Grant! The Coke County Jail Project is the recipient of a gift from the Roberta Cole Johnson estate. Mrs. Johnson's association with Charles and Joy Blake has greatly benefitted Coke County. The Blakes arranged for Fort Chadbourne, Pecan Baptist Church, Robert Lee Baptist Church, and the Old Coke County Jail Restoration Project to receive grants from Mrs. Johnson's estate.

The original amount of $250,000 in stocks dedicated to the Old Jail Project when announced at the time, increased in value to $400,000 when the check was presented. This assures that the restoration and renovation of the Old Jail structure will last well into the next century.

Coke County Historical Commission members met on Monday, November 23, at the Coke County Courthouse to sign the papers and prepare the check for deposit in the Robert Lee State Bank. Members present included (from left to right) Alan and Bonita Cartrite, Beth Prather - CCHC President, Stover Taylor - CCHC budget committee, Phelan Wrinkle, Donna Ash - CCHC Treasurer, and Coke County Judge Roy Blair.

Mrs. Johnson's estate and the Blakes choice of the Old Jail as a viable recipient of such a generous grant testifies to the importance of preserving what is left of early historically representative structures. The Old Jail will stand as a testament to the pioneer history of Coke County and the State of Texas. The Old Jail will remain standing to remind generations to come that they have been given a strong foundation on which to build the future.

Lighting on Saturday, December 5, at 5:30 pm. The second drawing will be held at the Christmas Craft Fair on Saturday, December 12, at 1 pm and the third drawing, along with the Grand Prize drawing of a television set, will take place December 19, at 5 pm at the Texas Theater, following an afternoon visit with Santa and Mrs. Claus.

Praise! Praise! Praise!

And oh, that men would give thanks to the Lord for His goodness. And for His wonderful works to the children of men!

For He satisfies the longing soul, and fills the hungry soul with goodness.

Those who sat in darkness and in the shadow of death, bound in affliction and irons -

Because they rebelled against the words of God, and despised the counsel of the most high,

Therefore He brought down their heart with labor; they fell down, and there was none to help.

Then they cried out to the Lord in their trouble, and He saved them out of their distresses.

He brought them out of darkness and the shadow of death, and broke their chains in pieces. • Psalm 107:8-14

Offer to God thanksgiving, and pay your vows to the most high.

Call upon Me in the day of trouble; I will deliver you, and you shall glorify Me. • Psalm 50:14-15

Bronte Longhorns and Lady Longhorns seasons come to a close

Thursday, November 18, was a day full of spirit as the Lady Longhorns were treated to an early morning pep rally led by the Bronte Scream Team, made up of high school football and basketball players. Following the pep rally, the team loaded up on the Longhorn team bus and were sent off by the town of Bronte to San Marcos for the 2009 UIL State Volleyball tournament. The Lady Longhorns were set up to play the Lindsay Knights for the semi-final game. Bronte was ready to face the Knights for a chance to re-match one of the few teams who they fell short to early in the season. Game one was a dominant win for the Lady Longhorns with a 25-11 outcome. As they entered Game two the battle was close as Lindsay stayed tight with Bronte, but the Lady Longhorns fought their way through and won with a 25-22 score. Although the thought of a three game victory came to the Bronte minds, Lindsay pulled one victory over with a 22-25 final in game three. The Lady Longhorns had enough and pulled together as one strong team and finished the match with a victory in game four over the Lindsay Knights 25-13.

This led the Lady Longhorns to the state championship game with the Louise Hornets on Saturday, November 21, at 9 am. Bronte walked onto the court ready to play with a strong win over Louise in Game one of 25-16. This win caused the Hornets to rise up and take Game two with a 25-19 final. The true meaning of play was witnessed by all fans as Game three rolled by. It was a continual battle of ties at 21 and 22 and one point leading the way until the final outcome of 26-28 fell into the hands of the Louise Hornets. Aiming to find a way to win, the Lady Longhorns tried to gain the victory of Game four and instead earned the title of "State Runner Up".

