Stenholm FUNDay attracts Congressmen

Congressman Charlie Stenholm recently announced that two United States Congressmen will be visiting the 17th District in early September. Vic Fazio and John Murtha will both attend the upcoming FUNDay, which will be held September 9 at the Ericksdahl picnic grounds near Stamford. Stenholm also announced that State Representative Rob Junell of San Angelo will serve as Master of Ceremonies for the festivities.

Congressman Vic Fazio, who chairs the House Democratic Caucus, represents Northern California's large 3rd Congressional District, which includes the agriculturally rich Sacramento Legislative and the Energy and Water Development subcommittees. He also serves as the Ranking Democrat on the House Oversight Committee.

Congressman John Murtha, former Chairman and now Ranking Democrat of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on National Security, represents the 12th Congressional District of Pennsylvania. Murtha has played a key role in rebuilding the nation's armed forces by working to ensure that the men and women in uniform are the world's best trained and best equipped. This has enabled them to have access to weapons that have the technological superiority to multiply the power of U.S. forces.

State Representative Rob Junell, who will serve as Master of Ceremonies for the festivities, serves the 72nd District, which includes San Angelo. He chairs the House Appropriations Committee and played a pivotal role during the recent session of the Texas Legislature. Calling him "a star in the House," Texas Monthly magazine recently named Junell one of the ten best legislators.

For more information about FUNDay, contact the Stenholm campaign office at 1-800-391-0704.

Robert Lee to receive Extended Local Calling

GTE Telephone Operations will extend local calling for all customers in the Robert Lee telephone service area, beginning September 23, 1995. Under the plan, all calls to and from the communities listed will be billed as local calls: Robert Lee to and from San Angelo.

"Prior to the start of Extended Local Calling, each call between these areas was billed separately as a long-distance call, and customers would see a long-distance charge per call on their monthly bills," said Durwood Wilkinson, area manager-customer operations for GTE's West Central district. "Now, these calls are equivalent to local calls," explained Wilkinson.

This action is a result of balloting which took place in the Robert Lee telephone service area under the rules of Senate Bill 632 and the Public Utility Commission Rule 23.49 (c). Under those guidelines, certain communities were allowed to petition for extended toll-free local calling to nearby communities.

Customers are not required to take any action to take advantage of the new service offering. Once extended calling is operational, it will no longer be necessary for customers to dial "1+" before the number when placing calls between these communities.

A per-line increase in the total monthly bill for residential customers and business customers will be assessed to customers in Robert Lee for the added service. The charges will be listed as "Expanded Local Calling" in the tax portion of the telephone bill. More information will be provided to affected customers in their monthly telephone bill as the service becomes operational.

Residential customers with questions about the ELC service should call toll-free 1-800-483-4400, and business customers should call 1-800-483-5400.

GTE Telephone Operations is the largest U.S.-based local telephone company, providing voice, data and video products and services through more than 22 million access lines in portions of the United States, Canada, South America, the Caribbean and the South Pacific. Based in Irving, Texas, the company had total revenues of $15.7 billion in 1994. Its parent organization, GTE Corporation, is the fourth-largest publicly owned telecommunications company in the world.

Hatley

Bob Ell Hatley, 66, of Goltry, Oklahoma, died Monday, September 4, in Enid Regional Hospital at Enid, Oklahoma, following a brief illness.

Bob was the son of Ell and Zola Hatley and was born Easter Sunday, March 31, 1929, at their home in the Wildcat Community near Robert Lee. His early school years were in the elementary school at Wildcat, and he later attended Robert Lee High School, where he graduated in 1947.

Bob attended a barber college in Lubbock where he was licensed. He was employed by J. O. Rainey Barber Shop in Bronte for a time and later opened his own shops at Silver and Robert Lee.

In 1954, Bob was employed by Union Texas Petroleum Co. at the Perkins Plant at Silver, later transferring to Oklahoma and recently retiring after over 30 years of service.

In 1944, Bob suffered a severe leg injury in an accident at school. He was confined to St. John's Hospital in San Angelo from January to June that year. While being treated, he made many friends among the doctors and nursing staff as well as other patients. He was the first civilian in West Texas to receive treatment by penicillin, then a newly developed "wonder drug," which to that time had been used mostly by the armed forces. A special plane flight was made to bring the drug from New York to San Angelo.

