Scheduled Trial Of Preacher Is Continued

Continuance has been granted in the trial of Robert L. Dodson, Knox City preacher, scheduled here Thursday, Jan. 15 in 39th District Court.

The continuance was on a motion by State prosecutor Royce Adkins, 39th District Attorney, due to the inability of officers to locate a material witness for service of a subpoena.

In the motion asking a continuance, the State prosecutor stated that officers had been unable to locate the witness, a 13-year-old girl. A subpoena sent to Tarrant County, where the girl's mother is living could not be served because the girl is not living with her mother and is out of the state, the state prosecutor stated in the motion.

Dodson was charged with a morals offense in an indictment returned in December by a Haskell County grand jury. He is at liberty under $10,000 bond pending trial.

The motion for continuance was the first filed by the State prosecutor since 1953, court officials stated.

Pay Your Poll Tax

Another week will tell the story as to who will have the privilege and responsibility of selecting the people who will have an important part in running our city and schools.

January 31 is the last day on which you can pay your poll tax and qualify as a voter in all elections that may be held this year. Persons over 60 are not required to pay the poll tax in order to be eligible to vote.

Because 1939 is an "off" year politically this does not mean that no important elections will be held.

First regular election of the year will be for school trustee, with the city election following when members of the City Council will be named.

Both are important elections in which every citizen should have a stake, because the officials elected will have a responsible role in administering city and school affairs for the next two years.

Also likely this year are special elections which could affect every citizen and taxpayer in Haskell—water district elections, city or school bond issues, etc.

If and when any special election is called, only those who have paid their poll tax or are otherwise qualified will be eligible to vote.

Don't let Jan. 31 slip by without paying your poll tax and thereby qualifying as a full-fledged citizen of your town, county and school district.

Best Voice For The Merchant

Reports indicate that holiday sales ran three to four per cent over the preceding year.

But this experience was not universal. New York City sales of department and specialty stores lagged in the pre-Christmas weeks. And the reason was the strike which shut down all the metropolitan newspapers.

Merchants tried to make up for this loss of advertising media by issuing broadsides and intensifying radio and TV announcements. That helped—but it couldn't take up the slack. According to a spokesman for a leading store, when people lack the suggestions made in newspaper advertising, "They're slower to make choices. If you have a special gift item on hand, you've got to tell people about it or they don't know it's there."

In any community, big or little, the local newspaper is still the best advertising voice for the merchant has.

Safeguards On Public Records And Access To Them Needed

(The Houston Chronicle)

Two bills that will come before the 56th Legislature, both concerning public records, should be enacted into law.

One is an act amending the penal code to make unlawful the taking of any public record from its lawful depository or from the possession of public officials.

Present law makes it a felony for anyone to willfully and maliciously change, alter, mutilate, destroy or injure public records. This bill would make it a felony punishable by a three to seven-year penitentiary term to take and carry away any public record. It also would make it possible to prosecute the offense in an adjoining county or in Travis County, a provision which would permit impartial investigation and prosecution in instances where such would not be possible in the county where the offense is committed.

The other bill concerning public records adds teeth to the statutes providing open inspection of them by citizens. Present law provides that records, except for certain stipulated classes, shall be open to examination by any citizen but fails in most instances to prescribe a penalty for official refusal of such inspection.

This bill makes officials refusing to permit open inspection of records guilty of misdemeanor punishable by fine of $100 to $500 and makes them guilty of official misconduct for which they can be removed from office.

State and local enforcement agencies over the state have received hundreds of complaints of citizens being denied access to public records. The most flagrant instances of the kind, of course, in recent years were in Duval County where reporters from Corpus Christi and Alice papers were literally thrown out of offices when seeking to examine records.

Public records must not be tampered with. They also must be "public", except, of course, for those that are prohibited by law from being open to inspection by the general public. Both of these laws are needed.

Speck Sorenson, a farmer in the Matison community recently lost several head of milk cows from poisoning. The animals ate a small quantity of bran which had been mixed with poison to make grasshopper bait last summer. The mixture had been stored in a can in the barn, and in some way it was overturned, spilling the contents where the cows could get it.

