Beautiful West Coke County Wildflowers! Coke County has been blessed with a good showing of bluebonnets this season. Many residents and visitors have been seen parked by the side of the road taking pictures of their children or grandchildren. Some of them have stopped just to take in what Mother Nature has provided. According to the Bluebonnet Brigade advisor, retired TxDOT supervisor John Stephens, we have enough bluebonnets this year to plan a late afternoon get-together and harvest some seed. If you would like to help, or if you have some areas around your roadway that you would like to seed, the harvest date, time, and location will be announced in next week's issue of The Observer/Enterprise. enjoy the day.

There will be displays featuring a lot of historic items, but also display of some of the newest and latest. The auto show will have every thing from the oldest to the newest. Some of the autos will be shown in their original or original restored state, while other vehicles will have been modified or changed in unbelievable ways and then there will be some Just Plain Janes. The whole family will have a chance to vote on their favorite.

Motorcycles will be shiny and noisy, some will have two wheels while others will have three. Some will be vintage and some will be just off the showroom floor. We are sure some of your family members would like to climb on one of the motorcycles and ride off, but if it is not yours, please don't. Remember to vote on your favorite.

In between all of this, there will be different individuals and groups playing music during the day. At 7:30 pm, the dance band will take over for a street dance

Medal of Honor Recipients Honored! Lana Richards and Ann Pate traveled to Gainesville, Texas, to be a part of this community's large event honoring US Medal of Honor recipients. The pair is shown with the Fort Chadbourne Medal of Honor Display at the Gainesville Medal of Honor banquet. They also enjoyed their visit with Bob O'Malley, a Medal of Honor recipient, and Barbara O'Malley at the Medal Honor Park in Gainesville. The tribute was designed by Barbara O'Malley.

Fort Chadbourne Attends Medal of Honor Tribute

By Ann Pate
This past weekend, Lana Richards and Ann Pate attended the Medal of Honor Host City Program in Gainesville, TX. They were invited to attend and display the Fort Chadbourne Medal of Honor Collection at several of the functions. When first asked they were hesitant, because it meant disassembling a major display, but Ann Pate said "Once we understood the magnitude of what the city of Gainesville does for our recipients, and the number of Medal of Honor recipients that were attending, we knew we couldn't say no to such an honorable request."

Gainesville started the Medal of Honor project over 10 years ago, and it has grown into one of the largest events to honor our nation's heroes. The recipients are treated to four days in the city with banquets, fish fries, parades, including lunches with active military and first responders. They visit schools, have autograph and book signing events, and give back to the city that has shown them the great respect they deserve. Gainesville has planted trees for each new attendee each year, and built a Medal of Honor park with bricks laid by war with each recipient's name. A large black granite memorial with an eagle stands over the park, and has the living recipients names carved in the stone who have been a part of the Gainesville project. The day Lana and Ann visited the park, Medal of Honor recipient Bob O'Malley and his wife Barbara, who designed the park, were there. He pointed out his name on the granite piece and said with a smile, it was nice to be able to read his name there, because it meant he was still alive.

The men ranged from WWII, 91 year old Hershel "Woody" Williams, to one of our newest recipients, Clint Ramesha, who received his medal from the war with Afghanistan. Others were Korea recipients Hiroshi Miyamura and Duane Dewey, and Vietnam veterans Gary Wetzell, Bennie Adkins, Melvin Morris, Don Ballard, Bob O'Malley, Clarence Sasser, Robert Patterson, Michael Fitzmaurice, Hal Fritz, James Taylor, Kenneth Stumpf and Allen Lynch.

Ann and Lana were honored to be asked, and even more so to participate in something this upstanding. The entire city of Gainesville, its residents, volunteers, and the directors that put so much work into this project should be very proud for what they have achieved, and be thanked for the patriotism they show our military. It is very humbling to see a community do what this city has done.

If you haven't visited the Fort Chadbourne museum and seen their Medal of Honor display, please do so. It too has a wall listing all 3,491 recipients by war, along with a short video that explains much of the history of the Medal. It honors six Medal of Honor recipients that were stationed at Fort Chadbourne in the 1850's, along with a sword belonging to Peter Boehm who had the sword with him at Fort Chadbourne when he was stationed there in 1867. There is also a Henry rifle that belonged to Medal of Honor recipient Alonso P. Weber, but the most amazing of the collection is the Medals themselves. They consist of medals from the 1800's to the ones they issue today. One very special medal is the Navy Tiffany Cross, the rarest of the medals because they ceased to issue that in the 1940's. An original medal from the Purge of 1917 belonging to James Gould is also on display.

