15--Mr. Marty Rowley

Dear Editor,

This letter is in response to the article in last week's paper. What HUD failed to mention was that HUD was well aware the Executive Director had resigned effective December 31, 2013 due to her health. The Lockney Housing Authority Board was doing what it could to keep the entity going. As Chair of the Board I was in constant contact with HUD, they knew I was going in after my regular job and working until 10-11pm and giving up my weekends to keep the Lockney Housing Authority going. That meant paying bills and paying the employees. Their words were "It takes a dedicated board member that cares." Well yes it does. I did not dedicate thirty years of volunteer service to the housing in Lockney for it to go down the drain.

All items purchased went through the board. The credit card purchase mentioned was for the maintenance man. He is extremely thorough and concise in his work. He takes pictures of all the units before and after he cleans them, before and after a rental. The item purchased was a printer for his camera. One of the few things this man needed to do his job.

On the matter about the Executive Director, being related to a board member - on this I can also state that I TENDERED MY RESIGNATION way before I gave the Board of Directors a list of possible candidates to pick from. All candidates had their qualifications. The Board made their choice. I was not involved in that decision. The Lockney Housing Authority has had a good Board for a number of years. We went from two Executive Directors that stole us blind to our previous Executive Director that was with us for a long time. She turned both our Lockney Housing Authority and Lockney Rural Development around. We were no longer in the RED we were finally in the BLACK. Both entities have been this way for a very long time. She believed in leaving a paper trail so if anyone (HUD) had questions they could look everything up.

Now according to HUD we are doing such a poor job they had to step in. Nonsense! The Board that was in place before and the Board that is in place now are all volunteers. They donate their time willingly to make sure we have proper housing for families wanting to live in our community. On the matter of Michelle getting into a fist fight there was no fist fight. She did not touch the other woman. That employee had just had surgery and she was not about to lay a hand on her. End of story.

I have worked for the public for well over forty years and in my current position going on twenty-four years. I would not be where I am today working with law enforcement if I was dishonest and mismanaged the Housing.

Thank you

"You find out who your friends are when you drop a piano."

That's a quote from my friend Gary. Underline friend.

I dropped my piano. Gary and his mother drove 38 miles through the dark of night to help me pick it up.

HANABA
WELCH

Thank you.

Pride cometh before a fall. When piano moving is going nicely, don't push your luck. Don't push the piano either if it's the least bit tipsy. Or if you're tipsy. I wasn't tipsy.

Never try to catch a falling piano. I didn't. That's why I'm not trapped under it.

Everything happened in slow motion.

I should mention it's a hefty 97-year-old upright -- not a wimpy console or whatever those pianos are called that came along at mid-century to fit ranch-style houses.

Things had been going well. I'd managed to use the killer farm jack and two sturdy boards and two bricks to carefully tilt the piano incrementally to slide furniture dollies under it. What could go wrong?

A dolly doesn't keep a piano from tilting and falling. I plan to remember that.

When a piano crashes, the strings vibrate for several seconds thereafter. Impressive. But when you hit the keys, expect nothing. I got nothing.

Disheartened, I texted my friend Terri. She was slated to help me refurbish the piano room the next day in advance of a family gathering complete with grandkids. Terri and son Gary headed my way immediately. Piano-savvy for his 16 years, Gary once tried to catch a falling piano. The episode knocked him out of sports for the rest of the year - tough for a weightlifter. Gary knew what he was getting into.

Awaiting their arrival, I began moving things that were anywhere near the fallen piano. We would need room to maneuver. I latched onto a fresh-painted screen door propped in the house to dry.

Note: An old screen door can be as unwieldy as a piano when the paint's still wet and handholds are few. Again, everything happened in slow motion.

When I stepped out the door into the darkness, screen in hand, I met a tub of ripped-up linoleum. Who put that there? I lost my footing but not my grip on the screen. We crashed together, sideways off the porch. Coiled garden hoses broke my fall. A mattress would have been better. When my head hit the concrete I saw stars.

Just then the cellphone in my pocket blurped. It was my husband in the city texting me he was going to bed. Flat on my back, I texted him back from the farm to wish him good night. No need to bother him with the details.