The final report included the recommendation to the Commissioners Court that clean beds and covers be obtained for prisoners in jail, and that the jail be fumigated.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Duncan went to Spur Tuesday to visit a relative there who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Grissom of Abilene were here Tuesday looking after business interests and visiting friends.

The office of City Tax Collector Marvin H. Post has been moved from the former location upstairs over Payne Drug Company, to the new City Hall. This is a great convenience to the public, since all city offices are now located in the City Hall.

Isbell-Burton Motor Company of this city has announced that they have secured the agency for Whippet and Willys-Knight automobiles. They now have one of the new Superior Whippets on display in their showrooms.

Miss Maggie Taylor of Alpine spent several days here this week visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. W. F. Weaver, postmaster at Vontress, was in town Monday shopping. Mrs. Weaver has been living in Haskell County many years and has had charge of the Vontress post office since it has been in operation. She also runs a store in connection with the post office, and has enjoyed good patronage from people in that section.

50 Years Ago—Jan. 23, 1909

Wedding bells rang in our city Jan. 13 when G. W. Thomson and Miss Mary Elizabeth Herren were married. The bride is the popular and accomplished daughter of Mr. R. W. Herren Sr., of Haskell.

60 Years Ago—Jan. 28, 1899

L. W. Roberts and family moved out to their ranch this week for a two months stay.

Some of Mrs. McCollum's private pupils will give a recital on the evening of Friday, February 3.

Haskell was visited by a blizzard and snowstorm Monday. It held on but one day, but was tough while it lasted. The rest of the week was bright and agreeable until Thursday evening, when another norther swept in and it began snowing again about noon the next day.

As yet no one has said yes nor nay to the proposition advanced by The Free Press recently looking to the raising of the public school tax in the Haskell district from 15 cents to 20 cents on the $100 valuation. This is a vital question and if taken up promptly there is time for discussion and a vote on it in time for the increase to be made effective for the next term of school.

Graham, in Young County, now has an opportunity of securing two railroad s at an early date. Capt. B. B. Paddock of Fort Worth, who has been in London for some time in the interest of the proposed Fort Worth and Northwestern Railway, cables that the deal for the Young County coal lands, on which options had been secured, has been closed with English capitalists and that the money for the lands will be paid over just as soon as it gets here. He states further that work on the Northwestern will be resumed at once.

PEOPLE, PLACES AND THINGS

By A. FATE

Some of the students in High School were wondering recently about the names stamped in some sections of the old sidewalks around the school grounds, wondering when and why the names were placed there.

Doubtless many Haskell people could supply the explanation, but to many more in the younger generations the origin and meaning of the sidewalk lettering is a complete mystery.

Files of The Free Press reveal that the sidewalks were built in 1929, partly as a community project. School board funds were inadequate to build all the walks needed, and the idea of limited public subscriptions was advanced.

Sponsors decided, however, that the project would be limited to "old timers" and entirely on a voluntarily basis. Cost of each block of sidewalk, a four by four foot square, was $2.50. To each person giving that sum, a block of the walk was dedicated with the donor's name being imprinted in the concrete.

Names of the first 20 pioneers helping underwrite the project were listed in The Free Press as follows:

J. U. Fields, H. R. Jones, B. Cox, Mrs. E. Cox, R. W. Herren Sr., C. K. Jones, R. E. Debard, F. G. Alexander, Mrs. F. G. Alexander, P. D. Sanders, W. P. Whitman, G. R. Couch, Mrs. G. R. Couch, T. E. Ballard, M. A. Clifton, Minnie Ellis, J. L. Baldwin, H. S. Post,

M. S. Shook, Mrs. M. S. Shook.

Community projects of that nature were fairly common years ago, and resulted in numerous improvements and beautification programs that are still in evidence today in the beautiful shade trees on some of our residential streets.

Similar projects if supported, could be used to advantage around our Elementary School and Rice Springs Park. Although there is an abundance of trees at the Park, plantings of several dozen pecan trees would be a valuable and attractive asset.

