USAF Announced New Retraining Plans For Airmen; Eligibility List Extensive

The Air Force's career airman school retraining program shifted into high gear in mid April with the announcement of major expansion and revision of the program.

School spaces for retrainees

DAC Open House Scheduled May 1

All Reese personnel and dependents have been invited to the Dependents Assistance Center open house next Thursday afternoon. Volunteer workers in the center will be on duty to answer all questions and "point with pride" at the various areas of accomplishment. Cookies and coffee will be served. Mrs. Foley Collins is in charge of open house preparations, with visiting hours from 3 to 5 p.m.

Additional volunteer workers for the center are needed, Mrs. Marcus Satsky, office committee chairman, said. Each volunteer will work a half day per month. Volunteers are asked to call Mrs. Satsky at 2662 in the Village.

and other airmen have been opened up to 42,500 in FY 1959. Applications may be submitted now. Retraining opportunities for A/2Cs and A/1Cs are practically unlimited under this school quota.

However, only 3,165 NCOs will be able to enter school retraining during the fiscal year, as the Air Force wants to hold NCO manning in the skills open to retraining. This is to leave room for future promotion progression of airmen as they mature and become more skilled in these needed AF skills.

The number of basic school courses open for prospective retrainees has been increased from 13 to 57.

Resource skills — those airmen can train "from" — also have been increased for the coming FY retraining program from 61 to 110.

A/1Cs and A/2Cs may choose from all 57 courses; S/Sgts may choose from among 23 courses and M/Sgts. and T/Sgts. may select from among 18 courses.

The courses range in length from 8 to 38 weeks.

Fire Hazard Elimination Sought Through Base, Village Campaign

An active campaign in which all military and civilian personnel of the base and military dependents are expected to participate will be staged next week as Reese observes Fire Prevention "Spring Clean Up Week."

All areas will be thoroughly policed, the base commander has directed. Grass and other vegetation near buildings will be removed or trimmed closely. Scrap paper and other wind blown material under docks, trailers, etc., will be removed, and the interiors of buildings, including shelves, closets, and lockers, will be cleared of debris, it has been directed. Soiled rags and old paper will be removed and necessary clean rags will be placed in covered containers.

"All buildings and structures will be checked to assure use of separate non-combustible containers for disposal of smoking materials only," the directive states.

Inspections will be made by unit fire marshals, building fire wardens, and personnel of the base fire department.

"All base personnel, both military and civilian, should extend this Spring Clean Up campaign to include homes, carports, garages, etc., with the possibility of eliminating any hazardous conditions that may exist," Maj. Elmer Barnes, project officer, stated. "The old adage that, 'It is better to be safe than sorry' applies to fire prevention at all times.

Dirty Areas Assailed

"Good fire prevention is for the most part assured by good housekeeping and you may be sure that a dirty, littered area, building, or structure will some day burn unless it is cleaned up. The cooperation of all personnel in this endeavor will be reflected in the continuation of the low rate of fire incident that this base now enjoys."

The major pointed out that only two fires have occurred in fiscal year 1958 which can be blamed on careless disposal of smoking material, with a $36 damage.

Warrant Officer Wins Promotion In '59 List

Roy L. Vaughan, airman personnel officer of Reese, has been designated for promotion to W-2, regular, during Fiscal Year 1959, the list announced by USAF discloses. He has been assigned to Reese since last July.

Defense Might To Be Exhibited On Base May 17

Thousands of Lubbock and area citizens are expected to visit Reese during the annual Armed Forces Day "open house" Saturday, May 17.

The third Saturday in May of each year has been proclaimed Armed Forces Day by the President. The observance is designed to render a report to the public on military services by inviting them to witness local bases, ships, armories, reserve centers, and other facilities in operation.

Display of different types of aircraft, flyovers, displays of Air Force equipment, and a cutaway of an Army "Nike" guided missile are only a few of the events scheduled for the occasion at Reese.

