

Sergeant Farrow Is Texas Safety Winner

Thirteen years of operating heavy equipment for the air service of the nation this week brought recognition to M/Sgt. Hosea H. Farrow of 3502nd Maintenance Squadron.

Sergeant Farrow, in the reclamation service of the base, was named by the Texas Safety association as winner of Group 5, Governmental Agencies division in the individual driver industrial fleet safety contest, Col. C. P. West, base commander, was notified. The sergeant received his award at the 16th annual Texas Safety conference in Houston this week.

SERGEANT FARROW

In Service 18 Years

Farrow has been in service the past 18 years. He has been in reclamation service most of the time and is widely known for his ability to reclaim material from damaged aerial and ground equipment. He is a 1946 graduate of the heavy equipment operations school, Barksdale AFB, and completed the Reese AFB drivers school in 1950. His award from the Texas Safety association resulted from 13 years of operating the heavy equipment without an accident.

The sergeant came to Reese when the base was re-activated in 1949. He is most widely known by his nickname, "Alabam."

Captain McDonald Resumes Base Duties

Capt. Bill McDonald resumed duties this week as flying accident investigation officer at Reese AFB, following completion of the flying safety school at the University of Southern California. The eight-weeks school is monitored by the United States Air Force through the safety division at Norton AFB.

Captain McDonald has been in service since 1943 and has been assigned to Reese 26 months, serving until recently as instructor pilot in the Reese multi-engine pilot training program. He is a veteran of World War II and Korea, serving as flight commander in the latter conflict. He had been accident investigating officer only a few days when assigned to the California school.

Lacking accidents to investigate, the captain will devote his time to accident prevention activities in the general flying safety program here at Reese. The last flying accident at the base was October 26.

Pre-Cadet Of Month Is Given Flight Home

P/C Eugene Johnson of Pasadena, Calif., was selected as the first Pre-Cadet of the Month last week by the officers of the Pre-Cadet Detachment. Johnson was chosen on the basis of having highest attainment in military bearing, personal appearance, neatness and cleanliness of barracks area, attention to instructions, efficiency in executing instructions, and attention to superiors and personnel of lower ranks. Chuck Cabot Orchestra Will Be Featured At NCO Mess Dance

The Non-Commissioned Officers Mess will feature the Chuck Cabot Orchestra next Friday night as the first of the many well known orchestras to appear during the month of April, M/Sgt. Grannett Lee of the NCO Mess, announced this week.

Chuck Cabot features with his orchestra, vocalist, piano styling by Wilson McGrath, the Cabot Trio, the Caboteers and the choir.

Cabot believes in having entertainment along with his music and has the orchestra present many amusing novelty songs and orchestration that keep people entertained when not dancing.

Cited as one of the country's top dance bands, Cabot and his orchestra have broadcast over all the coast-to-coast radio networks, made several records and have appeared in many major hotels, night clubs, and theatres.

For an evening of good entertainment combined with the fine dance music, be at hand to hear Chuck Cabot and his orchestra play at the NCO Mess Friday, April 1st, said Sergeant Lee.

Twins Are Back Together By RAFB Assignments

SEATED BY SENIORITY—M/Sgt. William R. Grambley, seated, forces his "kid brother," M/Sgt. George W. Grambley, to stand for the briefing on arrival at Reese. Sergeant George is the twin of Sergeant William, but all his life he has been known as the "kid brother," because he was born five minutes after his twin. William has been stationed at Reese almost a year; George was transferred to the base just recently. (Photo by Wilhite, Base Photo Lab.)

Brothers In Related Air Force Careers

The Grambley twins, William R. and George W., are back together again, this time both assigned to Reese AFB.

M/Sgt. William R. Grambley has been stationed in the Reese manpower organization section for the past year, and last week his twin, M/Sgt. George W. Grambley, arrived to begin duties in the wing personnel section just down the hall.

Born Christmas Day

The twins were born Christmas day of 1915 and have been separated little. William R. enlisted in 1941 and his "kid brother," five minutes his junior, tried to enlist with him. But the latter was a married man with children and he was employed in a critical industry, so he was turned down for entry into the armed forces. But in 1945 he was accepted for enlistment and was stationed with his twin at Williams AFB, Ariz.