Surviving Bob are his mother, Zola Hatley, of Robert Lee; three sons, Bobbie Hatley, Jr., of Goltry, OK; Billy Hatley, of Enid, OK; and Tommy Hatley, of Conroe, TX; one daughter, Kim Frady, of Atlanta, GA.; also seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

He was preceded in death by his father, Ell Hatley, who died in 1975, and by one son, Steve Hatley, in 1992.

Funeral arrangements were by Kenny Lanman Funeral Home in Helena, Oklahoma. Services were held at Community Bible Church in Goltry, Oklahoma, at 10:30 am Thursday, September 7, with a graveside service and burial at Robert Lee Cemetery at 10:30 am Friday, September

8, with Tommy Williams, minister of Northside Church of Christ, officiating.

Serving as pallbearers were Robert Reese, Willis Wayne Smith, Winton Milliff, Bill Allen, Billy Wayne Roe, and Edwin G. (Butch) Davis. Memorials may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Driggers hold annual cook-out

The third Annual Labor Day Backyard Cook-out at John and Judy Driggers, 118 Key St., was a fun time enjoyed by thirty-one happy friends from within the community of Bronte. Everyone pooled their resources and talents to produce some delicious barbecued burgers, brisket, beans and potato salad, along with watermelon, cake and homemade ice cream. Everyone agreed this event should take place every month, if not every week, but John and Judy suggested just looking forward to it again next year!

Labor Day filled with food, fun, song & dance

A holiday air prevailed at the Labor Day Extravaganza for the last celebration of summer. Held at the county park in Robert Lee, the shade offered relief from the heat and provided a good area for the festival activities. Thirty booths were spread under the trees and in the cool Rec Hall, including great food offerings. A good number enjoyed the games of beach volleyball, washers, horseshoes, and a basketball shootout.

Some "home grown" talent was enjoyed when Macy Hill, Brandi Brosh, and Amber Brosh sang for the gathering. Warming the crowd up for fall were both groups of cheerleaders. Leading a few cheers was the high school squad - Holly Copeland, head, Heather Millican, Miranda Wojtek, Kannan Millican, and Tracy Millican. The junior high cheerleaders, Jamie Luna, head, Macy Hill, Melanie Johnson, Tiffany Copeland, and Jennifer Hamilton were also on hand.

The booths highlighted everything from stuffed figures, wreaths, jewelry, hair decor, and Christmas items to make-up products, satellites, and emu sausage and oil.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Not long ago, we had a prison crammed down our throats that does not put a dime in the county coffers. Now, we are about to get into another situation that could prove to be a financial disaster for our county.

Our commissioners are planning to buy paving equipment for Coke County. We ain't ready for this yet.

We do not have enough personnel to operate a paving crew. We do not have personnel who are trained for this type operation. And we do not have the money to experiment with at this time.

There are paved roads throughout the county where the shoulders have eroded and the traffic is chipping the edges off the pavement. We have the equipment to repair this, but it is not being done. Why? Do we need to pave more roads when we cannot (or will not) take care of what we already have?

I'm not sure if we have any roads in the county that are in shape to be paved at this time. It could take a couple of years to get some of them ready. Why buy equipment now and let it sit idle for that long and cost us money?

I'm sure it will not be considered, but I have a suggestion. Instead of buying all this equipment now and let it sit idle, why not try something like this?

Patch the paved roads we now have. Then buy (or lease) a distributor truck and shoot the pavements with an emulsion sealer. NOT asphalt. This would not even require a roller, and we don't have a roller big enough to pave or seal coat roads anyway. This will usually hold a road for a couple of years and would give us some time to get better prepared to do our own seal coating and paving. I would like for us to eventually be able to do our own paving and seal coating - but we are just not ready now.

In the meantime, send some of the county employees to observe (and possibly participate in) some paving and seal coating that other counties might be doing. I think it would be money well spent. Some training is needed before you try something like this.

At this time, the county has no usable water truck on the west side of the county. How can you prepare a road for paving when you cannot wet and roll the base material? We need to crawl before we walk. It's also wise to walk awhile before you try to run. The unit road system would have helped a lot on a deal such as this. I make no apologies to anyone for feeling as I do about the unit road system.

If any of you feel as I do on this, contact your elected officials and let them know your feelings. They might ignore us, as they have in the past, and cram this down our throats too. But at least we will have tried.

