One Student Fatality in Flying 31 Months Here

Capt. Miguel A. Pinon, Jr., flight safety officer, disclosed that between the dates of 1 November, 1949, and 27 May, 1952, there has been only one fatal aircraft accident involving student personnel stationed at Reese.

Since Reese was reactivated, 1 November, 1949, Reese planes have flown a total of 231,679 flying hours. If one plane remained aloft for that number of hours, it would be in the air for 26 years, five months, 13 days, three hours and 16 minutes.

In spite of the extensive flying training program at Reese, both major and minor aircraft accidents are comparatively low. Captain Pinon attributes these low rates to the flight safety progressive training program. The progressive training program instills pilots with the desire to operate aircraft with maximum safety, and to take steps to promote air discipline in keeping with the policy of the United States Air Force.

In addition to its progressive training and accident prevention programs, the Flight Safety section is aided by a board of highly qualified officers whose job is to investigate accidents. When reviewing an accident, this board determines the causes of the accident, and takes steps to prevent recurrences.

In its Air Force-wide accident prevention program during the past two years, the Air Force utilized, in addition to its military experience, professional talent in the fields of engineering, psychology, physiology and education. The aircraft industry worked in close association with the Headquarters, USAF Directorate of Flight Safety Research by providing service engineering consultants for the purpose of exchanging design maintenance and other technical information so that safety problems may be resolved at the earliest stage of development of new aircraft, engines or allied equipment.

Base Participates in City Memorial Day Service at Tech Park

By A-3C Mike Jennings

Old Glory, flying at half-staff, fluttered gently in the evening breeze, as solemn tribute was paid to the nation's war dead in an impressive Memorial Day ceremony last Friday at Tech Memorial Park.

The service began at sundown, when the 514th Air Force band, under the direction of WOJG Robert L. Kaler, played the National Anthem. Maj. Ramon R. Melton of Reese acted as master of ceremonies, and Chaplain Maj. Alvin A. Katt offered the opening prayer, which was followed by songs from a male quartet comprised of Ivor L. Jones, Robert Dennis, Dick Richards and Garth English.

Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president of Texas Tech, delivered the Memorial Day address in words that conveyed the emotion felt by all present. He spoke simply and sincerely of the significance of Memorial Day, and expressed the hopes of all, that the principles for which our hero dead gave their lives should not have been in vain.

Then, while the band accompanied the quartet in a rendition of "My Buddy," members of the various veterans' organizations, and their auxiliaries, placed wreaths and flowers on the grave of Pfc. John D. Bomer, killed in action in Korea on 6 September, 1950, in a symbolic gesture honoring all of those who have gone before, in the

Emphasizing a general clean-up, and the consequent removal of fire hazards, were WOJG Lowery D. Allen, maintenance and utilities officer and Cranford S. Truett, Reese fire chief, who announced that 8 through 14 June has been set aside here as "Clean-up and Fire Prevention Week."

T-Sgt. Julius E. Setzer, water and sewerage supervisor, outlined the week's program as a period for emphasizing the necessity of keeping the base as well-kept as possible. "The best way to maintain good health and sanitary conditions here," Sergeant Setzer pointed out, "is through the cooperation of all base personnel in keeping Reese clean. Actually, emphasis on good housekeeping should be maintained all the time, not just once a year."

The supervisor has requested the added cooperation of all building chiefs in the housing areas in cleaning around the buildings. Squadron commanders have also been requested to lend as much support as possible to the clean-up campaign.

Seek Fire Hazards

Fire Chief Truett and his personnel have added momentum to the drive by citing the need to rid the base of existing fire hazards. "We're always finding fire hazards in campaigns of this sort," the chief commented, adding that although Reese has an excellent "small-fire" record for the past fiscal year, "the record can be maintained only through the continued cooperation of base personnel with the fire department."

He expressed the hope that Reese would be high on the "good record" list when the Air Training Command fire report is published at the end of the fiscal year.

Aid Trash Collectors

Cautioning personnel about the type of trash picked up by his department, Sergeant Setzer warned that rocks, wood and metal will damage the automatic packer trucks when included in the contents of trash cans. He urged that personnel keep solid objects segregated from other trash in the "GI cans" and instead be placed in small cardboard containers or stacked beside the cans.