The Armed Forces of the United States, throughout the country and overseas, will be hosts to their American and international neighbors from May 10 through 18, implementing dates established by the Department of Defense.

"Power for Peace" will continue to be the slogan, and principal emphasis will be placed on the relationship between U.S. national strength and peaceful aspirations.

Machine Unit Growing

Expansion of the electric data processing section on the base during the next few months was announced this week by Lt. Charles J. O'Neill, statistical services and processing officer.

Several IBM machines now in use permit keeping of records on maintenance engineering. New machines will be added to mechanize base supply records, with two or three shifts composing the "around the clock" operations. Inventory accounting, monetary, will also be handled by machines and most personnel records will be added.

A single IBM card on each airman on the base is on file now. Each card shows the duty, control, and primary AFSC of the air man. It also shows his eligibility for overseas, his functional code, data of rank, medical shot records, and other data.

"Thus, if information is sought, for instance, on how many airmen first class returned from overseas in the past five years, we could just run the cards through the electric machines and everything wanted would be available in minutes," Lieutenant O'Neill stated.

To handle new machines to be added by fall, the machine room of the comptroller's office will be enlarged to take in the present wood hobby shop, it was stated. New personnel will be added, including another officer.

The data processing office is on an old-fashioned country phone line, hooked to Tinker, Sheppard, Walker, and Biggs on 24-hour service. It's a transceiver network for AMC. Five rings, and that is time for Reese to answer. Any other ring, and Reese personnel can listen in on the party line talk between other units on the line to gather the gossip or latest pood.

ALWAYS ALERT

In addition to its vast missile program, the U. S. Air Force is maintaining a force of thousands of manned aircraft, a considerable part of it on constant alert all over the world, flying 10 million hours annually.

As A Man Thinks . . .

By Chaplain William D. Franks

Ernest Dimmit, a French writer, once wrote, "There is no surer way to elevate a man's life than to elevate his ideas." An ancient Hebrew proverb reads, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." Both of these statements point out the fact that ideas and thoughts are important in the structure of a life. It is true that we are no taller than our thoughts and no larger than our ideas. The type of thoughts we think determines the type of persons we are.

Children have a story about a boy who never grew up. His name was Peter Pan. All of his life he remained a child and moved and lived in the fantasy of childhood. There is really something tragic about such a story because life provides to all the opportunity to grow. We can remain mere dwarfs if we choose. We can deny and neglect the ability to grow. Already there are many who have the bodies of adults and the minds of children.

Your can't always control your ideas and thoughts or the things that come out of your mind, but you can control most of what goes in.

And, after all, what goes in will determine what comes out. Noble thoughts do not come through association with people who are capable of thinking only low, crude, and vulgar thoughts. Neither do worthy ideas come from reading simple comic books, absurd pocket books or seeing insipid movies and mediocre television programs. All of us need entertainment and recreation, but a constant diet of this leaves us shallow and rather useless persons.

We can remain dwarfs throughout life or we can, through associations with great people and literature, lift the level of our thoughts and ideas to the plane of men whom God created "a little lower than the angels."

SAC FACS

By
Capt. James E. Graham
Mather Air Force Base

(This is another in a series of letters from ATC instructors who have been on SAC training missions.)

Dear Ted:

If you ever take a car from Fairford into London, I would suggest that you hide your eyes and hope that everything turns out all right and leave the rest to the driver. I have never been in a place that is even close to this one as far as driving is concerned. We were driven into town by an airman, and I think he must be the best driver in the world — or the luckiest one. He told me that in nine years he had never so much as scratched a fender, and with these drivers that must be some sort of record.

We arrived in the late afternoon and found reservations were made for the Westbury Hotel. From this hotel you are in walking distance to places such as Piccadilly Circus, Soho Square, Bond Street and many other places to eat. In this area you will be able to find any type of food that you wish, as it contains Spanish, French, Italian, Chinese, Greek, and English restaurants. You name it and some restaurant serves it.

