

PAY RAISE LOOMS

Washington (AFPS) - A three percent across-the-board pay increase has been approved for Armed Forces personnel by the Senate Armed Services committee.

The Senate is expected to vote on the measure within a few days.

In addition to the base pay boost, the Senate group also made provisions for cost-of-living increases in quarters and allowances for officers and enlisted men.

Richard B. Russell (D.-Ga.), chairman of the committee explained that the Senate group felt it should increase the items directly related to the cost of living rather than give a large across-the-board pay increase.

It was also pointed out that some enlisted men with families would fare better under the Senate version of the bill than under the House-passed bill which provided a flat 10% across-the-board increase.

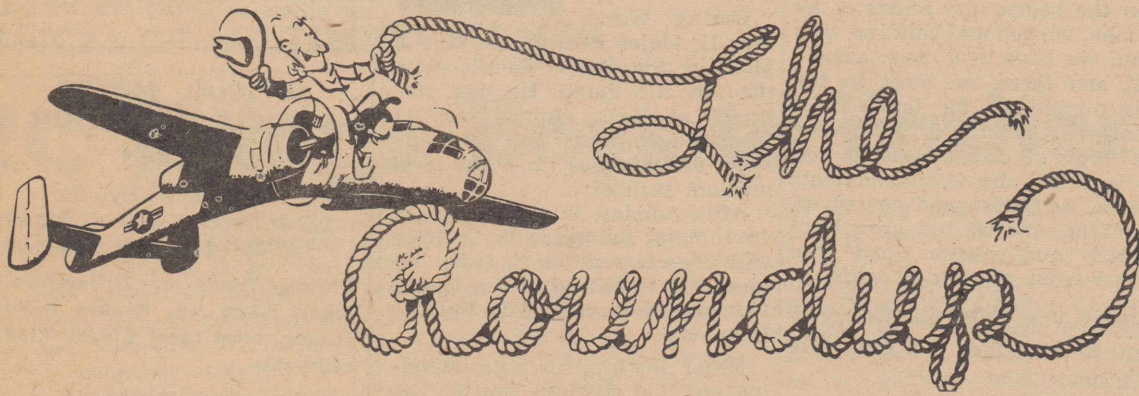

Pertinent changes the Senate committee approved:

1. Subsistence allowance for officers—now $42, Senate bill, $54.
2. Subsistence for enlisted personnel authorized to mess off the post—now $2.25 a day, Senate bill, $2.75 a day.
3. Rental allowance for officers not furnished housing — no increase; with one or two dependents, $10 a month increase, with three or more dependents, $20 a month increase.
4. Quarters allowances for enlisted men not furnished housing—now $45 a month for all grades, 1, 2, and 3 with one dependent.

For enlisted personnel with two dependents in the lowest grades or one or two dependents in the top enlisted grades—now $67 per month, $80 in the Senate bill. Enlisted personnel with more than two dependents—in all grades—now $85 a month, and $100 in Senate bill.

NEED TALENT

A call for talented entertainers has been issued by the service center, Mrs. Byrd G. Wear, hostess, said in announcing the March base variety show which will be held the 25th of this month. All interested personnel are urged to contact the center, extension 722, in order to compete for prizes of $15, $10, $5 and $2.

Widen Highway 290 to Base

A recent letter received at Reese from Headquarters, USAF, by the Air Installation officer, Capt. M. H. Kite, authorizes the construction of highway 290 into a four-lane thoroughfare.

According to word from Captain Kite, the letter states that Hqs., USAF had received a letter from the Commissioner of Public Roads for the state. The commissioner's correspondence stated that the State Highway Department has approved for construction with state funds, a project which will provide a four-lane asphaltic concrete highway from Lubbock to War Highway 5 at the entrance of Reese.

Provisions of the approval state the highway will be 52 feet in width, with caliche shoulders of from eight to ten feet in width, and that it will be divided by a concrete island four feet wide.

Captain Kite also noted that to his knowledge there was no contract bid involved in the proposed construction as of this date, nor had a date been set for initial work on the project.

Mr. Stuart C. McCarty, district engineer in Lubbock, was not available for comment on the approved construction plan at this time.

With this project affording Reese many advantages of accessibility and greater driving ease, it should be brought to the attention of all personnel that it will also increase certain traffic hazards to some degree.

Further details of the construction project will be carried in future editions of THE ROUNDUP.

