"Anything Goes" a musical comedy by Cole Porter and P. G. Wodehouse will be the feature attraction at the base theater Tuesday, March 13, Personnel Services announced this week.

The cast is composed of members of the Fourth Army Theater Company who are touring military installations in the Fourth Army area. All of the actors have had professional experience.

"Anything Goes" is the story of the experiences of Reno Sweeney an Evangelist who has turned night club singer and is traveling to England to fulfill an engagement there. ## Hollywood Stage Show Went Over Big With Reese Personnel Saturday

A packed house of more than 800 people saw a star-studded Hollywood show, headed by Lois Andrews of screen and radio fame, perform for more than two and one-half hours in the Base Theater last Saturday night.

Following the show the group visited the NCO and Officer Clubs to round out the evening's entertainment.

Chi-Chi Ware and Mickey Brown started off the program with Chi-Chi singing "Mama' Tol' Me," and "South America Take It Away" and Mickey Ann weaving a tap dancing solo around the strains of "What Is This Thing Called Love."

The master of ceremonies, Archie Twitchell then took over from Phil Tully, who opened the show, and after a humorous discourse on his life, introduced Tavis and Masters who gave an exhibition of the modern dance and an outstanding rendition of the continental.

Terry Frost, writer of the skit "He and She," then took over the stage and with Dee Carroll and Phil Tully, demonstrated how the unwary male is lured to a bachelor's fate by the seemingly helpless female.

A well known Hollywood director, Peter Godfrey, mystified the audience with several tricks of magic. Mary Jane Smith, one of MGM's rising young starlets captivated the crowd with her rendition of "I Love You" and "Bill."

Vince Barnett, veteran movie comedian, put the audience in stitches.

Colonel Tom Says . . .

Some time in your past, you have volunteered for service with the Air Force or you would not be here now. However, I am aware that one question often asked after a man has been on active duty for sometime is: "What about my future?"

Some of you will choose to make the Air Force your future. Others look forward to return to civilian life. In either case, you will not want to feel that the time spent in the Air Force is wasted.

In the first place, the time is not wasted so long as you are serving your nation in time of need. This must come first and of necessity, a major portion of your time must be spent in preparation for still greater service.

There are still many hours left in the week when you may work toward the future you choose. Your squadron commander, your first sergeant or Information and Education section personnel are always glad to tell you how you can prepare yourself for the next step in your chosen career.

One thing I would like to stress, however, is that while you are on your job assignment, whatever that may be, give your full time and effort to that job. There is no better way to win advancement. No matter what you now may think, advancement in military service will contribute to a better job in civilian life. An efficient worker, manager and leader is always in demand.

"Footlight Revue" Staged At Theatre

The "Footlight Revue", produced in the Base Theatre on Tuesday evening, was well received by a crowd of approximately 400 people.

Jack Vallee, the comic emcee, kept the audience in stitches with his gags in between each act. Frances Hite got the show under way with a lighted baton tap number, and performed an acrobatic dance in a leopard skin to ring down the curtain and the house.

Speck Thomas gave the crowd a riot of laughs and thrills with his comedy drunk uni-cycle act. Mr. Thomas was extremely skilled with the uni-cycle, and left the audience with many memorable acts.

Miss America talent award winner for 1948 and Miss Omaha, beautiful, blond, Madlyn King displayed the calibre of dancing that earned her the talent award in 1948. Billy Allen's orchestra provided the background music for the show.

SINGLENESSE OF PURPOSE

Perhaps you have heard of the famous two-headed turtle. He was normal in every respect except for his two heads. You see, he had two heads and two brains. As he wandered around, one brain would decide to go in this direction and the other in the opposite direction. As a result the poor turtle would just rotate in one spot, getting nowhere fast. He lacked singleness of mind and of purpose which it takes to get somewhere.

Many of us seem to be like this unfortunate two-headed turtle. Not having a singleness of purpose, we spend all our time wandering in circles and actually getting nowhere. For our daily living, there is undoubtedly no factor which will give us singleness of purpose more than a vital religious faith. Such a faith can give us purpose and direction regardless of the station of life in which we find ourselves.

