Tired Of Shaving? Beard-Growing Contest Is Answer

Tired of shaving? Well, men, you can give that old razor a much-needed rest. Just got it straight from the horse's mouth that shaggy faces will be the fashion at Reese for the next three weeks.

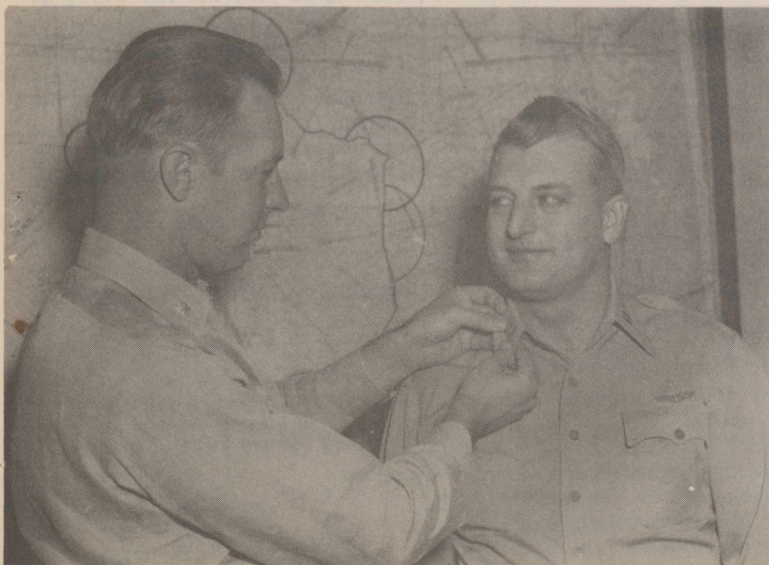

Now hear ye! You can start muttering in your beards, starting Monday. There's going to be a base beard-growing contest between the squadrons. Each squadron may enter a minimum of five men sporting beavers to a maximum of five per cent of the squadron.

Every man in each squadron will back their entrants by contributing five cents. Of this money, one-third will go to the winning contestants, one-third to the winning squadron, and the remaining third to the welfare fund for base improvements.

Beards will be judged at the Reese AFB carnival grounds on 30 September, at which time awards will be made. Winners from Reese will be entered in the downtown contest to represent the base.

