Need Men Who Like to Sing, Or Want to Learn, in Chorus

"The Reese Men's Chorus is one of the finest musical organizations of its kind in Texas," says Capt. William L. Cara, program director for the group, who hastily adds, "but we need more voices."

The chorus is presently comprised of 30 men, abetted by director John Christopher and June Carthel, accompanists, both accomplished musicians.

Captain Cara points out that all male personnel here who would like to further their knowledge of music and enjoy it at the same time will be welcome into the chorus. "You don't even have to be able to read music, nor have previous singing experience," to enter the group, Captain Cara informs. He emphasized that the chorus is made up of people who have sufficient desire to sing to attend rehearsals. All the newcomer needs, besides regular attendance, is the ability to hold a note and the desire to learn.

Those interested in joining the chorus are invited to contact Chaplain (1st Lt.) Elmore P. Nelson at extension 437 or attend one of the Friday evening rehearsals in the chapel annex at 1945 hours. Tonight the group breaks their practice procedure with a concert of sacred and secular music at the First Christian church in Lubbock at 2000 hours. The public is invited.

Ballad Singer Stars in Show

"I was tied to my mother's strings, and I'm glad of it," states country singer Mervin Shiner, who will appear here on 25 April with the Camel Caravan. "I mean guitar strings, not apron strings," he explained. At the early age of four Shiner was given his first lesson on the instrument by his mother, an expert guitarist, in their home in Bethlehem, Penn. By the time he entered grade school, the youngster was quite proficient on the "git" and had also added vocalizing to his accomplishments.

Merv and his mother worked up an act for a school entertainment when he was about eight and made such a hit that during the years that followed they were much in demand to perform at festivals, bazaars, parties and on radio shows.

Following high school graduation, Mervin headed for Hollywood, where he sang and played in several shows. Then he came East to see if he could crash through into the big time via radio singing. Firmly established in the radio field, Shiner began to move into television. As a result of a teevee guest shot in Newark, New Jersey, he was signed to a contract by Decca Records, turning out such hit discs as "Peter Cottontail," "If You Got The Money, I Got The Time," and "If Teardrops Were Pennies." During the past year he had his own show in Allentown, Penn., and did a series of video guest appearances.

NCOs, Officers Vote 'Yes' for Pool

Members of the Officers and NCO Messes gave the green light Wednesday to a project which will help base personnel actually enjoy the hot summer months on the South Plains . . a swimming pool on the base.

Speaking before the groups separately, Col. Cecil C. McFarland, project officer, presented a plan calling for a $35,000 loan to be paid off in a year equally by the clubs. The debt to the clubs will in no way affect the prices of items, membership dues, or quality of entertainment, Colonel McFarland said. Revenue from admission charges to the pool, from concession booths at the pool, and from special program will be used to further amortize the loan. Both clubs agreed to assume the loan which will pay off the $33,000 figure quoted for the project by a civilian firm. Colonel McFarland said that the price, considerably lower than usual, was possible through the legal use of some Air Installations equipment and men. Volunteer labor can be employed to a great extent although some technical specialists with the civilian firm are necessary.

The 40 by 80-foot pool is to be built by a patented "cement spray" process which allows inexpensive construction. A modern filtration plant, of a type approved by USAF medics, would furnish a complete change of pure water every four hours. The swimming pool, to be located in the area just south of the base gym, would have facilities including a diving board, beach chairs, tables, and various other items that can be purchased with a special fund set aside by the Central Welfare Fund. A bath house and other structures are to be built by base appropriations and used in conjunction with special services, the project officer told the groups.

Admission to the pool would be charged, the colonel said, adding that during the summer season profits should offset the monthly payments being made by the clubs.

Construction of the pool can be completed in six weeks from the time the contract is signed the contractor said. At this time, approval of the pool by Headquarters, USAF, is being awaited before actual construction can begin. Anticipating the normal delays of obtaining approval, opening the contract for bids and formalizing the contract, it is hoped that work can be started early in May.

Walker, Sealy Win M&S Monthly Title For 'Best Aircraft'

In a formal presentation this week, Lt. Col. Walter Kerbel, commanding officer of the Maintenance and Supply Group, presented a form one holder inscribed "best aircraft of the month" to S/Sgt. Bob S. Walker and A/1C James W. Sealy, for their outstanding work during March on their B-25 number 44-30927. Alson presented to the two crew chiefs, both of the 3501st Maintenance Squadron, was a letter of appreciation from the group commander.

