24th Annual Floyd County Friends Gala will feature top entertainment

JASON NUTT

By Segayle Foster Special for The Hesperian-Beacon

MUNCY - We are looking forward to the 24th Annual Floyd County Friends Benefit Gala that will be held this Saturday, March 23, 2019 at the Unity Center in Muncy. The doors open at 5:15 p.m. and the gala begins at 6:00 p.m. The past couple of years we have broken record after record and this year will be no exception.

We will again have some top quality entertainment. The opening band is one of Floyd County's finest, Jason Nutt and the Highway 70 Band. He is born and raised in Floydada, and we know he will be fantastic.

This year's Headliner will be CORY MORROW! Happiness has always come naturally to Cory Morrow. With his rollicking, soulful, feel-good Texas country, he has made thousands jump on tabletops, shimmy, scream, and suspend worries for almost two decades, like a honkytonk pied piper-and he shows no signs of stopping. From his hits like Texas Time Travelin, Lonesome, and Rambling Man his 11th album dropped in September 2018. If the new record, and this phase of Morrow's career, had to be summed up in one word -the word would be "real". As evidenced by his latest recordings, live shows, and online communication with fans, he's not pandering, he's simply doing what he knows. Pulling back the curtains, letting us in, and letting the chips fall where they may.

We are excited to again have the famous Jeana's Feedbag Catering from Levelland on board to cater the sirloin steak dinner. There will be a cheese and fruit display for appetizer, salad, loaded mashed potatoes, green beans, rolls, along with an Italian Rum with Chocolate cake for dessert. For adult beverages, we will have liquor, wine or beer and drink tickets will be $5 per ticket.

CORY MORROW

Our raffle has always been such a hit and this year will be no exception. Giving away $20,000 is fun for all. All prizes will be CASH: 1st Prize is $10,000; 2nd $3,000, 3rd $2,500 4th $2,000 5th $1500 and the last prize will be $1,000. Tickets are $100/ticket and there are ONLY 400 and you do not have to be present to win. So contact a board member today to get yours before there all gone.

As usually, all ticket holders will be eligible for the $1,000 giveaway sponsored by Therdyn, Inc. Our guest will also be able to enjoy our Live and Silent auctions, as well as Gold Strip coffee bar sponsored by Happy State Bank.

For more information about the 24th Annual Floyd County Friends Gala call Segayle Foster at (806) 445-2496. We look forward to seeing all 600 guests for a spectacular night of raising money for a great cause and it's already gearing up to be another night to remember!

March Meeting By Deon Fincher The Hesperian-Beacon

The Floyd County Commissioners met March 11, 2019 in Commissioners' Chambers at the Floyd County Courthouse.

There were no public comments to be made.

Judge Marty Lucke presented the Floyd County CAD Budget. Lucke stated that the county's contribution decreased.

Lucke recommended to the commissioners that adjustments to county lineitems be performed based on the auditor's recommendations in the 2018 Audit Report that was presented at last month's meeting. Commissioners approved the action unanimously.

Discussion to purchase a copier for the District Clerk's office was made. Commissioners approved action to gather information on machines and contracts.

The county fire departments recommended instilling the Burn Ban. Judge Lucke stated that without a burn ban in place, areas cannot apply for disaster relief if a fire should happen. With the dry conditions and extreme winds, Lucke suggested the burn ban go into effect immediately. County commissioners approved the recommendation unanimously.

County Commissioner's

Judge Lucke presented the bids for the new roof for PAC. The bids ranged from $59,000 to $57,000. Commissioners approved the bid from Roofs, Inc. to replace the current roof on the PAC building. The vote was unanimous.

Drug analysis being done through the Department of Public Safety are suffering extended turnaround times. The DPS lab is approximately 6-9 months behind. Because of this situation, the lab will no longer test useable amounts of marijuana, resulting in cases with no drug analysis. By using the private company for drug testing, inmates are only incarcerated for a minimum of 10 days if waiting on drug test results. After a lengthy discussion, commissioners voted unanimously to approve the county offices to use the private company for thei county's drug tests.

