Candidates announce on final day

Monday, February 3, was the filing deadline for those seeking political offices in the Texas Democratic Primary on May 3.

Two candidates announced their bid for offices on the final day. Filing for Commissioner of Precinct 4 was James G. Miller. He will face incumbent James Tidwell. Charles Timmons will seek the County Commissioner, Precinct 2 office, now held by Billy Joe Lockett who filed early for re-election.

Mrs. Ettie Hubbard, Coke County clerk, reported that the Democratic Precinct Chairmen in charge of the upcoming election also filed for places on the ballot. They included Precinct 1, Patti Ivey, Royce Fancher #2, Lois Dunklin #3, Lora Belle Brown #4, Willie B. Edimiston #5, and D.O. King #9.

Farm Bureau Week slated

County Judge Aubrey Denman has signed a proclamation designating February 10-14 as "Farm Bureau Week" in Coke County.

The week is part of a statewide observance during which county Farm Bureaus will make a special effort to enroll new members, according to Robert Brown of Bronte, president of the Coke County Farm Bureau.

John Stephens of Coke County is chairman of the membership committee which is responsible for membership acquisition and maintenance. Other committee members are: Bill Hartman and Robert Gallaway.

"The Texas Farm Bureau, with more than 300,000 member families, is the largest state Farm Bureau in the nation," the proclamation reads.

"Farm Bureau is a grass-roots organization and its foundation is the county unit. There are 217 organized county Farm Bureaus in the state including the Coke County Farm Bureau," the proclamation states.

Robert Brown said the local county Farm Bureau has 855 member families and is seeking to exceed that figure in 1986.

He said that the Farm Bureau is a general farm organization that seeks to improve income and living conditions of farm and ranch families. It represents the farmer and rancher at the local county courthouse, in Austin, and in the nation's capital, Washington, D.C.

The directors will sponsor a barbeque beginning at 12:00 noon with a $5.00 plate for adults and a $3.00 plate for children. This is followed by the sale of all premium animals at 2:00 p.m. The public is invited to attend the show and sale and help support the youth of Coke County in their efforts.

Bronte UIL cast needs furniture

The cast of the U.I.L. One Act Play at Bronte School is in need of certain items of furniture. If anyone has any of the following pieces that they would be willing to lend them, please contact Mitchele James at Bronte School, 473-2511 - 2 wing-back chairs, a coffee table, and a type of cabinet with a mirror.

The cast will appreciate any help in locating these items.

THIS MUDDY SCENE in a wheatfield just northwest of Robert Lee was typical of the good news farmers, ranchers, and area businessmen received from the skies this past Sunday, as spring-like thunderstorms dumped from ½ to 2 inches of moisture throughout the county. The welcomed showers returned again Tuesday night, and it was overcast and raining Wednesday at presstime. Although some oat fields were too far gone to benefit from the welcome moisture, pastures and especially wheat fields should start showing the results of the good rains almost immediately.

Showers of blessings fall

It wasn't a drought-breaker but wasn't it great? The 'it' we're talking about is the much-needed rain Sunday night, Monday morning and Wednesday. This was the first measurable rainfall in the county since late October and the bare landscapes showed it. The weatherman promised more at presstime.

The city of Bronte had 1.9 inches with 1.2 measured north of town. Robert Lee's official total was 2.45 inches with as much as 3 inches a few miles to the south.

Mountain Creek Lake, the city's water supply, filled to capacity on Monday.

Although rains came too late to help many of the oat patches, the wheat may come out and make. Ranchers' hope is for small pasture weeds and winter grasses.

An early spring was forecast by the traditional groundhog who did not see his shadow Sunday, the 2nd, because of heavy clouds. However, West Texans know even a groundhog can't predict our weather.