In 1951 the brothers moved to Luke AFB, then went to the Far East to serve together in 1952, and returned to Williams AFB. M/Sgt. William was transferred to Reese AFB last May, but his brother did not try to move with him at that time, delaying an application for transfer until recently.

George Is Kid Brother

Although born the same day, M/Sgt. George has always been the "kid brother" to M/Sgt. William through grade and high school and two years at Fenn college, Cleveland. And their careers have paralleled closely, even to many medals they both hold.

P-C Bigelow Takes Lead In Little Theatre Play

Lubbock Little Theater will feature a serviceman from Reese AFB in the leading role of a play for the first time in the history of the theater group. Pre-Cadet Jack Bigelow will portray the role of sergeant Lachlen MacLachlen in the Little Theater production of "The Hasty Heart." The play is a comedy-drama which is to be presented March 30, 31 and April 1st at the Little Theater building, 2508 Avenue P.

Bigelow is a native of Pomfret, Conn., and was active in high school plays as well as president of the dramatic club in his senior year. He worked in summer stock theaters in Connecticut before

Commanders Authorized To Give Extensions On Present Enlistments

Base commanders are now authorized to make final decisions on extensions of enlistments, Maj. Homer L. Parsons, base reenlistment counselling officer, announced today.

Airmen who are serving on three, four or five year enlistments may be granted in terms of months, extensions up to six years total service, the major said. Purpose of the move is to make it easier for airmen who desire the stay in service until school starts or until job openings are available in civilian life. Cancellation of the extension would be considered only when fulfillment of the extension would result in an injustice to the airman through no fault of his own, the major said, and only one extension will be authorized.

Formerly, authorization for extension rested with Headquarters, USAF. Authority for the change is contained in ATC Change No. 1, dated March 10, 1955, to paragraph 71, AFM 39-9. Airmen interested in further details may contact the reenlistment counselling section, Major Parsons said.

Two Squadrons Cited For Low Accident Potential Records

Two squadrons, Pilot Training Group and Motor Vehicle Squadron, have won accident safety awards for two consecutive months, Joe Lopez, ground safety technician announced this week. Motor Vehicle Squadron won two industrial accident potential awards and have a three months average per capita cost of $.08, while Pilot Training Group won administrative accident potential awards and have a three months per capita cost of $.00.

Motor Vehicle Squadrons personnel, whose operation of government vehicles are a major problem on the base, haven't been involved in a reportable accident since October, 1954.

"These two organizations," said Col. Murray W. Crowder, Jr., wing executive officer, "have played an important part in helping Reese AFB maintain second place in the competition for the Air Training Command, $25,000 Ground Safety Award."

Well . . . Think It Over

EDITORIAL

The Communist Machine

Karl Marx hated democracy, but at least he knew what he was fighting. "Democracy," he wrote, "is based on the principle of the sovereign worth of the human being." In other words: democracy is based on the concept of the "dignity of man."

Now, Marx thought that was a stupid mistake. To him, there was no basic difference between a man, an animal, and a machine. Man, said Marx, gets all his rights from the State.

But we Americans don't think that way. We consider man the most valuable creature on earth. We spend thousands of dollars to save one man; the Communists waste thousands of men to save a few rubles.

We believe in human rights; that a man has certain rights from the moment he is born. We believe in respecting those rights, and we believe they cannot be taken away from him.

In practice, it boils down to this: in a democracy, the State is the tool of the people; under Communism, the people are the tools of the State. (AFPS)

WHAT HIT HIM?—No, an accident hasn't just happened, but it is practice to be ready in case one does happen. Larry Appelquist, a civilian worker and member of an American Red Cross first aid class conducted on the base, is applying bandages to A/IC Arthur Heinrich as part of their first aid training. M/Sgt. Samuel B. Jervis, instructor of the class, observed the proceedings. (Photo by Wilhite, Base Photo Lab.)

Lockheed Turbo-Prop Transport Now In Quantity Production

First production model of the Lockheed C-130A Hercules, a turbo-prop combat transport developed to meet future air logistics requirements of the USAF, is now in quantity production.

