Francis hooks big fish on Lake Spence

Ten year old Preston Francis caught a whopper on Lake Spence during the Permian Bass Club-Kiwanis Club tournament held on June 8. The two organizations co-sponsor the tournament every year on Lake Spence. There are three age categories that the participants can compete in, to make the tournament fair for all who enter. But, that wasn't a real problem for Preston, who won in the twelve and under category. He reeled in three fish-the largest was a twenty-eight pound striper. He beat the second place total weight by almost thirty pounds!

Preston was fishing with his brother, Justin Francis of Robert Lee, and Josh Brown of Odessa, Texas. Preston is a former resident of Robert Lee, and now lives in Midland.

The older boys (Josh and Justin) were fishing with artificial baits for black bass, as deemed by the category they were fishing in. Preston was using cut shad when he landed his twenty eight pound monster. This is the second year the boys have fished this tourney with Josh's dad Terry Brown, a member of the Kiwanis Club.

Preston's fish is the largest striper ever weighed in during a tournament on Lake Spence. Oh yeah, his Dad is having it mounted!

Commissioners urge fireworks safety

Coke County Commissioners urge residents to take into consideration the drought conditions we have experienced and use extreme caution while popping fireworks this July 4th.

Conditions are still very conducive to fire, and commissioners are asking that caution and common sense be used by everyone to avoid the threat of wildfires this year.

Have a safe and happy 4th!

FSA loan apps. available

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses caused by drought, which occurred from 6/15/96 through 2/20/96 and continuing are being accepted at the Farm Service Agency (FSA) office located in Sweetwater, Texas.

Coke County is one of 7 contiguous counties in Texas recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from disaster.

Farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses or the operating loans needed to continue in business or $500,000.00, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest is 3.75 percent.

As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30 percent loss of production to be eligible for an FSA emergency loan. Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Crop Insurance program will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

Applications for loans under the emergency designation will be accepted until 1/8/97 but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing.

FSA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U.S. citizens and to farming partnerships, corporations or cooperatives in which U.S. citizens hold a majority interest.

The FSA office in Sweetwater is open from 7:30 to 5:00 Monday through Friday.

CRMWD Fishing Report

Overall fishing conditions on Lake O.H. Ivie have remained mostly good. Early morning, late evening, and night fishing were the best times to be out during the past week.

Many 12" to 15" black bass were found feeding on surface water, where anglers did well using topwater lures. Larger black bass stayed in water 10 to 30 feet deep, and went for plastic worms, spiders, and crank baits. Points, flats, ridges, and the main lake seemed to be choice spots to fish. Smallmouth bass weren't hitting as well. Fishing along the rocky areas, plastic worms and slabs proved good; however, in deeper waters around the main lake, points, and ridges, crank baits were best. Anglers caught white bass mostly while trolling around points and the main lake while baiting their lines with small spinners, slabs, and crank baits.

On trotlines, yellow catfish continued to be caught mostly in the main lake vicinity on live baits. The channel and blue catfish were hitting trotlines as well as rod and reels that were cast over baited holes. Most catfish were landed in water less than 20' deep, and many came from the main lake.

Crappie fishing has definitely slowed; however, some were reeled in at night along the ridges, points, and brushy areas out of water between 20 and 30 feet deep on minnows. No reports were turned in on walleyes.

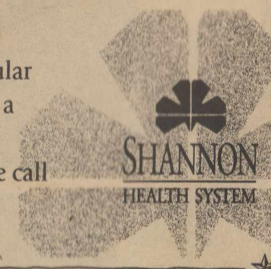

Ivie Reservoir's elevation for June 10, 1996, was 1546.15 feet, the surface temperature was 76.3 degrees F., bottom temperature was 62.9 degrees F.; the upper-end of the lake looked murky while the main body was clear.

