direct from the importers and purchased at prices that will enable us to sell them so low that every child in the county can have a present this year.

Santa Claus has made our Store Headquarters From which the Christmas trees of Haskell and several other counties can be loaded.

These goods were not purchased on a blind order, but were selected piece by piece and there is no worthless trash in the lot.

COME AND SEE THEM, you will be pleased with the GOODS AND PRICES.

CANDY, TOO, 650 POUNDS! THE PUREST AND BEST TO BE FOUND FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

We also have a complete line of seasonings, sauces, and materials for mince meats, fruit cakes, etc. Don't Forget after all this that we still have as complete a stock of staple and fancy Dry goods, gents furnishing goods and clothing as can be found in this country.

PRICES I

OWN? It is getting late in the season and we have determined to cut prices down so as to clear our store and prepare for a big spring stock.

sion in their report say: The statistics submitted show that the number of railway employes killed during the year ending June 30, 1896, was 1,861, and the number injured was 29,969. These figures indicate an increase of 50 in the number killed, and of 4.273 in the number injured, as compared with the preceding year. The number of passengers killed was 181, and the number of passengers injured 2.873. being an increase of 11 in the number killed and of 498 in the number injured. The number of persons other than employes and passengers killed was 4,406, and the number injured ; 5.845. These figures include casualties to persons reported as trespussers, of whom 0.811 were killed and 4.468 were injured. From summaries showing ratio of ensualties it is found that for every 414 men employed on railways 1 was killed, and for every 28 men employed 1 was injured. A similar comparison as to trainmen shows that 1 trainman was killed for each 152 trainmen employed, and that 1 trainman was injured for each 10 trainmen employed. The number of passengers carried for 1 passenger killed was 2 -827.474, and the number of passengers carried for 1 passenger injured was 178,132. One bird from a flock, the turkeys of which had been dying for; over a month and from which thirty had been lost within a week, was badly infested, and no other cause for sickness could be discovered. One little turkey three or four weeks old from another flock had many small worms in the duode; 'num, while the lower intestine was almost completely filfed with a tangled bunch of worms, about fifty in number, several inches in length. This trouble is very, prevalent in some flocks during the spring and summer, and especially in July and August among turkeys on land which has been overstocked with them for several years. Evidently the younger the turkeys receive the parasites the more they suffer. The worms probably irritate the bowels, cause digestive derangement, diarrhen, weakness and death. A few he has chosen. worms may do a little harm, while a

At certain seasons segments of these worms may be found early in the morning under the roosts among the droppings of the infected turkeys. Tapeworms cause more loss among Western sheep, it is said, than any other disease. As their name implies, they are flat worms. They, have a head and many joints, or segments. They have no mouth, their nourishment-the digested contents of the inceptines of their host-being received by absorption. The head attaches itself to the lining of the intestines by

There are at least a dozen well-attested suicides that have been consummated by luckless actors and singers under cover of the tragic movement of their part. A more recent example occurred at the theater in Arad, Hungary, when a well-known leading member of the company, Koloman Balla, put a real and loaded revolver to his forehead in concluding the last act of the night's drama. He fell dead amid an immense domonstration of applause from a crowded house quite unaware of the reality of the actor's emotion and gestures. He was a man of excellent family and bright in professional prospects, disappointed in love, morbid, and, as he grimly wrote to a friend, "determined to end his days as an actor ought to do-to the satisfaction of his public."

As with the saloons, the demand began with the hot weather. As the temperature rose, the call became greater. Restaurants, saloons and ice cream parlors have been forced to keep it, and in large quantities. The dairy companies recognized the possibilities of the business, and made arrangements to handle an immense supply. They had placards printed which called attention to their buttermilk, or set forth its virtues.

Razor-Back Hams.

The department of agriculture has recently issued a report on the subject of hams, a product of Isle of Wight, Surrey, Southampton and Nansemond counties of Virginia. About 30,000 pounds of the annual output. most of which is exported to Europe. These hams are pronounced equal if not superior to the Westphalian. They are made from what is called the razor-back hog. During its youth this animal is allowed to range the woods throughout the summer, where it acquires the peculiar gamy flavor for which its flesh is noted. In the autumn, when the corn crop is gathered. the hogs are driven into the fields, in which every other row is planted with black-eyed pens. On these and the 'small corn that remains they fatten very rapidly. As a finishing process the animals are allowed to eat the small potatoes that are left after the crop is harvested. The method of curing the hams and bacon is peculiar to some of which are probably equal to the genuine, where the same system of fattening and curing is employed. To secure the genuine it is necessary for individual customers to give their ordera a year in advance.

Swiss Village Houses.

Some of the village houses in Switzerland have quaint sundicis upon the front, and, where there are very fine there is not infrequently an inscription telling when the house was built and when restored, and perhaps a pions sentence in old German text, says the Christian Register. The roads through this valley constantly excited our admiration. They seem built for all time and are as well kept as a lady's parlor floor. These beautiful highways over the wildest passes show how effectually a paternal power watches over the safety and comfort of the traveler.

Some of the prettiest villas upon these hillsides are the summer houses of wealthy Swiss cooks, restaurantkeepers, confectioners and hotel proprietors to be found in all the large towns of Europe, and who return to their native valleys for rest and recreation. Though they may not be socially distinguished in the places mother's sister took her and brought where they have acquired their wealth her up as her own. At the age of two here as elsewhere.

Well, once upon a time the Singer came to the boading-house on the square. He was young and his audiences-they were largely femininedeclared that nowhere else was there a singer who carroled out songs and obbed out ballads so movingly. Whether or not he was peerless is a question, but at any rate he had made a great success, and people wondered that he should come to the dingy abode of the boarders and the Old Maid. Some said that it was because he had lived there in the days before he was known to fashion, and some whispered knowingly that the lady to whom the Singer sang lived over the way in the stone house with the bal-
