WTRC Telethon set for January 17

Coke County residents have an opportunity between now and midnight on January 17 to help West Texas Rehabilitation Center by making a gift to REHAB 2004, the Center's 34th annual telethon.

Diane Luckett is spearheading the Bronte solicitation effort and has arranged for a phone bank to be in operation on telethon night. Donors may call 473-4821 to make a pledge during the telethon.

In Robert Lee, the 64 Study Club will operate their phone bank at Ivey Motor Company. Donors may call 453-2715 to pledge during the telethon. Those who won't be able to call in January 17 are encouraged to make advance donations to community volunteers.

The five-hour television special will be aired from 7 pm to midnight on ten Texas stations, including KLST-TV in San Angelo.

In addition to entertainment, the telethon showcases the services of the Center which provides care annually to more than 22,000 children and adults with disabilities and communication disorders at facilities in Abilene, San Angelo, and Ozona.

Also, the show includes an auction of more than 300 items donated by businesses and individuals ranging from agricultural products and autos to celebrity items and travel packages. Interested persons may bid online at www.WestTexasRehab.org beginning mid-December or by phone on January 17.

"The telethon is a critical fundraiser for Rehab because we count on it to launch the New Year in a good position to meet the needs of those we'll serve in the next 12 months," said WTRC President Woody Gilliland. "That's why we're so grateful to local volunteers staffing phone banks...why every advance gift and every pledge called in during the show are so deeply appreciated."

In the early 80's, Juanita completed the training under Lou and Dorthea Wright and became a Volunteer Emergency Medical Technician. She enjoyed driving the ambulance and helping where she could.

A couple of years later she was appointed, by then Judge Jackie Walker, the Senior Citizens Coordinator for Coke County. Her most lasting successes were Aggregate Meals at the Senior Citizens Center and organizing and hosting the Senior Dances at the Robert Lee Rec Hall. Each month, the likes of Add Davis, Johnny Sevier, Sammy Duncan and Bill McAdoo provided the popular Boot Scootin' music. Coy Moses, in association with Ettie Hubbard, currently hold these monthly events.

Looking for a few good scouts

By Matt Vercher Concho Valley Unit Serving Executive The Concho Valley Council is looking for a few good Scouts to join the Cub Pack in Robert Lee. If you have been thinking about shooting BB guns or using a bow and shooting arrows at targets, playing on an obstacle course with the giant mud pit, camping, fishing, canoeing, hiking, or any of the other great Scouting activities, then just call 1 (800) 321-7107 and ask for Matt Vercher (your friendly neighborhood Scouter).

Christmas holidays will soon end and what a great time to join Scouting. Every boy in the first through sixth grade will have the opportunity to join in January and will receive a FREE pinewood derby race car. We will be scheduling a race day in February for all the boys that join and have designed and built their own cars. Our rally night will be Jan. 13th to sign all boys up for Cub scouting.

Give me a call so we can begin building a terrific program for our boys.

County official seeks to protect taxpayers

Roy Blair, Coke County Judge supports allowing voters to decide if unfunded mandates from the state to counties should be reined in to protect taxpayers from being saddled with higher property taxes.

Blair joins county officials from across Texas in seeking a constitutional amendment that would limit state actions which mandate counties to spend additional funds, unless the state pays for its mandates.

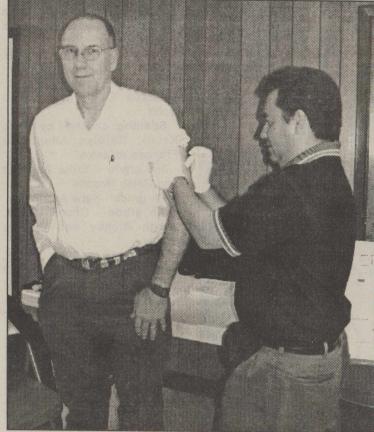

"Our property taxpayers currently have no protection against state actions that force counties to raise taxes," Blair said. "We believe a constitutional amendment would curtail many of the unfunded mandates. The mandates are often unintended consequences of legislative action or state administrative action. While legislators and state executives do not willingly intend to cause local tax increases, their actions too often result in tax hikes because they do not include statewide funding mechanisms to pay for the directives to counties.

To initiate the effort, the Subcommittee on Unfunded Mandates of the Policy Analysis Group (PAG) met recently at the Texas Association of Counties (TAC) in Austin. The subcommittee decided to seek a referendum in both Republican and Democratic Party primary elections next spring.

