

Paving 4th Street To Base Expected; Surveys Performed

The long anticipated paving of Fourth street from Lubbock to Reese AFB will be done this summer, THE ROUNDUP learned this week.

Workers of the Texas Highway department were making surveys and performing other studies on the stretch this week. Highway department plans call for awarding of a contract for the construction soon, with work to start in July, it was said in Lubbock. Date of the letting has not been set.

Under the program, the road will be four lanes from the Texas Tech stadium to a point about two and three-quarters miles west. From that point the road will narrow to three lanes, THE ROUNDUP was advised.

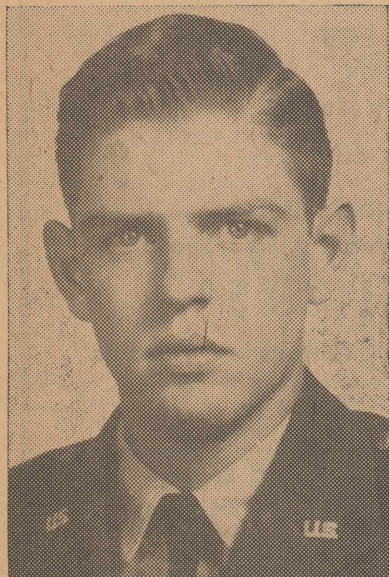

Construction of pavement on Fourth street has been programmed by the Texas Highway department since before Reese AFB was re-activated October 1, 1949. The new pavement will permit residents of North Lubbock and other areas to come more directly from their homes to the base main gate.

Lt. McMahon Feted As Honorary Jaycee

Participation in Civil Air Patrol activities in Lubbock has brought the honor of Honorary Jaycee of the Month to 2nd Lt. Richard C. McMahon, instructor pilot at Reese AFB. A certificate of award was presented the lieutenant by Maj. Tobias Schindler, commander of the 3500th Pilot Training squadron, in behalf of the club at the regular luncheon this noon in the Caprock hotel.

Lieutenant McMahon has been an active pilot and member of the CAP since 1947 and recently was named project officer to assist in organization of the Lubbock CAP. The local unit was activated last week, the first officially formed in the state in the past two years.

The lieutenant received his Air Force pilot wings at Reese AFB in 1954 and attended advanced training at Vance AFB, Enid, Okla. He then returned to Reese for instructor duties. He owns his own aircraft and is a member of several aeronautical organizations. He is a graduate of high school in Kansas City and is a former student of Kansas City Junior college.

Memorial Presented To Reese

A painting in memory of 1st Lt. Augustus F. Reese Jr., for whom the base was named is now hanging in the television room of the Officers Open Mess.

The painting of Eisenhower roses, made by Nell Reese Pounders, was presented by Augustus F. Reese Sr., Shallowater, Monday in memory of his son. It was given by the late flier's parents as the result of a longtime desire to contribute something of permanence to the base.

"We have always had a spiritual attachment to the base," Reese said, "now we have a material interest here as well."

In the small group that gathered for the official presentation and acceptance were Col. and Mrs. C. P. West, base commander who gave a brief acceptance talk, Col. and Mrs. Raymond A. Lawn, Mrs. James F. Mears, Col. Clayton A. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Shepherd and their daughters, Reese Ellen and Karen, granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Reese, and Capt. Byrre P. Whalen, information services officer. Present also were three members of the board who chose the Reese name for the base, Edwin Delavan, Neal Wright, Jr., and Ross McDougall, and their wives.

Captain Whalen introduced Wright who spoke briefly, telling how the list of possible names of Lubbock area servicemen who had given their lives in World War II was screened thoroughly and that the name of Augustus F. Reese Jr., continually reappeared in the record of distinguished service and length of duty.

Native Of Shallowater

The young flier, who was a native of Shallowater, enlisted in January, 1941, and was killed in Cagliari, Sardinia on May 14, 1943 while flying a P-38 on a volunteer mission to destroy a railroad supply train.

The painting of the red roses, which were developed in Tyler and given the President's name, is a vivid study of vibrant red against

National Parks Waive Fees Only To Organized Groups

Effective January 1, 1956, the waiver of admissions, and other charges prescribed by the National Park Service for active duty members of the Armed Forces has been limited to organized groups in connection with regular educational or recreational programs, a letter from the National Park Service stated.

