WHPD events to fill weekend with activities

by Caron Yates

It's time once again for the Wild Horse Prairie Days, which is celebrating its fifteenth anniversary. Much planning and work by many has gone into preparing for this annual event, and now it is time to enjoy the fruits of their labor.

The weekend of activity begins with the Sam "Snakey"

Graves Memorial Cutting at 8 a.m. on Fri., June 4 at the Howard Hopkins Memorial Arena. All cowboys and cowgirls wishing to join in the trail ride should meet at Wild Horse Knob by 10 a.m. For more information on the trail ride, contact Susan Cockerell at 864-2851.

At 5 p.m., everyone is invited to gather around the square for the WHPD parade. Pictures of each entry and plaques for first, second and third places will be awarded. Anyone interested in entering should contact Larned Sales Center for more information.

On both Friday and Saturday, from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m., inside the Haskell Civic Center, there will be a Trade and Craft Show, as well as an Art Show. Entries for the art competition will continue to be accepted until 11 a.m. on Friday. A chuck wagon meal will be served from 5-7 p.m. each evening.

The main event, the rodeo, will begin at 7 p.m. both nights. A total of twenty teams will compete, with the list for Friday night to include Waggoner, Barrett/Pitchfork Ok, Myer/Mimms, Rocker B, Triangle/B&J Cattle, NT/Hunter, Bradley J3/Veale, Z Nail, Coyote Lake/Nix Cattle Co. and Triangle Ranch/Black Cattle. Saturday's roster lists Swenson, Thompson, RA Brown, Circle Bar, Crutch Ranch, Millioni L/Flowers, Sandhill, Tongue River, LaMejor/Harmel and Pitchfork.

A ranch horse competition will be held at 8 a.m. on Sat., and the always exciting Jr. Ranch Rodeo with "Pokey" the clown will begin at 11 a.m. Saturday's activities will conclude with a dance from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. featuring Randy Brown.

On Sunday, popular cowboy preacher Jeff Gore will conduct church services beginning at 10 a.m. at the God Loves You Ministries building on the west side of the square.

You don't want to miss any of the fun, so put on your cowboy duds, round up the family and come be a part of this year's Wild Horse Prairie Days.

TOUCHING UP THE MURAL—Members of the Brazos West Art Association of Haskell worked touching up the mural that appears in the Haskell Free Press building last Thursday. The restoration project is funded by donations and with help from Haskell National Bank. Artists working to complete the project before the Wild Horse Prairie Days event include, l-r, Linda Murray of Abilene, Anthony Brown of Abilene, Betty Berry of Haskell, Gayle White of Rochester and Paul Fiske of Abilene.

Pokey the Clown to host Junior Ranch Rodeo Saturday morning

Ranches, horse clubs, families and anyone who enjoys learning about the skills used by working cowboys on ranches, or just likes fun competition, is invited to come be a part of the Junior Ranch Rodeo with "Pokey" the Clown.

The fun begins at 11 a.m. on Sat., June 5 in the grassy area by the Howard Hopkins Rodeo Arena. Spectators are encouraged to bring their lawn chairs and enjoy a ringside seat as young competitors from age 3 to 16, show off their skills.

The Junior Ranch Rodeo is designed for the entertainment of children and also to enable them to experience some of the skills used by real working ranch cowboys. The activities are designed to encourage the youngsters to work together in teams to accomplish competitive goals.

Teams will consist of four members and will be divided into four age groups. They include Super Peewee, ages 3-5; Peewee, ages 4-7; Junior, ages 8-11; and Senior, ages 12-16. An entry fee of $20 is charged for each team, with each member receiving a t-shirt.

Events for the junior rodeo include a Pony Express Race, Steer Doctoring, Wild Cow Milking and Calf

Branding. All events will involve the use of custom made wooden 'livestock,' and all will compete on beautiful, handmade stickhorses.

Medals will be awarded to the winning team in each age division, along with an invitation to compete in the National WRCA Junior Rodeo in Amarillo next November.

For more information, entry blank and copy of the rules, call Larned Sales Center at 864-2749.

Art competition sponsored by local art club

The Art Show, an annual part of the Wild Horse Prairie Days activities, will be held June 4 and 5 at the Haskell Civic Center.

The art competition is open to all artists exhibiting their own original work. The artist's signature on the work will signify originality of work.

Entries will be accepted Thurs., June 3 and Fri. June 4, from 9 a.m. until 12 noon each day at the civic center. Judging will be at 12 noon on Friday.

