Rabbit Twister Festival

Summertime is festival time in Texas, with events scheduled every weekend. Our area is no different.

The city of Robert Lee will sponsor an old-fashioned, hometown 4th of July late Thursday evening, beginning at 6 pm at the county park. There will be a few short speeches by Senator Temple Dickson, Rep. Rob Junell, and others. The event will also celebrate Robert Lee's 100th birthday as well as a welcome-home return for servicemen rolled into one. Local talent will also be enjoyed in the park for an entertainment program. Reasonably priced food will also be available, such as 25¢ hot dogs by the local Lions Club and homemade ice cream at 50¢ a cup by the West Coke County Community Development.

Residents are urged to bring a picnic basket or buy food at the park, bring a quilt or chairs, and enjoy your neighbors and entertainment under the shade trees.

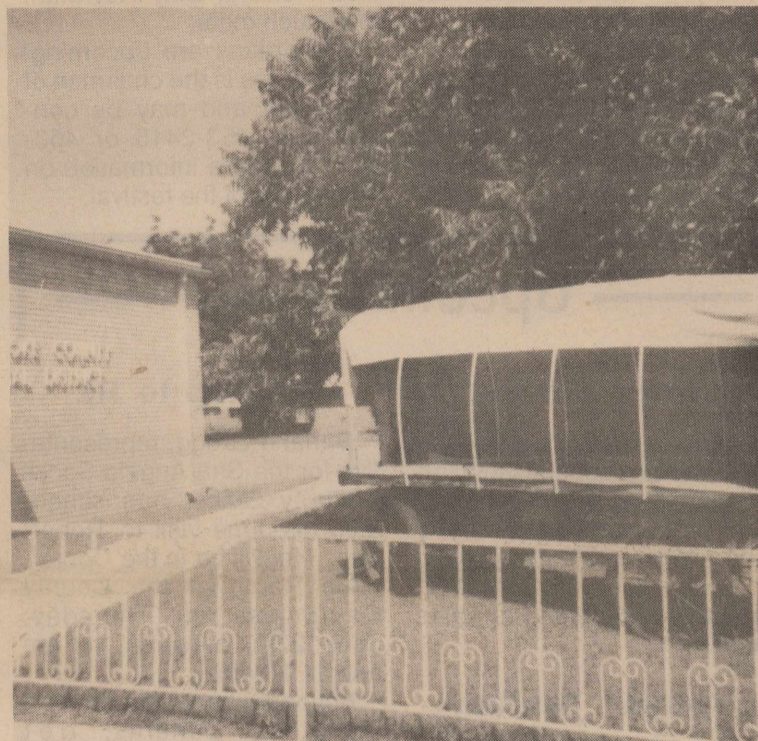

On Saturday, July 20, the Rabbit Twister Committee, made up of West Coke County Community Development members, will hold the Rabbit Twister Festival in the downtown Robert Lee area and the county park. The purpose of the event is to support the "Ole Coke County" Pageant and bring visitors to town who will spend the day and attend the Saturday performance of the pageant.

Committee woman Dee Anna Harmon has put together a super parade lineup which will begin at 10 am and will be headlined by Grand Marshals Donna Davis and Lou Kordek of KLST-TV. Entries who have committed to be in the parade include the Fort Concho Brigade, San Angelo Saddle Club, Texas Cushman Club, Feathers the Clown, Lions Club, Antique Car Club, West Coke County EMS, Goodfellow AFB Honor Guard, Coke County Pageant Association, Coke County Band, and Coke County 4-H Club.

-- Letter to the Editor --

Dear Hal,
 I want to apologize to all of the students and families of the 1991 Robert Lee High School Graduating Class for being unable to be present at your graduation ceremony on May 24th.

I chartered a plane and had left Austin on the way to Robert Lee that Friday night. Some 10 miles outside of Austin, the pilot and I observed and smelled fuel leaking from somewhere inside the plane. The pilot suggested (and I wholeheartedly agreed) that we return to Austin to find out what was causing the leak. Upon returning to the airport, we discovered the plane had a fuel cap that would not seal. The result was that, as we gained altitude, the differences between the pressures inside and outside the tank caused the fuel to spill. We attempted to get the problem fixed quickly, but were unable to do so. By that time, thunderstorms had developed in the area, and the pilot would not fly at all under such severe weather conditions.

I had looked forward to making the speech with great anticipation, and if you would like to hear what I would have said, please call my office and I will send you a cassette tape. I know the graduation ceremony was a joyous occasion for the students and families alike, and I hope I will be asked to speak for one at a future time.