The Bronte Lady Longhorns have had an outstanding 2009 season, with an overall record of 40-6 and stunning state runner up trophy to bring home. Congratulations Lady Longhorns!

The 2009 Bronte Longhorn Football season came to a close this past Saturday, November 21, in Abilene as the Horns fell to the Munday Moguls by a score of 44-38. Munday scored on the final play of regulation to end the Longhorns season at 10-2.

The Longhorns scored first when Ernesto Casillas booted a 30-yard field goal. The Moguls scored just a minute later to take a 7-3 lead at the end of the first. Then the fireworks started as Bronte outscored Munday 28-19 in the second. Dakota Rawls scored on runs of 12 and 8, and Casillas scored a 10-yard run. The other score came with just 9 seconds left until halftime as Rawls threw a screen pass to Casillas from 15 yards out. Munday scored on runs of 61, 57, and 80, as the Moguls scored on the final play of regulation in the second quarter.

The third quarter was played well by both defenses, as neither team could get anything started on offense and both teams went scoreless. In the fourth quarter the offenses came back to life. With 9:47 to go in the contest, Casillas scored on a 7-yard run that gave Bronte a 38-26 lead. Munday would score the next 18 points and win the game. Ernesto Casillas rushed 29 times for 246 yards, Dakota Rawls added 62 yards on 12 carries and Louie Martinez had 38 yards on 13 carries to lead the offense. Our lineman and backs did a great job of blocking and executing as they gained 389 yards in total offense. Sometimes whoever has the ball last wins, and sometimes it's the other way around. The Longhorns needed one more possession but time just ran out on us.

Gun Safety! Texas Department of Public Safety Trooper Shawn Baxter (left) and Trooper Tommy Matthews presented a gun safety program to elementary and junior high school students at Bronte ISD last week. The troopers told students that if they ever come across a gun they should "not touch it, leave and tell an adult". The elementary students also received a safety coloring book from the officers.

The shock of losing a game like that was difficult to handle, but the kids played hard and did everything they could to give themselves a chance to win an Area round game. Nobody likes to lose, but Coach Burns was proud of the way they handled themselves when the outcome was decided. The speed of the Moguls was definitely a factor and the team knew that coming into the game. The Longhorns knew they had big play potential and they had proved it to everyone they played all season. This year's Longhorns placed second in District 12-A, won their Bi-District game over Hamlin, and gave the Area round champions all they could. Coach Burns is proud of their effort, and looks forward to the rest of the year in other Longhorn sports. To the seniors, the coaching staff appreciates your dedication and leadership, both on and off the field, and best of luck in your future endeavors.

the galleys, heard in the very hall of government itself. For the traitor appears not as a traitor- he speaks in the accents familiar to his victims, and wears their face and their garment, and he appeals to the baseness that lies deep in the hearts of all men. He rots the soul of a nation - he works secretly and unknown in the night to undermine the pillars of a city - he infects the body politic so that it can no longer resist. A murderer is less to be feared."-- Cicero, 42 B.C.

The United States Senate last week voted to allow the 2000 plus page healthcare bill to advance to floor debate, bringing it to the last step before implementation. The vote to proceed was 60 for and 39 against. As I understand the procedure, the bill will be debated on the floor of the Senate and then be voted either up or down, with only 51 votes needed for final passage. This will allow 9 of the Senators who voted to advance the bill to vote against it in the final vote. These will be Senators who are in danger of being replaced in the 2010 elections. They will vote against the bill and then go home to their states and campaign telling how they fought the bill but were just unable to stop it.

The bill must be stopped now or it will be nearly impossible to get rid of later. It would take a shift of 113 Congressional seats and a shift of 27 Senate seats to override a presidential veto of any bill that would rescind the healthcare bill (or any other bill such as Cap and Trade).
 Our Congress and Senate are rife with fools and the ambitious, but I am afraid that many are actually the treasonous traitors that Cicero spoke of.

