Fights Now Avoided By Viet Cong

Communist Forces' Losses Held Heavy

SAIGON—The allied post-truce offensive began showing results Thursday. Briefing officers announced 105 Viet Cong were killed, 123 captured and 195 suspects rounded up in a series of engagements on widely separated sectors.

There were blows, too at the war potential of the Communists, who had seemed oddly averse to open combat since the end of the lunar new year ceasefire Sunday.

Fuel Dump Hit

U.S. Air Force fighter-bomber pilots apparently hit a fuel dump in a raid on a Viet Cong center 170 miles southwest of Saigon. They said their bombs set off three secondary explosions that shot flames and black smoke hundreds of feet into the air.

Men of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division unearthed a primitive Communist arms factory 30 miles north of Saigon. Among devices seized were seven mines modeled on the American claymore.

U.S. Marines inflicted and took casualties in scattered clashes. A military spokesman at Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, announced 14 Viet Cong were killed in ground action and seven by air strikes and three were captured in that area.

Two Marines killed two guerrillas killed two Marines manning a checkpoint Wednesday night near Chu Lai, 52 miles south of Da Nang, and later in the night jumped a Leatherneck squad—perhaps a dozen men—five miles northwest of Chu Lai. The squad's casualties were reported to be heavy. The Marines said they believed they wounded two of the 20 to 30 men in the raiding party.

In all, American armed forces tallied 49 Viet Cong killed, South Korean 35 and South Vietnamese 21.

Spokesmen said two regiments of South Viet Nam's 3rd Division accounted for 14 dead, 114 captured and 117 suspects rounded up in a drive launched Wednesday on a Viet Cong training camp in the Mekong River delta province of Kien Phong.

It was a pincer operation. An infantry regiment attacked while another regiment, in armored personnel carriers, deployed a blocking force. Of the 117 suspects seized, many were believed to be recent recruits.

CAIRO (UPI)—The United Arab Republic Thursday reimposed the strict news censorship which it lifted in 1962.

Pamed Near City

The decision to terminate the flight was made shortly after 4 p.m. as the sphere passed about 15 miles north of the Hub City and was plainly visible for almost an hour.

D. C. Papa, who was assigned to the field station with R. R. Lewis, said the balloon was traveling about 125 miles an hour at 25,000 feet as it passed over the Lubbock area.

A "chase plane," which had been visually tracking the balloon throughout its high altitude journey, said it dropped to the ground at 5:28 p.m. about 20 miles northwest of Childress.

A recovery team immediately set out by truck from Lubbock to pick up the test package, consisting of a radiometer and other equipment which measured the oxygen line, looking down-See HUGE BALLOON Page 6

WEATHER STUDY

Big Balloon Makes Pass Over Area

A GIGANTIC balloon carrying a scientific test package was visible north of Lubbock for almost an hour Thursday afternoon before the experiment was terminated and the testing apparatus was parachuted to earth near Childress.

Purpose of the mission, launched at 9:20 a.m. Thursday from Phoenix, Ariz., was to measure temperatures of oxygen in the atmosphere. Information obtained in the tests could prove invaluable to weather forecasters, engineers said here late Thursday.

First Of Two Flights The test was the first in a current series of two Phoenix flights and the 11th in an overall program conducted during the past 2 1/2 years.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology is responsible for collecting and analyzing the data. The National Center for Atmospheric Research (NCAR) is assisting.

An NCAR field station manned by MIT engineers tracked the huge silvery balloon on much of its flight from Phoenix.

Statement Guarded State's attorneys have close-guarded Cross' statement, which they say was voluntary, pointing to an untested revision of the state criminal code which attempts to curb publication of pre-trial information.

Virus Epidemic Rages In Heart Of Britain

LONDON (UPI)—Thousands of schoolchildren were absent from classes Thursday as a virus epidemic swept Britain from Land's End to Scotland. A two-year-old boy in Scotland died of the virus.

Authorities identified the flu as the relatively mild "virus B." They said the epidemic could continue another five weeks.

TRIAL SET FEB. 14

Cross Plea Slated At Austin Today

AUSTIN—A darkly handsome former University of Texas sophomore answers guilty or innocent today to charges that he strangled two pretty sorority sisters last summer in a tantrum of passion and panic.

Pretrial hearing of motions concerning the scheduled Valentine Day trial of James C. Cross Jr. will begin at 9 a.m. before Dist. Judge Mac Thurman Jr.

Cross, 23, son of a Fort Worth chain store advertising executive, is charged with killing Shirley Ann Stark and Susan Rigby, both 21 and of Dallas, last July 1988.

The nearly nude bodies were found July 30.

Held Without Bond Cross, who had been questioned in the coeds' disappearance and released, was charged Aug. 6 with the slayings after he made a written statement. He has been held without bond in jail ever since. At first he was alone in a 6 by 10 foot cell where he read volume after volume of English literature and drama. Later, at his own request, he went to a larger cell with other prisoners.

A total of 650 prospective jurors have been summoned Feb. 12 from which lawyers will try Perry Jones, waived a preliminary jury of 12. It is estimated the trial will last at least two weeks with much of the time taken in picking an argument of insanity at the jury.

Jury Under Attack Cross' lawyer will offer two motions Friday to toss out the murder indictments on the contention that the grand jury arbitrarily indicted Cross for the sole purpose of denying him an examining trial.

Other defense motions will contend that Cross' lawyers be given access to vital evidence held by the prosecution, that of a sexual nature" that had Cross' statement to officers not be used in the trial, and that prospective jurors should not be disqualified because they oppose capital punishment.

More Icy Weather Forecast Blow Due To Hit In Area Today

By DAVE KNAPP

Avalanche-Journal Staff A SLOW-moving mass of Arctic air moved into the Texas Panhandle Thursday, spewing light snow flurries and dropping temperatures back into "deep freeze" levels while threatening to sweep into the South Plains with freezing drizzle and more snow today.

Although more laggard and not quite as intense, the new northerly packed most of the ingredients of the season's worst storm, which last week jabbed two-thirds of the state with freezing drizzle, sleet heavy snow and sub-zero temperatures.

Driving Warning Issued Late Thursday, a potentially dangerous low pressure system developing in the Rockies caused the U.S. Weather Bureau at Kansas City to issue possible hazardous driving warnings for parts of Oklahoma, Kansas and Northwest Texas, including portions of the South Plains.

The advisory noted that although only light snow flurries were being reported in the Panhandle, moisture is expected to increase today in the form of snow, sleet or freezing rain.

Started Early Today At the same time, light rain mixed with snow was falling in Odessa. Weathermen here said the mixture probably was associated from still another surface low situated south of El Paso in Mexico.

Arriving just as most of Texas was recovering from the prolonged blast of a week ago, the Arctic air mass stalled in the Panhandle Thursday, becoming stationary on a line from near Childress to north of Clovis.

Frigid At Amarillo Although it had not resumed its movement early today, forecasters at the U.S. Weather Bureau Station, Lubbock Municipal Airport, expected it to trade into the Plains sometime between "mid-morning and mid-afternoon."

The front brought a quick end to a short-lived warming trend, with temperatures in Amarillo skidding seven degrees as the system moved through the city at 2:35 p.m.

Later in the day there were wide variations in mercury readings ahead of and behind the frigid air. At 9 p.m. Thursday Amarillo posted a 12-degree mark amid light snow flurries. At the same time, the temperature in Lubbock was 40 degrees.

IN NEW YORK

Old Building Falls; 11 Hurt

NEW YORK (UPI)—An overload of material apparently caused an upper floor of an ancient factory building on Lower Broadway Thursday, and it carried two other floors down with it. Eleven employees and a policeman assigned to rescue duty were injured.

"It sounded like an earthquake I just ran," said a woman among nearly 200 employees who fled the six-story building at Grand Street and Broadway. It houses a firm that makes window shades and venetian blinds.

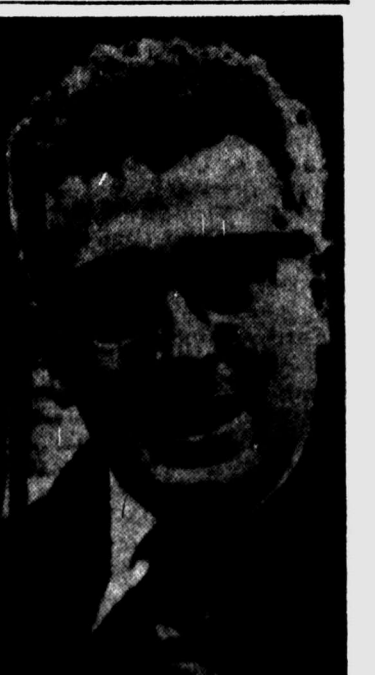

A fire official described the building as "Civil War vintage." It is in a rundown commercial area.

It was more than two hours after the fifth, fourth and third floors caved in before police were satisfied that all inside the building had been accounted for.

Five of the injured were trapped in the wreckage. Six others were hurt in a mass scramble for safety.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, who inspected the wreckage, said the fifth floor "was badly overloaded." It reportedly held between 20 and 37 tons of plastic fabric in heavy rolls.

The fifth floor collapsed and carried parts of the fourth and third floors down with it. A steamstress on a part of the third floor that did not collapse, Mary Rodriguez, 43, said: "We heard a noise like an explosion. We looked up and everything was coming down. We screamed and ran." There was no fire.

Man Killed By 'Blast' Steam Press 'Blows' At Tulia Compress

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal) TULIA — The freakish "blow up" of a steam press at North Plains Cotton Compress here Thursday afternoon killed one man instantly and injured three others, none seriously.

Based on arrival at Swisher County Memorial Hospital was Isabel Carranza Coronado, 77, longtime employe of the compress.

In good condition at the same hospital were two other employes, Jose Serna, 23, and Norberto C. Gonzalez, 20. Given emergency treatment and dismissed was Julia Alfaro, 49.

Authorities said all of the victims had Tulia addresses.

About 20 other co-workers escaped injury when the mishap occurred about 3:30 p.m.

Authorities said Coronado and the others were processing a bale of cotton when the machine "blow" apart and hurled a cotton bale and piece of machinery into Coronado, apparently killing him instantly.

Force of the blow-up was so powerful it pushed a piston rod completely through a cylinder. Compress officials said the press operates under pressure of 450,000 pounds per square inch.

F. H. Murff, compress manager, said he was in the office when the mishap occurred. "I don't know how or why it happened," he told newsmen. Damage was estimated at $15,000 to $25,000.

The injured were taken to the hospital here by ambulance. Funeral services for Coronado were pending late Thursday at Wallace Funeral Home here.

Un-American Probe Panel Gets $425,000

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Thursday gave a ringing re-endorsement to its Committee on Un-American Activities. It voted to give the panel $425,000 for its investigations during 1966.

The total, which covers a current investigation of the Ku Klux Klan, was $5,000 more than the House provided in 1965.

E. Willis (D-La.) denied that the group ever trampled on anyone's rights. He cited the Klan investigation as an example of the committee's worth.

DURING JURY SELECTION

Mrs. Mossler Stricken By Migraine Headache

MIAMI (AP)—Mrs. Candace Mossler was stricken by a migraine headache Thursday and was helped from the courtroom where she is on trial for murder of her wealthy husband, Jacques Mossler.

The blonde defendant sagged in her chair during the morning session and one of the defense lawyers, Mrs. Marian Rosen, obtained permission from Judge George Schulz to take her out.

Unable To Return
The lawyer said Mrs. Mossler, 39, became violently ill in a restroom in the judge's chambers.

Hanging on the arms of bailiffs Frank Wahl and William Peters, Mrs. Mossler was taken to an elevator and downstairs to a cab in the basement. From there she rode to Mrs. Rosen's hotel apartment and was placed under a doctor's care.

Schulz said later he was advised by the doctor that Mrs. Mossler was unable to return for the afternoon session. The judge said jury examination could continue in her absence but he was not sure whether a jury could be sworn before she returns.

"I have recommended other doctors for her if she needs them," the judge said.

In the early morning of June 30, 1964 when Mossler, 69, was slain in a Miami apartment, his wife was in Miami's Jackson Memorial Hospital being treated for a similar migraine attack.

A defense motion for dismissal of the indictment was attacked by State Atty. Richard Gerstein as "frivolous and scandalous." In a counter-motion filed with the court, Gerstein said the defense action was taken "solely for the purpose of delay and to harass the State of Florida in the prosecution of this case."

Attorneys for Mrs. Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, 29, defendant under the indictment, moved Wednesday to quash it. They charged "coercion, threats, undue influence and subornation of perjury" of state witnesses.

Schulz declined to hold a hearing on the defense motion but said both sides could file more briefs before he rules.

An agreement on a jury had seemed imminent Wednesday but more challenges were made Thursday.