Obtaining your concealed weapon license

As of August 15, 1995, the Texas Department of Public Safety has begun accepting request cards for applications for concealed handgun licenses. The cards are denoted with CR-80 in the bottom left hand corner. These cards are being made available to the public through DPS certified instructors, ranges, gun shops and other industry related locations. The Department of Public Safety is allowing reproduction of these cards by individuals as long as they are the same size and contain the same information.

People who want handgun licenses (CHL) are required to fill out one of these cards, apply postage, and mail it to the Department. Once the DPS receives the card, they will enter the information from the card into their computer; from the basic information they are supplied with, they will run a criminal history check. The DPS will then mail the individual a packet of information about the CHL. The information they receive from the Department will contain the application, fingerprint cards, several affidavits to complete and return to the DPS, along with proof that they have completed a handgun safety course taught by a DPS certified handgun instructor. Certification courses for concealed handgun licenses cannot begin until September 1, 1995.

Once all of the application materials are completed and returned to the Department, the DPS will begin their background investigations required by the Act. The DPS has 90 days in which to review the application materials and issue a license. The Department intends to commence licensing of law abiding, qualified citizens, by January 1, 1996. January 1 is the first day that a licensed individual may carry his/her handgun in public.

Answers to any questions you might have can be obtained by calling the Department of Public Safety Concealed Handgun Unit at (512) 706-7293 or 706-7294.

RL cyclist rides like a pro

Randy Bessent of Robert Lee has competed for several years in bicycle races and is considered a seasoned veteran racer. He participated in the recent well-known Hotter N' Hell Bicycle Race in Wichita Falls. Although several categories divide the races on different days, the featured Saturday race was 102 miles.

A cannon start lined out the huge number of racers ac-ording to their division placing.

Randy finished second in his division, only six minutes behind the pros, who travel extensively and have sponsors for support. The pro ranks are in line for huge prizes, he said.

According to the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, the series of races generates income for the city into the millions. As many as 113,000 have been in the city during the time period.

The Robert Lee Steers Varsity squad will open the season at home tonight (Friday) against the Miles Bulldogs at 8:00 pm. The Bulldogs suffered through a disappointing season last year, but with new coach Danny Wilhelm on board, they have regained their enthusiasm and are looking forward to a stronger start. With good quickness in the backfield, the Bulldogs are returning 7 defensive and 7 offensive starters.

Coming off a 10-1 1994 season, the Steers feel they are ready for a run at it. Although the squad returns only 5 offensive and 4 defensive starters, Coach Ed Poehls thinks he can fill the gaps. A record number (47) turned out for the program.

Alexander named USC coach

Robert Alexander has been named an assistant men's basketball coach at the University of California, athletic director Mike Garrett announced last week.

Alexander, 27, comes to USC fresh off a two-year stint as head coach at Ontario High School, California, where he led his team to a 21-7 record and the school's first league championship in 17 years. Previous to that, Alexander spent two years as a graduate assistant at Texas Christian University, where he earned a Master's Degree in Sports Psychology in 1993.

Robert Alexander is the son of Roger and Della Alexander who now live in Robert Lee. Roger is the administrator of the West Coke County Nursing Home and Della is a computer consultant.

Food could be source for cheap vaccines

Inexpensive vaccines to prevent diseases that now infect millions around the world could come from foods we eat every day, researchers say.

Scientists at Texas A&M University's Institute of Biosciences and Technology (IBT) in Houston and the Roswell Park Cancer Institute in Buffalo, N.Y., say proteins extracted from genetically engineered plants, such as potatoes, have the same ability to induce immune responses as the current, more expensive commercial vaccine.

"This is the first real evidence that proteins produced in transgenic plants have all the essential features needed to trigger the immune system," says molecular biologist Dr. Charles J. Arntzen.

RL celebrates with Marie Hester

Marie Hester of Robert Lee celebrated her 80th birthday Sunday at the home of her daughter, Sondra Hester. Cake and punch were served to friends and family. Those attending were: Mindy and Danya Wright of Gardendale; Matt Wilson and Jennifer Lantz, Michael Wilson and Jeannine Fisher, Joyce Tucker, and Eva & Cale Farris, all of San Angelo; Don Hester, LeeAnn, Zack, and Mike, of Abilene; Dee, Guy, Dusty, and Brandi Morgan of Denver City; Mary Wilson, Carlton & Maxine Fields, and Joan Davis, of Robert Lee. Joan and Maxine are Marie's nieces.