ENDLESS LINES OF TRAFFIC to and from the base will get relief with the completion of a new four-lane highway to be built on the Levelland highway as far as War Highway 5. The improved road is expected to greatly improve driving conditions between the base and Lubbock.

Col. Tom Says....

"It's the TRUTH if you take a Chance you take the CONSEQUENCES," reads a sign recently erected at the edge of Reese Air Force Base near War highway 5. The illustration on this sign-board shows a workman with a bandaged hand, implying that he had taken unnecessary chances relating to his work.

The slogan would still apply if the picture of the workman were replaced with one of the wrecked car or of an injured person being loaded into an ambulance.

Evening after evening many of our military and civilian personnel who live off the base take unnecessary chances during the drive to their homes. They drive too fast, pass when the road ahead is not clear, forget to signal before making a turn, and home in the shortest possible time.

violate any number of safe-driving practices, all in an effort to reach Several times a week we have reports of accidents on the highway. Fortunately the majority of these are not serious, but there is always the chance that the next one will result in injury or death. Why take a chance when the consequences may be unpleasant?

Moody Institute Lectures...

'Sermons from Science' Next Week

Armed with over 2,000 pounds of specialized laboratory equipment, the Moody Institute of Science is scheduled to set up this array on the stage of the base theater next week. Transforming the auditorium into a modern house of wonder, personnel here will enjoy a week of spectacular demonstrations to show the harmony that exists between true science and true religion.

Mr. George Speake, of the Moody staff, will conduct the demonstrations during his stay on the base. The first performance will be given at 2000 hours, Monday, 10 March, with ten more scheduled through the week. The lecture - demonstration schedule follows:

Monday — 2000 hours.
 Tuesday—1000, 1330, and 2000 hours
 Wednesday — 1100, 1600 and 2000 hours
 Thursday — 1100, 1600 and 2000 hours
 Friday — 2000 hours

The evening shows will be open to the public free of charge as are the others.

A GOOD RULE

Nothing is more important in life than the worth of the individual. This principle has as its basis the teaching of the Master, who proclaimed that every human soul was the object of the love of God. Realizing that we are important in the sight of God places upon us an obligation to make our lives acceptable to Him in the four score and ten years of our journey here. When we seek to live for God, we will also be conscious of a desire to live peaceably and do right to our fellowmen, thus fulfilling two of the great Commandments, namely: "Thou shalt love thy Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy mind and with all thy strength," and "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

Each of us has a record, partially preserved in written form, but in greater measure inscribed upon the hearts and minds of all the men, women and children with whom we have ever been associated, and those we meet in the daily pursuit of our tasks. Is it important that it be the very best? Yes, of course it is, if you are to fulfill the Commandments of God, or Christ, and contribute something toward the growth of morality and religion and the greater value of your own life.

Henry Van Dyke has written a verse for us which is a good rule to follow:

Four things a man must learn to do
 If he would keep his record true.
 To thing without confusion clearly,
 To love his fellowmen sincerely,
 To act from honest motives purely,
 To trust in God and heaven securely.

Whatever your position in life, what you think, say and do reveals your character and personality. A sincere faith in God and love for your fellowmen will make you the kind of an individual in whom there is kindness, generosity and trust. Earth will be a better place because you passed this way.

ELMORE P. NELSON,

myriad scientists over the years, Speake will demonstrate that many things which are looked upon by some as Biblical myths can be supported by scientific facts, and that the natural laws of the universe substantiate the Spiritual laws of God.

In the course of the lecture you will see solid metal float in air, an egg will be fried on a cold stove, an ordinary suitcase with a mind of its own, as well as many other astounding and scientifically founded facts. On one of the evenings Mr. Speake will discharge over a million volts of electricity through his body.

Manpower Head To Assume Duties At Randolph AFB

Maj. Hobart R. Rankin, manpower and management officer, who has been with the 3500th Pilot Training Wing since 1947, will be leaving soon for Randolph Air Force Best, Tex., and will assume duties with the 3510th Pilot Training Wing at that station.

Enlisting in the United States Air Force in January of 1940, Major Rankin took his basic flight training in August, 1942 at Brady Air Force Base, Tex., and later took advanced training at Ellington AFB, Tex.

During World War II, Major Rankin served as a pilot in the South Pacific with the 5th Air Force. He was stationed at New Guinea for 17 months during 1943 and 1944, and flew 69 missions in a low level medium bomber.

