Air Scouts Tour RAFB Saturday

Air Explorer scouts of Squadron One in Lubbock recently toured the facilities at Reese to view first-hand the aviation activities they study in their scouting work.

The eleven members of the local squadron held an encampment here 10 and 11 January under the supervision of Capt. John H. Baumgardner, Air Explorer project officer from Texas Tech. Assisting the group was a Tech senior ROTC student, Winfred Myers.

See Base Ops, Link

The young men arrived on the base 0800 Saturday and immediately began the tour. They first went to base operations and received instruction in the Link trainer. Later they visited the 3501st Maintenance hanger and saw activities in the shops. The group was shown the B-25 and T-6.

One of the most interesting points on their tour was the high altitude pressure chamber. There the scouts were taken on a simulated flight to demonstrate the low pressures found at high altitudes.

Use RAFB Facilities

The scouts were housed Saturday night in the base gym. They used the facilities to play basketball, volleyball, and other sports. They dined in the wing dining hall and on Sunday, the entire group attended services at the base chapel.

Capt. W. W. McDannel, Reese Explorer project officer, stated the need for a senior adult advisor to the group. The person should preferably have had scouting experience as the position is similar to that of a scoutmaster. Anyone interested in working with the boys may call Ext. 305 at Wing Operations and Training. There are also vacancies in the group for new members.

Lt. Col. S. E. Cleveland, USAF, steps out of his C-119 after taking it up to 30,300 feet with a 56,000-pound load. Normal ceiling for the sky-giant is 27,500 feet. Co-pilot Lt. William L. Schmutz, right, and J. M. Skipper, a Fairchild Corporation crew chief, look on. The flight set what might very well be a new world altitude record for this type of aircraft.

HURLWOOD, TEXAS

VOLUME IV NUMBER 10

Show's Gone To The Dogs!

TRAINED DOGS were a popular feature of the Benny Fox circus review which played six performances here Tuesday, Wednesday and yesterday. Seventeen acts toured with the group which combines circus talent for the winter season road show.

Circus Plays Six Performances Here

Clowns, dancers, trained dogs, and trapeze artists combined talents this week in bringing the circus to Reese. These entertainers and many others were members of the vaudeville circus review which performed here Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The troupe presented 17 different acts under the direction of veteran showman Benny Fox. Six performances were staged in the base gym under the auspices of personnel services, marking the second time the group has appeared here.

The program was well received, with several of the acts stopping the show. Especially entertaining were the trained dogs, imitating humans, and doing an excellent job of it. In another popular act, an ex-G. I. just back from the police action in Korea performed many skilled gymnastic feats.

Personnel Needed To Attend Classes

More personnel are needed in order to schedule two on-base classes, Mr. J. F. Reeves, education officer, announces.

Courses in review arithmetic and English are in the offing if sufficient demand warrants their offering by the Office of Education Services. Interested personnel should phone 574 immediately for registration or see Mr. Reeves in building T-421.

The proposed class in arithmetic will include a review of grade school and junior high school mathematics. Such subjects as addition, subtraction, multiplication and division of whole numbers and common and decimal fractions and percentage will be taught. A knowledge of these subjects is necessary to pass the high school level GED test and the course in algebra, Mr. Reeves reminded.

The English course is to include parts of speech, punctuation and spelling. This course is also of value in passing the GED test and will be of assistance in preparing for college freshman English.

Classes will meet two nights each week from 1900 to 2100 hours, Mr. Reeves said.

Short Story Contest For '53 Announced

By Mrs. Helen K. Fuller

Have you read a story and thought "I could do better than that"?

Reese Air Force Base must have numbers of people who have had such a thought. Now comes the opportunity to try to prove your point and win one or more cash prizes, besides the honor of getting your story in print and perhaps making a start in a new career which could be a rewarding hobby or a profitable vocation.

Credit Union Holds Meeting Tues. Night

Share holders in the RAFB Federal Credit Union will conduct an annual meeting next Tuesday, 20 January at 1930 hours in the civilian cafeteria, building T-58, CU officials announce.

Members will be elected to fill the expired terms of the board of directors, credit committee and supervisor's committee.

Share holders will also vote on the rate of dividends to be declared for 1952. George O. Howton, president of the CU, will preside over the meeting.

Again this year the base library is sponsoring a short story contest for which they have stocked the latest and best books on short story writing, besides dozens of books already on hand which should be helpful on problems of construction.

The library also offers a good place to work, will furnish you with rules and entry blanks, and the library staff will be glad to help you on research problems.

There is a deadline, 15 April, so you'd better begin right away. Only Air Force personnel on active duty are eligible.

