

December 17 Set As Probable Start Of Holiday Leave Period

A holiday policy which includes discontinuation of student training on December 17, if possible, has been announced by Col. C. P. West, base commander.

The colonel said in his policy letter that if training could be carried on in a normal fashion to end it a week before Christmas, the training would halt at that time. Final decision was promised as early as possible.

The unit commanders were authorized to extend holiday leaves to January 3, taking into consideration requirements of the individual organization. It was cited that approximately eight percent of personnel could be on leave after January 3.

50 Percent Strength

During the holidays base strength will be maintained at about 50 percent and efforts will be made to carry out projects in each section which will be beneficial to the base mission. FTAF has recommended that the holidays be utilized to correct deficiencies, with emphasis on rehabilitation of training aids, revision of base defense plans where applicable, and other moves.

No Letup In Safety

Maj. Gen. G. P. Disosway, FTAF commander, advised all base commanders that there will be no let-up in Air Force functions and that safety, particularly on the highways, must be emphasized. At Reese unit commanders will counsel all persons going on leave to use all precautions in getting to their destinations and back without mishap. In past years Reese personnel have established safety records during the holiday season and Colonel West is asking that another one be set through no accidents.

Emphasis On Fires

Emphasis also is being placed on elimination of holiday period fires.

Reese Tree Lighting Program Is Dec. 16

The Reese AFB Christmas Tree-lighting program will be held Friday, December 16, at 7 p.m., at the main gate, and similar ceremonies will be held on service installations throughout the world during the weekend.

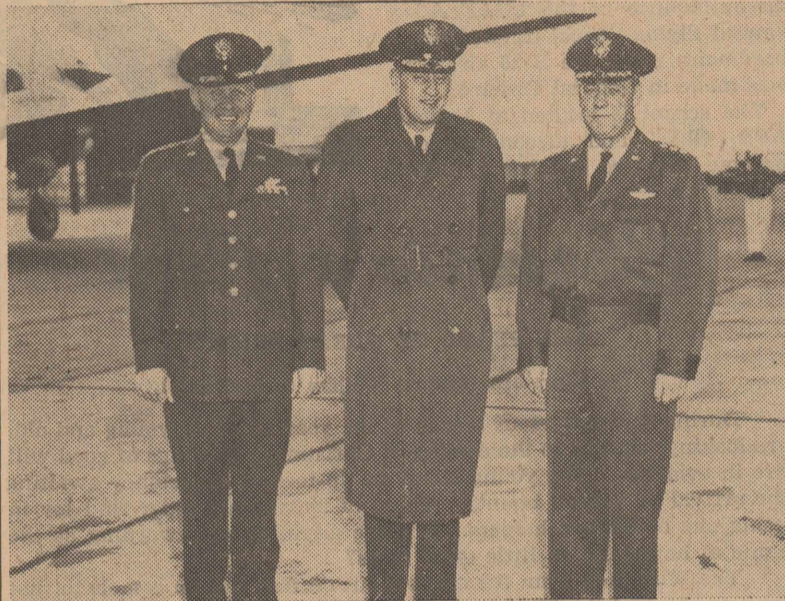

On Sunday, December 18, the opening ceremonies in the Nation's Capitol will consist of President Eisenhower lighting the National Community Christmas Tree, either directly or by remote control.

At the Reese program, carols will be sung, led by the Cadet choir, prior to the lighting of the tree.

Following the program the Cadet Choir will present a Christmas concert in the base Chapel and then proceed to sing carols around the base and in Reese Village.

All personnel are encouraged to attend this annual function.

Upwards of 20 airmen on the base will be given early releases from service so they may be home for Christmas. Those eligible for release up to January 8 are being separated early. Several of them are re-enlisting, it was said. Payment for accrued leave, mustering out pay, and travel allowances will be paid them.

COMMANDERS POSE—Commanders of higher headquarters supervising Reese Air Force Base activities paid a quick visit to the base Friday on a routine inspection. Posing shortly after arrival are Lt. Gen. Base Contributes To Local Fund Drives From United Fund

Reese Air Force Base personnel have contributed $5,455.29 into charitable funds of Lubbock and elsewhere during the fiscal year which started last July 1, with additional funds available as organizations make their drives.

There was a United Fund drive at the base this year for the first time as a single campaign was used to replace many campaigns staged previously. Each person, military and civilian, was asked to give a day's pay and from the fund raised, contributions are made to individual units.