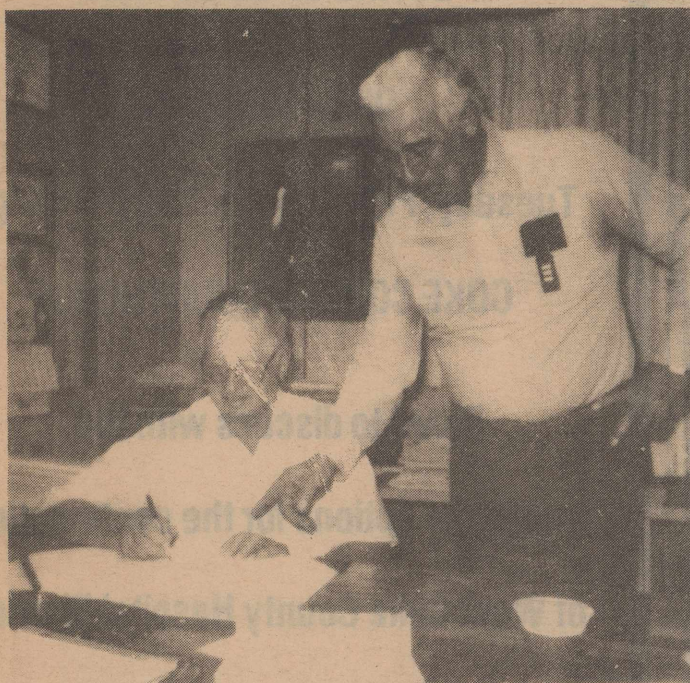

City of RL orders election

The City of Robert Lee has ordered an election for April 5, 1986. Officials to be elected will be a Mayor and two council members. Those with terms expiring are Mayor Robert Vaughan and council members Wilson Bryan and Alice Beaty.

Robert Vaughan has indicated he will not run for re-election. As of this date Wilson Bryan has filed for Mayor and Alice Beaty has filed for the council. Applications must be filed with the city secretary at City Hall. Deadline for filing is 5 p.m., February 19.

Council members whose terms do not expire in 1986 are Jim Dunklin, Jody Rodriguez, and F.W. Prentice.

ROBERT BROWN, COKE County Farm Bureau President, indicates to County Judge Aubrey Denman the appropriate place to sign the proclamation designating February 10-14 as Farm Bureau Week in Coke County. The local organization boasts 855 family members in Coke County, and directors are seeking to exceed that figure in 1986.

OFFICIAL PROCLAMATION BY
Aubrey Denman,
County Judge
Coke, County
Robert Lee, Texas

Greetings:

The Texas Farm Bureau, with more than 300,000 member families, is the largest state Farm Bureau in the nation. As such, the organization is influential in both state and national affairs on behalf of agriculture.

Farm Bureau is a grass-roots organization and its foundation is the county unit. There are 217 organized county Farm Bureaus in the state, including the Coke County Farm Bureau, which has 855 member families.

Because agriculture is important to our country, state and nation, and because the Farm Bureau is an important voice for agriculture, I, Aubrey Denman, County Judge of Coke County, do hereby designate February 10-14, 1986, as FARM BUREAU WEEK in Coke County, and urge our citizens to give due recognition to its worthy efforts.

In official recognition thereof, I hereby affix my signature this 3rd day of February, 1986.

Signed Aubrey Denman
 Coke County Judge

Denman files for re-election

Coke County Judge Aubrey Denman of Bronte has officially announced his candidacy for re-election to the office of county judge, subject to voters in the upcoming Democratic Primary.

"These past three years as your County Judge have been a challenging and rewarding experience and I trust, profitable to all the Citizens of Coke County.

The cooperation of the Commissioners Court and Courthouse staff has been most helpful.

Since elected, I have had continued Judicial training, completing twenty to twenty-four hours each year with a requirement of sixteen hours," Mr. Denman said.

He stated that, "Serving as director on the Council of Government has also been most helpful. Coke County has received grants through The Council of Government to update the recreation facilities, Senior Citizen Building and Show Barn.

My desire is to continue to serve you as County Judge and ask for your further support and vote in the Democratic Primary on May 3rd.

