Base sees summer changes

Several take new jobs

Summer at Reese was anything but ho-hum this year. As the summer nears its end, there are only a handful of key base positions that have not changed hands.

Locally, the departure of Col. Monte Montgomery last month opened up the wing commander position, which has been filled by Col. Richard E. Hearne, former base commander. Col. Hearne's old slot has been filled by Col. John R. Hullender, recently arrived from the Pentagon where he had served in the Directorate of Personnel Programs since June 1980.

Another relatively new arrival to Reese is deputy base commander Lt. Col. Elton "Speck" Brian, who comes to Reese from San Angelo, Texas, where he was assistant professor of aerospace studies at Angelo State University. Lt. Col. Brian replaced Lt. Col. Donald Neff in July.

The wing inspector general, Lt. Col. Michael R. Hollomon departed PCS in August. His position was filled by Maj. Elvy Pettit, lieutenant colonel selectee, who moved across the base from the 54th FTS.

Col. Jerald Ellington retired and incoming Col. James P. Ulm took over as the 64th's Deputy Commander for Operations, arriving in May from the Air War College.

Col. John D. Herbert is still the deputy commander for maintenance. Col. Donald McCullough remains the deputy commander for resources. Col. Clint E. Chambers is still the commanding physician at Reese's U.S. Air Force Hospital.

Command of the 64th Student Squadron has remained with Lt. Col. Peter P. Cerrow, but former operations officer Col. John D. Vrettos succeeded Lt. Col. David A. Warner as commander of the 54th Flying Training Squadron in June when Lt. Col. Warner moved to the maintenance department.

Lt. Col. Galand D. Kramer still commands the 35th Flying Training Squadron.

Maintenance commanders now include Maj. Stanley W. Zalace, 64th Field Maintenance Squadron; and Maj. Gary F. Norris, 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron.

Commanders were not the only people on the move this summer, Lt. Col. Edward C. Priest announced his plans to retire from the Personnel Division chief's slot. Lt. Col. Daniel P. Gomez has since stepped in to assume the duties as Personnel Division chief, arriving here last month from Little Rock AFB, Ark.

Speaking of "chiefs", former OMS maintenance superintendent Jerry A. Price is now the 64th's senior enlisted advisor. Chief Price replaced CMSgt. Coy Martin who left for Vance AFB, Okla. last month.

From the top, President Ronald Reagan continues to lead our military as the commander-in-chief and Caspar Weinberger is still the Secretary of Defense.

Verne Orr is still the Secretary of the Air Force, but the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff Gen. David C. Jones, Air Force, was replaced by Gen. George W. Vessey Jr., Army.

During late June, Gen. Lew Allen Jr., Air Force Chief of Staff, announced his retirement plans. President Reagan appointed Gen. Charles A. Gabriel to fill the vacant Air Force position.

Gen. Thomas M. Ryan Jr., commander, Air Training Command, completed his first year as ATC's top man during August.

Reese Open House set; AF's 35th anniversary

The 1982 edition of the Reese AFB open house, Sept. 18, begins at 9 a.m. when gates open to the general public.

Civilian aviators will be able to fly their private aircraft into Reese that morning for a safety symposium.

During the symposium, civilian and military persons with their private pilot's license will get to experience the altitude chamber, ride in the flight simulators and get briefings from various organizations around Reese.

Weather will be presenting their briefing in order that civilian aviators can get a better understanding of what military pilots get.

Later during the open house, military working dogs and their handlers from Dyess AFB, Texas, will be on hand to demonstrate their drilling techniques and how the dogs react under gun fire.

The canines will also use their keen noses to demonstrate how they sniff out drugs and/or explosives when they're called upon to do so. The Dyess teams will also demonstrate the closeness between handlers and their dogs as they use hand and voice signals to get the dogs to attack would be aggressors.

Throughout the day open house spectators can get first hand looks at a lot of the equipment used at Reese. The maintenance squadrons and the security police will display much of the equipment they use daily. The Fire Department here will be displaying their large crash fire and rescue trucks too.

From downtown, the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and the Air Force will have recruiting displays set up to answer questions about their respective services.

Some of the over 35 jets spectators will see include the F-15 "Eagle", the F-16, the C-141 "Starlifter" and the propeller driven C-130 "Hercules". Planes on display at the Reese Open House are from the Air National Guard, the Air Force Reserve, the Navy and Marine Corps.