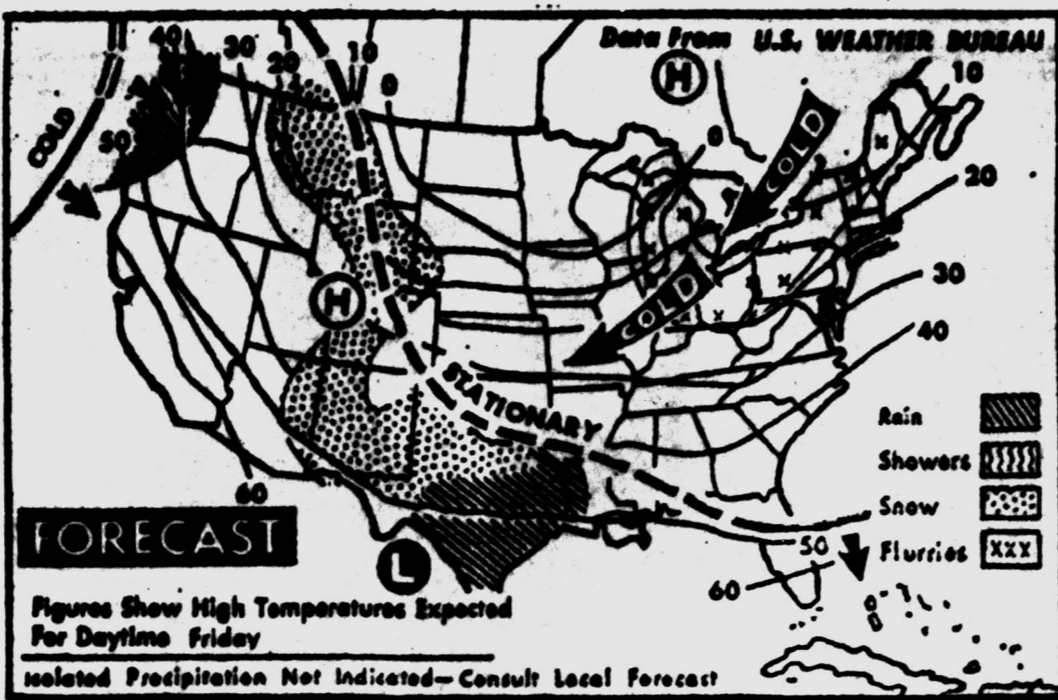

All Women Dismissed
Percy Foreman lawyer for Powers, excused Mrs. Penelope Jameson and the defense dismissed all of the four women to appear in the jury box.

Woody, Mrs. Mossler's chief lawyer, used challenges to take out two prospective male jurors. After this, Powers retained only two challenges and Mrs. Mossler three. The state still had eight.

In his motion Thursday, Gerstein contended that under Florida law a court may not inquire into the sufficiency or legality of evidence upon which a murder indictment is based.

The defense had alleged that a woman cellmate of Mrs. Mossler was promised dismissal of charges against her if she would testify that Mrs. Mossler admitted the killing to her.

It also had said that a cellmate of Powers was told he could not get out of jail unless he answered questions about Powers, and that a witness at a habeas corpus hearing was threatened with prison if he did not testify.

WEATHER FORECAST—Snow is expected today for the Rockies, Plains and Southern Plateau areas. Snow flurries will occur from the Great Lakes through the Ohio Valley to the north Atlantic states. Rain is slated for the western Gulf and Pacific Northwest parts of the nation. (AP Wirephoto)

Hearing Set On Federal Claim To Oswald Guns

DALLAS (AP)—U.S. Judge Joe E. Estes set Feb. 21 to hear the government's claim on the weapons used by presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

The judge also denied Thursday a motion by a Denver oilman, John J. King, to dismiss the case.

Estes said among the contested issues of law are:

1. Does the Federal Firearms Act permit the government to confiscate the weapons?
2. Does the government confiscation deny King due process of law?

The government contends the 6.5 Italian rifle used to kill President Kennedy Nov. 22, 1963, and the .38-caliber revolver which killed officer J. D. Tippit were purchased by Oswald in violation of federal firearms laws.

King filed suit last May against the Justice Department to gain possession of the weapons. He contended Oswald's widow signed a contract agreeing to sell him the guns Oswald was slain by Jack Ruby two days after Kennedy was killed.

The Colorado man claims he has paid $10,000 and is obligated to pay another $35,000 when the weapons are delivered.

SMALL RETURN Thieves Spend Hours On Job

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Police estimated Thursday that thieves worked at least six hours to burglarize a local playground office.

The office door was smashed, bolts on lockers were ripped off, desks were pried open and a one-ton safe was overturned, its bottom drilled open and a concrete slab underneath hacked through. Damage was put at $600. The loot was $23.50.

Woman Dies In Hospital Hoax

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A woman died Thursday as she was being evacuated from the Shawnee Mission Hospital in suburban Overland Park, Kan., in a bomb hoax.

Bessie Rhodes, 55, Overland Park, was pronounced dead after physicians had administered emergency treatment for 30 minutes.

She was one of about 80 patients being moved to an underground passageway after a man had called the hospital and reported there was a bomb in the place.

Police and firemen found no bomb. Mrs. Rhodes collapsed while being moved out in a wheelchair.

Robert W. Stegner, a detective, said attending physicians would not attribute the woman's death to the bomb scare alarm, but added it was possible it led to her death.

Mrs. Rhodes had been a post-operative patient six days for treatment of gallstones.

Only Archbishop Claims Reward From Veterans

BOSTON (AP)—The rabbi last night, the Episcopal bishop refused it, but the Roman Catholic archbishop accepted it.

"It" was a good government award from the American Legion's Crosscup-Pisbon Post in Boston.

The award was announced for Rabbi Roland E. Gittelsohn, former chaplain of the Jewish War Veterans, for the Rt. Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes Jr., Massachusetts Protestant Episcopal bishop, and for Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston.

When Rabbi Gittelsohn participated in a demonstration protesting U.S. policy in Viet Nam, the post withdrew the award.

Bishop Stokes then declined the award, saying "Americans have a right to express themselves in an orderly manner."

Wednesday night, Cardinal Cushing accepted the award. In so doing he said that the right of dissent is "among the most precious" and "must be preserved at whatever cost."

Plains Farming Cotton Leaders Fly To Florida

By DUANE HOWELL
Avalanche-Journal Farm Editor

A delegation of South Plains cotton industry representatives headed for Florida Thursday and others will leave today and Saturday.

They are going to Jacksonville for a series of committee meetings which precede the opening of the 28th annual convention of the National Cotton Council there Monday morning.

Ray Finkner of Lubbock is chairman of the council's Texas unit, which includes five voting delegates from the South Plains. He is a former cotton interests.

Among the nine voting delegates representing Texas producers are W. L. (Proach) Edmond of Friona, John R. Pugh of Ackerly and H. L. (Hubb) King of Brownfield.

Don Anderson of Crosbyton will be serving in an advisory capacity to the council president Harry Arthur of the Textile Research Laboratories at Texas Tech.

J. D. Smith of Littlefield, president of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and Donald A. Johnson of Lubbock, the PCCG's executive vice president, will represent the 23-county area organization.

A number of area members of the board of trustees of the Cotton Producers Institute also will be on hand.

These will include Howard Alford and Joe B. Pate, Jr., both of Lubbock, Joe Rankin, Ralls, and Jay Cannon, all of Center.

Administered By Council Research and information programs of the CPI are administered by the Cotton Council.

Going with Dan Davis are George Bennett of Lubbock, sales manager of the Plains Cotton Cooperative Association, and J. D. Fleming, head of the PCCA's operations at Altus, Okla. Dan Davis is general manager of the PCCA.

The Cotton Council's governing body includes delegates representing all branches of the industry: producers, ginners, merchants, warehousemen, cotton seed crushers, spinners and cotton cooperatives. Each segment holds a vote.

Approximately 1,000 persons from throughout the Cotton Belt are expected to attend the membership meeting Monday and Tuesday.

Hot Issue Possible A hot issue could develop over a proposal to collect cotton crop insurance from a cotton farmer's CPI research and promotion programs.

The proposal is for Congress to pass an enabling act calling for a national referendum on cotton growers, probably sometime late this year.

Then if two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum approved the $1 per bale assessment for research and promotion, it is a vote would automatically be deducted from the production of cotton in that area.

Deliberations expected at the council meeting on whether or not the enabling act should include an "escape clause" whereby growers who don't wish to contribute could obtain refunds.

Deliberations also are expected to be held on whether or not the enabling act should include an "escape clause" whereby growers who don't wish to contribute could obtain refunds.

AT SCHOOL RECESSES

Children May Soon Pay More For Milk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For millions of school children, this may be the last school year in which they can buy milk during recess at reduced prices.

President Johnson's budget message asked Congress to trim the special federal milk subsidy from $100 million in the current fiscal year to $21 million for the year beginning July 1. He said the scaled-down payments would be concentrated on needy children and on needy schools which do not have regular food service programs.

Agriculture Department officials said Thursday they could not make any precise estimate of the number of children affected. But one specialist said it would be reasonable to guess that at least 20 million children would be hurt out of 100 million.

At present, some 90,000 schools participate in the program. In typical cases, children pay three to four cents per half-pint for school lunch program.

RELEASE FIRST RECORD

Dunbar Quartet Launches Musical Recording Career

Patricia was the last to join the group and has been singing with the "Tonettes" only for about one and one-half years.

Johnson writes songs. After the present group was formed, Johnson said the girls began working and practicing until they began to sound like something and became enthusiastic. Johnson acts as manager for the Tonettes and writes all the songs they sing.

Their work toward a singing career began in 1962 when Sandra Mose and Sandra Johnson were students in a junior high English class taught by Virgil Johnson.

The two girls were interested in singing and I was interested in forming a group, so we had things pretty much going our way," said Johnson.

The two Tonettes are the only original members of the group. Patricia and Wilma joined after their girls singing with the group had moved from the city.

"A 'Right Song' " "A 'Heart Can Feel the Pain' is apparently one of the 'right songs' because it has already been spotted as a pick-hit of the week on two Lubbock radio stations.

They have established themselves as an up-and-coming group," Johnson said.

The girls will make a television appearance Saturday in San Antonio and Austin, and are scheduled to appear again in Houston the latter part of February.

Student Union Retreat Slated

Officers, committee chairman and committee members of Texas Tech Student Union will hold their annual mid-term retreat and leadership laboratory Saturday and Sunday at the Emancipation Conference Center, Amarillo.

Approximately 85 student leaders have signed up for the two-day conference, said Tech Union president Sue Walker, senior from El Paso.

Sessions will be under direction of Jim Fletcher, president of Region 12, Conference of College Unions. Fletcher is a law student at the University of Texas and a former vice president of the university's student union.

Tech Union staff members in attendance will include Mrs. Dorothy Pinn, program director, and Dallas Biggers, assistant director. Gary Rose, Lubbock junior, is vice president of Tech Union, and Sherrell Andrews, Houston junior, is secretary-treasurer.

Slaton City Administrator Named By Unanimous Vote

SLATON (Special) — Buford Duff, 31, former city secretary at Plains, was named city administrator for Slaton by a unanimous vote of the city commission.

Duff will assume duties here Feb. 15. The employment of the administrator ends a four-month search to fill the post vacated when Wayne Baker resigned to take a position with another city.

Duff was present at the commission meeting and said he "welcomed the opportunity to serve as administrator."

Tech Graduate

A native of the South Plains, Duff attended school in Southland before graduating from Wilson. He is a graduate of Texas Tech.

Duff recently has been in the delimiting and farming business in the Plains area. He served two terms on the city council there after resigning the city secretary's post.

Before going to Plains, Duff served as manager of the Crosbyton Chamber of Commerce for one year. While in Plains, Duff also served as vice president of the chamber, was a member of the Lions Club where he held several offices. He was active in the little league program where he served as player agent.

Duff's family includes his wife Saleta Ann. They are members of the Baptist Church.

Other Business

In other business, the commission heard a report by T. J. Wallace, chairman of the water board. Wallace reported the possibility of securing additional water rights. Commissioners agreed the city was interested and would request test holes on the land before negotiating further.

City Engineer

City Engineer Bennett Reeves recommended the city excavate approximately 2,500 cubic yards of dirt from the East Division lake, moving the dirt to low places on the outer edge of the property.

Reeves explained the excavation would allow the lake to have the same capacity as it did before dirt was added along the shoulders of Division during recent street improvements.

At the request of the city, the engineer gave a preliminary estimate on the cost of paving Railroad Avenue from Texas to N. 9th. Total cost of the 32-foot pavement was estimated at $29,968. The city's portion of the cost would be about $3,825 and property owners would pay the remainder.

SAYS MARTIN LUTHER KING Civil Disobedience Possible In Chicago Demonstrations

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said Thursday he wants to avoid violence in Chicago demonstrations but that civil disobedience may be necessary.

King, who is organizing a campaign against Chicago slum conditions, told 60 police officials: "We're not coming here to tear up Chicago but to rebuild it."

King plans to schedule demonstrations in March. His general targets are real estate interests and landlords in the drive for improved housing. But none has come forward with comment thus far, possibly because he had not named any specific targets.

New Wintry Blow Due To Push Into Plains

ly winds up to 25 miles an hour would keep readings in the Lubbock area in the low 30s, about 15 degrees warmer than the low expected by dawn today.

Bitter five-degree readings are predicted here for Saturday morning.

East Coast Hard Hit
Meanwhile, the worst winter storm to lash the mid-Atlantic states in three decades swirled out to sea as another cold front clobbered the central plains, bringing some of the coldest weather of the winter to that region.