Thank you again for allowing me the opportunity to represent you in Austin. I wish all of the graduates good luck and God's blessings.

Yours very truly,
 Rep. Robert Junell
 66th District

A delight for all ages, the original animated feature with the bright musical score will be screened at 7:30 pm on Friday evening, June 21st, and at both 11 am and 2:30 pm on Saturday, June 22nd. Admission ticket prices are $3 for adults, and $1 for children under age 12.

The "old-fashioned picture show" is an effort of the Bronte Texas Theater Preservation Society to raise funds for the community-based organization's commitment to preserve the landmark movie house, typical of so many small-town theaters which have been closed or razed in recent years.

The Bronte Texas Theater was also featured on the cover of the November 1990 issue of Texas Monthly magazine, as a part of the publication's survey of "Vanishing Texas."

Celebrating the special quality of small-town life in West Texas, the Texas Theater's showing of "Cinderella" will coincide with the Bronte Summer Fest event in the downtown area, co-sponsored by the Bronte Chamber of Commerce and the Bronte Merchants' Association, with booths, activities, and refreshments for local residents and visitors alike.

Junell appointment told

House Speaker Gib Lewis has appointed Rep. Robert Junell of San Angelo to represent the Texas House of Representatives on the Task Force on Workers' Compensation of State Legislatures.

The task force will examine problems that many states are encountering with their workers' compensation systems and recommend possible solutions for consideration by state legislatures.

"Rep. Junell is one of the key leaders in the House of Representatives on the issue of workers' compensation," Lewis said. "Participating in this task force, he will have the opportunity to exchange information and ideas with legislators from other states that may help us deal with our problems here in Texas."

Some experts have warned that the Texas workers' compensation system is on the verge of collapse as many private insurers are leaving the state.

"We need to examine all of the alternatives and any innovative approaches being used in other states that can be applied to the current crisis in our system in Texas," the Speaker said. "I am confident that Rep. Junell will be able to help the task force develop recommendations that can serve as the basis for future legislation on this issue."

Kuykendall, Longley vows exchanged

Kristi Kuykendall and Michael Chad Longley exchanged wedding vows Saturday, June 15, 1991, in Logsdon Chapel at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene. Dr. James Miller, pastor of Park Heights Baptist Church in San Angelo officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Kuykendall of Abilene. Her grandparents are Mrs. Allen Kuykendall of Abilene and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Glenn of Bronte. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Longley of Abilene are parents of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white taffeta floor-length dress. Four wide bands of hand-sewn alencon lace trimmed the full skirt and the chapel-length train. The slightly long-waisted bodice of the dress was covered with applied alencon lace. A lace ruffle edged the sweetheart neckline and the short, bouffant sleeves. Her waist-length veil fell from a headpiece of alencon lace, taffeta rose buds, and sprays of pearls. She carried a bouquet of long-stemmed pink roses tied with a white tulle bow. The gold locket she wore had belonged to her maternal great-grandmother. The brides' dress was made by her grandmother and her mother.

Karmen Kuykendall was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Channa Longley of Fort Worth, Lori Bammesberger of Colorado Springs, Colorado, Mary Alexander of San Angelo, Kelly Jackson of Houston, and Lori Burns of San Antonio.

The bridesmaids' tea-length dresses of bright green with white polka dots complimented the brilliant colors of the stained glass wall in the chapel where the ceremony was held. They carried bouquets of long-stemmed pink carnations tied with white tulle bows.

Kyle Longley of Lexington, Kentucky, was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Steve Heryford of Sonora, Bobby Clark of Kerrville, Bill

Mrs. Michael Chad Longley

Molson of Irving and Jim Scott and Monty Means, both of San Angelo. Ian Glenn of DeSoto and Christopher Fadal of Gatesville were ring bearers.

The groom and his attendants wore black tuxedos and the five-year-old ring bearers wore black pants and white shirts with green and white polka dot ties and cummerbunds.

Abel Mireles of Austin and Damon Simpson served as ushers.

Among those presenting a number of mostly sacred musical selections were Denise, Danielle, Stephanie, and Brittany Glenn of Houston, aunt and cousins of the bride. Another cousin, Charlotte Glenn of DeSoto handed out programs and rice bags.

The reception, following the wedding ceremony, was held at Hunter Hall on the HSU campus. Here, several friends of the bride presided at tea tables where sandwiches, fruit, cake, and punch were served.

The tall, tiered bride's cake was decorated with many miniature bouquets of pink baby carnations and the groom's chocolate cake featured a cascade of chocolate-dipped strawberries.

Mrs. Longley is a graduate of Abilene High School and received her bachelor's degree in secondary education in May at Angelo State University.

