Wonders of Science Will Be Shown at State Fair

The wonders wrought by modern science are amply demonstrated in exhibits at the 1935 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 7-23.

A solar battery that converts sunlight into electricity, a guided missile that finds its way to its target electronically, an "automatic" kitchen that takes practically all the work out of preparing a meal—these are some of the scientific marvels on display.

There is even a do-it-yourself uranium demonstration where fair-goers can test rock samples and see whether or not they've discovered uranium in the back yards.

GARFIELD KIEL

Local Lutheran Brotherhoods to Meet at Lake

A gala occasion is in store for the Lutheran Brotherhoods of Avoca, Stamford, Sagerton and Haskell Sunday evening at Earls Camp on Lake Stamford. At 5 o'clock the activities will begin with a pot-luck supper.

The district game warden will address the group and show a movie on wildlife. The chief speaker will be Garfield Kiel, the director of Public Relations at Texas Lutheran College.

Since the local Brotherhood will have a program of aiding needy pre-theological students, Mr. Kiel will speak on the subject as to results and administration. An offering for this purpose will also be received.

In addition, Mr. Kiel will bring information concerning the latest developments at the college. The accomplishments and prospects of the TLC Bulldogs will surely be discussed.

Mr. Kiel plans to show a goodly number of slides in connection with his address. A large gathering is anticipated.

Refreshments of cake and lemonade were served.

Paint Creek . . . Community News

Who knew it could rain like this in West Texas? And the nice thing is that everyone had a good rain. Those spotted rains we have been having made it hard to enjoy a rain if your neighbor only 2 miles away didn't get any.

This was a good rain all over the community. The smallest amount we have heard of was two inches, and the largest was in the southeastern part of Paint Creek where the Cobb brothers had 6 inches on their ranches.

We had 5.20 here. All the stock tanks are full, and old Paint Creek was pouring water into the lake Sunday and Monday.

Some cotton was damaged, I'm afraid. The Willie Farrell's in the northwestern tip of the community had cotton ready to be pulled, and of course its grade will be lowered, when it dries out and is pulled.

The wheat farmers are the ones who are the happiest about the rain though, and the cattle men whose pastures and tanks and creeks got well.

Little Miss Jean Ann Raughton made her entry into the world at 6 o'clock last Thursday afternoon at the Haskell Hospital. She weighed 8 pounds, and although her great aunt Mable may be prejudiced, she is the prettiest brand new baby I've ever seen.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Raughton of Eola and her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Raughton and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Overton of Paint Creek.

Stores Asked to Close at 5 for Chuck Wagon Meal

All Haskell stores will be asked to close at 5 p. m. Friday Oct. 7 for the chuck wagon supper which will be a feature of the second annual Haskell School Homecoming on that date.

The early closing will permit both the store owners and their employees to enjoy the meal with the hundreds of returning ex-students and Homecoming visitors.

New brown asbestos shingles are being put on the Coach O'Neal house on the campus. Not only will it improve the appearance, but will make it warmer, too.

The W. A. Montgomerys are adding a garage and a den to the east side of their home. The Pirates won their Harold game easily, and this Thursday they go to O'Brien to play their first conference game.

The Junior Pirates won their game with Mattson Tuesday night. They played on a very muddy field at Mattson, so they took off their shoes and played barefooted.

They were surely a muddy bunch of boys, but all the fans agreed they liked the barefooted game best for Juniors.

Don Summers, John Russell, Jimmy Ned Hokanson and Billy Hughes were home for the week end from Daughon's Business College, and Rudy Raughton was here from Baylor University at Waco.

HHS Future Farmers Elect Chapter Officers

The Haskell High School Chapter of the Future Farmers of America held their first meeting of the present school term, Tuesday night September 27.

New officers were elected as follows: president, David Frison; vice president, Jerry Matthews; secretary, Wayne Collins; treasurer, Jerry Larned; reporter, Chester Jones, sentinel, Mickey Melton.

Advisor Haskell Stone recommended several boys but it was up to the boys to pick their leaders.