A salvage truck will pick up wood, he said, reminding that if persons will call extension 663 his men will be glad to pick up dirt and rocks. Sergeant Setzer warned that when solid objects force costly repairs to the automatic packers, collections, which are made six and seven days a week, are delayed.

Both Sergeant Setzer and Mr. Allen hope that personnel will become conscious of the clean-up campaign and make every effort to see that trash and refuse is placed in containers.

Chief Cites Fire Causes

Chief Truett has cited the main types of fire hazards, which should be sought out and eliminated. Electrical appliances, the chief says, are the main source of home fires. Bridged fuses, frayed cords, multiple sockets, over-loaded lines, and carelessness, such as leaving a hot iron on the board unattended, all contribute to spoilage by fire.

Oily rags and mops should be kept in a tightly-covered metal container, he pointed out, and urged that matches be kept from the reach of small children. Smoking in bed, he said, is also a major cause of interior fires.

"THAT'S RIGHT, PICK IT UP," Fire Chief Cranford S. Truett, right, tells WOJG Lowery D. Allen, left, in illustrating the base clean-up campaign which runs 8-14 June. T/Sgt. Julius E. Setzer joined the two in urging that Reese personnel cooperate to the fullest extent in keeping the base clean and eliminating fire hazards.

Allowance Less as Clothing Price Cut

The airman's basic clothing allowance will be dropped from $5.10 per month to $4.20 per month—effective 1 July.

At the same time, however, base clothing stores will drop their prices on many items of clothing.

West Points Exams Given Enlisted Men Here on 14 July

HQ., ATRC — Annual appointments to the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., upon the basis of examination, soon will be made here from among enlisted personnel of the Air Force. Eligible applicants will come from both regular and reserve components and those selected will enter the academy in 1953.

Successful candidates will be transferred from their duty stations to the Military Academy Preparatory School, Stewart AFB, N. Y., to be given a course of study to help them pass the academy entrance examinations.

Within the Air Training Command, selection examinations will be held 14 July at 29 bases including Reese.

An Air Force official was quoted as saying that the big reason behind the allowance and price slash is that the price of woolen imports has taken a sharp dip.

High priced articles are expected to take a significant drop while smaller items will probably remain at about the same prices.

The blue wool overcoat, for example, will sell for $34.60, as opposed to the present price of $42.20. The blue raincoat will drop from $12.70 to $11.80, also.

The 1 July male airmen clothing allowance, with unit and total prices, is as follows:

YOUR DEBT

It is time that we stopped viewing the flying training programs of the Air Force from the standpoint of a talented high school athlete, whose concern is, "What is there in it for me?"

That the United States is in need of pilots and crewmen should be adequate reasons for going into flying.

For five years between 1941 and 1945, you were able to attend high school, or grade school, because there were people who accepted it as their duty to blast away the forces that threatened those privileges.

Now you are in a position to put yourself in America's aerial armada. Many of your contemporaries have gone into flying through the mixed incentive of duty and financial security.

The money is a fine additional bonus, but with or without it you now are in the position to fill a job that can be filled only by young men who want to serve . . . for little more purpose than doing what you can in a job where your country needs you.

Are you mentally healthy? Please do not get angry at the question and refuse to read the remaining part of this article. The question does not mean, "Don't you have any sense?" It does not imply that you are mentally abnormal.

A scientist has given this definition to clarify the question: "Mental health is the ability to maintain an even temper, an alert intelligence, a socially considerate behavior, and a happy disposition."

Now then, take this definition as a thermometer and check your mental temperature. How does it register? Without you are a very unusual person, it will probably indicate you are mentally healthy at times and in spots. Very few of us maintain an even temperament at all times. We are prone to fly off the handle, chew someone out and give them a piece of our mind, when events vex us. Some of our snap judgments and lack of understanding indicate we are not always intelligently alert. Then there are ample cases to lead one to conclude that men are far from considerate of others in their behavior—rather the stronger tendency seems toward self-centeredness. All of us have our moments of happiness, but we are more often remembered by our sour, grumpy, sulky, hateful moments.