Her husband is a graduate of Midland Greenwood High School and received a bachelor's degree in kinesiology and biology from ASU in May.

Following a wedding trip to Durango, Colorado, the couple will live in Abilene.

Among the pre-nuptial parties for the couple was a bridesmaids' luncheon hosted by Mrs. Clark Glenn on Thursday at her home in Bronte.

To honor George Powers whose 61st birthday came on November 24, and John Ashworth who was 65 on November 26, relatives and friends gathered at the George Powers home for a dinner on Sunday, and cakes bearing sixty-five candles adorned either end of the table.

In the morning, Walter Raymer and his cowhands, Elbert Humble and J. L. Carwile, Jr., stuck their hats full of feathers and puf on a "Wild Indian Show" using three of a dozen Mexican ponies they recently captured and brought to the ranch. -- Letter to the Editor --

Dear Editor,

June fifth and sixth were days that proved to be very unusual and interesting to this Texas "Snow Bird," for I was introduced to some of Colorado's beautiful and interesting birds.

After intervals of rain and slight hail, my husband, Felix Thyfault, and I gave up on trout fishing at Red Feather Lakes and then journeyed on up to Crystal Lake, where we visited his brother, Leo, and wife, Jerry.

Upon arrival at their attractive home some 8,500 feet above sea level and located among tall pines, green aspens, and huge boulders, we noticed an array of colorful birds taking their flight. Their absence was not delayed long, however, for Leo and Jerry's little friends, feeling very much at home, returned to their haven and landed on their favorite hanging feeders, which were built for them on the front porch.

It seems to me that this cherished place could very well be called "The Love Nest," for here yearly, a host of charming birds wind their way to meet, mate, and feed their young. From a huge book entitled Pictorial Checklist of Colorado Birds, Jerry pointed out colored pictures of these birds feeding in front of us with their names, natures, etc.

For the most part, sunflower seeds seemed to be the main diet. However, the small hummingbirds, that were attracted by a red and blue feeder on the north end of the porch, fed on their sweetened water through tiny holes with their long, thin beaks. At one feeding, we noticed a

Taylor named to academic team

Misti Taylor, Abilene Christian University sophomore, was recently named to the Lone Star Conference's spring all-academic team.

Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stover Taylor of Bronte, was a BHS athletic standout. She is majoring in accounting and carried a grade point average of 3.906, the second highest of any female athlete on the spring list.

Hughes attend Crow reunion

The grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and great-great-grandchildren of the late John and Elizabeth Crow had a reunion at Stanton, Texas, Saturday, June 15, 1991. There were only twenty-four people present. Those attending enjoyed viewing pictures from other reunions, taking new pictures, visiting, and eating barbecue and other food.

Several Texas cities were represented - Big Spring, Lamesa, Midland, Comfort, McCamey, Bronte, Stanton, Cross Plains, Lubbock, and Luling, Louisiana.

Five of the ten children were represented at the reunion. Fred and Ona Hughes of Bronte were in attendance.

fight from Rufous. Being pugnacious, he drove larger hummers from his feeder. Here, nothing else bothers them except the bees and an occasional bear, Jerry explained.

Further, she pointed out that each year, they expected the appearance of these little hummingbirds in the spring around Mothers' Day and their departure on Labor Day, as cold weather sets in. Then I learned that they may "hitch-hike" a ride on the wing of some goose going South.

In the second castle-like feeder I noticed that two larger birds, male and female, came only once per day for food. The male seemed to have priority over other birds and chased them away from the feeder. A few resisted, however, and tried, it seemed, but failed, to prove that "might didn't make right." This winner, named Evening Grosbeak displayed a gorgeous yellow head and body with black and white wings.

In the other feeders, various exotic-looking birds flew in and out getting their share of sunflower seeds. Among them, as Jerry indicated, were the Goldfinch, Cassin Finch, Stellers Jay, and the beautiful Mountain Bluebird.

After these birds had flown away for the night, Leo began to fill the feeders for the next day. I then asked him about the expense involved in feeding all those birds. He responded that he'd spent seventy dollars this year. I then added, "You pay out all this amount just for birds?" His answer was, "Yes, that's for the birds!" My mind immediately gave birth to a whole new conception of the old saying, "That's for the birds!" I'd lived and learned a lot that day about Colorado's wonderful birds, and I felt fully compensated for having given up trout fishing in the rain and slight hail at Red Feather Lakes.