The waiver of fees for such groups will be made when an appropriate officer or responsible official of the USO or similar organization certifies that the visit is a part of an educational or recreational program, it was pointed out.

It was also stated that members of these organized groups need not be in uniform to permit the waiver of fees.

PAINTING PRESENTED AS MEMORIAL—In memory of their son, Augustus F. Home State Income Taxes Vary; Relief Act Protects Servicemen

NEW YORK (AFPS)—Payment of federal income tax, in most cases, takes care of the serviceman's tax responsibility.

This is true because:

1. Some states do not have an income tax.
2. A great number of those that collect income taxes do not tax service pay.

3. Even if the state does tax service pay many servicemen do not have to pay the tax because of sufficient exemptions or deductions.

Under the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940, amended and still in force, servicemen legally resident in one state, but serving in another are not liable for state income tax on their service pay in the second state.

However, they can be liable in the second state if they are employed on an off-duty job. Their wives or children are liable if working in the state of their temporary residence.

Liability in two states is rare, but possible, even if the serviceman did not return to his home state during the entire year. For example, even if his service pay were tax exempt, sale of stocks in his home state may provide sufficient income in the state to pay a tax; and, an off-duty job in the state in which he is serving might provide enough income for a tax in that state.

New Officers Roster Has Valuable Data

A new officer personnel roster which is intended to bring whole blood to a patient who needs it within minutes, instead of hours, has been set up at Reese AFB, Lt. Col. Charles E. Wilson, wing personnel officer, announced this week.

A master roster showing blood types of each officer on the base has been compiled and copies will be kept in the base hospital and the wing personnel office, it was announced. Thus, in an emergency, a person possessing the type of blood needed may be called within minutes. Without the new roster, it might take hours to find the needed donor, the colonel cited.

The new roster, which will be revised frequently as officers arrive and leave the base, also contains a variety of other information. It shows the birth date of each officer, types of aircraft the person is qualified to pilot, major academic and educational field, marital status, educational level, foreign service selection date, service schools attended, and rank of each officer.

The roster was worked up jointly by the wing personnel office and statistical services office. All information on it has been recorded on punch cards in the statistical services office. Thus, machines can sort the cards and come up with needed information in a brief time.

Part Discount Available Through Hobby Shop

Discounts for automobile parts are available at several local part dealers through the Automotive Hobby Shop. Persons anticipating the purchase of parts should contact S/Sgt. H. Graham, NCOIC of the Hobby Shop.

The hobby shop started initial operation October 19, 1955 and is in full use constantly.

Retiring Colonel To Be Honored At Wing Review

Lt. Col. Richard L. Boulware, executive officer of the Maintenance and Supply group of Reese AFB, will terminate 32 years of service Saturday morning by taking the review of troops at a wing review staged in his honor. He and his wife are returning to Detroit within a few days to the city where both lived prior to his service.

The colonel came to Reese AFB in December, 1952, from Parks AFB, Calif., where he was wing materiel officer. He went on active duty in 1934 and during his long career was stationed in England, France, Belgium, Germany, and Greenland, in addition to various stations in the United States. He is a 1918 graduate of Washington high school, Paducah, Ky.

Active In Club Work

Colonel Boulware was an automobile sales manager in Detroit. His wife was president of the Reese AFB Officers Wives club the past year, retiring earlier this month. The previous year she was vice-president of the club. Since stationed at Reese, she has been head of the Nurses' Aide project and an active assistant in the base hospital.

The Saturday review is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. on the Reese AFB parade area near the base hospital.

Three Are Uninjured In Accident; Probe For Cause Continues

A board of investigation continued work late this week on the aircraft accident in which three officers escaped injuries.

The aircraft made a forced landing just north of the base with Capt. James T. Lokey, 1st Lt. Kenneth P. Dement and 2nd Lt. Don W. Drake escaping any injuries.

Capt. Robert C. Shaw, Flying Safety officer attributed the fact that there were no more serious consequences due to the extensive drilling given instructors and student pilots in emergency procedures.