The referendum was proposed by Bee County Tax Assessor-Collector Andrea Gibbud and quickly approved by other members of the subcommittee who were present, including its Chairman and Brazoria County Commissioner Jack Harris, Fort Bend County Tax Assessor-Collector Marsha Gaines, Dallas County Commissioner Jim Jackson and Gibbud.

The referendum would give primary voters the opportunity to express their feelings on better protecting local taxpayers from state mandates through a proposed constitutional amendment. The referendum states: "For or against a constitutional amendment protecting taxpayers by prohibiting state mandates that require local property tax increases." The constitutional amendment will be presented to the Legislature at its next session.

Subcommittee members noted that legislative budget actions during tough financial times often have a direct impact on counties and property taxpayers, even when legislators do not intend such a burden. During the 78th session that ended earlier this year, examples include cuts to health care, mental health and the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) that have resulted in counties being forced to assume additional costs. Under-funded or unfunded mandates from previous legislatures have included the 1985 Indigent Health Care Act and the 2001 law mandating indigent criminal defense services.

TAC is composed of local elected officials from all Texas'

254 counties. The PAG was formed in 1997, and its members selected issues upon which to focus, including unfunded mandates.

Emergency farm loan applications being accepted

Applications for emergency farm loans for losses due to damages and losses caused by drought that occurred from January 1, 2003, and continuing, are being accepted at the Farm Service Agency (FSA) office located in Sweetwater.

Coke County was recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Ann Veneman as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the drought.

123 W. Main

Roger W. Kalina, Farm Loan Manager, said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 100% of their actual losses of the operating loan needed to continue the agricultural business, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest rate is 3.75 percent.

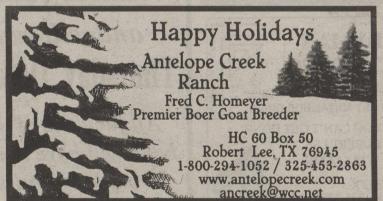

As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30 percent loss of production to be eligible for an FSA emergency loan. Farmers participating in the Federal Crop Insurance program will have to consider proceeds from those programs in determining their loss.

Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until 7/6/2004, but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing, with possible delays into the new farming season.

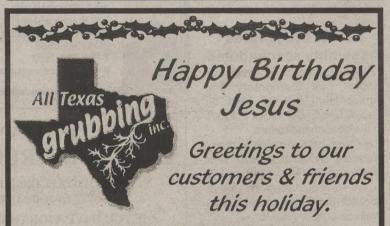

FSA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who meet U.S. citizenship requirements and to farming partnerships, corporations or cooperatives in which U.S. citizenship requirements are met by individuals holding a majority interest.

The FSA office in Sweetwater is open from 7:30 to 5:00, Monday through Friday.

Built Ford Tough Trucks/FFA scholarship to be awarded to local youth

Ivey Motor Co., Inc. of Robert Lee is sponsoring (3) $1,000 scholarships to be awarded to local FFA members in the spring of 2004. Ivey Motor Co., Inc. has been a participating dealer in the Built Ford Tough Trucks/FFA Scholarship Program for the past 2 years. This Built Ford Tough Trucks/FFA scholarship is one of over 600 that will be awarded by local Ford dealers nationwide to FFA members in their trade area who are high school seniors planning to attend college during the 2004-2005 school year. In addition, Ford Trucks sponsors five national scholarships, affording those applicants who do not fall within a participating Ford dealer trade area an opportunity to receive a scholarship.

This is the seventh year of the Built Ford Tough Trucks/FFA Scholarship Program, which has awarded over $2,000,000 to FFA members since 1997. Ford Trucks is the largest sponsor in the FFA scholarship program.

The Built Ford Tough Trucks scholarship program is a collaborative effort between Ford Division, Ford Motor Company Fund and local Ford dealers. Dealers contribute $500 toward each $1,000 scholarship and Ford Division and Ford Motor Company Fund match an additional $500. FFA members may apply for one of the over 600 Built Ford Tough Trucks scholarships through a special Ford Trucks scholarship application available from Ivey Motor Co., Inc. Students may also download the applications or view a list of participating dealers at www.ffa/activities/scholarship

As a special incentive for FFA chapters and members, Ford Trucks has chosen to award a two-year lease of a 2004 F150 to the FFA chapter with the most high-scoring.

applications. For details on this exciting program, contact the FFA Foundation at (800) 769-3105.

The Built Ford Tough Trucks/FFA Scholarship Program is designed to recognize the academic achievement, accomplishments and talents of FFA members throughout the U.S. Ford Trucks and its dealers sponsor these scholarships as a special project of the National FFA Foundation.

