Ridener earns stripe through STEP

by A1C Nanette Arpin
Public Affairs Specialist

On March 4, TSgt. Carl L. Ridener received a phone call informing him that he was to report to Col. Monte D. Mon-gomery, 64th Flying Training Wing commander. Sergeant Ridener's first reaction was "What did I do wrong?"

Nervously Sergeant Ridener checked his uniform one more time before entering Colonel Montgomery's office. Once inside Sergeant Ridener was told by Colonel Montgomery that he has been out of 35-10 for five days. At that moment Sergeant Ridener again looked over his uniform then he realized what was about to happen.

On March 1 a message was sent to Reese from the Air Force Communications Command stating that Sergeant Ridener had been selected for promotion to Master Sergeant through the stripes For Exceptional Performers program.

Colonel Montgomery presented the then dazed but happy Ridener his first set of Master Sergeant stripes then congratulated him.

"I'm still in a daze. It's hard to describe," Sergeant Ridener said.

The NCOIC of weather maintenance, 1958th communications squadron, has been in the Air Force for 15½ years. During this time he has been working towards his Bachelor of Science Degree which he will be receiving from Wayland Baptist College in May.

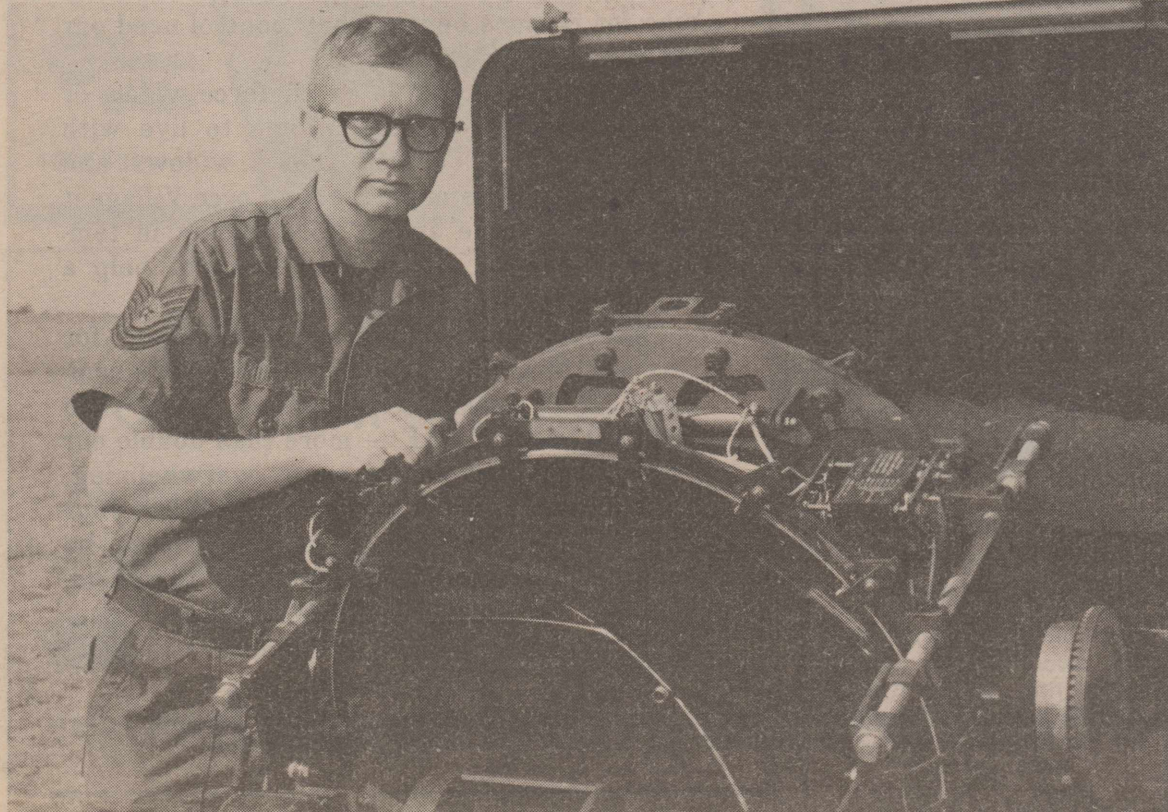

Working in weather maintenance is a job he has enjoyed since he has enlisted. He is responsible for maintaining weather equipment throughout the base including storm detection radar, nine wind measuring sets; seven which are located on base and two in Terry County, temperature humidity set and cloud height measuring set.