An example of what a little work and care can accomplish with an unattractive plot of ground, has been demonstrated by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Parks a few blocks west of the square.

They have transformed a plot of ground along Spring Branch, once overgrown with weeds and undergrowth and one-time site of an old gravel pit, into an attractive grass-covered beauty spot. A number of pecan trees planted a few years ago are now bearing and yield several hundred pounds of nuts annually.

Speaking of pioneers, the late C. K. (Bean) Jones, early-day cowman who in his later years served as Justice of the Peace, enjoyed being called

"The Law West of Paint Creek."

He was a storehouse of early-day incidents and got a big kick out of relating them.

One of his favorite yarns was about a young Swede who came over from Sweden in the 90's to work on Swenson Ranch. Founder of the vast ranch was a native of Sweden and he provided jobs for many of his countrymen who wanted to come to America and Texas.

Revels in those days were "camp meetings," held mostly in the spring and summer, and were attended by everybody within buggy distance or horseback riding range.

At one of these meetings the preacher was bringing some powerfully strong sermons, enthralling to his hearers to fever pitch.

During the invitation period, an ardent revival worker approached the young man fresh from Sweden.

"Isn't it wonderful, doesn't it makes you feel good? Won't you join tonight and work for the Lord?" he implored the Swede.

"Ay, yess, Ay bane feel very good, but Ay have yob working. Ay work for Swenson," the young Swede answered.

Big industrial centers have their worries with Hoffa, gangsters and the criminal element in general, while small "country towns" are relatively free from the acts of hoodlums.

Now, Haskell may be getting into the act. One night last week three local "toughs" decided to take over things to their own liking. The trio reportedly stopped a car near Weiner occupied by several teen-age boys, boxed the boys around a little, shook them down, then told the youngsters they were "running" things around here to suit ourselves.

When reported to officers, the lawmen took a dim view of would-be dictators plans for taking over, and any future activities of the trio will prove extremely costly.

From time to time comment has been made concerning the large number of Haskell High School graduates who have attained outstanding recognition in the fields of religion, law, science, education, engineering, business, and many other activities.

Talking along this line the other day with John Crawford, he advanced the theory that part of the credit for developing so many outstanding leaders in various fields of endeavor was due to Haskell's water!

"Drinking this gyp water by these youngsters while they were growing up sparked them with ambition and ability to achieve greatness in their chosen fields," Crawford declared.

Although John and the column have differed 100 per cent on methods proposed for remedying Haskell's water situation, we'll go with him on his theory concerning so many brilliant HHS graduates, at least until a better explanation is offered. It figures that anyone achieving greatness must have strong will power and a stronger constitution.

No one will dispute the fact that it takes strong will power to drink Haskell water and a stronger constitution to survive it.

Hale-Aiken Report Speakers Topic At P-TA Meeting

The Elementary Parent-Teacher Association met Wednesday, Jan. 14, in the cafeteria of the Elementary School. Robert R. King, school superintendent, highlighted the afternoon program with an interesting talk on the Hale-Aiken committee report.

After considerable study of school problems, this report was compiled by 50,000 people, representing all of the 254 Texas counties, in order to make certain recommendations for Texas public schools.

Some of these affecting our local schools were brought out by Mr. King, such as proposals to extend the school year to nine and one-half months, with a ten month option with each local school; to provide special teachers for gifted or academically talented students; to provide more Driver Education teachers; to allow the Texas Education Agency to set standards for promotion and graduation; to make school attendance compulsory for all students until their graduation; to increase all teacher's salaries with a $3800 base or minimum pay for a nine and one-half month term.

A report of the State Convention held at El Paso was given by the president, Mrs. Roy Wiseman, in the absence of Mrs. R. W. Herren, who was the attending delegate at the convention.

Mrs. Ollis Macon's pupils won the room count by having the most mothers present at the meeting.

The Third grade mothers were hostesses for the afternoon.