Walker and Sealy were the second to be chosen in a new program which has been set up by Reese to honor the crew chief and the best aircraft of the month. Later in the week, the two men will be guests of honor at a dinner at the Plainsman Hotel, Lubbock.

The aircraft and crews are chosen monthly by the maintenance staff section including Maj. Henry W. Mays, Maintenance staff officer, and 1st Lt. William Hirsch, assistant M&S officer. Their consideration for the best aircraft of the month are based on: hours in commission, aobots, cleanliness, monthly flying time, and in general, readiness to perform.

Blue Cross Plan Opened on Base Until 30 April

Blue Cross-Blue Shield insurance and hospitalization may now be secured by civilian and military personnel here. The deadline for obtaining these benefits during the annual opening is 30 April.

Eligible dependents are wives and all unmarried children between the ages of 45 days and 19 years. Sponsored dependents include unmarried children between the ages of 19 and 24 years, inclusive. Mothers, fathers, brothers and sisters are not eligible under any circumstances.

The plan pays $5,000 for each member of the family after diagnosis of the diseases including, polio, diphtheria and smallpox.

Military personnel may continue membership in the plan when they are transferred from this base to another base in the United States or overseas.

Additional information may be obtained by airmen from their commanding officers.

Blues Still Optional

The winter blue and OD uniform is optional until 15 May, officials announced. The extension has been granted due to recent cool weather.

Can You Qualify?

Many airmen previously unqualified, can now apply for aviation cadet pilot and observer training. Inquire at the Base AC-OCS board office.

Goodbye—good luck and best wishes—until we meet again.

It has been a memorable and enjoyable experience to serve with you at Reese. I shall value the splendid cooperation, the willing teamwork and friendship of the many fine officers, airmen, and civilians who helped make my job a privilege and a pleasure.

Though it may be a bit "dusty" on the South Plains, it never clouds the reputation of Reese Air Force Base as an outstanding training base. I wish you continued success in all endeavors—including the proposed swimming pool and the promised Wherry Housing Project.

My deepest thanks and best regards to everyone.

Sincerely,
THOMAS J. BARRETT,
 Colonel, USAF.

KADET KORRAL

It has been said that you might call this Reese "You've Got it Made" Air Force Base. As the sun fades in the West to end the day so the age of the aforementioned slogan dims every morning as the troops pass in review at the almost pre-dawn drill caper.

This has been called, and truthfully, the best advanced base in the whole USAF with the accent on self discipline. For this reason it is hard to conceive that anyone would take advantage of the good deal offered here. Guess we're just an advocate of getting back to the status quo. Oddly enough we can return. The "raunchyness" which has caused the tactical department to show their hand every couple of days is the cause of the many inconveniences which has been laid upon us. It's real nice, that realization that you're on your own, to have the advantages which heretofore were present.

Off that kick for a spell and looking over the national situation and how it affects us we see that the veterans of the Korean Police action are to receive similar educational advantages as included in the famous GI bill of WW II. To many of us this is the key to a college diploma, to obtain others it's a master's or doctor's degree. It shows us that our government is all out for our welfare and makes us sort of proud to study and learn and fight for a nation so appreciative.

A few kicks have come lately, or haven't you tried to call your OAO, or telegraph flowers for Easter? It seems that April is a busy month at least in the vein of strikes and work stoppages and the cutting off of vital production. Guess some just don't appreciate the advantages offered by our way of life and aren't willing with their labor or capital to support the fight for our way of life.

Enough musing for this week—See you next Friday.

All of us need to arrange our schedules for periods of silence during each day. These can definitely be profitable for the growth and development we sorely need.

Silence may indicate the poverty-stricken mind which knows nothing to say, or it may bespeak the composed receptiveness of alert faculties. Silence may result from the confused embarrassment of a muddled brain, or it may be the dramatic source of power of a master of audiences.

Unembarrassed productive silence means that we have passed the portals of the superficial and entered the deeper experiences of life. Carlyle once said, "Silence is the element in which great things fashion themselves together. Speech is of time, silence is of Eternity." There is a passive, dead silence, as well as the endless prattle in which small minds must always indulge, but Carlyle was thinking of the great experiences. There is the silence of the majestic forest; there is the silence of the endless sea; there is the silence of the rugged mountain peak; there is the silence of the arctic vastness.