At least 13 deaths were attributed to the coastal smash which left much of Virginia, North and South Carolina choked with snow, slush and ice.

Below zero overnight readings are expected in a wide swath of the Midwest.

As the southern two-thirds of Texas enjoyed the warmest weather in a week Thursday, Panhandle citizens braced for another near-zero night.

Zero Reading Seen
Temperatures at Amarillo were expected to plunge to the zero mark by dawn today, rising only to the middle teens by afternoon. Occasional light snow also is forecast.

"No very great amounts" of snowfall are due on the South Plains, late Thursday forecasts noted. Cloudy to partly cloudy and cold conditions are pegged for the weekend, with precipitation ending late tonight or early Saturday morning.

The Weather Bureau said snow would accompany the front as far south as the Red River, but from there southward only light rains are expected.

A drop in temperatures also is the order of the state.

Warmup Due Halt
Temperatures in Texas Thursday soared at many points into the 50s and 60s, the warmest readings in more than a week. The state's high was 67 at Presidio.

Earlier, Dalhart recorded a temperature of 11 degrees shortly after sunset Thursday. Five degrees colder than the low registered there at dawn.

The freezing line early Thursday dipped as far south as San Antonio, which experienced a chilly 22. There is light frost in sections of the Rio Grande Valley, but not enough to cause any major damage to the area's citrus crops.

Valley Crops Escape
The mercury dipped to an official 28 degrees at Mission and McCook in the semitropical valley. Frost covered the trees.

Brad Crockett of Crockett Nurseries said, "We're not hurt at all."

Crockett put crews in the orchards at 2 a.m. to light 5,000 heaters. He had 15,000 blocks of solid fuel ready for use if needed.

After the heaters were flaming, the temperature level rose to the middle 30s.

Vegetable Loss Unknown
"We only used the heaters in the nursery groves," Crockett said. "We might have some leaf burn and damage to some very tender crops, but it's nothing worth mentioning."

He said the temperature did not get low enough to hurt the big trees.

Although the citrus growers expected no damage, vegetable farmers were hesitant to judge the damage to their crops. Most were optimistic.

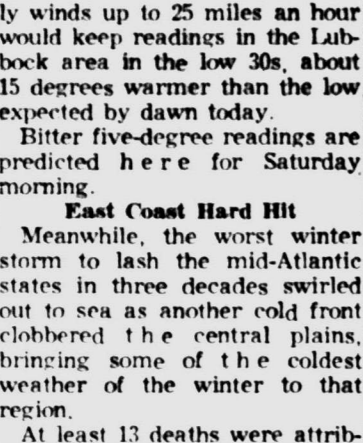

Bill Busch of McAllen, where the low was 30, said "If we have to have a freeze, this is the best time for it. Most of the fall vegetables have been harvested and most of the spring vegetables are not up yet."

Carl Schuster of San Juan expressed fear for the melon crop in the west and northwest sides of the valley. An estimated 5,000 acres of melons are planted.

A five-day forecast for the Jan. 20 - Feb. 2 period indicated continued cold weather for all of the state, with temperatures expected to range four to nine degrees below normal in the Panhandle-Plains areas.

Huge Balloon FROM PAGE ONE
ward toward earth.

The engineers said several of the other flights gauged a resonance curve, looking upward, from about 100,000 feet.

Six-Chamber Radiometer
The six-chamber radiometer and related gear weighs 400 pounds. It was cut away from the polyethylene balloon by explosives, touched off by an automatic ground signal.

Much of the flight was hampered by variable and uncertain winds. The engineers here said the flight originally was scheduled to wind up near Dallas, but winds slowed its progress.

Sufficient information was obtained during the eastward trek, engineers reported.

Test Next Week
Papa told The Avalanche-Journal that all of the information collected in previous flights has not been computerized.

"When we complete the tests another flight is scheduled for next week — a program will be established to accomplish this," Papa noted.

He said the tests are being conducted to assemble data that might be helpful to meteorologists in forecasting high and low pressure systems, their characteristics and other pertinent facts.

Data Is 'Promising'
Although he emphasized that studies have only been started on the test results, he said information obtained to date "looks very promising."

Papa said the recorded temperature measurements can be converted to pressure to aid weather studies.

He said Thursday's flight was launched at Phoenix shortly before a Pacific storm system moved into the area. The upcoming test will be "very similar" to the one conducted yesterday.

A Polariscope balloon flight was tracked from the same field station at Lubbock Municipal Airport more than two months ago. That experiment was done by University of Arizona researchers in conjunction with NCAR.

The field station has been temporarily headquartered at the airport for almost three months.

NEW BLAST SURGES SOUTHWARD
Killing Cold In Midlands Reinforces General Freeze

(By The Associated Press)
Killing cold surged southward on the nation's midlands Thursday reinforcing a general freeze that had already reached northern Florida and the central Gulf Coast in the early morning.

The new wave of arctic air dropped afternoon temperatures from zero behind a looping front that extended from northern Michigan to northwestern Kansas and back to central Montana. The Weather Bureau forecast 40 below zero Thursday night in northern Minnesota.

The Weather Bureau said the cold was nudging eastward and southward, and would carry unaccustomed low temperatures into Atlantic coast states still digging out from what the agency called that area's worst snowstorm in 33 years.

That storm, in full fury a day earlier, diminished Thursday to scattered additional falls of an inch or two, mostly to the north of Chesapeake Bay, as its center swept out over the Atlantic.

The advancing cold, however, apparently assured the storm's leavings would not soon disappear. A snow blanket ranging from a modest cover in northern Georgia to 15 inches in Richmond and Lynchburg, Va., extended also into the northern Atlantic and New England areas.

Benefits Drouth Area
One of the benefits was a heavy snow cover in the drouth area of New England and eastern New York State. The water content of the snow in parts of this area was reported in excess of five inches.

Both the departed storm and the oncoming cold brought death of an 18-year-old girl, when a shed collapsed under the weight of nine inches of snow. Two others were injured.

Maryland, where schools, highways and businesses in the Eastern Shore counties were closed by the heavy snow, reported one storm death. Virginia reported two more, of heart attacks.

A man froze to death in southern Minnesota and a woman in Nashville, Tenn., Thursday when early morning temperatures were as cold as 34 below at International Falls, Minn., and 4 below at Oneida, Tenn.

Plane Crashes
Three men were killed in the crash of a twin-engine plane during a heavy snow squall near Erie, Pa., on Thursday.

There was little comfort to be drawn from the lifting of snow, gale and high tide warnings along the East Coast. The Weather Bureau said the rapidly advancing second wave of cold air would cover all the nation from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic coast and south by the Gulf Coast by Friday morning.

Overnight lows down to 20 below zero were forecast as far south as northern Iowa and northern Illinois.

Northern Florida was due for a hard freeze, and central and southern interior portions of that state were not expected to escape it entirely.

The already nipped fruit and vegetable crops of the Lower Rio Grande Valley were needed again.

Wait For Warrant
The man had run from a washing machine repair shop in the 2100 block of Ave. R. and officers proceeded to surround the structure which also housed a living quarters in the rear.

Armed with shotguns, they waited until 9:30 p.m. for a search warrant to be processed by Justice of the Peace Cone Merritt of Snyder.

Upon authorization, they lobbed a smoke bomb inside and later entered the building. No one was found.

At the hospital, Walker told officials that two Snyder men had attacked him after he asked them for cab fare. He was unable to recall if he had brought the pair here from Big Spring or had come from Big Spring to pick them up. He said they took money from him.

Justice of the Peace Merritt said Walker had been badly beaten and stabbed once in the back. He was removed by ambulance later Thursday night to a Big Spring hospital.

South Korean Killed When Vessels Attacked

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A South Korean fisherman was killed and three others were seriously wounded when four North Korean naval vessels attacked South Korean fishing boats off the east coast, the national police reported Thursday.

Burial FROM PAGE ONE showed that there was one member of the enemy German Army buried in Arlington after World War II.

First Sgt. Anton Hilberth, a prisoner of war, was awaiting return home when he died April 21, 1946. He was buried two days later in Arlington.

The Army said that as a signer of the Geneva Convention on treatment of war prisoners, the United States accords prisoners who die in custody the same kind of treatment an enemy is expected to accord U.S. prisoners. This includes burial in the nearest federal cemetery.

International Repercussions
The controversy aroused in international repercussions Wednesday when Moscow Radio asserted that the barring of Thompson's burial made a "mockery of an American patriot."

The basis for the government veto was Thompson's conviction in 1949 of conspiring with 10 other Communist leaders to advocate the overthrow of the government by force and violence.

This brought him a three-year sentence. Thompson later jumped bail and upon capture was sentenced to an additional four years.

He served a total of five years and one month in a federal penitentiary.

Katzenback, in an opinion addressed to Deputy Sec. of Defense Cyrus R. Vance, cited "long established practice" dating back to 1928 by which the military excluded "persons convicted of various types of crimes from burial in national cemeteries."

He also pointed to a year-old Army regulation barring burial in national cemeteries of anyone sentenced to five years or more in prison upon conviction of a crime.

Nuclear Device Search Probes Mediterranean

ALMERIA, Spain (AP) — A fleet of U.S. and Spanish navy ships stood by Thursday as a two-man bathysphere dived repeatedly into the Mediterranean hunting a nuclear device missing since a U.S. B52 bomber and its jet tanker collided last week.

The device was believed on the bottom 1,000 feet down. The bathysphere's maximum depth was about 300 feet, but another diving bell capable of reaching the bottom was reported en route from the United States.

Half a dozen warships from the U.S. 6th Fleet are taking part.

The two American planes collided while the bomber was refueling, and the wreckage fell on shore near Almeria and in the sea. The sea hunt is now concentrated about one to three miles off Spain's southern coast, about 65 miles northwest of Almeria.

U.S. officials say an "unarmed nuclear device" is missing but there is no danger of radioactivity.

Lawmen Comb Snyder Vicinity After Assault

SNYDER (Special) — Scurry County lawmen combed the Snyder area Thursday night for two Snyder men charged with aggravated assault and robbery in the beating and stabbing of a Big Spring cab driver here early Thursday.

Harold Lee Little, 33, driver for Yellow Cab Company of Big Spring was spotted running down a Snyder street about 7 p.m. Thursday, yelling for assistance.

A passerby called an ambulance and Little was rushed to Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

The man had run from a washing machine repair shop in the 2100 block of Ave. R. and officers proceeded to surround the structure which also housed a living quarters in the rear.

Armed with shotguns, they waited until 9:30 p.m. for a search warrant to be processed by Justice of the Peace Cone Merritt of Snyder.

Upon authorization, they lobbed a smoke bomb inside and later entered the building. No one was found.

At the hospital, Walker told officials that two Snyder men had attacked him after he asked them for cab fare. He was unable to recall if he had brought the pair here from Big Spring or had come from Big Spring to pick them up. He said they took money from him.

Justice of the Peace Merritt said Walker had been badly beaten and stabbed once in the back. He was removed by ambulance later Thursday night to a Big Spring hospital.

South Korean Killed When Vessels Attacked

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A South Korean fisherman was killed and three others were seriously wounded when four North Korean naval vessels attacked South Korean fishing boats off the east coast, the national police reported Thursday.

Two fishing boats escaped, police said, but two other boats operating in the area were believed to have been seized by the Communists.

Cross Trial

Cross of his constitutional rights before making a statement, said it was his opinion that sex was the cause of the killing of one girl and the other was strangled to silence her. He said his opinion did not disclose what Cross said in the statement to officers.

Last Hours Recalled
Investigators said indications were that the bodies were hidden in a closet of Cross' apartment while he entertained "five or six friends" and a date. At about 3 a.m., the bodies were taken from the closet and taken to a vacant lot about eight miles away.

Shirley and Susan drove to Austin from Dallas on the bright summer morning, July 18. Susan was to enter summer school at the university but found the apartment she had rented was not ready. The young women ate at a campus place, called several persons on the telephone, then drove off in Shirley's car. It was the last time they were reported seen until their bodies were found.

Accepted Invitation
During the search, Cross told officers he had dated Miss Stark several times and had talked to her over the telephone July 18. Cross, a muscular 5 foot 9, said he invited the girls to his $129 a month apartment in east Austin. Later he told investigators the girls came by his apartment to change clothes but had left together and he had not seen them since.

Pictures of the young women were circulated all through the nation. Possible clues from Alaska, Hawaii, North Carolina and Mexico City were traced in vain.

Then on July 30 a city surveying crew in northeast Austin, tramping through the wast high weeds of a vacant lot, found the two bodies.

Tests Barred
After a full autopsy report, Justice of Peace Jerry Dellana returned an inquest verdict that the two young women died of strangulation on July 18. Dellana said the autopsy showed Miss Rigsby had been strangled by the hands of Miss Stark's death from Cross' statement, which he did not disclose.

Dellana said advanced decomposition of the bodies prevented pathologists from determining if the two girls had been raped. He said decomposition also prevented several other autopsy tests.

Unexpectedly the Travis County grand jury returned two murder with malice indictments against Cross on Aug. 17, cutting off demands of defense lawyers for an examining trial. The indictments, identical for each victim, allege that Cross strangled the young women both with his hands and with their clothing, as well as "with some instrument to the grand jurors unknown." No other details were given.