Classed as a "medium combat transport," the Hercules has a clear cargo compartment longer and wider than a standard railroad freight car. It is designed to fly combat and logistic support missions, air evacuation, troop-carrier, paratrooper and air-dropping assignments, as well as other military missions. The C-130A is powered by four turbine-propeller power plants rated at 3,750 horsepower each.

Volunteers For Europe

A/3C Donald L. Passmore of 3500th Motor Vehicle Squadron has volunteered for duties in Europe. He will report to Camp Kilmer, N.J. April 23 for overseas shipment.

Chaplain's Chat . . .

YOUR OUTLOOK

By Chaplain (Major) Wilbur J. McDaniel

The interpretation of events which daily occur depends in a large measure on one's outlook on life. Events have a way of developing which demand a constant adjustment on one's outlook on life. Events have a way of developing which demand a constant adjustment on our part. Dr. J. D. Sandifer, former president of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, Texas, used to say to us students, "Education is the ability to adjust oneself to a given situation." Constantly you and I are faced with success and failure, delight and disappointment, prosperity and adversity. The varied vicissitudes of life challenge our determination and adaptability. How these fluctuations affect us mentally and materially will be determined by our philosophy, or more simply stated, by our outlook.

Suppose you have your heart set on flying and you feel that all would be lost if you failed to successfully complete the flying program. In spite of the fact we have a relatively small per cent of young men who feel no such urgency, there are others who fail to make the program and regret it intensely. The latter group just do not like defeat, they are not made of the stuff to give up without a tremendous effort. In spite of this desire to fly, some are eliminated. What is one in this position going to do? Must he dwell in the slough of despondency, or will he grapple with what is a temporary rebuff and turn his energies into other profitable channels of service. It all depends on one's outlook on life.

Fortunate is the person who has resiliency in his mental makeup. We can be brittle like dead wood or resilient like fine steel. It might help all to realize that everyone has more defeats than he has successes. Life is not smooth, nor is it a bed of roses; yet our outlook on life will determine whether we are an unhappy personality or one with a healthful glow. The prize fighter's success is determined in a large measure by his ability to absorb the blows of his opponent and still come back fighting. It is not a question of whether this or that person has lost faith in you, but whether you have lost faith in yourself.

What is true concerning the cadet in the flying program is equally true of others in their daily experiences. Physical handicaps, loss of position, failures, frustrations, and defeats in one's effort to succeed, are but a few of the plaguing experiences all men and women face constantly. All of us know of some person who has suffered what appears to be a devastating blow but who fights back to usefulness and success. We admire them, we applaud them. Most of the cripples I know are physically all right, but they are cripples nevertheless, most of which results from a poor outlook. Can you take the lion of defeat by the beard and wrestle victory out of him? If so, you are a success regardless of the size of your bank-account, or the position in worldly affairs you hold. What is your outlook? Is it wise or otherwise?

Take heed, young man, play it square,
Keep your morals high, your dealings fair,
For when The One Great Scorer comes
To write against your name —
He counts not what you won, or lost,
But how you played the game.

Books At The Base Library

SHORT SHORT CONTEST

Don't let opportunity pass you by. Not only is there an opportunity to win prizes of $300, $200, and $100, respectively, but prizes are also being offered by Reese, FTAF, and Training Command.

Your entry must be turned in to Base Library by the 15th of April. The following titles might prove helpful to you:

SHORT STORY CRAFT by Lillian Gilkes

Here is an introduction to Short Story Writing by an instructor in New York University. It is a tool for the teaching of the short story technique and structure through both a discussion of the principles and their application in successful stories.

WRITING MAGAZINE FICTION by Walter S. Campbell

A magazine write must be a technician. His craft demands exactness, compression, polish, and versatility. All of the chief types of fiction now in vogue are discussed in detail.

PROFESSIONAL SHORT STORY WRITING by William Byron Mowery

The most important advantage of the short-short story for the beginning writer is the fact that the standards are clearer and offer better guidance. This author will help you to acquire the needed form.