But these are far removed from the everyday life of most of us. Instead, we are bombarded by a babel of sound from morning till night. When we retreat from the noise and confusion and retire to the quiet of our homes, we reach out into the invisible waves about us for voices that will save us from the dread calamity of stillness. Surely, in such a boisterous and talkative civilization as ours it is the peculiar mission of religion to cultivate the silent hour.

Silence marks many of the chief moments of religion. There is, first of all the silence of waiting before God. The realization of the presence of God does not come to the person who is preoccupied with things. It comes to the person who actively prepares his mind for waiting on him.

Longfellow gave expression to this thought when he wrote:

"Let us, then, labor for an inward stillness—
 An inward stillness and an inward healing;
 That perfect silence, where the lips and heart
 Are still, and we no longer entertain

Our own imperfect thoughts and vain opinions,
 But God alone speaks in us, and we wait

In singleness of heart that we may know

His will, and in the silence of our spirits

That we may do his will, and do that only."

Library Offers Quiet, Comfort, Study

Now that inflation has quit knocking at the door and has taken up permanent residence, there are not many "Given away FREE" signs around any more, but RELAXATION in a large comfortable platform rocker with a foot stool to prop the feet on, fluorescent lighting overhead, quiet, and 10,000 books from which to choose is offered to any one on the base for absolutely nothing. Literature to suit nearly every taste is available on the shelves of the base library building, T-421. Fiction rates as the post popular item and 7000 books await readers in this section.

Aside from the books in stock, the library offers a large number of other services and conveniences. Newspapers from representative parts of the country as well as the local papers are available each day. Advisory services are offered by the two librarians on duty, and Bibliographies on various subjects are done on request. Another feature of the library is its magazine section, complete with nearly all the current magazines.

Regular hours for the library are 0930 to 2100 week-days—1400 to 2100 on week-ends, and it is open to all civilians, military personnel and their dependents on the base.

Plenty of Assistance

Mrs. Helen K. Fuller and Mrs. Emma B. Reeves, base librarians, and A/2C Donald L. Washum and A/3C Eugene L. Neuroth, their assistants, are always anxious to give advice to anyone requesting their aid.

The place, the time, and the material are here. The only thing that can not be furnished is the people to take advantage of them.

The Roundup of SPORTS

sport briefs

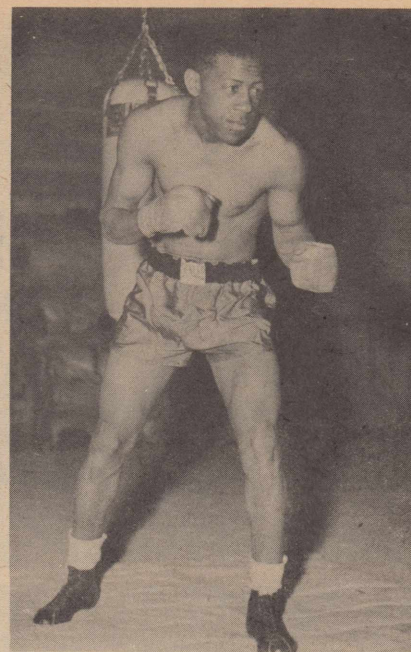

By Lt. J. P. L'Angelle

We journeyed to Plainview Tuesday night where the Reese Rattlers played a practice game, and witnessed as fine a nine-inning exhibition of pitching as we expect to see all season. We are sorry to say, however, that the good pitching was not on the Rattlers' part. Haney, pitching for Plainview, struck out 23 of 27 Reese men who faced him. Had it not been for a double by Reese's Walker late in the game, the Plainview hurler would have had a no-hit, no-run game. Walker's double drove in a run and he died on base. The Rattlers were swinging like the proverbial bar room doors but just could not solve Haney's style. He was employing a very fast "up-shoot" most of the night.

Wycoff started for Reese and allowed about five hits. He was relieved by Littlefield who held his own for the remainder of the game. Wycoff was hampered by several errors by his teammates that didn't help him any. The score, incidentally, was 10-1. But as Sgt. Reynolds, the team manager, pointed out, the boys just need practice. Further, this is no indication of the strength of the Rattlers. They were up there primarily to get the practice and he was calling plays that normally wouldn't be called. They are doing a fine job and should be praised for their efforts because they make these trips at their own expense and on their time. Reese will be proud of their softball team before the season is over.

