalist China. The Soviet government reportedly claimed that the recipient nations were not genuine countries.
 Hoffman told reporters projects submitted are entitled to equal treatment and that project recommendations are not made on an ideological or political basis.
 "The importance of these projects," he said, "is the impact they will have on the development of specific economic sectors in the low-income countries."
 New fields of assistance, he added, include adult literacy training programs in Algeria, Iran and Mali and economic potential studies of large man-made lakes in Nigeria and the United Arab Republic.

Traffic Fatalities Hit Record High
 AUSTIN (AP) — Preliminary figures indicate there were a record 3,018 traffic fatalities in Texas last year, the Texas Department of Public Safety said this week.
 A heavy December toll of 345 traffic deaths—also a record—pushed the total above the previous high of 3,006 set in 1964, said Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the department.
 Garrison emphasized that the 1965 figures are tentative because of possible late reports not yet received and possible future deaths caused by 1965 accidents.
 The traffic death toll ran behind that of 1964 through 11 months of 1965.

TO PAY TAXES
Drake's Drum Will Be Sold
 LONDON (AP) — Drake's drum, one of Britain's greatest heirlooms, is to be sold to pay estate taxes.
 England's naval hero, Sir Francis Drake, took it around the world nearly 400 years ago. It became a symbolic rallying point for Britons and was immortalized in a poem by Sir Henry Newbolt:
 "Take my drum to England, hang it by the shore.
 "Strike it when your powder's runnin' low."
 Tradition says the drum will sound again when Britain is attacked.
 Capt. Richard Meyrick, a descendant of Drake, died two years ago. To meet estate taxes suffering from bronchitis since the Meyrick family called in Saturday.

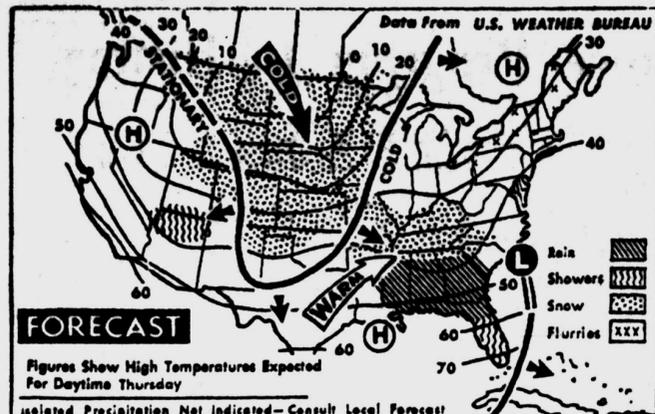

expects to value the drum and other Drake relics.
 The family insists that the drum remain in Britain and will offer it first to the government.
 Drake became the first Englishman to circumnavigate the globe in 1580 aboard the Golden Hind. In 1587 he commanded English ships against the Spanish Armada.
CANCELS FRENCH TRIP
 BONN (UPI) — Former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Wednesday formally cancelled plans to visit French President Charles de Gaulle on Jan. 26, a spokesman said.
 Adenauer, who was 90 on Jan. 5, has been suffering from bronchitis since the Meyrick family called in Saturday.

Bitterly Cold Air Spreads Over Europe

LONDON (AP)—Bitter winds from Siberia spread ice and snow over much of Europe Wednesday. Britain was warned to prepare for a cold spell lasting perhaps 30 days.

Temperatures in eastern England dropped to 12 degrees during the night, the coldest in three years. Thousands of industrial workers in the Midlands faced layoffs because gas supplies were inadequate to power factories operating.

Cold In Sweden Stockholm reported temperatures of 4 with the cold spell expected to continue.

In West Germany, temperatures dropped to 9 but snow and rising temperatures were forecast.

Western Austria shivered at 22, one of the coldest winters in memory. Vienna was blanketed under five feet of snow after an all-night blizzard.

Blizzards also interrupted road traffic in Hungary, and part of Budapest's tramway system collapsed because of the snow.

Heavy snow was reported in central Spain, but springlike weather prevailed in the south. It was 68 in Malaga, on the Mediterranean.

Moscow warmed up to 14 degrees, and traffic which had been slowed by snow moved slowly today.

In Italy, snow fell in hill towns near Rome for the first time this year. Near Turin, some stretches of the Po, the country's biggest river, were frozen over for the first time in 10 years.

Switzerland continued in a deep freeze with 20 recorded at the Jura Mountain village of La Drevin, near the French frontier.

Off the Polish coast, the Baltic Sea started to freeze for the first time this winter.

EARLY RULING POSSIBLE
Voting Rights Law
In Hands Of Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fate of the 1965 Voting Rights Act is now in the hands of the Supreme Court for a decision. Chief Justice Earl Warren says "has profound implications in the life of our nation."

An early ruling may be in the offing. Warren concluded two days of argument on the law's constitutionality Tuesday with praise for both sides of having "done what they can to accelerate an early judgment."

Twenty states joined the U. S. government in defending the law as an appropriate and constitutional means of assuring Southern Negroes of the right to vote. Six Southern states united to attack the measure as "arbitrary in nature" and unconstitutional punishment for the states.

The last word went to South Carolina Atty. Gen. Daniel R. McLeod who questioned the "tender solicitude" of states that sided with the Justice Department.

California, Massachusetts and New York come before this court and say illiterates in South Carolina should be permitted to vote. McLeod said "and yet they bar illiterates in their own states with literacy tests."

In a New York literacy test, he went on, questions such as these were posed:

"In what state was Jane Adams born? How old will the U. S. flag be in 1977? Who was president of the Constitutional Convention? What kind of suit was he wearing?"

Laughter erupted in the courtroom, dispelling the solemnity that had marked the hearing. Justice Byron R. White asked rhetorically with a smile: "how many people passed that test?"

Possibly tests of this sort may have weeded out a few well-educated persons in my state," McLeod replied.

IN LAND EXCHANGE
El Paso Lawyer Foresees
Second Rate Plan For City

EL PASO (UPI) — Former County Judge Woodrow Wilson Bean said here that "personal vested interests" and public apathy are threatening to make what El Paso gets out of the Chamizal land exchange second rate.

Bean said residents of Juarez, Mexico, also had heard reports that they were going to be hurt in the exchange. He said these unconfirmed reports included one that the slaughterhouse and stockyards in the Chamizal will still be operated when the area formally becomes part of Mexico.

Auditorium Too Small
The slaughterhouse and stockyards will be another unconfirmed report in Juarez is, according to Bean, that the Mexican government will put railroad yards on Cordova Island, which will adjoin a new river channel.

"On our side of the river, people have been asleep and as a result the federal government is going to build a small auditorium on the part of Cordova Island which we will get. The auditorium is going to be inadequate," Bean said.

Funds Okayed
The Budget Bureau has approved funds for the auditorium. Bean said El Paso may be losing its only chance to get an adequate civic center. He wants the government to finance a $6 million auditorium seating 10,000-12,000.

Bean thinks the United States government owes El Paso an auditorium for the "terrific amount" of taxes the city will lose by handing over 437 acres to Mexico.

He blamed "personal vested interests" as well as public apathy and said the El Paso city administration should concentrate on U.S. Rep. Richard White and U.S. Sens. Ralph Yarborough and John Tower, all of Texas, to see that his proposals get action.

Scientists Ask Future Weather Control Pacts

WASHINGTON (AP)—A scientific commission urged Wednesday that the United States seek international agreement to ban any future use of weather control as a weapon against civilians.

The group of weather experts and other scientists marshaled by the National Science Foundation made the recommendation in a report that noted man's limited progress towards mastering the art of weather and climate modification.

"It must be recognized that there is a remote possibility that sometime in the future a nation might develop the capability to use weather modification to inflict damage on the economy and civil population of another country," the report said.

It urged "early enunciation of a national policy" by the White House or Congress regarding international implications of weather-modification techniques.

Bank Vice President Indicted In Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—A former senior vice president of the Fair Park National Bank has been indicted by a federal grand jury on 24 counts alleging that he took more than $2,000 over a two-year period, court records showed Wednesday.

The indictment names Roy Holt Carroll Jr. Carroll is accused of misapplying funds and making false entries in drawing up false credit applications between 1962 and 1964. The amounts ranged from $2,500 to $1,500, the indictment alleges.

Gaines County Hires Deputy For Seagraves

SEAGRAVES (Special)—Lee Roy Joiner has been named a new deputy sheriff to be stationed at Seagraves by Gaines County Sheriff Alton Montgomery. He has assumed duties, replacing Glenn Roberts who resigned the post late last fall. Joiner served on the Seagraves police force for about 11 months in 1964. He has resided here the past five years and formerly was employed at a cartoon black plant near here. Recently, he has been employed by a Lubbock insulation firm, but has maintained his home here. He is married and Mrs. Joiner have two children, Vester Ed, 16, and Madelyn Carol, 12.

Attorney Denies Soliciting Man To Kill Ex-Wife

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Attorney Charles W. Hinman pleaded innocent Wednesday to charges he tried to hire two men to kill his divorced wife and Murray Chotiner, a prominent political figure who was her divorce counsel.

Hinman, 59, was arraigned in nearby Malibu on five counts of solicitation to commit murder.

He was accused of asking one man to kill Marcia Hinman, 27, and another to kill Chotiner, longtime campaign manager for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Chotiner flew home Wednesday from a honeymoon in the Orient saying "I just couldn't believe it" when told of Hinman's arrest. Chotiner was married Dec. 25 in Phoenix, Ariz., to Amelia Nemeth Mueller.

Authorities said Hinman was jailed 11 days last month for failure to pay a $4,000 legal fee to Chotiner. While there, they said, Hinman asked a cellmate to kill Mrs. Hinman.

Later, they said, Hinman tried to hire a door-to-door salesman to kill Chotiner.

Hinman, who had been jailed twice for failure to pay support for his three children, said he had no money to pay Chotiner. Mrs. Hinman insisted he was worth $1.5 million.

FUNDS AID VICTIMS CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—The $300,000 confiscated from an Italian Communist envoy has been used to provide pensions, scholarships and financial aid to 50 relatives of policemen killed by Red terrorists, the government announced. County Agents Changes Noted Bobby L. Lemons, assistant Hale County agricultural agent since 1962, has been employed as Mitchell County agent replacing Buddy Logsdon who becomes the Lamb County agent.

Lemons' appointment was announced jointly Wednesday by Mitchell County Judge Elmer Martin and extension district agent Billy C. Gunter, Lubbock.

Lemons, 27, holds a degree in agricultural education from Texas Tech where he was vice president of the Collegiate Future Farmers of America Chapter and active in the Aggie Club. He is married to the former Miss Janice Helmers, San Angelo. They are the parents of one daughter, Dawn, 2.

Logsdon, in moving to Lamb County, replaces W. R. Kilm-brough who retired recently after more than 30 years with Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

PERMANENT PAVILIONS PROPOSED FOR MIAMI PROJECT

Senate Okays Contribution For Inter-American Cultural, Trade Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed 56 to 18 Wednesday a bill to authorize a federal contribution of $9.5 million for an inter-American cultural and trade center near Miami, Fla.

Passage came after four hours of debate and after defeat of a motion by Sen. Frank Lausche, D-Ohio, to recommit the bill to the Foreign Relations Committee.

The measure now goes to the House, which last year passed a bill authorizing $15 million to finance U.S. participation in the center, known as Interama. House agreement on the lower figure is expected.

Congressional authorization for funds to finance a U.S. exhibit at the center also makes available to Interama a $22 million Community Facilities Administration loan which was approved contingent upon U.S. participation. The loan, approved last year, would be for construction of buildings and improvement of the land.

Sens. Lausche and John Williams (R-Del.) led the fight against the proposal. Lausche termed it "an indefensible pork barrel" project. Both contended the project is not essential and said money should not be approved for it at a time when this country's budget is going up because of the war in Viet Nam and the "Great Society" programs.

For Better Relations Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) argued that Interama would bring about closer and better relations between the United States and Latin American nations.

He said the center also would help alleviate unemployment in Dade County where Cuban refugees have added to the unemployment.

Interama has been described as a kind of Disneyland, World's Fair, industrial exposition, trade mart and amusement park.

Dr. Irving E. Muskat, chairman of the Interama Authority, says, "It will be a permanent showcase of industry, culture, government, sports and festivals of all nations in the Western Hemisphere."

Four major exhibition areas are planned for a 1,700-acre tract north of Miami.

In the international exposition, where Interama sought the U.S. exhibit, the plan is to have pavilions from all Latin American countries. Each would show, an Interama spokesman said, "the history, background, achievements and aspirations of its country."

The industrial area would contain exhibits from major companies, the spokesman said, "showing what each has done to contribute to the American way of life."

A theater for plays, ballets and concerts also is planned, along with an arena for sports events.

The focal point of the complex would be a 1,000-foot "Tower of Freedom," rising from the center of a lagoon. It would house viewing platforms and restaurants from Latin American countries.

Muskat says he received favorable response from Latin countries and from American industries when they were asked to exhibit. He said he encountered no opposition to having a permanent exhibit, which also means a permanent expense for exhibitors.

He said surveys showed a minimum of 75 million paid visitors would be expected the first five years.

Surprising medical facts about tension indigestion

Tests at a famous medical center show how one special formula beats even prescription-type products in fighting excess stomach acid, immediate cause of tension indigestion. This special formula is not an expensive drug, not difficult to get, but found in today's TUMS®. Stomach specialists know TUMS is no mere candy mint. In tests, today's TUMS fought stomach acid faster, more completely than even a prescription-type antacid costing six times as much. It is the medicine for tension indigestion. TUMS.

Plains Farming Varied Projects On Water Noted

By DUANE HOWELL
Avalanche-Journal Farm Editor

Sixty-five research projects dealing directly with various phases of water conservation and utilization are being conducted on the High Plains.