Certainly we need to protect ourselves from the evil infections, dark moods, and the poisonous emotions which destroy the health of our minds. This can be done by a simple religious faith. Walt Whitman said, "Faith is the anti-septic of the soul." It disinfects us of envy, hatred, fear and boredom—emotions which poison our minds, pollute our hearts and make life a weariness and a waste.

Every moment of life is lived through faith. It is so natural to do it that we hardly know that we are doing it. We take risk and venture in life with the faith that our course will be for our well-being. Even though we do not stop to consider it, we are always in the hands of God. In Him we live and move and have our being. To remember this truth and act upon it humbly and reverently is the way to mental health.

The Bible tells us we must add to our faith, virtue, patience, kindness, brotherly love and charity. Here is the path to peace of heart, power, and the glory of a sound mind.

You can cure your shipmate's tendency to snore with kindness, patience, and an old sock stuffed in his mouth.

"Father," asked a small boy, "which can go faster, horses or buses?"

"Buses, of course," answered the father.

"Then why," asked the youngster, "don't you bet on the buses?"

After taking his physical, the inductee was asked by a sergeant, "Did you go to grammar school?" "Yes," said the young man, "I also went through high school, was graduated cum laude from college, completed three years of graduate studies at Cornell and then acquired two more degrees at Columbia."

The sergeant nodded, reached for a rubber stamp and slapped on a questionnaire the single word: "Literate."

"How's the world treating you?" "Very seldom."

What Do YOU Think?

By A/3C Ed Daly

As the K-Vet Bill went to Congress for a final vote this week, American GI's the world over began thinking what it would mean to them in terms of dollars and cents. A total of 36 months of free schooling, up to $300 mustering out pay, guaranteed loans on homes, farms and businesses were balanced against the increasing national debt. A poll of airmen here at Reese showed that they thought:

A/1C Henry A. Scheid, a welfare specialist in Hq. Sq. section, PTW: "Yes, I'm in favor of this K-Vet Bill. I definitely hope that Congress passes it. I'm in favor of it because it would enable those veterans who'd gotten married while in the service to start out civilian life with their own home.

"And a lot of men now in service would like to go to college when they get out. If I decide to get out of the service in 1955, when this enlistment is up, I'd like to go to college. I'm not sure that I'll get out, however, but I'd like to be sure that I could go to college if I decide to get out. It would also help veterans get started in business, if that's what they want to do. I think these boys deserve a break and it looks like this bill would give it to them."

Cadet Roy H. Trice, Dog Class: "I certainly am in favor of the bill.

"Sure, it would cost a lot of money, but education is a fine thing to spend money on. I've already been through college, but would like to go back and work for a Master's degree if the bill is passed. I'd take advantage of a thing like that if given the opportunity. I don't think the present figure of $110 per month is high enough, though. If a man had to pay for his tuition, books and living expenses on $110 per month, it would be pretty tough. But I'm convinced that there's no more worthwhile expenditure than that for education."

Second Lt. L. H. Laker, Student Pilot in Easy Class: "I am in favor of the bill. However, I think the GI Bill, which was made law for veterans of World War II was abused. I hope that doesn't happen to this one. I think a lot of men went to college after the last war just to take advantage of the government grant. There were a lot of these men who took unfair advantage of the bill, I think, and who weren't serious about the schooling. I hope the present bill has more restrictions and that they'll take care of former abuses. I think any money that's spent for education is well spent. I think now that the student has to pay his own tuition it will help correct the old defects, because too many before just had a good time on the government allowance. I also think I would take advantage of the bill if it passes, and go back to college for a Master's degree."

J. Floyd Reeves, wing education officer: "I am very much in favor of this proposed GI Bill, most specially as it pertains to a college education for veterans. However, I'm opposed to on-the-job training and what amounts to subsidized labor unless the law is written and enforced so that the abuses of the bill will not be as flagrant as they were under the World War II GI Bill."

Fellowship Meets Tues

A luncheon and general meeting will be held Tuesday in the chapel annex, building T-35, by the Ladies' Christian Fellowship.