Thank you for the opportunity to represent Coke County."

"We sincerely appreciate your gifts; thank you," said a spokesman for the hospital.

Tidwell announces candidacy

James Arnold Tidwell has announced that he is seeking reelection as Coke County Commissioner, Precinct 4. Tidwell has completed his first term as commissioner and states that he has enjoyed serving the people and working for them the past three years.

Tidwell is active in many civic organizations. He is a member of the Bronte Lions Club, Masonic Lodge and Volunteer Fire Dept. He served as a trustee on the Bronte School Board and entered the political scene at the city level by serving two terms as Mayor of the City of Bronte.

Both James Arnold and his wife, Brenda (Corley) Tidwell are native Coke Countians. They grew up, attended the local schools, married and raised and educated their children locally. They are the parents of two grown children, a daughter, Shelene Follis, and a son, Jimmy Tidwell. Shelene has a young son, Lynn, 7 years of age and Jimmy and Karla are the parents of an 8 months old daughter, Jordan.

Tidwell addressed the following statement to the people of Coke County.

"It has been a pleasure to serve the people of Coke County. I am very proud of the county for all of its improvements and achievements over the years, but most of all I am proud to represent the people who reside here, for there are none finer anywhere. The past three years as your commissioner have gone by very quickly and I must ask your help again. I am grateful for the confidence you have placed in me in the past and would appreciate the continued support and vote of each of you in the May Primary."

Miller files for commissioner

James G. Miller, a Coke County resident for 8 years, filed his candidacy for election to the County Commissioner Precinct 4 office with the county clerk's office on Monday. He will be subject to voters in the precinct in the May Democratic Primary.

James feels his self-employed occupations and business experience, as well as his community interest, qualifies him for the office he seeks.

Born in House, New Mexico, he attended schools in Farwell and Bovina, Texas. Prior to moving to Coke County, he lived in Lubbock for 25 years where he was employed by Frito-Lay Company for 23 years and was also self-employed as a dirt contractor.

James, along with his wife, Nola, son David A. McCaleb, and daughter Cara L. McCaleb, make their home on a ranch 7 miles south and west of Bronte off 2662 in Precinct 4. The family owns and operates Miller Liquid Feed Service, as well as being involved in ranching. His hobbies are coon and snake hunting in his spare time.

"I am looking forward to campaigning with the voters in Precinct 4 and to being involved with the progress of Coke County," James declared.

4-H'ers place at stock show

Coke County 4-H'ers placed very well last week in the lamb and steer show at the Southwestern Livestock Show in Ft. Worth.

In the steer show, with over 1,300 entries, Jason Blaylock placed 10th in Lightweight Angus, Teresa Vaughn placed 13th in Middle Heavy European Crosses, and Scott Antilley placed 13th in Middle Weight Shorthorns and 15th in Light Weight European Crosses.

In a tough lamb show, Michael Lee placed eleventh in Middle Weight Crosses, Brande Burrows placed 17th in Middle Weight Crosses and Melissa Arrott placed 16th in Light Weight Medium Wools.

Coke County will also have steers, lambs and barrows entered this week in El Paso, San Antonio and later at Houston and San Angelo.

Hixon sets new school track record

Ralph Hixon, a 1985 graduate of Bronte School, and now a freshman at Abilene Christian University, has set new school records in a recent track meet held at the university.

On the treadmill endurance test, Hixon set a new record of 18:40 compared to the old record of 16:20. Also, in the mile and a half run the old school record was 7:59 and the new record set by Ralph was 7:55.

Hixon also came in second place at a city wide cross-country event in November. A competitor from Hardin-Simmons came in first, and Ralph was the sole competitor from ACU in the top ten.

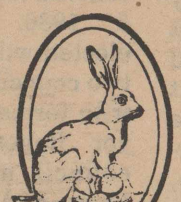

Ralph made his home with the Roger Barron family in Bronte.