Earlier, most of the group gathered at Jim & Mary Wilson's home for bar-b-cue brisket, chicken, and sausage with all the "fixins." Mary's brother and family, Bud, Sandy, and Justin also were guests for the meal.

One unusual feature was a birthday greeting card from President and Mrs. Clinton to Marie.

A&M increases medical class

Texas A&M University's College of Medicine is gearing up to graduate more physicians who will practice medicine in so-called primary care specialties, a long-standing need in Texas.

University officials say enrollment in the College of Medicine's incoming class will be increased from the current 48 students to 64, beginning this year. The increased class size will raise the medical school's enrollment from the current 192 students to 256 over four years.

The Texas Legislature appropriated an additional $1 million a year during its just-completed session to pay for the increased class size.

"We're doing this in response to the needs of the state," says Dr. Elvin E. Smith, Texas A&M's interim vice president for health affairs and dean of the College of Medicine. "Increasing our class size is a virtual guarantee of increasing production of primary care physicians."

Bush Presidential Library closer to reality

The George Bush Presidential Library Center on the Texas A&M University campus moved another step closer to reality with the awarding of a $47.3 million contract to Manhattan Construction Co. of Houston.

The board of directors of the George Bush Presidential Library Foundation authorized The Texas A&M University System regents to act on its behalf in the awarding of the construction contract and overseeing the project.

The total library project is expected to cost $82.6 million, including construction, furnishings, landscaping, archival documentation, site surveying and other related areas.

Texas A&M will be responsible for $42 million of the total cost while the Bush Library Foundation will pay for the remaining $40.6 million. Texas A&M's share of the funding will pay for academic facilities located on the library site.

The Bush Presidential Library and Museum, expected to open in 1997, will be built using donated funds. In addition, private funds will be raised to establish a maintenance endowment.

Here's how to do the first "fifth quarter" of this high school football season:

Immediately after the game with Cross Plains at our stadium, come to the Bronte Church of Christ annex (just north of the school building) where the folks will have refreshments ready for you to eat, drink, and to enjoy one another's company.

Lucketts meet in Bronte

The Lockett gang gathered at the Box L Ranch last Thursday for a big hamburger cook-out, along with peach cobbler and a freezer of homemade ice cream. The occasion was to celebrate Joy's 73rd birthday. She is the oldest of the gang.

Those present were: Joy and A. J. McDaniel from San Angelo; Betty McDaniel from Abilene; Helen Murtishaw, Dewey Lockett, and Bill & Diane Lockett from Bronte; and Jim & Lois Dunklin from Robert Lee.

Children and smart snacking

Many parents ask, "My children ask for snacks between meals. Is snacking OK?"

Children CAN benefit from eating snacks. Growing children with tiny appetites may not be able to fulfill their energy needs with only three meals a day. In addition, snacks can provide what may be missing from their regular meals. Teenagers also are well known for their snack attacks and for good reason. They have high energy and nutrient needs to support their growing bodies. Carefully chosen snacks can help fuel their growth.

Remember, though, that while snacking can help a healthful diet, it also can become a liability, depending on the types and quantities of food eaten. Mindless nibbling, for example, can lead to trouble in the form of unwanted calories. Traditional snacks -- such as chips, chocolate and cookies -- can add a fat burden to the diet.

To make the most of children's snack attacks, plan ahead so the best foods are at hand when the kids need it. Keep the fridge stocked with read-to-go snack fixings. Low-fat yogurt, low fat cheese, deli meats such as turkey ham, and washed and ready-to-eat fruits and vegetables make healthy snacking easy. Instead of corn or potato chips, line the cupboard shelves with whole-grain crackers, raisins and air-popped popcorn. If the kids have a sweet-tooth, low-fat puddings, fig bars, frozen nonfat yogurt, vanilla wafers, animal crackers, frozen juice bars and graham crackers are good items to keep handy.

Finally, beware of some snack traps that sound nutritious but often are not much better than a candy bar or potato chips. Granola bars, for example, are often loaded with hidden sugar and fat. Fruit drinks, fruit rolls and fruit chews have little fruit or fruit juices and usually are high in sugar. Trail mix, nuts and seeds are high in fat. Finally, beware of some types of microwave popcorn which can be very high in fat; look for low-fat or no-fat-added products.