C. E. Fisher, superintendent and Shelby Newman, associate agronomist, both of the South Plains Research and Extension Center here, came up with that count in information compiled for the West Texas Water Institute at Texas Tech.

In addition, a large number of related research projects are underway, Fisher and Newman reported.

Among these are the development of improved crop varieties that will require less water, fertilization, weed control, land preparation, planting techniques and many others that contribute directly or indirectly to efficient use of rainfall and irrigation water.

The center here is conducting fine full-time water research projects on land forming, leveling, benching, irrigation requirements of major crops, methods of irrigation, skip-row planting, plant populations, crop climatological tests, sub-irrigation and plastic mulches to reduce evaporation.

Studying Grasses In addition, the center is conducting studies in cooperation with Texas Tech on drought-resistant grasses and the economics of conserving water on the High Plains.

Tech itself has 15 active projects on water, including an evaluation of systems used to recharge the underground formations. Ten Tech projects are devoted to various phases of groundwater hydrology.

Other Tech research includes studies on power requirements and efficiency of irrigation well pumps and power units. Tech also is studying the modification of playa lakes to reclaim run-off water and is investigating the biological plugging of irrigation wells.

The High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway has three types of projects dealing with water conservation. Major emphasis is being placed on multiple-purpose recharge wells and artificial recharge of lake water. Irrigation requirements of crops are being studied by the foundation and bench leveling techniques are being evaluated.

Eight studies are being conducted by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District headquartered in Lubbock.

Pollution Studied These include studies on possible pollution of water by pesticides and fertilizers, chemical quality of water, an observation well program, sediment in irrigation tailwater, a pumpage inventory on selected High Plains farms and artificial recharge.

The Texas Water Commission has worked on five surveys relating to contamination of groundwater. Other surveys by the Texas State Department of Health on quality and pollution have been completed.

Twenty water research projects are being conducted at the Southwestern Great Plains Field Station near Amarillo. These include economic studies of water use in various combinations of wheat and grain sorghum production.

Researchers there are studying the effects of different for-

Tech Faculty Members Slated To Attend Meets

Four faculty members from Texas Tech's School of Home Economics will participate in upcoming professional meetings in Texas, Arizona and Kansas.

Dr. Bill Lockhart, professor and head of the allied arts department, will speak on "Art in the Home" as one of the principal lectures of a family life seminar at Arizona State University, Tempe, on Feb. 10.

John W. Queen, assistant professor of applied arts, will judge exhibits at the Southwestern Texas Regional Scholastic Arts Show in Houston, Jan. 29-Feb. 2. The contest, sponsored by Scholastic Magazine, will draw entries from 37 counties.

Miss Mary Gerlach, assistant professor of home economics, and Mrs. Johnny Dorsey, instructor in clothing and textiles at Tech, will participate in a regional curriculum conference, Jan. 24-26, at Kansas State University, Manhattan. Mrs. Dorsey is a member of the seminar steering committee.

utility levels on water management of sugar beets and are conducting studies on infiltration rates of irrigation water.

The Agricultural Research Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station have five basic research projects underway at Big Spring.

These include studies on the effects of leaf size, chemicals, soils, crop residues and mulches on water losses by soil evaporation and by transpiration of plants.

97,000 Export Acres It looks as though there'll be more than enough cotton export acres to go around this year.

A preliminary count released by the USDA shows applications for 97,000 acres under the export option in Arizona, California, Texas, Missouri and Tennessee.

This probably will be somewhat higher in the final tabulation. But the application total appears certain to be far below the national maximum of 250,000 acres for the export option.

Deadline for applying for export acres has passed. Growers exercising this option must export all the production off their farms and can qualify for no cotton subsidies or price support loans.

Bill On Credit Set The Senate Agriculture Committee plans to begin consideration soon of a bill that would expand emergency credit programs for farmers.

An existing U.S. Department of Agriculture program of emergency credit is available for use in cases where farmers have been hit by natural disasters, such as droughts.

Now a subcommittee headed by Sen. Herman Talmadge of Georgia is preparing to consider a bill which could offer emergency credit in cases of economic disaster.

Hearings on the measure may open late this week.

Trial Is Delayed In County Court

Trial of Jackson Lasiter, 38, 1944 Ave. H, on illegal possession of barbiturates charges in County Court-at-Law No. 2 Wednesday was postponed a day when Lasiter's attorney announced that Lasiter was unable to go to trial.

Lasiter, who was in the courtroom Wednesday morning, was taken to county jail.

Appearing before the court Wednesday afternoon, Lasiter re-entered his plea of not guilty and Judge Pat Moore set his bond at $1,000 returnable to day. He had previously been out of jail on $500 bail.

The defendant was arrested at 703 Ave. L, May 16, 1965.

Guilty Pleas Entered Ronald Gene Graham, 17, 2641 E. Auburn, entered a plea of guilty to misdemeanor theft charges and Judge Moore sentenced him to three days in jail and fined him $125.

In County Court-at-Law No. 1, Wednesday, Judge Edwin H. Roedeker fined Billie Ausbie, 28, Carlisle, $200 and sentenced him to 30 days in jail after he pleaded guilty to a check law violation.

Five defendants who pleaded not guilty were placed under bonds.

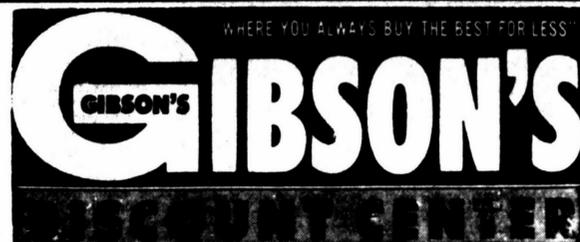

They were Freddie Lopez Garcia, 214 Ave. K, charged with using the telephone with intent to harass; Johnny Lee Davis, 21, 2702 Weber, and Eddie Hamilton, 24, 719 Ave. E, charged with check law violation; Urbano Gomez Jr., 19, 410 Ave. D, charged with shoplifting; and Jose Santana Guerra, 27, 702 Ave. K, accused of carrying a prohibited weapon.

Guerra, who is now facing a felony charge of murder with malice in connection with the Dec. 26 slaying of Paul Rios, was surrendered on a previous bond in the misdemeanor case.

Miss Tureck Due At 8 P.M. Concert Here

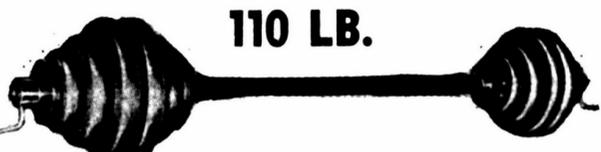

Through error, the concert time for the Lubbock Community Concerts Association's second event of the 1965-66 season, the recital appearance of the distinguished American pianist, Rosalyn Tureck, was given as 3:15 p.m. Saturday in the Monterey High School auditorium.

Nuclear Device Dented During Fall On Ship

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A nuclear missile was dented Wednesday when it was dropped several feet to the deck of the USS Luce at the docks. But the Navy said there was never any danger.

Demolition teams rushed to Mayport Naval Air Station, at the mouth of the St. Johns River in northeast Florida, and removed the missile. Sections of the base were sealed off.

Dirksen Plans Fight On Court Prayer Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said Wednesday that he plans to force a Senate battle this session aimed at overturning the Supreme Court's latest school prayer decisions.

The 70-year-old Illinois senator, who disclosed his plans in speech before the Washington chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalism society, refused to tip off his strategy in advance. But he said, "I do not intend to let nine million Americans, including children, where and when they can say their prayers."

WAR TILL YEAR 2000?

Gloomy Asian Picture Seen By Times Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — James B. Reston, an associate editor of the New York Times, said here that the war in Viet Nam was just the beginning "of an enormous battle of Asia" that could go on until the year 2000.

Reston, in an interview said "that battle will go on for the rest of the century, and Viet Nam is not the end of it, but the beginning."

"If we win in Viet Nam, the battle will still go on, and what I am afraid of is that we will try to score a great, smashing victory, thinking that will end it all, which it won't."

"Off the Track"

Reston said he thought the United States "began to get off the track in Viet Nam when the late President John F. Kennedy decided in 1961 to increase American troop strength."

Reston said he spoke with Kennedy following Kennedy's talks with former Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Vienna in the spring of 1961.

He said, looking back on the Bay of Pigs fiasco, that Khrushchev has decided that anybody who was stupid enough to get involved in that situation was immature and anybody who didn't see it all the way through was timid and therefore could be bullied," Reston said.

Wanted To Prove Point

"And Kennedy said to me then: 'We will never do anything with these people now, unless we make our power relative to them...' and it was at that time in order to make this power credible that he came home here, he increased the military budget by $6 billion, he sent the Rainbow Division to Germany and, most important, he escalated in Viet Nam—not because the situation on the ground demanded it in Viet Nam, but he wanted the 12,000 men in Viet Nam at that time because he wanted to prove a diplomatic point, not a military point."

"And, that, I think," Reston said, "is where we began to get off the track, in my view."

Reston said he felt the United States could best pursue its policies by limiting the Viet Nam war, possibly through defending only the perimeter of Saigon and the coastal areas where most of the country's people live.

LBJ "Wants Everything"

Reston also commented, during the interview, on President Johnson and his goals in the presidency.

"If you said he couldn't fly from here to the Washington monument, he'd get up on the 'Straw Vote' Slated In Denver City Area

DENVER CITY (Special) — A "straw vote" to determine whether Denver City residents would like an expansion of telephone service to include direct dial service to eliminate toll charges between Denver City and Higginbotham communities and, or, Plains, is expected to be conducted soon.

"Extended Area service" — direct dial without toll — was proposed for the three communities at a recent Denver City city council meeting.

Subsequently, Mayor Ike Toler conferred with representatives of General Telephone Company of the Southwest, which serves Denver City. Company officials said that they would cooperate in a "straw vote" ballot among Denver City phone subscribers to see if the service were desired.

rest and start flapping his arms. He just wants everything. He wants to be, I think, you know, to be loved, but wants to achieve whatever he sets out to achieve.

Reston said "one of the great misconceptions about Johnson" is the idea that "because he is not intellectual, he is not intelligent. He is an enormously intelligent man."

Reston said he spoke with Johnson in 1964 before the presidential election, and that Johnson told him: "You know, I want to do only one thing as President. I want to try to unite the American people. But I don't know whether we are far enough away from Appomattox that a southern president can really unite the people of this country, particularly against this big eastern intellectual press. They're trying to cut me up."

WOULD ABOLISH ELECTORS

Amendment For Electoral College To Get Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate Judiciary subcommittee will hold hearings Feb. 7 on a constitutional amendment to abolish the electoral college.

Under the proposed amendment, the electoral votes of each state would automatically be counted for the presidential ticket receiving the most popular votes in the state.

No Individual Electors

Each state would have the same number of electoral votes it does now but, through elimination of the electoral college, there would be no individual electors who legally may vote for anyone they please for president.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., is chairman of the subcommittee on constitutional amendments that will conduct the hearings.

But Bayh, who introduced an amendment to carry out President Johnson's recommendations, made clear in a statement that he is opposed to more far-reaching proposals for overhauling the presidential electoral system.

These include election of presidents by direct, popular vote, the division of each state's electoral vote in proportion to the popular votes received by each candidate and the election of presidential electors by districts similar to congressional districts.

'Time-Tested' System

Bayh said the system of each state casting its electoral vote as a unit for the presidential candidate receiving the most votes is "a time-tested and workable system which I, for one, would hesitate to exchange for an untried and unproven system."

750 EXPECTED

Hereford C-C Banquet Today

HEREFORD (Special) — Pete Pedersen, Dallas entertainer and comedian, will be speaker at the annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce banquet here at 7:30 p.m. today.

The event will be held in the high school gymnasium. The steak dinner will be catered by Walter Jetton, Fort Worth. Attendance of more than 750 persons is expected.

Highlight of the annual banquet will be the presentation of the Hereford Lions Club "Citizen of the Year" award.

Other Events

Officers and directors of the chamber for 1966 will be recognized.

W. T. Thompson, chamber manager, said a special presentation will be made to Dennis O'Rourke, president of Holly Sugar Corp.

New officers of the chamber include: Raymond White, president; Hilrey Aven, vice president; and Russell Carver, treasurer.

Population Of Denver City Set At 4,721

DENVER CITY (Special) — Denver City's current population is estimated to be 4,721 persons.

The estimate was based upon the number of municipal water and gas meters in operation here officials said.

The estimate is for the number of persons within the city limits. The population, as it was computed, would be nearer the 5,000 level if residents adjacent to, but outside of the city limits were counted.

Denver City's population at time of the official 1960 census was 4,302 persons. In 1950, the official count was 1,855.

OUTSIDE OF PRISON

Texas To Study New Plan For Inmates To Hold Jobs

AUSTIN (UPI) — Texas legislative leaders Wednesday decided to study a plan to allow inmates of the state prison to hold outside jobs to help support their families.

The study was approved by the Legislative Budget Board on motion by Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo at the close of the board's monthly meeting.

Hardeman proposed that the board staff look into the question of instituting a program in Texas patterned after one now in use in North Carolina. He said some 6,000 inmates in that state had earned over $4 million during the past several years, with about $1 million of it going to help support their families.

"These prisoners could be earning something—contributing to the support of their families in Texas and helping keep a lot of them off the welfare rolls," Hardeman said.

"We should begin to think about how we could cut down the cost in our prison system, and this sure would help," he said. The study was approved unanimously by the 10-member board.

AFTER GREAT SNOW

JFK Presented Inaugural Talk Five Years Ago Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five years ago Thursday men with plows and flame throwers finished removing a great snow from the Capitol Plaza and a young, vibrant voice rang out from the inaugural stand: "My fellow Americans: Ask not what your country can do for you—ask what you can do for your country."