Judge Lucke stated that the Catepillar Motor Grader for Precinct 1 is in Lubbock. Money (130K) was set aside in the budget for this purchase. After receiving a $214K trad0n value, the county will have a cash expenditure of $119k for the grader. The commissioners approved unanimously to pay for and pick up the new piece of equipment for Precinct 1.

About Town

s I was scrolling through the many Facebook pages that I follow for news, I read a short article about a community that has come together to improve their small town. A quote from that article stated,

"Somewhere along the way the message became: 'We can't. We're not. We aren't. And it needs to be 'We are. We can. We're doing.'

WOW! I attend a lot of meetings, both as a member or for the newspaper, and most often the discussion gets around to improving our communities, marketing what we have to offer, revitalization, etc. I'm just not convinced that the discussions alone are making things happen. What I often hear is, "What do we have to offer anyone to live here?" and "No one is going to want to commute 50 miles just to live here!"

Friends, we need an attitude adjustment!

WE ARE "small-towns."

WE ARE "country."

DEON

FINCHER

WE ARE a slower lifestyle than living in the city.

WE DO have value-added properties.

WE ARE communities in which parks and recreation facilities abound.

WE ARE a location that has history abounding featuring irreplaceable historic sites! The largest producing cotton area in history and all that goes with that, The Floyd County Historical Museum, Coronado's Conquistador camp in Blanco Canyon, the historically important F Ranch, The Old Jail museum in Silverton, Caprock Canyons State Park, plus the other historical museums and hot spots to the east of us-The Matador Ranch, the Historical Museum in Matador, the Comanchero Canyons Museum in Quitaque, the Bob Wills Foundation and Museum in Turkey...need I go on?

WE ARE an educated county that is made up of communities with new schools and a focus on improving the in-class and extra-curricular activities that help our children grow and mature. Our FFA and 4-H members excel at State and National competitions, bringing home Champions and Reserve Champion winners every year.

WE ARE an agricultural powerhouse being one of the largest contributors, in the nation, of cotton.

WE ARE a large producer of beef cattle and breeders. The Foster Bros. Farms and Nutt Cattle Company extend that influence through their sought after and winning breeds.

WE ARE just as important to the landscape and economic structure of Texas' South Plains as anywhere else.

WE ARE the home of one of the most unique and yet fastest growing industries of our time: Miniature Bucking Bulls. In addition, the Leal Family has been the leading organizers to grow the Miniature Bull Riders in conjunction with the PBR to a national awareness level, representing Floyd County in some of the largest cities in the United States.

It's going to take the whole community, but if we start thinking in terms of what we can offer and what we are caters and Safety Rest Areas across the state pable of and sharing the pride that we have in the communities in which we live, then the outside world might just start

Once we see ourselves as the lucky ones to be living where we live and start shouting THAT sentiment (as opposed to wondering why we live in our small communities), I believe ficking; victims are encouraged to call 911. that we will start seeing a gathering of leaders--city officials, TxDOT's human trafficking materials are county officials, church leaders, civic club leaders, parents, available for others to download and use at students, retirees--that WANT to push for things greater. Let's be THAT community!

to bring an end to this modern-day slavery. Similar to a neighborhood watch program, the initiative encourages everyone to know, watch for and report signs of trafficking. According to University of Texas research, more than 300,000 people are trafficked in Texas at any given time, including 79,000 vouth victims. These innocent human beings are horrifically abused by being forced

By taking part in this initiative to eradicate human trafficking, TxDOT is living up to a core agency value - the well-being, safety and quality of life for Texans and all travelers.

SPC to provide NRA Defensive Pistol course

Special to The Hesperian-Beacon

LEVELLAND - South Plains College will offer the N.R.A. Defensive Pistol course on March 23 (Saturday) in the Law Enforcement Technology building on the Levelland campus. The class begins at 9 a.m., and includes breaks every hour, and a onehour break for lunch.