We are thinking these Lenten days of the meaning of the Passion of our Lord, it is well to remember that he always moved with a singleness of purpose even though we knew that the way He was going would ultimately lead to the Cross. For Him, truth must never be compromised; the value, worth, and integrity of a fellow human being must never be underestimated nor violated; and finally, decisions must have as their prelude the prayer: "Not My Will, but Thine be done." This divine singleness of purpose culminated in God's victory over death itself. If we would find meaning in the confusion of today's mad world, we must do it by yielding ourselves to One "whose ways are higher than our way, and whose thoughts are higher than our thoughts."

The Riddle of MacArthur
By John Gunther

Brilliant and masterful on one hand, vain and enigmatic on the other—what manner of man is Douglas MacArthur, Supreme commander for the Allied Powers in the Pacific, head of United Nations intervention in Korea, architect of a new Japan, and the symbol, to tens of millions of Asiatics, of America itself?

John Gunther went to Japan shortly before the outbreak of the hostilities in Korea to find out for himself just what was truth and what was fiction in this legendary figure, to sift out from both attack and eulogy the real Douglas MacArthur. No man is better qualified to undertake such an evaluation. John Gunther is more than the "world's foremost political reporter;" he possesses the historian's point of view and the broadest understanding of historical and cultural trends. While the author was in Japan, MacArthur launched U. N. military intervention on the mainland of Asia. Against the confused situation there, which readers of Mr. Gunther's INSIDE ASIA know he is well qualified to analyze, he has set his portrait of an extraordinarily complex figure—a portrait totally objective and unbiased.

Mr. Gunther has put together with considerable and brilliant judgement the various, sometime contradictory aspects of General MacArthur's personality and career, and the result is a long-needed, serious analysis. He talked to MacArthur at length in the conquered city where he rules like a Caesar.

MacArthur is revealed not only in his present situation but through the pattern of his life and those persons who influenced it. With an understanding of the dynamic figure who has been directing our Far Eastern strategy and who has so strongly affected political strategy, Mr. Gunther has been able to analyze the background of the Korean War and the broader aspects of the situation in the seething, vitally important area that is Asia today. Despite the pressure of events he has kept his account up to date and of more than immediate significance.

Readers will find this friendly yet critical presentation the answer to a real need for a frank and unbiased portrait of General MacArthur. This is the first serious estimate to be written of this great proconsul from a historical point of view.

Did You Know . . .

That all leaves, including emergency, must be granted by your commanding officer, never by the Red Cross?

The Red Cross—your station field director working with your home community chapter—obtains physicians' statements and other information the CO needs, makes loans for emergency needs, helps arrange quick transportation, is a communications link between the serviceman and his family, but has no authority to recommend, or grant, leave under any circumstances.

However, the Red Cross does have the authority, and the obligation, to take such steps as were taken in an emergency affecting Cpl. Edwin James, who was on occupation duty with the U. S. Air Forces at Erding, Germany.

Fast teamwork by the military and the American Red Cross made it possible for Cpl. James to win a 5,000 mile race against death to reach the bedside of his critically injured father in a small Florida community.

One morning, Cpl. James' commanding officer called him into his office, broke some tragic news which the base's ARC field director had just received from the corporal's hometown Red Cross chapter. The corporal's father, the message stated, had suffered a gunshot wound in the head. The message also included the hospital physician's statement that the father's condition was "highly critical." The family asked that the military grant the serviceman emergency leave to see his father, who had been urgently calling for him.

"We are approving leave and sending you stateside at once," said the CO "You have a half-hour to pack your gear and be at the airstrip. You're to board the next C-47 flight to Frankfurt. You'll be processed there."

Within 21 hours, Cpl. James was again on American soil, by regularly scheduled military air transportation. In a few more hours, aided by an emergency loan of travel funds from the Red Cross, he had reached his stricken father in Florida, arriving before his father died.

Clothing Prices Hiked For Military Personnel

WASHINGTON (AFPS)—Sharp price increases, in some cases almost double, for items of uniform clothing have gone into effect for the Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force. The Army announced that no change would be made until it could study the clothing problem further.

The increased prices went into effect March 1.

Partially softening the blow to servicemen are increased basic and standard monthly cash clothing allowances. This slight increase of maintenance allowances also went into effect on March 1 for the three services.