Jones said earlier that Cross' statement to his lawyers indicated the "pressure became more than he could bear" when the two women came to his plush apartment to shower and change clothes.

They happened to be in the right place at the wrong time," Jones said. "This could have happened to any of 10,000 girls."

IN TALKS AGAINST 14B

Filibustering Senators Urge Limiting Strikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate consideration motion which he offered last Monday. And he set effort to make union shop contracts permissible in all states Saturday at 10 a.m., two hours earlier than usual.

Asked how long he plans to let the debate continue before attempting to have it shut off by cloture, Mansfield replied:

"I haven't the remotest idea." The 19 states having laws passed under 14B are mostly in the West and South and Republicans and Democrats from those areas have banded together to prevent, as they did last year, any Senate showdown vote, even on the preliminary motion to consider.

The principal speakers Thursday were Democratic Sens. John L. McClellan of Arkansas and A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, both of whom stressed a theme that the Senate should be studying legislation curbing some union activities, rather than considering a bill backed by union leaders.

McClellan said in a speech of two hours and 18 minutes the Senate should lay aside the repeal to have a close look at legislation to prevent strikes in public service industries; to protect the billions of dollars in union pension and welfare funds; to outlaw strikes at missile sites and other strategic defense facilities; and to apply the antitrust laws to some activities of labor unions in the transportation industry such as the Teamsters.

Robertson said the Senate should lay aside the 14B repeal bill until it is ready to deal with "other more important problems affecting labor-management relations" such as measures to prevent strikes which threaten "irreparable harm" to the nation.

Sen. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., spoke for 47 minutes. Among other things he said: "The states which have enacted right-to-work laws have done so through democratic processes."

"If there are those who feel these laws have worked against their interests, they have their remedy at the polls in the states. There are far more employees than employers in each of the states."

Robertson's hour-long talk wound up the day's session and the Senate adjourned at 5:14 p.m. with Sen. Strom Thurmond (R-S.C.) slated to take up the filibuster Friday.

Military Seeks Canopy Recovery

DENISON (AP) — Residents of the Hugo, Okla., area were asked Thursday to watch for a triangular-shaped canopy from an Air Force F102 jet plane.

The plane crashed Wednesday near Soper, Okla., killing the pilot, Maj. Robert P. Ferguson of Colorado Springs, Colo. He had taken off from Perrin Air Force Base near Denison and Sherman shortly before the crash.

Maj. Patrick Ellis, safety officer at Perrin, asked persons living within 30 miles of the crash area to notify the Air Force if the canopy was found.

He said recovery of the canopy was a "critical part of the investigation" into the crash.

President Gets Award From Freedom House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will fly to New York City on Feb. 23 to accept the annual Freedom Award of Freedom House, the White House announced Thursday.

Johnson will be honored at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Freedom House, a nonpartisan center which seeks to strengthen the cause of freedom around the world, gives the award annually to the person deemed by its trustees to have done most to advance that objective.

Former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman have received the award, as did the late Sir Winston Churchill.

Two Civic Leaders Honored At Littlefield Chamber Fete

By TANNER LAINE
Avantage-Journal Staff

LITTLEFIELD — All-America City candidate Littlefield held its annual Chamber of Commerce banquet Thursday night and honored two "outstanding" men instead of one.

At the event, definitely pegged on retrospect of this Lamb County seat town's downtown revitalization program of last summer, two of the leaders in that project received awards.

Cochairmen Honored

They are Dr. William N. (Bill) Orr and Kenneth Ware. They were cochairmen in the "Key To Progress" project that put Littlefield in the All American City finals, as Texas' only 1965 entry. Results of judging are expected in March.

Sharing the spotlight with the two "Outstanding Citizen" award winners was E. O. (Buster) Feagley, who received the "Outstanding Farmer" award.

More than 300 persons attended Thursday night's banquet in the Littlefield High School cafeteria.

Certificates Granted

Eleven men who served on the steering committee of the $400,000 downtown development received certificates of service. They were Jack Wicker, Don Bell, Peyton Reese, Arthur Duggan Jr., Manell Hall, Billy Hall, Ware, Dr. Orr, Frank Anzine, I. D. Onstead and Pat Downs.

In a sense, Dr. Orr and Ware returned their handsome plaques to the residents of Littlefield.

Dr. Orr said this plaque belongs to all the citizens of Littlefield. "I'll always remember it as Littlefield's plaque."

Ware said, "It was done by all the people of Littlefield. I feel like it belongs to you."

Officers Prescribed

Banquet speaker was Dr. Charles W. Jarvis, San Marcos dentist and humorist.

Taking note of Littlefield's achievement with its downtown revitalization, Dr. Jarvis said "You've got to have individual participation to keep your city alive."

"You've got to laugh to make life worthwhile," the speaker advised and then in a laugh-spurred address demonstrated this prescription for a "happy life."

"For the success of any town you've got to love it. If you love it, you will fight for it," he said.

Little Things Count

"The trouble is, Americans seek a complicated happiness when we ought to know it's the little things that count," the speaker continued.

"The pathway to happiness has an important first step. It is the first step. It's this moment," Dr. Jarvis said.

"To be happy, you are going to have to work at it. That goes for having friendships, too. You've got to work like you do to get a city like yours."

"The true prescription for happiness, then, is thinking of others," he concluded.

Appeal For Aid

Arthur P. Duggan Jr. in accepting the presidency of the chamber here, appealed to his fellow townpeople "to put on your thinking and action caps."

"You can create the human climate for new industries. You, you and you, and all of us together, can bring in more people to this city. We love it here," Duggan said.

Dave Kuefer made the "Outstanding Citizen" awards. Hershel Randall made the "Outstanding Farmer" award to Feagley, who farms east of Littlefield and who is known as a "good farmer."

Banquet decorations were by the Littlefield Women's Club. A special edition supplement of The Lamb County Leader was distributed. In words and pictures, it told of Littlefield's achievement as Texas' only 1965 All American City finalist. That's Littlefield!

Hearing Set On Suit Of Students

HEMSTEAD (UPI) — A hearing will be held at 9 a.m. today in a suit by Prairie View A&M College students seeking to force Waller County officials to allow four students to pay their poll taxes.

The hearing will be in Dist. Judge Ernest Coker's court. The suit, filed Wednesday by Houston attorney Weldon H. Berry, challenges the constitutionality of the residency requirements for voting as outlined in the Texas Election Code.

The students have tried to buy poll tax receipts from county tax assessor-collector Leroy E. Symm. Symm refused to issue the receipts, he said, because the students would not sign residency affidavits.

The affidavits state that the students plan to live in Waller County after they graduate.

Mrs. Lytle was Armstrong-Jones' third wife. They had one child, Peregrine Owen, 5.

Peace Returns To Small Town After Jailhouse Feud

CELINA, Tenn. (AP) — "We think $25 was a high price to pay for that thing," Miss Oopie said. She and Jim recall that a federal prison survey years ago listed the Celina jail as the third worst in the nation.

It's not much of a jail. In fact, Miss Oopie believes the $25 she and her nephew, attorney James Reneau III, paid for it was too high.

But Miss Oopie Reneau and the sheriff have settled their feud. He can keep his prisoners in the 96-year-old bastille until his new jail is completed. And her 60-day deadline to tear down her jail has been extended until the prisoners are transferred.

The Reneaus bought the old jail at public auction last Saturday to salvage the brick. They'll use the cell bars to make fence gates.

"We started the bidding at $1, but Gabby Greer got into the act and ran up the price," Miss Oopie said. "When it got to $15, Jim and I had a conference. We finally went to $25."

The four prisoners now confined there took no sides in the weekend feud.

"One of them told me he had found a winter home," the sheriff said. "Our prisoners aren't going anywhere, so we usually don't lock the door except at night."

The prisoners can stroll downtown to buy cigarettes if they desire, and they go outside to fetch coal for the pot-bellied stove.

Miss Oopie says the atmosphere once was so informal: "Confiscated whisky and beer used to be stored in the jail. The prisoners would get it and do a bootlegging business through the bars at night."

THE LORD'S PRAYER
(WILLIAMS)
"Thy will be done." Luke 11:2
You should not pray, "Thy will be done" ... If you are a resentful one ... Who questions God's decisions and ... Will not obey divine command ... To live by Faith and wait for Him ... Hope in the Lord and let to whom ... Of yours say what your course shall be ... Or give way to expediency ... Don't pray "Thy will be done" if you ... Aren't willing to God's way pursue.

SPUD TO BECOME 'SPUDNIK' — Don Foster of Space Defense Corp., Birmingham, Mich., holds a circular piece of potato with a spot which may provide the key to an as-yet unexplained area of biological science. Hoping to discover the key, the company, in conjunction with NASA, plans to orbit a similar slice of potato. The instrument shown can measure the intake of oxygen by the potato and the expulsion of carbon dioxide as it rests in an aluminum container. Why a potato? "It is one of the most homogenous masses existing," Foster explains. (AP Wirephoto)

FOR STUDY IN SPACE

States Hassle For Honor To Supply First Astrospud

By HAL COOPER
NEW YORK (AP) — Hot competition has developed for the honor of supplying the world's first astrospud.

Rival potato proponents jockeyed for position from Idaho to Alabama.

In Maine, there has hardly been such excitement since somebody sank the battleship of the same name on Feb. 15, 1898.

Entry From Florida

Amid general astonishment, there was even an official entry from Florida, until now regarded almost solely as a suntan and citrus source. When it came to potatoes, it seems Florida was merely hiding its light under a bushel.

Cause of the far-flung foray was the disclosure in Detroit of plans to put a potato into orbit, in a biological experiment titled "spudnik."

The object is to find out what effect outer space will have on the vegetable's biorhythmicity — the tendency of living organisms to become active at regular, predictable intervals.

Idaho, which grows more potatoes than any other state, was heard from immediately.

"We'll be very happy to furnish that potato," declared Stanley Trenholm, the state commissioner of agriculture. "They ought to use the best potato available and the only place they can get it is right here in Idaho."

"Best in Alabama"

Pooh, pooh, said Cole D. Brown of Foley, Ala., chairman of the Baldwin County Potato Shippers and Growers Association.

Pointing out that Baldwin County grossed $7.2 million on its 1965 potato crop, Brown said:

"I don't know about this biorhythmicity business, but I know we grow the best potatoes in this beautiful Baldwin County. We've always thought our potatoes were out of this world and we'll certainly compete with any area for having the first potato in space."

Charles Guynes, general manager of the Maine Potato Growers Association, asserted spudnik sponsors need look no farther.

"I'll tell you one thing," he said. "If they want potatoes, we know we grow the best potatoes in this beautiful Baldwin County. We've always thought our potatoes were out of this world and we'll certainly compete with any area for having the first potato in space."

Mrs. Jones died at 8:30 a.m. Thursday in Ogden Memorial Hospital here following a long illness.

She was a native of Alabama and had been a resident of Sevier County for 19 years.

Surviving are her husband, Hollis, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Velma Jones, Tusculo, Tex.

France Appears To Win Change

LUXEMBOURG (UPI) — France was reported Thursday to have won radical changes in the European Common Market as its price for keeping the economic bloc alive.

A reliable market source said the market partners virtually surrendered to President Charles de Gaulle's demands to curb the market's supranational powers.

At a meeting Thursday, ambassadors of the six market nations agreed to strip the bloc's executive commission of much of its freedom of action.

In addition, France demanded retention of veto powers over market decisions as another condition of keeping its membership in the community.

The ambassadors of the community met under orders to clear the table for today's opening of a two-day conference of the six Common Market foreign ministers.

WAR FILM HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Stanley Kramer's next epic will be "Seek Out and Destroy," a novel dealing with the war in Viet Nam.

Survivors include the wife; a daughter, Mrs. Marshall Head, Dallas; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Steele, Marlin; two sisters, four brothers and two grandchildren.

SHOULD BOMBINGS OF NORTH VIET NAM RESUME

Johnson Devotes Concern To Timing Of Air Attacks

By ALVIN SPIVAK
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson, moving toward a decision on resumed bombing of North Viet Nam, is devoting major concern to questions of timing and of the extent to which new air attacks should be "sive and obvious" diplomatic efforts have come virtually to a standstill. As for congressional opinion, the President's main concern is not over the urgings of such lawmakers as Senators J. Johnson was reported undecided as late as Thursday afternoon as to when or to what extent to resume the bombings. He also was understood to have made no decision on whether to state his position to Congress and the public or whether to

NO SWEEPING FASHION REVOLUTION

Dior House Shows Tiers, Shades Of '20's

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
PARIS (AP) — Christian Dior's designer Marc Bohan believes in tiers for spring — brief jackets over long overblouses over straight skirts. Or he likes swinging backed coats over straight-line tunic dresses.

There are also shades of the roaring '20s in the collection Dior showed Thursday. But neither the tiers nor the flat bosoms nor the wasteful refreshing changes and beautiful Mexican-inspired printed fabrics. But there was not the sweeping fashion revolution past has wrecked clothing budgets because of the ups and downs of the hemlines or the ins and outs of waistlines, offered refreshing changes and beautiful Mexican-inspired printed fabrics. But there was not the sweeping fashion revolution which Bohan had hinted at earlier. Hemlines topped the knee. Tube skirts split in front were worn with blouses similarly split in front, and bright printed scarfs. Shoulders were narrow and the sleeves were set in tiny jackets topping hip-length overblouses, over slip skirts.

