

REPORT . . .

From Washington

By Armed Forces Press Service

The Army and Air Force will meet the charges of cleaning or laundering issue type clothing abandoned in dry cleaning establishments and laundries by enlisted personnel, under provisions of joint Regulations SR 32-20-4—AFR 67-42. Proprietors of cleaning establishments will be required to turn in the garments with a statement of charges due. The clothing will be picked up on Stock Record or Unserviceable Property Accounts. No record of the name of the individual abandoning the clothing will be kept.

The Army has authorized enlistment of partially disabled combat-wounded veterans of World War II who possess or can be trained in certain critically needed skills, and who meet eligibility requirements set forth in AR 615-125-1.

This summer will see the largest National Guard encampment in history, with 300,000 Guardsmen from 4,800 units in the U.S., Hawaii, and Puerto Rico undergoing two weeks of training in 37 state and Federal installations.

The Army has directed that all members of the Officers Reserve Corps not on active duty use the component identification term "USAR" in connection with signatures on correspondence and records. Other Service Reserve components already follow this form.

The President has approved the findings of a Marine Corps Selection Board which recommended promotion of a Marine Woman major to lieutenant colonel, and two captains to major.

The Defense Department is publishing a "Speaker's Guide," for Armed Forces public speakers and information staffs.

Air Force personnel may wear on the new uniform only the unit shoulder- insignia pertaining to the World War II combat unit to which they were assigned in an overseas theater. No other unit insignia is authorized.

Anaheim, Calif. (AFPS)—The "drunken driver" turned out to be just a big flop to police who raced to a residential area to curb him. What they found was a sea lion flopping about in the front seat of the car. The sea lion was barking away. Now and then he would turn on the radio and sound the horn with his flippers and tail.

Altadena, Calif. (AFPS)—A husky, musically minded burglar is being sought by deputy sheriffs. It's all because Joseph L. Mats reported that someone stole his piano.

Preaching Mission Opens Monday Night

The Reverend Fred C. Eastham, pastor of the First Baptist church, Springfield, Mo., will open a preaching mission in the Base Chapel on Monday evening.

Services will be held Monday through Friday at 8:00 p. m. and the general public is invited.

Reverend Eastham in a recent letter said, "Nothing thrills me more than to have the opportunity to speak to men in uniform."

Engineers Begin Work On Projects

The engineers of the 809th AF Engineer Battalion have begun their job of renovating the roads, taxiways, and loading platforms on the base and the auxiliary field at Abernathy. Pending the arrival of certain materials the work at Abernathy is being limited to clearing vegetation from the three landing strips.

Work was started on repairing the loading platforms in the quartermaster area but lack of materials to work with has slowed the job down and the men are working at other jobs on the base until the supplies arrive.

Seven carpenters have been dispatched to the base library to help build shelving and prepare the building, a converted barracks, for opening as soon as possible. Present plans call for the library to be located on the lower floor of the barracks and the AI&E office on the upper floor.

Other engineers have been assigned to help technicians, sent down from Scott AFB, install asphalt sub-sealing on the parking apron in front of the three hangars. Several slabs have dropped below the level of those around them and the pumping of the asphalt beneath it will raise them back to their original level and hold it there.

Another team of engineers is conducting a real installed property survey, that is that they are checking the 260 buildings on the base against the original drawings to see if any modifications such as partitions, walls, more electrical outlets, or any other changes have been made in the building.

If any such change is found it is marked on the plans and when the survey is completed the original plans will have the changes sketched in.

Promotion Policies Announced For AF In New Regulation

WASHINGTON, (AFPS)—Enlisted promotions on a "best qualified" basis, with due regard for efficiency, seniority, and time-in-grade are prescribed in the Air Force's new Regulation 39-30, now in distribution. It will replace AR 615-5, 23 September 1946 as authority for Air Force personnel policies.

The new Regulation establishes uniform terminology to denote changes in grade. The terms "promotion" and "demotion," now used with reference to officers, will replace the terms "appointment" and "reduction" now used (Continued on Page 3.)

KADET KORRAL

COLUMN CAN CURDLE UNLESS COMES COOPERATION!!

It has been noted, these past few weeks that while most of the troops are quite willing to read our offering, in this column, darn few of said troops come thru with any assistance. As it is the column must depend upon the imagination and brain of your reporter. It's becoming increasingly apparent that this here reporter is long on imagination and shy on brain. You can see, fellers, that if you want anything factual you had best be scampering around with the pertinent.