PLOTS THAT SELL TO TOP-PAY MAGAZINES by Charles Simmons

This book should prove of value both to the beginner and the professional writer since the 30 basic plots acceptable to leading magazines are outlined in detail. There are simple precise explanations on how to handle each.

These four excellent title plus additional ones that might particularly be of interest to you are available to you at your Base Library T-421.

Cadet Incentive Plan Reinstated

The old program of granting distinguished cadets immediate direct commissions in the regular Air Force will be re-instated before too long, the AIR FORCE TIMES stated this week.

The TIMES said that Air Secretary Harold E. Talbott has approved the plan which is intended to provide incentive to thousands of cadets in the AFROTC, aviation cadet and OCS programs. The program, expected to be started this summer, calls for designation of 20 per cent of cadets as distinguished, with the Air Force selecting the best men for immediate commissions.

The system, as far as cadets were concerned, was in effect prior to 1952, but was discontinued. For

AF Has New Policy On Entering Into OJT

An airman in helper level status who is not in a directed duty assignment may now be entered into On-the-Job Training (OJT) by his major command. The AF has just announced this new policy. Recommendation for this training will continue to be made by the squadron commander.

Formerly, Hqs USAF approval was required for OJT assignment. Delegation of the authority to command level will speed the individual's progression into OJT. He may now enter training as soon as he proves in his everyday duty that he is sufficiently capable to merit a training investment by the Air Force.

New authority has been given the squadron commander to make exchanges at base level for airmen in directed duty assignment who are not suited to their assigned training. The exchange may be made when it benefits both the individual and the organization.

On-the-Job Training is one part of the AF's integrated training program. The other part is AF technical schools. Both are under a system called Project Guidance, established by the AF to provide career guidance for the individual in line with AF requirements.

In the next fifteen months the AF will get more than 200,000 new men who must be trained in technical skills. During the same time another 200,000 men will also be in training—learning higher levels of skills.

Pre-Cadet Of Month

As the winner he will be flown to California by 1st Lt. Richard R. Jarvis, commanding officer of the Pre-Cadet Detachment, for a week-end at his home in Pasadena, in addition to getting special privileges for a week.

All Pre-Cadets not obtaining an officer position are eligible candidates for Pre-Cadet of the Month. Three Pre-Cadets are chosen from each of the four flights in the detachment by the respective flight lieutenants and presented before the board of officers for the selection of the final winner. Lieutenant Jarvis will act as final authority on the selection of each Pre-Cadet of the Month.

MATS Fly 4,500 Missions To Thule AB Airlift

WESTOVER AFB, MASS. (AFPS) — The Military Air Transport Service recently finished four years of successful airlift operations to Thule AB, Greenland. In the process, MATS crews completed 4,500 flights to this strategically-located AF base at the "top of the world" since airlift operations started in 1951.

he past three years distinguished students have been selected, but they were required to wait a year before applying for regular commissions. Distinguished graduates here at Reese were given special consideration for the regular commissions, but the wait eliminated much incentive to strive for the honors, it was said. Prior to 1952, about 10 per cent of Reese graduates were permitted regular Air commissions on graduation.

Service Wives Magazine To Be On Newstands

WASHINGTON (AFPS)—A new digest-size magazine devoted exclusively to entertaining and informing the millions of service wives and families will be on the market in August.

The magazine, entitled "U. S. Lady," will be published by the American Service Publishing Co., Inc., Washington, D. C. President of the company is Cdr. G. Lincoln Rockwell, USNR (Inactive).

Rockwell said the magazine, which will feature full color illustrations and sell for 35 cents, will be distributed through post exchanges, ships stores and newsstands. He said each month the magazine will carry articles and features covering the many problems encountered by service wives and their families.

'Tops In Blue' Ends Tour
The all-airman show "Tops in Blue of '54" has completed its world-wide tour of AF and other military installations. The troupe has returned to the U. S. after traveling more than 40,000 miles. The show was presented 227 times at 144 installations and entertained more than 215,000 military personnel and their dependents.