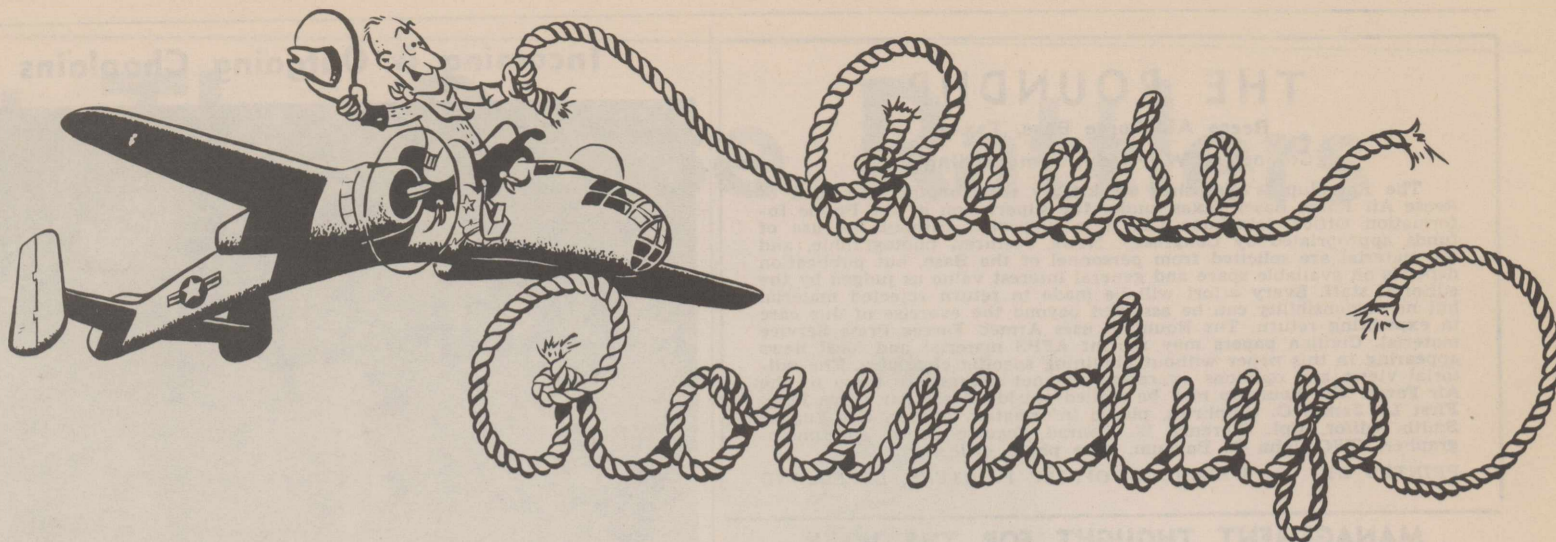

Details for the base contest are still in the mill and should be published this week through official channels. How big a beard can you grow?

Management Technician Here To Study Means Of Increasing Efficiency

Improved methods of operation in management and utilization of personnel are currently being stressed at Reese Air Force Base. Working along the lines of industry in the interest of increased efficiency and economy, Reese has recently employed an organization methods examiner, Mr. Pat S. Tillman.

Mr. Tillman is assigned to and is a key member of the Management and Utilization division of Personnel, which has the responsibility of insuring through good management practices the proper utilization of personnel. This section supplements the AF management school for supervisors, which has been in operation throughout the Air Force since 1947.

At present Mr. Tillman is in the process of conducting a management audit that will cover every section on the base. Since approximately fifty per cent of all first-line supervisors (officers, NCO's, and civilians) are graduates of the Air Force's military management course conducted at Reese AFB, the survey will also serve as an aid to these supervisors in their jobs. A tentative schedule has been set up whereby each section will be surveyed on an annual basis.

The first section to be covered by the survey is the Civilian Personnel Office. It was started 22 August and is expected to be finished by 6 September. During the survey Mr. Tillman examines methods and procedures used and evaluates the organization structure and duties assigned to individuals by reviewing organization-functional charts and by personal interviews.

After thoroughly studying the office layout in view of good management principles to eliminate wasted motions in the process of operation he recommends changes which are submitted to Colonel George W. Parady, base commander, for approval and necessary action.

Mr. Tillman has had considerable training for this undertaking in better management. He has had formal training in this field from the establishment of the Public Employment Service in 1933 on through his wartime activities as director of the War

Reese Aviation Cadet Chosen As Top Student Of Class 50-E At Reese, Vance, And Williams

A Reese aviation cadet, William G. Podoll, Class 50-E, has been selected as the Distinguished Aviation Cadet of his class, Training Command Headquarters announced this week. An award, given to the outstanding cadet of each graduating class, composed of cadets from Reese, Williams, and Vance Air Force Bases, will be presented on behalf of the Daughters of the American Colonists.

Two officials of the society, Mrs. Thomas C. Mell, of Atlanta, Georgia, and Mrs. Tom Bentley Trockmorton, of Des Moines, Iowa, will handle the arrangements for presenting the award to Cadet Podoll at the graduation ceremonies on 15 September 1950.

The editor of the Lubbock Avalanche Journal, Mr. Charles A. Guy, will be the principal speaker at the graduation exercises.

Cadet Podoll, whose mother Mrs. Joy Podoll resides in Winside, Nebraska, graduated from Winside High School as class Valedictorian. Winning a scholarship to the University of Nebraska, he attended the university from 1942-43, majoring in English and Mathematics. Following a three-year tour of duty in the US Navy, he returned to school for another year, majoring in Agriculture, before entering the Aviation Cadet Training Program.