Ridener arrived at Reese in December 1978 and has since then won various photography awards including three first places at the Air Training Command photography contest in the people division and a first place in the Air Force wide photography contest again in the people division. In the future Ridener plans to open up his own photography studio.

Not only completing his bachelor of science degree Ridener also is enrolled in the Community College of the Air Force. Education is important to him, "I feel it is important to make the most of off duty education regardless of rank. I feel it is foolish for anyone to become stagnant and not improve," explained Ridener.

A science fiction and fact reader Ridener also enjoys various activities with his two children and plans on starting a vegetable and flower garden this spring.

Soviet expansion deemed Colonel Mellot's topic

ESC vice commander will speak to AFA

Col. Lester R. Mellot Jr., Vice Commander of the Electronics Security Command at Kelly AFB, Texas, will be speaker for the Air Force Association's quarterly dinner and meeting at 7:30 p.m. here.

In his speech, Colonel Mellot will discuss the rapid expansion of Soviet military air, ground, sea, and nuclear forces. Special emphasis will be placed on the Soviet's radio electronic combat capabilities and the Electronic Security Command's methods of countering the threat.

Colonel Mellot is a long time member of the Security Command. He received degrees in Military Science and Public Administration from the University of Maryland and Auburn University, respectively. He is a distinguished graduate of the Officer Candidate School and has attended Squadron Officer's School and the Air War College. The 32-year Air Force veteran is married and has three children, one of which is a 1977 Air Force Academy graduate.

Colonel Mellot's speech

preludes the Air Force Association's annual membership drive scheduled to begin in April. Anyone interested in attending should contact Capt. Tim Sims at 885-3724 or 885-3754 before Tuesday.

Cost is $6.50 per person.

AF Assistance Fund campaign off to good start

The 1982 Air Force Assistance Fund campaign got off to a good start. Three base squadrons have already surpassed the 100 percent mark.

The 1958th Communications Squadron lead the jack-rabbit race to over 100 percent donating over $400 to this year's effort. Capt. John Motley is the communications squadron's campaign project officer.

The 35th Flying Training Squadron leads in total contribution participation after having reached 130 percent of their squadron goal. Capt. Robert Lines is the officer in charge of the 35th's 1982 campaign.

The third squadron to cross the 100 percent line was the 64th Student Squadron. The student squadron under the direction of AFAF project officer 1st Lt. Rick Devereaux has already accumulated $3,549 surpassing their squadron goal by $249.

Lieutenant Devereaux indicated that the money collected was contributed by approximately 229 people in the approximately 620 strong squadron.

Base personnel are encouraged to contribute to the fund remembering that this is the only one solely for Air Force families.

ATC commander urges people to uphold tradition

Gen. Thomas M. Ryan
Commander, Air Training Command

Air Force members have long enjoyed a reputation for taking care of their own. That's as it should be for we're truly a family, and family members traditionally support one another — both emotionally and financially.

One of the many ways we show our commitment to our fellow blue suiters is through annual donations to the air force assistance fund. This year's AFAF drive runs through the month of March and concludes April 2.

Every dollar donated to the AFAF goes directly to help members of our Air Force family who for reasons beyond their control need our assistance.

Your gift may enable an air force widow or widower with a limited income to live with dignity in the enlisted men's widows and dependents home or in the Air Force Village it could also rescue an Air Force family in temporary financial distress, or it might help a dependent child attend college.

I'm especially proud of our past support for this worthwhile cause. During last year's campaign, ATC members donated more than $600,000 to the AFAF — more than double our original goal. Our response was overwhelming.

I know we can do it again in 1982. When your AFAF keyworker comes around, please be generous, we have a proud tradition to uphold.

Human body—a 'wonderful machine'

Hospital commander stresses good health

By Col. Clint E. Chambers
USAF Hospital Reese Commander

In this age of high technology, computers, and advanced machines, man's needs are often overlooked. We tend to focus on the machine (creation) rather than the man (creator). Machines are cared for with regular maintenance. The largest organization here at Reese is maintenance and this is not by chance. Each day we see the good job that maintenance personnel are doing and that aircraft, even though they are several years old, are working well and performing their training mission. A great deal of planning, effort and preventive maintenance makes it possible to extend the life of these machines.