Long before the show began, the crowds had already filled the stairway and were craning necks around the balustrades for a possible glimpse of Indonesian President Sukarno's third wife. Swatched in mink coat and beret, she arrived late with her retinue. She was a familiar figure at the fashion openings in Florence and Rome earlier this month.

Along with the tier-dressed girls was a gamin-type girl, the most unlikely and the curviest of the Bohan figures. A shirred blouse snuggled up to her figure like a tight fitting sweater, and a short skirt won with it was belted loosely at the hipline.

The hipbone was a favorite spot to sash soft leather belts on the rare occasions when belts were used. The dresses with the most roaring '20s influence were those with midriff bands dropped low, with the bodice pleated or softly bloused above, and with frouny pleats in what was left of the short skirt.

Versions reminiscent of several Dior versions were reminiscent of the straight Dartmouth dress popular currently in the states, some with a brief edge of pleats at the hemline, others as a tunic over-dress.

Bohan believes in double or nothing. Almost all of his costumes have companion coats or capes that when removed change their character. Columnar coats in heavy silk and luscious pastels wrapped around beaded halterneck costumes with criss-cross bare backs. The jeweled ring collar served both dress and coat. Wispy tulle chiffons fluttered over tight beaded shiplike sheaths.

WOMAN TALK
It May Be Time For New Range

Whatever else takes place around the home during the holidays one thing is certain. We all spend more time in the kitchen and specifically at the range. With fancier meals, more guests and children home from school, the range gets a workout which it may or may not be up to. I am among the homemakers who are seriously thinking about retiring the old stove and updating the cooking procedures in our house. What kind of range to buy I have no intention of getting into the classic argument over which is better, gas or electric ranges. Far far greater cooks than I have berated each other for years on this score. I have cooked with each fuel and with about equal facility and results. Suffice it to say that there are splendid ranges in both categories. In the last few years, range design and improvements have stabilized and the better features are to be found in various price lines. Most of us must consider points like space, price, what features we would like and so on. Another point to consider is whether or not you expect to stay in a home for a long time.

Busy Schedule Includes Sewing, Tennis

FIRST DUTY—Mrs. Nay Hale, left, incoming president of the Lubbock Republican Women's club, checks with other officers as she displays a paid-up poll tax for voting in 1966. Other officers are, from left, Mrs. Pat Pappas, treasurer; Mrs. James T. Harris, vice president; Mrs. William B. Arper, recording secretary; and Mrs. Fred Traylor, corresponding secretary. Not pictured is Mrs. Homer Roper, finance chairman. (Staff Photo)

By GRACE HOLMAN
Women's Staff Writer
Mrs. Jackie Smith, 2617 35th St., a homemaker and "working mother," finds time in her busy schedule for hobbies such as sewing for herself and for her four-year-old daughter, Tammy; refinishing furniture, reading, playing tennis and swimming.
The homemaker prefers preparing desserts, "probably because they can be made fancier than other types of dishes."
The Smiths attend Broadway Church of Christ, where Mrs. Smith teaches a first grade Sunday School class. She is a secretary for Dr. Ann Buntin, head of home economics education department at Texas Tech.
Mrs. Smith shares recipes for Coffee Cake and Apricot Salad, family recipes, and for Tuna Chunk Casserole, shared "because every homemaker likes to have a quick, easy and delicious casserole recipe on hand."

pan, sprinkle remainder of nut mixture over the dough before adding other half of dough. Bake in 350 degree oven 45 to 55 minutes.

2 cups boiling water

SALAD TOPPING

3 tbsp. flour
2 tbsp. sugar
1/4 cup sugar

1 cup fruit juice
1 cup cream, whipped

4 tbsp. brown sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon

hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I thank you no end for telling us, who have fireplaces, to sprinkle the ashes before trying to pick them up!
This is one of your most fabulous hints.
Now, may I add something to your original hint?
I save the cardboard that comes in a laundered shirt (principally because they take up little space, and I can find many uses for them).
When the fireplace gets full of ashes, after picking them up first, I stick one of these HELoise hints in a bucket of water, and use it to pick up the ashes. Since the ashes are wet, no dust flies, and the cardboard fits in the shovel beautifully.
If you have no shovel, and want to clean out the fireplace quickly for the next fire, try putting two cardboard boxes together—the top one completely wetted, the lower one dry. This acts as a wonderful substitute shovel!
Mary Contrary

I watched all that hot water and soap suds going down the drain, and thought, "What a waste. Too bad I can't use it."
Then I hit upon the idea of putting that horribly greasy roast, or that very caked and baked-on baking dish, in the sink under where the hot soapy water comes out.
When the dishwasher is through all its cycles and put away, then it's a matter of a few swishes of a soapy Heloise pad, and that heretofore nasty chore of washing the roaster or baking dish is done.
Patty Jackson

Dear Heloise:
When was the last time you girls checked your cloth tape measure?
This is a way of stretching or shrinking, and there may be a variation which could cause a costly error in measuring.
Just measure the cloth tape on a wooden or metal ruler.
Larry
Gals, take note!
Thanks, Larry, for that timely

Dear Heloise:
I found another use for plastic lids which come on coffee cans. They are fine to set on your drainboard to be used as holders for dripping spoons or forks when cooking.
They are also so easy to wash along with the dishes.
Anne Murray

Dear Heloise:
I made an elegant mop (if a mop can be called out of old nylon hose (as your suggested), and found I had the feet left over.
I said to myself, "I'll save these for tomorrow. I'll look in the paper, and that Honey of a Heloise will have a useful hint for these feet."
Mary du Post

Well, I'm sorry I don't call. Except they are wonderful for stuffing pillows and toys.
Anyone have any more ideas? If so, do let us know. Write care this paper. We'd love to hear from you.
Love,
Heloise

Show Friendly Concern

Dear Ann Landers: Please, Ann, say something to women who need eye-glasses but refuse to wear them. I have friends who squint their way through card games, making errors in the score and misreading hands because they can't see. When a menu must be read, they ask to borrow my glasses "just for a minute."
Invariably the borrower is a person with a stout face. (I have a small thin face) and my glasses are bent out of shape. I have one friend who doesn't even ask. She reaches over, lifts the glasses off my face and says, "You'll have to lend me your specs, dear. The light in here is bad."
Please, Ann Landers, give me a semi-gracious out—Mrs. F.H.H.

Dear Mrs. F.H.H.: The very next time a friend makes a move toward your glasses remove them at once and begin to clean them. Then say, "I am concerned about your eyesight and I feel guilty because I keep lending you my glasses. Here is the name of my ophthalmologist. Please make an appointment at once."

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think about a husband who accepts an invitation for both himself and his wife and then forgets to tell her about it until it's too late for her to go?
It happened again last night. Claude leaped from the dinner table and shouted, "I forgot to tell you. Tonight we were invited to a dinner party at Vic and Tessie's." He added, "I know you can't make it now so I'd better get into my blue suit and go right over, so they won't feel hurt. I'll say you are sick."

Of course, I couldn't go. My hair was a mess and I couldn't get anyone to stay with the kids on such short notice. Why does he do this?

Wilson's Party Deals Conservatives Defeat

HULL, England (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor party dealt a smashing defeat to Conservatives in a crucial election here Thursday for a House of Commons seat. The victory margin, 5,351 votes, was far higher than anyone predicted.

In London, Wilson's prestige received an added boost Thursday night in a House of Commons vote that beat back opposition attacks on the government's economic policy.

Boosts Majority

In the Hull contest, the percentage shift to Labor was the largest in any special election since Wilson became prime minister in 1964. A similar swing throughout the country would give Labor a heavy margin.

hopelessness. This was said to have led to increased defections and to growing doubts about Viet Cong claims of ultimate victory. Many were reported to feel the war is stalemated.

The drafting of men and heavy taxes were described as chief factors working against the Viet Cong and damaging their popular support in the countryside. They were said to be conscripting boys as young as 15 in some cases.

Among other reports from the survey: —There is an increasing use of women to handle jobs in the Viet Cong ranks, with some armed female platoons.

—Desertions have led to a tightening of Viet Cong security controls, but the Communist cadres that form the backbone of the guerrilla army are still dedicated and well-disciplined, with good morale.

—There is a growing cleavage between the Viet Cong and villagers. Illustrated by the flight of some people from their homes to get away from the Communists because of exploitation and danger.

Air and artillery attacks by the government and its allies are not leading people to join the Viet Cong and often the Viet Cong are blamed as the source of the trouble. Similar claims have been made in the past, especially in regard to air raids, and have been challenged in some Saigon quarters.

Air raids on North Viet Nam are relatively remote acts to the average Communist soldier in the South, though some prisoners said the attacks had cut down supplies.

North Vietnamese prisoners interviewed were well-indebted and loyal to their government. However, they said units assigned to infiltrate frequently were not told in advance that they were going to South Viet Nam and some reported great hardships on the way.

—One conclusion from the questioning of prisoners and defectors was said to be a feeling that the Viet Cong now are losing the war, but the government is not yet winning it.

Tower Predicts Backers Of 14B To Win Battle

MONAHANS (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., predicted victory Thursday night for the Senate opponents of repeal of Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Law.

"I can report to you tonight that our state's right-to-work law is going to be preserved by the debate now under way in the Senate," Tower told the Monahans Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Section 14B permits Texas and 18 other states to ban the union shop.

"I expect that this lengthy 'educational campaign' in which I am a debate leader and team captain may continue until mid-February," Tower said. "But those of us who seek to save the right of states to make their own laws are determined, we are dedicated, we are strong."

Tower recalled the Senate victory of 14B supporters last October and said he hoped a second victory "will lay to rest for many years the attack upon the right of states to legislate in this field if they feel it wise."

Earlier Thursday, Tower addressed a joint meeting of civic clubs of New Braunfels. He told the group "there is no substitute for victory" in South Viet Nam.

Banana Bonanza Booming, Results In 70,000 Labels

DETROIT (AP) — The great banana bonanza is over. A collection of nearly 70,000 banana labels, begun as a prank at a private girls' school in suburban Bloomfield Hills, was traded in Wednesday for a $2,600 scholarship and a $500 donation to the Detroit Christmas Seal Fund.

The prank, which snowballed girls began to wonder what they into a nationwide collecting were going to do with thousands of labels when two 17-year-old seniors at Kingswood School removed the labels from their luncheon bananas and wore them on their foreheads for the rest of the day.

Curious classmates and teachers were told by Mary Jane Hilder and Christina Darwell they were collecting the labels to win a scholarship to the school for a Central-American girl.

painter has to have," said Hurd. "He's so darn busy. He knows about as much about painting as I do about running a war in Viet Nam," said Hurd, adding Johnson was a very hard man to pose.

The New Mexico artist said he has had to rely on various photographs the White House sent and is hiring a model to capture the folds on the President's coat.

"He's proud of his big hands and I want to make them just like he wants them," said Hurd. Hurd spent a 2 1/2 hour conference with the President sketching furiously to take down a representative sketch. He has taken several trips to the White House and the LBJ Ranch near Johnson City, Tex.

One portrait has been accepted by the White House Historical Association, Hurd said. The less-modest painting portrays Johnson with George Washington in the background, brightened by glowing sky. Hurd said the unfinished portrait is Johnson's personal portrait.

Grain sorghum producers must divert at least 20 per cent of their feed grain to grain compliance with the feed grain program. This qualifies them for price support loans and production payments. But only those diverting 50 per cent get diversion payments.

Milo producers can stay out of the feed grain program and sell on the open market. Stiff marketing quota penalties apply to cotton produced outside allotments, however, and growers who plant more than 87 1/2 per cent of their allotments cannot qualify for price support loans or subsidies.

Deadly Gas Takes Heavy Toll During Winter Months

control and an increase in pulse and respiration. At the Nunn residence, Capt. A. C. Black, fire marshal, said carbon monoxide was circulated into the house by the central heating unit.

The unit, located in a closet with a hot water heater, was equipped with return air ducts which were too small. The improper movement of air caused deadly gas to build up, both from the heating unit and the water heater.

Vacuum Will Form A heating system of a modern home, Capt. Black said, works on the same principle as an evaporative cooler. It has to have return air to circulate or a vacuum will be formed in the closet where the heater is located and unburned gases will be blown into rooms of the house.

Improper ducts, which are small or defective, and clogged or dirty filters will cause a suction on the part of the heating unit where the blower is located, and fumes will be distributed into the house.

Also called dangerous are improper vents atop the house. Open flame heaters, Capt. Black advised, should be avoided if possible, but he said that if this type of heating system is used, some windows of the residence should be kept open, even in the coldest weather, as a safeguard.

Free Checks Fire department and gas company officials, who will make free checks of heating systems, urge residents to check filters monthly for cleanliness. The entire heating system of a residence should be checked each fall before the beginning of cold weather, Capt. Black said.