Registration deadline for next ACT test is January 2

The next national test date for the ACT Assessment is February 7, 2004. Collegebound students should register by the January 2 postmark deadline. Late registration postmark deadline is January 16 (an additional fee is required for late registration). Students can register online at www.act.org or they can get a registration packet from their high school guidance counselor and register by mail. The website also has sample test questions and a link to a free financial aid calculator.

ACT scores are accepted by virtually all colleges and universities in the nation. The test fee is $26. Colleges use ACT scores, along with a student's high school GPA and other information to help determine admissions and the appropriate course placement for new students.

The ACT Assessment is curriculum-based, designed to measure a student's academic achievement. There are four sections to the exam: English, reading, math and science.

Students who have already taken the ACT can retest and try for a higher score. Juniors often use their scores to examine academic weaknesses, take courses or tutoring to correct those weaknesses and retest as seniors. Students who test more than once can choose which scores to report to prospective colleges.

DPS issues Christmas wish list

The Department of Public Safety has composed a wish list for the holiday season. DPS is asking travelers for the following gifts:

*Slow down-speed is the number one killer on Texas roads.

*Don't drink and drive; get a designated driver.

*Buckle up everyone in the

*Keep cell phone chatter to a minimum.

*Drive with courtesy; it's contagious. *Slow down in bad weather, construction areas and heavy

"Following these tips will keep your family and everyone on Texas roads safer, and that will mean a merrier Christmas for all of us," said DPS Director Thomas Davis Jr. "The sad truth is that most fatal traffic crashes don't have to happen.

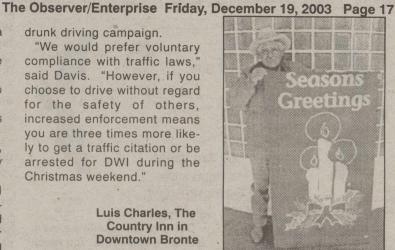

DPS will have all available troopers patrolling Texas roadways from Wednesday, December 24 through Sunday, December 28. DPS is once again participating in Operation CARE (Combined Accident Reduction Effort)-a nationwide effort maximizing enforcement on major interstate highways to reduce fatalities commonly associated with holiday weekends.

Alcohol is always a concern during the holidays, and DPS is supporting the statewide drunk driving campaign.

"We would prefer voluntary compliance with traffic laws, said Davis. "However, if you choose to drive without regard for the safety of others, increased enforcement means you are three times more likely to get a traffic citation or be arrested for DWI during the Christmas weekend."

Plan for Happier Holidays

Here are some tips to make the holidays more pleasant in your household.

- Make a conscious effort to be more quiet and slow moving, especially around children.
- Don't overwork yourself. Spread out activities over several days so no one gets overwhelmed.
- Be realistic about the time that you have. When you work outside the home, some old traditions may have to be overlooked.
- Try to keep a normal routine. Allow plenty of sleep for all family members.
- Be choosy about your activities. Select only those important to you and your family.
- Concentrate on people instead of objects during the holidays.
- Don't overspend. As you plan holiday meals and gift purchases, keep your budget in mind.
- Have regular, sit-down meals. Slow down. Avoid eat-

- Cut down on caffeine, salt, alcohol and sweets. Too much of any of these produces the same symptoms as stress.
- Touch the people you love.
 A gentle touch has the opposite effect of stress. It will slow the breathing, reduce muscle tension and calm both physically and emotionally.

• Start exercising. Gather the family together for exercise time. Exercise relieves tension and keeps your mind well

- Invent the "whisper hour." When noise levels get too high, set a timer for an hour. During this time everyone in the house must whisper.
- Avoid tasks or people that anger or irritate you. If you can't avoid them, then change your attitude about them. Try seeing something silly about them. Remember, you can control your feelings by your attitude about stressful
- Prepare children for family gatherings by sharing photos of quests
- Incorporate quiet times during your day. Play slow, soft music, have quiet cuddly stories, or go for a walk. This can help bring everyone's activity and anxiety levels down.
- It's ok not to do it all.
 Choose a few traditions that
- are your favorites to preserve.
 Ask the elders what they remember most from their holidays. Share stories and enjoy!

Cull Open, Late-Calving Cows

Farmers and ranchers who haven't already culled open, late-calving and poor performing cows should do so soon.

There's no need to put expensive winter feed into cows that are unproductive and inefficient. Culling the cow herd now will also help you more effectively plan on feed supplies for the winter months.

The culling process should also "weed out" unsound cows with bad eyes, udders or feet and legs.