Several large stringers of striped bass were weighed in at Lake E.V. Spence's Wildcat Fish-A-Rama. Anglers around the state and New Mexico experienced some pretty good fishing. Kristi and Mark Shannon from Carlsbad, New Mexico, landed five strippers whose combined weight was 65 pounds. Coy Palmer and Gene Spencer from Amarillo also had a stringer that totaled 65 pounds. Most strippers were caught on cut shad or shiners. The largest striper was reeled in by Robert Lee's Josh Brown and Preston Francis; theirs was a 28-pounder. White bass and catfish were also caught at Spence during the past week.

What does an inch of rain mean?

An inch of rain means about $91 million in market value for corn, wheat, grain, sorghum and cotton grown on 15 southern Panhandle and northern South Plains counties, says Carmon McCain, information/education director for the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District.

Mr. and Mrs. Russ Horn

Using a multiplier effect, the overall economic impact of one inch of rain translates to $318 million for the region.

Those dollar amounts resulted from data collected by the water district and Dr. Leon New, agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, who looked at the average crop production per acre-inch of irrigation water, McCain said.

An inch of rainfall equals 27,154 gallons (a layer of water one inch deep over one acre), or acre inch of water, he says.

With each inch, the value of corn increases by $26.50 per acre, an increase of 700 pounds, or about 12 bushels.

That inch of rain generates an extra 10 bushels of wheat, or $25 per acre. Grain sorghum production increases by $16.87 or 500 pounds. And cotton yield goes up by 100 pounds, or $37.50.

Data was gathered from Armstrong, Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Deaf Smith, Floyd, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Parmer, Potter and Randall counties.

Family Ties
by Vicky McCutchen

Family is probably one of the most precious and valuable gifts of all times. Family doesn't just appear. It takes time through the years of building through fellowship, laughter, sharing old stories and past times, and looking to the future with hope and faith. Family is truly love, and without it, there is no closeness.

The family of Eula and the late L.F. McCutchen have never had a problem keeping that closeness over the years. Why? Mainly because they make family events a top priority and it's a tradition that will go on for many years to come. A recent family get together occurred at the home of Marlon and Joann McCutchen near Midkiff at a Western Gas camp for a weekend of fun. A spacious recreation hall was located across the street from their home and was fully utilized by all of the family as they enjoyed delicious food, exciting card games, and competitive golf matches on a nice 6-hole course located just behind the recreation hall, which the company built their facility around 20 years ago. Golf carts were loaned by Marlon's friends at the camp for the entire three days.

Those enjoying the fun and fellowship were Eula McCutchen of Bronte; Marlon and Joann McCutchen of Midkiff and their son Tommy, wife Cathy and children Lauren and Brandon of Little Rock, Arkansas; Bette, Jerry and Johnathon McCutchen of Abilene; Keith, Vicky, Brooke and Britney McCutchen of Bronte; Harold and Gina McCutchen of Bronte; Larry and Rita Abbott of San Angelo; Tobin, Tonya, Tina and Tim Abbott of San Angelo; Amy, Eddie, Marlayna and Jay Moore of San Angelo; and a special guest in addition to a member of the family, Reverend Ronald Blackmon. Visitors from the camp were Valerie and Kallin Braswell.

The McCutchen family will head to Ruidoso, New Mexico for another family outing next week.

SBA disaster loans available

Businesses depending on farmers and ranchers in some Texas counties can now apply for low interest Economic Injury Disaster Loans from the US Small Business Administration (SBA). These loans are available to help businesses meet normal operating expenses that cannot be met due to the effects of a disaster. Drought, hail and high winds which occurred during the period of June 1, 1994 through February 20, 1996 and continuing caused many farmers and ranchers to experience reduced incomes which may have had an adverse effect on businesses depending upon these producers. Farmers and ranchers are not eligible for this loan program but may be eligible for disaster assistance through other Federal agencies. However, nurseries that are victims of drought disasters can apply.