Reese softball fans will see plenty of action when the Intra-Base league gets underway about the first of May. Twelve teams have entered in what promises to be a real battle for the base title. T-Sgt. Lewis is running the tourney and is putting out a cry for umpires. He needs them desperately.

In the meeting that was held discussing the base softball tourney a small argument developed concerning allowing members of the base team to play on th squadron teams also. Many pro's and con's were brought out, however, we feel that since the purpose of the Air Force Athletic Program is to allow as many participants as possible, this switching of players shouldn't be. Further, the base team belongs to the South Plains league, therefore should not be allowed to play in the more amateurish Intra-Base league.

Radio waves travel away from a radio station antenna at the speed of light.

Three Locals Cop West Zone Titles

Three men who represented the base in the Western Zone Boxing Tournament at Holoman Air Force Base returned last week with three championships and the Outstanding Boxer's trophy. Earl Priestly, Callen Bowe and Earnest Bruce comprised the team which traveled to the New Mexico Base.

Earl Priestly of the Air Police squadron here was matched against Bill Williams, European Amateur Welterweight Champion, in the finals of the 145 pound division, and Priestly climbed out of the ring with a win and the championship. According to trainer Don Barr, the outcome of the fight was not in doubt when the first round was over. Priestly pounded his man in both the first and second rounds and then was content to outbox Williams in the last three minutes. The decision was unanimous.

In the semi-finals on the previous night, Priestly registered a KO over John Gilic, who was carried from the ring with a slight brain concussion. However, doctors said that he would recover with no ill effects.

Callen Bowe had to get off the floor five times in the first round of his fight with Moretta Fiason in the middleweight finals to win his trophy. Bowe received a large ovation from the crowd as he came from behind to chalk up a knock-out in the third round.

After staggering each other in the first two rounds, Earnest Bruce and Mike Marteniz stood toe-to-toe in the last round of the semi-finals in the featherweight class, and Bruce won the right to enter the finals by winning a split decision.

In the championship bout, Bruce had little trouble with Charles Fitzgerald as he won by the knock-out route in the third round.

Earl Priestly was awarded the Outstanding Boxer's trophy for his two decisive wins in the tournament.

The value set for the four trophies is $380, and each is 32 inches high, Trainer Barr said.

LOOK WHO'S CROWDING THE
"LOW-PRICED THREE"

The price of a car has a lot to do with the number of folks who can afford to own it.

So the leaders in sales—for almost a generation—have been three cars whose bid for popularity has included a potent price appeal.

But who do you think is right on their heels? Who has led the field, outside "the low-priced three" since 1938?

Well, sir, the name is BUICK.

Class of Ten First to Graduate Here . . .

Nurses Aides Receive Caps, Pins

NURSES AIDES 1CcfE
Ten assistant nurses received caps and pins last Friday morning in a formal ceremony held in the tea room of the Officers Club. They are the first graduates of the course from the Lubbock County Chapter of the American Red Cross. The graduates received their caps from Col. Cecil C. McFarland, commanding officer of the Pilot Training Group, acting on behalf of Col. Thomas J. Barrett, base commander. They were pinned by Lt. Col. John P. Harney, wing surgeon and Medical Group commanding officer.

Receiving caps and pins were Mrs. Charles Adams, Jr., Mrs. Naoma Cassels, Mrs. Zed Erwin, Mrs. Paul Faulkner, Mrs. Bruce J. Morrow, Mrs. Clyde W. Owens, Mrs. Bill K. Sayers, Mrs. Geogre Wehling, Mrs. A. F. Williamson, and Mrs. J. E. Wooten.

The training of assistant nurses was begun in 1912, and they became active during World War I. During World War II 215,000 assistant nurses were trained and volunteered more than 43,000,000 hours of service. Since World War II, they have remained active in military and civilian hospitals.

Assistant nurses receive 42 hours of academic instruction and 40 hours of supervised instruction in a hospital or some medical installation. When graduated, they work under the direct supervision of a registered nurse to perform simple nursing duties. In addition, they help in preparing and caring for equipment, appliances, and supplies.

In order to remain active, they must serve a minimum of hours per month—all on a voluntary basis.

WEARING THE CAPS AND PINS presented them at graduation, nine assistant nurses pose with their instructors following the formal graduation ceremony held in the Officers Club. Retail Store Recruiting 19-26 April

You might go into a retail store for a suit and come out in Air Force blue, instead.