Safety Patrolman Delivers Lecture On Safe Driving

Patrolman Clay Bedner of the Lubbock Division of the Texas Department of Public Safety spoke to officers and airmen of Reese Air Force Base on the problems of automobile accident prevention at the "Speaker of the Month" program held Thursday, 31 August in the Base Theater. Patrolman Bedner was introduced by Lieut. Col. Kenneth G. Rosebush, wing executive officer.

Patrolman Bedner stated that, except for determining liability in automobile accidents, the primary purpose of the Department of Public Safety is to consider the cause of the accident and the means of preventing future mishaps.

He further stated that "haste and discourtesy" can be found at the root of most of today's accidents. An average between 25,000 and 40,000 lives are lost each year and over 100,000 persons injured as a result of accidents.

"Ninety percent of the accidents are preventable," he said, "and many educators, safety engineers, and police officials believe the

MANAGEMENT THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Sidestepping only gets you farther away from where you hope to go.

KADET KORRAL

Some centuries ago a Spartan mother bid her son farewell with the words, "Come back with your shield or on it."

Today, less dramatically, but with much deeper feelings, millions of people all over the world are bidding you Godspeed as you join in the defense of their country.

For twelve months now you have been studying and using some of the finest equipment the world has to offer, soon you will be using the knowledge you have acquired to gain more, use it wisely, for on your shoulders rest the responsibility of a great nation's fighting team.

Good Luck

Classes 50-F and 50-G

What is this I hear about Dobyns getting lost in MacKenzie Park? I always thought this was level country.

Oh yes, we've been hearing that Mr. Burkey and Mr. Carey are becoming permanent fixtures in the sky around Lubbock, you don't suppose it has any effect upon the completion of repairs on runway 22—hard landings you know.

50-G got off to a smacking start didn't they? With a major accident the third day of flying. Those fences sure are hard to see aren't they Reynolds?

Did you hear there has been a new town grown up in New Mexico recently? At least that is what we hear from Keel, sure you weren't just a little lost?

Understand Mr. Gregory's new theme song is Hadacol, women and song in the deep South. Oh those three day cross-countries.

Speaking of Hadacol, I hear it does wonderful things after the fifteenth bottle.

Mace, just wait a little longer, they are trying to get those boxing gloves for you.

Those high altitude chambers at Randolph sure gave several people long faces and foul dispositions—it couldn't have been the odor could it?

I've always wondered how to fill out a Form 1 after an unscheduled landing. Do you suppose Klobassa could answer that question or should we ask the men down at the wash rack.

Good Conduct Medal Awarded Airmen

The Good Conduct Medal was recently awarded to three airmen of the 3500th Supply Squadron, the adjutant's office announced this week. This is the second medal for two of the airmen.

Those receiving the second Good Conduct Medal were T/Sgt. Roy Dixon for the period of 14 July 1947 to 13 July 1950 and S/Sgt. Jay D. Jones for the same period. M/Sgt. Robert B. Jones received the good conduct medal for the period of 25 June 1947 to 24 June 1950.

"Would you mind not cracking that chewing gum? It makes me nervous as hell!"

B. S. Degree For Colonel

Lt. Col. Kenneth A. Gaskin, deputy commander of the 3500 PTG, became the first service man from Reese on 23 August to receive a college degree from near-by Texas Technological College, attending classes in conjunction with his military duties at the base. Shown handing him his bachelor of science degree in physics is Registrar W. P. Clement of Tech. In the background is Miss Evelyn Clewell, assistant registrar.

Barksdale Chaplain Returns To 3500 PTW From Overseas Duty

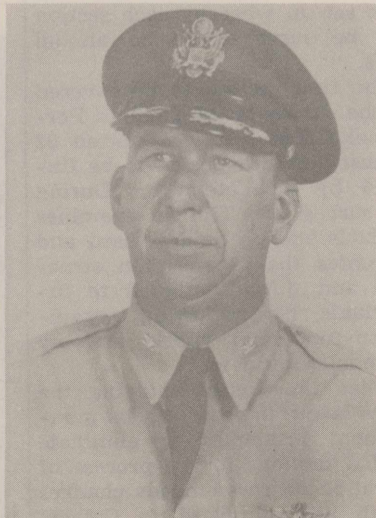

Chaplain (1st Lt.) Amalio E. Greco, who was formerly with the 3500th PTW at Barksdale AFB in the spring of '49, was assigned to Reese last week as Catholic chaplain. He replaces Chaplain (1st Lt.) Frank J. Gilchrist, who has been transferred to the Alaskan Air Command.