Memories Of Day
Memories flooded back of that first, and only, inauguration of President John F. Kennedy.

Of the biting blizzard the night before that tied traffic in knots; of bonfires lit in an attempt to clear the surface of the mall along which Kennedy drove to the gala; of the bright sunshine but 20-degree cold of inauguration day; of the old poet, the late Robert Frost, blind and by the sun, unable to read a specially written poem, falling back on a poem he knew by heart, "The Gift Outright."

"The land was ours before we were the land's," he recited.

Then, beginning at 12:52 p.m. the new president spoke, reminding the nation that it is her to the Revolution for freedom begun by the forefathers.

"Let the word go forth from this time and place to friend and foe alike, that the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans."

History will judge how far up to now, the nation has progressed toward the goals delineated by Kennedy.

"Let us never negotiate out of fear," he said. "But let us never fear to negotiate."

Kennedy's successor seeks now to carry forward that policy in Viet Nam, with what results none can foretell.

If a free society cannot help the masses who are poor, it cannot have the few who are rich," Kennedy said.

His brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver, has now been assigned full time to the domestic drive against poverty and abroad multifaceted efforts are in operation. Some say too much is being done, some say too little.

To Kennedy, time was required to create "a new world of law, where the strong are just and the weak secure and the peace preserved."

All this will not be finished in the first one hundred days," he said. "Nor will it be finished in the first one thousand days, nor even perhaps in our lifetime on this planet. But let us begin."

IN HOUSE

LBJ To Ask For Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will send Congress a special message today urging adoption of a constitutional amendment to double the term of House members to four years, starting in 1972.

Johnson's message also will propose that the Electoral College, part of the system for electing presidents, be abolished.

In his Jan. 12 State of the Union address, Johnson said House members could "work more effectively in the service of the nation through a constitutional amendment extending the term of a congressman to four years, concurrent with that of the President."

As matters now stand, with all the representatives being elected every two years, he said, House members must divert enormous energies to an almost constant process of campaigning, depriving the nation of both the fullest measure of their skill and their wisdom.

He expressed belief that a longer term "will serve to attract more men of the highest quality to political life."

Scrapping of the Electoral College would not radically change the method of electing presidents through electoral votes of the states. A candidate carrying a state automatically would get all the electoral votes of that state. The proposal would merely abolish the present system of simultaneous electing people to cast those votes at a Washington ceremony.

AT ARRANGEMENT

African Leader Predicts Fall Of Rebel State

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — The African leader of the parliamentary opposition in Rhodesia predicted Wednesday the rebel Premier Ian D. Smith's breakaway regime might fall "at any moment."

Joseph Gondo, leader of the United Peoples party, would not say, however, how he thought Smith would be ousted from office.

"I have always believed in peace and avoid violence and killing," Gondo told United Press International in an interview. "I don't think we have reached the stage where any country is prepared to take action from outside."

Gondo said he believed the economic sanctions against Rhodesia—which include an embargo on oil—were beginning to bite.

"But one cannot say whether they will be sufficient in themselves to bring the present regime to its knees. If they continue and are intensified I do not think this country will survive," he said.

An indication the sanctions were beginning to hurt worse than Smith would publicly admit came from sources close to the oil industry.

The sources predicted further gasoline restrictions will be announced in the next few weeks with the possibility the present ration will be cut in half. The government announced Tuesday gasoline would no longer be supplied for holiday purposes.

Smith said in a television interview Monday he saw no immediate necessity for a cut in the ration and that "things are beginning to flow again"—meaning oil was coming into the colony despite the embargo.

Team Shooting Results Listed

Results of team shooting during Lubbock Junior Rifle Club matches this past weekend have been tabulated, revealing that two and four-man rifle teams from New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell, are winners in both categories.

The four-man team fired in competition with 19 others and recorded a score of 1512 out of a possible 1600 points.

The two-man team fired against 28 other teams and posted 765 points out of a possible 800.

Other four-man team winners were: high senior team, West Texas State University BUFF GUNS, 1511; high junior team, New Mexico Military Institute Junior Blue Team, 1,490; and high sub-junior team, Midland YMCA Sub-Junior Team, 1,367.

Additional two-man team winners were: high senior team, West Texas State University BUFF GUNS, 757; high junior team, Fort Concho Junior Rifle Club, 752; and high sub-junior team, Midland YMCA Sub-Junior No. 2, 698.

State Budget Board Hits Corporation Tax Measure

AUSTIN (AP) — A controversial payroll and property in Texas standards for state taxes on interstate corporations drew opposition today from the Legislative Budget Board.

The board voted unanimously to join Gov. John Connally and Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr in opposing the measure.

The House subcommittee on tax legislation is expected to report on the bill Jan. 26.

Carr and Connally sent letters to the committee, contending the bill threatens the fiscal independence of the states.

Kenneth I. Kimbro, chief clerk of the state comptroller's office, said the bill would alter the base of the state's corporation franchise tax, but would increase revenue from the levy by $15-20 million a year.

'Long, Difficult' Common Market Negotiations Seen

PARIS (UPI) — French ministers ended a two-day government sources Wednesday predicted long and difficult day night still sharply deadlocked on the crisis that has wracked the six-nation community since June 30 last year.

But they denied vigorously that in setting a timetable for solving the deadlock, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville had handed France's Common Market partners a new ultimatum.

They said the timetable was elastic and designed simply as a suggestion on how the quarrel could be ended in easy stages.

Test For Apollo Escape System Reset For Today

WHITE SANDS, N.M. (UPI) — Space officials will try for the fourth time today to give the Apollo moonshot's escape system its White Sands graduation test.

Two December tests of the astronautical life insurance system were cancelled due to mechanical troubles and a scheduled try Tuesday was postponed when New Mexico's usually azure skies were blanketed with a cloud layer three miles thick.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said Wednesday that chances of today's test coming off were "reasonably sure."

A blanket of snow covered much of New Mexico Wednesday, but no measurable amounts were reported at lower elevations in the White Sands vicinity. A second storm front was expected in the state today, but a NASA official said it looked as if the weather would break up over White Sands in time for the scheduled early-morning test.

The test calls for a Little Joe II booster rocket to soar 10 miles with an Apollo three-man moon module on its nose. At that point, a signal will ignite yet another multi-rocket engine which will jerk the Apollo free of Little Joe.

Three parachutes then will be freed from Apollo and will float the spacecraft back to the ground 20 miles downrange.

In previous tests, of which there have been six, Apollo mockups have been used, but an actual Apollo will be used in today's test. All previous tests have been complete or partial successes, and if today's test succeeds the system—which is designed to save the astronauts in case of booster rocket failure at launch—will be graduated to Cape Kennedy and a Saturn rocket.

LBJ To Speak At Independence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson will speak today at a ceremony in Independence, Mo., setting up an annual $50,000 Harry S. Truman peace prize.

Tied to the announcement will be the unveiling of plans for the Israeli-sponsored Truman Center for the Advancement of Peace. The center will be opened at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem.

Johnson will speak at the ceremony, the White House said. He is expected to leave the White House at 8:45 a.m. EST and arrive in Kansas City, Mo., at 10:45 a.m. CST. But it was not yet known when he would another multi-rocket engine which will jerk the Apollo free of Little Joe.

Labor Union To Ask Texas Members For More Money

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas AFL-CIO News, official publication of the Texas AFL-CIO, said Wednesday labor union members in Texas will be asked to ante up 10 months, and other matters an additional five cents a month of vital interest to the working people of Texas, the AFL-CIO News said.

The paper also said an immediate drive will be started to get contributions of $5 to $100 from individuals in the Texas labor movement, including an appeal for $100 each from 300 full time union officials in the state.

Success Needed
"Union members and union leaders make good money," the AFL-CIO News said. "Our major battles but the money wages and salaries are good primarily because of the actions of politicians who understand the labor movement. To get more of such politicians elected on the Texas and local level, we are going to have to part voluntarily, with some of our affluence."

The 1966 statewide convention of the Texas Committee on Political Education (COPE) is scheduled March 3 and 5 in Houston, with an area conference on March 4 for COPE representatives from Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas.

AMERICANS REACH SINGAPORE

Indonesia Newsmen Ask Chinese Reporters' Ouster

SINGAPORE (UPI) — American newsmen expelled from Indonesia arrived here Wednesday as Indonesian journalists demanded in Jakarta that President Sukarno oust Communist Chinese correspondents as well.

Radio Jakarta, in a broadcast monitored here, said the Indonesian government had issued after his decision to expel the Americans.

Sukarno ordered the American out for what he called the anti-Indonesian tone and treatment of news items in U.S. newspapers and magazines and warned against any further items of similar tone.

Their departure came as the Indonesian government announced today from Merdeka Palace what the rebel Premier Ian D. Smith's announcement would be was "at any moment."

The newsmen expelled included UPI Bureau Manager R. E. Stannard Jr., Associated Press correspondent Antoine Yared and New York Times correspondent Donald Kirk, an American.

They were the only three full-time representatives of U.S. news organizations based in Jakarta. AP Southeast Asia Manager Don Huth, who arrived hours after Sukarno announced the ouster Jan. 11, also flew to Singapore.

Stannard said in Singapore political tension in Jakarta was mounting to new heights.

Students took to the streets all last week protesting soaring prices and denouncing incompetence among Sukarno's unwieldy 97-member cabinet.

Continental To Begin Pure Jet Flights To City

DALLAS (AP) — Continental Airlines introduced Wednesday its first pure jet flights from Dallas to Lubbock and Albuquerque starting April 10.

Gen. Robert J. Smith, a director, said the airline has 12 DC9s on order with an option to buy six more.

He said the planes will trim flight time between Dallas and Lubbock to 55 minutes, compared to the one hour and 19 minutes now scheduled with Viscount equipment.

Continental will operate two DC9 round trips a day between Dallas and Albuquerque, non-stop each way.

On the other route, a DC9 will arrive Dallas at 7:50 a.m. and leave in Lubbock at 8:45 a.m. The plane will continue to El Paso, arriving at 8:50 a.m. Mountain time.

COUNCIL MEET TODAY

One-Way Streets Plan On Agenda

Three one-way streets between downtown Lubbock and the Texas Tech campus will be considered by the City Council today. The proposal, designed as one means of revitalizing the central core by facilitating traffic movement, is one of 68 items on an agenda the Council will take up beginning at 10 a.m. at City Hall.

Approval of plans for a $1 million street paving program and a consideration of parking problems in the area just south of the Texas Tech campus are among other matters to be discussed.

10th Street Change
Bob Burr, director of city planning and traffic, is expected to discuss the possibility of making 10th Street a one-way artery for westbound traffic and of keeping Main Street a one-way route for eastbound cars between downtown and the college.

Also proposed is "teaming" 15th and 16th Streets as similar one-way arteries between the same areas. These and other one-way proposals were made as part of the Springer report on what could be done to help downtown Lubbock.

Opposition is expected to the move, however.

Included in the 1966 paving program to be discussed are 185 blocks of streets and 25 to 30 blocks of alleys. Bids probably will be opened next month but preliminary estimates place the cost at in excess of $1 million.

Results of a survey concerning parking conditions in the area from 19th Street between Gallene and Flint avenues is to be heard. Residents of the area have complained in the past that Tech students parking on the streets in increasing numbers are causing congestion and inconvenience.

One zoning hearing is scheduled, at 10:30 a.m. Bruce Barr is appealing a decision of the planning and Zoning Commission that his application for M-2 heavy industrial zoning on East Broadway across from Mackenzie State Park should be denied.

Priorities for the 1966 mercury vapor lighting program for major streets in the city are to be recommended.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON APPEALS TO CONGRESS

More 'Fighting Funds' Sought

House Demo Leaders Promise Swift Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson urged Congress Wednesday to vote promptly an additional $12.75 billion for more fighting men, munitions and economic weapons to defeat communism in South Viet Nam and Southeast Asia.

Democratic House leaders said Johnson will get his wish for swift action. Republican leaders called for careful hearings, but indicated support. Sec. of Defense Robert S. McNamara will start testifying today before senators in secret.

Johnson pledged to "continue to press on every door" for a peaceful settlement. At the State Department, a spokesman said "the other side has shown no interest" in talking.

"We hope the aggression will end; we must be prepared if it does not," the President said in a letter transmitting his second extra money request this fiscal year to support the widening U.S. military and economic campaign in Viet Nam.

Johnson appealed for a no-politics approach to the crisis, saying "whatever differences there are on other issues, we are as one in support of our men in Viet Nam."

Urges Tax Changes
Simultaneously, the President was asking Congress for early action on tax law changes designed to bring in an extra $4.8 billion in the next year.

The new appropriation provides $12.3 billion for military preparedness and $415 million for various "country building" economic projects, particularly civilian-based programs to bring economic and social betterment to the peasants of Viet Nam, Thailand and Laos.

There is little opposition to the new appropriation but objections were voiced in both parties to tax changes.

The changes would include:

1. The excise tax on new autos, which went down from 7 to 6 per cent Jan. 1, would go back to 7.
2. The telephone tax, reduced from 10 to 3 per cent on the same date, would be restored to 10 per cent.
3. Corporate income tax collections would be speeded up, and a graduated system of withholding levies on individual incomes would put higher bracket individuals on a more of a pay-as-you-go basis.

ZONING MEET

Six Requests Face Board

A request to use the front 10 feet for parking in a C2A local retail zone at the northeast corner of 50th Street and Avenue T is one of six requests to be heard by the City Zoning Board of Adjustment today.

Public hearing on the requests are scheduled for 8 a.m. in City Hall, in keeping with the board's recently instituted policy of early morning meetings because of repeated inability to secure a quorum at the usual night meeting hour.