Colonel West said that in addition to one check for $4,482.87 given the Community Chest of Lubbock, contributions also had been given to six other charities. The Lubbock County chapter of the American Cancer Society, Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, and Lubbock County Tuberculosis Association received $224.14 each. Checks for $100 each were issued to the Red Cross for its emergency fund in the August floods in the east, the American Legion, and the Disabled Veterans.

Colonel West said that the Red Cross, March of Dimes, and other charitable activities will receive shares of the United Fund as their campaigns take place.

Lt. Col. Charles E. Wilson, wing personnel officer, is chairman of the committee which supervises the fund. Maj. Edward S. Ashley, wing comptroller, was general chairman of the fund raising.

Training Sergeant Is Honorary Jaycee

Staff Sergeant Lynn D. Clement, Air Police squadron Training NCO has been named Honorary Jaycee-of-the-Month by the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Sergeant Clement is a native Texan, graduating from High School at Childress and attending Amarillo Junior College. He entered service in 1950 and has served in Air Police training much of his time in service. He spent one year overseas in Saudi Arabia.

His activity in the Lubbock American Legion post and his assistance in activities at Texas Tech received high consideration for his selection to the honor. The Post's color guard, which Clement is a member, placed first in the Texas state convention and came in tenth in the national convention in October.

He is married and lives with his wife and two sons in Reese Village.

December Promotions Authorized 133 Stripes For Reese Airmen

With the quota slightly lower than two months ago, Reese units this week were promoting airmen under December authorizations given the base.

The same quota of one master sergeant as given, with the base board scheduled to meet and consider candidates from each squadron. Three technical sergeants were authorized, a boost of one over the October quota. The same number of staff sergeants—19—was authorized.

Promotions to airman first class declined from 55 in October to 48 for December, and elevations authorized to airman second class totaled 62 for this month, as compared with 69 for two months ago.

Promotions authorized for the Air Force for the December-January cycle totaled 54,600, it was announced. There were 700 master sergeants, 1,000 tech sergeants, 8,000 staff sergeants, 18,000 airman firsts, and 26,000 airmen seconds allotted all major commands.

Better NCO's Object Of Proposed Testing

Selection of better equipped non-commissioned officers is the objective of a proposed regulation on NCO testing received this week at Reese, with a request for suggestions on the regulation and the program.

The proposal would require that airmen first class and staff sergeants be tested in April and October to find out how much they know on organization, mission, and history of the Air Force. The tests also would show knowledge and judgment on how to organize personnel and equipment to accomplish a mission, and how much the airman tests know on military courtesy, conduct, and related military subjects.

The purpose of the tests would be to assist in identifying and selecting NCO's with the ability to lead, supervise, and train others.

The Reese personnel section is making a study of the proposal this week with the view of approving it or offering suggested changes.

Cub Scouts To Assist In 'Toys For Tots'

Seeking to assist the Lubbock Marine Reserves in providing Toys for Tots, the Reese Cub Scout Pack 148 Saturday will collect new and repairable toys from residents of Reese Village and on-base housing.

Second Lt. Edward Heinz, packmaster, said the boys will make a house-to-house canvass from 9 to 11 a.m. Saturday and are hopeful of securing a large amount of toys for the needy children of the area.

"Last year Reese people opened their hearts to give liberally in this drive; we are hopeful this year will prove even more successful," the lieutenant said. "We are seeking new toys where possible and also will welcome any toy which can be repaired and used."

Saturday

Scattered high clouds with light to moderate northerly winds. High temperature of 58 and low of 29.

As in previous cycles, all promotions are subject to career field vacancies. Exceptions were made for staff sergeants regardless of availability of field vacancies except in five career fields: aerial photography, motor transportation, marine, baking, and railroad equipment.

Chimes Installed For Use At Base Chapel

Christmas music played by chimes will be heard at Reese AFB during the holiday season after the recent installation of chimes at the Base Chapel.

The chimes are part of the Chief of Air Force Chaplains program to have chimes put in particular Air Force installations in the United States.

Approximately 100 bases received a set of the chimes.

The chimes are electronically produced by records either manually operated or played by automatic controls. The versatile chimes system can be used for inside public address systems, play records through the systems or an organ may be connected to play with the chime records.

The chapel has a large selection of Christmas and religious music, Chaplain (Major) Wilbur J. McDaniel, wing chaplain stated.

Set on an automatic clock, the chimes play the Angelus at 6, 12 noon and 6 p.m., each day, while Mass chimes sound at 8:45 and 12:15 each Sunday and Church Call is sounded at 10:45 on Sundays.

The chimes are manufactured by the Schulmerich Carellons Inc., of Pa., and was installed in the chapel by company representatives.