The word "bon fire" was originally known as bonfire or fires of bone.

The only Longhorn Cattle left in Texas are in the zoo at San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Cook of the WTU Paint Creek power plant spent Saturday and Sunday at Altus, Okla., visiting Mrs. Cook's family. Her mother, Mrs. J. L. Sumrow came home with them for an indefinite stay.

The Paint Creek Junior 4-H Club met Monday with Miss Wirges. The club was organized for the year with the following officers being elected: Joan Griffith, president; Roberta Jones, vice president; Judy Calloway, secretary and treasurer; Ina Bitner, reporter; song leader, Linda Medford; Council B. F. Gaskamp and infant girl, Haskell; Emilia G. Gamez and infant girl, Haskell; Mrs. Ralph Hernandez and infant son, Munday; Mrs. James Raughton and infant girl, Haskell.

SAME YEAR COUNTY WAS ORGANIZED

Seven Pupils Were Enrolled in First School Taught Here in '85

Haskell's second annual Homecoming will mark the 70th anniversary of the first "town school" taught here, according to information contained in the History of Haskell County compiled by the late R. E. Sheppell. An excerpt from the volume relating to Haskell's first school reads:

In the spring and summer of 1885 Miss Mollie Holms conducted a small private school in a shed room on the side of a building on the southwest corner of the public square. The building belonged to Mike Tucker and the front end of the structure was used for a feed store, while the family lived in a room in the back part of the building.

Miss Holms had seven pupils enrolled: Phenton Smith, Ernest Smith, Will Hills, Clyde Hills, Jim Tucker, Earl Standefer, and Cue Standefer. The desks consisted of goods boxes, and the school ran for three or four months. This was the first school in the county.

Late in the summer a small school house was erected in the south part of town on the block where the old South Ward school building now stands. In this little house the first public school was taught by James A. Ruble for four or five months in the fall of 1885.

Ruble was followed in the spring of 1886 by Tom Jones for a few months. Following Jones was D. James with Miss Nollie Martin as assistant teacher for a few months in the early fall of 1886.

Beginning Jan. 1, 1887, J. P. Lamar with Miss Martin taught a public school until April 8, 1887. Lamar announced the text books to be used and the rules to be observed. The books included Butler's Grammar, McGuffey's Reader, Barnes' History, Montie's Geographies, Webster's Speller and dictionaries.

In the winter of 1886-87 Haskell was a cozy little village claiming a population of 300. During the summer of 1887 J. W. Christopher was employed as principal of the school with Miss Eric Henry assistant for the coming year.

In the summer of 1888 the town claimed a population of 500 with 100 pupils ready for school. The little school house in the south part of town was too small, and was torn down. The lumber from the building was used in erecting a two-room schoolhouse in the north part of town (on the block where the present Junior High School stands). The site in the north part of town was chosen because all building was gradually drifting that way. Prof. W. H. Clifton was elected principal for the school year 1889-1890. The school year of 1889-1890 opened under most auspicious circumstances with J. D. Warren superintendent and a house full of pupils. To provide funds for the growing school, which was keeping pace with the growth of the town, was a problem at the beginning of 1890. For two years the per capita school fund had been $4 and would be the same again. The county school land lease would bring in $2 per capita more, making but $6 in all for the 135 pupils, which was altogether insufficient. After much public agitation for good schools, the first school tax in the county's history was voted. A tax of 15c on the $100 valuation was authorized in the district which had a tax valuation of $600,000. A second story was added to the school building, and two new assistants were added to the teaching force. Doubtless that was the beginning of a continuing program of building for better schools and a higher educational standard which has prevailed through the intervening years. Black Bear are found in the Big Bend country of Texas. There are about 5,000 different languages in the world. There are over 55 beaches in New Jersey.

Methodist Home Choir Returning to Airways

The Methodist Home Choir of Waco, returns to the airways at 8:15 a. m. Sunday, Oct. 2, and will be a weekly feature until Christmas. This year's series, "Bless This House," will mark the advent of an entirely new programming technique for the choir. The boy and girl vocalists will sing old time favorites, folk songs and hit tunes, as well as their customary hymns and religious songs. By adapting this newer, wider approach in the selection of songs, the choir plans to bring more all around musical entertainment and enjoyment to their listeners.