Although, Fort Chadbourne would like to honor other request to display these medals at events, it would be impossible to do so. This was a rare event, and one Fort Chadbourne is proud to say they were able to contribute to in honoring our nations Medal of Honor recipients and all our Veterans. God Bless them all.

Stars! The future Stars Sports Day (Young Athletes Programs), offered through SOTX, Special Olympics Texas, was held at Bronte Elementary on Friday, April 3. Pre-K and Kindergarten students participated in this special event.

The Young Athletes Program is a sports play program designed to introduce children ages two to seven to the world of physical activity. Children with and without intellectual disabilities participate together, prior to and regardless of Special Olympics eligibility at age eight. The program utilizes physical activities to develop fundamental motor tracking and eye-hand coordination play. Children build these skills by participating in specific activities on a regular basis. The program concentrates on applying the skills learned through these activities in preparation for Special Olympics or traditional sports competitions. YAP was developed in direct response to requests from families wanting to engage their children in physical fitness. The program is solely based on participation; there is no competition. The skills these children learn will improve all areas of their lives, including participating in future sports competitions.

The 6th grade class was responsible for being in charge of each of the fifteen stations. All students did an awesome job and represented Bronte well!

Despite sticker changes, farm trailers, trucks require attention

Two steps, one sticker. New legislation has reduced the number of stickers Texans are required to have on their vehicles. But it hasn't cut down on drivers' responsibility. "We're still required to both inspect and register our vehicles," said John Ross Copeland, Coke County Farm Bureau president. "Farm trucks and trailers are no different. It's important that Coke County farmers and ranchers still follow through with the steps they completed prior to the change in legislation."

Farm trailers with a gross vehicle weight under 4,000 pounds need neither registration nor inspection.

Farm trailers between 4,000 and 34,000 pounds do not need inspection and can be registered with a farm tag provided that trailer is used exclusively to haul commodities, supplies and items related to farming.

"The rules haven't changed," John Ross Copeland said. "But it's important with this sticker changeover that we not forget to inspect and register farm vehicles and trailers that need it."

Drivers caught without proper inspection or registration could face a traffic citation for the infraction.

Rules for registering farm vehicles and trailers can be found online at www.txdps.state.tx.us/cve/Farm.htm.

... Winters Festival

Lone Star Lead and Lace will be there to help Winters celebrate it's 125th Birthday. They are an act Out of the Old West with their period dress costumes and staged gun fights. Also the actors will be accepting fast draw contest, so try your speed.

Tractors are a completely different story. The drivers will be using their tractors to test their driving skills. The String Olympics will be a test of the driver's skills in driving a straight line, stopping close to the fence, backing up and running the slow race. Come watch the Olympics and vote for your favorite.

There will be new and old aprons on display in the Rock Hotel. If you have an apron to display, please contact Wanda Brewer at (325) 754-5313 for more information.

A silent auction will be on the front porch and pies and drinks will be served out back. Over in the Gus Pruser Agriculture Exhibit there will be information and demonstration booths. One of the booths will be the Texas Department of Transportation's Impaired Driver Simulator. How good a driver will you be trying to text and drive?

The goal of the Z. I. Hale Museum's Memories of Times Past "Spring Festival" is to raise funds for the museum's financial needs. The group hopes that you and your family will come and help them achieve their goal. They will be selling donated merchandise in the Rock Hotel's Silent Auction and Gift Shop. They will have a raffle for a $450 Dinner and Movie Package - a $300 Perini Ranch Steakhouse gift card, a $100 credit card and a "Tom Perini Cookbook".

Also, the Cowboy Church's Chuck Wagon will be letting the kids roast their own weenie and marshmallow over a camp fire. All of these proceeds will be used for the maintenance and up keep of the Z. I. Hale Museum Complex.

SPECIAL THANKS

A special thanks to those who helped with the Barbeque: Jeffie Roberts and Crystal Stanford and the Directors Wives. A very special thank you to Bronte Grocery Store, B&K Processing and Super H for their donation of meat & Jack Horton for cooking the meat and Clark & Noel Tinkler for cooking the beans and making the coleslaw. Also, thanks to the 4-H and FFA parents who worked in the concession stand. Thanks to Shane Kelton for announcing during the show and sale. Thanks to Stacy Kelton for keeping the books.