Immediately after the accident a board of experts began work to determine the cause or probable cause in order to prevent recurring accidents, Captain Shaw stated.

Annual Dimes Telethon On Local TV Saturday

Reese AFB personnel will join an estimated 350,000 West Texas viewers for the year's top local television this Saturday, January 28, when the 1956 March of Dimes Telethon gets underway.

Stars of the comedy television show will be the Amos 'N Andy case, the King Sisters, Skinney Ennis and his orchestra the Crewcuts and almost a dozen other professional stars will be on hand.

The show, located at Lubbock's Fair Park Coliseum will begin at 8:45 p.m., and continue until 9:30 a.m., Sunday.

The fourth annual Telethon, which is sponsored by KDUB-TV and the Lubbock Exchange Club, with its new location, a top array of talent and merchandise for auction, is expected to be the finest in its history.

What Would You Have Said?

One of the most interesting findings made in a recent study of American public opinion was what American citizens think the Services' jobs are.

The study was made for the Department of Defense by Public Opinion Surveys, Inc., Princeton, N. J., under the guidance of Dr. George Gallup and his staff. Here is what civilian adults believe is the main job of each service.

Army. The largest group, 32 per cent, said the Army's main job is generally, "To fight, attack the enemy, take and hold territory, etc.," while 23 per cent said specifically that its main job is "To fight on land or ground, or in hand-to-hand combat, etc."

Navy. The largest group, 34 per cent, said the Navy's main job is "To carry or transport supplies or men, etc.," while 13 per cent said specifically that its main job is "To protect and patrol, keep the sea or sea lanes open, etc."

Naval Aviation. The largest group, 29 per cent, said specifically that the main job of Naval Aviation is "to fight as part of the Navy, to protect or defend the fleet, etc."

Marine Corps. The largest group, 32 per cent, said specifically that the main job of the Marine Corps is "to spearhead the attack, get there first, to land from sea, establish beachheads, etc."

Air Force. The largest group, 37 per cent, said the Air Force's main job is generally "to fight, bomb, strafe, attack the enemy, etc.," while 6 per cent said specifically that its main job is "Strategic bombing, destruction of supply lines, industry, etc."

Although only 6 per cent mentioned strategic bombing as the main Air Force job, their answers to another question show that they do not understand the Air Force's long-range striking power. They said: "It is fast, can strike quick anywhere," "New atomic and hydrogen bombs," "Next war will be an air war," "Can best get at the enemy targets with bombs" and "It is the most powerful Service and most disastrous because it can do more damage."

You have only to read the "functions" portion of the Key West Agreement to see that the American people's thinking about the roles of the Services has not changed basically since their representatives in Congress set up the Nation's air arm under the National Security Act of 1947. The Key West Agreement—made by our civilian and military defense leaders in 1948—spelled out in detail the Service's main jobs as indicated in the Act. It is still in effect.

On the same day that the President signed the new Act, July 26, 1947, he signed an Executive Order outlining the main jobs of each of the Services.

The Army, said the order, is "organized, trained and equipped primarily for prompt and sustained combat incident to operations on land." The Navy, it said, is "organized, trained, and equipped primarily for prompt and sustained combat at sea." The Air Force is "organized, trained, and equipped primarily for prompt and sustained air offensive and defensive operations." Moreover, said the order, the Air Force has the responsibility of "gaining and maintaining general air supremacy."

So today, just as in 1947 and 1948, the American people see the Service's main jobs divided into those for the land arm, the sea arm, and the air arm.

AF-Navy Plan To Launch Satellite

WASHINGTON (AFPS) — The first man-made earth satellite will be launched into outer space from Patrick AFB, Fla., the Navy and Air Force have announced.

The services said Patrick was the logical place for the operation because of its excellent guided missile facilities. It is located near Cocoa, Fla., and the Indian River, about 50 miles from Daytona Beach.

At the same time, the Defense Department released additional details about Project Vanguard and the finless, three-stage rocket, which will hurl the satellite into the earth's outer orbit at a peak speed of 18,000 miles-an-hour some time in 1957 or 1958.

The DOD revealed that the satellite, a small metallic sphere shaped like a basketball, will weigh about 21 and one-half pounds and be at least 20 inches in diameter.