In the field of medicine the benefits of high technology are seen daily. With the ventilation support machines we are able to keep people living who only a few years ago would not have survived injury or disease. In the hospital, we sometimes can become so involved in results of laboratory tests, the operation of the ventilator or the technical aspects of our operation that we may overlook the human and emotional needs of our patients.

When our forefathers framed our Constitution and Bill of Rights, they placed great emphasis on the protection of the individual's rights. One wonders if they could foresee the coming industrial revolution and the effect that our technology would make man seem less significant.

Although we take wonderful care of machines, such as aircraft, automobiles and computers, we tend to delay and put off the need to care for our own health and thereby neglect our most important resource. We all know that with the proper diet, rest and exercise we can all do a great deal on our own to maintain good body function for a longer life in good health.

Whether you are scheduled for a physical exam, a medical appointment, a dental appointment, or an immunization, please keep it so that we can help you maintain the most important and wonderful machine in the world, your own body.

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. Monte Montgomery, 64th FTW commander. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty number so that a personnel reply may be made, however, neither are mandatory. Callers are urged to use their chain of command to air complaints or comments if possible. If not, call the CARE Line at Ext. 3273.

RECENTLY AN AAFES patron phoned questioning why the Shopette had closed 10 to 15 minutes earlier than the posted time. It is our BX managers policy that base AAFES facilities open five minutes before the posted time and do not close until five minutes afterwards.

It is my understanding that managers and supervisors must comply with the manager's policy or face disciplinary action. In some cases, personnel may even be fired.

In future cases, I urge BX patrons to report problems of this nature to Exchange Manager Dan Arias, 885-4583. He will take the necessary action.

Thanks for bringing the situation to my attention.

A CALLER ASKED for an update on the progress of the wind generator tests. I'm glad to report that the generators we took possession of Jan. 8 have produced approximately 9,800 kilowatts of electricity as of today. At this rate, it appears that the turbines will produce just under one percent of the base's electricity needs each month.

The wind generators are producing electricity at approximately the same rate quoted the Air Force by the manufacturer. At this rate we can expect the generators to have paid for themselves in about seven years.

This is a U.S. Air Force test program designed to evaluate the feasibility of saving money by supplementing commercial power with power produced by USAF owned wind generators. The program is set up so that the 64th Civil Engineers can evaluate the data collected from the generators as they are used throughout the year. At the end of the year, all of the information about the generators performance will be evaluated.

The evaluations will be done locally by CE's Joe Hassell. He will be looking at the maintenance required over a 12 month period, the cost effectiveness of using the wind to generate electricity, and in general just how well the generators have performed compared with the statistics quoted by the manufacturer.

A CONCERNED COMMUNITY member wanted to know if and why the bus going to the South Plains Mall Tuesday evenings had been stopped and that if the service needed drivers he wanted to know how to volunteer. I'm glad to say the bus has not been stopped, but it is dependent upon military personnel with government drivers licenses who are needed to drive the bus.

If you would like to help drive the bus, then I urge you to contact Charleen Baker at the Mathis Recreation Center or call her at 885-3787/3722. Thanks for the call.

ANOTHER CARE LINE caller wanted to know why the Auto Hobby Shop was not open at a quarter to one Feb. 17 when it was scheduled to open at noon.

The shop normally opens at noon on Wednesdays, but due to the scheduled employees sudden illness that day, someone not already scheduled to work had to be called in. Please excuse the inconvenience.

Red Cross bids farewell to outgoing chapter chairman

by A1C Nanette Arpin
Public Affairs Specialist

Red Cross volunteers attended a farewell party for Lynn Wright, chairman of the Reese volunteer Red Cross program, and to welcome her new replacement Cindy I. DePatis.

The party was hosted by Jane Montgomery, wife of Col. Monte D. Montgomery, 64th Flying Training Wing commander in their home.

Wright was presented two certificates of appreciation for all the work she did helping improve the program. Presenting the certificates were Capt. Carolyn C. Jaskowiec, liaison officer for Reese volunteer Red Cross and Johnita Franklin, director of the service to military families, Lubbock Red Cross chapter representative.