AF Seeks Earlier Notification For Change Of Station

Considerable boost to morale has resulted from the Air Force move to give personnel longer notice on change of station, particularly to overseas areas, Lt. Col. Charles E. Wilson, wing personnel officer, said this week.

The colonel pointed out that FTAF has been attempting for months to give notification on change of station and the Air Force as a whole has adopted the same policy, seeking a minimum of 70 days notice. As a result, he said, personnel have longer periods to adjust their personal affairs and to be ready for the move when it comes. Thus, houses may be sold at a better advantage and children may be transferred to other schools at more opportune moments.

Annual Christmas Party To Be Held For Children

The annual RAFB Children's Christmas Party will be held Saturday, December 17, from 2 to 4 p.m., in the Base theater, it was announced by Chaplain (Major) Wilbur J. McDaniel.

Children of all base personnel, said Chaplain McDaniel, are invited to the party to see Santa Claus and receive a gift.

Members of the Officers and NCO Wives clubs will be assisting in preparations for the party. The chaplain reported that more than 500 children are expected to be present.

So You Have Principles!

You've probably seen the poster on the military Code of Conduct, now being widely displayed here. Section Six of the Code says: "I will never forget that I am an American fighting man, responsible for my actions, and dedicated to the principles which made my country free. I will trust in my God and in the United States of America."

We are dedicated to the principles that made our country free—or we would not be where we are. But how well do we understand the principles?

Some of the principles we stand for are outlined in a pamphlet recently given limited distribution by the Department of Defense. It says that the basic freedoms that every person is entitled to go hand in hand with certain basic responsibilities. Among the basic freedoms and responsibilities are these:

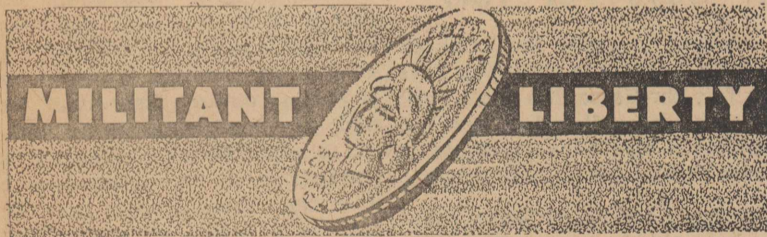

Basic Freedoms

1. Freedom of worship and religion for individuals and organized groups.
2. Freedom of opinion, speech, and expression.
3. Freedom of association, assembly and action.
4. Freedom of the individual to choose and elect his own leadership.
5. Freedom of movement within one's own country and freedom to visit other countries.
6. Freedom for educational, social, and economic opportunity.
7. Freedom to choose one's own occupation.
8. Freedom of the individual to own property alone or in association with others, including the freedom to own means of production.
9. Freedom from arbitrary arrest, detention or exile and the right of equal protection under the law.
10. Freedom from torture, cruelty or degrading punishment or treatment.

Basic Responsibilities

1. Responsibilities for tolerance between the religious beliefs of individuals or organized groups.
2. Responsibility for reactions and results of written and oral expression.
3. Responsibility for purposes and actions of association and assembly.
4. Responsibility to exercise the right to choose leadership for best community interest.
5. Responsibility for constructive use of freedom of movement.
6. Responsibility to utilize educational, social and economic opportunity for individual and national welfare.
7. Responsibility to be a productive and useful citizen.
8. Responsibility to use and conserve property and resources for legitimate and productive purposes.
9. Responsibility of all citizens to assist, uphold and insure justice, law and order.
10. Responsibility to maintain vigilance against illegal practices, discrimination, torture, cruelty degrading punishment or treatment.

These are only some of the facts we need to know about our principles. We must, for example, know something about the source of these principles. Do your basic freedoms and responsibilities come from the Government? We'll examine this question in an early issue of this paper.

The concept of Militant Liberty, recently approved by the Defense Department, is a strong reminder to men in service that in this democracy liberty and responsibility go hand in hand.

Democracy is like a two-sided coin; liberty is on one side, responsibility on the other. In fact, every basic freedom implies a basic responsibility.

Freedom of religion, speech, press and assembly mean also a responsibility to be tolerant of the beliefs of others. Freedom from arbitrary government regulation and control means also responsibility to guard against the granting of arbitrary powers to government.