November Deer Management

By early November scraping may have already peaked. From early to late November the majority of the does should be in estrus, and the bucks should be cruising, chasing and breeding does, which causes scraping and rubbing to tail off. But, the bucks may still be scraping and checking scrapes near nighttime food sources, and in travel corridors. Scout to locate buck rub routes and feeding areas, backtrack rub routes to locate buck core areas and bedding sites. By mid to late November many of the older does have been bred, and some of the older bucks may return to their core areas to rest, where you can hunt them during the day. Some older does may still be in estrus and some doe fawns may come into estrus. Some of the older bucks may continue scraping and some of the younger bucks may start scraping as they look for does. Hunt all day.

Population Objectives, Balancing Social Structure and Carrying Capacity

When we are talking about ideal social conditions in deer management, the buck to doe ratio should be close to one buck to one doe (1:1). However in areas where this type of management has not been practiced, the buck to doe ratio may be as low as one buck to three does (1:3). Keeping the buck to doe ratio in balance helps increase the number of older bucks. It can also improve the social ranking, health and reproductive rate of the herd.

A herd of 100 deer with a makeup of 50 percent bucks and does will not increase by 100 percent per year, because some of the does will be too young to breed and some too old to conceive. Even if each doe produces twins, the natural mortality rate would keep the increase below 100 animals.

If you are trying to increase the number of older bucks in the area you must remember that the habitat can only carry so many deer. It makes no difference if they are bucks or does. The herd must also be kept in balance with the carrying capacity of the habitat in order to keep both the habitat and the animals healthy.

Let's assume that there are 100 animals with a 50:50 male to female ratio, and the total property area has a carrying capacity of 150 animals. If every doe produces twins and 3/4 of the young survive, the herd is now above carrying capacity of the land with 175 animals.

Up to 25 animals should be removed through natural mortality, predation or hunting to prevent habitat destruction and starvation. If half the young are bucks and half does, and no natural mortality or predation occurs, the buck to doe ratio must be kept in balance by removing 12 males and 12 females the next year. This will keep the herd at carrying capacity. But, the herd should be kept below carrying capacity. By keeping the herd below capacity you ensure that if a severe winter, drought or habitat destruction occurs the animals may still survive.

In many cases hunters only remove the males from the herd, which can be disastrous. If 25 males are removed from the herd there will be 37 males and 62 females, leaving 99 animals. Some of the bucks shot will be 1 1/2 to 3 1/2 years old, and they will never have a chance to become dominant breeding bucks. But, the real problem is that there are now 62 does that can conceivably produce 124 young, with a 75 percent survival rate, increasing the herd by 93 the next year for a total of 192 deer, with 83 bucks and 109 does.

Because the herd is above carrying capacity, habitat destruction is likely to occur. If the hunters again remove only males, by taking 42 bucks, there are still 109 does instead of the original 50. If the practice of taking only bucks continues, there will not be enough mature males left to ensure that all the does will be bred during the peak of the rut; some late born fawns will starve or die of exposure, and the population may crash. Even if the population doesn't suffer, the number of older bucks will decline.

In order to produce more older bucks some of the does must be taken each year. If the habitat is at carrying capacity and the herd is balanced, as many females as males must be taken each year in order to keep the herd in balance with the carrying capacity of the habitat. If the herd is kept below carrying capacity, there may be enough forage even if the harvest quotas are not met; production is higher than normal; or forage production is reduced by unforeseen circumstances. The best strategy for responsible deer management is to keep the herd below carrying capacity, and the male to female ratio as balanced as possible.

FSA accepting applications

The Farm Service Agency (FSA) is now accepting applications for Emergency Farm Loans resulting from damages and losses caused by drought, above normal temperatures and associated wildfires on January 1, 2009, and continuing.

Coke and Sterling Counties have been named contiguous disaster counties where eligible farmers may qualify for FSA EM loan assistance. Farm Loan Manager, Justin B. Holland, asks farmers who want to apply for emergency loans to submit their applications as soon as possible. The deadling for applications is July 2, 2010, but if farmers wait too long, a backlog will develop and cause delays.

Generally, farmers who have lost 30 percent of their production due to designated disasters are eligible for emergency loans. The FSA office is located at 103 W. Florida Avenue in Sweetwater or contact your local office