Charles Cobb, in a case filed for Don M. Davis, wants the board to vary the conditions on the 50th Street property. The 10-foot front yard requirement was written into the zoning ordinance by the Planning Commission and the City Council specifically to keep it from being used for parking.

Field Of Legislation
City officials have argued in the past that for the Board of Adjustment to assume jurisdiction over such cases amounts in its entering the field of legislation, a field they argue is reserved to the City Council. However, the board has taken jurisdiction and waived the conditions on nearby property.

Two other requests involve

FISH DEPOSITORY—A pelican—rare West Texas visitor, indeed—appears here to be contemplating swallowing the hand of his buddy, R. C. Davis of Earth. "He won't eat nothing but fish and has just about eaten me out of house and home and all the fish I can scrape up," Davis said. The pelican landed mysteriously on a farm near Lazbuddie a few days ago and was captured by Davis. (Earth Sun Photo).

Meter, Meter Tick No More For Lamesans

LAMESA (Special)—The residents of Lamesa have "spoken"—they don't want parking meters.

In a "straw" ballot, the vote was 708 to 133 for discontinuance of parking meters here.

Actually, the vote was either for discontinuance or reinstatement since the meters had been temporarily removed last Dec. 1.

The city council had asked for referendum when it voted for temporary discontinuance of the meters for a trial basis period.

Council members canvassed returns of the poll and voted to repeal the parking meter amendment.

And so, Lamesa parking meters are now in storage.

★ ★ ★ PELICAN PETE VISITS EARTH Fish-Eating Fowl Finds Fare Far From Filling

EARTH (Special) — "A wonderful bird is the pelican... his beak holds more than his belly can"... goes an old rhyme.

And that is what the R. C. Davis family here is finding out.

A host of family members and others have been out seining for fish to feed a large white pelican that flew down onto the South Plains a few days ago.

Actually, the 16-pound bird, landed on a farm near Lazbuddie, and later was captured by R. C. Davis of Earth, who has a large farm in that area.

Davis discovered the gawky, big bird about noon and went back at night to get him. He blinded the bird with a large flashlight and grabbed it. But received a ripped finger in the process.

Undecided is Davis about what to do with the bird—believed to be the first of its kind to be found in this area.

One thing is for sure, Davis said he had to do something — Mr. Pelican is eating him out of house and home and fish. And every tank for miles around has been fished to supply live appetizers.

IN ITALIAN SHOWS

Freedom In Fashion Seen

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
ROME (AP) — New fashions are a mild form of divorce, a stylist once said, because they satisfy a woman's hunger for change.

If this is so, then Rome and Paris soon will be dishing out this form of freedom to a world of women.

This is the year every designer promises, or threatens, drastic style changes — fashion revolution, not mere evolution.

Italy, that fashion upstart which built its creative couture on shoestrings and salvaged ribbons after her wartime defeat, will have the first say Monday, Paris shows begin Jan. 21.

In this city the haute couture houses will open their showrooms to press and buyers for a marathon of style parades lasting through Saturday.

The French have no peers in prestige, despite the growing renown of Italian couture houses such as De Barentzen, Pucci, Fabiani, Fontana and Gollitine. On the other hand, the Romans are not only ahead of France but all of Europe in capturing the Yankee dollar with apparel exports.

Not their couture costumes necessarily, but those knit dresses and sweaters that go over in the United States like pizzer are largely Italy's economic secrets to success.

These knits, along with bikinis typical of sunny Italy and raincoats apropos for her presently rainy weather, are a part of the boutique fashion shows now taking place in Florence. The designers return to Rome for couture openings in their own showrooms.

Whether the status label in a woman's garment this spring will be French or Italian, the chances are the costume will be very visible, very geometrical, and very little of it.

Designers north and south talk of splicing together two and in. Bold colors as if they were making flags instead of dresses. Only one thing is certain, The Mondrian-inspired geometrical costumes created by Yves St. Laurent last summer are out.

Ironically, Andre Courreges, whose architecturally constructed apparel has left its mark on the works of many Italian designers — has bowed out of the chic rag race for the time being.

But he has a new showroom and new backing money, and plans to explode style ideas at a later date.

How high can a hem hike before there is no dress at all? This spy-the-thigh mystery thriller will be taken up first by Italians who have always been the first to approve of long-skirted beauties. Short as Roman fashions will be, which is well above the knee in some cases, they will not fall as short as Paris styles will later, or as some extreme American fashions are today.

Designers Jacques Tiffreau, Geoffrey Beene, and Rudy Gernreich rivaled the British originators of the thigh-high skirt, going about as high as an eye should go.

Specifically, the Italian fashion story promises to shape up this way: Tiziani, a Texas-born Roman, will show slim, neat Courreges-like costumes, in a patchwork of colors and wheel-V-necklines.

Gregoriana will borrow the pointed caps of Italian puppets as well as the block color combinations in their costumes for dresses for much bigger dolls.

Valentino, always dramatic, will send his models out in a swish of feathers and a blinding glitter of beads for evening. Daywear will be slim and narrow through the shoulders.

Enzo, of Milan, will have modified that kangaroo sleeve that held the arms close to the body, down to the elbows.

Carosa calls his line much younger than before. But it will follow the same soft, drapy tendencies of former seasons.

Balestra, who has designed for Liz Taylor will decorate his glamor customers in feathers and ruffles for evening, extremely simple costumes for day.

Biki, the house where Alan Renaud designs for Maria Callas, wants to put women in horizontal stripes from necks to stockings.

Maria Antonelli figures to put females in funnel shapes, wide at the shoulders, narrow at the hem.

Galitzine is said to have deserted her dizzying spiral designs of last season in favor of what she calls a kaleidoscope scheme — a juxtaposition of colored angles and squares.

Patric de Barentzen tags his collection "Sweet Arrogance." His dresses flare dramatically. Coats with little collars are big enough to move around in without being macabre's capes.

Fabiani is another who believes in fashion geometry, with clashing colors, to add attractions.

Emilio Pucci, the designing marquis, who created seemingly painted-on patio pants for women, will also design some trousers and other garments for men. His couture collection for his well-beloved clientele, this spring will include cashmere matching skirts and sweaters for day, slim, Oriental-draped ballgowns.

Meanwhile, back in Paris, Balenciaga has indicated he is through with the obviously constructed, sculptured costumes which have been his forte for five years. What's new is his secret.

Knife Specialities Listed For Modern Homemaker

CHICAGO (UPI) — Knives are the most used items in any kitchen. Each type of knife requires a different length and shape of blade for the best good cutting, chopping, slicing or mincing.

Professional chefs have been known to use as many as 25 different knives, but the average homemaker can get by with fewer, say experts.

They suggested a 5-inch paring knife to pare, peel and slice fruits and vegetables; a 4-inch utility knife to cut and slice fruits, vegetables and pies; a 6-inch roast slicer for cutting and slicing roasts, chickens and melons; a steak and poultry slicer to carve small roasts, steaks and fish; and a French cook's knife for cutting bread, rolls, cake, baked ham and sausage.

The quality of a knife is judged by the metal and grind of the blade, the type of handle and the way the handle is attached.

The most widely used blades are the 4-inch round straight edge and the scalloped wavy edge. A hollow round edge is obtained by sharpening both sides of the cutting edge in a long oval curve. The wavy edge is made from a hollow ground blade which has narrow scallops along one side.

Less expensive knife blades have a "X" or taper grind, a roll grind which is obtained by tapering the lower part of the blade between two sharpening uses that are rotating toward the blade.

Steel with carbon is the basic metal of all knives, according to Eiko St. Unless steel is the most popular metal. But it is determined by what kind of additives are put in the steel and the type of heat treating process to which it is subjected.

If the blade bends and then snaps back into place, there is a correct balance of carbon, sulfur, phosphorus and tempering. When the carbon content is not correct, blades will darken and stain and lose a keen edge. Better quality knives have Vanadium and chromium added for better wearing qualities.

ANN LANDERS

Listen To Stevenson

Dear Ann Landers: I was horrified at your advice to the mother who undressed in the presence of her 12-year-old son. Her attitude was a healthy one—that the human body is beautiful and that children should not grow up hiding themselves because their parents made them ashamed.

According to the mother's letter a friend criticized her and then you sided with him, saying that a 12-year-old boy is well on his way to manhood. Then you dragged in that ugly word seduction. Only an evil mind could dream up a notion so revolting.

When I first started to read your column I thought you were square. Later I decided you were Mid-Victorian. Now I think you are a kook. Parents who follow your advice will produce repressed and sexually maladjusted children.—No Fig Leaf Male.

Dear No Fig: You don't indicate whether you are married or single. If you are married I hope you don't have daughters.

Robert Louis Stevenson was more psychiatrist than novelist when he wrote, "We all have feelings that would shame hell." The experts tell us that sexual fantasies begin long before puberty, and an active imagination has no regard for propriety, cultural taboos or anything else. Parents should not parade nude before children who have reached the age of six. If you don't want to take the word of the behavioral authorities, read a little Greek literature.

Dear Ann Landers: My deceased grandmother's dearest friend calls me at least four times a week to drive her to the hair dresser, the ladies' aid, the eye doctor, the foot doctor, the heart specialist or to her bridge game.

Just before Christmas she said, "I wouldn't insult you with a commercial gift." She then presented me with a faded afghan, full of moth holes. "This has been in our family for years," she said, choked with emotion. "I want you to have it."

For my birthday she gave me another "precious heirloom"—a cracked dresser mirror with a bent handle.

My problem is two-fold. (1) How can I let know I don't want her heirlooms because they mean nothing to me? (2) How can I get out of the chauffeur's uniform?—Double Stuck

Dear Double: You are indeed stuck with heirlooms so accept them with grace then discard them. You can't say they mean nothing to you without hurting her feelings.

But about the chauffeur bit: Make your plans for the day early and when she calls, you can tell her you are occupied.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently I read a letter in your column from a woman who resented unexpected visits from her clergyman. I suspect that letter was written by a member of my parish.

I wonder how the apostles and the disciples and the clergymen who followed them for 1800 years let members of their flock know they were going to call. They had no phones in those days. The woman who complained would probably expect the Lord Jesus Christ to give her a ring in advance.—St. Louis Clergyman

Dear Saint: I received dozens of letters from clergymen of all faiths who were unhappy because I supported the writer's notion that clergymen should not drop in unexpectedly. Hundreds of other women wrote to tell me they loved the advice and thanked me for it. So it boils down to this: Many clergymen prefer to drop in without first calling but the women don't like it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I wonder if you have ever thought of making dish cloths out of the good part of your worn-out chenille spreads and housecoats?

If the chenille is lightweight, double the material, and sew as you would a pillow case, closing the open end after you have turned the case inside out.

A few squares of chenille on the outside.

To make a fabulous dish-cloth, use just one thickness of chenille, and sew two thicknesses of nylon net on the smooth side of the cloth.

The chenille side is wonderfully absorbent, and the net side scrubs anything beautifully, without scratching.

Dear Heloise:
If you have a narrow place to paint, such as between the wall and the stove or refrigerator, just tape a brush on the end of a yard stick, and you've got it made.

Dear Heloise:
When you wrote and told my wife to use black liquid shoe dye to hide the spots where she had spilled bleach on her black crepe dress, it dawned on me why not try dyeing my soiled tan canvas shoes with the dye that was left?

So, I did.

They look brand new. I put tape on the white rubber soles around the edge to keep the black dye off the white part.

Well, Jim, I didn't have any canvas shoes, but I dyed some leather shoes which had rubber soles. I also dyed the edge of the sole black. It worked beautifully for me. Now, the discolorations in around the edge of the soles do not even show.

I did not dye the bottoms of the soles. We don't want shoe dye on our floors and carpets, do we?

Dear Heloise:
My secret to success is I never let the other fellow know that I didn't know!

"Successful!"

Dear Heloise:
For a quick and delicious cupcake (or cake) icing, melted marshmallows are the greatest! Just a few minutes before removing the cup cakes from the oven, top each one with a marshmallow, and they will melt to cover the cakes with yummy frosting. Don't leave 'em too long just until melted and slightly brown.

Delish!

Dear Gals:
This is to all of you who buy expensive moisturizer creams in glass jars.

Once you think you have gotten all you can out of the jar, recap and set it upside down under the hot water faucet, letting the hot water run over it for a few minutes.

Remove the jar leaving it capped, and let it stand upside down for a while.

You will get enough moisturizer to last you another week, and the jar will be clean as a whistle.

This also works on other products that come in plastic or glass jars.

Dear Heloise:
I converted an old shower curtain into a couple of laundry bags.

I used the upper half of the curtain, cutting the bottom half off. I then cut the top half in two pieces, and sewed across the bottoms and sides.

I inserted a cord drawstring through the holes where the shower hooks are attached. I use the drawstring to close the bags.

These bags are also good to place your dampened laundry in.

Address Heloise, Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Program On Modern Dance Presented During Luncheon

Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Aker of Texas Tech presented a program on "Modern Dance" at a noon luncheon of the Women's Council of the West Texas Museum Assn. Wednesday in the Tech Union.

Mrs. Aker, an assistant professor in physical education for women at Tech, discussed the history and current aspects of modern dancing.

Mrs. Aker stated that the term "modern dance" is actually a misnomer, adding "there is nothing modern about modern dancing."

She traced the history of the dance to primitive rituals then contrasted modern dancing as being a "conscious" art.

She stated that in its current form modern dancing is not more than 50 years old and hasn't formed any set techniques.

"The ballet student is audience-oriented," she said. "In the ballet technique the dancer faces three-quarters to the audience."

"Modern dancing is built on individual ideas," she continued. "The modern dancer is more interested in himself, the audience is secondary."

"The dance is unique among the arts," Mrs. Aker concluded. "It may last only a moment or as long as it lasts in your memory."

Mrs. Ivy Savage, Women's Council president, conducted the business meeting.