It was explained that the major problem confronting scientists at present is the way in which the rocket will be propelled.

Since it must reach a speed of 25,000 feet a second, the rocket must attain some of the highest efficiencies ever achieved in flight, the DOD said.

The highest reported velocity attained by a rocket to date is 9,000 feet a second, far below the speed necessary to push the satellite into its course in outer space.

The first two stages of the intricate rocket apparatus now are being developed by the Glenn L. Martin Co., Baltimore, Md., together with the General Electric Co., and the Aerojet General Corp., Azusa, Calif.

Lady Of The Month Typical AF Wife

One of the happiest Air Force wives in the country—if not in the world—these days is Mrs. William Hevner of Bolling Air Force Base, Washington, D. C.

The attractive wife of a flight engineer staff sergeant, Jane Hevner is basking in the pleasant afterglow of a gay round of honors and social activities. All this as a result of being chosen U. S. Lady of the Month by "U. S. Lady", a new magazine for Service wives and Service women.

Pictures and a story about Mrs. Hevner, her husband and two children appeared in the November issue of "U. S. Lady".

"It was just like being 'Queen for a Day'—for a month," said Mrs. Hevner. "I was interviewed on a Washington TV show, was honor guest at a tea, luncheon and dinner parties, and received some lovely gifts."

Mrs. Hevner was chosen U. S. Lady of the Month from a group of Air Force wives nominated for the honor by friends and Air Force officials. She won selection because of her varied and interesting activities and her outstanding success as a Service wife.

Selection was made by the magazine's board of 19 members. The board includes wives of the Secretaries of Defense, Air Force, Army and Navy, the wife of the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, wives of senior enlisted men from each branch of the Armed Forces, representatives of Service women and of the Active Reserve.

The magazine rotates the U. S. Lady of the Month honor among wives in each of the Armed Services. Mrs. Hevner was the third woman to win the honor. Her predecessors were a Navy wife and the wife of a Marine.

Mrs. Hevner, a vivacious brunette in her late twenties, has been an Air Force wife for eight years. A native of the District of Columbia, she met her husband early in 1947 at a Y.W.C.A. dance in the Nation's capitol. They were married in April of that year. After several years of apartment living, the Hevners bought a trailer. They now live in Trailer Park at Bolling.

Typical of many Air Force wives, Mrs. Hevner leads a very busy life. Besides the usual household chores and looking after her children, this "U. S. Lady" has a part-time job in a Washington tailor shop. She's a member of the Parent-Teachers' Association of her children's school, is active in NCO Wives' Club activities and recently started a Davy Crockett Club for children who live in the trailer park.

"Bill and I both love Service life," Mrs. Hevner told Air Force News Service reporter. "You meet so many nice people from all parts of the country. We hope our next assignment will be Japan."

Staff Sergeant Hevner has only seven more years in the Air Force before he's eligible for 20-year retirement, but Jane believes he'll wear the Air Force blues for the full 30 years.

"Then we plan to open a community center where teenagers can drop in for snacks and dancing," said Mrs. Hevner.

All Air Force wives can take special pride in the selection of Jane Hevner as a "U. S. Lady." Her ability at making a happy home for her Air Force husband and children, and her generous spirit in doing things for others mark her as an ideal representative of Air Force wives the world over.

Base Drops To 6th Place In ATC Ground Safety

Efforts of Reese AFB to capture awards in ground safety really "hit the skids" during the past month, Joe Lopez, ground safety director, said Thursday.

The base dropped a notch to sixth place in the Air Training Command competition for the Commanders Award and slumped from first to third place in the 1955 Flying Training Air Force contest.

"Starting December, Reese was in first place in FTAF; but by the end of the month we skidded to third place," Lopez commented. "That just shows how one month, or one week, can ruin a whole year's record."

Ellington AFB, Houston, had the best 1955 record in FTAF, with Greenville AFB, Miss., second.

Lopez reported that accidents at Reese continued to be numerous. Last week three persons received serious injuries to the hand. One airman received fractured fingers when his hand was caught on a belt of the generator pulley of his automobile. His man-days lost totaled seven. Another airman received mashed fingers when his hand was caught between an aircraft and an oxygen servicing truck. Man-days lost were five. A civilian fractured fingers when his hand was caught beneath a cylinder he was moving.

der he was moving.