Wright commented that the Red Cross program here "was a good organization to work with. Since I love working with people I was able to help others and feel satisfied with my involvement in the program."

Wright also spoke of her replacement, saying "she will do a terrific job. She has been a Licensed Practical Nurse since August 1980. She is the type of person I was looking for to take over my position," stated Wright.

Believing that the biggest part of the success of the program is the people who make up the organization Wright will now be leaving Reese with her husband Capt. David A. Wright and daughter Audrey for Tinker AFB, Okla.

DePatis and her husband 2nd Lt. Laurence E. DePatis, T-37 instructor pilot, arrived at Reese Feb. 10.

DePatis learned about the Red Cross volunteer program and new chairman position opening from Captain Jaskowiec.

Currently there are 13 volunteers in the program, but more are needed. Anyone interested in becoming a Red Cross Volunteer should contact DePatis at 885-4224.

New weight control program set

by Sgt. Doyle Tillman
Public Affairs Specialist

A new base weight control program begins Monday. The new program begins only a month before the new Air Force weight standards take effect.

"We want to stress more the health aspect of the program than the 'someone told you to' weight control program of the past," said Physician Assistant, Capt. Charles Pillow.

Under the new standards many people not now overweight will have to begin watching their diets indicated the P.A.

Captain Pillow continually stressed that the new program will focus more on good health than in the past. "We are here to help save careers, not throw them away," he said.

Captain Pillow author of "Your Health is no Accident" heads the new program. Beginning Monday, he will start seeing the first of approximately 150 base folks that may have a weight control problem. Because of the new weight changes, most base officials agree that work loads for weight control monitors will increase greatly. This will make the program available only to active duty military who are overweight.

P.A. Pillow explained that a few months down the road he hopes to open the program up to those who want to lose unsightly extra pounds both on active duty and dependents. He encouraged spouses to attend the health education programs and diet counseling with the overweight AF member.

The new base program will not be limited by rank or any other factor connected with the service; everyone, regardless of age, will comply with the Air Force's new weight standards.

USAF Hospital Reese will be supervising the operation, but their supervision will not release any base organization from the responsibility of identifying and supporting the weight control program.

Under the new program, the overweight personnel will be identified by squadron orderly rooms. To accomplish this, they will weigh in all newly assigned personnel; check all squadron members weight annually (prescribed by AF regulations); or as directed by the unit commanders, first sergeants or immediate supervisors.

The squadrons are then responsible for insuring that the identified member gets an appointment with Captain Pillow.

The half hour session will consist of a medical examination and a discussion with the patient about the medical history. P.A. Pillow will then prescribe both a diet and exercise program. The Reese P.A. will then go into detail with the patient about the new program.

Captain Pillow prefers that the spouses be present because they too play a large part in a successful weight loss program.

Captain Pillow made it clear that patients assigned to the program would see him once every two weeks until he was sure the patients weight was under control. When the weight loss is sufficient, the patient will be placed on schedule or 30 day appointments until the prescribed weight is attained.

A committee formed by P.A. Pillow, health education personnel and others with backgrounds in physical fitness will evaluate the patients at their 3-day check-up.

Based upon their findings, patients may be removed from the program; granted additional dieting and exercise help; or returned to their squadron for the commanders to take necessary action.

Captain Pillow continually stressed that the objective of the program is not just to wear off pounds, but lose weight while at the same time improving their health.

P.A. Pillow did concede that for those who have difficulty losing weight, "we have a behavior modification program." The captain also commented that for those active members not quite ready for the new program, but a little hefty there is TOPS.

Keeping the mission first means working late shifts

by Sgt. Doyle Tillman
Public Affairs Specialist

When it comes to working late, most think of the security police or emergency room teams, but have you ever wondered just what happens on the Reese flightline at night?

The flightline is busy 24 hours a day, aircraft maintenance specialists, jet engine mechanics, crew chiefs and numerous other specialty technicians work throughout the night insuring that Reese T-37s and 38s are continually ready to fly.

For the grave-yard shifts the work begins at midnight each Sunday and does not end until midnight Friday. The day shift works from 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., like most of the base, but once each six to eight weeks these maintenance troops get to pull weekend duty, unlike most of the base,—something they may or may not get compensation time for.