After coming to the wing in 1947, Major Rankin came to Reese with the reactivation in 1949. He spent his childhood in La Harpe, Ill., and now calls Mt. Puloski, Ill., home.

Major Rankin, his wife, Maudine, and four children, Ronald, Patrick, Delma and Howard, leave many friends here at Reese and in Lubbock where they resided at 2507 Thirtyninth St. The major says, "Reese is the best base at which I've ever served, and I appreciate the excellent cooperation I've received from all personnel while performing my duties."

The Gray Ladies are one of the many organizations and functions within the American Red Cross designed to aid others wherever the need arises.

TYPICAL OF AID TO SERVICE MEN...

RC Brings Boys to Father

"People helping people," a slogan symbolic of the work of the American Red Cross is an actuality little known by many.

But every day, in thousands of ways, the Red Cross is helping others in countless cases involving one or hundreds of persons. One such case, requested by a Reese airman, exemplifies the type of help the Red Cross gladly gives to anyone needing it.

S/Sgt. Samuel L. Smith, formerly of the 3505th Field Maintenance Squadron here, approached former Red Cross field director Leland J. R. Williams in January of this year with a peculiar problem. He wanted to bring his two sons, ages eight and ten, to Reese from Hinkle, Ore., where they had been living with their aunt since the death of their mother.

Smith wanted neither cash nor a furlough, but only the aid of the Red Cross in seeing that the boys safely made the lengthy train trip by themselves.

Williams contacted the Burlington Railroad agent in Lubbock who arranged for the boys to receive their train tickets and $20 in cash. Telegraph wires and letters to various agencies were accomplished before the trip was finally established.

Cooperating in the case was the Pendleton, Ore., chapter of ARC, who picked up the boys by car and saw them safely on the train at Hinkle. A change of trains at Denver had been anticipated, so when the boys arrived there the Travelers Aid Society was on hand to help.

However, the proper connections to Amarillo, Tex., were not made at Denver, since the train had arrived behind schedule, so the society arranged for the two youngsters to stay, free of charge, at a local boys' home. The next day the young travelers were put on the train to Amarillo, where they were met by their father.

During the trip, the railroad conductors had assumed responsibility of the boys in line with a cooperative policy of the railroad.

Thus, after two weeks of planning, writing and wiring, the boys had come alone from Oregon to Texas. Timing for their schedule had been near perfect.

Red Cross field director Harold Stanton, who has since replaced Williams here at Reese, cited the case as typical, though rather unusual, of the work being done by the ARC. He urged base personnel to consider such valuable aid when asked to donate to the current 1952 Red Cross fund campaign.

CO Gas Strikes Family

Pfc. Jake Martinez, his wife, Rose, and their son, Jack, were admitted to the station hospital at 1730 hours Tuesday suffering from carbon-monoxide poisoning. The child was dismissed following the initial treatment and the parents held for additional medical attention.

Pfc. Martinez is a night worker and slept in the apartment in barracks 225 during the day Tuesday, while his wife worked around the apartment. During the afternoon the two became ill and went to the hospital complaining of headache and vomiting. No definite cause for their illness was noted at that time so they received treatment for nausea and returned to their barracks.

Around 1730 hours the neighbor who lives upstairs in the same barracks, knowing the Martinez family had been ill earlier in the day, called to check their condition. She found that Pfc. and Mrs. Martinez were very ill and were in a dazed condition and the child was asleep.

An ambulance was called and the family taken to the hospital. Jack roused from sleep before he was put in the ambulance but lost consciousness again later. Blood tests showed a high carbon-monoxide content in the blood streams of both parents, probably caused by lack of ventilation in the room since all windows and doors were tightly closed and a fire had burned throughout the day.

Crash Lands TB-25 in Plowed Field

Two officers were injured only slightly in the crash-landing of a Reese TB-25 Tuesday morning in a plowed field located halfway between Lubbock and Brownfield. The only two other occupants of the aircraft were not hurt.

Taken to the RAFB base hospital with "minor injuries" were Capt. Greenwood S. Gay, instructor, and 2nd Lt. Horace M. Davis, Jr., student officer in class 52-B. Also on the routine training flight were 2nd Lt. Andrew S. Barada, III, 52-B student officer, and Cpl. Willard M. Jensen, crew chief.