For the first time this year the choir will be producing their weekly presentations from their new radio studio on the campus. The choir, currently under the direction of Henry McDowell, has been broadcasting for seven seasons. Their new 15-minute series will be heard each Sunday morning at 8:15, beginning October 2 and continuing until Christmas, over KTRN, Wichita Falls, and 18 other radio stations in the Southwest.

Commissioners Court Endorses
New Truck Line

Haskell County Commissioners' Court will support an application before the State Railroad Commission for a certificate of convenience and necessity for a new proposed railway-truck line which would serve this area.

The application is that of the Burlington Truck Lines, Inc., and hearing on the application will be held by the Motor Transport Division of the Railroad Commission of Texas. In supporting the application, the Commissioners' Court will be in the role of intervener.

The Court, in regular session Sept. 2, adopted a resolution recommending and urging that the new truck service be established as early as practicable.

According to the resolution, granting of the application would permit the organization by the Fort Worth & Denver Railway of a railway and truck line affiliated with or controlled by it, to perform scheduled motor truck service between Haskell and other points served by the Fort Worth & Denver Railway. This would make available motor truck as well as rail service under unified management. The Commissioners' Court recommended that such service be established as early as practicable.

If the new truck line is established, it is understood that combination railway-motor truck freight service to this area would be linked with similar service throughout the entire Burlington system.

Fire Hazard Inspection Is Proven Factor In Actually Cutting Down Fire Losses

Does a fire hazard inspection such as the one being conducted here today actually reduce fire losses?

Yes, according to Fire Chief Ray Lusk, who quotes records kept by the other 49 Texas communities which have been inspected since the program was introduced in 1948. Haskell is the 51st city to be inspected in the state. Stamford was No. 50, the first hazard survey having been made in that city yesterday.

One community reported that fire losses hit a 30-year low after volunteer inspectors, capital stock insurance fieldmen, had visited the town. The survey further shows that in most cities inspected, fire losses dropped after the check.

Ennis, for example, switched from a five per cent fire insurance rate penalty to the 20 per cent credit side. Wichita Falls received a similar credit the following year, saving its business community more than $100,000 in insurance bills.

Texas' biggest drop in net fire losses following an inspection was registered in Brownfield, which was checked by the West Texas Division of the Texas Insurance Fieldmen's Association, the same field club which is inspecting Haskell. Before the tour by visiting experts in 1952, Brownfield had suffered a year's fire loss of more than $173,000. During the following 12 months, the loss was only $26,000.

Gatesville, in Central Texas, was the first town in the state to be given a fire hazard inspection by the Texas Insurance Fieldmen's Association. In addition to Stamford and Haskell, the West Texas Division of T. I. F. A. has already inspected Littlefield, San Angelo, Lamesa, Brownfield, Childress, Brady, Hereford, Dalhart, Midland and Plainview.

The town inspection idea originated 50 years ago and since that time more than 4,000 communities have been made more fire safe by fieldmen's associations throughout the country.

for that purpose by contacting Supt. Allen's office.

Late afternoon feature of the Homecoming will be a chuck wagon meal Friday, Oct. 7, to be served by a Fort Worth catering service.

Registration Begins at 8 a. m.

Registration will begin at 8 a. m. Friday, and the entire morning period will be open for reunions among friends and visiting.

The afternoon program will get under way promptly at 2 o'clock in the High School gym, with Rex Felker, C. of C. manager as master of ceremonies.

The invocation will be given by Alfred Peterson, Class of 1915, and the welcome will be given by Hill Oates, Class of 1920, who is president of the Ex-Students Association.

Supt. C. D. Allen will lead the dedication in a sing song, and dedication of the new school buildings will follow.

Next will be the Homecoming address by Dr. Herman Pitman, Class of 1931, who is now director of the Illinois Commission on Human Relations. The speaker will be introduced by Bob Sego, Class of 1931.