Center Point HD Club Meets With Mrs. Clyde Bland

Mrs. Clyde Bland was hostess for an all day meeting of the Center Point Home Demonstration Club in her home Thursday, Jan. 15.

At the noon hour a delicious lunch was served, each club member bringing a covered dish.

The business meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. Tony Patterson. Minutes of the previous meeting were read, then a song by the group, led by Mrs. Bill Wiseman.

Miss Barbara McAnelly gave an interesting demonstration on "Fabric A-B-C's." She stressed the importance of knowing your fabrics by reading the labels before buying. In laundering, if the material is drip-dry, lift gently from each water, never wringing as this only sets the wrinkles in the fabrics, she explained.

Miss McAnelly compared the new fabric finishings as well as the man-made fabrics. She also stressed the care of garments. The fiber content, weave and the dyes and finish used determine the method required for all fabrics.

In conclusion, she said "Carefully read manufacturer's tags and labels and seek specific facts about fabric care from sale clerks to determine the proper method, hand of machine washing or dry cleaning that should be used for each fabric."

In addition to Miss McAnelly those attending were Mesdames Virginia Flournoy, Julia Gibson, Frances Bird, Salie Patterson, Helen Wiseman, Emma Bland, Zada Smith, Lorene Fouts, Tilda Marugg, and visitors Mesdames W. E. Johnson, Claude Bland, and the hostess, Mrs. Claudia MacBland.

Next meeting of the club will be Feb. 5.

Although the aborigines of America generally are referred to as red Indians or members of the red race, the term is erroneous. Skin of the typical Indian is brown rather than red and very few adults are of the proverbial copper color.

Her gown of ivory pure silk peau de soie featured a closely sculptured bodice designed with long pointed sleeves and a wide V-shaped neckline outlined in re-embroidered Alencon lace. Medallions of deep ivory re-embroidered lace accented the panier in front of her skirt and extended to the back and into a full chapel-length train.

Her fingertip-length veil of ivory French silk illusion was attached to a chignon crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white butterfly roses and stephanotis.

Farm Bureau Sets Membership Goal, Names Committees For Year's Work

A membership quota of 810 for the Haskell County Farm Bureau in 1958 was adopted at a meeting of the executive board of the organization held Monday, Jan. 19, Farm Bureau president H. W. Smith announced.

Members of the board attending the meeting were A. R. Eaton, C. G. Hammer, T. A. Grogan, Pat O'Keefe, Alton Jones, E. A. Schaake.

Smith, presiding for the session, explained that C. H. Herren and Thurman Rice, vice president, were in Austin this week attending the state president's fourth annual conference of Texas Farm Bureau.

Smith also urged as many Farm Bureau members as possible to be at the local office at 8 a. m. Monday, Jan. 26 when the group will leave for an all-day meeting to be held in Wichita Falls.

A policy executive meeting will be held during the all-day session, when state Farm Bureau officials from Waco will have charge of the meeting. Loys Barbour, Dist. III director, will preside at the district meeting immediately following the state program. Every Farm Bureau member who can go with the group is invited.

At Monday's meeting, committees for the County Farm Bureau were set up for 1958. Membership committees for the towns and communities in the county were named as follows:

JERRY KING SHOWS RESERVE CHAMPION

Dale Robertson To Be Featured At Fat Stock Show

Fort Worth (Sp.)—Dale Robertson, who will appear at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, has been called "TV's real cowboy" by Life Magazine.

The National Publication printed a three-page story on the actor in its recent issue about the U. S. entertainment business.

Robertson will be featured in all rodeo performances at the Fort Worth Stock Show Jan. 30 through Feb. 8.

In its article on Robertson, Life commented that many TV and movie cowboys got their start through their looks, not their horsemanship.

"One outstanding exception is Dale Robertson, the star of NBC's 'Tales of Wells Fargo,' who really likes riding horses more than acting in TV—except of course for the money," the magazine reported.

Haskell Man At Marine Air Base In California

Smart looking? You bet! And comfortable, too!