Leaves Restore The Bounce

As a rubber ball kept under constant pressure soon loses its bounce, so the man kept under constant job pressure also loses his bounce. The airman, or officer, who performs his job with full conscientious effort is under many pressures, building up tension. As with the rubber ball, the tension must be released, lest the airman, or officer, lose his bounce.

Congress recognized this when, in 1946, it passed the Armed Forces Leave Act. A recent TIG Brief remarks "... it (Congress) recognized the part rest and recreation play in health and proficiency of the individual, and it was intended that all personnel take full advantage of leave granted to derive maximum benefits for the Air Force."

The Brief encourages personnel to take short leaves and at least one period of three continuous weeks leave annually.

It discourages the practice of accumulating full leave time for the purpose of collecting a bulk sum compensation for unused leave time upon retirement or separation, stating, "... this practice makes unwarranted drains on Air Force funds and defeats the purpose of the leave act."

Day by day, we read accounts of businessmen, executives and others who suffer breakdowns from pressure. This could often be averted through the use of leave periods for relaxation and recreation such as the Air Force provides.

Don't lose the bounce you need to perform your job well. Take advantage of leave time provided for this purpose. Not only you, but the Air Force, will benefit by your enhanced efficiency and physical well being.

Copy Due On Tuesday!

Base personnel are again reminded that copy for THE ROUNDUP should be submitted by Tuesday noon, where possible. It is difficult to continue to prepare and publish a good newspaper when items which could be turned in on Monday or Tuesday come in after noon Wednesday. No promise can be given that articles submitted Wednesday will be published that week. We hate to hold over news for a week; but it may be necessary for good management and production.

ATC Cited For Top Bond Buying Activity

Air Training Command was cited as one of the top participants in last year's Savings Bonds drive by Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, in a recent letter to command headquarters.

In his letter, the General emphasized the advantages of Savings Bonds as a contribution to the nation's welfare in addition to their value as a sound personal investment.

Lt. Gen. Charles T. Myers, ATC commander, in his indorsement of the letter to Training Command bases said, "Every member of this command should have a sound savings program. One of the best ways to accomplish this is through the purchase of United States Savings Bonds."

Base commanders have been urged by General Myers to give the 1958 Bond Campaign their personal attention.

Cost Climbs Higher On Mail To France

Several changes have been made in the manner in which parcels to servicemen are being handled, the Reese post office has been advised. Strict compliance with French postal laws is supposed to have been in effect since 1948; new moves by the French government now is forcing compliance.

Mail to American armed forces in France is being speeded.

French customs officials may open all packages to determine value and tax necessary. The sender will be notified.

Customs payment of 36 per cent of the value will be made on all packages.

A higher tax rate will be effective on cameras, silk stockings, televisions and other items.

No package may weigh over 22 pounds.

Each package will be evaluated individually.

Reese post office workers cite that compliance will eliminate much trouble.

First Aid Cases Add Base Costs

Five military first aids, two civilian first aids, a USAF motor vehicle accident, and two aircraft ground accidents added $770 to ground accident costs on the base last week, M/Sgt. Milton Sexton, ground safety technician, reported Thursday.

An airman was burned while operating a steam nozzle hose; an NCO caught a finger in a door, receiving a laceration; an airman hurt his back opening a car door; another cut a finger on a drill; and an NCO received a cut when his hand slipped while he was pushing an automobile.

One civilian received a piece of steel in his hand while using a hand starter on a tractor, and another lacerated the top of his head when he raised up under an aircraft.

The USAF vehicle was damaged when it collided with two other cars. Cause of the accident was attributed to defective vision and wearing colored glasses at night.

A B-25 aircraft, being towed, broke loose and rolled into another parked B-25. A third B-25 was being towed into a hangar when the power door control handle was moved and the door struck a wingtip.