Captain Gay, who suffered a strained back and two facial lacerations, has been held for "a few days" in the base hospital for observation, hospital officials said. Lieutenant Davis was treated for minor cuts and bruises and released Tuesday and Corporal Jensen required only minor attention to an abrasion on his neck.

The crash, in which the B-25 sustained "major damage," occurred at 0855 hours Tuesday near Wolfforth, a small community southwest of Lubbock. A board of United States Air Force officers has been appointed to investigate the cause of the accident.

According to the Lubbock Avalanche - Journal, H. T. Bramblett, who farms the property on which the plane landed, said he witnessed the plane's apparent difficulty a brief time before it "hit the field almost at right angles to the bedded rows."

"It came over a rise and something told me it was going to hit the ground," Bramblett said. He saw the plane hit the field in a "lot of dust."

"It made a belly landing," the farmer told, "and one engine fell off. The plane slid along the muddy rows I had been watering and into a flat lake where all the water drains." He added, "Seemed to me the pilot handled the plane mighty well. If he hadn't I don't see how anybody got out of there alive."

An Anglo American, first to the scene of the crash, took the two injured airmen in his car toward the base, but was met on the Wolfforth road by the Reese crash convoy where the men were transferred to an ambulance and brought to the base. The other two airmen remained at the scene until the convoy arrived.

FEAF Rotation Policy Explained

In an effort to clarify policies existing in the Far East Command with regard to combat crew rotation, the Department of the Air Force has made available the following information:

"FEAF Commander has direct control of policy on returnees and has not established fixed rotation criteria. This rotation is governed by the availability of replacements and day-to-day Korean situation . . . variations in these factors do not permit use of iron-clad rules.

"While the above factors are controlling, FEAF does use certain criteria as guides in its efforts to make rotation as equitable as the situation allows. These general guides for establishing eligibility for return are:

"Fighter Pilots — completion of 100 missions.

Bomber crews—completion of 50 missions.

Transport crews—completion of 750 flying hours, or one year.

"In practice, fighter pilots have returned with from 80 to 120 missions completed. Bomber crews have averaged slightly under 50 missions before return. Transport crews generally have completed the full 750 hours, or one year."

Team Meets 13 March...

McReynolds to Pilot Softballers

M/Sgt. O. K. McReynolds has been named coach for this year's edition of the Reese "Rattler" herb heard...

This will be the last time that we will be at the sports desk for THE ROUNDUP. We are having quite a time trying to make ends meet with duty and have to give it up. We wish to thank all those of the staff and especially all of those that made the sports news and the page possible.

Our congrats to Sgt. John Badgett and the "Rattler" squad for their fine play at Perrin AFB last week. They split a pair of three point games with the Pilots and made it known to the folks in East Texas that they have a ball club.

We think that the keglers from 3505 Maintenance squadron set a new single game total the other night in bowling. In the final game of the opening round of the scratch league the "05" boys opened up on ABG and got a total of 880 pins from scratch.

softball team. Mac, as he is known to most of the folks on the base, has been a prominent figure in sports since his arrival on the base. Last year he was coach of the team from 3501 Maintenance.

He has called a meeting for 13 March at the gym at 1530 hours for all those interested in the team. He informs that positions on the team will be open and competition for them will be high and on competitive basis.

This year's squad will have a record to shoot at as last year's team under Capt. Clyde Bradley was second in the zone Air Force tournament played at Williams AFB and took third in the Air Force tourney at San Antonio. Plans are being made to enter the team in both the state and national tournaments sponsored by the National Softball Association. Entries for the national tournament will come from 15 states and Canada.

All those interested in playing are urged to attend the meeting as practice sessions for the team will begin as soon as weather permits.

ENTER SHALLOWATER CONTESTS...

Airgals Cop Tournament Title

Perennial champions, the RAFB "Airgals," formerly the Reesettes, have garnered for themselves another trophy by taking first place in the recent Brownfield Invitational Girls' Basketball tournament.

Guided for the past two seasons by Coach Bob Bishop, the girls last year took the city women's league championship and have won other laurels in local competition. Their win-loss record this season stands at an impressive 17 victories to only five defeats.

The next test for the team is the ensuing Shallowater tourney in which the Airgals meet the Wayland College, Plainview, Tex., "Flying Queens."

During the Brownfield tourney the team co-captains, Emmadine

Robinson and Martha Garlington, were named to the all-tournament team. Betty Evans and Mary Glass were selected for honorable mention. Glass was also second high-point artist during the tilts, with a 44-point record for three games.