Sure, styling is important in a new car. You expect a new car to be sleek and smart—but not at the expense of comfort. ### Potatoes, Peas On February Plentiful List

Potatoes and canned peas take the spotlight among foods on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's plentiful foods list for February.

Also expected to be plentiful in the Southwest are apples, celery, cabbage, pork, milk and dairy products, eggs, turkey, peanuts and peanut products, walnuts, honey and sardines.

Both of the featured items are repeats from January. Potato crop estimates by the end of December were higher than previously set. The fall crop reached 180,897,000 cwt. — 29 million more than average.

A big pack of canned peas plus a large carryover, made a total supply of 45 million cases. Quality is the best in many years.

Apples and walnuts also are repeat items. Pock prices already have dropped considerably. And as more of the huge fall pig crop is marketed in February, March and April, homemakers will find it to their advantage to serve pork often.

Milk production is picking up seasonally, and egg producers have a huge laying flock that should provide abundant eggs. Supplies of all sizes of turkey are expected to be plentiful, but particularly the smaller consumer sizes. California sardines are abundant after several years of short supply.

Large acreages of winter celery and cabbage indicate substantial supplies of these items. Honey stocks were replenished generously by last year's good crop.

Deer Hunting Season Best In Recent Years

Final shot has been fired in the 1954 deer season, with one of the best years in the history of legal hunting, according to the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

The season on white-tailed deer closed at sundown Wednesday, Dec. 31. Hunters can still take quail, until Jan. 15, and ducks and geese until Jan. 14, according to the director.

The director also asked that persons killing banded birds deliver the birds to their game wardens for checking purposes.

The "harvest moon" is the full moon occurring nearest to the annual equinox September 23.

Livestock Runs Lighter Monday At All Markets

BY TED GOULDY

Fort Worth—Major markets across the nation started off with curtailed receipts this week. In a few spots winter storms curtailed movement, but the principal reason seemed to be farmer's resistance to the lower prices that followed last week's deluge of livestock.

At Fort Worth cattle and calves got off to a fully steady start in most cases, with the exception of fat cows and bulls, with the fat cows 50 cents to $1 lower and bulls 25 to 50 cents off.

Calves were steady, fed steers and yearlings were strong and stocker cattle and calves reflected unabated demand at strong prices.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings cashed at $25 to $27, some around 1,000 pound steers at $27 and a few light yearlings reaching $28. Plain and medium butcher cattle sold from $17 to $25.

Fat cows cleared at $18 to $20, odd head to $21 and canners and cutters drew $12 to $15.50. Bulls drew $18 to $23.50.

Good and choice slaughter calves sold from $25 to $29, and medium and plain butchers sold from $22 to $25, with cull and common sorts at $16 to $22.

Medium and good stocker steer calves cleared at $25 to $32.50, a few higher. Stocker steer yearlings cashed at $29 downward.

Hogs were steady at Fort Worth Monday but sows were weak again. Choice meat type hogs of preferred weights were again very scarce, and a few of these topped at $18. Other good and choice hogs sold at $17 to $17.50. About half of the butcher hogs in the run were heavies scaling upwards of 235 pounds and these ranged largely in the $16 to $17 bracket.

Sows were in liberal supply and ranged from $13 to $15 with weights of 450 pounds and higher mostly from $13.50 downward.

In and Out The Tee-Pees

BY SUZANNE LANE

While catching up on some of my reading in magazines I ran across this very clever article and I'd like to share it with you. This article, is from the Changing Times Magazine. How to be a brain. An academic "whiz," says Leonard Jeffrey, counseling psychologist at Rutgers, is someone "who does 10% brain work and 90% hard work." Here's how to be one:

First, know what you're after in college and in each course. Fuzziness reduces motivation, which is the key to success.

Stay alive in class by taking notes and by maintaining a critical attitude.

Use the "SQ3R" system to study a text: survey the reading first; then question it; then read for answers to your question; recite important points to yourself; and finally, review it all.

Study by schedule. Get started with a bang. Study about two hours, then take a ten minute break. Have a set time for exercise or amusement so that you won't feel you're missing something when studying.