"The most significant aspect of the world situation today is that there is no evidence that International Communism has in any way modified its goal of world domination."—Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff.

At The Base Library

By Helen K. Fuller

"Air Force wives readying for overseas duty would do well to brush-up on American history, geography and general Americana to better explain our nation to foreign nationals," according to "WOMEN'S CHATTER" column in the ROUNDUP.

Base Library would like to remind these wives that the material to do this brushing-up is available in building T-421 on the corner of 4th and F. This facility is open daily.

In addition to the above, the Library would like to recommend to wives and all servicemen "YOUR ASSIGNMENT OVERSEAS" by Pizer and Davis. This is a handbook for the Serviceman and his family. Since there is little that is so certainly uncertain as the life of the military family — in all respects save one: assignment overseas, it behooves all service people to be informed as those overseas orders will eventually come.

This book covers what is needed after those orders come — from getting ready to go, to the information needed about the assigned station. Your planning with the transportation officer, hand baggage, shipping of pets, and shipping of automobiles are included.

Road-Show Picture Scheduled For Reese

Announcement was made this week that THE YOUNG LIONS, road-show picture which has been playing to sizable crowds, will appear at the Reese theatre May 8 and 9.

The picture is from a story about three young men, the girls they loved, and the effect of World War II on them. Marlon Brando plays a heel-clicking Nazi officer who follows a lost cause. Montgomery Clift is the lonely Jewish American who fights prejudice at home and the Nazis abroad. Dean Martin is the Manhattan playboy who fights a losing battle with his draft board.

Base Spends Over Million Yearly In Local Area Buying Many Items

By T/Sgt. Gene Forbes
Reese Purchasing and Contracting officials expended over $1,400,000 in the local trade area last year!

An average of 2,400 different types of items are purchased each month from trade area individuals and firms!

Local purchase buyers constantly are looking for additional persons and firms interested in doing business with the Air Force!

Procurement Expedited

Military procurement of various types of supplies and services locally became a reality with the passage of the Armed Services Procurement Act, in the fall of 1927. The primary intent of the Act was to save time and money by expediting procurement of supplies, and to channel military procurement funds into areas surrounding bases.

Local purchasing and contracting went into effect shortly after Reese was re-activated in October, 1949. Since then, an average annual expenditure of $1,000,000 has been channeled to concerns within a 300 mile radius of the base.

This sum is spent for commercial type supplies normally stocked by retail firms, for construction and repair work, and for various services, such as organizational and hospital laundering.

Savings Accrue

Substantial savings accrue to the taxpayer through these operations. Though difficult to estimate, large sums are saved through buying of commercial supplies alone. These economies are effected through elimination of personnel, storage, and transportation costs if these items were to be purchased through centralized Air Force procurement agencies. Construction and repair contracts not falling within jurisdiction of the Army Corps of Engineers are also speeded, with a savings in administrative costs, said Capt. Vernon Rourke, P&C officer.

Procurement procedures have been simplified to the maximum extent. Depending upon the nature of the transaction, cash payment, negotiations, or sealed bids are utilized in conducting business with area concerns.

Purchases Limited

Approximately $70,000 is spent annually for cash or "off-the-shelf" retail commodities. Cash purchases are limited to $100 on single lots, and amounts exceeding that figure are paid by military purchase order. However, these payments are made, in most cases, within 10 days after completion of the agreement.

Negotiations for supplies or services may be accomplished up to a $2,500 ceiling, but no value limit is placed on sealed bid contracts. Payment for these larger contracts are expedited through the "progressive pay" system, whereby the contractor receives partial credits as he successively fulfills his obligations. Recently, a contractor was paid in full on the same day his approximately $300,000 construction project was accepted by Reese inspectors.

LOOK, MONEY — With interest greater in the Air Force Short Story contest, M/Sgt. Nelson Koscheski of M&S headquarters is showing 1st Lt. Roger Grinden of the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron, money available. He shows on the poster where $350 is the USAF first prize and that other prizes are available at all levels. The sergeant is a two-time winner at local level; this year he hopes for higher wins.