I lay motionless a while longer. I was tired. If you fall off the porch and the next thing you have to do is pick up a fallen piano, you might as well rest a while.

Happy ending:

The upright is upright again. It plays! It's still just as out of tune, but it's never sounded better to me.

Louis Cardinal, son of Fred, accepted the honor on behalf of his father. County Commissioners Lindan Morris and Mike Anderson assisted Lucke in presenting the awards.

Ricky Carstensen, minister of the First United Methodist Church in Lockney, presided over the memorial service before turning over the stage to East Street Band for the rest of the morning.

Sterling and Gleyenn Earle Cummings

Sterling's father, Zach Cummings, and his grandfather, Jim Cummings, moved from Farmersville to Floyd County in November of 1916. Zach came by train to Plainview with the livestock and remembered thinking, "it was a heck of a cold place." People were ice skating on the old TLD well pond north of the train depot.

Shortly after moving, Zach Cummings was drafted out of Floyd County to go to World War I. After Zach returned from the war, he married his sweetheart, Oma Calahan in Farmersville on December 10, 1919.

Sterling was the 2nd of 6 children, 3 boys and 3 girls, born to Zach and Oma. He was born in Farmersville on January 6, 1923. His family moved back to the Liberty community in Floyd County when Sterling was 1. Sterling's mother's family, the Calahans, moved to Floyd county in 1924. Sterling's family later moved between the Roseland community and the Lone Star community until settling in the South Plains community in 1947. Sterling attended schools in Roseland, Lone Star, and South Plains. He was bused to Lockney High School for his Junior and Senior years. Sterling graduated from Lockney High School in 1940.

Gleyenn Earle's parents, Earl and Gleyenn Brian Norman were raised in Crowell. After their marriage they lived in Foard County where Gleyenn Earle's siblings, a brother and 3 sisters, were born. She was born on June 10, 1931 in Vernon. They moved to Crosby County and then to Floyd County in 1939. Gleyenn Earle was in 2nd grade. Her father, Earl, farmed near Lockney and her mother, Gleyenn, taught in the Lockney schools. Gleyenn Earle graduated from Lockney High School in 1948 and later attended TSCW in Denton and WTSU in Canyon.

Sterling and Gleyenn Earle were married on February 5, 1950 in the living room of her parent's home south of Lockney. They settled in the South Plains community, and built their current home in 1960. Sterling farmed there until his retirement. They were active in many community organizations over the years and attend the South Plains Baptist Church. The people in the South Plains community and especially those in the South Plains church remain some of Sterling and Gleyenn Earle's closest friends.

They have 5 children: Norman Kimbal Cummings and his wife, Monica, of Granbury; Dee Earle and her husband, Mark Sanders, of Floydada; Paula and her husband, Robert Pyle, of Floydada; Zach Cummings and his wife, Sandra, of Lockney; and John Cummings and his wife, Tammy, of Waxahachie. Sterling and Gleyenn Earle have 13 grand children and 15 great-grand children, and one more great-grand child will arrive in July.

Their children attended South Plains and Lockney schools. Eight of their grandchildren attended Floyd County schools, both Lockney and Floydada.

Two of their grandson's families live and farm in Floyd County, Jason and Lindsey Pyle, southeast of Floydada, and Dane and Robin Sanders, in the South Plains community.

Sterling and Gleyenn Earle celebrated their 65th anniversary in February of this year. Their first date was to a softball game, and they spent much of their free time for the next 65 years playing in or attending various sporting events, either their own, their children's, their grand children's, or their great-grand children's! They have always been very involved in their children's lives.

Ninalie Foster Williams Teuton

Nina Teuton was born September 22, 1929 in the Almon community near Petersburg. She moved to Lockney on July 3, 1945 and graduated from Lockney High School in 1946.

On October 9, 1948, Nina married David Ray Williams. They had four children, Shari Dianne Williams, Nina Rhea Williams Offutt-Stansell, David Bruce Williams and Shelby Foster Williams. David Ray and Shari were killed in a car/train collision in November, 1957.

Nina married Dan Teuton on June 14, 1959. He was born April 17, 1928 and passed away January 11, 1998. He had one daughter, Vicki Faye Teuton Smith of Plano.