—50 B—

50 B STILL ON BASE (WE GUESS!)

Due to the fact that there is no news forthcoming from the upper spokes, we can only say that we are sure the class is still among us. This may be evidenced, now and then, by considerable racket around group formations—a blue haze in mess hall—snores issuing forth from apartments during the day—and a great rush for the gate come Tuesdays and Thursdays. (Also at head of most chow lines.)

—50 C—

AND THEN THE RAINS CAME!!!

CLASS SMALL TALK:

Wilke and Schopen return to flying status—(But not to P. T. we notice) Fran Rieman and MacDonald chaffering worn out piston rings and such gear to Randolph. (Their story is that the Engineering Officer specifically requested that THEY fly him down—tho it is reported he was forced into the aircraft bodily upon hearing who was to be at the controls—THIS is more believable!)—Pronier cruising around the whole south-west for no apparent reason—Stylinski joins ranks of "Soloers" while his instructor quietly has nervous breakdowns—Joe Barry—Banner—Libman and other such noteworthies would like the world to know that they licked the B-25s.—The tower personnel already realize this, no doubt, because they've all applied for hazard pay. "But we're only 200 yards from that runway they're all missing" is their plaintive cry.—Oh well, we've all gotta go sometime—Mr. Frame learned (last Friday evening) that flat beaks are symptoms, though not always conclusive proof.—Irregardless of the above the world still manages to go 'round.

THE WIND BLEW — RUMORS FLEW — AND THERE WE STOOD —

Talk about your inconsiderate weatherman! Just about the time we were climbing into our store clothes for an assault upon the fair township of Lubbock—comes the breeze! Appears a tornado made a sashay across this neck of the woods—and on Saturday evening, of all the darn fool times! At any rate (expeditious)—the Corps made a disorganized rush for the Section II Operation room, all eager (?) to tackle the elements.—Now we thought we'd seen everything, but soon learned otherwise! The variety and types of uniforms at that gathering were out of this world.—Suntans and blues intermixed—ponchos—raincoats—topcoats—trenchcoats—(and no coats—the po' soaked idjits!) Also seen were dress suits and shiny shoes—class "A" uniforms and shiny shoes—B-15 jackets and not so shiny shoes.—Some, (who volunteered(?) to set brakes on aircraft) looking wet and miserable—some looking dry (and sort of guilty)—and some just looking for a way out!!

However, it was generally agreed that it was a necessary precaution, and worth the broken dates and such—after ALL—the farmers GOTTA get a lil rain now an' a'gin.—And besides—we never seem to put much time in at the flight line anyhow. (Oh BROTHER!!!!)

Reese Proudly Presents... The Fledgling

Victor J. "Butch" Matula, Jr., son of M/Sgt. and Mrs. Victor J. Matula, Sr. is one of the many "fledglings" at Reese Air Force Base. While the term is not official (yet) it is hoped that other Air Force children over the country will adopt it. A "Fledgling" is a young bird who is about to sprout its wings for flight. Reese Personnel Get Lead Roles In Command Decision

Lieutenant Roy Adams will play the role of General Clifton Garnett in the Lubbock Little Theatre's presentation of "Command

Decision to be given in the O. L. Slaton Junior High school auditorium on 5 and 6 June.

"Command Decision" is played by an all-male cast and tryouts for the different roles were held on 12 and 13 April.

Bishop Fitzsimmon Comes Tomorrow For Confirmation

Bishop Laurence Fitzsimmon, head of the Catholic diocese of Amarillo, will administer the sacrament of Confirmation tomorrow at 1930 hours in the Base Chapel to 18 men, women and children of the base.

Bishop Fitzsimmon will be met in Lubbock by the officers of the Holy Name Society and escorted here. Members of the Holy Name will form a guard of honor for the prelate from his car to the chapel entrance.

The Bishop is an enlisted veteran of World War I.

Choir Director Comes To Reese From Lackland

A new organist and choir director, Sergeant William G. Krampits, has been assigned to the Chaplains section recently.

The sergeant comes to Reese from Lackland Air Force Base, where he did outstanding work in choir organization and direction.

Prior to joining the Air Force in 1948 Sergeant Krampits was assistant organist at St. Paul's Episcopal church, Holyoke, Mass., his home town, where he had studied music for many years.

Chaplain Becker said the Sergeant Krampits plans to organize a Protestant choir similar to the one he organized at Lackland AFB. As soon as the choir has had sufficient practice it is planned to give choral concerts on the base and in the churches of Lubbock.