Lettermen, or letterwomen, as the term should be, include Dean Henderson, playing her third year with the group, and two-year vets Jan Brown, Martha Garlington, Trudy Barrett and Emmadine Robinson.

ABGp Tops Bowlers In Shaughnessy

Last Thursday night the bowlers from Air Base Group defeated 3505 Maintenance for the number one spot in the Shaughnessy play-offs.

In the opening round of the playoffs ABG defeated 3501 Flying Training squadron and 3505 took the measure of the Medics. The Medics were under-manned by loss of Major DeSchepper and were never in the ball game.

Sgt. Lewis was the big gun for ABG in the opening round with games of 187-202-174 for a 563 series which was high for the playoffs. Neuroth of ABG added a nice 201 game to help out.

Rep. Teague Sees Passage of New Korean Vet School Bill

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — Rep. Olin E. Teague, (D-Tex.), has offered assurances to servicemen that Congress is working hard to pass an educational benefit bill during the present session.

The congressman, who heads a select committee investigating the veterans educational training and loan guaranty programs, was one of eight congressmen who recently introduced a bill that would give extensive educational benefits to veterans of the present emergency.

It is one of the many education bills currently under discussion in the House Veterans Affairs committee. In a statement to AFPS, Representative Teague said:

"I would like to assure every serviceman that the problem of extending benefits to veterans of the Korean conflict has long occupied congressional thinking. We are trying to come up with a sound and fair bill that will provide an equitable readjustment program."

Then he added, optimistically: "I feel sure that such a bill will be forthcoming during the present session of Congress. We are being careful, however, to write a bill that would not allow any of the waste and abuse of the former WWII program."

Every man who served in the Armed Forces on or after 27 June, 1950, and was honorably discharged or separated is eligible, according to Representative Teague.

AF Needs Pilots, Observers

Silver wings—the symbol of the Air Force—are easier to obtain now than at any time since the end of the war.

Relaxing of age and educational requirements has opened aviation cadet training to many persons formerly denied the opportunity to learn to fly.

Examining procedures for both airmen and civilian applicants have been streamlined. The waiting period between completion of entrance tests and appointments to a class has been lessened considerably.

Now it's even possible to go straight from basic into cadet training!

And certain applicants who failed the cadet qualification tests may re-apply immediately.

Lowering of requirements for entry into cadet training is in line with an intensive drive to secure more applicants, both airmen and civilians, for instruction as pilots and observers.

If you're interested in becoming a cadet, you should apply as soon as possible. The present requirements will remain in effect only long enough to build up a sufficient backlog of applicants to fill future aviation cadet class requirements.

You are eligible to apply if you are: a male unmarried United States citizen between the ages of 19 and 26½ years, with a high school education.

You must meet high physical qualifications. Applicants interested in one of the 11 aircraft observer specialties should have an aptness for mathematics in addition to the physical, mental and more qualifications required of all cadets. Visual requirements for observers are not as high as for pilots.

The two-year college requirement for pilot and aircraft observer training has been relaxed to allow any high school graduate to apply, regardless of his length of service.

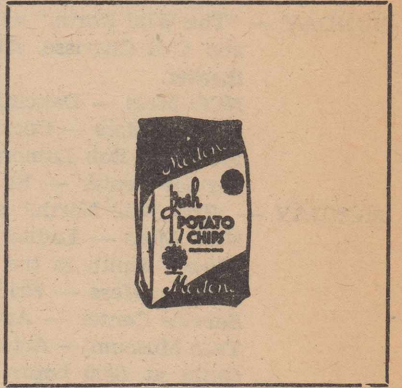

Airmen stationed in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Panama Canal Zone may also apply.

Airmen with less than two years of college may satisfy the educational requirement for application by producing any document indicating successful completion of high school, such as a diploma, certificate of equivalency of high school granted by an educational institution or a state board of education.

A USAFI military test indicating completion of a high school education is not applicable.

Airmen filing cadet applications will be interviewed by their squadron commander to determine whether they possess the personal qualifications that the Air Force requires in commissioned officers.

Selection of qualified airmen will still be made on a competitive basis for admission into aviation cadet training.

Algebra, Arithmetic in T-421 ... Offer Math Courses on Base Beginning Next Friday, 14th

Beginning Friday, 14 March and continuing through the month of May, elementary courses in algebra and arithmetic will be given at the Wing Education office, building T-421.