Capt. Black said that in cold weather, residents often start engines of their cars while the vehicles are parked in garages before the drive to work. He warned that during such warm-ups the garage doors should be kept open because motor vehicles give off tremendous amounts of carbon monoxide.

On a still day in areas of large cities, pedestrians have been known to develop head-

Georgia House Is Harmonious Place For Seven Negro Members

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia's House of Representatives opened its first racially integrated session in 58 years by refusing to seat a Negro. But the sequel is apparent harmony and cooperation with seven other Negro members.

"I'm having a lot of fun," said Rep. Grace Hamilton of Atlanta, the only woman among the Negro lawmakers. "I have experienced nothing but courtesy and consideration."

Ackerly Slates Water Election

Veteran Members Surprised — After nearly three weeks of the session, veterans among the 205 House members said they were a little surprised at the ease with which the lower chamber, still strongly rural-flavored, has accepted the Negro state senator, Leroy R. Johnson of Atlanta. He now has a Negro colleague, Sen. Horace Ward of Atlanta.

Linda Wright Becomes Hostess

Miss Wright, 21, was given six weeks of classroom and in-flight training and currently is based at Kansas City, where she has been assigned TWA Star Stream jet schedules from Kansas City Municipal Airport.

Projects Are Slated By Seagraves Council

SEAGRAVES (Special) — Three projects have been approved by the Seagraves city council as goals for accomplishment in 1966.

City paving will be inspected by city engineer Ralph Douglas, of Littlefield, who will recommend repairs where needed.

Douglas also will survey the need for additional street lights, as well as greater illumination for existing lights.

A third project will be the search for an additional water well.

The council called the city election for the date of April 5, under the terms of Mayor L. M. McAdoo, Jr. and councilmen L. B. Fox and T. A. A. Lightfoot expect this year's good bond ratings.

ACKERLY (Special) — An election will be held here Saturday to decide if the town will build a public water system.

Aldermen called the $131,000 revenue bond election, according to Travis Russell, acting mayor.

Ackerly has no public water system and residents of the city have private water wells. All qualified voters of the town are eligible to vote in the election.

Stansell Clements, attorney for the group, said, but residents will not be required to tie into the public water system unless they so desire, he added.

If approved, the bonds will be offered for sale on the open market with interest not to exceed 5 per cent. Should the bonds fail to be sold on the open market a 40-year loan will be obtained through the Farmers Home Administration, it was said.

The bonds will be paid out of revenue obtained from the water subscribers and all bonds will contain a provision that no tax money is to be used to retire bonds.

Money derived from the issuance of the bonds will be used to build a storage tank and to install public water lines, officials said.

City Officials Back From Trip

Four city officials were back in Lubbock Thursday after a three-day trip to New York City to pave the way for selling $1 million in municipal bonds on Wednesday.

Mayor Max Tidmore, City Mgr. Bill Pistick, Finance Director Sterling Miller and Councilman Jack Katsman arrived Wednesday night. Councilmen W. E. Medlock and Roland Simpson are due to arrive this weekend.

The group met with representatives of the city of New York, N.Y., and the New York City Board of Finance.

Rep. Benjamin D. Brown, 26, has avoided any involvement in the Bond dispute although he was an organizer of the committee six years ago.

"I was a slimmer, a fatbird and all the other descriptions that might be given to a student volunteer," said Brown, a slender man with a thin mustache and a quick smile.

"I thought I was effective. And I intend to be just as effective as a legislator. If we are going to move into this political arena, we certainly are going to have to understand the methods, tactics and approaches of the game."

Aims For Effectiveness — Brown, an instructor at Clark College in Atlanta, no longer is associated with the committee, but he is state treasurer of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

When Rep. William H. Alexander, an Atlanta attorney, became the first Negro to speak for a bill, he ran into trouble from the measure's opponents but got help from white legislators, including Rep. George T. Babby of Dallas, who had spoken against seating Bond.

Bond's opponents said repeatedly in debate that there was no racial prejudice involved. None of the seven Negroes accepted by the House endorsed the committee statement.

Rep. Albert W. Thompson of Columbus, a Negro, abstained from voting on the Bond issue.

"I have no sympathy at all with his position," he said. "But I felt he should have been seated with consensus."

Rep. Madrox Hale of Trenton, the speaker pro tem, said he thought Negro members had been accepted on the same basis as other members.

"And the Negro members certainly have conducted themselves the way members should," Hale said.

Your Creative Ideas Can Personalize Short-Cut Cookery

JOY PENROD, Food Editor

Convenience foods are here for us to live with happily ever after. But not necessarily monotonously.

Take the ease and the efficiency, but take just a little time to add something of yourself. The interesting business of transforming familiar canned, frozen and packaged foods into personalized examples of better taste is in your hands.

All these recipes use typical convenience foods. But the finished dishes are rare with flavor and imagination. They have a common ingredient that is uncommonly useful in making the ordinary extra-ordinary. It's aromatic bitters, a blend of many tropical herbs and spices that has the unusual quality of flavoring and seasoning while remaining virtually anonymous itself. One knows only that there is a subtle something, a difference that distinguishes the dish and makes it taste particularly good.

- | | |
|---|---------------------------------------|
| 4 strips bacon, chopped | 2 cans (15½ oz. ea.) chili with beans |

| 1 can (1 lb., 12 oz.) pork and beans | 1 cup shredded sharp cheese |

In a 2½ quart casserole fry bacon until crisp. Add onion, green pepper and garlic. Sauté until vegetables are tender. Add pimiento, beans, chili and bitters. Cut bologna into 1-inch cubes and add to beans. Stir to blend mixture. Top with shredded cheese. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400° F.) for 30 minutes or until mixture is bubbly and hot. Yield: 8 servings.

In a 2 quart saucepan mix orange juice with water, saffron, bitters and butter. Bring to a boil. Slowly stir in rice. Stir to blend well. Remove from heat, cover and let stand for 10 to 15 minutes. Stir with a fork to fluff. Serve immediately garnished with chopped parsley. Yield: 8 servings.

TOSSED VEGETABLE SALAD WITH DRESSING

- | | |

Line a large salad bowl with bite-size pieces of salad greens. Arrange mushroom slices and asparagus spears around the outer edge of the bowl. Fill center of bowl with mixed vegetables. At this time brush ham with glaze, both top and sides. Bake for an additional 30 minutes, brushing glaze over ham several times. Remove from oven, decorate top with orange sections and whole cloves. Tower Gets Some Help

WASHINGTON — Republican Sen. John Tower of Texas, seeking re-election, could find himself happily involved this fall in a major replay of the freakish 1961 race which edged him into the Senate.

In that special election to fill the seat vacated by Lyndon Johnson's elevation to the vice presidency, Tower squeaked through by 10,260 votes.

DEMOCRATIC LIBERALS — Unhappy with their party's nominee, the appointed Sen. William Blakley, a stout conservative—urged their followers in labor and other groups either to stay at home or vote for Tower. The defections were decisive.

Knowledgeable liberal Democrats in Texas say much the same thing could easily happen in November. Characteristically militant, this sizable faction is said to be wholly disenchanted with the Democrats' likely 1966 U.S. Senate nominee, State Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr.

Tower does not concede the proposition, but the Democratic liberals put Carr down as more conservative than he.

AT THIS distance in time, it is not at all clear how the liberals will proceed against Carr. But the minimum expectation is that labor leaders simply may not press to get out their vote.

There is not much they can really do meantime to chip away at the party's "conservative establishment" led by Gov. John Connally, who will have no major opposition in his own party and only a token GOP opponent next autumn.

Some liberals discount reports that they might be able to embarrass the governor with a serious assault on his leadership in the precinct and later conventions this May and thereafter. It is said the liberals lack both the leadership and the money for effective attack by this route.

THEY HAVE also lost some of their steam since President Johnson, whose relations with his home-state party groups have always been tricky and special, pushed through massive Great Society programs.

"He's given them everything they've ever wanted domestically," says one of the liberals. Deprived of broad issues and suffering some emaciation, the liberals seem motivated mostly by old enmities toward the establishment. The question is whether they can muster enough fire to hurt Carr as they would like to do.

TOWER'S VIGOROUS campaigning may bring him close enough to make their effort as crucial as in 1961. Independent appraisers currently rate him now as either 50-50 or in a strong uphill position. He says he is ahead.

Tower counts on established GOP strength in Dallas, Houston, Amarillo, Midland-Odessa and other urban centers. As an incumbent, he has name identity superior to Carr's, and a platform in Washington from which to seize Texas headlines on big issues like Viet Nam.

He could be further advantaged if, as early signs indicate, the November vote is light. Filtering registration and poll tax payments suggest unusual apathy as voters contemplate a political year enlivened only by the Tower-Carr race.

TOWER, OF COURSE, is chasing hard after conservative Democrats. Consequently he plays down his Republican label, leaving it off his billboards and his campaign literature.

Interestingly, he does not want Barry Goldwater batting for him in Texas this year, though this fact is buried in a general proscription against "all outsiders." Goldwater did speak for him once in 1965, and campaigned actively in Tower's 1961 race.

THOUGH Tower does not say it, Goldwater is a reminder of disaster at the polls in 1964 and of right-wing support too extreme for Tower. The senator is still a prudent conservative, but in 1966 a conservative with moderate tendencies.

GUEST EDITORIALS:

Help For Police

MUCH ATTENTION has been drawn in recent years to the right of an individual under arrest to talk to an attorney. And quickly, too.

There is the United States Supreme Court decision in the Escobedo case (the court threw out a murder conviction because police refused to let the accused consult his lawyer while being questioned) that emphasizes this concept more forcefully than ever.

All this imposes some perplexing headaches on police departments and judges alike. Recent court decisions have, in fact, woven such a complex pattern in individual rights that one might logically suggest that the arresting officer also have legal counsel handy at times of apprehension, booking, and questioning to advise the officer on what he can and cannot do.

Well, something along that line is happening. The law school at Northwestern University now trains lawyers specifically to work in police departments. The idea is for them to serve as full-time police employees. They can interpret court decisions on suspects' rights and other related matters and can bring police practice into line with them.

The program commends itself highly. Certainly many communities across the nation could enhance their law enforcement efficiency by hiring this kind of professional legal talent.

And it ought to be remembered in this time of such heavy focus on individual rights that there is no more basic responsibility in any locality than effective law enforcement. For the right to protection for the community at large remains as vital to this nation's well-being as does the right of the individual. (Norfolk, Va., Ledger-Star)

Lecture Problem

IN ORDER to increase the number of class periods to accommodate the crush of students, the University of Wisconsin is considering shortening intervals between classes from 15 to 10 minutes.

Supporters say that students can get from one class to another easily in 10 minutes if they try. They claim that teaching wouldn't be affected because most professors "say at least 10 minutes of useless things" in their lectures. Opponents say that 10 minutes isn't time enough to get between classes and still allow a student to ask a professor questions or discuss a lecture point with him. One professor says that some of the most meaningful teaching goes on in the short discussions that take place between classes.

Maybe the answer to the problem is to have 10 minute lectures and 50 minutes between classes for the discussions that some claim produce the most effective teaching. That would give everybody plenty of time and boost the snack business all over the campus. (Milwaukee Journal)

Turnrow's Return

NOTE to Readers: The popular "Dear Turnrow Tunkel" feature, written by O. C. McBride, Jr., a Littlefield farmer and ginnee, and which was closely followed for weeks prior to the cotton harvesting season, will start here again on Monday, Jan. 31.

Mr. McBride, who has a natural talent for expressing grassroots, philosophical views on practically all subjects, says he'll "keep 'er running as long as I can find the time to write!" Along with readers, the Editor hopes that will be a long, long time.

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK:

Democrats In Disorder

WASHINGTON — "A National Committee has no claim to existence if it abolishes voter registration. The very willingness to even suspend it for any period of time is appalling."

So reads a private memorandum from an Eastern Democratic political pro now being privately circulated in Washington. The memorandum reflects a rising concern among Democratic professional politicians that the party faces deep trouble in the fall elections.

Considering Mr. Johnson's record plurality in 1964 and the top-heavy Democratic majorities in Congress, this alarm may seem misplaced. But the confidential memorandum pinpoints a decline in vigor and inner strength of local Democratic organizations. This decline fully justifies the doleful forecast of possible heavy losses in Congressional and state elections this fall.

A MAJOR reason for the decline is the revolutionary but almost unnoticed switch in Democratic fund-raising techniques, from a large number of small contributions to a small number of large contributions.

Fund-raising now is concentrated in the President's Club, instituted by President Kennedy and expanded by President Johnson. Composed of well-heeled business and industrial leaders, most of them not having the remotest connection with local Democratic organizations, the President's Club has minimized local fund-raising.

CONSEQUENTLY, the special favors that used to go to the local politicians, such as well-litened White House dinners with the President, are no longer available. This costs local leaders prestige at home and reduces their stake in the party's national fortunes.

But the fund-raising change is only one of many factors contributing to erosion of the Democratic party's historic and basic strength in local organizations.

KENNETH D'ANON:

This Isn't Bullfighting

HOUSTON. The brave bulls finally are coming North of the Border, but how long they will stay is subject to question.

This is by way of saying that bullfighting of a sort, is to be introduced into the United States for the first time next month.