The course runs eight to 10 hours, depending on the number and skill level of the students, and it costs $100. Students will need a pistol, strong-side holster, two extra magazines or speed loaders, and 150 rounds of ammunition. They also will need a cover garment as all shots are fired after drawing the pistol from a concealed holster. Ear and eye protection will be provided for students who do not have their own. Because of the range requirements, space is limited, and students should pay in advance.

The goal of the course is to prepare students to carry and use a concealed pistol ethically, responsibly and with confidence. The course assumes that students have or plan to obtain a License To Carry a Handgun. Students should be fairly advanced in their pistol skills; this is not a course to teach beginners how to shoot.

Lesson modules include firearm safety and responsible, ethical use of the firearm; basic principles of concealment; presenting the pistol from the holster; mental awareness; techniques for avoiding lifethreatening confrontations; the psychological and physiological changes that may occur during an attack; flash sight picture; the use of cover and concealment; reloading under stress; immediate action drills; moving off the line of attack; and pros and cons of pocket pistols for concealed carry.

The range portion will include at least 70 shots on targets at varying distances, and students must pass a final qualification course including reloads and immediate action drills. The course is completely objective based; students will pass or fail depending on how well they have learned what is being taught - not on the basis of a written test.

To register, call Kasey Reyes, administrative assistant for the Division of Continuing and Distance Education, at (806) 716-2341 or email kreyes@southplainscollege. edu.

Spring break. I didn't take one. I opted for a fracture instead.

OK. Maybe it's not a fracture. Nothing shows up on the x-ray, but for days I assumed I had a stress fracture in one > foot - a painful ailment that goes with athletics. And also arthritis. I prefer the sports connotation, not that I've been playing any recently. Does fencing count?

> I've been fencing a lot lately, so to speak. Except it's not really fencing unless you're putting up a new one. I'm just fixing barbed wire.

If your fence runs down the middle of an ag-HANABA ing shelterbelt (government-planted tree row MUNN designed to lessen wind soil erosion) then you know what happens when the wind blows hard. Downed trees.

It's not a sport for the faint-hearted. Or the arthritic. Or the osteosporotic - my adjective for anyone with the beginnings of osteoporosis.

Either way, my weary aching fencer's foot (I've coined a syndrome!) made me recall my 2013 knee surgery rehab, where I met two kinds of sufferers - young athletes and aging arthritics. We were in it together. Misery loves company. I wonder what happened to that injured roller derby gal? She was determined to get back in the game. So was I.

Meanwhile, fracture versus break, what's the difference? I'm not sure, but thinking about those words inspired me to write a country song:

"My heart ain't broken, it's got a crack - A big stress fracture in my cardiac."

It can be sung to the tune of the "Strip Polka," more or less.

I'd share all the verses with you - trust me, they're all good -- but I've copyrighted it. I don't think I'm allowed to quote more than a couple of lines from a copyrighted work, even my own. It's enough to make me think about the time a fellow-reporter and a newspaper editor and I broke

"Old roads, old dogs, old folks and old ways still have a lot to offer in this sped-up world we all live ín." Anonymous the law by intercepting an analog cellphone conversation with a scanner -- our own conversation. A credentialed interviewee had told me such eavesdropping was impossible. How else could we prove him wrong? It all happened before the Internet explained everything about everything. I miss those days.

Meanwhile, how did I copyright my song so quickly? Well, while nursing my supposed stress fracture, I didn't have much else to do, so I spent the money and went through the copyright process.

How much money? The price of a postage stamp. CHEAPO COPYRIGHT:

Seal whatever you want to copyright in an envelope. Mail it to yourself. Just remember not to open it when it arrives. It'll be from you.

Does it work?

I don't know. Nobody's ever tried to steal one of my songs. Meanwhile, I sang my new lyrics to a highbrow friend. She really liked the song - especially the "cardiac" line. She also smiled at my clever uses of "bypass" and "stint."

Who knows? Maybe I'll add a verse.

"I got fencer's foot on my Spring Break, after you left me with a big heartache."

Or maybe not. It'd take another stamp.