Robert Lee Band members Eli Arellano and Wes Horn will represent Robert Lee in the district II South Zone Band. Eli and Wes traveled to Abilene last Saturday along with Tiffany Jameson, Felicia Sparks and Todd Scott. There was a record number of entries as over seven hundred students were scheduled to audition for the All-Zone Bands. All of the Robert Lee entries were for the Junior High Band. Grazing management is essential

by Mike Mecke,
Range Conservationist,
SCS, USDA

Many Texas ranchers are discovering that more intensive grazing management is becoming essential to their survival. Present agricultural market conditions and the recent drought have combined to drive this point home.

A grazing system consists of two or more pastures which are alternately grazed and rested in a planned sequence; often, forage cropland is included in the plan in order to increase benefits. Although the type of system used may vary a great deal, they all have a common goal of increasing the efficiency and profitability of the operator's resources. Ranchers and stockfarmers alike are looking for sustained high yields, better livestock performance, soil protection and often, wildlife habitat preservation. Leasing for deer and gamebird hunting has become one of the more profitable and stable sources of income to landowners in recent years and few people can afford the luxury of ignoring this fact.

A well designed grazing system should permit range improvement while increasing livestock production. Generally, the more quality forage produced on the ranch, the more economical the cost of livestock production becomes.

Summer temporary pastures such as the various forage sorghums and sudans are especially beneficial as their carrying capacity usually far exceeds that of our native pastures. The use of these crops also allows for the needed resting of rangeland during the growing season which allows the better range plants to increase in vigor, store food reserves in their roots and to reseed themselves.

A number of factors must be taken into consideration when planning a grazing system. The first step is to outline your short and long-term goals and then a good forage inventory is needed. The physical characteristics of the ranch have to be considered, as does the types of livestock produced and your calendar of operations for breeding, selling, etc. Be flexible in your system and keep it simple. Most Southwestern range experts recommend keeping your base herd at 40 to 60 percent of the estimated total carrying capacity and supplementing these livestock numbers by using stockers or selling excess forage production during good years. This maintains flexibility and lessens the chance of having to cull deeply into your base breeding herd during all but the worse droughts.

Any operators in Coke

County interested in considering various grazing systems can call the Soil Conservation Service office in Robert Lee to obtain help in analyzing their present range conditions and for assistance in developing a plan for improving their ranch.

Applying dormant oil

Have you given your fruit and nut trees their annual "lube" job? This refers, of course, to an application of dormant oil to control scale insects.

Why control scale insects? The answer is simply to save the tree. If a scale insect such as the San Jose scale or white peach gets started, it could kill your tree.

Dormant oil can be purchased at many different stores where garden supplies are sold. Be sure to follow all label directions and apply the mixture when the temperature is between 40-

70 degrees F. Do not apply if a freeze is likely within 48 hours after application, and do not apply after the tree has budded out. Dormant oil is applied when the tree is dormant. Spraying flowers and leaves could cause leaf burn and flower drop.

Scale insects are difficult for most people to detect, so dormant oil should be applied once each year. Sooner or later your tree will probably be attacked by scale insects, so be ready by guarding against them with an application of dormant oil.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TEXAS UTILITIES ELECTRIC COMPANY hereby publishes NOTICE that, pursuant to the provisions of the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the Public Utility Commission's Substantive Rule 23.23(b)(2), it filed an application on January 14, 1986, with the Public Utility Commission of Texas seeking authority to refund to its customers a prior over-recovery under its fixed fuel factors (base rate fuel component) in the amount of $78,002,807 as of November 30, 1985, including applicable interest, and to reduce its current fixed fuel factors.

Texas Utilities Electric Company has proposed that the refund be made and its fixed fuel factors be reduced effective with customers usage beginning with the billing month of March 1986. The proposed change in fixed fuel factors is expected to result in a $233,413,145, or 11.88%, decrease in fuel revenues for the twelve months ended September 30, 1985, adjusted only for customer growth. All customers and classes of customers whose electric service rates include charges for fuel cost pursuant to Texas Utilities Electric Company's Rider FC, entitled "Base Rate Fuel Component," and all territories in which Texas Utilities Electric Company provides electric service through its Dallas Power & Light Company, Texas Electric Service Company and Texas Power & Light Company divisions will be affected if the application is granted.