The freedoms are the obvious side of the coin. They are in the Bill of Rights or in law. But, the responsibilities are a bit more subtle. They are the personal burden of everyone. A people who refuse their responsibilities are running the risk of losing the corresponding freedoms. (AFPS)

CORNERSTONE OF MATCHLESS VALUE

Chaplain's Chat

"THE PEARL OF GREAT PRICE"

By Chaplain (Major) Wilbur J. McDaniel

During this marvelous season of the year all of us, young and old, are looking forward to the coming of Christmas. Feelings of good will are in evidence. The young stand on tip-toes of expectancy awaiting the arrival of Santa's bounty. Those of us who are older find joy in being one of Santa's helpers. Is there anything so rewarding as the smile of happiness on little ones' faces?

The Wise Men from the east set out on foot and on camels in that long ago to find the "Pearl of Great Price". They would not have found Him had they not searched. He is still the object of search and capture by honest men's hearts. As the wise men found Him in Bethlehem's manger, resulting in indescribable joy, so can hungry hearts find Him now. "And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart." Join other wise men and women who have found Him precious and you will enjoy the radiance of His presence in your life and home, and Christmas will take on a new meaning—a meaning of peace and happiness.

Visiting ROTC's Give Tribute To Base Cadets

Tribute to training and cooperation of Reese AFB and its cadets is paid in the November issue of the BLUES NEWS, military publication of St. Thomas college of St. Paul, just received on the base.

Jerome Peterson, BLUES editor, in an editorial and news article told of a trip 20 St. Thomas AF-ROTC Cadets made to Reese early in November to visit various points of the base and to see just how operations were carried on. During their stay, the college cadets were quartered in the Cadet barracks.

"The men that we roomed with were of that class one would expect to find in a truly Christian atmosphere," Editor Peterson wrote in his editorial. "They found no question, no matter how difficult, that they would not answer for us honestly. The most serious and controversial issue that one could ask at a base which trained both ROTC graduates and aviation cadets is, 'After graduation, who is the better officer?' The answer, 'It depends on the man's individual attitude and temperament, regardless of previous education and training,' was not only an intelligent answer, but one showing a non-prejudiced view and a man of broad vision.

"These men are completely honest, helpful, genial, and ready to understand. They are the type of men that we want to work with in the future."

Portraits

make the ideal Christmas present, for the season naturally increases the desire to be near those we love. That portrait makes the best substitute if we can't be there and if we can, it leaves our likeness to be enjoyed when we are away.

All due credit should be given the Amarillo AFB basketball team that they have fielded this year. This is not an excuse for the two losses handed our own team this past weekend, but Amarillo has a well-rounded team, perhaps the best in the district. All of the starting five are at least six feet and they boast a 6'5" center. The Amjets also have plenty of reserve strength.

In Friday night's contest, Amarillo outscored the Rattlers 71-55. Beaton led in the scoring column with 17 points for the Amjets and Hoskins of Reese had 14. The second game, also won by Amarillo, saw high scoring and a 112-to-72 final score. Weekly scored 18 for the locals and a 6'3" forward named Bourassa dropped in 30 points for Amarillo.

The Rattlers journey to Clovis AFB tonight and Saturday for a two-game tilt.

A dummy basketball league started this Monday with 13 teams represented, and each of the teams to play at least two games. The league is set up as a pre-season warm-up, with the regular league to start January 9, after the holiday vacation.

In next week's play the following games will be played:

Monday: Pre-Cadets vs. PTW and 3502nd Maint. play Air Police.
 Tuesday: AACS against PTG and Motor Vehicle plays Installations.
 Wednesday: Flight Line Instructors play Food Service and 3501st vs. M&S group.
 Thursday: Hospital vs. Air Police and Pre-Cadets vs. 3502nd Maint.
 Friday: Motor Vehicle vs. PTG and the Flight Line Instructors play Installations.

Next Friday night will see the completion of the dummy league play, due to many of the personnel taking holiday leaves.

Scores in the dummy basketball league for the past week are as follows: 3501st Maintenance beat AACS 47-25 in the opening game Monday night, followed by a 35 to 20 win by the Hospital over Pilot Training group. Tuesday night, Installations 75, Support squadron 19, and the Flight Line Instructors forfeited to the Pre-Cadets. Wednesday's scores were 3502nd 56, M&S Group 20, and Air Police 45, PTW 39.

During the first 40 days of operation of the Automotive Hobby Shop over 733 persons have used the facilities offered, and continued large usage of the shop is expected.

More interest has been shown in the base boxing team as members get in shape for future matches.

The Rattlers will face the Bell Milk Co. cagers at the base Gym December 20th. The Bell team is composed of several former Texas Tech and other college players.

Top Base Bowlers In Match With Webb

Eight of the top bowlers in the Officers and Airmen's league will be at Webb AFB, Big Spring, today and Saturday for a two-day match.