Watch THE ROUNDUP for further details.

Mrs. Gordon Chosen Wives Club Prexy

Mrs. Murray Gordon was named president of the Reese NCO Wives Club in an election held at the club Monday night.

Other members elected to officiate during the coming year were Mesdames Lee C. Burton, vice president; Gerard S. Lambert, recording secretary; Carl L. Carter, corresponding secretary; Joseph H. Mead, treasurer; John D. Breechland, assistant treasurer; and Vernon S. Howell, parliamentarian.

Elected to serve on the board of governors were Mesdames Elric J. Bordelon, Leason E. Dale, George W. Courtney and Henry C. Stampley.

The new officers will be officially installed at a meeting of the group to be held 26 January, it has been announced.

London, Eng. (AFPS)—People who like to kiss were offered this advice by the staid British Medical Journal:—

"The full blooded, passionate kiss in which lips are applied to lips with a varying degree of pressure and lasting for a very varying length of time, necessarily involves some exchange of salivary bacteria between the two persons concerned.

"The risks of kissing, although admittedly serious, can be much exaggerated, and in connection with some infections they are probably little greater than those of lesser degrees of proximity to the infected person."

Quite.

The third group of career field tests affecting airmen in 16 career fields will be given to Reese personnel during the week starting 26 January, according to 2nd Lt. Henry G. Phillips, base testing officer.

Tests will be given to airmen in the 25, 32, 36, 42, 53, 93 94 and 95 career fields. The administration of these tests this month will conclude the "first cycle" of the career testing program.

The second cycle will begin in March and will include a second round for men in the 43 64, and 70 career fields. First such tests in these fields were taken in September. The next testing period for airmen in the 29, 27, 46, 47, 60, 62 and 69 career fields has been set for May.

According to a recent article in the AIR FORCE TIMES results of the tests taken last September showed that 12 to 18 percent failed to pass. Lt. Phillips reported that of all airmen taking the tests on this base only approximately 10 percent failed. Results at Reese thus far, indicate that the base OJT program has improved and is superior to that of other bases.

Airmen interested in advancing in their career fields — as well as adding stripes — should be encouraged to self-study. Although it isn't the only contributing factor, it is one of the most important means for promotion.

Copies of the career field study guides will go to each squadron, providing the units concerned have airmen with AFSC's directly affected by such distribution. Supervisors in charge of men on OJT will also have the guides. Particular emphasis was placed on the assistance of supervisory personnel to airmen in sub-graded positions.

Lt. Phillips commented that those persons who have already gained the supervisory level are directly responsible for seeing to the proper training of an airman.

Their guidance is necessary to the cancer program he added.

At the completion of these tests, about 90 percent of the Air Force's active airmen will have been tested. Radio-radar maintenance is the only one large career field which will not have had an initial round of proficiency tests. These will be given at a later date.

The pattern of two testing periods annually for each career field will continue, but test questions will be changed from time to time to prevent compromise.

Shortly before the September and November periods, skill upgrading (for the specialties being tested) was frozen pending completion of the tests. The same procedure is expected for airmen in the 16 fields to be tested, although no cut-off date has been announced.

Your Chapel

Cherished among my memories is the story of the man who dreamed that under one of the trees in his orchard was a sack of hidden treasure-gold. It seemed so clear to him too, just which tree, etc. But alas, when he awoke he could not remember which tree it was. With determination and haste he began digging, from one tree to the next. When finally he had finished digging at the last tree and found no sack of gold he was ready to give up in despair.

His digging, however was not in vain. The reward was in his next crop of fruit. The result of his labor was the abundant golden harvest. Truly it became "the sack of gold" because of his efforts in digging.

If anyone would claim the great riches which are in life, he must search or explore for them in God or Christ, through worship, prayer meditation. Strength, joy and peace come only through this constant fellowship with God which we might call "our daily only habits." These might be likened to the digging in the above story.

A little while spent each day with God will transform your life. It's the set of the soul that determines the goal. Seek those riches which are eternal and of far greater value than the temporary temporal things of this earth.

PROMOTIONS ... and USAFI

IF PROMOTIONS GREW ON TREES. . .it would be simple to get one.

However, we know that promotions do not grow on trees. Promotions are earned. You earn your promotion by your achievement, experience and training. These you build up yourself, especially your achievement and experience. You receive your training generally through "on-the-job" training, and from resident military schools. Besides this, you train yourself — by your voluntary study and outside reading.

Here is where the USAF Extension Course Institute can help you. The Institute offers correspondence courses for military personnel from private to general. You can take these courses without cost to you, and study them in your spare time, wherever you may be stationed.