Nina's grand children include Courtney Offutt Evans, Amarillo; Spencer Offutt, Lubbock; Tony Williams, Henrietta; Sydnee Unger, Bowie; and Brian McAlpine, Plano. Her great grand children are Devlin Offutt, Lubbock; Camden Offutt, Lubbock; Tristin Evans, Amarillo; Madison Unger, Bowie; and Mikayla Heugatter, Bowie.

Carl Lee 'Cobb' Gilly

Carl Lee also known as C. L. or Cobb, was born September 16, 1921 on the family farm north of Floydada. His dad, John Vincent Gilly, came to Floyd County in 1900 and lived about two years in a half-dugout before returning to Virginia in 1906 to marry Mary Anna Parsons. He brought her back to a two-room house he had built and they settled into life on the Plains. They had five children with Cobb being the youngest.

Vince purchased the original farmland for $1.00 per acre. That same land has been in the family for 115 years.

Cobb rode to school at Cedar Hill on horseback and likes to tell his family about his lunch, a biscuit with jelly. He also liked to play basketball.

After high school, he and Gerald Lackey ran the Cedar Hill Store for a while. But good jobs were very scarce and the admonition of "Go West, Young Man" plus the possibilities of employment, seemed the thing to do.

So at 19, Cobb and two of his buddies pooled their money (less than $50.00) and drove to California in his old Dodge truck. One night, they saw a grassy area and thought that it would be a good place to sleep. So, they threw their blankets on the ground only to be awoken by a policeman. When they inquired as to what they had done wrong, the policeman said, "You can't sleep here. This is a cemetery."

Upon arrival in California, Cobb found a job washing dishes, then later a job at Douglass Aircraft as a riveter assembling airplane fuselages. The pay was 88 cents an hour, which wasn't all that bad.

After about two years, Cobb came back to Floydada and courted Lois Beard, the oldest daughter of Orb and Sarah Lackey Beard. As crazy as it sounds, months later, without the two seeing each other in between, Lois took the train with Janette Lackey and met Cobb halfway in Flagstaff, Ariz., where they got married on February 1, 1942. That night, they drove back to Santa Monica in time for Cobb to make his 4:00 P.M. work shift. That was, as they say, the honeymoon.

In October, 1942, Cobb joined the Navy. Originally, he was to be a gunner, but he kept signing up for more training and eventually shipped out to the South Pacific where he served as a navigator for a six-man flight crew on a PV-1 Ventura Patrol Bomber. He was stationed in Guam, the Philippines and Solomon Islands. The plane was used for anti-ship patrol, photographic reconnaissance and bombing runs.

In 1996, 50 years after his service to his country, Cobb was awarded the U.S. Air Medal for Meritorious Achievement while participating in aerial flight.

After the South Pacific, Lois joined him in Seattle where he met his 18-month-old daughter for the first time. They later returned to Floyd County where Cobb, and his brother, Gene, worked the Gilly Family Farm.

Cobb and Lois raised two daughters, Barbara and Cathy. Lois passed away in 1995. He has shared his life the last 19 years with Wanda Williams who lost her husband, Aldean, in 1996.

Cobb's family includes daughters Barbara Christian and Dan Dwelle of Santa Fe, NM and Cathy and Steve Steger of Kenedy, Texas; three grand children, David and Angel Christian, Amarillo; Heidi Steger Reed and Trey Reed of San Antonio; and Josh and Windy Steger of Dallas; and four great grand children, Carly Christian, Cason Christian, Caitlyn Reed and Carson Reed.

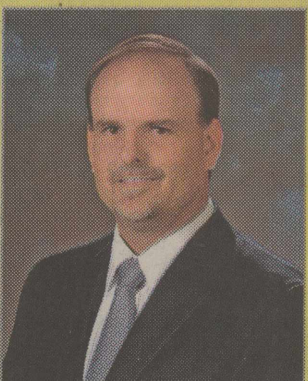

If you ask Cobb about the highlights of his life, he will likely say the best trip of his life was the South Plains Honor Flight to Washington, D.C. In 2012, Cobb and Harold Bertrand from Floydada joined about 140 other veterans from the Lubbock area and flew to the capital to see the World War II Memorial, along with all the other memorials honoring our veterans. They were met by honor guards everywhere they went and Cobb said that complete strangers would come over, shake their hands and say, "Thank you for your service to our country."