A complete copy of said application is on file with the Public Utility Commission of Texas.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Public Utility Commission of Texas as soon as possible. Hwy 158 upgrade approved Coke County residents and area motorists who regularly travel Texas 158 at the E.V. Spence Reservoir received an early 1986 highway dividend from the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission.

The commission approved a contract to upgrade and reconstruct a 5.2-mile section of Texas 158 from 13.6 miles east of the Sterling County line westward. The contract was awarded to West Texas Roads, Inc., who bid $712,306.31 on the project.

Gene Hirschfeld, the highway department's public affairs officer at the San Angelo district office, said the work will involve widening the existing 20-foot pavement width to 24 feet and constructing paved 8-foot shoulders. The project will also improve the grade in some areas, making the angle of the roadway less steep and providing better sight distance for drivers.

Hirschfeld said work could start as early as March. Once under way, the project is scheduled to take 180 working days, weather permitting.

The improvements on Texas 158, as well as similar projects throughout the state, were made possible by additional funding provided to the highway department by the State Legislature during a special session in 1984. According to figures released by the Federal Highway Administration, the work on Texas 158 will generate as many as nine construction site jobs in the area.

Diversity Club meeting

Helen Kirkland read essays of the first three winners of the essay contest to members of the Diversity Club at the monthly meeting on January 23. The essays entitled "Watch Your Waste" were prepared by Pat Lee's fifth grade class at Bronte Elementary. The first place essay was written by Clarissa Mansfield; second place by Amy Allen and third place by Dwain Swenson.

The club met in the home of Ruth Hageman, and the hostess served refreshment plates to Edith Hipp, Frances Kemp, Flora Smith, Drexel Ragsdale and Helen Kirkland.

Correction

According to information from the recently held Blackwell FFA Livestock show, it stated that Cindy Carlton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jackson, had the champion in the market pig class. It should have read: Cindy Carlton, daughter of Mrs. Bill Jackson of Blackwell and Ronnie Carlton of Bronte, had the champion in the market pig class.

Mundell hosts club

Alpha Kappa Pi met in the home of Betty Mundell in San Angelo on Jan. 22. Betty Mathews and Dorene Mashburn were special guests from a sorority in San Angelo.

TEXAS GARDENER TIPS

Annual plants, the category to which almost all vegetables belong, are reproduced through seeds and your gardening success can depend greatly upon the care, handling and quality of those seeds.

Vegetable seeds vary widely in size; lettuce is one of the smallest with 25,000 seeds per ounce. At the other end of the spectrum is lima beans with 20 seeds per ounce. In between is the tomato with 11,000 seeds per ounce.

It's not surprising that their size makes many seeds difficult to handle. Some seeds, such as spearmint, oregano and petunia, are so small they look like grains of black pepper. One way to start these tiny seeds indoors is to place them in a salt shaker and sprinkle them lightly over the surface of a seed flat filled with potting soil. Then, use a screen wire sieve or flour sifter to cover the leaves with a light layer of soil.

Basic Seed Facts Gardeners Should Know

Another way to plant tiny seeds is to mix them with fine sand. Then, in a seed flat make trenches that are 2 inches apart and 1/8 inch deep. Fill the trenches level-full with the seed/sand mixture. Then care for as you would any transplants.

When planting seeds directly outside, you may want to try a special direct seeding and thinning technique, which works especially well with lettuce. Before planting, mix 1/2 teaspoon of seeds with 1 cup of sand or potting soil for each linear foot of row. Make your planting trenches about 6 inches apart and 1/8 inch deep. Sow the sand-and-seed mixture over the area at the rate of 1 cup per 100 linear feet. Then cover the seed a half inch deep.