The entry fee for miniatures and youth divisions will be $3, and all other divisions will be $6.

For more information and rules, contact Betty Berry at (940) 864-3122.

Buffaloes end Indians' hunt for state championship

The Regional Quarterfinal Champion Haskell Indians ended their bid for a state title with losses to the Forsan Buffaloes in a two game series played Thursday in Albany and Saturday in Snyder.

The Indians fought their hearts out, but mistakes just kept the Indians from advancing to the playoffs.

In the Thursday game, The Indians gave up 15 unearned runs on nine errors in the 18-3 loss to Forsan, who are ranked fourth in the state.

Christian Myers singled in two runs for Haskell with two outs in the bottom of the third inning. Trailing 10-0, Indians Gabriel Torres and Austin Nanny, who had both reached on infield hits, scored on the hit.

Forsan added five more runs in the fourth and three in the fifth innings and all but three were unearned.

Myers had a solo home run with two outs in the fifth for the final Indian score of the game.

In the Saturday match up, Forsan continued their hitting ways rallying to sweep the series with a 13-3 victory.

The Indians got off to a good start but Forsan scored in every inning. The game was called in the sixth inning on the 10-run rule.

The first three Indian batters came out swinging, reaching base and scoring, but the Buffaloes held Haskell to those three hits the rest of the game.

In the first inning, Myers singled in a run and Ricky Barrett had an RBI double. Myers scored on the play when a Forsan throw from the shortstop went for error.

The Indians had 17 errors in the game.

Booster seat grace period has ended

It's a common mistake that many parents make—taking their children out of child safety seats too soon and letting them use seat belts before they are tall enough or old enough for seat belts to fit properly. Beginning June 1, that mistake could be a costly one.

A new state law passed last year states all children under 8 years old have to ride in a child safety seat or booster seat unless they are taller than 4 feet 9 inches. Texas legislators gave parents and others who transport children several months to comply with the new requirement. When the grace period for making sure children have the correct safety seat ended May 31, violators now face fines of up to $250 plus court costs.

The deadline fell during TxDOT's annual Click It or Ticket campaign when officers statewide cracked down on unbuckled drivers and passengers and drivers who didn't properly secure children in their vehicles.

"Safety belts are designed to fit adult bodies," said Carol T. Rawson, P.E. TxDOT's traffic operations director. "That's why children need a booster seat to raise them up so the safety belt fits correctly and gives them maximum protection."

According to national safety advocates, most children outgrow forward-facing child safety seats around the age of four. That's where booster seats come in. A booster seat does exactly what the name suggests: It boosts your child up so that your vehicle's lap and shoulder belts safely restrain him or her. Without a booster seat, an adult seat belt can actually cause head, neck, spinal and internal injuries in the event of a crash rather than preventing them.

Parents can choose from two main types of booster seats: high-back or chair-style seats. The type that is best for your child depends mainly on what kind of seats you have in your vehicle. Booster seats can be purchased for as little as $15 at discount retailers.

For more information about selecting the child safety seat appropriate for your child's height and weight, visit texasclickitorticket.com. For additional information on safety seat checkup events in your area, call Safe Riders at 1-800-252-8255.

City Council report

The Haskell City Council met in a regular session Mon., May 24 with Mayor John Gannaway, Mayor Pro Tem Sue Medford and Councilmen Chan Guess, Randy Bowers, Dan Hoover and Jason Hall in attendance.

Randy Bowers was named Mayor Pro Tem.

Joey Thomas was appointed to the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority board for a two year term.

The pool operating contract with LaKay Caparoon for the summer of 2010 was approved.

A budget amendment was approved.

A resolution authorizing the Civic Center to be managed by a board was tabled until a later date.

Mayor Gannaway announced that the city would enter into an executive session to deliberate residency requirements for a police officer.

After returning to a general session, City Administrator Brandon Anderson stated:

•The Development Corporation of Haskell will host a USDA Rural Development Office Day in Haskell June 8 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at City Hall.

•Other meetings include the Legislative Outlook in Irving June 18; the Newly Elected City Officials Orientations in Irving July 23-24 and in Austin Aug. 13-14; and a One Day Workshop on Corridor Management and Preservation in Texas hosted by TxDOT in Abilene June 3.

•Repairs and upgrades to the pool are in progress. The pool should open sometime between May 30 and June

5. •The airport project has seen some delays due to the rain, but is still on track to be completed by mid-July.

