Pageant group sets Bronte meeting for Oct. 18, 7:00 pm

The Coke County Pageant Association is making plans for the next production of the Rabbit Twister tales of the history of Coke County. The group met on Thursday, October 4, 2001, at Robert Lee City Hall. Beth Prather met with the group to share ideas concerning volunteerism and sources of funding available for through grants. In order to make full use of the time available, the group will meet twice monthly for the next several months. These meetings will be approximately 30 minutes long and will alternate between Bronte and Robert Lee as a convenience to all interested in helping with the production.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday, October 18, at 7:00 pm at Bronte City Hall. An invitation is extended to all Coke County residents to join this group. The pageant is a fun way to make new friends, have a good time, and learn about Coke County history all at the same time. Whether you have been in the pageant in past productions, or just would like to see what it is all about, make a special effort to mark your calendar for Thursday, October 18, at 7:00 pm and join the group. It will be a very short meeting and will not take much of your time. Hope to see you there!

For more information, contact Pageant Association President Roger Alexander at 453-2511, or Board Member Bruce Sonnenberg at 473-4441.

WCCCD sets Hunter Barbecue meeting

The West Coke County Community Development will meet Monday, October 15, 5:00 pm, in the Commissioners' Courtroom at the courthouse in Robert Lee. The Hunter's Barbecue discussion. This is a very important meeting for all interested members and citizens to attend.

Desserts needed for Bronte Barbecue

The annual Hunter's Wild Game Barbecue in Bronte will be held this year on Saturday, Nov. 3, from 11:00 am until 2:00 pm. Coordinator Kerry Hall would like to make an appeal to area cooks to provide a dessert for the benefit barbecue. If you would like to donate a dessert, please contact Kerry Hall at 473-2065.

Judy Fort (left), with the Texas Department of Agriculture, presented the two programs concerning the Economic Development Sales Tax proposal set for special election voting in Robert Lee on November 6. Residents will be deciding whether or not to implement either or both of 1/2 percent sales tax proposals. Approximately twenty Robert Lee residents attended the two meetings on Tuesday, October 9. Shown in attendance at the 4:00 meeting were school officials Lindsey and Janet Wallace, Weldon Koepf, and county commissioner Paul Burns.

The approximately 150 year old Fountain House at Fort Chadbourne was looking like new on the outside September 22, 2001, as Mr. and Mrs. Garland Richards proudly presided over a fund-raising event and partial grand opening of the pet project on the Chadbourne Ranch near Bronte. Around 300 supporters enjoyed prime rib and fixins catered by The Shed, followed by a benefit auction and the presentation of a short historical playlet about the Fort. Dancing under the stars to the music of Jody Nix rounded out the evening.

Dessert chefs needed for Street Affair

Everything is in place for the Dessert Cook-Off scheduled for Saturday, October 20th, to be held during the Street Affair. The judges have been secured, the space has been set-up, and all systems are go. There is only one tiny, insignificant detail to be settled. WE NEED DESSERTS! At the present time there have been very few entries in the contest. So come on folks, let's get cookin'!

Anyone who has lived in this area for any length of time at all knows there are some spectacular cooks around these parts. Just go to any church dinner, or (dare I say it), funeral, and you will probably wrap your lips around some really good food. And the desserts are outstanding. So we all know the talent is here. Now is not the time to be shy or modest about your cooking ability. Get out there and show it off!

Make that favorite cake, pie, cookie, candy or other recipe and give these poor, starving judges something to sink their teeth into. Call Pat Taft at 453-2302 or 453-2433 to enter your specialty. Who knows, you could possibly be the next Mrs. Fields.

Hunter Barbecue tickets available

Tickets are now available for the 13th Annual Hunters Barbecue, set for Saturday, November 3, at the Rec Hall in Robert Lee. Area landowners and hunting lease managers may make a donation and pick up barbecue tickets for their hunters at the following locations in Robert Lee: C&H Auto and Hardware, Key Feed Store, and Super H Grocery.