Also, pregnancy testing cows this fall may be a more profitable management tool than ever before.

Since it's difficult for a cow to produce a calf large enough to pay her annual maintenance bill and leave some profit for the producer, an open cow is surely losing money. In addition, cows calving late and during the summer months wean calves 30 to 90 pounds lighter than their herd mates which calve at earlier times. For this reason it's advisable to cull cows which will calve late next year and purchase pregnant replacements which will calve early.

Whoever does the pregnancy diagnosis (usually your veterinarian) will be able to estimate the calving date on each animal and make it easy to identify next year's latecalving cows. Work toward a 60-day calving season or one that's certainly no longer than 90 days.

Removing barren and latecalving cows from the herd will increase both the herd's reproductive potential and pounds of calf weaned.

for planting because it allows plenty of time for the plant to settle in and begin root growth before the onset of hot weather next summer. Fall-planted ornamentals will have an advantage over spring-planted plants. This can be important when it comes to surviving the critical first summer here in Texas. In the Panhandle, planting is often delayed until late winter due to concerns with the severe cold.

In the central half of the state, this month is a great time to move a shrub to a new location in the landscape. Cut the top back by about one-third, to compensate for the roots lost when digging the plant. Try to get as much of the soil and roots as is practical when you dig up the plant. It is more important to dig wide than to dig deep. Slide a tarp beneath the plant rather than trying to lift it. Use the tarp to drag it to its new location. This results in fewer chiropractor visits! In the new location set the shrub at the same level it was growing before and water it in well to settle the soil around the roots

Do not get in a hurry to prune woody plants. Late December through February is the best time to prune them

Wait to start pruning fruit trees until late winter. Some fruit trees may bloom earlier when fall pruned, increasing the risk of crop loss to a late spring frost.

Falling leaves are valuable assets for the garden. Collect and stockpile them for many months of mulching, or compost them. To build a compost heap or fill a bin, alternate layers of leaves with "green" materials. Spent plants, vegetable trimmings, manure and high-nitrogen fertilizer all provide the nitrogen needed to blend with leaves or pine needles for composting. Wet each layer thoroughly and add a shovel full of compost or garden soil as you build up the compost pile to introduce microbes. contents with a spading fork every month or so to hasten Houseplants do not need as much nutrition in the winter when light levels are lower. You can cut back on fertilizing indoor plants from fall through late winter. An exception would be plants in a bright atrium or a well-lighted window.

Tips for child's car seat safety

When the weather turns cooler, we all get our jackets and coats out of the closet. Did you know that putting your infant or child in their coat or blanket before putting them in their car seat can greatly affect the way the car seat is designed to work?

The harness straps in car seats are designed to lie flat and snug against your child. When they are adjusted properly, there should be no slack in the harness system. If you wrap your baby in a blanket before placing him in the car seat, and loosen the harness straps to accommodate the extra cloth...you have put slack into the system. The same thing happens if you put a coat on your toddler and loosen the straps before buckling him in his seat.

In a collision, this extra fabric and padding will compress and create slack in the harness system, which will allow your child to move further forward during a crash before being stopped by the harness straps--increasing the injuries they will suffer.

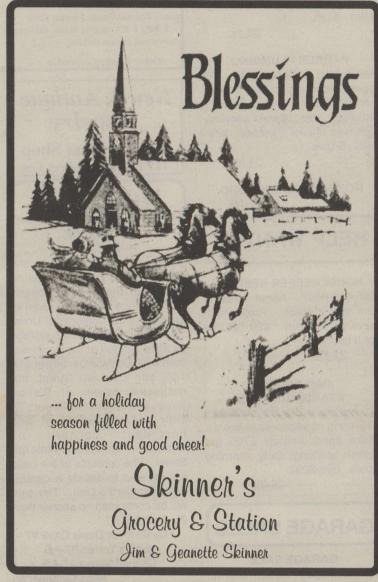

So what should you do? First, always keep your child in the clothes they will be wearing when they are indoors. Place the child in the infant seat or car seat, making sure the harness straps are snug over the shoulders and that they lie straight and flat down to the buckle. Buckle the child in and THEN put the coat or blanket OVER them-on TOP of the harness system. You can even turn the coat around and put his arms through the sleeves after he is buckled into his car seat...BUCKLE THEM, THEN BUNDLE THEM.

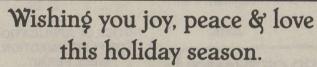

This will ensure your kids are kept snug in their seat, the harness system is able to do its job in the event of a crash, and that the kids stay warm.