All base ladies are cordially invited to attend the meeting which begins at 1300 hours.

BONDS ARE BETTER THAN EVER WITH NEW INCREASE IN INTEREST RATES

DRIVER OF THE MONTH—M/Sgt. Hosea H. (Alabama) Farrow, who works in Reclamation for the 3505th Field Maintenance Sq., has been driving government vehicles for 15 years without ever having an accident or getting a ticket. He got a Driver's Badge in 1948 and was made the June Driver of the Month here last week. He's shown here operating the huge, C-2 Wrecker, which he says "has been my baby ever since 1945."

Trig, Psychology Offered to Airmen In Summer Session

Evening classes in trigonometry and psychology are being offered at Texas Technological College this summer, the base I&E office reveals.

The psychology course has been scheduled to meet each Monday and Wednesday evening at 1900 hours. The first meeting will be held 9 June. Exact time for the trig class has not yet been announced by the college.

Tuition will be paid at the first sessions of both classes, the I&E office pointed out. Officials also reminded interested airmen and officers that registration at the I&E office, building T-421, is required prior to enrolling in the courses at Tech.

Registration is now in progress and will continue through Monday.

picture industry.

Always a sound investment, Defense Bonds were made more attractive with an increase in interest rates, beginning 1 May. They now reach face value maturity in nine years, eight months, instead of the former 10 years.

The increased interest rate, from one-tenth to one-fourth per cent depending on series, means that each bond is worth more at any given time prior to maturity.

In buying Defense Bonds, through the payroll savings plan or at any bank or post office, you are not only making the safest investment in the world; you are helping check inflation and thereby insuring that we get more for our defense dollar. You are investing in the future of the USA. All told—

"Bonds are better than ever!"

Cadet Commended By 1st Army Deputy For Part in TV Show

Aviation Cadet John L. Martini, of Class 52-D (B-25), was highly commended by Colonel Robert S. Miller, Air Deputy, in correspondence to Colonel C. P. West, Reese CO, concerning his visit to the First Army in New York City for appearance on a nation-wide TV network last week.

Cadet Martini appeared on two programs, one a short quiz show, the other the First Army's "Guide Right" show, where he and another cadet from Bryan AFB, Tex., appeared as guest interviewees, answering the questions of cadet applicants. The program was broadcast over the Dumont Television Network.

"Cadet Martini's conduct, gentlemanly manners, and military bearing, were exemplary at all times and reflect great credit on him, his organization and the United States Air Force, especially the Cadet Corps" wrote Colonel Miller.

Military Movie Price of "Two-Bits" Easy on GIs

It doesn't take a centenarian to remember when children were admitted to the picture show for a nickel, while their elders painfully doled out fifteen cents for themselves.

But with everything else, the motion picture industry has been struck by inflation, and its prices have risen as much as 300 per cent.

On the outside, that is! Here and at other military bases the price has lingered at 25 cents, a mere 67 per cent increase from "the good old days."

"A contract with the motion picture industry allows Army and Air Force theaters to receive first run shows as soon and sometimes sooner than the civilian theaters," informs M-Sgt. Adam H. Price, assistant manager of the base theater.

Sergeant Price cites the military-film industry contract as the reason guest passes are required for military personnel to take civilian into base theaters. "A breach of this contract would force the military to raise its prices in order to compete with civilian theaters," he added.

The admission charged at the base theater goes to a central office to pay for equipment, manpower, and parts. All profit is sent back to the respective bases and is put into the athletic fund.

The central office in Washington, D. C., controls all Army and Air Force theater schedules. The office, which is run by civilian personnel, dictates which movies can be shown. Individual theaters have no control over the pictures shown except to reject any ones they desire.

The theater here contains two 35 MM projectors which are run by a chief and assistant projectionist. It has a capacity of 620 men, and there are 16 showings a week.

The Roundup Of SPORTS

Rattlers Smother Abernathy, 18-0

With an eight-run uprising in the fourth inning, the base softball team went on to score 18 runs in blanking Abernathy for another South Plains League win Thursday, 26 May.