Ag conference to address crop protection

New techniques and technology which fine tune the precision use of crop protection materials, consideration of environmental challenges and an update on legislation affecting agriculture are the focus for the 43rd annual West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Conference in Lubbock Sept. 13-14.

Space-age equipment and the latest scientifically proven methods for the proper use of crop protection materials will be highlighted during the two-day educational conference at the Lubbock Plaza Holiday Inn, South Loop 289. Registration begins Wednesday, Sept. 13, at 8:00 am.

Some 400 producers, chemical dealers and agribusiness representatives are expected to attend. Participants can receive up to 10 continuing education units (CEUs) required by the Texas Agricultural Code for certification of commercial and non-commercial pesticide applicators.

The conference is sponsored by the West Texas Agricultural Chemicals Institute (WTACI). It is an organization of scientists, ed-

A special session at 9:00 am the first day will provide participants two CEUs. Proper use of spray systems and new equipment will be presented by Kelly Waltz of TeeJet Spray Products, Dallas. Chemigation, the use of sprinkler irrigation systems to apply fertilizers and pesticides to crops, will be covered by two irrigation engineers with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Leon New of Amarillo and Dr. Rose Mary Seymour of Lubbock.

LOOK WHO'S NEW

Conner John Mills

John and Judy Driggers are the excited grandparents of a new grandson, Conner John Mills, of Odessa, Texas. Their daughter, Jorita, and husband, Lantz, are the proud parents. Conner John was born June 13, 1995 and makes the third grandchild for John and Judy. On Sunday, August 20, Judy was given a shower by the ladies of Bronte Church of Christ, with Jorita and Conner present, and a gift of enough money was given for Conner a new stroller.

Beware of "second-impact" syndrome

Football players who suffer a head injury are at risk for "second-impact syndrome". "An initial concussion during any contact sport can lead to significant problems later if followed by a second concussion," said Dr. Albert C. Hergenroeder, an expert on adolescent sports medicine at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

The danger lies in athletes who return to the sport too soon after the original head injury. Another blow to the head can produce an extremely high level of blood flow to the brain. Subsequent rapid swelling of the brain can cause death.

Because second-impact syndrome is rare, Hergenroeder said trainers, coaches, and physicians need to be warned of the problem and its potential consequences.

"The physician and coach may decide to keep a player out of a couple of games until the player has fully recovered from the first blow," Hergenroeder said.

Kristi Jones was named Employee of the Month for August at Bronte Nursing Home. She has worked as a C.N.A. for three years.

Texas A&M statisticians help in ozone debate

Statisticians at Texas A&M University bring a rational voice to the heated debate about environmental pollution.

Two recent Department of Statistics studies focus on ozone in metropolitan areas. Both received high praise from their sponsor, the Texas Natural Resources Conservation Commission.

In one, principal investigators Drs. Raymond J. Carroll, H. Joseph Newton and Clifford H. Spiegelman measured ozone exposure of young children in Houston. The second, a pair of studies conducted by Spiegelman and a colleague at the University of Southern California, Ron Henry, determined sources of ozone in El Paso and Houston.

"Every four for the last 14 years, monitors at 11 sites in Harris County have recorded the amount of ozone in the air," Newton says. "We took that information and used sophisticated statistical models to draw maps on ozone levels at any time during that period."

Their conclusions? From 1980 until 1990 the level of ozone dropped about 20 to 25 percent. They also plotted a population movement during the period showing that people had left the city center. Thus children were exposed to about 25 percent less ozone, partly because of lower levels and partly because the children were moved from the areas of heaviest concentration.