During the first week of February, what is said to be the first series of legalized bullfights in United States history will be presented at the huge Astrodome here in Houston.

AFTER THAT, if the reception is good and all goes well, the show will go on the road, so to speak, and the bullfights will appear in other cities across the country.

The point that puts the whole project in doubt is that there will be no "moment of truth" involved. In deference to the customers with squeamish stomachs, stuffed with roast beef or beefsteak from bulls killed in the slaughterhouse, who rebel at the thought of seeing an animal killed in their presence, no bull will be killed in the arena.

ALL THE FIGHTS will be in the Portuguese style. That means that the bull will not be killed at the end of the fight. This has come to be known as "bloodless bullfighting." Actually this is not true. The bull can never be allowed to fight again, so after the fight he is either killed or shipped back to his home ranch as breeding stock, and the former happens more often than the latter.

And there will be bloodshed in the bull ring. Horses will be gored and so will matadors. Some of them may be killed. I have seen it happen.

BUT THIS travesty on true bullfighting is being imported into the States under the guise that it is honest. It is not.

You may hear no grief for bullfighting, but if you do, then you know that the only true climax to the combat is when the matador takes his slender sword and faces the bull.

That is the moment of truth. And it doesn't really make a great deal of difference to the bull. Most of the time, if he doesn't die from the sword, he dies under the ax in the slaughterhouse.

AND, AT THE risk of sounding maudlin, it seems to me that if I were a bull I would rather be cut down by a matador's sword in the ring where I had a chance to fight than to be herded into a chute and be cut down by a butcher's ax.

But all of that is philosophical. The fact remains that the bullfights are coming to Houston for the first time in U.S. history, as far as any of the experts know. And the chances are that they will be a success.

EVEN THOUGH the audience may not be composed of aficionados, because the performances will be so strange to those who have not been South of the Border.

As for me, I pray for the matadors. The bulls can kill them, but they can't kill the bulls.

INCOMPLETE TEXAS STORY TOLD

Yarborough Skips 'Poverty' Facts

THE "WHOLE STORY" is something Sen. Ralph Yarborough often is not interested in, especially when he gathers himself to gether for a new attack on Gov. John Connally.

So he charges that Connally has "caused" Texas to lag in applications for "War on Poverty" funds. "We have not received our share," he says, "in accordance with the number of people who need education or training. Texas ranks No. 1 in the nation in the number of poor, but we rank only fifth in the amount of funds we have received."

This sounds "just terrible" until a few of the facts in the case are assembled. Community leaders have applied for poverty projects using only $8,736,891 of the $23,442,000 allocated to Texas for community-based programs. Dr. William D. Crook of San Marcos, regional director of the U.S.

Office of Economic Opportunity, is concerned that the remainder will be re-allocated to other States if not earmarked before June 30.

The lag has occurred on the local level, where part-time municipal officials and civic workers obviously have not had the time to fight their way through the intricate procedures necessary to apply.

What they need, Yarborough says, is "proper leadership." Well, it so happens that months ago the Governor sent complete details on the poverty programs to all local units of government, strongly urging them to participate. In a number of the more prosperous communities, local leaders have simply been unable to find enough need for poverty projects.

Apparently, the Senator wants the Governor to operate as a dictator, browbeating the communities into filing regardless. The OEO recognized the "information gap," hiring a private research firm to dig out and describe all 242 Federal aid programs available. The book containing the data is being sent to all local units of government.

Still, there is considerable doubt that a great scramble for funds will take place. And there is considerable doubt that there is much the Governor can do to force compliance. And he is certainly not able to veto projects, since that discretion has been eliminated by Congress.

Wouldn't an honest appraisal of the situation be better, Senator?

Hail, Judge Grooms

ADD TO THE list of judges due a special salute the name of H. H. Grooms of Birmingham, Alabama.

This U.S. District Court Judge has issued an injunction forbidding Dr. Martin King and his Southern Christian Leadership Conference from recruiting students for street demonstrations.

And what is so remarkable about the action? Judge Grooms has made so bold as to risk the wrath of King, who has proved on several occasions that he can defy both the law and proper court orders and get away with it. King was feeling especially important at the time because he had succeeded in getting 24 Federal examiners rushed into Birmingham to register voters who were already being signed up properly by the regular registrars.

Grooms' injunction opinion was superbly written, pointing out that "the right to demonstrate within the law is not a question. The challenge here, however, is the right to demonstrate without the law." And that the right does not include the right to disrupt the conduct of instruction in our schools by the invasion of their halls and classrooms for the recruitment of demonstrators.

The opinion is an excellent guide for judges in any jurisdiction who are confronted with agitators who flout both the law and common sense.

Going Too Far

A NEWSPAPER tells of a junkman in Gloucester, Mass., who advertised for "a man to work on rubbish, junk, and garbage truck. Must be college graduate with high IQ, no dropouts need apply."

Of course, we know that as American business becomes more specialized, job requirements become more demanding. But isn't this carrying the thing a little too far?

Another great trouble with the world is that it's becoming increasingly cluttered up with people.

Cookless Eighties

THE UNIVERSITY of Wisconsin's Agricultural Extension Service director, Henry Ahlgren, might turn out to be correct in his prediction that by 1980 housewives will be doing no cooking.

Instead, he says, they will be heating up food pre-cooked in mass ovens and will serve meatless meat and milkless milk. This will be forced by the pressure of population on agriculture's capacity to produce foods as we now know them.

Well, we will venture a prediction that if this comes about the 1980s will see an outbreak of "foodlegging" which will make the bootlegging of the Prohibition Era seem mild indeed. And there will be a high premium on gals who can whip up a cake from natural ingredients, or turn out a fine pan of fried smuggled chicken.

In the meantime, pass the cornpone and pork chops.

Less Plain Talk

THAT PHILADELPHIA dentist who advises his colleagues to use fancier language on their patients has a point.

After all, polysyllabism works beautifully for other professional men, such as physicians and attorneys. And everyone knows that the lofty language used by a minister in a marriage ceremony so bemuses the contracting parties that they really don't need tranquilizers.

While a trip to the dentist's office and a trip to the altar might not seem completely analogous, both do require fortitude. If the avoidance of simple, everyday terms will help, let us have less verbalization.

ART BUCHWALD:

'Stalag 1600' Hot Line Fails To Survive Security Logging

WASHINGTON. After it was announced that Marvin Watson had been put in charge of security at the Executive Mansion and was logging everyone's telephone calls, reporters began to refer to the White House as "Stalag 1600."

The excuse given for checking calls was that a special study was being made to see how many telephone lines the White House really needs.

WELL, IT TURNS out that the survey is over and now, according to Mr. Bill Moyers, the White House expects to save $6,000 a month in telephone charges.

Many special assistants had their lines cut down and a few who had got no calls at all during the survey had their telephones taken away from them altogether.

AS A MATTER of fact, the day after the economies were put into effect, the President called in Marvin Watson and said:

"Marv, I can't seem to get Jack on the phone." "He doesn't have a phone anymore, sir. We found out during the survey he got exactly three calls: two were from his wife asking him when he was going to be home and one was from his wife saying she was leaving home."

"Well, how do I get in touch with him?" the President asked.

"We have these pigeons, sir. You just write a message and attach it to a leg. Jack will get it within the hour."

"That's a good idea, Marv. I'll tell Bill to announce it at the briefing. His line's busy."

"Bill has only one line now, Mr. President. It appears every newspaperman in the world was calling him up and we figured it might discourage them if they couldn't get through."

"What happens if I need Bill in a hurry?" the President said.

"We're installing a drum in your office. You beat on it and as each office along the way hears the signal they'll pass it on and Mr. Moyers will eventually hear it and come running. He can also beat out a message to you when he has something on his mind."

"That makes sense. What is this I hear about the telephones being taken out of the War Room?"

"They never got any calls down there, sir, and I figured we could save $600."

"What happens in an emergency?"

"We have a bonfire ready to go at any time in the rose garden. When you wave this flag, an Indian with a blanket will be alerted to send out smoke signals. Another Indian stationed in the War Room will be able to reply. It's absolutely foolproof."

"Good boy, Marv. I notice you took out all the phones in the East Wing of the White House. How do we keep in touch with them?"

"WE HAVE a Pony Express rider stationed right outside the West Wing door. He will deliver a pouch back and forth three times a day."

"That makes sense," the President said. "What if Lady Bird wants to speak to me?"

"The Army engineers have built this system. You see, these are two ordinary soup cans. There is a waxed string attached to each end. When you talk in one end, Mrs. Johnson can hear you and she can reply the same way."

"I'll be darned," the President said.

JUST THEN Luci walked in. "What happened to my phone?" she demanded.

The President looked at Mr. Watson. "Marv, you didn't take her phone away, too?"

"You said to take out everything but the Hot Line."

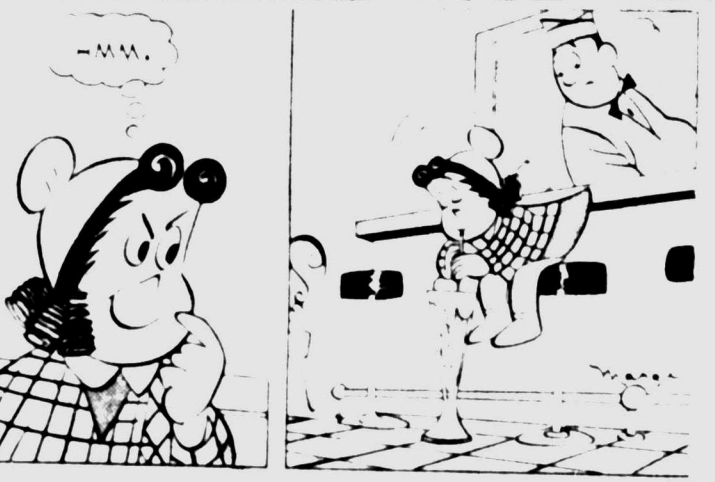

"Give Luci her phone back—and, Marv, take out the Hot Line instead."

Items Besides Deductions Can Save Taxpayer Money

EDITOR'S NOTE—This article, the last of five on the federal income tax provisions, notes that there are other items, in addition to deductions, that can save taxpayers money if they are listed on returns.

By ADREN COOPER
Associated Press Writer

Millions of Americans have found that they can cut their income tax bill by itemizing deductions — and the number has been growing in recent years. This little chore is well worth the trouble for taxpayers who can come up with deductions which exceed the amount they are entitled to under the regular standard, or minimum standard, deduction procedure.

You can get a general idea of what is classed as a personal deduction by reading the "Itemized deductions" section of Form 1040 — Part IV of page 2. In addition to deductions, there are several items which may be subtracted from income or from your tax. Exemptions are computed on page 1 of Form 1040. Adjustments, such as sick pay, are listed on Part III, page 2, and are subtracted from income regardless of whether you itemize personal deductions.

Credits, such as the retirement income credit, are subtracted from your tax not income.

Unless you have had experience with these credits and adjustments, you'll need to read the instructions carefully to find out how to claim these items.

In addition to the wage or salary earnings shown on the W-2 form, there are many other kinds of income which must be reported: tips, fees, alimony, most types of interest, income from estates and trusts, military pay for active duty or reserve training, most contest prizes, business profits, gambling winnings and profits from the sale or exchange of property.

This last item normally gets capital gains treatment and the computation is shown in Schedule D. If you bought some stock for $100 and sold it for $150, the $50 profit would be a capital gain. In most instances, the treatment of this type of income has the effect of allowing a lower tax rate provided the property was held for more than six months.

You can deduct net capital losses from the sale of property from your other income — but the deduction is limited to $1,000.

The profit from sale of your home is taxable like any other capital gain, but if you buy another house within a year, the tax may be deferred. If you are over 65, you can elect to exclude an amount up to the first $20,000 of sales price.

Alimony and separate maintenance payments to your spouse usually are classed as deductions for the person paying and income for the recipient.

Typical itemized deductions are medical and dental expenses, contributions to church, charity, Boy Scouts, veterans organizations and similar groups, interest you paid on a home mortgage, car or other item and certain state and local taxes.

The instruction packets mailed to millions of taxpayers list on page 9 the gasoline tax rates by states.

The computation of medical expenses is shown on Part IV, page 2 of Form 1040. First, take 1 per cent of your income and subtract this amount from the amount you spent on medicines and drugs. Add any excess costs to your other medical and dental expenses, and then subtract 3 per cent of your income to get the deduction. Expenses of taxpayers 65 or over are excepted from these rules — no decrease in deduction need to be made for either the 1 per cent or 3 per cent.

You may list the cost of health insurance premiums as a medical deduction but you are not permitted to include any bill that was paid for by insurance. If the insurance company paid $75 of a $100 doctor bill, you may claim only the $25 you paid.

You may deduct losses resulting from theft, fire, storm, accident, or similar occurrences to the extent they exceed $100 for each occurrence. If you have more than one loss, you must subtract $100 in each case before entering your deduction. This does not apply to losses on business property.

Only that part of a loss which is not covered by insurance qualifies as a deduction.

GALLUP POLL REVEALS

Church Attendance Reaches Low Point

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director (American Institute of Public Opinion)
Results of the 1965 audit of church attendance show that 44 per cent of the nation's adults attended church in a typical week during 1965. The comparable figure for 1964 was 45 per cent, and for 1955, 49 per cent.