This year's tickets are printed on both sides. Hunters who will be attending this year's barbecue are requested to fill out the back side of the ticket with their name, address, and whose ranch they are hunting on.

According to Hunter Barbecue chairman Gaylon Pitcock, "we are a little late getting the tickets out for this year's barbecue, and we are asking landowners to get their donations in and pick up their tickets as soon as possible."

Hunting & Fishing Guide set for publication

The 2001 Coke County Hunting & Fishing Guide is slated to be published in the October 28th edition of the Observer/Enterprise. The deadline for editorial copy is Friday, October 21.

Every effort will be made to contact advertisers prior to this deadline. However, if we miss you, please do not hesitate to call our office at 453-2433.

Program on Reversing Desertification on Rangelands

Years of drought have decimated much of West Texas rendering a near desert-like state in many pastures. To help ranchers counter this alarming trend, a number of private, state, and federal entities will present "Reversing Desertification on Rangelands" at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center near San Angelo. The October 24-25 program purpose is to promote management practices that enhance water and soil conservation and return health and productivity to West Texas rangelands and pastures.

The sponsors are: Texas Cooperative Extension, Holistic Resource Management of Texas, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board, Upper Colorado River Authority, and the United States Department of Agriculture-Office of Risk Management.

Both days' activities will start with an 8-8:30 am registration period at the Center, located just northwest of San Angelo on U.S. Highway 87. The first day will be devoted to formal presentations at the Center and the second day will involve a bus tour of area ranches.

Day-one speakers and topics include: "State Brush Control Programs," James Moore, assistant executive director, State Soil and Water Conservation Board, Temple; "Grass Die-Off," Homer Sanchez, Natural Resources Conservation Service, Temple, and "Effect of Grazing Management and Brush Control on Rangeland Hydrology - Results from the Sonora Station," Dr. Charles "Butch" Taylor, Sonora Experiment Station superintendent.

Following a 10:00 am break, the morning program resumes with "Ripping-a Tool for Reversing Desertification on Rangelands," Dr. Darrell Ueckert, Experiment Station range researcher, San Angelo; "Maintenance Herbicide Treatments," Dr. Allan McGinty, Extension range specialist, San Angelo; and "Monitoring Rangelands," Chris Allison, Extension range specialist, New Mexico State University, Las Cruces, NM.

After lunch, the program continues with: "General Principles of Grazing Management," Dr. John Walker, Experiment Station resident director of research, San Angelo; "Time Controlled Grazing," Bob Steger, ranch management consultant, Mertzon; "Integrated Grazing Management-Fire and Kind of Livestock for Sustainable Production," Taylor, and "Using Goats to Control Brush and Enhance Wildlife on the Ford Ranch," Forest Armke, rancher, Melvin.

The final session opens with: "Economics of Multiple Enterprises," Walt Davis, rancher and consultant, Bennington, Oklahoma and "Economic Decisions for Management Programs," Walt Richburg, managing director, Farm and Ranch Management Group - Bank One, Fort Worth.

The day ends with a rancher panel moderated by George Brannies, president-Holistic Resource Management of Texas and of Mason National Bank. The panel members are Frank Price, rancher, Sterling and Coke counties; Bill Tullos, Irion County rancher; Dalton Maddox, Colorado City area rancher; and Karre Remme, rancher, Reeves, Brewster, Jeff Davis counties with McCoy Land and Cattle Company.

The October 25th ranch tour will depart from the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center by chartered bus shortly after 8:00 am.

Ranch stops and their on-site hosts include; Angelo State University, Dr. Cody Scott, ASU animal science associate professor; Hugh Stone Ranch, Hugh Stone; Texas A&M University's Carlsbad lease property, Ueckert; and Bill Tullos Ranch, Bill Tullos.

October 15 is deadline for pre-registration of $10.00 per person per day and is required to reserve a place on the tour bus October 25. After this date of October 15, the fee will be $15.00 per day. Fees paid for each day will cover that day's meal.

For further information on the program and to pre-register, call Alice at the Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center at (915) 653-4576.