SAC Wing To Guam

USAF's program to rotate SAC bomb wings to the Far East for three-month training cycles continues in April when the 28th Strategic Reconnaissance Wing is scheduled to fly its RB-36 intercontinental bombers nonstop from Ellsworth AFB, South Dakota, to Guam. At the same time SAC's 5th Strategic Reconnaissance Wing will return from similar mobility training exercises at Guam to its home base at Travis AFB, California.

FIRST '55 MANAGEMENT SCHOOL GRADUATES—Nine Officers, 17 airmen and five civilians have recently completed the base level personnel management class conducted here on the base. 'Design Today' Representative Speaks To OWC At Monthly Tea

By Mrs. Clyde H. Plemons

The Officers Wives held its monthly tea held at the Officers Mess, Thursday afternoon, with Mrs. E. W. Kubin acting as senior hostess. Assisting Mrs. Kubin were Mmes. Thomas Banfield, E. C. Winters, T. Moss and J. Shimborg. Speaker for the tea was Miss Martye Poindexter of "Design Today", who spoke on Contemporary Living.

The refreshment table was covered with a black cloth to which green shamrocks were pinned at intervals. The centerpiece was a modernistic arrangement of shells and brass discs.

Mrs. Murray W. Crowder, Jr., was hostess at a tea in the Fantasy Room recently as a compliment to incoming and retiring members of the council and executive boards of the Officers Wives Club. Mmes. R. L. Boulware, W. Ralph Wright, Robert R. Wilkins, Clyde H. Plemons, J. C. Youngblood, Donald L. Powell and Robert C. Shaw, assisted with the hospitalities. An arrangement of spring flowers placed around a white mesquite branch, to which tiny artificial butterflies were attached, centered the table.

Mrs. J. C. Youngblood, Membership Chairman announced a coffee honoring all new comers to Reese will be held Wednesday, March 30. The coffee will be at 10 a.m. in the TV Room at the Officers Mess. All retiring council and executive board members and staff officers wives are invited to attend.

A card party for Thursday, March 31, at 1:30 p.m., was announced by Mrs. Edward W. Kubin, bridge and canasta chairman. The party will be held at the Officers Mess.

PTA Turkey Shoot Set For April 16

Last Monday night at the regular monthly meeting of the RAFB-PTA the by-laws and the constitution for the local PTA were voted upon and adopted, Mrs. Juanita Cole, PTA president announced. In the future executives of the PTA will be elected at the beginning of the school year, their tour will be the same as the period school is in session.

M/Sgt. Peter O'Keefe, Committee Chairman for the Trap Shoot, made a report as to arrangements for the Trap Shoot to be held April 16 at the south side of the RAFB school. Additional sub-committees to operate the different functions to be performed during the shoot, such as operation of the trip for firing clay birds, concessions for selling ammunition, food, soft drinks, registering gunmen for the different shoot-offs and the awarding of prizes, will be organized from many willing volunteers.

From the 88 parents present for this meeting on a pro-rated basis of student strength, Mrs. Weldon Bennet's 6th grade took the newly prized attendance banner of blue and gold.

NCO Wives Club Pot Luck Supper Is Featured At Wives Club March Social

By Mrs. Charles Kurrelmeyer

The NCO Wives Club will feature a Pot Luck Supper for their March Social on Monday, March 28, in the Ball Room of the NCO Open Mess. The supper will begin at 6 p.m. and will be for club members and their husbands. Mmes. K. McCullough, F. Meserole, and J. Murphy will be the hostesses for the evening.

A stork shower was given at the home of Mrs. L. G. Gregory, 205 Arnold Drive for Mrs. E. E. McKinney on Thursday evening. An enjoyable evening was had by all and Mrs. McKinney received many lovely and useful gifts.

Leaving for re-assignment are S/Sgt. and Mrs. R. A. Dwyer, who leave for Sampson AFB, N.Y., and M/Sgt. and Mrs. E. E. McKinney, who leave for Greenville, Miss.

Mrs. C. D. Gibbs and daughter, Mildred, left recently to make their home in Fort Worth, Texas.

The NCO Wives Club has, for one of their charity project, agreed to dress dolls for the Doll Hospital of Lubbock, to be distributed to the needy children of Lubbock and vicinity.

turn to the Air Force under a revised voluntary recall program without loss of grade or skill level.