Remember to check you safety seats often and look for stress marks or hairline cracks on the shell, frayed harness straps, torn padding, etc. You can contact the manufacturer for replacement parts.

Child support stretched during holiday season

For single parents, the holidays bring unique pressures. Post-divorce family budgets are stretched thin, and during the holidays - when pressure to spend money on travel and gifts increases - it can be especially difficult. Webster Watnik, author of Child Custody Made Simple, recommends that single parents cope with the money pressures in creative ways.

Watnik explains that child support is calculated to provide for children's basic needs, but it rarely covers the extra things parents want for their children. "Gameboys, roller blades, a plane trip to the relatives - you name it." says Watnik. "During the holidays, you want to give your children nice things, but support is rarely enough to pay for those things."

Custodial parents who can't afford to buy what they want may become resentful at the noncustodial parent. They feel the support is too low, or if the paying parent missed some payments, it put-added stress on the budget. However, says Watnik, the parent who pays support rarely has enough left over for expensive gifts, and may also feel resentment towards the other parent.

"The holidays are difficult," says Watnik, "everyone gets a little testy. With a realistic attitude and some creativity, you can make it work to your advantage." In Child Custody Made Simple, Watnik offers these ideas for single parents coping with a holiday budget crunch:

Pool Money

If the parents communicate well, combine the money used for gift-buying. Some gifts can stay in one home, some in the other, and the children can bring shared toys back-and-forth.

Make Gifts

When there is not enough money for the really expensive toys, consider visiting a crafts store. You'll find some amazingand amazingly cheap-gifts you can make.

Help Others

Helping others during the holidays is not only free, but yields terrific experiences. Food bank, hospice, even volunteering at an animal shelter - every community has ways to help others. Take some pictures and you'll have a wonderful photo album.

"The important thing to remember," says Watnik, "is that you don't need the postcard perfect holiday. Be flexible and adapt. You can still have a rewarding, engaging, and meaningful holiday."

Safe driving campaign targets drunk driving

Santa has a warning for Texas motorists: He knows when you've been drinking. He knows when you're .08.

So do thousands of law officers trained to identify drivers who've reached the state's legal limit for intoxication. And they'll be patrolling Texas streets and highways in December in an effort to reduce alcohol-related traffic deaths and injuries.

TxDOT's lively new campaign, which features several tongue-in-

Elena Sanchez's Robert Lee High School Spanish Club hosted the December Birthday celebration at Robert Lee Care Center. They made each resident a gift and gave them each a poinsettia. The Spanish Club also entertained the residents by singing Christmas carols.

cheek holiday slogans based on Christmas carols, has a deadly serious message. If you drink this holiday season and get behind the wheel, you'll find more than coal in your stocking come Christmas Day. Expect penalties ranging from stiff fines and drivers license suspension to spending time in jail.

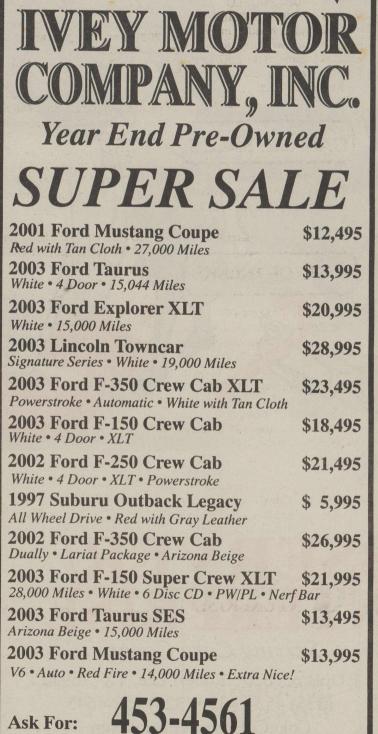

DWI prevention messages are appearing on TV, radio, billboards, gas pumps and decals and coasters in bars and restaurants statewide. The public education campaign is part of a concerted effort between December 19 and January 4 to change Texas' standing as the national leader in alcohol-related traffic fatalities. Impaired drivers are to blame for more than 1,700 deaths and 25,000 injuries in Texas each year.

"If alcohol is involved in holiday celebrations, we're reminding drivers to designate a driver who hasn't been drinking, or take a cab," said Carlos Lopez, TxDOT's traffic operations director. may be the season to be jolly, but we want Texas motorists to know if you drink and you drive, you go to jail."

Texas Department of Public Safety and more than 600 local law enforcement agencies will be out in force during the holidays to keep Texas roads and highways as safe as possible.