Chaplain Greco has just returned from duty with the 20th Air Force on Okinawa, where he was assigned to the 51st Fighter-Interceptor Wing since July '49. Before going overseas he attended Chaplain School at Carlisle Barracks, Pa. He entered the service on 3 January '49.

Native Texan Comes To Reese For First Tour In Home State

Colonel Ralph W. Rodieck, a native Texan who hasn't been stationed in the Lone Star State since his flying school days in 1934, reported on duty at Reese as the new Air Base Group CO on 21 August. He replaced Lt. Col. Galen P. Price, who went to Langley AFB, Va.

Previous to his assignment here he was deputy CO of the 1701st Air Transport of MATS at Great Falls AFB, Montana. He left there to attend the Air War College at Maxwell AFB, Alabama, but the course was suspended due to the Korean situation and he was assigned here.

During the war he served at Adak in the Aleutians. He also has been stationed at Waller Field, Trinidad, and at Ramey AFB, Puerto Rico as director of operations and training for the Hq. 24th Composite Wing.

The colonel, who is a native resident of San Antonio, is married and lives in Lubbock with his wife and three children.

Although relatively new to the service, Chaplain Greco is not a newcomer to the priesthood. He spent nine and one-half years as an assistant pastor of the St. Rocco Church of Union City, New Jersey, and performing religious and social duties at St. Anne's Church in New York City. He attended the La Salle Academy in Providence, Rhode Island, and St. Mary's Seminary at Baltimore, Maryland.

While at the Seminary he proved to be one of the leading students and was chosen by his superiors to study for the priesthood in Rome, Italy. His schooling consisted chiefly of learning scholastic philosophy at the Pontifical College of the Propagation of Faith for two years followed by four years of theology training at the Gregorian University.

Colonel Gaskin Gets Diploma From Tech

Taking advantage of the proximity of Reese Air Force Base to Texas Technological College in nearby Lubbock, Lt. Col. Kenneth A. Gaskin received a bachelor of science degree in physics 23 August.

Colonel Gaskin, who is deputy commander of the 3500th Pilot Training Group, was the first man from the base to earn a college degree at Texas Tech since Reese was reactivated last year. He majored in physics and minored in mathematics.

Also taking advantage of the courses offered at Tech to get college educations for benefit of their Air Force careers were twenty-nine RAFB airmen and officers who attended classes this summer under "Operation Bootstrap."

The colonel attended college in conjunction with his military duties to prepare him for future technological advances in aviation. He took physics, he says, because there'll be increasingly more stress put upon nuclear physics in the Air Force with the application of atomic energy to aircraft.

Colonel Gaskin's military career began back in 1934 when he en-

"Your Chapel"

"THE AFTERSHINE"

After a recent survey it was found that the names of all men of the Base, with the exception of 1/2 of 1% could be found on the roll of some church. But the attendance at Chapel services would not indicate that finding.

I am afraid the thing that has happened is that all too many of us in the Air Force have become spiritual nomads, pitching our tents wherever our duty assignments have led us. I am also afraid that many of us are like Thomas Carlyle when he said: "Unfortunately, I am trying to live on the aftershine of my father's religion." So if we are trying to live on the aftershine of our parents religion then what about our children? The aftershine of the aftershine will be mighty thin "stuff" for them to lean on when they are called upon to face confused and hazardous a world as tomorrow gives promise of being.

So as we move from base to base over the world let us not let their faith and religion become merely an aftershine of our aftershine.