The veterans placed wreaths on all the memorials, marched together and didn't get much sleep; however, Cobb said it brought back many memories and was the trip of a lifetime.

Follow Me

Paul wrote, "Be imitators of me, as I am of Christ."
- 1 Corinthians 11:1 (NIV)

"Follow me," I instructed my son-in-law. We were headed in separate cars to a restaurant in a part of town he did not know. As I started down the road, I felt the responsibility to drive slowly. As we made the necessary turns, I was careful to signal well in advance. I kept a close eye on him in my rearview mirror to confirm that he was following me and did not get off course. In the end, we all arrived at the restaurant for an enjoyable lunch together.

That day, it occurred to me that believers are charged with the task of being an example for others to follow, leading them to Christ. As we find ourselves at the market, at work, or at school, our actions are being viewed and evaluated by others. As we direct our lives toward heaven, we can bring others with us by living a life that models the life of Jesus Christ.

City Council lessens water restrictions, discusses strategic planning

By Kay Ellington
The Hesperian-Beacon

In its monthly meeting, the Floydada City Council swore in newly-elected city officials, including Mayor Bobby Gililand, council member Dana Stout Crossland, and council member Steve Lloyd, Mayor Pro Tem Sam Green, and Municipal Judge Tali Jackson.

In other council action, members voted to reduce water restrictions from stage 3 to stage 1, and the mayor reported that Phil Smitherman of Floydada had agreed to serve another two-year term on the Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority Board.

The council discussed the need to find a collection agency for bad debt utility bills. The previous vendor that provided this service has retired.

City Manager Jeff Johnston led the council in a discussion on strategic planning, and explained that members and city staff would be going a process where they would analyze strengths, weaknesses, opportunities, and threats, in terms of trends, for the city and its operations.

Johnston explained that strategic planning is a multi-year process, but that it provides a valuable road map to cities in their decision making. City staff and the council will be working on strategic planning as well as the 2015-16 Operating Budget for the City of Floydada in the upcoming months.

In other council business, Sean Overeynder, Floydada Economic Development Corporation Executive Director, updated the group on the Floydada Downtown Revitalization Landscaping Project.

Agricultural Producers in Texas Still Have Time to Apply for Direct Farm Ownership Loan Program

Low-Interest Loans Can Help Producers Start or Expand Farms

COLLEGE STATION, Texas - May 22, 2015 — The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Texas Farm Service Agency (FSA) Executive Director, Judith A. Canales, today announced that farmers and ranchers still have time to apply for low interest loans available through the FSA direct farm ownership program. Applications must be approved by Sept. 30, 2015 to take advantage of the funding available.

Eligible farmers and ranchers can borrow up to $300,000 to buy farmland, construct or repair buildings, pay closing costs, or promote soil and water conservation. The interest rate can be as low as 1.5 percent with up to 40 years to repay.

"If you are thinking about purchasing or expanding your farm or ranch, our affordable loans can help," said Canales. "There are no backlogs or waiting for funds, so give us a call today."

New farmers and ranchers, military veterans, and underserved farmers and ranchers also are encouraged to apply. Each year Congress targets 80 percent of available loan funds to beginning and targeted underserved farmers and ranchers. Targeted underserved groups include American Indians or Alaskan Natives, Asians, Blacks or African Americans, Native Hawaiians, or other Pacific Islanders, Hispanics, and women.

For more information about farm loan, visit www.fsa.usda.gov/farmloans, or contact your local FSA county office, visit <https://offices.usda.gov>.

Assignment: Texas

The House Build - Landscaping

It's been a while since I wrote anything about my house build but things have progressed: albeit slowly. The good news is the house is finished. For the past two years, we've enjoyed living in our farm style home north of Childress. The house has everything we wanted: a small footprint, open design, out in the country but not too far from town. Above all we have great neighbors right down the county road and it is a place where my kids spend as much time outdoors as they do inside.

RUSSELL GRAVES

Since 2011, however, Childress (like the rest of Texas) was under a severe drought. With the drought came water restrictions and with the restrictions came the inability to water enough to establish a landscape. Therefore, my thoughts turned to drought resistant plants.