May 12 Deadline Set For Entering Short Story Contest

A May 12 deadline for submitting stories in the Air Force-wide Short Story contest has been set for Reese, Mrs. Helen K. Fuller, librarian and contest supervisor, said this week. Many stories are in the process of being written, Mrs. Fuller said, and others are sought.

All military personnel assigned or attached to the USAF are eligible to submit entries, it was announced. Each manuscript must be an original, unpublished work of the individual, must differ from entries in previous USAF Short Story contest, must not contain libelous material, and will not exceed 6,000 words.

East story must be typed on 8x10½ paper, must be securely fastened in protective paper, and must be accompanied by an entry blank.

Contstants may enter as many manuscripts as they desire, but must not have their name on the story or cover. Manuscripts will not be returned. Entries will be judged on originality, freshness of approach, literary style, and technique.

Governing regulations and entry blanks are available at the library. Books to assist the writer also are available.

To all fishermen: No, no, no! Don't wear those hip boots when you're out in a boat lake-fishing. If you do, you're apt to wind up like any New York hood — on the bottom of the pond. Don't forget to be careful about sunburn and if the weather's warm, be sure to take along a "snakebite kit." Snakebite kits are available at the base hospital.

They tell me Reese is in the heart of the best fishing area in Texas — just go about 200 miles in any direction. This is the best time of the year for lake-fishing in Texas.

Our spies tell us that oodles of fish are being caught at Lake Stamford near Stamford, Texas, which same is about 156 miles southeast of here. So, get going. If you don't have any fishing gear, you can drop in at the base gym and check some out.

And don't forget your fishing license — Texas, too, has laws.

The Reese softball field opened for practice Wednesday and reservations for use of the field may be obtained by calling the base gym. The intramural softball schedule calls for two games nightly, Monday through Friday, one at six and one at eight o'clock. Fourteen teams are entered in the league and all play will be at squadron level.

The folks at the base gym emphasize that the golf driving range is open for Saturday and Sunday use and will be open from 1:30 to 6 p.m. each day.

Playoffs for the base intramural volleyball league begin next week with date and hours to be announced. Keep your eyes glued to the Daily Bulletin.

Base Softball Team Will Represent Chapel In Lubbock League; Candidates Welcomed

The Reese Chapel is sponsoring a softball team for entry in the Lubbock Church Softball League for the coming season, said Wing Chaplain Willis L. Stowers this week. The team will be coached by M/Sgt. Leroy Haynes of the '02nd, assisted by S/Sgt. Eugene Bowling of M&S Group.

Another first for Reese, the team is open to all base personnel and Chaplain Stowers asks that he be contacted by phone at Ext. 211. Dates and time for try-out and practice will be published in the Daily Bulletin.

Church League play, under the sponsorship of the Lubbock Amateur Athletic Association, will begin the first week of May at the Ave. Q Softball Field in Lubbock.

The Lubbock Church Softball League will be the sole league playing in the Lubbock area during the coming season.

Although the majority of the Chapel Team's games will be played at the Ave. Q Softball Field, Chaplain Stowers is planning exhibition games to be played at Reese.

"I feel that with material we have at Reese, we can muster up a team that will win the Church League championship," said Sergeant Haynes, coach.

'05th Leads Intramural Bowling League

With the base intramural bowling league rolling into its last week of play, the '05th Maintenance "A" maintained league leadership. The '02nd "B" holds second place and PTW "A" is in third place.

The '05th "A" leads the '02nd "B" by two games and PTW "A" by three games, with a win-loss record of 41-16. With the '05th "A" winner of the second half of league play and the '02nd "B" winner of the first half, a roll-off for league championship will be held next week and the date and time of the event will be published in the Daily Bulletin as soon as scheduling is complete.