The weekend duty is pulled Saturday and Sunday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The first of the evening shifts takes over from 4 p.m. to midnight. Swing shift mechanics are generally responsible for getting the necessary maintenance work done so that the midnight shift can get the jets preflighted. The day shift is usually responsible for safe launches and recoveries of base aircraft.

During the two nights a week that student pilots fly at night, all three shifts get heavily involved with the launch and recovery of base trainers.

CMSgt. Robert Christopher, maintenance supervisor, estimated that about half of the total maintenance

California sends out tax notice

One response should work

Many military personnel stationed in California in 1980 have received second notices from the Franchise Tax Board. The notices set out assessments of California state income taxes and penalties for tax year 1980.

In many cases these second notices were sent despite the fact that the taxpayer promptly responded to a first notice explaining why no state return for 1980 had been filed. The first notice has a response form on the reverse of the notice on which the taxpayer can indicate that no return was filed because the taxpayer had only military income and was not a resident of California. The second notice gives a toll-free "800" number, but this number can be used only from within California. Military personnel no longer stationed in California may call (916) 355-0370, Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m.-5 p.m. P.S.T. or they may write Franchise Tax Board, Sacramento, California 95867.

They need not go through the protest procedures set out on the reverse of the second notice. Rather, it will be enough to state by phone or letter when the military member entered California, that he or she was not a California resident in 1980, what state he or she was then a resident of, and that he or she had no California income. If the board does not receive a response to the second notice, further notices will be issued.

Library offers Reese literary variety

by Sgt. Doyle Tillman
Public Affairs Specialist

The base library offers base community members more than the traditional books, the Reese facility offers offices and personnel alike the opportunity to check out paintings, records, magazines and even language records.

Staffed by Librarian Mary Rinas, Maria Ibarra, library aid, Celia Ceffalo, and Gloria Campagnone, library clerk typist; the library offers entertainment and knowledge to students, avid readers and anyone else in search of knowledge. The library is open Monday through Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Fridays 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturdays from 1 to 5 p.m. and closed Sundays.

Currently the library is located across from the Enlisted Open Mess, but the two floors of books and learning material are to be moved into the old exchange building in mid July according to Librarian Rinas.

Rinas mentioned that "should a base member need a book or piece of literature that the Reese library does not have, she or her staff would find it at another base library and try to work an intra-library loan."

The base library also offers patrons a vast file of microfish which they can use on the reader-printer owned by the library. One library representative commented that alot of the information contained in the film is not available anywhere else in the local library. She also added that while the library does have the reader-printer nothing can be reprinted from the microfish until the right ink comes in.

The library staff indicated a true interest in getting the most up-to-date materials for their patrons. One staff member indicated that future plans called for a photocopier, many students need to make copies of reference material they can not take from the library.

The librarian indicated that somewhere down the road she would also like to get a children's program going.

We try to get anything our patrons want," said Ceffalo "through the best means we can, like the intra-library loan program now in use."

Each of the library staff works to please the patron, but as far as new programs and improvements go, they made it clear it depends on the amount of patron business the library does.

MARY RINAS, REESE LIBRARIAN, looks up this books index card as she prepares it for a return to the shelf. The base library maintains approximately 7,000 to 10,000 books for patrons to use.

You can take the hard work out of handling your finances with

DIRECT DEPOSIT

When you have your paycheck sent directly to the credit union, you take some of the snarls out of working with your family budget.

1. Systematic saving. You can plan to have certain amounts going to specific share accounts and certificates, and watch your savings grow at a steady rate.

2. Individual Retirement Accounts. These were created by Congress in an effort to encourage saving on a long-term basis—and you can contribute to your own long-term financial security each payday with Direct Deposit.

3. Share Drafts. Nothing goes better with Direct Deposit than Share Drafts—the personal financial system that's better than checking. Your paycheck will be in your share draft account on payday, and you'll earn 6% daily interest* on any balance over $100.00. And there's no minimum balance to maintain to avoid service charge!

4. Security. Direct Deposit means your check won't get lost in the mail or stolen from your car. It's there in your credit union account when you need it, and you didn't even have to carry it over.

Eliminate delays, worries, and other paycheck hassles with the Direct Deposit system . . . and use it to enjoy all the advantages of your member-owned credit union. (*Dividends are based on the credit union's earnings at the end of a dividend period and cannot be guaranteed.)