We need the Chapel and the Chapel needs us. And greater still our children need both the Chapel and us. So in the final analysis everyone will have to determine whether his children must go through life empty handed because all he has left as a spiritual heritage is the aftershine of the aftershine we have. Whether that is enough must rest on the conscience of each of us.

safety patrol could stop accidents but doubt if they ever will because of the attitude of the driver.

"Most accidents are caused primarily by the driver and one of the major problems of the patrol is the attitude of the driver. On the highway we exhibit the best side of our nature to the world in our driving. The Golden Rule of "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," could well be applied to driving."

"Motor vehicle regulations are essential but they do not mean accidents can be controlled. The motoring public must cooperate to put down accidents." In closing, Patrolman Bedner, left this slogan with his audience, "Be a defensive driver, not an offensive one."

Lieutenant Thornley C. Carey, AI&E officer, announced that the tentative date for the next speaker is 28 September and he will be Mr. H. O. Hawkins of the Dallas Division of the FBI.

The Brown Bomber is coming back! Two years after his retirement, Jolting Joe Louis is attempting to regain the crown he wore with such distinction and honor for eleven years. This could be thrilling news for fight fans except for the circumstances surrounding Joe's return to ring warfare.

Joe's comeback is not just a quest for ring honors. It's Joe's way of trying to raise enough money to pay his delinquent income taxes. His business ability is in no way equal to his fighting skill. The ex-champion must resume his career in an effort to clear his name. The Bomber's generosity, his trust in others and his understandable love for high living drained away the amazingly small percentage that he realized from the large gate receipts he attracted and his tax delinquency is due to his inability to pay and not to any attempted evasion on his part.

Slow Fight?

Mr. Average Fan cannot see much of a fight developing in a meeting between Joe, who is slow and fat, after his two years of retirement, and his successor, Ezzard Charles, who looked bad in his fourteen-round TKO of a third-rate challenger. Freddie

Reese Rattlers End 1950 Season By Defeating 3501st Baseball Team 11-7 At Base Ball Diamond

The curtain rang down on baseball competition Friday, 25 August, as the Rattlers slammed out 11 hits to whip the 3501st Maint. team, 11 to 7.

"Lefty" Evers, who has 88 strikeouts to his credit for 19 games, only allowed the losers five hits while Dornstadter chalked up 27 stolen bases for 13 games. The team's record for the season was twelve losses and eleven wins.

Lake Development Nearing Completion To Open Very Soon

How'd you like to practice casting, try fishing, or just go boating? You would. Well, Lake Imhoff is the place to go.

Don't know where Lake Imhoff is? That's strange 'cause it's the only body of water around here for miles. It's none other than the small lake adjacent to the Levelland Highway on the outer perimeter of the base. The area adjacent to the lake is planned to be eventually converted into a recreation area for Reese personnel and their dependents.

As a start Personnel Services purchased a new aluminum boat and tied it to the pier last Friday, 1 September. The boating facilities are available for everyone's use. The oars may be checked out of athletic supply in the base gym.

Personnel Services presently also has a boat on Buffalo Lakes for use by any and all airmen. An outboard motor can be drawn from the supply in the base gym for use on this boat. Transportation is provided to Buffalo Lakes on Sunday for all airmen who wish to go.

Special Services Builds Five Horseshoe Pits In Recreation Areas

Though baseball is over that old arm can now be kept limber pitchin' horseshoes. Personnel Services announced this week the construction of five new horseshoe courts, three along the hangar line road and two next to the track by the gym.

From the start the Rattlers led the way, bringing home the bacon in the first, second, fourth and fifth frames. The 3501st sluggers garnered their runs in the second, fourth and fifth innings.

The season's batting averages for the Rattlers is as follows:

New Gym Schedule Announced For Fall Athletics

There's good news for athletically minded airmen this week from Personnel Services. The gym will now be open throughout the fall and winter evenings for basketball, weight-lifting, handball, volleyball, badminton, and ping pong.

The gym schedule is as follows: weekdays, 0930 to 2130; Saturday, 0930 to 1200 for children only; 1300 to 1630; and Sunday, 1300 to 1630.