An announcement was made that the Council's money-making project for this year will be a style show at 8 p.m. March 11 in Monterey High school auditorium. It will be presented by Herb Owen's Fabric Center.

TO BE CITIZEN

Tech Teacher To Have Very Special Friday

Friday promises to be a day of special significance for a member of Texas Tech's School of Home Economics faculty.

On that date, Miss Margaret Kassouny, a native of Lebanon, will become a citizen of the United States in naturalization ceremonies in U.S. District Court at Amarillo. Fed. Judge Joseph P. Dooley will preside.

Miss Kassouny, assistant professor of Food and Nutrition, joined the Tech staff in September 1962. She has been a resident of the United States since 1965.

Ohio U Graduate — Reared in Lebanon, she completed two years of undergraduate work at Beirut College for Women before transferring to Ohio State University where she earned her bachelor's and master's degrees.

Her professional experience includes a year's dietetic internship at University Hospital in Columbus, Ohio, and three years at Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia, before coming to Lubbock.

Miss Kassouny recently was named recipient of a $3,000 National Institute of Health Scholarship and will begin a leave of absence from her duties at Tech at the end of the current semester Saturday to enroll for special studies at Cornell University.

IN PLAY INQUIRY Lawmaker May Quiz Educators

By ROBERT FAIRBANKS
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—California education officials who investigated a school teacher's play entitled "A Cat Called Jesus" may themselves be investigated, a state legislator said Wednesday.

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, a south San Francisco Democrat, said he was concerned about warnings issued Tuesday by Mrs. Gen Turner Davis of San Diego by the State Education Department's five-man committee on credentials.

No Legal Grounds
The committee closed its two-hour hearings by conceding that it could find no "adequate legal grounds" to continue proceedings against the teacher. But it deplored what it called "cheap and vulgar" language in her one-act drama and warned her to avoid becoming involved in similar circumstances again.

Ryan, who threatened before to investigate if the committee continued its proceedings, said the final statements amounted to censorship. He said he would announce early next week whether he would bring the committee members before his legislative subcommittee on school personnel.

Mrs. Davis, 31-year-old speech and drama teacher, had told the credentials committee that she did not intend to stop writing plays. But, she said, "I truly hope I never write another one that would offend or cause such a furor."

The play, set in a jailhouse in the Deep South, won first prize at a San Diego drama festival last April. The festival was not connected with the school and Mrs. Davis submitted the play under another name.

However, it became known that she wrote it and the five-man committee conducted its investigation. "Did it ever occur to you that naming a cat 'Jesus' might be considered blasphemous," Committee Chairman Dr. Everett T. Calvert, deputy state superintendent of public instruction asked Mrs. Davis.

"I had no idea," she replied. "I thought the play was very religious and pro-Christianity." "Even with the profanity in it?" he asked.

"Yes," she said. "The characters who spoke those lines were undesirable. I didn't like them at all."

The play concerns a young Negro who is about to be executed for the murder of a wealthy white woman who had been his lover. The sheriff's daughter begins by mocking him and ends with a feeling of compassion.

In the background is the cat named "Jesus," owned by a jail guard's wife, who, according to Mrs. Davis, "only worships the word 'Jesus.'" in a false and shallow manner.

Gerholz said that "a major purpose of the February 10th hearing will be to hold the president of the U.S. Chamber price line," Gerholz said. But he said prices will have to be forced Wednesday with Press reflecting the cost if wages aren't held in check. Johnson advised that a voluntary wage-price program is being developed, but he said some fairly tentative talk and information from Johnson on why the government interest P. Career Day Luncheon Scheduled At SPC
LEVELLAND (Special)—Dr. Floyd Boze, dean of admissions at Texas Tech. will be guest speaker at a "Career Day Luncheon" at South Plains College, March 5.

The luncheon will be a part of an all-day program for senior high school girls in the immediate and surrounding area who are in secretarial or vocation training.

Directing the activities will be the staff of the business administration department of South Plains College, headed by Richard Wood, department chairman. One of the highlights of the day will be a coffee and style show to model dress and manners for working girls in various types of occupations.

A luncheon will be held at noon in the college's Texan Hall.

TRIAL PROCEDURE UNCONSTITUTIONAL

High Court Keeps Prison Doors Shut On Hordes Of Hopeful Cons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court closed the door Wednesday on thousands of persons convicted in a trial procedure it ruled last year as unconstitutional.

prohibited state courts from allowing comment to the jury on a defendant's failure to testify. The decision barred the practice from then on in the six states which permitted it: California, Connecticut, Iowa, New Jersey, New Mexico and Ohio.

MIAMI (UPI) — Candace Mossler, on trial with her nephew for the 1964 murder of her millionaire husband, settled into an apartment with two of her children Wednesday and commenced to the courtroom where a hulking defense attorney dominated proceedings to pick a jury.

principals in the sensational case were pushed into the background by Foreman, a 260-pound veteran of 38 years of courtroom tactics who made it clear he considers selection of the jury a crucial matter.

Her co-defendant and Foreman's client, Melvin Lane Powers, relaxed at the other end of the table, separated by a battery of lawyers from the woman with whom he is accused of plotting a murder of Powers, 29 and Mrs. Mossler, who says she is 39, are free under $50,000 bond.

Early Days Remain Fresh In Mind Of Lubbock Man

For several years. Not many people on the South Plains ever saw a wild horse but Hightower remembers the last herd in the area. In the summer of 1908 he took part in a wild horse drive in the south pasture of the vast LFD ranch. "There were about a hundred mustangs running there and the boss of the ranch decided to get rid of them. He offered one to anyone who would catch one," Hightower remembers.

The cowboys who took part in the chase had to have some reserve saddle horses along. Hightower himself caught a mustang, using the energy of two saddle horses in doing it.

No Small Opinion
The boss of the LFD outfit, a prominent figure in Hightower's memory, had no small opinion of himself as a roper, as revealed in another yarn.

"His name was Ham Hill. He offered a standing bet of $50 to any corner that he could catch 50 calves by both hind legs in 50 throws of his rope. I don't remember whether anyone ever called his bet," Hightower says.

Fifty dollars was two months' wages to the cowboy then, and Hightower sought better fortune as a freighter from the rail spur at Plainview to Lubbock. He and a partner, W. A. Austin, freighted for two years before the railroad reached Lubbock.

The business was tough in the winter. A cold spell was hard on horses and driver. The horses would develop icicles on their noses from breathing hard, and the driver was obliged to walk for miles and miles to keep from freezing on the wagon seat.

When the rail line reached Lubbock, Jan. 10, 1910, crowds of people gathered to see the locomotive roll into town. They crowded around the engine when it stopped. Speeches and officialdom marked the occasion. Later the engineer nearly caused a stampede among the crowd, Hightower recalls.

The engineer shouted and attracted the people's attention. He told them to watch out for themselves because he was about to turn that train around. The people fairly scattered in fear for their lives," Hightower said.

The railroad doomed Hightower's Plainview-Lubbock run so he hauled to Post a couple of years. He finally abandoned the run and started working on the railroad grades from Crosbyton. It was during some of this construction work that Hightower's most shocking experience occurred.

Lightning Strikes
"A thundercloud came up—not a very large one—and we ignored it for a while. I was tending a freeno pulled by four mules when suddenly a bolt of lightning struck my crew. Two men and three mules were killed instantly all around me. A third man, a Mexican, was struck down. How I escaped I never did understand," he says.

Sam Denman, who lives in 2900 block of 30th Street, saw the incident and later told Hightower that a Model T Ford Denman was driving was jerked around strangely at the same time. The lightning incident was near the present day Santa Fe depot.

Once while Hightower was cowboying, he hired out as a cook for the User Ranch and the Spade Ranch. He served grub on the trail from chuck wagons. During one trail outing his outfit passed near Hale Center, where "Old Man Joe Powell" had a spread.

"I was making $25 a month. Powell, father of the Amarillo sports editor Putt Powell, offered me $40 a month to come cook for his outfit. I accepted that job as soon as I could get loose from my other job," he recalls.

Two-Day Trip
Life on the sparsely populated plains was almost unthinkable by 1906 standards. Coming from Levelland for mail by buggy was a two-day trip, so the trips were infrequent.

The closest doctor was in Lubbock. Hightower's daughter, now Mrs. Isla Campbell, 7511 52nd St., was stricken with scarlet fever as a young girl. The disease struck during a cold spell, but a trip to the doctor was necessary.

Hightower improvised an ambulance from a covered wagon. Into the wagon went a cot, a heater vented through the top and a supply of chips for fuel. The rush for medical treatment was a dramatic experience for the young ranch girl and her parents.

Another trip to the doctor was by chance. In 1910 the Hightowers had moved to Plains to farm. The first year their maize, corn and other crops produced well and they got good prices. The second year Hightower visited Lubbock with his family for a July 4th celebration and arrived feeling very ill.

The late Dr. W. L. Baugh, an every-day physician, diagnosed the case as typhoid fever. A 31-day stay in bed followed.

Hightower recalls attending the elaborate celebration of Littlefield's founding. The town fathers laid off the streets with a plow, killed a dozen beavers and cooked them in a long barbecue pit and invited the whole population of the South Plains to the town's founding day.

"The only structure there was a dance platform hastily erected. They made speeches and sales of lots all day. A dance kept most of the visitors there all night," Hightower said.

Mrs. Campbell through the years reveals the strange quirks life on the Plains could bring.

Hightower's wife and daughter were returning by buggy to the LFD Ranch after a visit with their neighbors. They noted a cloud of dust, which, when the Hightowers drew closer, yielded the sight of a running woman being pursued by a man in a buggy.

"He was whipping the horse to a fast clip. The desperate woman was no match for the speed of the horse. So the driver captured the woman, lifted her into the buggy and sped away across the level plains," recounts Mrs. Campbell.

Hightower has worked steadily all his life in the dray business in Lubbock, in oil fields around Burkburnett, in an airplane factory in California, in several stores and in a grocery store of his own at Carlisle for a year.

Since 1946 he has been with Galbraith Steel and Supply Co. and works as a receiving clerk 5 1/2 days a week.

He believes in work—but not on Saturday afternoon.

"I'd do almost anything to keep from working on Saturday afternoon," Hightower says with almost religious conviction.

"My dad taught me that if a fellow couldn't earn enough money to live on in 5 1/2 days a week, he might as well quit," the elderly worker says.

"I will work as long as I have a job and am able. I'm proud of my job and have the nicest company anywhere. You know, not many firms will let a man work after he reaches my age, and I appreciate getting to stay on," he says.

But not on Saturday afternoon. This is the time he uses to tend to visiting, business and remembering the good times of days gone by.

The military request asks, among other things, for increasing the armed forces by 113,000 men to a new strength of 3,093,000 and adding 94,000 civilians to the Pentagon payroll which then will approach 11 million workers.

One major new military unit will be formed, possibly another division. Officials refused to provide a breakdown of the 113,000 added men, although it is known the great bulk will go into the Army and Marine ground forces.

More than 2,000 new helicopters. The rotor is a major factor in the Viet Nam war, enabling U.S. and Vietnamese battalions to vault over the country's difficult terrain.

More than 900 additional warplanes to keep up the hammering and bombing of the Communist guerrillas and their North Vietnamese allies.

Replenishing stocks of bombs and other ammunition which have been seriously depleted by the incessant air and ground operations. About $2.1 billion was earmarked for this.

Acquiring 4,830 tactical missiles such as the Army's Hawk, which is used to defend against low-level air attack, and the Navy's Bullpup which is an important weapon aimed by Navy, Marine and Air Force planes against enemy positions.

About $1,238,000 for military construction to press ahead with building of ports, warehouses, roads and other facilities necessary to support the big U.S. commitment, already totaling 191,000 fighting men in Viet Nam, and the South Vietnamese and other forces.

The port lack has been a major factor in bottleneck in the flow of supplies.

A total of $152 million to accelerate various development programs on advanced type weapons and devices and to work on new ones tailored to insurgent type wars.

It was stressed that $4.63 billion to be spent in the remainder of this fiscal year for special Viet Nam military purposes comes out of three separate supplemental requests for new authorizations spread over the past year.

These included a $700 million appropriation last spring, ticked for the 1965 fiscal year, the $1.7-billion supplemental voted last August when the United States decided to go into Viet Nam on a large scale on the ground, and the new supplemental request which Johnson sent to Congress Wednesday.

The remaining portion of the military request — nearly $8 billion — will be spent later on.

Under the economic assistance part of the request, totaling $415 million, about $30 million to $40 million will be devoted to promoting a new "rural construction corps" of up to 30,000 or 40,000 Vietnamese men and women who will work in the Vietnamese villages in what are called "country building" tasks.

This is a program which officials say has a promise in pilot form. It is a successor to the ill-fated "strategic hamlet program," in which populations were forced, sometimes at bayonet point, into new villages to seal them off from the Communists.

The objective of the rural construction corps is to eliminate Viet Cong cells in the villages and to establish the beginnings of effective local government as well as social and economic progress.

Another $7.5 million will be applied to a program undertaken

TO RUN FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL

Kilgore Asserts Calhoun, Spears Are Not Eligible

AUSTIN (UPI) — Fortune says House members terms run for two years from the day of their election. The Constitution says nothing about the beginning of Senate terms.

But Kilgore said the terms of both senators will end next January when their successors are sworn in, and Spears and Calhoun contend their terms end next Nov. 8, the day of the general election.

In response to questions from the bench, Kilgore conceded his interpretation would lead to a discrepancy between House and Senate terms.

If a special session were called this December, Kilgore said, it would be composed of the representatives elected in November but the Senate would be made up of holdover senators.

John D. Cofer of Austin, Spears' attorney, called that situation "absurd" and said the framers of the Constitution clearly intended to have Senate and House terms begin on the same date.