When sowing other seeds, be sure to plant them at the right depth. The minimum planting depth for vegetable seeds is about 1/8 inch deep, unless the seeds are very tiny. If you have sandy soil, plant seeds more deeply. As a general rule of thumb, seeds should be planted at a depth that is three times the greatest diameter of the particular seeds.

Food Stamp policy changes

Austin—The U.S. Department of Agriculture recently notified the Texas Department of Human Services of policy changes regarding food stamp applicants who voluntarily quit their jobs.

Since Jan. 4, 1985, food stamp applicants who voluntarily quit a job within 60 days before they applied for food stamps were ineligible for 90 days from the day they applied.

The new policy changes the period of ineligibility to 90 days from the date the applicant quit rather than the food stamp application date.

Anyone who applied for food stamps on or after Jan. 4, 1985, and was denied because someone in the household quit a job, may be eligible for restored benefits and should contact the local DHS office for information.

SOIL INSECT CONTROL IN VEGETABLE GARDENS

As vegetable gardeners in Coke County prepare for spring planting, their first step should be to control soil insects.

Soil insects can reduce vegetable quality and yields if left uncontrolled. For effective control, mix insecticides into the soil at a depth of 4-6 inches at least two weeks before the garden plot is planted.

Among destructive soil insects are wireworms, white grubs, seed corn maggots, cabbage maggots, mole crickets, sowbugs, slugs, snails and cutworms. Some destroy plant seeds, roots, tubers and underground stem parts while others cut off young plants at or near the soil surface.

Most soil insects can be controlled with diazinon 25 percent liquid concentration or Spectracide 6000 applied as a 5 percent granule. Granules usually give the best control. If cutworms or sowbugs become a problem after the garden has been planted, broadcast 5 percent Sevin bait over the soil surface. This bait containing metaldehyde will also control slugs and snails. However, it is not formulated to be mixed into soil.

Garden sites planted for the first time or those previously in grass or weeds are more likely to harbor damaging numbers of soil pests. Before treating with an insecticide, inspect the garden site by taking soil samples at several locations to a depth of 5 to 6 inches. Remove one square foot section of soil from each location and record the number of soil insect pests present. As a general rule, an average of one or more soil insects per sample suggests the need for insecticide treatment.

CHECK YOUR FILTER

A Clean Filter Will Help You To Save Money In Home Energy Bills.

The purpose of a filter in your heating or air conditioning air blower is to help catch dust and dirt before it can enter your unit. In time, the filter will accumulate dust and dirt. If it gets clogged, your filter won't be able to do the cleaning job it is supposed to and your unit will use more electricity.

To avoid damage to your unit and to save energy and money, be sure your filter is clean. Permanent types can be cleaned according to manufacturer's instructions. Non-permanent filters should be replaced.

West Texas Utilities recommends checking the filter in your heating unit once every 30 days to help keep your system in top operating condition.

Heimlich is best for choke victims

More than 3,000 people die from choking in the United State each year. Most choking in adults occurs while they are eating. Meat is the usual culprit. Other foods and objects cause choking, too, especially in young children who, as all parents know, seem to delight in putting all sorts of things into their mouths.

For years medical opinion differed on the best way, or ways, of dislodging an object from the throat of a choking victim. Sharp blows to the back, finger sweeps of the throat and manual thrusts to the chest were methods often recommended. Today, there is universal agreement that these methods can be dangerous and should not be performed. A back slap or a probing finger, for instance, can drive the foreign object even deeper into the throat. The best rescue technique in any choking situation, doctors now agree, is the Heimlich Manuever.

The "Heimlich Manuever" for rescuing choking victims was devised in the early 1970's by Henry J. Heimlich, M.D., Professor of Advanced Clinical Sciences at Xavier University. Dr. Heimlich's manuever depends for its success on the fact that a choking victim has a large volume of air in his lungs, even if he was exhaling when the choking began. If a rescuer presses sharply and repeatedly on the victim's abdomen at a point between the rib cage and the navel, that reservoir of air is expelled up the airway with a great deal of force, thus dislodging the obstruction from the victim's throat.