Businesses hurt by reservist call-ups

Small businesses that employ military reservists who were called to active duty by President Bush in response to the terrorist attacks on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon may qualify for Military Reservist Economic Injury Disaster Loans (MREIDL). These disaster loans are available from the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) to small businesses during a period of military conflict.

The MREIDL program will provide loan funds to eligible small businesses to cover operating expenses that would have been met, but cannot because an essential employee was called to active duty in his or her role as a military reservist.

"Communities across the nation are going to feel the loss of the thousands of men and women who have courageously answered the call to support the nation's military effort," said SBA Administrator Hector V. Barreto.

"The loss of a key employee, even for a short period of time, can financially devastate a small company or even cause it to fail. This low-interest loan program can provide the money necessary to support these small businesses until the reservist is able to return to the business," Barreto said.

Small businesses may apply for MREIDLs of up to $1.5 million if they have been financially impacted due to the loss of a key employee. These working capital loans may be used to pay fixed debts, payroll, accounts payable, and other bills that cannot be paid. The interest rate on these loans is 4 percent, with a maximum term of 30 years. The SBA determines the amount of economic injury, the term of each loan and the payment amount, based on the financial circumstances of each borrower.

The filing period begins the date the essential employee is ordered to active duty and ends 90 days after the date the employee is discharged from active duty.

Businesses interested in applying for an economic injury disaster loan can contact the SBA disaster area office in Ft. Worth, Texas at 1-800-366-6303.

For more information about all of the SBA's programs for small businesses, call the SBA Answer Desk at 1-800-U-ASK-SBA, or visit the SBA's extensive Web site at www.sba.gov.

Food safety tips for tailgate parties

With fall weather and football games, tailgate parties become popular activities. "Tailgating" can be full of good food, friends and happy memories. Don't let your tailgate party be spoiled by foodborne illness.

Jan Yanez, of Texas Cooperative Extension, Coke County, says that foodborne illness causes stomach cramps, diarrhea, nausea, headaches, fever, and even vomiting. It results from improper handling and cooking of foods and can occur as soon as a few hours or as long as a few days after eating contaminated food.

The bacteria that cause foodborne illnesses grow most rapidly at temperatures between 40 degrees F and 140 degrees F. This is known as the temperature "danger zone." Foods prepared for tailgate parties or any outdoor eating event can reach danger zone temperatures even when the weather is cool.

Almost any food can carry harmful bacteria, but foods that are moist and contain protein such as meat, fish, seafood, poultry, eggs, and dairy products are most perishable. Other foods such as cooked vegetable dishes can also be suspect. They should not be left in the danger zone for more than 2 hours or 1 hour in hot weather.

Dishes containing these perishable foods should be kept either hot (above 140 degrees F) or cold (below 40 degrees F). Try to prepare just enough food to serve your guests. It may be safest to discard any leftovers.

Popular items such as chili, stew, soup, and dips can be kept hot in a thermos if it has no cracks or leaks. Keep the thermos clean and check for a tight seal. Rinse it with boiling water just before filling it with the steaming hot food.

Hot casseroles can be wrapped in several layers of aluminum foil followed by newspapers and a towel to keep them hot. Plan to serve immediately after arriving. Do not let the casserole fall into the temperature danger zone for more than 2 hours.

Cold food can be transported in a cooler filled with ice or cold packs to keep it below 40 degrees F. Pack the food in shallow containers and pre-chill before placing in the cooler. Keep sandwiches, deviled eggs, dips made from dairy products, or other perishable foods cold or eat them within 2 hours.

Watch the clock on fast food or deli purchases. Whatever you select, pick it up immediately before the event and eat within 2 hours. If you purchase them in advance, refrigerate and then reheat the foods.

When the party begins, use safe food handling practices. If you don't have hot or cold storage, plan on non-perishable foods such as canned or dried meats, fruits and vegetables, breads, cereal mixes, nuts, popcorn, or peanut butter.

Keep hands, utensils, and dinnerware clean. Disposable dinnerware and utensils make it easier. Spread a clean tablecloth on the tailgate or table and enjoy.