Winning pitcher Billy Goodwin pushed his consecutive runless innings to 32 with a three-hit shut-out. By collecting the Abernathy win, Goodwin upped his season's record to four wins and no losses.

Dalton Touchett again led the Rattlers in batting with five hits in six times at bat. George Diggs collected three hits in batting the same number of times.

The softballers now stand fourth in the league with a five-two won and lost record.

"Scotch Foursome" Golf Tilt 15 June

A "Scotch foursome" golf tourney to be held Sunday, 15 June, marks the first greens contest of the year. The duffing will get underway at 1300 hours.

Officials explained the "Scotch foursome" type of game as two partners taking alternate shots at a single ball. The pair with the best score will take the prize. A drawing will be held prior to tee-off to determine partners.

Regular green fees—no special tourney price—will be charged contestants. Golf course attendants remarked that the course is in excellent shape, the best it has ever been, and invited all interested in the tournament to make plans to attend.

Barrett Nine Drops To Reesemen, 14-6

Pitcher Jack Littlefield limited Barrett-Automotive of Lubbock to two hits in collecting his win and leading the base softball team to a 14-6 victory in a non-league game Friday.

Five of the six runs scored off Littlefield were caused by Rattler errors in the infield.

Ken Wycoff led the winners in the batting department with a single, double, and home run in five times at bat. Manager-first baseman Leroy Haynes knocked out two hits in his four trips to the plate.

Chicago Council to Sponsor Service Championship Meet

HQ., ATRC—The Chicago Area Inter - Service Athletic Council has agreed to sponsor championship tournaments in baseball, tennis, softball and golf for the 1592 summer season.

Meeting at the Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill., on 17 April, the Army-Navy-Air Force representatives decided on rules, dates and locations for the tournaments.

Special service personnel from Tenth Air Force Headquarters; Headquarters, Fifth Army; Ninth Naval District and Chanute AFB, Ill., were among those attending the conference. Scott AFB, Ill., is expected to join Chanute on the Council shortly. An invitation was extended Scott by unanimous vote of the council members during the conference.

Results of the meeting disclosed a tentative schedule for the sports events, including men's and women's tennis championships to be held at Chanute 11-13 July. The proposed net play at Chanute is the first tournament scheduled by the joint service council.

FLIERS FROM FORMOSA who will spend next six months here at Reese are here under the Mutual Defense Assistance Program. The 11 Chinese Nationalist pilots have already flown AT-11, AT-6 and B-25 planes.

No-Hit Hurler

INP Ronnie Necciai, 19-year-old Monongahela, Pa., hurler who startled the baseball world recently by striking out 27 batters in a no-hit, no-run game for Bristol, has been advanced to Burlington (N. C.) of the Class "B" North Carolina League. The Pirate farmhand was in the Class "D" Appalachian League when he made baseball history. The youngster has struck out 109 batters in 42 2/3 innings.

A resolution of independence was adopted by the Colonial Council, July 2, 1776, although the Declaration of Independence was not made public until July 4, 1776.

WATER WAGON by Rube Allyn is the kind of home-styled KON-TIKI that will delight all readers.

Near the end of World War II, Rube Allyn, a lonely man on submarine service, sat on Wake Island, surrounded by Goony birds, and dreamed of the kind of boat that he would like to have when the war was over. He drew his boat in the sand, planned every detail lovingly in his mind, and waited the day when he could make his dream a reality.

Returning to civilian life, Allyn got a job as waterways reporter for a West Coast Florida paper. He made the rounds of the ship builders with his plans and every body said the boat he'd dreamed up was a sheer impossibility. Finally one builder, more venturesome and imaginative than the rest, decided that Allyn wasn't crazy and that the boat could perform. So the Water Wagon came to birth, and Rube Allyn tells us of his Florida adventures with his beloved boat.

It is truly an amazing craft built to do amazing things, and the account of Water Wagon makes good reading.

Pikes Peak Region Ideal Vacationland

By A/2C Wade McClain

Manitou Springs and the Pikes Peak region, first visited by prospectors in search of gold, is now a year around vacation-land. This land of the Long Look, as the Utes called it, embracing colorful Colorado Springs and the romantic Pikes Peak region, has something special for everyone every day in the entire year and is the place for your complete vacation.