Floyd County Burn Ban effective immediately

Special to The Hesperian-Beacon

FLOYDADA - On March 11 the Floyd County Commissioners Court approved a burn ban effective immediately.

Actions prohibited by the burn ban include the burning of any combustible material outside of an enclosure which serves to contain all flames and/or sparks, and that enclosure should be enclosed on all sides and have a cover. The cover should be of construction to prevent most debris from escaping it.

A person violates this order if while burning they do not possess a means for extinguishing a fire, including a fire extinguisher or an amount of water to extinguish a fire that is a foreseeable result of the intended burning.

The order does not apply to outdoor burning activities related to public health and safety that are authorized by the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality or for 1) firefighter training; 2) public utility, natural gas pipeline or mining operations; 3) planting or harvesting of crops; 4) burns that are conducted by a prescribed burn or 5) or with prior approval of the Floyd County judge.

Upon notification of suspected outdoor burning in ditions at the time.

violation of the ban, the local fire department shall respond to the scene and take immediate measures to contain/extinguish the fire.

An offense based on a violation of this Order is a Class C Misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $500.

The fire ban order will end 90 days from the day after it goes into effect, depending upon fire risk con-on the Plains Baptist Assembly last week.

JOHN AND SALLIE McDONALD

John McDonald born in Collin County in 1884, came to Floyd County about 1905 to visit an Uncle, P.M. (Pete) McDonald, who had come to the county before 1902. John did work on the Christian College when it was under construction. He also helped lay track for the first railroad in Lockney.

He met and married Sallie Bell Walling in 1907. The next day they left for Collin County where John could show his kinfolks and friends his wife. Their first three years were spent in Collin County, in New Mexico and back in Floyd County until their first child, Moruca, was born in 1910. Then back to Collin County for six years. In 1916 they moved to Floyd County in the Muncy Community, where he farmed and raised cattle. When they moved to the community, they had three children; Moruca, Espaneeta and Johnnie. They lived in a barn until the house was ready. There was a big snow on the ground, which made it real messy for moving.

had to be fenced and the sod broken before planting. One of Mother's brothers, Charley Walling, helped dig post holes by hand to fence the farm. They walked behind a sod breaking plow and broke out half a section for that year's crop. Through the years Dad raised wheat, sorghum, grains and oats, millet and barley, and very little cotton. The wheat was threshed in the pasture so as to give feed and protection to the livestock.

They had three more children while living on this farm; Charley, Robert and schools. She earned a fine arts degree in Illustration from RISD and had many memorable experiences at the school.

After graduation, Marie married her college sweetheart, David Burke, and started working in the field of graphic design, eventually focusing on book cover designs. She worked for book publishers such as St. Martin's Press in New York City before deciding to move west to find fun and adventure in the mountains of Colorado. While living in the Denver area, she worked for the Denver Post and the Denver Art Museum, designing marketing and publicity materials.

Marie was always a passionate, loyal person and after witnessing the events tragedy had on her native New York, she moved back east and settled in Brooklyn, New York. Marie designed book covers for Fine Communications in New York City. One of her major accomplishments was redesigning the book covers for Barnes & Noble's Remastered Classics series.

Marie had a variety of interests. She, of course, loved books and reading. She loved to write, publishing her life's journey and viewpoints on a blog entitled Illuminations. In her blog, she quoted James Baldwin on the topic of books who said: "It was books that taught me that the things that tormented me most were the very things that connected me with all the people who were alive, or who had ever been alive."

In addition to books and reading, she created many works of art from paintings to illustrations, including writing and illustrating children's books called "Animals I Know" and "The Isle of the Dragonfly," respectively. She was an avid photographer. And later in life, Marie trained in martial arts, even competing in a tournament at the Jacobs Javits Center in New York City.

Marie enjoyed traveling and seeing the world. In college, she travelled throughout Europe. While working in publishing, she spent a few months living in Germany on an assignment. Along with many family members she traveled to Yellowstone and the Grand Tetons National parks where she participated in hiking, biking, camping out and white-water rafting. On another family trip, she toured Ireland.