Millicans celebrate 50th anniversary

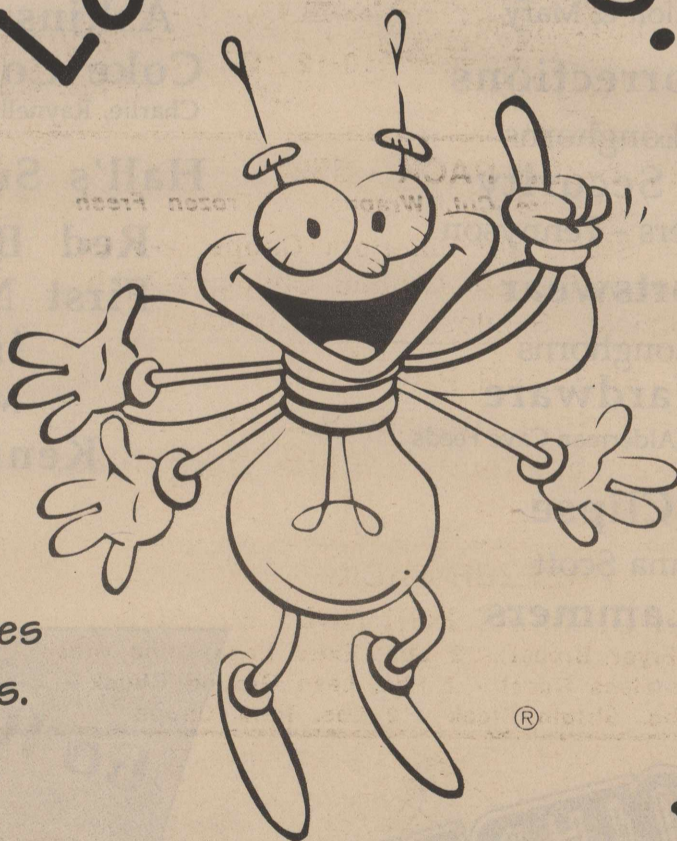

Dalton and Gladys Millican will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary on September 15, 1995. A reception will be held in their honor on September 16, 1995, from 2:30 until 4:30 pm at the Robert Lee Recreation Center.

Dalton was serving in the Air Force when they met. He was stationed in Del Rio, Texas, where they married in 1945. Dalton was a native of Silver, but worked for many years as an electrician in Midland before retiring in 1981 and moving back to Silver to farm and ranch.

Gladys is president of the West Coke County Nursing Home Auxiliary and volunteers much of her time working in the gift shop and helping others.

The soul of the city is the cemetery

A surefire way to get to know a city is to visit its cemetery. The importance of graveyards, if you're curious, is that it is the soul of the city; past, present, and maybe the future, you'll find them subtly present in the cemeteries. The dead - and the way we treat the dead - speak, but only to the patient and attentive ear. The caring visitor to cemeteries will find beauty of landscape and vegetation, profound pride - and profound neglect - and through it all history, history, and more history. And stories, wonderful stories of the famous and not-so-famous citizens who resided there.

In 1983 and 1984, Bonita Copeland and Wanda Smith worked together on the Coke County History book and saw the need of gathering and recording information that would be priceless in Coke County cemeteries. They started the laborious task of documenting and cataloging 22 cemeteries and researching a short history on each cemetery. They met many interesting people working on family burial plots and were told memorable tales that took away the pains of heat or cold while out cataloging. Then in 1990, their long-awaited book, Coke County Cemeteries, Epitaphs and Dates, was printed. A short year later, a second printing was ordered, and just recently the third printing was received. This book has been invaluable to family historians and genealogists. They have sent copies to people all across the country and to numerous libraries. And the women are quick to add that many graves are already lost, even from the time they started cataloging, due to improper and deteriorating headstones.

Go exploring cemeteries. You know who has the best hills in Coke County? The people buried in Sanco Cemetery. Among true hills and an astounding variety of trees, you'll find this community's oldest families buried there. Get in your car and drive 15 miles southwest on Highway 2034 and visit Divide Cemetery. You will feel on top of the world. And a challenge of finding Cedar Hill Cemetery among the cedar breaks is rewarding after seeing the beautiful old headstones and elaborately-decorated leaf-design fence enclosures. Or detour 4 miles off Highway 158, between Robert Lee and Bronte, and visit one of the oldest and most historic cemeteries in Coke County. Hayrick Cemetery and the Historical Marker adds significant facts and picturesque links to our past, especially after attending our latest production of the Coke County Pageant. Fort Chadbourne, Ross, and the well-kept Mule Creek Cemeteries have an attraction in scenery and old, old headstones.

The gravestones of yesteryear have a touch of warmth about them. By the time you finish reading the epitaph, you feel you know something about the person located below. Alas, modern gravestones lack character. They list a lot of vital statistics and nothing more. Many a story page of local history has been rescued from oblivion by epitaphs. W. H. Brown is buried in the old Maverick Cemetery, 1.8 miles from Maverick, Texas. His gravestone reads, "Born in Georgia, with his parents came to Texas 1857. He and a brother, John, were Texas Rangers. W. H. "Billy" Brown serving June to December 1874. Billy Brown was the last man killed by Indians in Runnels County, in a fight to regain stolen horses."