As we noted in last month's column, the Heimlich Manuever can be performed on standing or seated victims and on persons who have fallen to the floor. It can be performed on children and even on one's self. When the victim is standing, the rescuer stands behind him and wraps his arms around his waist. He then makes a fist with one hand a places the thumb side of the fist just above the victim's navel and below the tip of the breastbone. He grasps the fist with his other hand and presses it into the victim's abdomen with a quick upward thrust. Several thrusts may be necessary to clear the airway.

The technique for the seated victim differs only in that the rescuer kneels behind the chair and wraps his arms around both chair and victim (unless the chair back is too large, in which case he turns the victim and performs the Manuever from the side).

The victim who has collapsed to the floor is rolled onto his back, face up. The rescuer straddles the victim and places his hands, one on top of the other, on the victim's abdomen, with the heel of the bottom hand slightly above the navel. He then presses into the abdomen with a quick upward thrust, repeating thrusts as necessary.

A choking infant is either held in the rescuer's lap or placed on a firm surface, such as a table. Instead of fists and hands, the rescuer uses two or three fingers for the quick upward thrusts into the baby's abdomen. Repeat as necessary, taking care not to injure the child with too much force.

Many people have saved themselves from choking by positioning their own hands slightly above their navels and thrusting upward quickly and repeatedly. Alternatively, the victim can position his abdomen against the edge of a chair back, a table or similar solid object and press himself quickly and forcefully against it. As with the other forms of the Manuever, several thrusts may be necessary.

Whenever the Heimlich Manuever has been performed, the victim should be seen by a physician as soon as possible, even if no complications are apparent. Injury from the Manuever is rare, but it can occur if the Manuever was not performed properly.

The best way to deal with obstruction of the airway, of course, is to prevent it. The American Red Cross, whose experience with this problem is great, offers the following advice: cut food into small pieces and chew slowly and thoroughly, especially if you wear dentures; don't laugh and talk while chewing and swallowing, and avoid excessive intake of alcohol before and during meals; finally, keep children from walking, running or playing while they have food in their mouths, and keep small objects, such as marbles, beads and thumbtacks, out of the reach of infants and small children.

Youth to show at Houston

Texas 4-H and FFA members are getting ready all over the state for showing competition at the Houston Livestock Show, to be held Feb. 15 through March 2.

These young exhibitors compete in the junior show, where 1986 entries are expected to be more than 16,000. These junior show entries combine with open show and horse show entries to make the Houston Show the world's largest.

Junior exhibitors will be representing 804 Texas 4-H clubs and FFA chapters while open show exhibitors come from all over the world.

"Although we have a truly international livestock show, we probably take the most pride in the thousands of youngsters who come to our livestock show each year," said Don Jobes Jr., assistant general manager.

"They've shown that they're the hope for the future of agriculture by committing themselves to a long year of hard work raising their animals," said Jobes.

Junior show and open show exhibitors will compete for millions of dollars in prize monies and premium auction prices.

Sid Long, Robert Lee Vo Ag teacher, has released the following entries in the Houston Livestock Show.

Conservation news

John Nasworthy of San Angelo has had a dam constructed on his ranch located on the north shore of Spence Reservoir. Hopefully, the new tank will fill and provide livestock water, improve wildlife habitat and control erosion. Nasworthy recently became a new member of the District and will be developing a plan for improving the ranch with the assistance of local S.C.S. personnel.

Several Coke County ranchers are making plans for rootplowing and/or reseeding of rangeland pastures to grass. If you are thinking of doing either brush management or range seeding or of seeding old cropland fields to grasses, please contact your S.C.S. office for assistance. Soon a contractor needs to be lined up and grass seed ordered. Ranchers thinking of aerial spraying brush and/or prickly pear also need to be making plans for these practices soon.