Marie always had a love for animals, especially her childhood dog, Snowflake, and her faithful Denver and Brooklyn companion, Teddy.

Marie had a sharp, perceptive sense of humor, which remained keen throughout her courageous battle with glioblastoma over the past year. Her strong religious beliefs and Catholic faith sustained her throughout her life.

Marie is survived by her mother, Diane of New York City, New York; her father and step-mother, Jim and Denise of Lockney, Texas; her brothers, Bernard (Ann Marie) of Chatham, New Jersey, Jim (Tracey) of Old Greenwich, Connecticut, and Patrick of Lockney, Texas; her nephews, Brendan, Jimmy and Matthew and her niece Jane.

A mass celebrating Marie's life was held at Our Lady of Guadalupe Church in Plainview on March 19, 2019 at 10:30 a.m. A reception immediately followed at the First ways to bring glory to God. When my view of doing everything for the glory of God expanded to include the mundane details of my life — cleaning the house, taking care of my family, showing love to my friends, and even going to work every day — the burden of being unable to solve all of my clients' problems lifted. I realized that my. role was not to solve every problem but to be the light of Christ in their lives, to bring God the glory through my faithful service. That has brought new meaning to my life's work, no matter how mundane at times — eternal meaning that surpasses any earthly satisfaction. To God be the glory! -Heather Artushin (Michigan)

As a new social worker, I quickly realized that counseling teens through trauma, anxiety, depression, and conflict can be draining and overwhelming. I began to feel discontent with the job I had dedicated years of education to and was discouraged by the problems that never seemed to be solved in the lives of my clients.

When I started attending a new church, I wondered about their logo — a series of arrows pointing upward. The pastor talked about the idea of "vertical living": doing everything for the glory of God. It took time for this radical idea to sink in. Going to church, reading the Bible, praying, donating to those in need — these aren't the only

Floyd County results from Houston Stock Show

HOUSTON - Hagen Hinsley and "Gert" took the Reserve Breed Champion Santa Gertrudis at the Houston Stock Show last Wednesday. The champions are picked in a Grand Champion Drive that is held in NRG Stadium during the rodeo on Friday night-An unforgettable experience for these young showmen.

HOUSTON - Congratulations to Kelsey Ware of Floydada for making the sale at the Houston Livestock Show with her 4th place Charolais Steer.

As far as I am concerned, this pleasant weather is simply a "call to action!" for my gardens. Although a tad bit chilly, Terry and I got our hands dirty this past week.

One enormous issue was the fact that our dogs had figured out a way through the garden fence. Sadly, our dogs are no longer a part of our family. (Haha!) Just kidding--that's not entirely true, but it was an option at one moment in time. That moment being the night I went out to pick some kale and found the entire kale/ lettuce box dug up. It wasn't hard to determine the culprits--there were big, doggy footprints all around and in the boxes! My wonderful Terry went to work on upgrading the garden fence while I was taking pictures at the Lockney and Floydada baseball and softball games Saturday. So far, his work has been successful. No more diggers in the garden--they just stand on the side of the fence and whine at me now.

I received my onion starts this past week, so I needed to trumpet vine cuttings to that get them planted. After moving some composted soil into as to their success, AND, one of my boxes, I was able to we'll see you in the gardens!

plant 75 onions. These will be thinned through the summer as I need green onions, but some will be left to grow into bulbs. I have another 75 waiting to be placed in the ground, but we are looking forward to a harvesting this much-used staple of our diet.

The trees are all popping out! I love seeing the tips of the creeks, the communities, and the canyons as they turn grey to green. This is the time of year that you can find me and Terry out taking tree cuttings and preparing them for planting. We gathered a half-dozen starts this past weekend that we will be planting on the west side of our house. Time will tell which ones survive our long, hot summers--but we always hope that each one will succeed and grow tall.

On the same subject, the Hydrangea cuttings that I took last month seem to be doing just fine. They aren't dried out, so they should be thinking about sprouting roots in the coming weeks. This week I added a few group. I'll keep you informed