At 5 different times throughout the year, representative samples of adults across the nation over 21 years of age were asked: "Did you happen to attend church in the past 7 days?" A total of more than 8,000 persons were interviewed in making this audit. It is important to note that these findings are based on the nation as a whole and do not relate to any particular community.

Translated into millions of people, the 1965 figure indicates that about 50 million persons attended church in a typical week. This is based on the nation's adult population of 113,000,000.

While the proportion of the adult population who attend church has shown a declining trend, the actual number of people who attend church has shown a slight increase. This is due to the increase in population.

Following are the highlights of the 1965 audit:

Proportionately, nearly twice as many Catholics attended church in a typical week in 1965 as did Protestants. However, the percentage of Catholics who attended church this year shows a decline of 4 percentage points over the past year.

Contrary to this, the Gallup Poll's annual audit of church-going has shown for the past ten years that the percentage attending church was higher among those with college training than among those with only high school or grade school training.

Among the various Protestant denominations, Lutherans had the best attendance record. Baptists and Presbyterians were next, followed by Methodists and Episcopalians in that order.

Women were found to be more likely to attend church than men.

Lubbock Youths Are Enrolled In Ranch School

Two Lubbock students are registered at a ranch in California where an Episcopal minister the Rev. Lattimore Garrett, is providing special opportunities for boys from 16 to 19 years of age.

The students are Larry Rountree, 18, son of Mrs. Lillian Rountree, 4601 W. 18th St., and David Keay, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Keay, 2614 7th St.

While living at the ranch the students attend "outside" school. Rountree will enroll at Antelope Valley College, Lancaster, Calif. Keay plans to complete his high school studies at Palmdale High School.

Ten boys are currently enrolled at the ranch, which is described as a place for boys to have guidance and training to meet the pressures of urban living in a religious atmosphere.

The ranch was established less than two years ago on 80 acres of land near Acton, Calif.

The minister was a visitor in the home of the Rev. Allen Prior, rector of St. Stephens Episcopal Church, from Tuesday until today. Plans are being made today to return to California with Rountree.

Keay, who has been ill, had planned to go to California with the others, but was unable to travel. Arrangements were to be made for his trip to the ranch later, he said.

Students Tour Texas Education Agency

Approximately 450 Carroll Thompson Junior High School social studies students toured facilities at the two Texas Education Agency offices in Lubbock Thursday.

The classes, which were taken by bus to the offices during regular class periods, were able to make the tour through the budgetary allowances in Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

The students discussed economics in classes Wednesday, citing their needs and ambitions then learning what earning power they would need to fulfill these needs and ambitions. The tour today was to acquaint the students with the demand for unskilled labor versus skilled labor.

During the tour the students heard a short talk by agency officials.

MHS, Sandies Clash Here Tonight

Lubbock, Dons To Skirmish

Coliseum Game Set At 8 P.M.

By CARLTON STOWERS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Bathed lavishly in the District 3-AAAA spotlight and promising all the excitement a battle for league supremacy generally demands, the Monterey Plainsmen and Amarillo Sandies square off today in an 8 p.m. Showdown Deluxe in Municipal Coliseum.

And, general opinion has it that he who emerged untarnished tonight will be dealt the smooth inside lane toward the second half championship.

Unbeaten In Round
Both Gerald Myers' Plainsmen and Johnny Ethridge's Sandies enter the contest with unbeaten records in Round Two action and best season records of 19-2 and 18-1 respectively.

The high octane Sandies rolled to the first half crown with a perfect 8-0 ledger, nipping Monterey, 58-57, in a hair-raising overtime scuffle in Amarillo. The loss was the lone league setback handed the Plainsmen during the initial round of play.

And, while most eyes will focus on the Hub City based warfare, Lubbock High's revitalized Westerners, back on the affirmative side of the won-lost ledger after a 20-point win over Boger, hit the road to do battle with Palo Duro in an 8 p.m. affair in Amarillo.

Other league action sends Caprock to Pampa and Tascosa to Plainview.

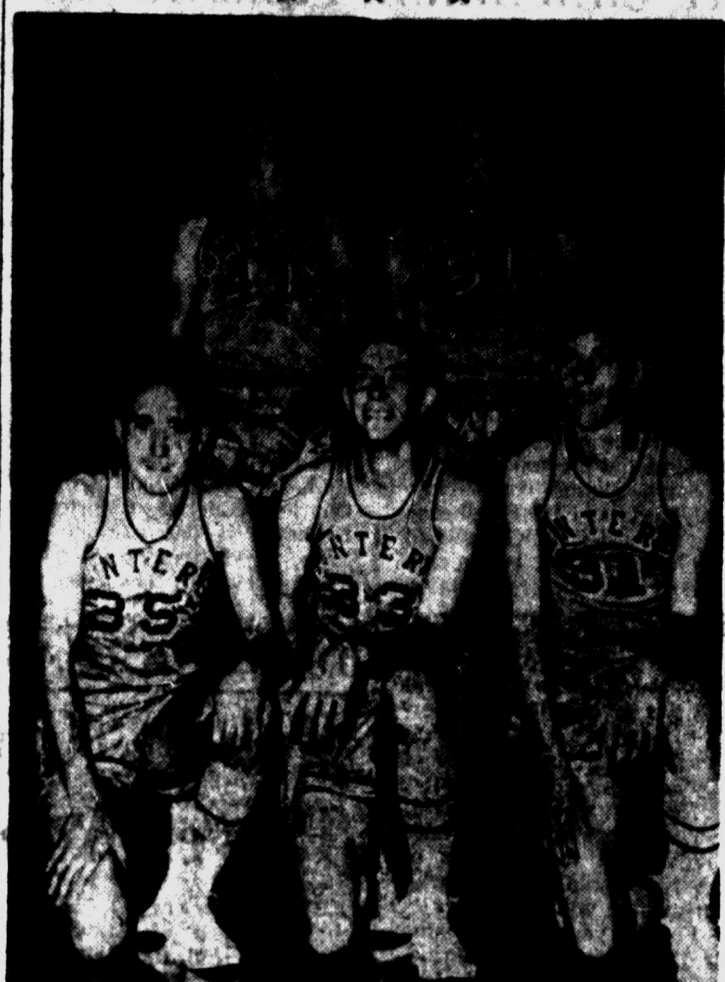

Monterey rolled to its third straight loop win of the second round with a foul-ridden 65-44 victory over Plainview Tuesday night. The Sandies, idle Tuesday, are 2-0 in league play.

Superlatives abound as both teams possess numerous outstanding individuals as well as impressive offensive and defensive records to date.

Wells Leads League
In second round action, the Plainsmen are hitting for a highly respectable 64.7 points-per-game and Amarillo, 64.0.

Local fans will get a look at the district's leading scorer in dead-eyed Sandie Charlie Wells, a 6-1 senior who's averaging 16.8 points-per-game through 10 league outings.

Two other Sandie starters are hitting in double digits as Jeff Harp (6-0) is averaging 13.4 per outing and Bill Jordan (6-1) is . . . See SHOWDOWN Page 4

Texas Cage Boss Blasts Tech Fans

By BURL PETTIT
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Texas coach Harold Bradley leveled a double-barreled blast at Texas Tech basketball crowds Thursday, but Red Raider officials absorbed the shock with a tongue-in-cheek attitude and an expressed desire to "avoid any controversy."

Bradley, whose next conference encounter will bring him into Lubbock, was quoted in an Associated Press story as saying, "Tech has the worst crowd in the United States." The Longhorn cage-master also asserted that referees' decisions are often swayed by the Municipal Coliseum audience.

"That Fanatical Crowd"
"All of our officials are honest," Bradley said, "but they're bound to be swayed by a fanatical crowd yelling, 'Watch that charging,' and 'Watch that three seconds in the lane.'"

At Tech, Raider coach Gene Gibson and Athletic Director Polk Robinson both indicated they'd rather not create a controversy between the two schools.

"I don't understand it," Gibson said. "Gosh, I can show you articles where his (Bradley's) players say they'd rather play here than anywhere." . . . See BRADLEY Page 4

Monterey's Randy Bowlin Picks Texas Tech For College Career

By BILL HART
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor
Randy Bowlin, who broke all 32 yards, but one was for a six and he was the second lead-touchdown as the Plainsmen in score with 44 points won, 18-7.

Bowlin will be the sixth Monterey athlete in 11 years to sign cause "I like the way the Red with Texas Tech and two of Raiders play football and we them dropped the sport after had basically the same type of their freshmen year. Others have fence at Monterey. Also, I was gone out on their own, but even- impressed with the coaches." He truly quit.

The 6-0, 155-pounder said he made up his mind Wednesday, picking the Red Raiders over 19 other offers he'd received.

Directed District Title
Texas Tech has a policy of not releasing commitments from athletes, prior to signing date, but Bowlin wanted the announcement made now so the other schools would quit contacting him.

Bowlin directed the Plainsmen to their first bi-district championship this fall, leading them past Wichita Falls Rider, 28-8, but despite his best passing performance of the year for total yardage, his club lost to Permian the following week, 29-12. Permian went on to win the state crown.

For 12 games, Randy completed 100 passes out of 192 attempts for 1,903 yards and 17 touchdowns. He also had 17 passes intercepted.

Against Permian, he hit 15 of 35 attempts, his poorest percentage-wise, but they gained 277 yards, and two went for touchdowns.

Against Plainview, which secured the District 3-AAAA title, Bowlin hit 13 of 20 passes for 273 yards and four were for touchdowns as Monterey won, 45-6.

Only in one game did he complete passes for less than 100 yards and that was against Caprock when he hit six of 14 for 66 yards with 574 yards on 119 carries, but one was for a six and he was the second lead-touchdown as the Plainsmen in score with 44 points won, 18-7.

Bowlin picked Texas Tech because "I like the way the Red with Texas Tech and two of Raiders play football and we them dropped the sport after had basically the same type of their freshmen year. Others have fence at Monterey. Also, I was gone out on their own, but even- impressed with the coaches." He truly quit.

Braves Called Back Home

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin won a court order Thursday directing the National League to maintain major league baseball in Milwaukee in 1966 and thereafter.

But the action by Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller, who already has ruled that his court has jurisdiction in State Atty. Gen. Bronson C. LaFollette's antitrust action directed at the foundation structure of the game, left the way open for an alternative.

The National League still has time to decide whether it wants to submit its 44-year old immunity to the perils of a new test in only a franchise away.

And there were some indications, in the journey of Milwaukee representatives to New York, that the league might after long resistance by exploring the alternative of awarding a new franchise to the city to replace the Atlanta-bound Braves.

In Atlanta, Braves Board Chairman William Bartholomew insisted the Braves would open the season April 12 in Atlanta under a Fulton County Court order.

The National League will hold its annual midwinter meeting in New York on Friday and a spokesman said that although the Milwaukee situation was not on the original agenda it was certain to be discussed.

Also in New York, Commissioner William Eckert said that "I've just become aware of this ruling and really have not had an opportunity to consider it. As I understand it, this is a preliminary step prior to a trial. I have not had an opportunity to evaluate the significance of this matter, which is being handled by the attorneys."

Judge Roller's order Thursday came swiftly after National League counsel advised him that the Feb. 1 trial date previously set would not permit preparation of the defense, and asked a postponement until June 1.

The court set 9 a.m. Friday to hear arguments on that motion, but issued the three-point restraining order with the explanation that "threatened injury to the public outweighs possible inconvenience to the defendant."

The order is limited in effect, since it does not order the Braves, who moved their operation to Atlanta last fall, to return to Milwaukee.

It orders the Braves only to make all necessary preliminary preparations for playing home games at Milwaukee County Stadium if so ordered by the court, and meanwhile to enter no contractual or other obligations for the 1966 season in Atlanta.

Attorneys for the state have said that the 25-year contract to the public outweighs possible inconvenience to the defendant."

Ashe Makes Meet Semis

Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., swept into the semifinals of the Australian National Tennis Championships Thursday with a 14-12, 6-4, 6-3 victory over Tony Roche, Australia's young Davis Cup prospect.

Ashe was joined in the semifinals by three Australians, defending champion Roy Emerson, Fred Stolle and John Newcombe.

Clark's wife, Carol, and Nancy Ruby of Dallas, Texas, gained the women's semifinals with easy triumphs, joining defending champion Margaret Smith and unranked Kerry Melville of Australia.

Carriso Graebner defeated Judy Tarrant of Australia 6-3, 6-2, while Miss Ruby, the United States' unranked player, in 1965 won Helen Austin of Australia 6-2, 6-5.

Miss Ruby plays Miss Melville and Mrs. Graebner will meet Miss Smith, seeking her second Miss Smith outside Martina Schacht of Australia 6-1, 6-3.

The semifinals are scheduled Saturday. Friday's matches will be confined to double with Miss Ruby and Mrs. Graebner the lone U. S. survivors.

Ashe's foe Saturday will be Stolle, the Australian stylist who has been runner-up at Wimbledon the last two years. Stolle defeated New Zealand's Steve Gardner 6-2, 7-5, 7-5.

The American was devastating with his service and dominated the match with aggressive net play.