A year after we moved in, the landscape was still in limbo. All of the construction traffic had the soil in the front yard compacted and unable to grow anything. Since the soil is the foundation of all that grows, I had to get a handle on the problems therein. So with a chisel plow, I began the arduous process of ripping the soil and hoping for rain. In the late spring of 2014, the rain began to fall. Hindsight is 20/20 but I should have planted grass last spring. Since the rain has been scant here for four years I didn't want to spend the money on planting grass seed. So throughout the summer of 201, I just tended the soil.

In September of last year, I spent $40 on a bag of annual ryegrass seed and after plowing the yard one last time, I broadcast the seed and used an old harrow to drag the soil. Again the rain fell and a couple of weeks later, I had a good stand of grass in the yard. Ryegrass is a cool season plant that grows well in the fall, goes a bit dormant during the cold months of winter, and then comes back vigorously in the spring. It has an aggressive root system that breaks up subsurface hardpan and while the grass was doing its thing below, above ground the cover was slowing the rainfall and letting it soak in and improve the soil moisture in a way that hasn't been seen in a few years.

Come spring, I was ready to complete the landscaping. Although I now have a well and can water at will despite water restrictions, I still wanted to be a good steward and plant grasses and ornamentals that were native and could thrive in our semi-arid climate.

So for the lawn, I opted for a buffalo grass/blue grama mix. Both grasses are native to the area, do well with little water, and can withstand our fickle weather. To plant the grass I used a Classen Turf Overseeder. The Classen is like a self propelled, no-till seed drill that lets you plant seeds without preparing the seedbed. In other words, I left the ryegrass in place and planted the new, permanent turf seed into the existing grass stand. The existing ryegrass provides thermal and moisture protection for the new seeds and hopefully, will help the new yard get off to a good start. With abundant moisture this spring, I am optimistic.

In the beds, I opted for a variety of plants including prickly pear, red yucca, verbena, coreopsis, and lantana. All are plants that are drought and heat tolerant and should do well. To figure out their placement, I hired a landscape designer to provide some aesthetic guidance.

Rainfall can make even the worst gardener look good. So far this spring, I look like I'm a pro.

We would like to express our gratitude to all those who have assisted us in any way during the past two weeks. God has used each of you to be his hands for us in our time of need. From the EMS personnel being on the scene so quickly and who were so instrumental in making sure that Max and the children were all taken care of, to all the police officers/sheriff's department being there quickly to assist too.

There were also many community members and friends who assisted at the scene that we may not have even realized were there at the time. Just know that we believe that God used each of you to assist us in just the way you were needed at the time.

We so appreciate all of the cards, hospital visits, phone calls, texts and visits after Max and Karlie have been home from the hospital. They both have quite a bit of healing to be done, but feel fortunate to be on the road to recovery.

Our little twin blessings during all of this are going to be in NICU for a few more weeks, but are making progress daily.

Being a part of such a caring community means so very much to us. Thank you all for being "God's hands and feet" for our family.

Floydada ISD is responsible for identifying, locating, and evaluating all individuals 0-21 years of age, regardless of nature or severity of disability. Once Floydada ISD determines eligibility, all individuals 0-21 years of age, regardless of the severity of the disability or developmental delay, are served by Floydada ISD [3-21 years of age] in accordance with Texas Education Code §25.001 or an ECI program [0-3 years of age] (34 CFR §§300.128, 300.220, 300.300 Note 3, 34 CFR §§303.16, 303.321; and 19 TAC §§89.1035).

86TH OLD SETTLER'S REUNION - May 23, 2015

Staff photos

Courtesy photo

The Floyd County Historical Museum and the Floyd County Historical Commission presented a commemoration of the new, official Texas Historical Marker recognizing the Battle of the Blanco Canyon Friday, May 22 at the Roadside Park at Blanco Canyon.

Shown are Monte Williams, from the Floyd County Historical Commission, Nancy Marble from The Floyd County Historical Museum and Sam Watts, a former Floyd County resident, who did much of the historical research on the activities of Col. Ranald McKenzie, Quanah Parker, the U.S. Army, and the Comanches in the Blanco Canyon area.