"All three of these accidents were serious," Lopez commented.

An airman, an aviation cadet, and two officers received injuries while playing basketball. Three ankles were sprained and a finger dislocated.

An officer received a head injury when the trunk door of his car blew shut on his head while he was loading the trunk. An airman fractured a finger when a barracks window dropped while he was washing it. Another airman sprained a shoulder moving a stove.

By A/2C Maurice B. Ziegler

Reese AFB boxers made an impressive showing of their skill in exhibition bouts in Lubbock this past Monday. Persons at the base are hoping for a good or better showing of strength than representatives from the base did last year. In '55, Al Bennett, a leading contender in the Hobbs Regional Golden Gloves tournament, was AAU welterweight champion and Joe Martino was champ in the Lubbock Regional, which he will be after again this year. This year there are several promising fighters competing in the Golden Gloves.

Only time will tell, as Bennett, Tommy Fuller and James Stepp go to compete in the Hobbs tourney this coming Tuesday and Wednesday and Paul Graves, Joseph Martino, Milo Moorhouse, John Parker, Keith Stranzel, Melvin Keaton, and Kenneth Swanson compete in Lubbock, February 2, 3 and 4. We are hoping for the best.

The Rattlers who had posted an early season win over Webb AFB, went down to defeat last weekend. The play was close, too close in fact, and we just couldn't get that two points needed for a win.

In the first game played Friday night, the scoreboard read, Webb, 56, and Reese, 50. In Saturday night's contest the Rattlers couldn't seem to hit their free throws—they missed 23—and went down to defeat by one little point, 64-63.

This Friday night the Rattlers play White Sands Proving Grounds in the base gym at 8 p.m., and next Tuesday take on the Texas Tech Freshmen at the base gym at 8 p.m.

Three of the intramural basketball teams look especially good and are expected to be top bets for the base champs. They are the Air Police, and 3502nd Maintenance, in League A, and Hospital in League B.

During the week none of the games were very close. Winning were:

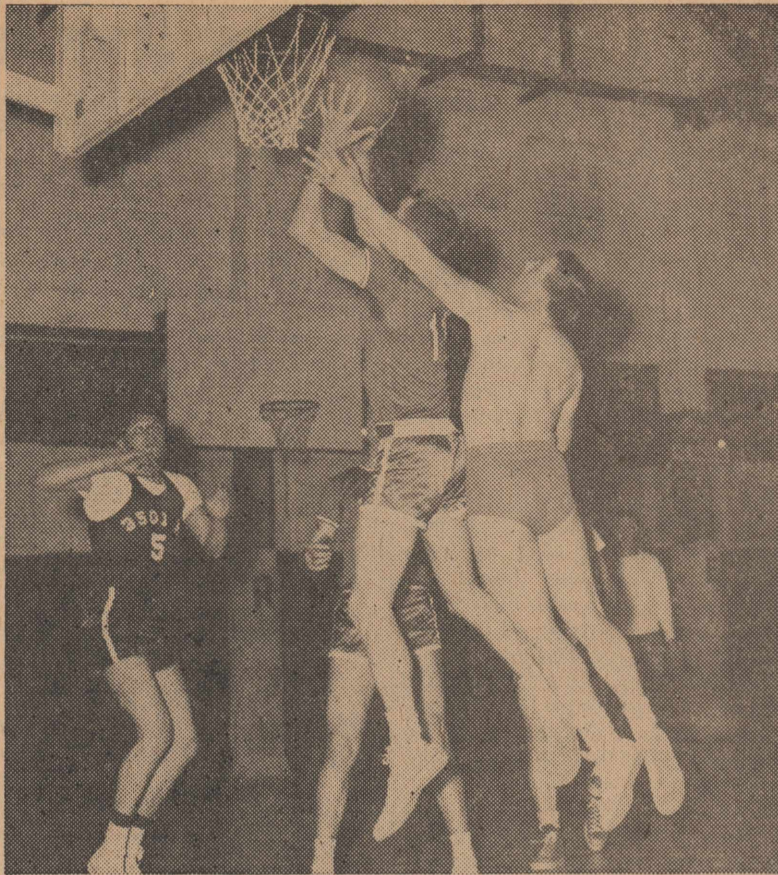

League A

- 3501st, 50 -- Motor Vehicle, 44
- 3502nd, 62 -- MATS, 42
- Air Police, 67 -- Flights 4 & 5, 20
- 3502nd, 74 -- 3501st, 48