Here are the high points, of the drastic Air Force price increases as authorized by the Defense Department.

1. The uniform clothing allowance has been increased to $230.00 from $179.24.

2. Monthly basic and standard maintenance allowances have been increased from $4.20 to $5.10 and from $5.70 to $7.20 respectively.

3. The new $230.00 credit will go to airmen entering the Air Force after March 1 as well as those airmen who have not received an initial uniform issue by March 1.

Principal items of clothing which took a boost in cost to airmen include low black shoes from $4.09 to $7.50; blue wool trousers, now $15.00 as compared with its former price of $10.41; the blue wool overcoat now $35.00, up from $26.76; the service blue wool coat from $24.04 to $30.60; and the blue wool service jacket, $24.40 from $18.90.

KADET KORRAL

The new policy for the first week-end after payday as explained CAPT Hockaday, is that Open Post will begin after completion of duty on Friday and terminate Sunday. It is unanimous among the cadets that this new policy is a great improvement over the previous arrangement of having the free-time on payday.

Did you have some of those good cokes this week-end, Friend?

Maybe this IFR weather is not as bad as it might seem; if you are interested ask McConnell, McCowen, Kraus, Waring, Whelan, Ulrich, Sullivan, Strickland or some of the other cadets who went west to tell you about Las Vegas. How does it feel to have a 51 making passes at you, Sullivan? Seems that 51-Baker is spending more time at other bases than here at Reese. It is certain that Rems, Smith, Brown, Butler, Siems, Waring, Vadney, Roche, Strickland, Owens or Parsons will buy the statement that it is much better duty!

Are you getting ready for warmer weather, North? Enander and Honey are next for short haircuts.

Have you noticed a new set of railroad tracks in the Tac Section, Congratulations CAPT Hockaday—too, that back pay will help.

The challenge Sqdn B presented the Tac Section was answered and the meeting ground was the base gymnasium with three games of volleyball being the weapon. The Tac Officers (Capts Bradley, Slinde, Hockaday, Lts Temple, Knight) won all three volleyball games and then "suggested" a basketball game—to further project their supremacy! However, it did not work out just that way and the much slower officers just could not keep pace with the speedy and accurate shooting B men who emerged triumphant with the close score being 13-12. High scorer for B was Molly with 6 points and Lt Knight hit 10 points for the losers.

Kansas City (AFPS) — George Washington was arrested on Lincoln's Birthday, on Truman Road, and charged with carrying a concealed weapon. His case came up in court on St. Valentine's Day.

Los Angeles (AFPS) — Sada Gabriel, 44, divorced his wife because for 14 years after he moved here she wouldn't join him. She stayed in Chicago. When they were married, he was 7 and she was 5. Their marriage was performed according to the tenets of the Moslem religion in Iraq.

Air Force Receives Latest Version Of Boeing C-97

Delivery at Seattle last week to the USAF of the first transport in the new series of C-97 Stratofreighters was announced by the Boeing Airplane Company. Assigned to the Continental Division of the Military Air Transport Service, the new airplane was flown away by a crew from ConDiv's headquarters at Kelly AFB, Texas.

In the meantime the USAF has authorized the Boeing Company to put its newly designed Boeing B-52 heavy bomber into production, Thomas K. Finletter, Secretary of the Air Force, announced last week.

Secretary Finletter said contracts for the production of the new long range planes had not yet been signed with the Boeing Company but that such action would be taken shortly.

Declining to release any specifications or performance data on the new plane, he pointed out that the B-52 is similar to the B-47 which Boeing is building for the USAF.

THAT NANTUCKET LIMERICK AND WHAT FOLLOWED

There once was a man from Nantucket
Who kept all his cash in a bucket;
But his daughter, named Nan,
Ran away with a man,
And as for the bucket,
Nantucket.
(Princeton Tiger)

But he followed the pair to Pawtucket—
The man and the girl with the bucket;
And he said to the man
He was welcome to Nan
But as for the bucket,
Pawtucket.
(Chicago Tribune)

Then the pair followed Pa to Manhasset,
Where he still held the cash as an asset;
But Nan and the man
Stole the money and ran,
And as for the bucket,
Manhasset.
(New York Press)

The chase led around to Burkburnett,
Where Pa who missed Man said gol-durn it;
Now Burk was the man
Who ran off with Nan,
And as for the bucket,
Burkburnett.