You might, if you were an Air Force enlistee signing up between 19 and 26 week designated by over 5000 of the nation's leading stores as "America's Retailers Air Force Recruiting Week." Among the retailers are Macy's, Lord and Taylor, Sears and Roebuck and Montgomery Ward.

In Lubbock, both Montgomery Ward and Sears and Roebuck have announced that they will set up booths and displays in conjunction with the reecruiting program. Davis A. Boyd, display manager, is handling the publicity for Sears and C. A. Davis, merchandising manager, is in charge of Ward's effort.

All over the nation, with window displays, interior displays, sales tie-ins, advertising and Air Force-manned information booths.

Scandal: A breeze that's stirred into a cyclone by a couple of old windbags.

Hold Suit Raffle 16 May . . .

Set New Club Officers

At the business meeting of the NCO Wives' Club Monday night, the following officers were elected to fill vacancies existing due to transfers: Mrs. Gailon Combs, president; Mrs. Jack Rash, vice-president; Mrs. Frank Kruljac, assistant treasurer, and Mrs. Lee Burton, board of governors.

The suit raffle was discussed at the meeting. Officials said that tickets may be purchased from any of the members of the club for $1.00. The winner may choose from a civilian suit, a blue uniform or a $75.00 gift certificate from a Lubbock clothiers. For each 200 tickets sold a suit will be given away, the club said, and since 600 tickets are expected to be sold, the purchaser actually is getting three chances for the original ticket price, they added. The drawing will be held 16 May at the NCO Club.

New members and guests welcomed to the club were: Mmes. Johnnie Ditto, Johnnie Marquess, Leroy Gregory, Robert Burgess and Frank Kruljac.

Bingo and refreshments were enjoyed at the meeting. Hostesses were Mrs. Lee Burton and Mrs. William Reifers.

Serve Cake at Dance Sat. Night at USO

Fourteen home-made cakes will be served airmen attending the regular Saturday night dance at the USO, it was learned. The Gleaner's Club will serve as hostesses, furnishing the cake for tomorrow evening's affair. Reesemen are invited to attend.

KFYO-ABC: Ted Mack's Original Amateur Hour will salute Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., and its coordinate members, Peabody College and Scarrett College, which comprise Nashville's famous university center, next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The program is a benefit performance for the Cordell Hull Foundation.

Screaming headlines precipitate ABC's fighting police commissioner, The Top Guy, into a near fatal encounter with a clever hijacking syndicate on the next Wednesday thirty minute stanza of crime busting at 7:30 p. m. J. Scott Smart is in the title role.

Dependents' youngsters will enjoy the thirty minute adventure trip into the thirtieth century tomorrow morning at 9:30 provided by "Space Patrol."

Tonight, with baseball the theme of things, Ozzie, Harriet, David and Ricky, plus neighbor Thornberry, team up to save the great American pastime. It's all part of "The Adventure of Ozzie and Harriet," aired at 8:00 p. m.

KCBD-MBS: Tonight at 8:05, the twenty-five minute "Magazine Theater" offers a new twist in mysteries which include blackmail, an observation about the shaker-downer and a female private eye—Maggie Moran.

The "Chicago Theater of the Air," heard tomorrow morning at 9:15, will feature Richard Tucker in Verdi's "Rigoletto."

Zachary Taylor, the former Austin, Tex., boy who made good in the cinema capital, stars on "The M-G-M Theater of the Air" Sunday evening between 9 and 10 o'clock. Zach seems to be right at home in the drama of "Billy, the Kid."

Chock Hutcheson, news and sports director for KCBD and Reserve 1st Lt. with the U. S. Army, just returned from Ft. Slocum, N. Y., where he was recently graduated from the Armed Forces Information School (I&E Course)—top man in the class. Congrats and welcome back. Jimmie Henley, journalism senior at Tech, subbed for Chock during his absence—a mighty fine job he did, too.

KSEL-LBS: While Bob Nash is vacationing (what's that?), Jim Atkinson is handling the "Brunch-eon Club," head Monday through Friday between 9:30 and 10 a. m.

Wes Youngblood will be on hand with the play-by-play broadcast of the Lubbock "Hubbers" opener at 8 o'clock this coming Tuesday night. The "Hubbers" meet the Clovis, N. M. "Pioneers" and, as usual, should provide a real fine game of ball . . . well described by Wes.