•Once the typical hot and dry weather begins, city crews will be making a concerted effort to fix and patch holes in the roads created by the wetter than average winter and spring.

•Anderson appreciates the Mayor's offering the "Ask the Mayor" column in both papers. This is another way for taxpayers to have their opinions and questions answered and citizens are encouraged to respond if there is a concern. The city wants to know.

•Wild Horse Prairie Days, the largest annual public event in Haskell, is set June 4-5. Anderson encourages everyone to come out and support the ranch rodeo.

HHS Project Celebration receives grant

The Texas Department of Transportation is once again providing a $350 mini-grant to area high schools to help defray the cost of all-night high school graduation events.

Called Project Celebration 2010, Haskell High School is among 29 high schools in the Abilene District taking part in TxDOT's graduation program. Each participating school is receiving a $350 mini-grant.

"Teenagers have been known to mix alcohol and drugs into their celebrations. By providing these mini-grants to schools, TxDOT is helping support hundreds of high schools across the state as they provide organized and chaperoned graduation or after prom activities. These activities encourage teenagers to celebrate sober," Becky Estrella said. "I have a teenaged daughter and knowing that these types of activities are available makes me breathe easier." Estrella is the Abilene District's traffic safety coordinator.

Estrella visited the participating high schools in the district. In addition to the $350 each school will receive, she presented the Project Celebration chairperson colorful backpacks with the Zip-Zero-Zilch-Nada slogan on them for graduating seniors.

According to the traffic safety coordinator, these mini-grants are not intended to fully fund a Project Celebration event, but to provide seed money for schools to start and support alcohol and drug-free parties for high school students. The funds are to be used to cover expenses such as printing, materials, postage, supplies, room rentals, and the like.

Schools are topic of Museum displays

The Wichita Brazos Museum workers have been very busy changing the exhibits to "Schools of Knox County." The displays were to be completed by June 4, in order to greet the Knox City School Homecoming group and the Benjamin Homecoming group on the next weekend, June 11. Other schools in the county will have homecoming celebrations later in the year.

These exhibits will remain at the museum for one year, so don't miss seeing the pictures and histories of all the schools in Knox County—44, to be exact. You might help us identify a picture of your great grandmother. Thanks to our citizens interested in preserving our Knox County history, the museum has received pictures, history and a school jacket from Sunset School. The display window is set up as a school room with a stool and dunce cap in the corner. Also in the display is an old Coke machine from the 40's and 50's (10 cents a bottle), which stood in the "Coke room" at most schools during that time.

There is also a farm exhibit area with things used in the "olden days," as our grandchildren would say. Many old farm tools may be viewed, and perhaps you can help us identify them, writing down the name of the tool on our "Name That Tool" list.

Usual hours for the museum are Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., however it will be open on Saturdays, June 5 and June 12 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday afternoons, June 6 and June 13 from 1 to 4 p.m., for visitors attending the homecomings. Actually, it would be a good Saturday or Sunday outing for anyone. You might even see your picture on the wall!

AS THE ELECTRIC DELIVERY COMPANY that has been serving south and west Texas for more than 90 years, AEP Texas knows a thing or two about energy conservation. That's why we would like to share some low or no-cost tips with you on how to keep cool during these hot summer months.

Since AEP Texas and its 1,700 employees are directly connected to the many communities we live in and serve, we'd like to share some low or no cost tips with you on how to keep cooler while saving energy and money.

- Set air-conditioning thermostats to the highest possible comfortable setting and dress accordingly.
- Turn off every appliance you are not using including lights, televisions and radios. Use the "sleep" feature on your computer equipment.
- Only cool rooms that you use. Close vents and doors in unused rooms. Be sure to close closet doors.
- Check your air-conditioning filter every month and replace as needed.
- Keep windows that let the sun in covered when the sun is shining on them.
- Weather strip and caulk around windows and doors to prevent drafts.
- Close your fireplace damper when the fireplace is not being used.
- Use fans to help circulate the air in your house.
- Air-dry dishes in the dishwasher.
- Lower the temperature on your hot water heater to warm during the summer, take short showers and wash only full loads of clothes in the laundry.

It's important to remember that if you're having trouble paying your electric bill, call your retail energy provider (REP) at the number listed on your current electric bill to avoid disconnection.