"What sort of fair and reasonable system would it be if we are going to permit House members to run for higher offices but not senators?" Cofer asked.

The 59th Legislature raised the attorney general's pay by $2,500 a year.

All the lawyers agreed that Spears, of San Antonio, and Calhoun, of Tyler, both are eligible if their Senate terms end before Jan. 1, 1967, the date the new attorney general's term begins.

They also agreed that both would be eligible if they were representatives instead of senators, because the state constitution says House members are eligible.

He cited a section of the state constitution that said "no senator or representative shall, during the term for which he was elected, be eligible to any civil office of profit under this state, which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which have been increased during such term."

Both of the Houston-based firms produce sulphur in Mexico.

"Pan American Sulphur will continue its review and study of the company's recently announced sulphur price increase of $5 a ton, effective Feb. 1," Webb said.

Robert H. Allen, president of Gulf Sulphur, said domestic prices are $10 to $15 a ton below those in other consuming areas and the differential "must be narrowed to make the U.S. market more attractive to foreign producers."

Allen said U.S. firms have been receiving from $41 to $41.50 a ton for sulphur overseas compared to only $28.50 in the United States.

Most of the sulphur used in the United States is supplied from domestic sources but some is imported from Mexico.

There have been no announcements on price plans from the nation's largest sulphur producers, the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. and Freeport Sulphur Co.

Foss Nullifies Oiler-Charger Trade

Two Big Linemen Must Go

Foss Uses Get Tough Approach

HOUSTON (AP) — Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League nullified the five-player deal between Houston and San Diego Wednesday on the grounds that Bud Adams, Houston owner, tampered with players Ernie Ladd and Earl Faison, San Diego's All-League defensive linemen.

Cracking down hard in his new get tough policy, Foss refused to say whether any of the parties had been fined and confined his comments to a statement made at a news conference.

Foss said Adams had tampered by making public statements which the players read and also said Sid Gillman, general manager-coach of San Diego, compounded the wrong by making the trade and then announcing he had no bargaining position.

Announced Saturday
Faison and Ladd, two giant defensive linemen, were traded to Houston for linebacker Johnny Baker, defensive back Pete

Jacques and defensive end Gary Cutsinger in a deal announced during last Saturday's All-Star game.

Foss had announced he would conduct a complete investigation of the deal on charges by Gillman that Adams tampered with his players. The Houston owner had made a statement that he would be willing to give up quarterback George Blanda, receiver Charley Hennigan, linebacker Doug Cline and $100,000 for Ladd alone.

Faison and Ladd, dissatisfied with Gillman, had refused to sign player contracts in 1965 and announced they were playing out their options. Under the rules of pro football, a player may end his contract by refusing to sign and then playing out. See FOSS Page 4

Foss May Be Asked To Rule

Feud With Blanda Called Bad For Team

HOUSTON (AP) — Hugh (Bones) Taylor indicated Wednesday he may ask Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League to investigate the circumstances of his being fired as head coach of the Houston Oilers.

Taylor waited in a hotel lobby to talk with Foss as the commissioner was checking out after conclusion of the league's four-day winter meeting.

The chat was friendly but brief, Taylor said he had some material he would like for the commissioner to read. Foss asked him to mail the material to him at his New York City headquarters.

No New Part
Don Klosterman, new Oiler general manager, had announced Tuesday night Taylor's contract was not being renewed, primarily because of recent newspaper and radio-television statements involving the status of veteran quarterback George Blanda.

Klosterman described the statements as "indicating an apparent inharmonious relationship existing between" Taylor and Blanda. He said statements by both Taylor and Blanda have contributed to an atmosphere "not conducive to winning football games."

SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Crooner's Tourney Opens Run Today

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Bing Crosby's golf tournament swings into its Silver Anniversary production today with Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus still seeking their first title in the crooner's National Pro-Amateur.

Nicklaus won the 1961 national amateur title over this rugged Pebble Beach course and placed second in the 1963 Crosby and tied for third last year.

Palmer hasn't done well here. Many figure the man to beat must be Billy Casper, winner of the San Diego Open Sunday and twice Crosby champion—in 1958 when he set the 72-hole record of 277 for 72 holes and in 1963 with 285.

Wind and rain frequently play important roles although this time it appears there's a good chance for sunshine throughout.

Casper Likes Wind
Casper, who plays well in the wind, commented of the sunny conditions, "There are lots of fellows who can play great golf when the weather is good."

Under the Crosby format each of the 137 pros teams with an amateur partner and alternates on three courses the first three days Cypress Point, Monterey Peninsula and Pebble Beach. For Sunday's final 18 holes, the field is cut to the low 50 teams and individual pros still in money contention.

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Football Coach Jim Mackenzie completed his staff of eight assistants Wednesday by adding Charles F. (Chuck) Fairbanks, who has been defense backfield coach at the University of Houston for four years.

Announcement of the hiring of the 32-year-old Fairbanks, subject to regents approval, was made by Athletic Director Gomer Jones, who resigned as head football coach in December and was succeeded by Mackenzie, an Arkansas assistant.

Fairbanks will be pass defense coach at Oklahoma.

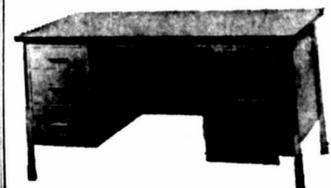

Prior to coaching at Houston, Fairbanks was assistant four years with Arizona State University at Tempe. After graduation from Michigan State, where he played end under Coach Biggie Munn, he coached at Ishpeming, Mich., High School three years where his record was 17-6-1.

Dolphins Make Final Selections

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The American Football League's Miami Dolphins made their final selections Wednesday, picking 27 players who will start the 1966 season with the club.

The 27 players picked by the Dolphins for their 1966 debut include 20 players who held starting positions at least part of the 1965 season with the other AFL clubs.

Players with starting experience now are available to the Dolphins for all positions except defensive tackle. The two quarterbacks picked up in the draft included 27 field goals.

Other final round Dolphin picks included linebackers Jack Rudolph of Boston and Ron Caviness of Kansas City, defensive tackle Tom Nomi of Denver and Howard Simpson of Buffalo, defensive back Jim Warren of San Diego, defensive end Laverne Torczon of New York and tackle Maxie Williams of Houston.

Commissioner Joe Foss announced Tuesday the league will add two more teams in 1967 but he did not reveal plans for stocking the new clubs.

WINS TOURNAMENTS

Birds Are Nice; How About Par?

NEW YORK (UPI)—Many club pro from the chilled North likes to take a golfing vacation by playing in the early tournaments on the winter tour and then heads for the security of home before the spring thaws.

Some, as did Wes Ellis of West Caldwell, N. J., a year ago in the San Diego Open, even manage to win a big one.

But most of them are former tourists who know life can be pitiful as well as beautiful on the crowded tournament circuit where riches and heartbreak run hand in hand.

It's the bogeys that wreck 'em.

Give Bowl Income To Charities?

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Penn State's football coach, Rip Engle, feels play-for-pay bowl games are tarnishing the image of college football and the money should be earmarked for charity instead of the participating schools.

The teams and the players get a lot more out of benefit bowls because they have a strong feeling they're performing a useful service.

Engle said Wednesday in an interview.

In Engle's opinion, bowl officials should continue to pay all expenses for participating teams, but turn the remainder of the profits over to health and welfare groups for such things as cancer research and treatment, heart disease, or any other effort attacking the ills of mankind.

"The good that comes to the consciences of players in this type of game cannot be measured on a cash register," Engle said.

Idea From Shrine

The coach of the Nittany Lions for 16 years, got the idea from coaching assignments in the East-West Shrine game (which supports the Shrine's crippled children's hospital) and the Blue-Gray game (which boosts the Lions Club's aid to the blind program).

Engle has said repeatedly that many of the major university and college teams point to bowl games so that they can make money to improve their programs and strengthen their teams so they can attract more bowl offers.

"If there's one thing threatening the image of college football, it's money," says Engle, who has taken Penn State to four bowls since 1959.

Although he has no plans to make a formal proposal out of his idea, Engle hopes it will catch on and pick up the support of his colleagues across the country.

"The image of college football would be greatly enhanced," he predicted.

As an aftermath, but just as important to the Penn State coach is his desire that the NCAA and other governing bodies in collegiate sports take a tougher stand on scholarships.

"I think the NCAA should limit member schools to so many scholarships a year, say 25," Engle suggested.

George Halas Explains His Side Of Allen Situation

CHICAGO (AP)—George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears, issued a report Wednesday to fans in connection with his contract dispute with assistant coach George Allen.

The validity of Allen's contract with the Bears was upheld in court Tuesday. Halas then gave Allen his release from the contract to become head coach of the Los Angeles Rams.

Halas' out-of-court statement: "This is the report to the Chicago Bears' fans in connection with the recent lawsuit in which Judge Cornelius J. Harrington rendered his decision upholding the validity of our contract, which George Allen breached.

"Now, chronologically here is how it happened:

Telephone Call

"On Tuesday night, Dec. 28, George Allen called me from the Roosevelt Hotel in New Orleans, and Allen said at that time the Rams called him stating that they were interested in him as far as the head coaching job was concerned.

"So Allen said he wanted permission to talk to Dan Reeves, Rams' president. In an effort to prevent the stigma of tampering on Reeves, I told Allen it was okay to talk to him but also to inform Reeves that he (Allen) was not available.

"This was never brought out. And I told Allen the reasons why he was not available. Most everybody expected the Bears to have good football team in 1966, and I did not want our organization disturbed as it would dilute our chances.

"The next day, Dec. 19, I talked to Dan Reeves and chided him because the Rams had called Allen without my permission. Reeves said that he did not call Allen but that Allen called the Rams on Dec. 25, Christmas Day, so I told Reeves the same thing I had told Allen.

No Stigma Desired

"I did tell him that I didn't want the stigma of tampering on him so I told George Allen it would be okay for him to talk to Reeves, but he (Allen) was to tell the Rams he was not available.

"I told Reeves the reason why I didn't want the 1966 coaching campaign or organization of the Bears changed. During the conversation, Reeves also discussed other prospects, mentioning Paul Brown, Buddy Parker and George Wilson.

"Reeves knew definitely at that time, Dec. 29, that Allen was not available. Now I told him because the Rams had called Allen without my permission. Reeves said that he did not season. This was never brought out.

"Then on Thursday, Dec. 30, Allen tried to reach me during the day in Chicago from New Orleans, but I left word that I would return the call that evening. When I talked to Allen that evening, about 11 p.m., Allen said that Reeves would like to know about him coming with the Rams and that he (Allen) had to call him back.

"I said: 'George, I don't know why Reeves is asking you that again. I told Reeves yesterday that you were not available. So call him back and tell him that you are not available.'

"And Allen said: 'Well, will I get more salary?'

"And I said: 'Well, when you come back, we'll talk about it.'

"Allen, in his testimony in court," continued Halas, "said he tried to reach me six times. And we just have the record of the only two telephone messages.

"Well, then on Dec. 31, Allen called Muggs (George Halas Jr., Bears president) and he talked mainly about Randy Jackson, a player that Allen was attempting to sign. (Jackson, a Florida tackle who played in the Sugar Bowl, was subsequently signed by the Bears.)

Allen, from his home in suburban Deerfield said of Halas' statement:

"My statement on the whole matter was made on the stand (in court), under cross-examination, and I do not have anything to add to that."

Throughout the Halas-Alan dispute, Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, cited the traditional record that an assistant coach be given his release from contract to improve himself and that the NFL had no cause to interfere with the Bears-Rams matter.

Halas Makes Statement

To this, Halas said: "When Commissioner Rozelle made that ill-advised statement in which he advocated substituting a silly tradition for a legal document in the Allen case, we were more determined than ever to go through with the lawsuit.

Halas said Allen asked him about his future with the Bears and his possibilities of becoming head coach. Halas said he told Allen he could not promise such a thing but that he would be given every consideration when a new head coach was needed.

At the same time he promised Allen a bonus for his personnel work which was aside from his assistant coaching duties. Allen insisted that he would pass up the Rams opportunity for a definite assurance about his Bears' chances.

Halas said that Allen asked for an option on five per cent of the Bear stock. Halas said this was impossible.

Halas said that Allen countered by saying that if he was released to become the Rams' head coach at this time, he would coach the Rams for several years, then returned to the Bears. Halas said he would have nothing to do with such an agreement, and Allen then placed his resignation on his desk.

No Acceptance

Halas said the Bears would not accept the resignation because Allen had a binding contract with the Bears that had two years to go.

"There is another interest aspect to this day-by-day record," said Halas. "From Dec. 29 until Jan. 9, I had no contact with Reeves. No attempt was made to reach him between those dates because I felt we had an understanding on Allen after our conversations.

"When I finally reached him, I asked him three times, pointedly: 'Have you talked to the commissioner?' he replied: 'I am placing a call to the commissioner.'

"On Jan. 10, the commissioner called me and said he had talked with Reeves, and that he would not cite Reeves for conduct detrimental to football. That is when I became real concerned about the matter, not only Allen and Reeves, but the entire approach to our sport."

O'Malley Speaks Of The Future

Dodger Boss Sees World-Wide Baseball

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles Dodger owner Walter O'Malley, who pioneered major league baseball's expansion to the West Coast, foresees franchises in Canada, Japan, Central America and, someday, Australia.

O'Malley, who brought the Dodgers from Brooklyn to Los Angeles in 1958—baseball's most successful transfer, said in an interview published Wednesday: "You know, the National League has been in some 30 different cities in its time. There were many changes in the early days, and then came a period of great stability.

New Factors

"Now we have new factors such as radical changes in transportation, coming into the picture.

"Who says we have to freeze things in 1966? I look for the whole picture to change. We're moving into an explosive era.