June is a month set aside to recognize the importance of milk in the diet. This is an appropriate time to remember that consuming milk and milk products is important at all stages of life. Milk and milk products are the best food source of calcium, which is necessary for strong bones and teeth, blood clotting, muscle contraction and heart beat. Calcium plays a role in preventing osteoporosis, or brittle bones. Dairy foods have other nutrients such as vitamin D and lactose which helps the body absorb calcium more efficiently. Even those on low-fat diets can fit dairy foods into the diet because of the availability of a variety of lower fat, lower calorie versions of milk, yogurt, cottage cheese, hard cheese, and frozen products like ice milk.

How much milk is enough? Nutritionists consider calcium needs chiefly when they figure the amounts of milk to have daily for good nutrition.

The need for milk increases from childhood through the teens as more calcium is required to keep up with the need of the growing body. Adults can get along with less milk than teenagers, but they sometimes underestimate their need for milk. Expectant mothers and nursing mothers need extra milk for calcium.

Here are the amounts of milk recommended by nutritionists for use daily:

- Children under 9 years - 2 to 3 cups
- Children 9 to 12 years - 3 or more cups
- Teenagers - 4 or more cups
- Adults, all ages - 2 or more cups
- Expectant mothers - 3 or more cups
- Nursing mothers - 4 or more cups

Hood named game warden

[Editor's Note: The following article recently appeared in The Clay County Leader in Henrietta, Texas.]

Eddie Hood is Named County Game Warden

Eddie Hood has assumed duties as the new game warden for Clay County.

He replaced Ray McDonald, who transferred to Hereford.

Hood said he feels fortunate to have been assigned to Clay County, where he said he's found the people to be friendly and the wildlife to be plentiful and diversified.

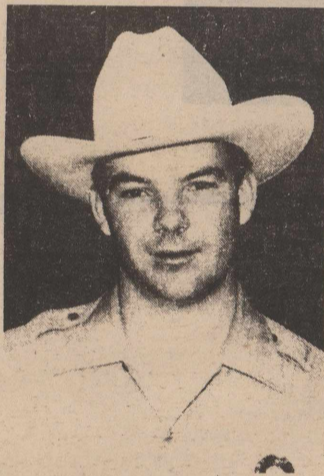

Hood and his wife, Sheri, reside at 214 West Commerce, Henrietta, with their 22-month-old daughter, Deisa. Hood may be reached at home at 538-4423 or through the Clay County Sheriff's Office at 538-5611.

This is Hood's first assignment since graduating in April from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's six-month game warden training school at Austin.

His hometown is Robert Lee, the county seat of Coke County. He was graduated from Robert Lee High School in 1984 and earned a bachelor degree in animal science in 1989 from Texas Tech University.

Hood, 25, said his aspiration of becoming a game warden dates back to his childhood and spending time with his father, Royce Hood, who is superintendent of Spence Reservoir. As a youth, Hood frequently found himself in the company of the fish and game enforcement officers and decided that is the career he would pursue.

Becoming a game warden was like a dream come true for Hood, who said, "I just couldn't believe you could get paid for being around something you like."

Eddie Hood

Hood said he and his wife have been impressed by the friendly people of Henrietta and Clay County.

"Everybody's been more than helpful. People met us at the front door to help when we were moving in," he said.

From a professional standpoint, Hood said Clay County presents an interesting diversity of habitat that supports a wide variety and abundance of wildlife.

"There's a lot of game here," he observed.

Hood said he is looking forward to meeting and working with sportsmen, landowners, and the general public. He welcomes the opportunity to meet local residents and to answer any questions they have about the state's fish and game laws.

The Symposium was jointly sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and the University of Texas. West Texas Utilities is one of the Foundation's sponsoring companies and paid for all expenses for the thirty-four students and teachers that attended from their service area.

The Foundation was founded for the primary purpose of conducting the world's first and largest privately financed research effort in the field of energy. The goal of the Foundation and WTU is not research alone, but also to broaden knowledge of energy science in Texas schools and to heighten awareness of the privileges and responsibilities that scientific discovery presents.

There are over 1,000 accredited senior high schools in the state of Texas, and Robert Lee can be proud of their school for being chosen to send a teacher and student to the Symposium.

Marcato receives prestigious award

Carolyn Marcato, Library Media Specialist at Dwight Elementary School in Fairfield, Connecticut, was honored recently at the annual Spring Fling meeting of the Connecticut Educational Media Association (CEMA), when she was presented with the Carlton W. H. Erickson Award. This prestigious award recognizes significant contributions to the instructional program of a school system or educational agency of a media professional with less than five years of service.