A brief business session will follow when officers of the association will make their reports. Nomination and election of officers will end the business session.

Royce Adkins, Class of 1944 and association vice president, will conduct a recognition period for visitors and memorial tributes will follow.

To be given special recognition are the following: Earlyday students, up to the year 1900; class with the largest number present; class with the largest percentage of members present; largest immediate family of ex-student present; person coming farthest distance; and all ex-teachers. Announcements of class meetings etc., will be followed by the program finale, the HHS Indian School song led by the high school Pep Squad.

Following the chuck wagon meal, a huge pep rally and bonfire is being planned as a prelude to the Haskell Indians first District, 8-A football game when they meet the Roby Lions in Indian Stadium.

Saturday morning's program lists class meetings and reunions of former students, teachers and patrons.

Many Homecoming visitors are expected to attend the annual Weiner Homecoming, barbecue and Six-Man football game, scheduled in that city Saturday, Oct. 8. Main program of the Weiner event will get underway at noon Saturday.

These tags, which are being placed on hazards in schools, churches and business buildings, are only friendly warnings that danger exists, but compliance with their advice "Fix Me" has probably saved untold amounts of property and lives in Texas.

Police Chief—

"Hon. City Council
City of Haskell
Dear Sirs:

"I would like to submit my resignation as Chief of Police of the City of Haskell, Texas, effective October 1, 1955.

"I have purchased a farm near Brownfield, Texas, and plan to move on it in the very near future. In leaving the employment of the City, I want to thank all of the City Council members, past and present, all of the employees of the City of Haskell, and all of my fellow peace officers in this area for the splendid cooperation that I have received from all. It has been a real pleasure working for the people of the City of Haskell and I want to extend my deepest thanks and appreciation to the citizens of Haskell for the cooperation which has been shown me while employed by the City.

"It is with regret that I submit this resignation, but I feel that I am taking a step which will be beneficial to my family.

Sincerely,
B. T. Gordon."

In accepting the resignation, city officials praised the retiring police chief for his efficient service as a city officer. Before his appointment as Police Chief, Gordon had served as first deputy under former Sheriff Bob Cousins for more than three years, from July, 1951 to October, 1954.

His successor in the police department will be chosen by Oct. 1, members of the Council indicated, and said that applications from any interested persons would be accepted at the office of the City Secretary.

In the past, no definite tenure of office has been in effect for city police officers other than a general agreement that they will be retained as long as their services are deemed satisfactory by the Council.

For the past year or longer the city police department has been composed of two men, a day man or Chief, and a combination night-watchman and night patrol officer. At times during busy seasons, a third officer has been used on a temporary basis.

Night officer and watchman for the past year has been Tom Paul Barnett, whose duties have included watchman in the fire zone or business district, and general patrol in the residential areas.

Courthouse Offices Will Be Closed October 8th

County Judge Alfred Turnbow announced this week that offices in the courthouse would be closed the entire day, Saturday, Oct. 8 for the Haskell and Weiner school Homecoming events.

Commissioners, in approving the closing date, did so in order to permit county officials and office employees an opportunity to attend the Homecoming activities in both towns.

Actually, the closing will affect normal business in the courthouse but very little, since all the offices normally close at the offices close at noon on Saturday, it was pointed out.

The office of Postmaster General and a temporary post office system were created Sept. 22, 1953.

Only out-of-town applicant for the position is James V. Andrus of Wichita Falls, former police officer in that city.

Four applicants for the position of City Nightwatchman are: W. C. Allen, who has previously served in that capacity for a number of years; R. D. Turpin, Roy Reynolds, and J. L. (Happy) Hendrix.

Lake—

houseboats and fishing rafts from said lake.

Stamford city officials present were unanimous in declaring that the City Council endorsed everything the Commissioners Court had done in regard to promoting sanitary conditions at and around Lake Stamford.

"We not only endorse, we'll add that we appreciate, what the Court has done," stated Councilman Ryland Gleaton of Stamford.