"I think we'll see somebody bring a franchise into Toronto or Montreal. The Canadian market is wide open.

"If international politics stabilize, we could see a team come place in Central America.

"And with the advances being made in transportation, maybe in Japan, too. You can already fly from the United States to Tokyo in less time than it used to take the Dodgers to go from Brooklyn to St. Louis by train.

It Will Wait

"We probably won't see big league baseball in Australia in my lifetime. But it could come there in great interest in the sport there."

O'Malley conceded that because of the problems of developing major league talent, further expansion may take time.

"We still haven't digested what we took on when we went from 16 to 20 teams," he said.

But the Dodger owner thinks that before expansion there will be more movement within the already established 20.

"I look for more franchises to move," he said. "I should think that somewhere along the line there are a couple that could leave today. Certainly two in the American League (the didn't specify which) and maybe one or two in our league."

Fajardo Signs With Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—The University of Houston announced Wednesday the signing of three high school football players.

They are Philip Fajardo, a 5-9, 187-pound halfback from Amarillo Palo Duro; Max Welch, a guard-tackle from Nederland who stands 6-2 and weighs 250; and Robert Hall, a 6-2, 218-pound end from Port Neches.

SMALL COLLEGE TOP 10 Southern Illinois Faces S. Dakota

NEW YORK (UPI)—North Dakota (No. 6), Akron (No. 8), Long Island U. (No. 10) and Abilene Christian (No. 11) received one apiece.

Tennessee State, unbeaten in its first nine games, made the biggest jump in the ratings from seventh to fourth. The Tigers, the nation's second highest scoring team according to the latest NCAA statistics, meet Southern Illinois Saturday at Carbondale, Ill.

Oglethorpe, also undefeated in its games through last Saturday, advanced two places while Valparaiso climbed one rung to ninth.

Heads The List

Evansville, which hosted Southern Illinois Wednesday night, headed the list of those on the downsizing. They included Central (Ohio) State, which slipped one notch to fifth; Grambling, also down one; Akron, fifth a week ago, and LIU, ninth in the previous ratings.

Five coaches from each of the seven geographical areas of the nation comprise the UPI board. Each week they vote on the top 10 teams with points distributed on the basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 for votes from first to 10th.

Team 19 Points

Southern Illinois received 19 first-place votes and 312 points to five and 242 for North Dakota, the defending North Central Conference champion. Evansville drew three nods for the top spot and 224 points.

Two first-place votes were awarded to fourth-ranked Tennessee State and seventh-ranked Grambling, while Oglethe next year at a 10 per cent salary cut. Both Faison and Ladd will become free agents May 1 unless they sign.

Foss said he found no evidence that the players had been contacted by any official or representative of the clubs prior to the deal. However, the conclusive evidence that the players knew of the statements and pointed out that Ladd was quoted as saying, "If the man is willing to give up four players, he must be willing to give up a lot of money." The Commissioner said the effect was to interfere with the ability of San Diego to sign the players. However, he said it was Gillman's duty to confine complaints to official notes to the Commissioner's office.

After Foss made his ruling, Gillman said, "I accept Commissioner Foss' decision and hope Ernie and Earl will be playing for the Chargers in 1966."

Adams and Don Klosterman, the Oilers general manager, said they had no further comment.

Faison appeared to take the verdict in stride when reached at San Diego. "I guess everything goes back to the way it was," he said. "I don't think I should comment on the matter at this time. I first heard of the decision on the radio."

Ladd was not available for comment immediately.

Nick Buoniconiti, Boston line-backer who sounded off on the case and was summoned into Foss' office next week, had little to say.

"I gave the Commissioner my word that I wouldn't say anything else about the situation and I won't," he said in Boston. "I respect the man for the stand he has taken. I'll just go up there and take whatever's coming. If I was out of line, well, that's that."

The AFL owners concluded their meetings and headed home after the announcement that the Miami Dolphins had completed stocking their club with 32 players from the other 12 teams.

MORE TEAM PLAYERS?

NEW YORK (AP)—The individuals aren't doing as well but college basketball teams are scoring better than ever.

That was the puzzle presented by official statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

The figures show only two players — Purdue's Dave Schellhase and Syracuse's Bing — averaging more than 30 points per game. Schellhase, who finished fourth last season, leads with 32.6 and Bing is averaging 30.1. This is the first week in three years that so few players are over the 30-point plateau.

But team statistics present a different picture. Three clubs are averaging better than 97 points per game with Loyola of Chicago tops at 100.6 and Brigham Young (97.7) and Syracuse (97.1) duelling for the runner-up spot. Among full season figures, only Miami, Fla. with 98.4 last season, averaged more than the trio at the top right now.

The individual leaders include Schellhase, Oklahoma City's Jim Ware, averaging better than 21 rebounds per game. Tulsa's Julian Hammond, tops in field goal percentage with .639 and Bob Lloyd of Rutgers, the top free throw shooter on .928 accuracy.

ROUGH GOING Monte Carlo Rally Into Final Days

MONTE CARLO (AP)—Timote Makinen of Finland and Paul Easter of Britain, driving a Mini Cooper, topped the provisional classification Wednesday of the 25th Monte Carlo Auto Rally.

If the team performs well in the final mountain test during the night it is expected to win the rally.

In second position in the provisional classification are Tony Ambrose and Rauno Aaltonen, a British-Finnish team, driving another Mini Cooper.

The 60 leading teams remaining in the rally will take part in the 380-mile run through the mountains near Monte Carlo.

The winning team will be announced Thursday.

In all, 85 teams finished the first two-thirds of the annual rally without penalty points. When the rally began last weekend at various European points, there were 192 contestants.

Most of those who did not finish quit because of the intense cold in the mountains. Generally, the roads were good but considerable snow and ice was encountered.

NEW YORK (AP)—The John W. Mara memorial cancer research unit was dedicated Wednesday at St. Vincent's Hospital by Francis Cardinal Spellman.

The research unit honors the former president of the New York football Giants, who held office from 1933 until his death of cancer in 1965.

BLACKSMITH UNION Trainers, Smithies In Court Battle

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—A peals, claiming the horse-shoers dispute involving trainers and horseshoers at Bowie race course is headed for the U.S. Supreme Court.

Attorney Jacob Edelman said Wednesday the International Union of Journeymen Horseshoers would ask the high court to decide if the group had the right to negotiate collectively for wages.

Three years ago, six trainers challenged the existence of the blacksmith's union when horseshoers refused to shoe horses of owners and trainers who used non-union blacksmiths. A decision in U.S. District Court upheld the blacksmiths.

HURDLES APPEAR TOP EVENT

First NAIA Meet Starts Saturday

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The NAIA announced Wednesday outstanding fields for the Open and NAIA divisions in the 60-yard high hurdles at its first indoor track and field championships here Saturday.

The open division matches Jim Miller, former Colorado standout who was king of Big Eight hurdles for three years, against Tennessee freshman Richmond Flowers, son of the Alabama attorney general.

Fast High Schooler As a 17-year old high school boy last year, Flowers ran the 120-yard high hurdles in a sixzling 13.8 to beat Tennessee's Pat Pomphrey.

A week later in the California Relays, Flowers ran a 13.9 in beating Blaine Lindgren, Olympic silver medalist, and Roger Morgan of Northeast Louisiana, a two-time NAIA champion.

Other strong entrants in the Open division are Willie Dent of Lincoln U., Jefferson City, Mo., and Jeff Glasgow, who transferred to Oklahoma State from Oklahoma City U. when OCU gave up track.

The NAIA division matches two competitors in the 1964 Olympics, Willie Davenport of Southern U., Baton Rouge, La., and Arnoldo Bristol of Texas Southern, who represented Puerto Rico at Tokyo.

Davenport's 13.5 for the 120-yard high was the best time in the world in 1965, and he ran the 60-yard high in seven seconds to edge Ralph Boston and Flowers last week at Detroit.

Other strong NAIA entrants are Roger Mann of Northeast Louisiana, Tom White of Yorkton, S.D., Val Sherling of Emporia, Kan., State and Gary Power of Omaha U.

A POSSIBILITY

Mantle On First? No Denials Here

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Houk, general manager of the New York Yankees, lent some authenticity Wednesday to a report that Mickey Mantle might be switched to first base next season.

Mantle himself gave the first indication of such a move earlier in the week before entering Mayo Clinic for an examination of his right shoulder, re-injured while cavorting with his sons at his Dallas home a couple of weeks ago.

"I haven't heard anything from Mayo Clinic regarding Mickey," said Houk. "I should hear something by the end of the week."

Mantle originally hurt the right shoulder a couple of years ago when he was hit from the blind side by his younger brother during a touch football game in the Mantle back yard.

Should Mantle play first base, a position totally strange to him, Joe Pepitone, the regular first baseman since 1963, most likely will be switched to the outfield, a position with which the left-handed fielding New Yorker is quite familiar.

Pepitone was used in all three outfield positions last year, showing to his best advantage in right field. Roger Maris, the team's regular right fielder, is equally efficient in center.

Press Conference Subject

The Mantle subject came up during a press conference called by the Yankees to announce the signing of Elston Howard. The veteran catcher reportedly received in the neighborhood of $60,000, the same salary he earned last year.

Howard, like Mantle, missed a part of last year because of injuries. Baseball's highest paid receiver was sidelined for more than five weeks of the 1965 season because of an elbow operation and had the poorest year at the plate, batting .233 in 110 games.

Mantle, hampered by shoulder and leg ailments, also suffered his worst season, batting .255 with 19 home runs.

"When Mantle visited me about a week ago, we discussed the possibility of his playing first base," said Houk. "But only on the supposition that his shoulder remained sore."

"Johnny Keane (Yankee manager) and I already had discussed that possibility. We both feel that first base is the one position on a club that you can play without having a very good arm."

Dick Sisler Nets Honor

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Sisler, the successful son of a famous father, found out that nice guys can finish first when he was named Wednesday to receive the Good Guy Award at the New York Chapter, Baseball Writers' Association's 43rd annual dinner and show, Jan. 30.

Sisler is the seventh recipient of the award conceived by the chapter to honor the memory of the late Ben Epstein, former sports writer of the now defunct New York Mirror.

Other Winners Named

Other winners have been Hank Bauer, Casey Stengel, Gil Hodges, Marv Throneberry, Whitely Ford and Elston Howard.

Dick, son of Hall of Famer George Sisler, spent all of his active big league years in the National League and last year was manager of the Cincinnati Reds. Released at the end of the year, he was named as coach of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Along with Sisler, the chapter will honor Sandy Koufax as Player of the Year and National League President Warren Giles for long and meritorious service to baseball. Mickey Mantle will be on hand to receive the Fred Hutchinson Memorial Award.

Junior High Tourney Resumes Play Today

Lubbock's Junior High basketball tournament continues action today with four games scheduled, two each at Chapman Field and Monterey Park.

At 6:45 p. m., Hutchinson and Evans meet in a losers' bracket contest at Chapman while Alderson and Matthews are battling at Monterey.

In winners' bracket outings at 8:30 p. m., Dunbar meets Slaton at Chapman and Mackenzie tries Wilson at Monterey. Five games are slated Saturday.

RIVERSIDE

Tempo Picks Up For Race

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — National stock car racing champion Ned Jarrett escaped injury in a crackup Wednesday as the speed tempo stepped up in practice runs for the Riverside-Motor Trend 500-mile race Sunday.

Jarrett's Ford was damaged but will be ready when qualifying for the main event gets under way Thursday at Riverside Raceway.

Jarrett, from Camden, S.C., apparently lost control, and his car went into the No. 9 wall.

Bobby Isaac of Catawba, S.C., suffered a similar fate at the same wall in a separate accident but was not hurt, and his car will be repaired in time for further racing.

Dan Gurney, meanwhile, winner of this 500 the past three years, for the second straight day broke his one-lap Riverside Raceway record.

Gurney circled the twisting 2.7 mile course in 1:32.70 seconds for a speed of 104.85, the fastest ever registered here either in competition or practice.

Gurney hit 104.2 Tuesday, breaking the mark of 103.95 which he recorded last year. He is driving a Ford Galaxie.

Two other drivers bettered 104 Wednesday morning before a drizzle of rain cleared the track for awhile.

Dave Pearson of Spartanburg, S. C., was clocked in 1:32.67 for 104.96, and Curtis Turner of Charlotte, N. C., whipped around in 1:32.89 for 104.70. Pearson piloted a Dodge Coronet, Turner a Ford.

Turner is on the comeback road. He was placed under a ban for five years by NASCAR in a controversy involving an attempt to organize drivers. He returned to racing late last year.

U.S. Auto Club champion Norm Nelson is here, marking only his second appearance in a road race. The first was a Indianapolis Raceway park.

Nelson said he was studying the techniques of Gurney, whose skill in shifting Nelson described as the secret of keeping a stock car on the track in such a demanding 500-mile grind.

The status remained undetermined for veteran driver Ford Lorenzen of Elmhurst, Ill., who walked away from his wrecked car Tuesday.

VOTING RIGHTS ACT A MISTAKE

South Carolina Has The Better Case

DON'T COUNT on it, but the U.S. Supreme Court now has the opportunity to set a much needed rule or two on how far the Constitution can be bent.

Mrs. Gandhi's Tasks

AS THE WORLD'S only woman prime minister and leader of a nation beset by the gravest of problems, India's Mrs. Indira Gandhi will have need of all the firmness and intelligence for which she has become known.

ANDREW TULLY:

Hopes Ride On O'Brien

WASHINGTON It is a pleasure to note that Postmaster General Larry O'Brien, who served ably as Jack Kennedy's Commissioner of Vote Collection, has discovered what might be politely described as the country's mail system.

THE SECRET WAS kept—but at the cost of heavier opposition than necessary.