Armed Forces Athletes Win In Pan-Am Games

MEXICO CITY (AFPS)—2nd Lt. Ron Richard became a double gold medalist in the Pan-American Games here by winning the 200-meter dash in 20.7 seconds. He previously won the 100-meter dash event.

The Ft. Lee, Va., sprinter, formerly of UCLA, lowered the Pan Am Games record for the 200 by one-tenth of a second.

Ens. Jack Davis of the carrier Yorktown won his trial heat in the 110-meteh high hurdles in 13.7 seconds, a new Pan-Am mark. But the record was disallowed because of a following wind.

In boxing, A/1C Joseph Durando of Beale AFB, Calif., outpointed Alfredo Cornejo of Chile in the Welterweight class. Light welterweight, A/2C William Morton, Johnson AB, Japan, defeated Edicion Montero, Chile. Both of these were quarter final matches.

A message authorizing this program has been sent to the field by Hqs USAF. It states such airmen must be fully qualified under provisions of AFR 39-48 and must possess an AFSC listed in the message. They cover most of the specialties and technical skills in the AF.

Airmen with prior service who are recalled or enlist under this program must volunteer for a four-year tour of extended active duty and must have at least four years remaining in current Reserve enlistment.

Prior service is defined as 90 days of active duty or at least 18 months continuous satisfactory Reserve or Air National Guard participation in training, including 30 days of active duty.

Reserve airmen recalled since 20 September 1954 are not again eligible for recall consideration until one year has elapsed from separation date.

Squadron II Wins Cadet Open Posts

By Tom G. Bayless Jr.

Squadron II surged ahead during the final week of Honor Squadron competition to carry home first place privileges. Accumulating more points in academics and squadron area than Squadron I, the cadets of Squadron II enjoyed a double overnight open post. Losing first place by less than 50 points, Squadron I should make the coming contest even closer for the next two week period.

A dance was held Saturday at the Cadet Open Mess to entertain transient cadets from Vance AFB and Big Spring AFB. Traveling on their day-night cross country flights several of the B-25's visiting the base were weathered-in for a two day visit.

Sunday a jam-session was held at the Cadet Mess for a two-hour period to entertain cadets and their dates.

The first day of spring (March 21) found old man weather covering the base with a white blanket of snow. The cadets were quick to pick up the spirit of the occasion, and "Jingle-Bells" was heard ringing from the cadet ranks as they marched to academics.

Eleven Pre-Cadets Go To LAFB Training

Eleven members of the pre-cadet detachment at Reese Air Force Base have been directed to report to Lackland AFB, San Antonio, on April 5 to begin pre-flight training as aviation cadets.

Each of the young men has been stationed at Reese AFB several weeks, performing regular duties and learning how an air base functions, particularly in training pilots.

Re-assigned to Lackland are Airmen Third Class Calen B. Pryor, Doyle C. Myers, George C. Sonnenleiter, Maurice R. Wachtel, Jack N. Moyers, Richard O. Pryor, Charles E. Welch, Harold J. Hill, Jr., Edwin W. Bradley, Jr., William J. Danaher, and Robert R. Gryder.

ROTC Grads To Get Commissions

All AF ROTC cadets who graduate during the period May 1, 1955 and April 30, 1956, will be commissioned second lieutenants in the AF Reserve. Except for a few who have had previous military service or those granted deferment to continue with academic work, all others will be called to active duty with the AF. This policy affects approximately 10,200 AF ROTC students. Of this number about 8,100 have been accepted for flight training.

Winners of the double elimination basketball tournament and base champions are the team from Hq. Sq. M&S Group. M&S eliminated 02nd Maintenance last Friday night by the score of 36-42 to win the title.

The game saw M&S take an early lead and they were ahead by the narrow margin of 19-14 at the half. As the game progressed both teams put up a great battle, but M&S kept its lead and won the game by four points.

Scoring for M&S was very unusual, with only three men reaching the scoring column. Williams paced his team with 17 points, followed by Weekly with 12 and Sasemen with 7. Cowan was high point man for 02nd Maint. netting 16.

