Robert Lee Cemetery Association needs assistance

There are several curbed lots at the Robert Lee Cemetery

Yard of the Season! The results of the Restoring Bronte Foundation's (RBF) spring "Yard of the Season" for Bronte are in, and the winners are Don and Joyce Bailey at 401 Key Street in Bronte.

Competition was keen, as five yards were nominated and all of them were equally beautiful! Those nominees included the homes of Jim and Monica Allen, Jeff and DeAnn Lee, Fran Crumpler, and Ashley Graham. In addition to the nominated yards, the judging team traveled throughout Bronte to view other yards and found nine others that were outstanding! Criteria for judging the Yard of the Season included a well-groomed lawn and trimmed trees and shrubs, and bonus points were awarded for flowering plants, planters, rock features, or other sculptures or yard art that balanced with the overall look.

The team also made a special designation this quarter, and would like to recognize the home of Glenda Draper with an "Angel Garden" award. Glenda passed away a few weeks ago from a long, arduous battle with cancer, but her yard is beautifully manicured and blooming and a living testament to her many years of loving gardening.

Congratulations to Don and Joyce Bailey for winning this quarter's award! They received a $50 "Bronte Bucks" gift certificate for their efforts; however, they have donated the certificate back to the RBF for use in their many community projects.

The next "Yard of the Season" will be named in August, so keep spreading the word as we enter the summer months.

who's owners are unknown. These lots are in Sections 2, 3, 7 and 10. The lot in Section 2 includes the name "Spencer" in the curbing. Anyone who has information on the ownership of these plots is urged to call George Grim at (325) 453-9902. The ownership of the plots will revert to the cemetery association if not identified by September 1, 2017.

BHS Alumnus Receives Prestigious Degree! Robert James and Alice Joyce Wilcox of Tennyson are proud to announce their daughter's graduation from the Shakespeare Institute in Stratford-upon-Avon, England, where she has achieved her Master of Arts in Shakespeare and Theatre. Rebecca was one of three students from the United States who was accepted and completed this program, and one of twenty-five candidates accepted internationally. The Shakespeare Institute, located in the Bard's hometown, is the elite establishment for Shakespeare study as it offers resources from the Shakespeare Birthplace Trust and partners with the Royal Shakespeare Company. At the Institute Rebecca learned under renowned professors, such as Michael Dobson and John Jowett, the upper echelon in Shakespeare Academia.

Rebecca Wilcox Aidala is a 1987 graduate of Bronte High School. She pursued her Bachelor's degree as a non-traditional student at Angelo State University, graduating summa cum laude in 2004 with a Bachelor of Arts in Sociology and a double minor in Spanish and Criminal Justice. After this, she began the Masters of Public Administration at ASU, but forewent this goal to accept a teaching position at Ambleside School of San Angelo. She has been teaching junior high humanities, which includes two Shakespeare productions at the end of each academic year. As of May 2017, Rebecca has edited and directed twenty-two Shakespeare plays. She will continue teaching Shakespeare at Ambleside, but she will assume the role as the high school humanities teacher, which also includes theatre production.

Coke County farmers, ranchers to benefit from shift at USDA

If Coke County farmers and ranchers can grow and raise it, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) will find a place to sell it.

Coke County Farm Bureau (CFB) applauds that sentiment from U.S. Secretary of Agriculture George "Sonny" Perdue.

Perdue recently announced the creation of a new position at USDA to promote American agricultural products at home and abroad.

"Having an undersecretary for trade and foreign agricultural affairs emphasizes an investment in American grown and raised products for consumers at home and abroad," John Ross Copeland, Coke CFB president, said. "It supports Coke County farmers and ranchers and our local economy by ensuring their products are promoted in the global marketplace."

Perdue announced the new position May 11, which is part of the reorganization of USDA.

The undersecretary will be charged with ensuring American farmers and ranchers are well-equipped to sell their products around the world.

"American farmers and ranchers actually produce more than U.S. consumers need, thanks to advanced techniques," John Ross said. "Trade allows us to sell other countries our excess. Products our consumers want that aren't available here can be imported. Promoting trade really helps consumers and agriculture."

U.S. agricultural and food exports account for 20 percent of the value of production, according to the USDA. Every dollar of those exports created another $1.27 in business activity.

Also, every $1 billion in U.S. agricultural exports supports approximately 8,000 jobs across the American economy.

Perdue's reformation plan at USDA also calls for an undersecretary for farm production and conservation, among other moves.