Graduation night in Bronte brought back fond memories for Lee Sonnenberg (r), class of '91, when his brother Lynn, class of '96, walked across the stage exactly five years behind him.

Lee graduated from Bronte High on May 24, 1991, and Lynn graduated on May 24, 1996. Their father, Bruce, is a 1968 graduate of Bronte High School.

Businesses in the following counties affected by drought which occurred June 15, 1995 through February 20, 1996 and continuing have until January 8, 1997 to apply: Borden, Coke, Fisher, Howard, Mitchell, Nolan, Scurry, and Sterling.

To obtain an application or receive additional information, interested business owners may call the SBA toll-free at 1-800-366-6303 or TDD 817-267-4688 for the hearing impaired.

Due to the drought, hail and high winds, many producers experienced crop losses and were not able to purchase goods and services at normal levels. Businesses that are dependent upon these producers may have experienced decreased sales, reduced gross profit margins, increased accounts receivable or difficulty in moving inventories at normal levels. To the extent these problems have caused the business difficulty in meeting its normal obligations, these loans may be of assistance. The loan can help a business meet installments on long-term debt, accounts payable and overhead expenses that would have been met had the disaster not occurred. Refinancing of long-term debt, however, is not eligible under this program.

The loan is designed for those businesses with substantial disaster-related needs and is intended to supplement monies the business owner can provide from other sources.

Loans may be approved for up to $1,500,000 for actual disaster-related financial needs of the business. Interest rates are four percent (4%) and terms may extend to thirty (30) years, depending upon the repayment ability of the individual applicant. To qualify, businesses must be small by SBA's size standard. Businesses which can meet their financial needs through other sources are not eligible.

Francis named All-American Scholar

The United States Achievement Academy announced that Justin Francis has been named an All-American Scholar.

The USAA has established the All-American Scholar Award Program to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. The All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3, or higher, grade point average. This is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students.

Justin was nominated for the award by several of his teachers, and his school counselor, Melba Mauldin, of Robert Lee High School. The Academy selects All-American Scholars upon the exclusive recommendation by teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director. Once awarded, Justin becomes eligible for college scholarships, and may be recognized by the USAA for other honors.

Justin will be a sophomore at Robert Lee High School. He is the son of Tom Francis of Robert Lee and Elane Burns of Midland, Texas.

* Fold fresh apricot and peach chunks into chicken or turkey salad. Or go for the exotic -- try sliced papaya and mango with assorted greens and fruit-flavored dressing.

* Use a light touch when preparing mayonnaise-based salads. Reduce the amount called for, or substitute half the mayonnaise with a low-fat variety and half with nonfat plain yogurt.

* Go beyond ordinary bread and tuck sandwich fillings into crisp French loaves, whole-grain pita bread, tortillas or sourdough rolls. Or slice whole-grain rounds of bread horizontally, line with sandwich ingredients and cut into wedges.

* Use Focaccia (Italian flat bread) to make an interesting sandwich base. Layer with thin strips of lowfat cheese and garden-fresh tomato slices. Sprinkle with basil and oregano, then drizzle with balsamic or red vinegar and a little olive oil.

Enjoy jazzing up summer picnics!

Picnic food safety

Eating contaminated food at a Fourth of July picnic can cause your stomach to produce some fireworks of its own.

According to Dr. James Davis, associate professor of pathology at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, hot summer weather can provide ideal incubation conditions for bacteria that cause food poisoning.

"Most food contamination originates from bacteria such as staphylococcus, salmonella, and shigella," Davis said. "Given the right combination of time, temperature and moisture, these organisms can multiply to a level sufficient to produce a food-borne toxemia or infection."

Susceptible items are dishes prepared before a picnic, such as potato and chicken salads and pre-cooked meats. Davis recommends keeping such foods refrigerated as long as possible before leaving for the picnic, and then transporting them in a cooler packed with ice. The longer they sit in warm conditions, the more time the bacteria have to multiply enough to become an "infective dose". Perishable foods should not remain unrefrigerated for more than two hours.