Awards will be presented to the winner and runnerup.

"Ken Baker of Wing is still holder of the high individual game and series with a game score of 254 and a series of 596. The record may last for some time," Airman Carl Mintz, league secretary, said.

Persons interested in entering the summer bowling league should contact T/Sgt. Donnie Parker at Ext. 353 or at the base bowling alley.

Officers

More pins than usual fell in this week's Officers Bowling League. The Academic Brainwashers toppled 3,104 pins in the high series, 116 more pins than any other series of the season. The Brainwashers also had a 1,079 game in winning three from the Flight 6 8-Balls. Harvey Dunn contributed a 550 high series and Lt. Raymond B. Kanyok had a 529, both rolling for the Washers. Capt. Carl Lightner of the M&S Greasers hit a 230 game.

Flight 5, league leader, dropped two of three games to the Greasers to set a 65-22 season record. The Wing Wizards, in second spot, postponed its series with the Flight 10 Kingpins and retained its 61-23 standing. The Brainwashers are in third place with a 59½-27½ standing, while the Greasers have 57½-29½.

Three Teams Still Without Volleyball Losses; Tight, Loose Games Recorded

As of the past week, PTW "A" and the '02nd Maintenance lead the American Division, each with a 5-0 win, loss record, and Hospital "B", with a 5-0 record also, lead the National Division of the base intramural volleyball league.

April 15 saw Hospital "B" down Air Base two straight sets, 15-4 and 11-5; PTW "B" dropped the '01st Maintenance two sets 15-0 each and Transportation beat the '01st PTS "B" also by two sets of 15-0.

The next night, '05th Maintenance scuttled '01st PTS "A" two sets of 15-0; PTW "A" dropped Hospital "A", 15-9 and 15-5; and '02nd Maintenance won over PTG, 15-1 and 15-3.

In a close game, Hospital "B" nosed out Weather by taking the last two sets 14-5 and 15-13 after losing the first set 15-0 on Thursday. Installations beat Air Base Group, 15-8 and 13-11; and '01st PTS "B" powered over '01st Maintenance two sets of 15-0.

On Friday, PTW "A" in two sets, 15-0 and 15-3, took a game from Hospital "C"; the '05th pushed over Hospital "A" in two sets of 15-0 and the week closed with '01st PTS "A" whipping their blood brothers, '01st PTS "C", by taking the two final sets 10-5 and 12-10 after losing the first set 15-0.

ATC Graduates Skilled Space Age Personnel Over Seven-Year Period

Air Training Command has been graduating people with Space Age skills for nearly seven years and will continue to do so.

In June, 1951, the Department of Guided Missiles Training was activated at Lowry AFB, with four courses on the Matador TM-61A missile. Currently, the command is programming or conducting courses for 19 separate weapon systems.

This missile training program, operated in addition to more than 600 conventional courses covering typing to electronics, has brought about extensive realignment of schools within the command as well as changes in training concepts.

Most important has been the development of the "prime base" concept. Prime bases are charged with programming and conducting training on a specific weapon system. Other bases give support.

Sheppard AFB is an example of the "prime training base". Weapon systems assigned to Sheppard include the Atlas, Titan, and Thor. At this base, men learn about the airframes, airborne guidance systems, equipment cooling, and power generation. At Chanute AFB, a "support base" for these three missiles, courses are taught in propulsion systems, and propellant handling. Courses in ground guidance are administered at Keesler AFB, and Lowry also provides courses on warheads and nose cones.

"Prime" weapon system training responsibility has been assigned to four ATC technical training bases. Lowry is charged with the Falcon "family" of guided missiles (GAR-1, ID, 2, 3, and 4), Sidewinder (GAR-8), Matador (TM-61), Mace (TM-76A and 76BO), and the Rascal (GAM-63).