Hollywood Show

ches with his imitation of a baseball pitcher. Then he combined talents with Duke York, stunt man, to deliver a bit of slapstick.

But everyone will agree that the big moment of the evening came when Lois Andrews took over the stage.

Miss Andrews, when her act was over, had the audience applauding wildly and yelling for more. Mickey Knox, one of the stars in "City Across The River", Miss Andrews, Tully, Twitchell, York, and Barnett combined their talents in presenting a satire on life in Hollywood. Following the trend of slapstick comedy, that is having a fall guy, Barnett got the works, pies and all.

Closing out the program, Molly Veloz rendered her interpretation of Spanish dancing, to the hand-clapping accompaniment of the audience.

From the comments of the departing audience it was evident this was one of the finest shows ever to hit Reese. The Masquers Club of Hollywood certainly gave Reese morale a boost.

Hugh Grotius, a Holland jurist, is known as the Father of the League of Nations.

Baseball Hopefuls Getting Ready For Coming Season

"Every position on the baseball team is wide open", Capt. R. E. Englebretson, personnel services officer and team coach, announced this week.

Nearly 80 prospective players are out on the diamond from 1600-1700 daily working out to get in condition. The emphasis is being placed on getting the legs and arms in good shape.

Several players from last year's Rattler team, including Dale White Bill Taylor, and "Lefty" Evers are back again this year.

Last year the Rattlers closed out the season with 11 wins and 12 losses. All of the opposition came from local towns in the area, this year Reese is entered in the Inter-Service Conference and will play two home games each week here at Reese. Captain Englebretson also stated that a number of games with local teams would be scheduled.

Sgt. Ernest Bence, of M & S, holds the highest average in the league with 195. Cpl. John Kelly, of Air Police, is third with a 172 average.

Pinsetters are needed at the Bowling Alley, and anyone interested in doing this work is urged to contact S-Sgt. Ernest Lewis at 445, or to see him personally at the Bowling Alley.

In Thursday evening's game the Rattlers jumped off to a 23-14 point lead at the end of ten minutes play. Sheppard came right back to take a 37-33 halftime count, and continued to pull away from the Rattlers, the game ending 72-59 in favor of Sheppard.

Harold Fowler was the big gun for the Jets with 24 points, followed by teammate Bill Johnston who racked up 17. Dave Parker and Wayne Cox led the Rattlers with 10 and 9 points respectively.

Dale White led the Rattlers to a decisive 69-56 victory in Friday night's play. The Jets got off to a 31-26 halftime lead, but were unable to hold it as the Rattlers put up a powerful offense in the second half. White found the range late in the game, dropping in 21 points to overwhelm the Sheppard team.

Bill Ballard added 19 points to share scoring honors with White. Harold Fowler with 12 points, and Mickey Harris with 10 led the Wichita Falls team attack.

The victory gave the Rattlers a 13-8 season record. Friday night's victory over the Jets, coupled with two earlier ones at Wichita Falls, gave the Rattlers

THE FLYING PARSON

In 1944, Gil Dodds stepped out of the sports picture to devote his time to his church duties—he is an ordained minister.

His running career started in Peru, Nebraska, high school, where he was called the "mail-order runner"—a name that came from his correspondence coaching by Lloyd Hahn. But he became the "Iron Deacon" and later the "Flying Parson" after entering the Gordon School of Theology to prepare for the ministry. He won the National AAU indoor mile in 1942, and reached his peak in 1944, when he set a new world's indoor mile record of 4:07.3 in New York and then bettered it the next week in Chicago at 4:06.4.

When he abandoned sports in 1944 he thought he was through. But, he returned to the ovals in 1947, and had a very successful year, in which he bettered his indoor mile mark with a brilliant 4:05.3 in the Millrose games. Gil Dodds became America's new hope for the 1,500 meters Olympic championship, but, while practicing for the qualifying races, he became a casualty with a leg injury, and missed the competition. He was greatly disappointed, especially after his sensational comeback, but consoled himself with his faith, and returned to the pulpit.