OPINION

Letter to the Editor

Dear editor,
Last Fri., May 21, my husband and I came to watch our grandson, Braxton Jackson, play a Little League game.

I was so impressed with how the coaches treated the boys. The support they gave each boy and the team. I watched as the boys supported each other. Haskell has a very good Little League program. Be very proud of it—I am. Thank you to all that works in the program—each and everyone of you.

Thank you for loving the kids as much as you do.

I also really enjoyed talking to the sweet lady that I sat by—I can't remember her name—but her grandson was my grandson's coach.

Thank you,
Sissy Jackson

to court often require more than one appearance and long waits at the courthouse. With CSRP, parents schedule an appointment with the child support review officer and every effort is made to resolve the legal issues right then and there.

•Reduces stress. Because CSRP is less formal than a courtroom setting, parents are more comfortable and more willing to discuss issues related to the outcome of their individual case.

•Provides privacy. Court proceedings are public hearings where sensitive issues may be presented before all who are present in the courtroom. During the CSRP process, negotiations are conducted in the privacy of a child support office.

If you have a case with the Office of the Attorney General and need more information about CSRP, contact your local child support office. To apply for child support services, call 800-252-8014, or visit the Attorney General's website at www.texasattorneygeneral.gov and click on "Child Support."

Dual-credit program increasingly popular but access needs improvement
AUSTIN—The state Senate Education and Higher Education committees met in joint session May 24 to get input on the effectiveness and scope of the state's dual-credit program that enables students to take high school courses that earn college credit.

Texas Commissioner of Higher Education Raymund A. Paredes said increasing numbers of economically disadvantaged students are enrolling. Those students, who now make up about a third of students in dual-credit programs, are underrepresented, however, when compared to the total proportion of economically disadvantaged students, Paredes said.

The program lacks consistency statewide, as some areas of the state offer more in terms of structural and financial support for students looking to take college courses than others, Paredes testified.

"We know there are differences in support services across the state that yield different results," said Paredes. "We have to make sure every child has an opportunity to do as well in dual-credit courses as possible."

Education Committee Chair Sen. Florence Shapiro, R-Plano, said the state needs to find ways to make it easier for students to get into dual-credit courses. "We are putting in place too many hurdles for those students to get there," she said.

Air quality hearings scheduled

The Texas Commission on Environmental Quality announced plans to host a series of meetings around the state in June and July to inform the public about, and receive comment on, potential non-attainment boundaries and designations for new ozone standards.

These standards were proposed by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in January and are expected to be finalized in August.

In other news, Gov. Rick Perry on May 26 said the EPA's move to enforce the federal Clean Air Act in Texas threatens to kill thousands of jobs.

"I am calling upon President Obama to rein in the EPA and instruct them to study our successful approach for recommended use elsewhere," Perry said.

Buckle up, backseat passengers

The state law requiring everyone in a vehicle to be secured by an approved safety belt took effect on Sept. 1, 2009, and until June 6, the Texas Highway Patrol and law enforcement officers across the state will be on the lookout for violators during the ninth "Click It or Ticket" enforcement mobilization.

"This year's Click It or Ticket campaign reminds drivers and passengers that no matter how old you are or where in the vehicle you are sitting, you must buckle up," said Texas Highway Patrol Assistant Director David Baker.

"Backseat passengers no longer have an excuse for not wearing a safety belt, and we will be issuing tickets to those who are not complying with the law."

Baker said that during the Memorial Day holiday last year, DPS troopers arrested 622 drunken drivers, wrote nearly 8,511 speeding tickets and issued 1,937 seat belt and 521 child restraint citations.

DOJ OKs consolidation of ISDs

The U.S. Department of Justice on May 25 cleared the way for the Texas commissioner of education to consolidate the Kendleton Independent School District with neighboring Lamar Consolidated ISD, effective July 1.

Commissioner of Education Robert Scott in March announced his intention to close Kendleton, a small, one-campus district in Fort Bend County, because of chronic academic problems.

Because the consolidation eliminates the Kendleton school board, it was necessary for Texas Education Agency to seek preclearance from the Justice Department as Texas remains under restrictions imposed by the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

"Closing a school district is a somber moment," Scott said. "It is an action I take only when all other efforts to revive a district have failed. ..."

Hurricane preparations: it's time

Hurricane season officially starts on June 1. The Texas Department of Insurance on May 25 encouraged Texans to read and understand their insurance policies and to pose questions to their agent or company.