The Chaplains section expresses their thanks to Corporal David W. Frame for his assistance in conducting the Chapel choir until the arrival of Sergeant Krampits.

New members, regardless of singing experience, are urged to join the choir which practices on Thursday evenings at 1900 hours.

Vast Progress Noted in AF

By Armed Forces Press Service

World War II proved that United States air power meant victory power. In the post-war era, the Air Force is confident that air power means peace power.

In the early 1900's, the air arm consisted of one officer, two enlisted men and an airplane. That's when it was part of the Army Signal Corps. Today the U.S. Air Force is ready for defensive and offense operations, and is capable of carrying the fight by air into the heart of the enemy's homeland.

"At present," states Armed Forces Talk 319, "the striking force of the U.S. Air Force is made up of 48 groups and 13 separate squadrons, comprising 12 numbered Air Forces and the overseas commands."

Outlined in this Talk, another in the series on the Services, is the gradual recognition of air power in warfare and the evolution of our principal air arm from its beginning in 1907 to its present high position as a full-fledged coordinate Service.

"YOUR CHAPEL"

Unfortunately there has arisen, for some reason or the other, a feeling among the people of the service, an air of indifference concerning the work of the Chapel and the Chaplains. Maybe the Chaplains are at fault, maybe its the people or maybe it is the system. Whatever it is we of the Chapel are going to bend all efforts to correct this situation, but we need your help to overcome this feeling.

After all, just because we are in the service does not mean that we are not a community. We are a community in every sense of the word. We see evidences on every hand of a community spirit. We work together, we play together, we live together, or when someone is in trouble or needs help we see that spirit come forth.

We would, therefore, like to see the Chapel assume its rightful position in the community, but it never will until all of us have the feeling that the Chapel is our Church, that it belongs to us and we belong to it. So, in an effort to strengthen this feeling we are calling on all Protestant personnel of the Base to join hands with us in prayer for the success of the Preaching Mission and it will be successful only if you lend your support to it each night.

Therefore, do as Paul the Apostle says when he wrote that second letter to his friend Timothy: "Do your best to present yourself to God and to man as one approved, a workman who has no need to be ashamed, rightly handling the word of truth," and there is no other place where it is as easy to learn the word of truth than in the Chapel.

Won't you join us in the Chapel next week and hear Dr. Easthan as he gives us the words of truth?

JARED A. WALKER,
Chaplain (Capt.) USAF,
Asst. Wing Chaplain.

for enlisted personnel.

Major commanders, under the new Regulation are permitted to delegate authority down to and including squadron commanders for promotion to the grade of corporal and private first class. Authority to promote non-commissioned officers to the top four grades may be delegated to group or comparable unit commanders.

Airmen may be promoted only one grade at a time, with minimum time-in-grade requirements as follows: Grade E-1, 4 months; E-2, 8 months; E-3, 18 months; E-4, 24 months; E-5, 36 months; E-6, 48 months.

Demotion procedures will impose greater responsibility on unit commanders. An Airman will be entitled to a personal hearing before demotion, and Airmen of the four top grades may receive a hearing before a Demotion Board composed of commissioned and warrant officers and top grade enlisted men.

The new demotion procedures are patterned after those prescribed for commissioned officers, as published in AF Regulation 36-2.

Consolidated-Vultee T-29 Is New 'Flying Classroom'

HQ ATRC., April 20—The first Consolidated-Vultee T-29 navigation training plane to be received by the Air Training Command at its Ellington Air Force Base, Houston, Texas, arrived at that training base last week after a flight from San Diego, Calif.

An Air Training Command crew flew the twin-engine aircraft from the manufacturer's plant at San Diego, Calif., to Ellington Air Force Base.

Known unofficially as the "Flying Classroom," the T-29 is an Air Force modification of the 40-passenger, 300-mph Convair liner now being operated by 12 airliners throughout the world.

As an Air Force trainer, the T-29 is equipped for simultaneous in-flight training of as many as 14 navigation students. Up to four instructors can accompany students during each flight permitting on-the-spot observation and training of cadet navigators during "live" navigation problems.

Four astrodomes on top of the fuselage are provided for the 14 students, navigators and instructors. Special electronic units and standard navigational instruments are included in the training equipment.

The T-29 is powered by two

Pratt and Whitney R-2800 engines rated at 2400 horsepower each on takeoff.