There will also be performances by the U.S. Air Force Academy's Drum and Bugle Corps. Sabre drill and Falcone teams, "Wings of Blue" jump team, the 82nd Airborne Division, Fort Bragg, N.C., and the Confederate Air Force. The CAF will display aircraft previously used by the Air Force.

This the 35th anniversary of the Air Force will display a broader spectrum of Air Force life to the public and Air Force families than ever before.

Sept. 12-18 set aside to honor Hispanics

by Gen. Thomas M. Ryan Jr.
Commander, Air Training Command

President Reagan has proclaimed the week of Sept. 12-18 as National Hispanic Heritage Week. This annual observance, begun 15 years ago, is a time set aside to pay special tribute to Americans of Hispanic descent.

From the earliest explorations of the New World, men and women of Hispanic origin have contributed significantly to the development of our diverse American culture. In fields such as music, literature, art, architecture, politics, industry, science and religion, Hispanic Americans have added beauty, intellect and spiritual strength to our nation's heritage.

As members of our armed forces, they have served gallantly and with distinction in our nation's wars, from the Revolution to Vietnam. Several have received the highest decoration our nation can bestow—the Medal of Honor.

I urge all members of ATC to reflect on the contributions of Hispanic Americans and to join in local festivities planned for National Hispanic Heritage Week.

Big challenge still ahead

by Col. John D. Herbert
Deputy Commander for Maintenance

Reese personnel have long been keyed to the notion of doing things the right way, and our wing's success over the years attests to our belief in that notion. Quite often, we are called upon to put our best foot forward and we've always delivered. Past Inspector General and Standardization/Evaluation inspections are but a few examples of how Reese people pull together to accomplish the task correctly. And a more recent example was the change of command ceremony for our wing commander. Every facet of the ceremony was executed so well that everyone, including numerous distinguished visitors, was notably impressed. Comments such as, "What a show!" and "A typical Reese performance!" were widely received. It certainly makes us feel good when comments like that are received.

But to borrow a widely used phrase . . .

"You ain't seen nothin' yet," because the weekend beginning Sept. 17 promises to challenge the best of our wing's capabilities. Scheduled for that weekend are several key events: Friday morning begins the day-long activities typically associated with a UPT class graduation. To complicate matters however, Friday is also designated Career Day—a day set aside to allow briefing teams from most major air commands to explain their way of life to our UPT students. Now if those two events are not enough to keep us busy, Saturday the 18th surely will be. It is on this day that Reese will host its annual open house by throwing the gates open to the people of Lubbock and the surrounding area. Activities are scheduled throughout the day for everyone's enjoyment. And on Saturday evening, Texas Tech plays host to the Air Force Academy football team.

My point of this article is to illustrate that this particular weekend is going to task our support capabilities to their fullest. And we are already well into the planning stages required to accommodate the long list of visitors and their needs. Transportation, escorts, billeting, aircraft support, and security police are but a few examples of the critical taskings we face. A lot of very important people, civilian and military, will be at Reese to view our operation. In short, Reese will again be on display and each individual must play a part.

You can help by assuring that your areas of responsibility are in inspection order. Trimming, grass cutting, edging, and policing up trash will go a long way to impress our many visitors and dignitaries. And the time to start is now! So plan your schedules accordingly in order that you may play a much needed role in proving to our guests that our outstanding base appearance is just one more visible sign that the 64th knows what it's doing.

Setting reasonable, obtainable goals

by 2nd Lt. Bob Pullings
Drug/Alcohol Abuse Control Officer

"Hurry, hurry, hurry, step right up. For the price of one small dollar you will be treated to such an extravaganza, the likes of which you have never seen. The worst of your problems will be solved. Your future revealed right before your very eyes. Friends, let Sister Seer plan your future. Your wishes, dreams and goals will unfold right here before you."

Sounds like something from a cheap B movie, doesn't it? Fortunately, the goals we set for ourselves have very little to do with fortune tellers. What we select or desire for ourselves involves a somewhat deeper process. First and foremost, what exactly is a goal?

A goal is something desired, some positive reward that must be earned. For everyday purposes we will divide goals into two basic categories: short term and long term. A short term goal is something that we decide is needed for the betterment of ourselves or position and can be accomplished in a relatively short period of time, say within a couple of months. Examples of such might be to save money for a desired item, to meet someone, or to get recognition at work. A long term goal would be the same with the exception that the amount of time required to secure this desire is longer. For example you might want to own a yacht someday, or enroll and graduate from college. Let's face it, we all have goals. The danger of establishing only long term goals is that we are setting ourselves up for a defeatist situation. In effect, what we're saying to ourselves is that we aren't going to receive the positive strokes we want and need until we get that yacht, or graduate from college.