League B

- PreCadets, 57 -- Flights 6, 8 & 9, 23
- Hospital, 77 -- Food Service, 29
- Hospital, 55 -- PTW, 39

A number of the other games were won by forfeit.

UP FOR TWO—Jack Garlington, 3502nd Maintenance sq., with ball, goes up for a shot in their cage tilt against the 3501st Maint. sq. He is guarded closely by an unidentified 01st player, as Kelly, No. 5, of 01st awaits the expected rebound. The 3502nd Maint. sq. had no trouble winning 74-48. (Photo by Roca)

Former Airman Sets World Track Record

Joseph Deady, former AAU track champion and Reese AFB airman received another thrill recently by setting a world's record.

Deady, who is doing post graduate work at Georgetown University, made the record shattering run at the Metropolitan AAU indoor track championship at New York City, January 7. His time was 3:1:2.

Famous miler, Wes Santee, was expected to run in the meet, the Associated Press stated, but was suffering from a sore leg and Deady was given his place in the run. This is the first world record for Deady, but he had held a national record in the 880-yard run until 1954.

Boxing Exhibition

Due to the success of a Golden Gloves boxing exhibition held last Monday night in Lubbock, another series of exhibition matches will be held Saturday, at 8 p.m., at 2121 Baylor St., in Lubbock. Representatives from Reese will be featured in some of the matches. All Reese personnel are invited to attend.

Sports And Safety Campaigns Help Make '55 Memorable Year

The Air Force can look back on 1955 as a memorable year for a variety of activities closely related to the principal objectives of building combat ready air power and enhancing AF life as a career for the individual.

These include sports participation, ground and flying safety campaigns, Air Force Academy developments, improved community relations and other events which touched most AF members.

Military leaders who see sports as a builder of character and body for the combat man must have been pleased at the interest generated within the AF in this field in 1955. In a phrase, sports were big. The AF made a good start in preparation for the 1956 Olympics and more than held its own in interservice competition.

As a prelude to the Olympics, AF athletes in seven sports won a healthy share of honors in the Pan American Games held last spring in Mexico City. Track men, including Second Lt. W. Parry O'Brien, world's champion in the shot put, and Lieut. Lonnie Spurrier, world's half mile record holder, began training for the Olympics. Late in the year the AF's best basketball players assembled for pre-Olympic team practice.

Throughout the year the AF encouraged sports at the squadron level on each air base, and thousands of airmen, officers and civilians participated. Many emerged as AF-wide individual or team champions, and some went on to further honors in interservice competition.

Some were outstanding. Andrews AFB, Md., had one of the greatest basketball teams ever assembled, with Lieutenants Cliff Hagan and Lou Tsiropoulos among the big names. First Lieut. Joe Conrad won the British Amateur golf championship. The AF earned the historic Leech Cup in tennis, with Airman 2/C Whitney Reed for the third straight year taking the all-service title as well as later reaching the round of sixteen in the National Tennis Championships. Five airmen won titles in the National AAU Boxing Tournament.

A different kind of competition—involving both ground and flying safety—highlighted the year as the AF continued its efforts to reduce accidents, injuries and casualties. The National Safety Council for the fifth straight year honored the AF for its over-all ground safety record. Eight major commands, in addition to the AF Reserve and Air National Guard, received Flying Safety Award Plaques during the year. For the first time the annual USAF Motor Vehicle Rodeo was opened to overseas commands as well as those in the Z. I. Outstanding military and civilian drivers won the finals held at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio.

THIS GIANT ARM—hurling aircraft and guided missiles into the air—depicts the U.S. Air Force in its vital role as the air arm of our country. Together with the Nation's land and sea arms, it provides national security. This arm will soon be used in a postal slug on all mail emanating from Headquarters USAF.