The Institute provides a two-fold education plan consisting of general military education and specific training in Air Force specialties. The general education is composed of four courses based on the resident Air Force Officer Candidate School, the Squadron Officer and Field Officer Courses of the Air Command and Staff School, and the Air War College. The specialized courses deal with Air Force communications, aerial photography, military law, intelligence, procurement and allied subjects.

You receive a certificate of completion for every lesson you complete successfully. A diploma comes to you for finishing an entire course. These marks of achievement go in your permanent file to attest to your self improvement. It's good to have a file like that when your name comes up for promotion.

See your I and E Officer today and get started on your own home study plan.

KADET KORRAL ...

New Class Scheduling is Set for A-Cadet Program

A new plan for graduation of cadets has been instituted by the Flying Training Air Force. Whispers of it were heard just after the Christmas Holidays, but it has now become official, even though some of the details are not too clearly defined. The gist is this: Instead of each class graduating all together and flooding advanced bases with new men, each class is divided into thirds and grauated accordingly. The first third will graduate two weeks before the scheuled date, the second third on time, and the last third two weeks later.

Starting with Easy Class, cadets will arrive at Reese in the same order, ending the question of who should be in which third. The classes now on the base have been divided by an impartial method, and date of commission will be the time when the first third graduates, thus ending some squabble. However, each third will receive its wings upon completion of the prescribed course.

At present some confusion exists as to the schedule, but this is expected to smooth out in a short time.

Assignments have been posted for Able Class, and, while individual choices have not yet been made, the First Classmen are reportedly quite pleased over the opportunities offered. Of course the usual speculation reigns as to who will go to FEAF, but next week should tell.

Ray Brooks and his orchestra will hold forth from nine until one tomorrow night at the Cadet Club.

One Baker man here, a native of San Francisco, religiously keeps a schedule of his remaining weeks, days, hours, minutes, hours to fly, tests to pass, and so forth. A waste of talent we'd say.

Dear Mrs. Shea:
Should one send flowers if a base officer or airman dies?
Mary Towne, A captain's wife

Dear Mrs. Towne:
That depends on how well you knew the deceased or his family. Usually, the organization... squadron or group to which he belonged sends a floral design, and if your husband is included in this, it will suffice. Some times flowers are sent to the family quarters; however a note of sympathy, a personal call, an offer to do a kindly service such as keeping the baby or even a sympathetic handclasp sometimes means more than a floral offering. Upon the death of an airman or officer on a base, officially every consideration is shown his widow and family, though there is little outward show of mourning. At Headquarters US AF, the policy is to limit the cost

Cagers Lose 3; Play Sat.

Still plagued by hard luck and tall opponents, the Reese basketball team extended its losing streak by three more games. The Rattlers dropped encounters in two home games with Walker AFB and one at Midland, Texas, with the lofty Phillips' 66's.

Tonight and tomorrow night the Rattlers face the Kirkland AFB team in Albuquerque, New Mexico in an attempt to get back into the winner's circle.

The Rattlers lost their two tilts 8 and 9 January by scores of 69-63 and 61-52 with the cagers from Walker. High point men for the night were Kenter and Davis for Walker with 17 each. Taylor and Grier led at 16 points apiece in leading the Reesemen.

In the game the following night, Redwine of Walker led his team to victory with 16 counters in knocking off the Rattlers. Ramos was high for Reese with 13, followed by Grier with 11.

Facing the tall Oilers on their home court at Midland proved disastrous again. The Reesemen were overwhelmed 85 to 61 by a team composed of ex-college "greats." High scorer was former University of Oklahoma star W. Tucker with 30 points. Teammate Hoskins hit the bucket for 22 markers. High scoring for Reese was Grier with 21 and Taylor with 19.

WHAT ARE BABY BONDS?

Baby Bonds are free certificates of money given to you by Pup Thomas in exchange for your patronage. After saving Baby Bonds totaling one dollar or more, you then deposit the Baby Bonds in the First National Bank, Lubbock, Texas, in the name of a child under 12 years of age. The account which is insured up to $10,000, must remain in the bank until the child is fifteen, at which time the money may be withdrawn for the child. This money can provide a sizeable fund for your child's college education. It's money that would not be there if you had not shopped with PUP THOMAS, INC.

UN Dance Feature at Officers Club 23rd

Festive costumes of the United Nations will be standard attire 23 January at an Officers' Club dance. A "Turnabout party," originally scheduled for that night, has been cancelled. Music will be furnished by Bob Lamont and his orchestra with vocal stylings by Norma Raine. All members and their guests are invited to attend dressed in representative costumes of the various nations in the U. N. or formal attire.