Performance approximates that of the Convair 240 airliner which has a top speed of over 300 mph, a cruising speed of 250, and a service ceiling of over 27,000 feet.

The new trainer has a gross weight of 40,500 pounds. Its wingspan is 91 feet, 9 inches, length 74 feet, 8 inches, and height 26 feet, 11 inches.

New High in Health Set by Armed Forces

Washington (AFPS)—Service-men participating in the first Armed Forces Day will be the healthiest in the history of the United States.

The Army and Air Force reported recently personnel registered less illness, accidents and a lower death rate during 1949 than in any time on record.

The Navy, having kept accurate health tabulations, reported a similar new high in health. Advancements in every phase of physical well-being were noted.

Intensified delving into the causes of illness and a consistent policy of preventive medicine are some of the main reasons for this healthy condition.

New Navigational Trainer

The new Consolidated-Vultee T-29 navigational trainer is the first plane especially designed for training navigators in groups. Four astrodomes atop the fuselage are provided for the 14 students and instructors. The large bulge beneath the fuselage, forward of the wing, is a radome for use with radar equipment. Some of the plane's 18 antennas are shown in the picture. The plane's design is based on the 40-passenger, 300-MPH, Convair-Liner now being operated by 12 airlines throughout the world. Lubbock Gun Club Comes To Reese

The Reese Gun Club will meet the Lubbock Gun Club in a skeet match here on Saturday morning at 1000 hours. The shoot will be held at the skeet range located to the right of the road leading to the Salvage Yard.

Members of the Lubbock team are: Hal Langford, Claude Patum, Tom French, Joe Kirk Fulton and Tom Arnn, Jr.

The Reese team is being decided in shoot-offs at the skeet range which started yesterday and will continue today. Competition is between airmen and officers. Those with the highest scores will makeup the team that will meet the Lubbock club.

Members of the visiting team will be guests of the Reese team at a luncheon here on the base.

Personnel of the base and the public are invited to the match.

Palo Duro Treasure Hunt Opens Today

In addition to a enjoyable trip, personnel of Reese may find a trip to Palo Duro Park a profitable one for today marks the opening of the 1950 Palo Duro Treasure Hunt, according to John McCarty, manager of the park.

Gold covered coins are being dropped from an airplane today. The coins all bear numbers and visitors finding these coins during the 1950 tourist season will be entitled to a large list of prizes furnished by Amarillo merchants.

This is the second year for the Palo Duro Treasure Hunt. It was started last year by the Palo Duro Park Boosters' association to attract tourists and others to visit Palo Duro canyon. Since the treasure hunt has been inaugurated the number of visitors to the park has been more than doubled.

Master of Ceremonies Lieut. A. J. Knudsen introduced S/Sgt. E. L. Lewis as one of the preliminary speakers. In his talk Sergeant Lewis stated that Reese has had the finest athletic program he has ever been connected with. Sergeant Lewis has been directing athletic programs for personnel of the 3500th PTW for the past several years.

Colonel Pardy gave a brief resume of his experiences since the beginning of World War II when he came back on active duty. He told the gathering that many of today's top military commanders would have vanished from the scene long ago if it had not been for the physical conditioning they received in their earlier years. It has enabled them to keep up with the fast pace of today's ever changing world.

He then awarded the pennants and trophies to the ABG teams, B Cadets, and the base champions, the 3502nd Maint. Sq.

Capt. M. V. Judas received a pennant on behalf of the ABG Officers who won the Officers' League title, M/Sgt. T. E. Toms received one for the ABG enlisted men who took their league title, and S/Sgt. D. E. Adams for the 3502nd who took their league title also.

Trophies were then presented to A/C. William Lanning, team captain, for the B Cadets who were runner-ups, and again to Sergeant Adams whose team won the base title. Each member of the 3502nd team also received cigaret lighters.

Following the presentation of the awards, refreshments were served and movies on the Cotton Bowl Game of 1949, All-Star Baseball Game of 1948, and college basketball games were shown.

Hollywood (AFPS)—Billy Anderson of Compton (Calif.) Junior College, is being hailed as "a new Jesse Owens" because of his outstanding success on the cinder path. The 20-year-old youngster has done the 70-yard high hurdles in 8.4 seconds, only one-tenth of a second slower than Harrison Dillard's world record.

The swift Billy is not following in his father's footsteps, however. His dad is better known to millions of Americans as Eddie (Rochester) Anderson, Jack Benny's wise-cracking chauffeur-valet.