A similarly worded resolution to the one adopted by the Commissioners Court will be passed by the Stamford City Council, officials of that city said.

Commissioner Francis Blake of Precinct 4 and County Attorney Curtis Pogue raised a point concerning four or five fishing rafts remaining on the lake. Following an inspection in August by the County Health Officer and a representative of the State Health Department and their report that houseboats and rafts were insanitary, the Commissioners Court had asked that all of the crafts be removed from the lake.

"Since some 25 or more owners of this type of fishing craft voluntarily removed their rafts or houseboats, we feel that it is only fair to them that we endeavor to have the remaining rafts removed," County Attorney Pogue said.

Along the same line, Commissioner Blake reported that several persons in Precinct 4 had removed their rafts or houseboats as requested, but were criticizing the Commissioners Court because some units were permitted to remain on the lake. "Our action in trying to get the rafts and houseboats off was taken because we thought it only right to try to help you keep the lake clean," Blake said. "We know that you folks voted a lot of bonds and spent a lot of money to build the lake and it's yours. We just want to do what's right and help you all we can," he declared.

"Then when some of these fellows say they have been told that Stamford has no objections to these rafts or houseboats being down there, you can see why it makes us feel bad," Blake added.

City Attorney Watson and several Stamford Councilmen assured Commissioner Blake and county officials that reports of that nature were not based on facts.

"We feel that we are honor bound to get these four or five remaining craft off the lake in order to have it in as clean and sanitary condition as possible when the City of Stamford annexes or takes over the lake," County Attorney Pogue explained.

"Let's not say that Stamford takes over the lake altogether," a Stamford Councilman interposed, "we'll want your cooperation and help in maintaining safety and sanitation down there."

Stamford officials also declared that annexation of the lake would not in any way affect Scott Memorial Park or its facilities. The Councilmen made numerous complimentary remarks concerning the park and the treatment accorded visitors by the park caretaker, Alton Middleton.

A friendly atmosphere prevailed throughout the entire meeting. Sentiment of the session was probably best expressed in the remark of Commissioner Estle Gilleland of Precinct 3 when he said: "I'll dig the hole in which we can bury the hatchet," to which a Stamford Councilman replied, "I'll put in the hatchet, and it will be a small one, too, because the only differences between Haskell County and Stamford are minor ones."

Memories of Haskell in Days "Back When"

Alexander and he loved us kids. You stuck your head into the variety store to say 'Hi' to Vera Thomas or Vera Bradley. I can remember when the 'picture show' was on the east side of the square. My sister, Lucille, used to play the piano along with the shows (before sound pictures—oh, my, that really dates us; doesn't it?) They'd send the music along with the picture of the movie to be shown. There was a vacant place on the south side of the square, and they used to put up tents and have tent shows there. Sometimes they would be on the corner where the Piggly-Wiggly is now, particularly Harley Sadler shows. I even remember the Chautauqua programs they used to have. Anyway they built the Texas Theatre in the vacant place on the south side. It was advertised all over for its beauty and we were proud of it. We all remember plays, style shows and beauty contests held on the stage there. I remember how Mrs. C. M. Kaigler presented her programs there, and she was responsible for many an entertaining evening for Haskell people.

On the east side of the square there was the Ford Motor Co. Elks Cafe, Collier Grocery and McNeill & Smith Hardware Co. It was so much fun when they put up the racks around the counters about two weeks before Christmas and put out the toys! Mr. Smith always had a jolly laugh! My, how I envied my big sisters when their 'beaus' took them to supper at the Elks Cafe—it was the place to eat. After they moved the post office to the east side that was a popular meeting place, that corner. Remember upstairs, the Elks Hall—I guess that was the only place in town you could have a really big banquet. I remember serving at some of them when I took Home Ec with Mrs. Sprawls as teacher. Mr. and Mrs. Sills and Virginia live up there and Dr. Kimbrough's office was there. Did that building burn down?