Our two categories of long and short term goals can each be subdivided into goals that are tangible and those that are intangible. Tangible goals would include such items as clothing, housing, money and transportation. Examples of intangible goals would be higher self esteem, to be more assertive, to become a better parent, spouse or worker. One of the best ways to precisely pin down goals is to sit down and write them out; in effect, make a contract with yourself.

Write the goal down, regardless of how vague it sounds. Determine if your goal is stated positively, or if it is perhaps simply the means of achieving some unidentified goal. Be sure you state positively the exact goal you desire or are setting for yourself. Sort your list out, removing any duplication. Finally, write a statement that describes what you expect for each goal stated, what you are going to have to do to accomplish this goal.

Remember that the key for your success depends in part on how you feel towards yourself. Don't set yourself up with a defeatist attitude, or get pinned down with a goal that stands little chance of success. It's important to get some positive strokes for yourself so incorporate some viable short term goals. Now that you've read this, get to work on those goals. Hurry, hurry, hurry.

BY THIS TIME, everyone should know that Reese's big day is just around the corner. On Saturday, Sept. 18, we'll open our gates for our annual open house, our day to shine and show the public what a first-rate operation we have at Reese. The highlight of the day will be a performance by a Green Beret jump team from the Army's 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N.C. Of course, there'll be no shortage of military aircraft on static display and we'll also have the Air Force Academy's Drum and Bugle Corps, Sabre Drill Team and Falconer Team. The day will be completed by the Academy vs. Texas Tech football game at Jones Stadium that evening.

together we had at the enlisted club, so he wanted me to meet with the people in his shop at one of their bay meetings. The other person was a shift worker who couldn't get to the club until all the food and drink were gone.

afternoon because we think this is the time we can get the most attendance from wing people. If you're a shift worker, I hope you'll still try to come to them in the future, even though you may have to miss part of the activities. The wing needs the support of everyone.

I plan to have more luncheons in the future to help me stay close to the people of the 64th Flying Training Wing, so maybe those folks who couldn't make the first ones can attend a future luncheon. In the meantime, give your supervisors, first sergeants, squadron commanders and the senior enlisted advisor a chance to work the irritants and suggestions you have. It's part of their job. I intend to keep the lines of communication open between my office and everyone in the wing, but, unfortunately, I can't always do it on a one-to-one basis.

A RETIREE CALLED RECENTLY, asking about a change in the dining hall policy of allowing retirees to eat there. He's heard that we no longer allow retirees to eat in the dining hall on the one day per month they'd formerly been able to.

That's not exactly true, although the policy has been changed slightly. Retirees many now eat in the dining hall on the second Monday of each month: That's the day we've set aside for our special meals (barbeque, ethnic food, etc.). All retirees are most welcome to attend on those days.

I urge everyone at Reese to plan to make this a big day for the base by bringing your families and passing the word around town.

Heritage week events planned

The calendar for the upcoming National Hispanic Heritage Week has been put together and it shows a variety of activities to focus attention on Hispanic contributions to our American heritage. The week begins Sunday, Sept. 19, with special Chapel activities. Both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. Masses will feature Hispanic folk music and bilingual prayers will be said at all services. Religion classes will emphasize the Hispanic influence on the religious development of the Southwest. Mexican pastries will be served after services and the children can attend a pinata party.

Starting Monday Sept. 20, the library will have a special Hispanic book display, which will be up all week. The library is also the focal point for the Hispanic week quiz, found elsewhere on this page. The Wing Dining Hall will feature a Mexican menu.

A Mexican costume display in the Exchange mall will be spotlighted Sept. 21, along with the pinata project at the Child Care Center. Base food facilities will offer Mexican food specials.

The Sept. 22 highlights will be Spanish food and films at the Mathis Recreation Center and a pinata party for adults.

The Hispanic week quiz closes out Sept. 23. A seminar on Hispanic culture has been tentatively scheduled for 2 p.m. in Room 102 of Bldg. 930 (simulator building).

Highlighting the weeks' activities will be the Sept. 24 luncheon at the officers' club, featuring State Representative Froy Salinas as the guest speaker. Tickets for the luncheon will go on sale Monday. The Child Care Center will also have a pinata party Friday for base key personnel.

Displays and Hispanic-flavored entertainment at the Exchange will close out the week's activities Sept. 25.