These courses will be free of charge to all civilian and military personnel at Reese Air Force Base and correspond to junior high and high school standards. For those men who contemplate taking the high school General Educational Development GED tests, these courses will aid immeasurably in preparation for the tests, as well as preparing for advance courses in mathematics to be given in September.

Both arithmetic and algebra classes will be held on each Tuesday and Friday evenings from 1900 to 2100 hours. The arithmetic course will begin with a series of addition, subtraction, multiplication and division, continuing through common and decimal fractions, percentages and eighth grade arithmetic.

The algebra course will attempt to cover beginning algebra during the period and high school credit will be given providing the end-of-course test is passed. Algebra classes will be conducted by Mr. J. H. Harper, mathematics teacher at Frenship high school, and the arithmetic will be taught by Mr. S. A. Followill, principal of the same school.

All personnel who wish to further their education are urged to attend the first class held on 14 March, and each person should bring pencil and paper to the first class.

Correction

The following is a correction received from the Air Training command on a release regarding aviation cadet applications:

The previous release should state that men with two years of college who have previously failed the written test in aviation cadet application may now reapply.

Eligibility to reapply after having failed the written test does not pertain to men who do not have two years of college credit. Airmen with less than two years of college who failed the aviation cadet qualification tests must wait one year before they can reapply.

All three Lubbock stations are planning for either direct or delayed broadcast coverage of Senator Robert Taft's visit to this city. KCBD-MBS plans a re-shift of scheduling to enable the airing of the luncheon address to the Kiwanis - Rotarians at or about 12:30 p. m. KSEL-LBS advises that their's will be delayed for the 8:30 p. m. spot, but will carry the Senator's remarks from Texas Tech direct at 2 p. m. KFYO-ABC advises full coverage for the event, but at presstime could not give us definite times. All this happens, by the way, Wednesday, 12 March.

KSEL-LBS notes, too, for the basketball followers, they will be on hand to provide the play-by-play of the District 4-A, 3-A, 2-A, A and B conference games from Gregory Gymnasium in Austin. Afternoon airings begin at 2 p. m. and at 9:00 in the evenings.

KFYO-ABC's Metropolitan Opera broadcast this Saturday afternoon will star Kinka Milanov, Mario Del Monaco, Leonard Warren and Lucine Amara in Margaret Webster's newly re-staged production of Giuseppe Verdi's "Aida" beginning at 1:00 p. m. Fausto Cleva will conduct.

Bert Andrews' comparatively recently added commentary of the news is heard every Saturday evening at 6:15; it's well worth a listen.

Another of the new series of "Wings Over Lubbock" shows beams your way at 3:30 p. m. Saturday from KCBD-MBS. Guest is A/C Karl Gruber.

Tuesday, Mutual begins its complete coverage of the New Hampshire primaries. With the aid of a four-man team, all MBS commentators and newsmen will include progress reports beginning at 8:00 a.m. until poll closing. At 9:30, the same evening, Guy Lombardo's new thirty debuts on KCBD-MBS.

The new voice on the station belongs to Leo Dougherty, formerly with KRLD-CBS, Dallas, and KTRN-MBS, Wichita Falls.

More "hot airings" next week. Drive carefully, huh?
 Jack.

Saving of Paper is Subject of AF Reg

HQ., ATRC—Paper and how to save it is the subject of a recent AF regulation sent to commanders in the field from USAF headquarters in Washington.

Paper continues to be a critical supply item, the regulation points out, and commanders have been instructed to promote a strict economy program in its regard.

The regulations is aimed at activities such as publications review, forms management, correspondence control, records management, mailing lists, reports control, office supply paper salvage and disposal and packing.

Included in ways to practice conservation, as set out by the reg, are the using of standard paper sizes, using both sides of paper wherever permissible, keeping mailing and distribution lists up to date and reusing non-penalty envelopes, file folders and paper-board containers.

The regulations, AFR No. 11-16, also requests that personnel submit suggestions for improvement of the paper conservation program to their local suggestion committees.

Warren G. Harding is the only president of the United States ever to visit in Alaska. He did so in 1923.

FOR WINTER WEATHER, radio actress Carole Roberts has the best solution: go to Miami. With spring nigh at hand, Carole has returned to New York for chores on Mutual's "Crime Fighters" show (KCBD-MBS, Monday, 8:05 p. m.)