For starters, the department suggested a home inventory and to store the inventory in a safe location away from home.

Child Support Review Process (CSRP)

A child needs and deserves both parents to play an active role in his or her life. That's why it is important for moms and dads to work together to parent their children.

Most parents recognize the importance of maintaining cordial relationships for the good of their children. They don't want their children to suffer because mom and dad can't get along.

Under Texas law, the Office of the Attorney General is responsible for collecting and distributing child support. In an effort to foster healthy relationships, the parent who pays and the parent who receives support are treated as equal partners who are committed to doing what is best for their children.

Services provided by the Attorney General's Child Support Division include:

- Locating absent parents
- Establishing paternity
- Establishing and enforcing child and medical support orders
- Reviewing and adjusting child support payments
- Collecting and distributing child support payments.

In order to establish paternity and child support orders, parents have to make at least one trip to the courthouse. In court, the facts of the case are presented to a judge, who then rules on the matter. Going to court can be a stressful experience for parents, who many times do not know what to expect from the process. The formality of legal proceedings can result in increased tension between parents who already may be at odds about the outcome of their case.

Child Support Review Process (CSRP) is a non-adversarial way parents can resolve legal issues about their child support without going to court, thereby supporting improved family relationships. That is why parents are encouraged to use CSRP as an alternative to the courthouse. For mothers and fathers who qualify, CSRP is a way to unite rather than polarize parents who must find common ground and resolve their child support obligations. Last year, more than 60,000 legal actions were resolved through

CSRP is for divorced, separated or never-married parents who are willing to negotiate orders to:

- establish paternity
- set current child and medical support
- establish visitation rights
- pay retroactive child support
- obtain judgments for past due child support
- modify child support amounts
- enforce the payment of child support.

With CSRP, both parents meet with a child support officer to establish an order in the privacy of an office. If traveling to the office creates a hardship for either parent, the meeting can be conducted by conference call.

Once an agreement is reached, a CSRP order is filed with the court and reviewed by a judge. After the judge has signed it, a CSRP order is legally binding and will be enforced just as any order obtained through a court proceeding. Parents should consider CSRP because it:

- Saves time. Cases that go

Choosing a nursing home

The difficult and emotional task of finding a proper nursing home for a loved one can be made easier through the use of available research and perseverance.

A pleasant environment with a caring staff and solid medical practices should be tops in a checklist to ensure the loved one gets the care needed and is safe and healthy during their stay.

The research is available from the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services through its annual collection of data on over 15,000 nursing homes across the country. Health inspection data, staffing and quality information is used to rank the facilities on a one to five scale. For information on local areas, go to medicare.gov and click on the "nursing home compare" tool.

The site also offers a "Nursing Home Checklist" asking such basic questions as Medicare and Medicaid certification, level of care, special services available and if the home is close enough for friends and family to visit.

But, the list also asks if residents are clean and appropriately dressed for the season and time of day; if the facility appears clean and well-kept and has good lighting and comfortable temperature for residents.

questionnaire poses questions about the staff, rooms, hallways, stairs and bathrooms and encompasses a total of 50 items to check before considering a home.

Larry Minnix of the American Association of Homes and Services for the Aging told The New York Times that onsite inspection is vital. In an article entitled "Stressful but Vital: Picking a Nursing Home," Minnix said repeated visits are recommended and should be carried out at different times of the day and different days of the week.

"Trust your five senses," Minnix told Times reporter Walecia Konrad. "Does it smell like cleaning fluid and urine when you walk in or fried chicken and apple pie? Are the staff friendly and interacting with the residents?"

He recommended speaking with the executive director, physician and head nurse at the facility. If they are not available, ask for an appointment. Getting the runaround could serve as a red flag in consideration of the facility.

Picking the proper nursing home is important. Using the Medicare 50 question checklist for personal visits to those being considered can make the choice much easier for all concerned.

Know the signs of physical bullying

Although bullying often takes a mental and emotional toll, it also can become physical.

Dr. Jennifer Buchanan Walsh, a pediatrician at UT Southwestern Medical Center, says caregivers should keep an eye out for these possible warning signs of physical abuse:

- Unexplained bruises, scratches and/or cuts;

- Anxiety and fear of going to school or camp and/or being sad, depressed, or teary when coming home;

- Child returns home with torn, damaged or missing clothing, books or other belongings;

- Complains frequently about stomach aches, headaches or other physical ailments, especially prior to school; or

- Has low self-esteem.