Capt. Pia Caruso, Ext. 3358, and 1st Lt. Joanne Darlington, Ext. 3562, are project officers for National Hispanic Heritage Week.

Motocross track ready to ride

Riding rules geared for cyclists' safety

In case you have not heard, Reese now has a motocross track. The track is located near the base firing range.

With the aide of civil engineering's bulldoziers the track has really began taking shape. The track is designed to challenge the skilled rider without scaring new motocross riders.

Because of the nature of the sport, there are some guidelines for using the Reese track.

Only members of the base motocross team may ride the track. If people wish to join the club, they should contact Capt. Patricia Andrepont, Ext. 3800, Sgt. Jack Petrie, Ext. 3598, or SSgt. Kenneth Neitzel, Ext. 3390.

Dirt bikes can be taken to the track on trailers or trucks, but they may not be ridden on base streets. They may be ridden on the grass from MWR Supply to the track at the legal speed limits posted. Never use the north end of the runway to get to the track.

Until a trash barrel is set out, riders will have to take their garbage back with them. Alcoholic beverages are out.

Riders may enjoy the track from noon to dusk. Helmets and eye protection must be worn at all times. Other body protection is also required.

Riders must never ride alone. Riders will ride in pairs or with an observer.

The trail gets dusty, bring lots of water.

A1C DAN HARHIGH leads the way as he and Sgt. Jack Petrie break-in the new motocross track near the base firing range.

Points to ponder . . .

- ★Chester W. Nimitz attended Annapolis because he was unable to get into West Point.
- ★The USS Missouri was selected as the site of the formal Japanese surrender because she was named after President Harry S. Truman's home state.
- ★During World War II, out of each seven American casualties, one died, five were wounded, and one was a psychiatric case.
- ★The swastika, noted symbol of Nazi Germany, was the emblem for the Girls Club of America in 1910.

It is suspected

The first airplane to ever be shot down was probably a German Imperial Air Service Aviatik, brought down by British ground fire near Le Quesnoy, France, on Aug. 24, 1914.

The aircraft was flown by Sergeant Pilot Karsen who managed to survive his history-making ordeal.

Mainland U.S. bombed?

In September 1942, a

Japanese plane flew over Oregon on two occasions dropping incendiary bombs hoping to set the forests afire.

The plane, float equipped, had been carried across the Pacific Ocean by the submarine I-25. At the time it was assumed that the fires had been started by Japanese bombs carried in balloons.

It was not until several years after the end of World War II that it was discovered that the mainland U.S. had been bombed from the air for the first time.

Flag football season kickoff

Flag football season is here. The eleven teams and coaches have been gearing up for grid-iron action for the past several days in preparation for the base's Field Maintenance against Supply season opener Monday evening.

Some of the rules involved with this seasons' pigskin events are that each player must wear a mouth protection piece during their time on the field.

There must also be seven players on each team. Players can tackle in as much as standing in the defensive lines way.

The objective of the game, unlike touch or tackle football games, is to grab the flag attached to the waist of the person with the football.

Flag football games will be played four nights a week at the fields near the Youth Center, on War Highway. Make-up games will be played on the track field near Building 955.

Players will be vying for the base championship, but because the Central District Tournament begins only days after the regular season here ends, players will be competing for slots on the Reese all-star team.

Eight golfers win tournament

Several people joined the competition during the Labor day Weekend Reese Open Golf Tournament.

The two-day tourney ended with Roland Adams and Martin Vega coming in with 132, Johnny Rodgers and Ron Hughs with 139, Dick Alexander and Bob Hullender with 141 and Bud Annett with partner Bill Carpenter with 145. All were in the Championship Flight.

In the First Flight, Billy West and parnter Newman came in with 144, Tim Hoy and Bob Christopher finished off with 145 and tied with Ron Collyan and E.B. Dixon, and Norris Thompson and Kent Thompson came in with 149. Hoy and Christopher placed second after playoffs.

Second Flight members finished off the tourney with Eddie Johnson and Rod Stangel ending with .155. There was a three-way tie in Second Flight with 158s by Jean Vincent and partner Rufus Juffman, Gene Seward and Acney, and Hal Brock and partner Bill Jones. The tie was broken with a play-off match with Vincent and Huffman placing second, Seward and Acney in third and Brock and Jones coming in fourth.

DAVID BERNACKI, REESE racquetball tournament favorite, displays the form that has put him at the top. Bernacki was awaiting the outcome of the Kurt Brandt vs. Steve McDonald game at press time before he would know who his final match-up would pit him against.