Don't Press It!

Gee, Dad, your head is putting on weight. The irrepressible Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis have been selected as the top box office attraction in 1952 by a Look Magazine poll. The crew haircut with the face is Jerry, as if you didn't know. The handsome dude in the upper berth is Dean.

"You were doing 10,000 in a 2,500 mph zone!"

Since Wes Youngblood, program director of KSEL, and station manager Dave Pinkston are off to Ballinger to look to things concerning their new station there, Lubbock's independent gets little mention this week — hence, their first-place billing. However, the new program to be mentioned will be one of the most important ones local folks have ever heard.

Every Sunday at 10:45 a. m., beginning this week, Bill Tipton, associate director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews (Dallas), becomes your "Religious News Reporter." The quarter-hour will include interviews with prominent religious leaders of the city from all Faiths. This should be put on every "must hear" list.

NEW: This coming Monday morning, the 19th, marks the biggest "new" thing we can think of. Namely, KFYO-ABC changes power out-put and kilocycle location on the dial at 8:15 a. m. After said time, you'll have to switch to 790 kcs. to hear the booming daytime power of 5000 watts and the lesser, but still louder, voice of the nighttime 1000 watts. Folks in the outskirts of town and even those at the base who've been having trouble getting good reception are now advised to turn the volume down and reeee-lax! Congrats to the engineering staff for a job well done!

Tonight's "Cavalcade of Sports," with Don Dunphy and Bill Corum, will air the fights from St. Nicholas' Arena at 9:00 between Harold Johnson and Jimmy Slade. — Tomorrow afternoon's Metropolitan Opera, we're reliably informed, will be "Madame Butterfly." Airtime: 1:00 p. m. — Sunday night's 7:00 o'clock thirty will be the "American Music Hall" with the ABC orchestra and various stars. — Milton Cross emcees another half hour of the "Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air," Monday night at 8:00 And, "Defense Attorney" Tuesday, 7:00 p. m. has been replaced by "Sparring Partners," a panelized battle of the sexes with Walter Kierman leading the men and Eloise McElhom leading the femme side.

CHANGES: KCBD - NBC - Mutual offers the new quiz show "Name That Tune" Friday night at 7:30 (noting that it's sustaining, but available). — Eddie Arnold's show moved to Saturday night at 9:00 immediately following "Grand Ole Opry." — A special hour-long presentation airs at 8:00 tonight entitled, "End of An Era." Program covers mostly social changes of the Democratic administrations from the inauguration of F. D. R. to the present time, rather than politics. — "Burns' Mantle's Best Plays" airs at this time normally each Friday, but was pre-empted for this week only.

SPECIAL: Tomorrow night at 10:30, KCBD carries the presentation of the New York Film Critics' Awards. Recognition goes to Shirley Booth for best actress for her role in "Come Back, Little Sheba;" Fred Zinnernan — best director ("High Noon"); Stanley Kramer — best production ("High Noon"); and best foreign film — "Forbidden Games." Show will include sound tracks from some of the films. The entire presentation is emceed by Ben Grauer.

KDUB-TV: Tonight at 7:30, all those who enjoy hearing the radio version of "My Friend Irma" will get an even bigger kick watching the antics of Marie Wilson in the title role on TV. — Last Wednesday saw the beginning of the new show, "I Am the Law," starring George Raft. Screentime: 9:00 p. m. — With new stars featured each week, "Living Room Theater" screens each Tuesday at 7:00 p. m. — And Wednesday nights at 8:30 Ralph Bellamy portrays a "Man Against Crime" in one of videos better mystery shows.

We might note that KDUB is now on the "air" Monday through Friday at 4:15 p. m., which makes the advent of the new 4:40 kids' show easier to see. Tell your young 'ns to tune in for "Crusader Rabbit" at that time every afternoon. We hope your week is happy — and to make it happy for someone else — JOIN THE 1953 MARCH OF DIMES.

AF Promotes Some Airmen Listed Missing

Washington (AFPS)—Approximately 50 per cent of the airmen and 25 per cent of the officers missing in action in Korea have been promoted, the Air Force has announced.

Headquarters USAF made the promotions in accordance with the AF policy of considering missing personnel on an equal basis for promotion with other eligible officers and airmen.

Out of about 250 missing airmen, 120 were promoted during 1952, the Air Force said. Approximately 150 of the nearly 550 missing officers have received promotions.

Two of the four AF personnel officially declared as prisoners of war were also given promotions.

Provision is also made for the advancement of eligible airmen who are declared missing and return to military control after 30 days or more. No vacancy is required for such promotions.