Dr. Walsh says that caregivers who notice any of these warning signs should talk with the child and the staff at his or her school to determine if bullying is involved.

"Bullying can have serious effects on children, so be supportive of your child's concerns

but never advise them to hit or bully back," says

Dr. Walsh, who works in the adolescent/young adult clinic at Children's Medical Center Dallas. "While it's important to take action to stop the bullying, parents should never confront the bully or the bully's parents, but rather go through teachers or other school staff."

SOUND VIBRATIONS—Haskell fifth grade students are amazed with the ability to produce sound vibrations by lengthening and shortening waves at the Science Spectrum in Lubbock. Students, l-r, Austin Alsbrook, Payton Thomas, Chase Gibson, Hayden Leach, Lane Burson and Hayden Hudson experience the exhibit.

TOO MUCH PRESSURE—Haskell fifth grader, Richard Rodriquez, tries his strength to overcome pressures on the bicycle wheels that increases as you pedal. Classmates, l-r, Lane Burson, Macey Coker and Hayden Hudson watch his attempt. The group visited the Science Spectrum in Lubbock recently.

Haskell fifth graders enjoy learning experiences

On April 27, Haskell fifth grade students traveled to the Science Spectrum and Omni Theater in Lubbock. The trip was provided by Haskell CISD and a mini-grant from Haskell Educational Foundation. The Science Spectrum/OMNI Theater was a perfect place for students to acquire a life-long learning experience and a love for science.

The students discovered well over 250 interactive hands-on exhibits, many of which would not have been possible in the classroom. Some of the favorites included a bike where the pressure on the wheels increased as you pedaled them, bubbles were formed to show the effects of force, mist could be blown to produce a tornado, and sound vibrations were made by lengthening and shortening waves.

There was also a huge maze that had been constructed in which many marbles traveled through all manners of obstacles. Students were amazed at this web of confusion. The early earth exhibit of prehistoric animals was awesome. The tour guide described a world of extinct animals and their habitats.

In the Omni Theater,

students relaxed in recliners surrounded by an overhead, circular screen. The movie was entitled Arabia, and was the story of modern Saudi Arabia. Students learned the story of an extreme desert environment that, through its people's desire for knowledge, riches of global trade due to the oil industry, and a deep devotion to their faith, has become one of the most powerful, yet least understood regions on Earth today.

Students returned to school full of excitement after a memorable day of hands-on learning.

Time to inspect pecan trees

by Wes Utley
CEA-Ag/NR, Haskell Co.

The pecan crop last year was poor over much of the Rolling Plains. This was due in part to the hot, dry conditions that prevailed during much of the spring and summer. Since pecans are alternate bearing, especially when the trees are older, this could be a good pecan year. However, the spring and summer rains will be needed and now much of the area is in need of a good rain.

Trees should be inspected to determine the probability of producing an economic crop and to determine if pecan nut casebearer control is needed. The catkins or male blooms are very apparent on many trees and the female blooms or small nutlets have been or soon will be set on the end of the new growth.

The pecan nut casebearer and the pecan weevil are the two pest that cause most of the damage to the developing pecan crop. Pecan nut casebearers are most damaging during the first generation which occurs from late May through June. Pecan weevil adults do not emerge from the soil until mid-August or later and often are delayed because they emerge after a rain or when the orchard is irrigated. The eggs of pecan weevils that develop in the pecans as larvae, are deposited in pecans from the pecan gel stage until the shell is too hard for the weevils to gnaw through.

The time to control the pecan nut casebearer is usually from May 25 to June 1, however last year control measures were needed five to ten days earlier in Parker and Jones counties. Insecticidal control measures are usually needed in the southeast part of the area first and about a week later in Childress and Hall counties which are in the northwest part of the area.

Producers should begin inspecting for pecan nut casebearer eggs by May 10 in Parker county and by May 15 or 20 further north and west. Eggs are flattened and are placed on the dark tip of the nutlets or just under the bracts near the end. The egg will be white to green when newly deposited, but as they near hatch will have red spots. When eggs are found, tie a bright colored ribbon on the limb so the eggs can be inspected daily. When the first small casebearer larva, which will be about 1/16 inch long, begin tunneling into the small nutlets it is time to apply an insecticide labeled for pecan nut casebearer control. Research has shown that two infested pecan clusters of 310 inspected clusters will result in the loss of about 5% of the pecans and this is enough to justify control measures.