War veterans' epitaphs have the traditional army rating, but many have added information. John Thomas Gainer, who is buried in Bronte Cemetery, has a gravestone that reads, "Miss PVT COG 10 Regt Miss Cav Confederate States Army, Veteran of Civil War under Gen. Robert E. Lee."

In the Robert Lee Cemetery, 1891-92, Coke County Judge H. L. Adams's wife, Mary C. Adams, is buried under a gravestone which reads, "Wife of H. L. Adams. Daughter of Andrew Weston, a confederate soldier who gave his life for Southern Independdence. She has gone to join him and comrades."

Then there are simple, straightforward epitaphs that catch your attention: "Gone to be an Angel," "Death is certain, the hour unseen," "She done all she could do," "Somebody's darling," and many more. And the verse often found on gravestones originated in the 14th century. It reads: "Remember friend, as you pass by, as you are now so once was I. As I am now soon you will be. Prepare for death and follow me." This verse can be found in our cemeteries.

At the turn of the century, families would take a picnic lunch and spend Sunday at a cemetery. The children would play while the grownups cleaned up the family plot. In modern times, families take their children, pets, and snacks and seek out old cemeteries for Sunday outings. Some may think it morbid, but gravestones can tell stories, and little children love history.

Words on paper can only hint at the sense of wonder a visit to the cemetery imparts. Read, then go see and feel for yourself.

Collegiate license plates are great gift ideas

How about a gift idea that will show your pride in your alma mater or favorite college? It will also be a source of pride for the recipient, a tax deduction for you and help provide scholarships for needy students.

What could be that good? Answer: a collegiate license plate offered by the Motor Vehicle Division of the Texas Department of Transportation in cooperation with the 33 participating colleges and universities throughout the state.

The cost is $30 above the normal license plate fee. Of that total, $25 goes to the scholarship fund benefiting students at the designated college or university and is considered tax-deductible as a charitable contribution.

Texas A&M University currently accounts for about half of the 11,618 collegiate license plates issued by the state of Texas.

Other participating colleges and universities include the University of Texas at Austin, Texas Tech, University of Houston, Baylor, Southern Methodist University, Texas Christian University, Rice, UT-Arlington, UT-El Paso, UT-San Antonio, University of North Texas, Prairie View A&M, Texas Southern, Midwestern, Southwest Texas State, University of Mary Hardin-Baylor, University of St. Thomas, East Texas State, Stephen F. Austin, Houston Baptist, Abilene Christian, Incarnate Word, Tarleton State, West Texas A&M, Texas A&M-Corpus Christi, Sam Houston State, Howard Payne, Austin College and Southwestern University.

According to a recent survey, 46 percent of high school seniors do not know how to do simple math. That's one out of three.

Tyler District TxDOT employee retires

James R. (Bobby) Evans has announced he will retire as district engineer for the Texas Department of Transportation effective August 31, 1995. He has been a TxDOT employee for 40 years.

Evans has been district engineer for the Tyler District since 1982 and before that served one year as district engineer in the former Del Rio District. He began his career with TxDOT in the Brownfield area and transferred to San Angelo in 1958, where he became assistant maintenance engineer and district maintenance engineer.

During his tenure in Tyler, Evans helped establish Adopt-A-Highway, a program in which civic and community groups help keep highways free of litter. The program has expanded throughout the nation.

He is president-elect of Tyler's Downtown Rotary Club and is a past chairman of Texas Alliance for Minority Engineers. He was inducted into the Texas Tech Civil Engineering Academy in 1994, has been recognized by national publications, and was honored with the Phoenix Award by the Society of American Travel Writers.

Estrogen used to hinder disease

Doses of estrogen could make a widely used treatment for coronary artery disease more effective, medical researchers say.

Scientists at Texas A&M University's Health Science Center in College Station say new research suggests that estrogen may help reduce the number of patients - men or women - whose arteries become blocked again almost immediately after balloon angioplasty procedures.

Cardiologists perform balloon angioplasties about 350,000 times a year to open arteries blocked by coronary artery disease. The procedure involves threading a thin tube, or catheter, along the artery and inflating a tiny "balloon," which compresses the blockage to allow blood to flow freely.

In about one patient out of three, however, the artery becomes blocked again, often within a week or two of the procedure. The new blockage, known as restenosis, happens when damage from the angioplasty procedure upsets the biochemical balance between two different kinds of cells in the artery walls.