The 02nd Maintenance Team, the dark horse of the tournament, was rolling in the two semi-final games and beat both the Air Police and the Student Pilots. Wednesday 02nd won over the Student Pilots by a score of 58-50. Garlington was the big gun for 02nd and put in 24 points, with 14 of his points coming from 14 straight free-throws, without a miss. The following night 02nd beat the Air Police 54-46, with Garlington putting in 17 for the winners.

An intramural volleyball league has been set up and slated to start April 1st and will run through the month of April. A team picked from the best players in the league will represent Reese in the AF zone tournament held at Clovis, N. M., April 18-21.

Personnel interested in entering the base wide ping pong tournament are asked to call the Service Club, 722. The tournament will feature both singles and doubles, with the champions in each event to be awarded a trophy.

Final standings in the airmens bowling league are: Food Service 63 points; PTW 61; 02nd Maint. 47; PTG 47; Installations 46; Air Police 38; 01st Maint. 33; Cadet team A 33; Cadet team 32; M&S 27; 05th Maint. 10. Points are given on the basis of one point for each game won and one point for the team with the most points in each three game series.

This completes the play in the airmens bowling league, but if enough interest is shown, a summer bowling league will be formed.

RAFB Cadets Play In First Annual Cage Tournament

The Reese AFB aviation cadet basketball team leaves today for the first annual tournament of the Southwest Aviation Cadet conference at Ellington AFB, Houston, which is scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon.

The Reese team has made a good record this season and expects to be "in the money" at the tournament, Capt. J. C. Youngblood, training officer, said. The team will be virtually at full strength for the competition, a situation better than at any time during the winter. No cadets will be flying with the possible exception of one, and he is not a starter, the captain said.

Cadet teams also will be on hand from Ellington, Harlingen, Goodfellow, and Bryan AFB's and from Hondo Air Base. Trophies for the first two places will be awarded.

The basketball tournament is the first of several athletic events scheduled for the conference, Capt. Youngblood said. A track meet has been scheduled for Bryan AFB for late in April, with Reese prepared to send a team.

New Guided Missiles Help SAC In Long Range Striking Power

The Air Force has three strategic intercontinental missiles under accelerated development to assist SAC to accomplish its long range striking power mission.

These missiles were identified by name as being the Navaho, the Snark and the Atlas in a speech made March 15 by Mr. Trevor Gardner, Assistant Secretary of the Air Force (Research and Development). Each of these missiles has an intercontinental atomic capability, although their over-all performance differs materially.

The Atlas is called probably the most important of the three. Launched by rocket motors developing thousands of tons of thrust and millions of horsepower within seconds, this intercontinental ballistic missile will travel at speeds of several thousand miles per hour. Such a rocket approaching a target presents the enemy with an incredibly difficult defensive job.

In addition to the three intercontinental missiles, the AF is developing the Rascal, an air-to-ground strategic missile. Designed to be carried aloft by long range bombers, the Rascal enables the bombers to deliver their nuclear weapons against the enemy many miles away.

The Air Force also has made public first details of the Falcon, a guided aircraft rocket whose mission is the destruction of enemy bombers.

The Falcon is one of the more advanced guided missiles and soon will be installed in AF interceptor aircraft. It is designed to be launched from the plane in flight and would travel supersonically and seek the target electronically. The electronics intelligence of the Falcon system is designed to hold it on a course to hit the target despite evasive maneuvers of the enemy bomber.

Under development since 1947, the Falcon was conceived by the AF and developed and produced by the aircraft industry. The weapon has been under active tests since 1950. The Falcon is light in weight (a little over 100 pounds) and can be carried in quantity in one-man or two-man interceptor aircraft.

AF officials see the Falcon's principal use in defense of the North American continent against air attack. The Falcon would be used in far-off Arctic regions and other locations many miles from U. S. centers of population.

The AF has designated the Falcon as GAR-1-guided aircraft

Other guided missiles previously announced in some detail by the AF include the TM (tactical missile)-61 Matador, already in operational service in Europe; and the IM (interceptor missile)-99 Bomarc, a surface-to-air guided missile being developed by the AF for an interceptor-type mission.