Nature spreads her colors with a lavish hand in the Pikes Peak region. Whether in summer's gorgeous technicolor, autumn's blazing beauty, or winter's sun-gold loveliness—the Pikes Peak region is Colorado's "coloregion." Here is found the Garden of the Gods, showing all the magnificent splendors of nature with which this land is endowed.

To capture the glamour of the Old West, a half hour's drive from Colorado Springs takes you a thousand miles from the everyday world. Pitch your camp in a primeval evergreen forest... rough it in luxury on a dude ranch... take pack trips into the high country. Chuck wagon dinners, round-up style, are enjoyed by thousands each summer under sky-reaching cathedral spires in the Garden of the Gods. Appetizing Western chow flavored with the hospitality of the Old West, hearty fun and fellowship.

Unique in America, Colorado Springs brings you the cultural advantages of a metropolis, yet retains all the friendliness and intimate charm of a small city. Here are some of the nation's finest hotels and motels, including the fishing in Pikes Peak streams, boating on Prospect Lake, tennis at the foot of Cheyenne Mountain, bathing at Municipal Beach, skiing on Pikes Peak, hiking on mountain sides, and big-game hunting in dense forests.

Spectators will love the horse shows, ice shows, golf tournaments, polo, rodeos, hockey, baseball, dog racing, and tennis tournaments. Numerous night spots in the region offer the visitor this type of entertainment at a wide world-renowned Broadmoor Hotel, whose program of activities features Ice Revues, collegiate hockey, and the Broadmoor Invitational golf tournaments.

Camera fans will surely want to visit the Colorado petrified forest, the Fine Arts Center, Seven Falls, Cliff Dwellings, Cave of the Winds, and the Pillars of Hercules. These and other land-marks make excellent subjects and backgrounds for pictures with lasting interest.

WHILE CBS Radio's "Lux Theater" vacations for the summer, two half-hour dramatic shows fill the Monday evening hour. Larry Thor stars on the second segment, as Danny Clover on "Broadway's My Beat." Lovely Doris Singleton handles the feature work of the initial stanza entitled, "Romance." It's easy to see why, too.

NCO Wives to Meet Monday; Seek New Members in Group

All wives of members of the NCO Club are cordially invited to become members of the NCO Wives' Club, officials of the group reminded.

A business meeting will be held Monday, 9 June, at 1930 hours in the NCO Club at which a nominating committee will be appointed for the election of officers next month. Members and guests will enjoy musical entertainment following the business meeting.

The recent bridge and canasta party held by the club was a success as the monthly social. Hostess were Mrs. Calvert Wilson and Mrs. William Griffin.

Semi-Formal Moonlight Dance Slated by USO

All service men and their guests are invited to attend a gala semi-formal, moonlight dance at the Meadowbrook Golf Club at Mackenzie Park, through the courtesy of the Lubbock UCO, Saturday night, 7 June, with music to be provided by the Reese dance band.

A variety show will be staged at 2145 hours, during the intermission, with Dave Davidson, of the U. S. Navy, as master of ceremonies.

The star of the show, Miss Faye Crowley, Lubbock's well-known radio songstress, will vocalize on a selection of favorite songs. Adding to the festivities will be several dance teams from the Larrymore Studio, featuring the Terpsichorean art of dancers, Sonny Allen and Patsy Painter.

Among the many other acts on the program will be an interpretation of a Sioux Indian dance, by 2nd Lt. Thomas R. Shelton, of the 3501st Pilot Training Squadron (Flying).

The dance will be held on the Meadowbrook terrace at the golf club from 2100 to 2400 hours. Ladies will wear formal garb, while either Class A uniform or jacket and tie is acceptable for the men. Airmen who wish to escort non-member guests must register their dates by 1700 hours Saturday, by calling 3-3348. For those without private transportation, a bus will depart from the Service Club at 2000 hours.

Miss Leona Gelin, director of the USO, extends a special invitation to attend to all Reese airmen.