Each year County Extension Agents work with producers in determining when to apply control measures for the pecan nut casebearer. However, by inspecting and applying control measures when the larvae begin to damage the crop, the amount of insecticide needed can be reduced. One or two well timed applications depending on the duration of nutlet entry period, will often result in effective pecan nut casebearer control. A second generation will occur about six weeks after the first generation. The second generation usually does not cause excessive damage to the pecan crop.

Workshop to discuss ten warnings signs of Alzheimer's disease

Current data suggests that less than 35 percent of people with Alzheimer's disease or other dementias have a diagnosis of the condition in their medical record. "In 2011, the first wave of baby boomers begins turning 65—the age that one's risk of developing Alzheimer's disease begins to increase significantly," said Mindy Bannister, Caseworker, of the North Central Texas Chapter of the Alzheimer's Association. "Knowing the warning signs of Alzheimer's and getting diagnosed early is vital to receiving the best help and care possible."

To help concerned individuals understand the difference between normal aging and Alzheimer's disease and the benefits of early detection, the Alzheimer's Association—North Central Texas Chapter will be hosting a new workshop, Know the 10 Signs: Early Detection Matters. The program is scheduled Tues., June 15, from 3 to 4:30 p.m., at the Abilene Regional Office of the Alzheimer's Association located at 301 S. Pioneer, Ste. 105, in Abilene.

Key topics that will be discussed include:

- The 10 warning signs
- Basic overview of Alzheimer's disease

- Risk factors
- What is involved in getting a diagnosis
- Benefits of early detection including accessing available treatment, planning for the future and participating in clinical trials.

Seating is limited, so reservations are strongly encouraged. For more information or to reserve a seat, call 325-672-2907 or 1-800-272-3900.

USDA will host an office day June 8 for the City of Haskell

USDA Rural Development representatives will hold a Rural Development Office Day for the City of Haskell Tues., June 8 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. to present program information and applications to the public. The office day will be held at the Haskell City Hall, 301 S. First St. Information will be provided about USDA Rural Development Housing, Community and business and Cooperative loan and grant programs.

USDA Rural Development works to ensure rural citizens can participate fully in the global economy through technical assistance and programs that help rural Americans build strong economies to improve their quality of life. Rural Development loans and grants assist rural communities meet their basic needs by building water and wastewater systems, financing decent, affordable housing, supporting electric power and rural businesses, including cooperatives and supporting community development with information and technical assistance including broadband initiatives. USDA Rural Development representatives will be available during the office day to answer questions and assist individuals with applications in all program areas.

USDA Rural Development Housing Programs offer loans and grants to families with very low to moderate income levels in towns and cities meeting certain population requirements. Loans are primarily used to help income eligible individuals or households purchase homes in rural areas. Funds can be used to build, repair and renovate a home, or to purchase and prepare sites with water and sewage facilities. For very low income families who own homes in need of repair, the Home Repair Loan and Grant Program offers funding for renovations. Funding has previously been requested to repair a leaking roof, make a home wheelchair accessible, repair damaged or faulty wiring and to install a waste disposal system.

USDA Rural Development Community Programs enhance the equality of life for rural Texans by providing funds to governmental entities, nonprofit organizations and Indian Tribes for essential community facilities and services. Funds may be used for a variety of community projects. Previous funds have been used to enlarge, improve or construct schools, libraries, farmers markets, medical clinics, assisted living center, public buildings, community centers or fund new and improved water and wastewater facilities. Funds are also available to purchase public safety equipment such as ambulances, firefighting equipment and other required emergency service gear.

Entrepreneurship plays a vital role in the economic stability of rural Texas. With USDA Rural Development Business and Cooperative Programs, rural businesses can gain access to funds that are normally not available to them. USDA Rural Development Business and Cooperative Programs provide the needed capital to expand economic opportunities and development in rural areas throughout Texas by working with banks and community lenders. The Rural Energy for America Program offers grants and guaranteed loans to help agricultural producers and rural small businesses purchase and install renewable energy systems and make energy efficient improvements.

Those interested in learning more about these or any of these programs are invited to come by and visit.

Hudgens honored at Texas State

Texas State University senior and Haskell native, Caleb Hudgens, was awarded one of five Student Foundation awards for the leadership qualities he has demonstrated as a student at Texas State.