TO STAVE OFF full fledged revolt, top-level Treasury officials headed by Secretary Henry H. (Joe) Fowler fanned out over Capitol Hill last Thursday and Friday to sell the tax package as essential to hold down the budget deficit.

ALSO THERE is widespread disagreement among Democrats with the Treasury's concern that the economy is overheated and needs to be cooled off with higher tax revenues.

THE OPPOSITION stems from more than pique over being kept in the dark. Although there is divided opinion whether the Administration and Congress acted wisely last year in the massive excise tax reduction, there is much resistance now to marching right back down the hill on autos and telephones.

BUT A GOOD case can be made that the President had to ask for extra revenue. His package was deftly constructed to make it as painless as possible.

ACCORDINGLY, it would have seemed only natural for the President's old Senate friends to have swallowed their criticism of the excise tax proposal and, somewhat unhappily, just gone along.

HENRY J. TAYLOR:

It's Recipe For Panic

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S State of the Union Message couldn't have been more inflationary if he had delivered it on a keg of dynamite.

MR. JOHNSON sounds as if he's in charge, and apparently he is in charge of the spending. But he's certainly not in charge of the brains and fears of the world.

In one breath the President warns that "we cannot know what the future will require" in our ghastly Southeast Asia war, either its length or the vast potential dimensions.

NEARLY EVERYBODY would count most of the butter on Mr. Johnson's list as desirable. But desirability isn't the question.

The whole political pitch and its pie-crust logic utterly lacked what Lord Fisher called "the outward form and inward meaning of great occasions."

HE WORSE than fluffed it. He buried the opportunity. He so committed himself to his own nose about a bottomless barrel that he faces us with this as long as he remains in the White House.

The moment had come when with honor and dedication the President could have said that he had offered the great costs and expansions of the Great Society in complete sincerity.

ABANDONMENT? NOT necessarily. Postponements, positively. Can you imagine this hurting the morale of our men in Viet Nam, which should be the only morale that counts right now?

We're overwrought with palaver about wage-price "guidelines" and Mr. Johnson sits like some Indian chief pondering the omens.

WE SEE MR. JOHNSON, who otherwise seems to get into everything, nobly detach himself from the awful, illegal New York transit strike, too busy in the public interest all over the world to get involved on the side of eight million defenseless sufferers in the nation's largest city.

You can bet that had a company staged this battering illegally, Federal fines (somehow contrived) and chastisements by the Justice Department and Internal Revenue Service would have hit the company—and the headlines—instantly.

"I AM QUITE disturbed that essential services could be paralyzed so long and by the cost of the settlement... which violates our price guidelines," was all the public got out of Mr. Johnson.

The state of our Union is a state of double talk. The peril to our Union is that the weapon Russia and Red China want most is a bankrupt or overextended America.

THE MORNING News has long believed that letters to the editor are among the best-read features of this and all other newspapers.

It has been our aim to give the public great freedom as it expresses itself in the letters to the editor columns, probably the most effective medium the public has in getting its views across.

So it comes as no surprise to us that a professional survey reported by the American Newspaper Publishers Association bears out our belief that writers of letters to the editor are rather superior people who are sincere in what they write and don't mind going on record to express various views.

There is no doubt that sincere letters do have an impact. More than in any other medium, these letters have prompted civic and political leaders to respond to questions raised by individual citizens.

FOR A WHILE scientists were telling us that human beings evolved from creatures that swung in the trees. Now they say we have ancestors in common with the trees themselves.

The cells of a tree and those of man are the same, an eminent botanist claims, and they both have the same fundamental structure and organs.

OVER KIDNAPING

De Gaulle Shakes Up French Secret Service

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle shook up the French secret service Wednesday because the unsolved kidnapping of a Moroccan leftist leader has besmirched his regime.

The case broke Oct. 29 when Mehdi Ben Barka, chief of leftist opposition to King Hassan II of Morocco was kidnapped in Paris. He has not been seen since, and presumably has been murdered.

It first appeared to be a case of Moroccan settling scores on French soil. Then it was disclosed that two French police officers were involved in the abduction. The trail led into police headquarters and into the secret service.

De Gaulle, reported by informed sources to be enraged at police complexity and distressed at the diplomatic implications, was ordered the security shakedown which was announced after a Cabinet meeting.

Police Plotting Rumored The secret service, concentrated on counterespionage, was transferred from Premier Georges Pompidou's direct responsibility. It now will report to the Ministry of Defense. Its chief, Gen. Paul Jaquier, is being retired. A Cabinet spokesman said Jaquier already was overage, but it seemed clear the Ben Barka case was responsible for the retirement.

From its outset, a daylight kidnaping on the Left Bank through a presumed police plotting, a presumed police plotting, a presumed police plotting, a presumed police plotting.

France officially terms it "a criminal undertaking organized from outside our country," but admits French secret service agents assisted.

And it has strained relations between France and Morocco. Mohamed Oufkir, Moroccan interior minister, has been asked to come to Paris to aid in the investigation.

Declines Invitation Although he has denied any complicity in the kidnaping, Oufkir concedes he was in Paris that day. He has thus far declined France's invitation to return.

One self-styled witness to the affair was found shot to death in his apartment Monday night. He was Georges Figon, a longtime criminal who claimed he had been in the villa where Ben Barka is supposed to have been taken.

Figon said Ben Barka was stabbed, implying he was killed, and told reporters he had seen Oufkir in the villa.

Police said they were on the lookout for Figon but could not find him, although the magazine Match published pictures this week of Figon walking past police headquarters.

Declared Suicide Then came the news that police had closed in on his apartment heard a shot and when they finally got in, found him dead. He is officially declared a suicide.

Some informed sources speculate that Ben Barka was done away with by persons who wanted to prevent his return to Morocco. According to these sources, Ben Barka had largely settled his differences with King Hassan and was going back as leader of the opposition. Ben Barka was chairman of the preparatory committee for the pro-Communist Continental conference that closed in Havana last week.

Mrs. Gandhi Elected New India Leader

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Mrs. Indira Gandhi, a frail widow blinking away the tears, was elected prime minister of India Wednesday by an overwhelming vote that made her the only woman in the world to head a government.

"Our leader Lal Bahadur Shastri died as a martyr for the cause of peace," Mrs. Gandhi said in a short speech following her election. "We will stand by him and strengthen the cause of peace."

Shastri died of a heart attack eight days ago, shortly after he signed a non-aggression pact with Pakistan.

Never before in modern history has a woman headed a nation of the stature of India, and only one woman prime minister, Mme. S. R. D. Bandaranaike of Ceylon, has preceded her. Mrs. Gandhi is the daughter of India's first Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru who died in 1964.

Crowds Cheer Election Cheered Mrs. Gandhi's election, laying a carpet of flowers before her automobile as she left the parliament building after the voting.

Gathering of the crowds created huge traffic jams all over the city. Nearly 3,000 persons, most of them women, bearing flowers, greeted her as she arrived at her home.

Mrs. Gandhi, 48 and the mother of two college-age sons, was selected by a vote of 355 ballots to 169 for her only opponent, former Finance Minister Morarji Desai.

An overwhelming favorite for the office as the election neared, Mrs. Gandhi before the voting visited the house where Nehru had lived for 17 years and sobbed and prayed before life-size statue of her father.

Mrs. Gandhi came to the parliament building for her election clutching in her right hand a single red rose as a symbol of her father who customarily wore the flower in the button hole of his severely-turtled. In her other hand she carried a bouquet of roses, chrysanthemums and dahlias. She wore a pure white sari, the wrap-around garment of Indian women.

After her election she received the congratulations of her defeated opponent, then made a brief speech to congress party members in the Hindu national language.

American officials said they will ask Mrs. Gandhi Thursday to honor the invitation to the United States that had been accepted earlier by Shastri.

Informed sources said her cabinet are expected to be sworn in Monday.

In her first news conference, she said she would be in the apartment heard a shot and when they finally got in, found him dead. He is officially declared a suicide.

Some informed sources speculate that Ben Barka was done away with by persons who wanted to prevent his return to Morocco. According to these sources, Ben Barka had largely settled his differences with King Hassan and was going back as leader of the opposition. Ben Barka was chairman of the preparatory committee for the pro-Communist Continental conference that closed in Havana last week.

JUDGES DISAGREE INVESTIGATION STARTS

Whereabouts Of Prostitute Is Not 'Valuable'

AUSTIN (AP) — Information on the whereabouts of a prostitute is not "valuable," the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ruled today in reversing and remanding the conviction of Charles Raymond Oden for the alleged kidnaping of a Marshall hotel bell captain.

However, a dissenting opinion by Judge W. A. Morrison held that the information "of the whereabouts of his prostitute was a valuable thing to Oden because she was the sole source of his livelihood."

Oden allegedly kidnaped the hotel bell boy at gunpoint in an effort to make the bell boy tell him where he could find a certain woman, according to the majority opinion written by Judge K. K. Woodley.

Oden was convicted and sentenced to 18 years in prison. Woodley said the law specifies that the kidnaping must be done to obtain "valuable things."

"Though the prostitute may have been useful and of value to appellant (Oden)," Woodley wrote, "information as to her whereabouts was at most an intangible advantage and was not a valuable thing."

Morrison argued that this interpretation means the valuable thing must be of value to the injured party. "I do not agree," he wrote.

The combination of an employer's safe has no pecuniary value to a trusted employee, Morrison said, but it is of great value to a person who kidnaped the employee in order to obtain that combination.

The majority opinion said evidence at the trial showed that the bell captain did not know of the prostitute's whereabouts, anyway.

Hearing Planned For Teen-Ager In Murder Case

PRESNHAM (UPI) — A preliminary hearing will be held Tuesday for Paul Eric Krueger, 18, of San Clemente, Calif., who is accused of murdering three Corpus Christi fishermen.

Paul Klingsporn, assistant district clerk, said the hearing will be held in the court of Judge Leslie Williams. The trial date was expected to be set at that time.

The fishermen's bodies were found April 13, 1965 near the John F. Kennedy causeway, southeast of Corpus Christi.

John Phillip Angles of Los Angeles, a runaway involved with Krueger, has been sent to the Texas State (reform) School for Boys until he is 21.

Angles said Krueger killed the fishermen, who were David Carson, 59; J. David Fox, 35, and Noel Little, 51.

Krueger was released in $45,000 bond after the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals last June rejected a state move to block release of the teen-ager.

Top Apellate Post Sought By Phillips

AUSTIN (AP) — Associate Justice John C. Phillips of the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals said Wednesday he plans to seek election as chief justice of the court.

Chief Justice Roy C. Archer has announced he will retire at the end of his present term this year.

Phillips is in the fourth year of a six-year term as associate justice.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Leon Garcia, 29, son of ex-president Juan Bosch, was shot and gravely wounded early Wednesday.

Bosch was shot at a cocktail lounge. Others indicated he was on route from the center of the capital to his father's home in the western outskirts. Described as an aspiring painter, he is a member of his father's armed escort.

The shooting incident was of several in the city. There also was firing near the military camp in which the rebel armed force is based. There were no known casualties in this shooting. For the most part, the capital was tense but quiet as the country's unresolved military crisis entered its fifth week.

Unofficial reports were that the top two rebel chieftains, Col. Francisco Caamaño Deno and Col. Manuel Ramon Montes Arce, would leave, probably next week, obeying a presidential order assigning them to diplomatic posts abroad.

There was no official sign of compliance with the presidential order transferring the military figures.

President Hector Garcia-Godoy continued working at the national palace under stricter security measures, apparently waiting out a definite move from either side on his decision.

Armed forces leaders say they will consider the presidential order once the top rebel leaders have left.

Five Counties Seek Projects For Areas

AUSTIN (AP) — Delegations from five counties asked the Texas Highway Commission today for construction projects which would cost $62,800 in state funds.

The projects, by county, included: Morris Farm-to-market road from Farm 1400 near Daingerfield northwesterly to the Cass County line, estimated to cost $146,200.

Security — Improvement of Texas 208 in Snyder, $204,000. Medina — Farm-to-market road from Farm 462 west to U. S. 90 in Hondo, $84,600.

Area City Is 'Dogged' With Control Plan

PLAINVIEW (Special)—After more than a year trying to make a dog and cat control ordinance work, Plainview officials still are "dogged" with problems, they said.

Some of the problems arise from pet owners who object to what, they term, too strict regulations. Other problems have come out of citizens' complaints that the ordinance is not strictly enforced.

Pet owners lost a round recently when the city announced the regulations would be strictly enforced and hardened the procedure for retrieving a dog or cat from the animal shelter.

City manager Marshall Pharr said the approach of the season more conducive to rabies incidence prompted the moves. Stray dogs and cats will be picked up and taken to the shelter, Pharr said. The owner must pay charges within 72 hours to get his pet back.

The fines must be paid at City Hall rather than at the shelter, Pharr said. First offense costs $5, other violations $10 each. There is also a $1.50 per day charge for keeping the animals.

Vaccination also will be emphasized. Before an animal is released, the owner must produce a certificate showing vaccination within the past 13 months.

Fees Attached
If the pet has not been vaccinated, the owner must pay the city $3 for a receipt, good with any Plainview veterinarian for a vaccination, he added.

If the animal does not have a current license, the $2 license fee also is required.

After the necessary fees are paid, the city will deliver the animal to its owner.

In addition to other charges, the owner is subject to being filed on in corporation court by either complaint or summons. The fine can be $1 to $100.

Pharr said there had been some confusion about the definition of "at large." According to the ordinance, the animal must be on the owner's property in a fenced enclosure or on a leash.

Graveyard Laboratory Work Brings Police

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—Police have arrested two college students who were too diligent about homework.

Authorities said a medical student and a chemistry student couldn't afford to buy human skulls for study purposes so they went to a graveyard and removed the skull of a man buried in 1948. They were arrested after fellow students became suspicious.