Davis cautions that when handling uncooked meat, wash your hands, cooking utensils and other surfaces the meat has touched to avoid cross-contamination. Without proper precautions against food poisoning, you and the people you feed may experience diarrhea, vomiting and stomach cramps within eight to 48 hours after eating food-borne bacteria. These symptoms can last from a few hours to a couple of days.

"A healthy body will rid itself of most cases of food poisoning, but it takes time for the bacteria to work their way through the body," Davis said. Drinking plenty of fluids and taking an over-the-counter medication for diarrhea can help minimize the discomfort.

If you develop a fever and your symptoms last more than three or four days, Davis recommends calling your physician. Children, elderly adults, and people with compromised immune systems should consult a physician if symptoms last more than 24 hours.

Kiwifruits are still edible—even when their skin is shriveled.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,
It has been brought to my attention that at least one individual and possibly more has been using the cemetery for a driving range. This practice has resulted in damage to several tombstones. In addition, a near injury to at least one person who was mowing and struck a golf ball, which ricocheted off of a tombstone and narrowly missed hitting him in the face.

Most of the living have respect for the departed and would never engage in any activity which would disturb their resting place. Those who do not possess such respect should strive to develop it.

Make water-wise changes at home

Because of current drought conditions, many communities have implemented lawn-watering restrictions. However, Texans can do a lot more than easing up on the sprinklers to conserve water. By following a few more simple steps around the home, a family of four can save up to 100,000 gallons of water annually and $100 to $200 every year on the water bill.

"There are certain measures we recommend Texans take to conserve water not just during drought conditions but year-round," said Stacy Dukes-Rhone, water conservation program manager at the Texas Natural Resource Conservation (TNRCC). "Most of these steps require little time and money to implement and all can lead to significant savings on the water bill."

TNRCC's CLEAN TEXAS 2000 program has developed the following list of the top 10 ways Texans can save water at home:

1. The single most effective conservation step that can be taken inside the home is to install low-flow showerheads. They use 30 to 70 percent less water while still providing invigorating showers.

2. Toilet water use can be cut by up to 70 percent by installing low-flow or air assisted commodes. If you can't replace your toilet, place a half-gallon plastic jug of water or a toilet dam in your tank. This can cut toilet water use by 20 percent.

3. Install low-flow faucet aerators on the bathroom and kitchen sinks. These use about half as much water.

4. Sing shorter songs in the shower. Your shower shouldn't last longer than five minutes. Sing all you want when you take a bath - just be sure to fill the tub half-way. Turn the faucet off while brushing your teeth or shaving.

5. When washing your car, use a cut-off nozzle instead of running the hose continuously.

6. About 8 percent of home water use takes place in the kitchen. Instead of running water, rinse dishes in a basin and soak pots and pans before scrubbing. Compost your fruit and vegetable scraps to avoid running the garbage disposal. Be sure your dishwasher is full before you run it. Next time you buy a dishwasher, consider the water-saving models which can cut water use by 25 percent.

7. Laundry accounts for about 14 percent of home water usage. Adjust the water level on your washing machine to match the size of your load. If you can't set the level on your machine, be sure to wash only full loads. Consider buying a water-saving model, which reduces water use by up to 30 percent.

8. Avoid having to run the water until it's hot. Insulate your water heater and hot water pipes.

9. Repair all plumbing leaks immediately. A dripping faucet can waste up to 2 gallons of water per hour. Check your toilet by dropping a small amount of food coloring into the tank. If colored water appears in the bowl after 10 minutes, you've got a leak that needs repairing.

10. If your community has not implemented mandatory outdoor watering restrictions, voluntarily cut back on lawn watering to no more than once every five days with no more than one inch of water at a time. To avoid evaporation, water before 10 am or after 8 pm. If it rains more than an inch, wait five days to water.