I hope these helpful smoke signals are going to help you become a "heap big brain." I also hope this will help you pass your finals. See you in seven moons.

Singing Will Be Held Sunday At Stamford Church

New Bulletin Tells Uses Of Prickly Pear

Pricklypear—good or bad? This is a question in the minds of many ranchmen who often ask if pricklypear should be controlled or kept as an emergency feed reserve.

For over a century pricklypear has been used for livestock feed. On Texas rangelands it usually is considered an undesirable plant but does have some economic value as supplemental forage for cattle and sheep during winter and drought periods.

Frequently, ranchmen burn pricklypear for a supplemental roughage for cattle during the winter. Burning consists of singeing pricklypear spines with a hot flame from butane or oil bar burners. Pear burners are constructed and operate much like a blowtorch. The spines should be burned enough that they cannot be felt when the pad is touched. If pricklypear is burned excessively livestock refuse to eat it, but they eat it readily when burned properly.

Chemical analysis of green pricklypear parts usually consumed by animals follows: crude protein, 1.4 to 4.4 per cent; digestible protein, 0.5 per cent; fat, 1.55 per cent; potash, 3.04 per cent; phosphoric acid, 0.33 per cent; crude fiber, 8.85 per cent; calcium, 2.84 to 13.85 per cent; nitrogen-free extract, 57.85 per cent; and water, up to 85 per cent. From this analysis it would be classed as a fair roughage.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service has published a bulletin entitled "Pricklypear—Good or Bad?" The bulletin contains discussions of pricklypear's forage value and its advantages and disadvantages as a range plant. It also has sections devoted to control measures and what management follows control.

This publication, B-06, is available free of charge from local county agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Stocker Calves On Pasture Need Supplement

The high prices which have been paid for stocker cattle makes high winter gains a must, say U. D. Thompson and John H. Jones, extension animal husbandmen. They advise stockmen that the earlier cold weather has not only delayed the development of small grain, rescue, rye and Texas winter grasses but has also dehydrated these plants. Thus, their grazing value has been reduced.

High winter gains are needed, points out the specialists, to help reduce the original cost of the animals and also to insure favorable returns at market time. Too, they say that younger cattle are efficient users of concentrate feeds.

The use of up to six pounds of concentrate feed per head daily as a supplement to hay or pasture will produce sure the needed available, the only ground sorghum ground ear corn.

Park Warrants

The county has $18,000 in Park Warrants outstanding, of an original issue of $26,000 issued in 1954 and 1955.

Road machinery warrants outstanding in the total amount of $49,567.92 are divided among the following precincts:

Road and Bridge No. 2, $13,000.

Road and Bridge No. 3, $23,184.00.

Road and Bridge No. 4, $13,383.92.

Broiler Prices Could Be Lower In 1959

Broiler prices probably will be lower in 1959 than 1958 because of the expected larger output in 1959, predicts Marshall Miller, extension poultry marketing specialist.

He says recent placements of broiler chicks and egg settings, which will contribute to the 1959 production, have been above last year and the large number of layers in, or growing for, breeder flocks suggest large placements for some time to come.

Texas' commercial hatcheries produced 8,514,000 broiler chicks in October, accounting for 86 per cent of all chicks hatched, according to the Texas Crop Reporting Service. This was a 22 per cent increase over September and 12 per cent above the year before.

Texas broiler production in 1957 was 106,000,000. Estimated production in 1958 is 121,000,000.

Broiler-type chicks produced in the U. S. during October totaled 131,894,000 accounting for 89 per cent of all chicks. This compares with 119,701,000 in October, 1957. Production January through October of this year was up 14 per cent from the first ten months of 1957.

Miller thinks broiler production will continue large in future years. Today few broiler producers are dependent on the relationship between broiler prices and feed prices for their returns from the enterprise. They usually receive a guaranteed return per bird or per pound. Some times an additional payment is made for efficiency in feed conversion. Under these and other present-day arrangements growers risk little out-of-pocket cash.