Mrs. Marcato, a dynamic and energetic Library Media Specialist, was instrumental in improving the library media program at Dwight School by using the principles of Information Power to initiate and integrate flexible scheduling. She set up a "Celebration of Books" program, initiated and taught film animation, video, and puppetry classes, and produced a video magazine. Mrs. Marcato worked hard to make the library collection more accessible to both staff and students in addition to lobbying for and increasing the budget to improve media center furnishings.

A 1990 Celebration of Excellence winner, Mrs. Marcato has published an article in Connecticut Libraries magazine. A member of the CEMA Board of Directors, she was Registration Chair for the 1989 CEMA fall conference and will begin her second term as Vice President in the fall of 1991.

Mrs. Marcato's dedication to the goals and principles of the media profession is exhibited by her energy, diligence, and enthusiasm.

Mrs. Marcato is the daughter of Mrs. Cecil (Frances) Kemp of Bronte and the late Mr. Kemp.

Carolyn Marcato, formerly of Bronte, recently was honored by the Connecticut Educational Media Association.

Managing pain from headaches

The National Headache Foundation estimates that 45 million Americans suffer from chronic headache pain and spend more than $400 million on over-the-counter pain relievers.

There are three categories that headache pain falls under. They include:

- Migraine headaches - Some common symptoms are severe pain on one or both sides of the head, upset stomach and disturbed vision.

- Cluster headaches - These are most common in men. The pain begins in one eye then spreads to the other side of the face.

- Tension or muscle - Also known as contraction headaches, this type of headache causes pain described as a tight band around the head.

Migraine and cluster headaches, also known as "vascular headaches," are believed by experts to be caused by an initial constriction of the blood vessels in the head followed by a sudden dilation in response to that spasm.

The best way to treat a headache varies with the individual. "You have to treat the patient by recognizing patterns and changing those patterns either through medication, diet, relaxation techniques, exercise, or possibly biofeedback-psychotherapy," said Howard Morgan, M.D., a neurosurgeon on Methodist Hospital's medical staff.

One of the more important developments in managing headache pain is a group of medications called beta blockers. Researchers think that long-term therapy with propranolol, a type of beta blocker, may train the blood vessels to be sensitive to the triggers of a migraine attack. Other medications used to treat migraine and cluster headaches are alpha agonists and calcium channel blockers. Acute tension headaches are most often treated with antidepressants or drugs called MAO inhibitors.

People who suffer from chronic headache pain should contact their physicians. Additional information also is available from the National Headache Foundation, 5252 North Western Avenue, Chicago, IL 60625.

Efficiency study detailed

West Texas Utilities Company has completed a study to determine the best organization and staffing levels to meet future electric service needs of its customers.

The study's purpose was to improve WTU's efficiency and achieve an optimum staffing level. A seven-member employee task force completed the study in April, and the recommended changes were begun immediately.

Overall, WTU plans to reduce its workforce by about eight percent over the next several years through attrition, like resignations and retirements. The company will do this by reviewing various positions throughout the company. The workforce had already been reduced by 10% during the last five years through attrition.

Other basic changes include regrouping operations into four divisions from six districts; establishment of business operations areas within each division to supervise groups of local offices and produce a smaller and more manageable span of supervision; and the creation of an Operations support group to consolidate the customer accounting and various engineering functions that support customer operations activities. Several departments in WTU's General Office in Abilene have undergone restructuring and reorganization.

Concerning specific local changes, the new Southern Division includes the present San Angelo district and the towns of Winters and Santa Anna from the Abilene district. Jamie Rainey will be division manager. The two areas in the division are the city of San Angelo and the Three Rivers area, which includes the rest of the division. Fred Hernandez will be business operations manager for the city of San Angelo, which will be district headquarters, and business operations manager for the Three Rivers area will be Mike Martindale.

Rainey came to WTU in 1975 as an office clerical trainee in San Angelo. She was promoted to management trainee, energy efficiency consultant, to San Angelo local manager in 1984 and to marketing manager in San Angelo in 1990.

Hernandez started at WTU in 1984 as a temporary laborer at Fort Phantom Power Station. He became a management trainee in Abilene District the following year, then worked in various areas throughout the company as a management assistant II.

Martindale's 20 years of service to WTU began in 1971 with a serviceman position in the Stamford office. He was promoted to local manager at Moran in 1974 and in 1976 was transferred to the Aspermont office as local manager.

The re-drawing of its district lines is not a new concept to WTU. The company has had as many as 10 districts in its history and has several times consolidated its districts -- in 1929, 1962, and 1976. Each time, the changes were made for the sake of economical company operations, just as today's changes attempt to improve WTU's efficiency to its customers now and in the future.

WTU serves 177,000 customers in 52 counties stretching from the Red River to the Rio Grande.