Student Foundation, the organization through which he earned the award, is a collection of student leaders from many different campus organizations that coordinate programs and represent the student body at university events. The organization draws leaders such as the Student Body President, the Texas State University System Student Regent, the Intra-Fraternity Council, and executive officers from many other student organizations.

Hudgens, who graduated Salutatorian from Haskell High School in 2006, is the son of Jerry Don and Donita. He graduated Summa Cum Laude from Texas this May with a double major in Public Relations and English. Beyond his academic accolades, Hudgens' resume contains numerous roles in campus organizations such as Student Foundation, the University Honors Program, Paws Preview, Kappa Tau Alpha Honors Fraternity, The Texas State Student Alumni Association, three main stage Texas State productions, the College of Fine Arts and Communication Council of Scholars, the College of Liberal Arts Council of Scholars, and the LBJ Debate Society.

Within Student Foundation, Hudgens has led much of the special event planning with the programs Foundations of Excellence and Bobcat Pause, and has been recognized as "Committee Chair of the Year," for the past two years.

"I am honored to be selected for this award from an organization full of distinguished students. It is very rewarding to have earned this scholarship as a thank you for my hard work and dedication to Student Foundation and Texas State," he said.

He is just the kind of super star the award was developed to serve. The Student Foundation awards, as well as five other awards programs, are supported by the Stelos Alliance (www.stelos.org), a non-profit organization with the mission of helping extraordinary young leaders reach their potential.

Texas State University is in San Marcos.

This Week's Devotional Message:

You never graduate from the school of faith

The completion of your education, whether high school or college, brings you literally to the threshold of life. You have now been given all the skills you will need to go out into the 'real' world and face whatever problems and challenges will be thrown in your way. In the same manner, your religious education will prepare you to come to grips with life; only there is no 'graduation' from this school. Faith must be continually studied, renewed and practiced, and your education never stops; but the rewards are the confidence and peace of mind which enable you to face any situation that may arise. This knowledge is available to you at the church of your choice every Sunday.

CEMETERY UNDERTAKING—Lots of work has been done at Willow Cemetery in Haskell over the past months. The latest has been the repair of more than 30 tombstones that were broken or had fallen over. Gayla Nanny, right, the driving force behind the project, along with Joe Camacho, caretaker, are shown going over the cemetery map. Recent mowing and weedeating have made the cemetery appearance very pretty.

AQHA to pick top horse during WHPD rodeo

by Caron Yates
 The Wild Horse Prairie Days event, which is celebrating its fifteenth year, was one of the first ranch rodeos sanctioned by the WRCA.
 The Working Ranch Cowboys Association is committed to preserving the heritage and lifestyle of the Working Ranch Cowboy.
 The competing ranches are working for points to qualify for the World Championship Ranch Rodeo, which will be held in Nov. in Amarillo.
 It is worth noting that the Bradley J3/Veale ranch, which participated last year at Haskell and will again be a part of this year's rodeo, won second in the 2009 World Finals. In fact WHPD competitors have, for the past three years placed six teams each year in the World Finals. This is a testament to the level of competition at the WHPD rodeo.

 It is hard to separate cowboys and their horses. This year there is an added incentive for the teams. In each of the sanctioned ranch rodeos, the American Quarter Horse Association, or AQHA, will be presenting an award to the top quarter horse of the rodeo. To be eligible the horse must be registered with the AQHA.

A $250 cash award will go to the rider of the top quarter horse, and a bronze statue will be awarded to the owner of that horse. With the possibility of as many as one hundred horses competing, being named the top horse by the AQHA is quite prestigious.
 As in years past, rodeo judges will be also be assessing the cowboys and their horses for the Top Hand and Top Horse awards.
 It will be a weekend of excitement and thrills as Haskell welcomes people from all over to the Wild Horse Prairie Days.

Wild Horse Knob ride set Friday

by Caron Yates
 The Wild Horse Knob trail ride, which was added to the list of WHPD events five years ago, will take place on Fri., June 4, beginning at 10 a.m.
 According to John Rike, Wild Horse Knob is the highest point in elevation on Wild Horse Prairie. Indians, cavalry scouts, settlers and trail bosses used Wild Horse Knob as a look-out or as help in pinpointing landmarks as they made their way west and northwest.

 The twelve mile trail ride will begin at Wild Horse Knob and will conclude as participants join the afternoon parade. A sack lunch will be provided. A goody bag, as well as door prizes will be given to riders.

 There is no charge for the trail ride, however interested riders should contact Susan Cockerell at 864-2851 for application and information.