'Of course you remember 'Depot Street' and wasn't it fun going down to meet the evening train at 8:00, especially on Sundays! Did you ever get on the train and ride to Stamford just to ride the train? Gee, I remember once our family put Floyd on the train going north and went out and took him off at 'Jossee Switch' because he'd never ridden the train. Remember Keys Confectionery on Depot Street? Weren't there five of the Keys girls? All really pretty. Say, do you remember the 'hot tamales man'? He was a tall colored man and pushed around a cart with two big cans on it. My, how we loved those hot tamales—and used to think he meant Lucy Cummins when he said, 'Hot tamales, good and juicy—one for me and two for Lucy.'

'Still on the same old corner—that's Oates Drug. We used to call it the Corner Drug. I think back and remember all the boys who worked in the drug stores in Haskell and got a start. What helping hands the Oates Bros., Payne Bros., and Mr. Reid have been! On the north side were Hancock Dry Goods, Hunt's Dry Goods, Reynolds Grocery, Gholson Grocery, and Grissom's. I guess you remember when Mr. John Pace owned a drug store and sold it to Mr. Payne and his boys. How about Brook's Bakery, and Mr. Brooks in his white apron and tall white hat. Remember the Candy Kitchen? Mask Grocery? The balcony in Grissom's Store where Helen Harbison held sway, and Hunt's Basement where Louise Brooks helped you? Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Gholson as well as all the other grocery stores had glass cases with different candy in each compartment. And at Christmas they would bring out 'buckets' of fascinating candies, cookies, and fruit. You selected the kinds you wanted in your stocking! Bananas hung in stalks with the knife in the stalk, and you cut your own. They weren't big stores like the ones we have now—but they were wondrous to a little girl or boy!

'Remember when Mr. Tucker put in his Style Shoppe on the north side, and when Perkins Timberlake came to Haskell? When Hassen's bought Hunt's? Remember Dr. Guest's dental office in the McConnell Building? Remember the McConnell's and their big house (where the Diggs live now)?

'On the west side I remember Reid's Drug, with Dr. Cummins office up on their balcony. Robertson Dry Goods, Fields Grocery, Sherrill Hardware, Fouts Variety Store, and Jones & Cox. Mr. Arbuckle had charge of the funeral parlor until he got a young helper—Bill Holden. Their Dry Goods Store bought out Alexander's, then Robertson, Davis Dry Goods was there for a while. Didn't a nightwatchman get killed when he surprised someone robbing a store over there on the west side?

'Then there's the National Bank corner. There the 'gang' used to gather and sit on the curb—until curfew. The fire siren was on top of the bank building and it blew at 9 o'clock. If you didn't hear it, though, it wasn't an excuse because you could hear the big town clock on the courthouse strike on the hour all over town!

'Bro. Walthall lived in the house by the side of you. Were you ever lucky enough to get any fresh baked bread or angel-food cake he used to bake? We really liked him and his family in our neighborhood. Then the Long's lived there. Say, remember when it rained and all the water drained down the ditches to Spring Branch? And we'd float down the ditch in a tub if we could get one. And how Floyd, Carl Arbuckle, John Oates, Jr., Roger Gilstrap and Gilbert Wilson made caves down by the branch for their hide-out—close to the old jail!

'Of course you recall when the north-south highway came through and that gave us two paved streets! We could ride to the north end (Shook's) on the highway and come back the paved street—even when it rained!

'Do you remember how much of our Southern gentlemen some of the pioneers were? So many that we can't begin to name them all. There are so many families who gave so much to the history of this one town. Now the streets are paved, lighted, and named. The houses are numbered and new ones have literally jumped up (even to the old swimming hole—Shook's Tank). There are new buildings, old ones have been renovated, and Haskell is a progressive little city. But we who were 'born and reared' there get a lump in our throats when we think of our happiest times there. I close my eyes and I see my Dad coming back to his office over Payne Drug from his morning walk to the post office. Remember how his hand would salute or his arm go around the shoulder of a friend who had called 'Hello, Doctor—' He loved that town, and the people—and I'm afraid I do, too!

Sincerely,
Ann Taylor Fisher."