Amarillo is responsible for the Quail (GAM-72) and Snark (SM-62). In addition to the Atlas, Titan and Thor (SM-65, 68, and 75, respectively), Sheppard now has the Jupiter (SM-78), while Chanute handles the Hound Dog (GAM-77), Goose (SM-73), and the Bomarc (IM-99).

People presently entering missile courses are already experienced in closely related fields. Later, as the need for technicians broadens, courses will be modified for less-skilled people to enter, possibly direct from basic military training.

Potential missilemen are now sent TDY to these schools from the command that will employ the particular weapon system.

Personnel who will be involved in the actual launching of certain missiles must be taught teamwork and know something about the job of every other man on the crew under the programs. This "unit" training is conducted by Strategic Air Command.

Academy May Move To New Site Soon

Continued rapid construction progress of the Air Force Academy's new home rising near Colorado Springs, Colo., gives promise that enough facilities will be completed in time for the 1,130 cadets and faculty to move in during August.

The multi-million dollar academy for the AF's future leaders already is more than half completed. More than 5,000 workers and 50 prime contractors are engaged in the Academy construction project.

Work on the "big two" building projects — the cadet quarters and the academic complex — is spearheading the fast-moving construction job. The building program is ahead of schedule, the academy's construction agency reports, due to generally favorable weather this past winter and good labor-management-Air Force relations.

At 325 mph each of the four Pratt & Whitney turbojet engines on the Boeing KC-135 Stratotanker develops 10,000 hp, the equivalent of 50 automobile V-8 engines rated at 200 hp each.

TAKING A RIDE — Workmen ready man-like dummy for quick trip down high-speed experimental track at Edwards AFB, Calif. Dummy tests new pressure suit and ejection seat developed by the Air Force for the X-15 program.

First Pre-Cadet Returns To Base

Reese's first pre-cadet of four years ago has returned to the base as a jet instructor pilot and adjutant of the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron. He's 1st Lt. William C. Gale of Meadville, Pa.

The lieutenant came to Reese in March, 1954, to await opening in a pilot training class. He was alone for two months as a pre-cadet and then was joined by others. He spent 13 months on the base during the three years Reese conducted the pre-cadet program.

Then he went to pre-flight at Lackland, primary pilot training at Bainbridge Air Base, Ga., and single engine pilot training at Laughlin AFB, Del Rio. He attended BIS at Craig and was an instructor pilot at Bryan AFB until he came to Reese this month. He's going to instruct students and handle squadron adjutant duties.

Answers Vary To Query: 'How Would You Like To Go To The Moon On First Flight?'

S/Sgt. James Holloway — Helicopter Crew Chief.

"Yes, I've been interested ever since I read my first Buck Rogers comic. Should be an interesting trip."

S/Sgt. Donald Reynolds — Base Operations.

"No, but Base Opps will require that any Reese personnel on the trip file a flight plan — be embarrassing if the man in the moon called to ask how come no flight plan."

Capt. Warren Pierce—3500th PTS, student pilot.

"Offhand, yes, I believe that by the time a space flight is readied, everything will be well worked out to eliminate hazards to individual safety. The trip should be very interesting."

Pansy Pennington — Switchboard operator at Communications Center.

"No. I think I'd probably feel lost — no switchboards you know."

A/IC R. H. Talbot—Tug Pool.

"No, I'd rather somebody else be first. I want to be sure I can get back. They may have everything worked out to get you back, but I'd still like to know somebody made it."

MATHER CAPTAIN REPORTS ON SAC HAPPENINGS

Today we pulled a goof — we went down to Buckingham Palace to see the Guard changed and found that the Guard was being changed at St. James' Place. It pays to heed the little travel guides on these matters. We were able to watch the small Guard being changed at Buckingham Palace. I wonder how those British non-coms learn to shout so loud? I could hear one over the traffic just as if he were standing next to me.

In the city there is one place that the Americans gather — that is the Columbia Club. The Columbia is the London area Officers' Club, and a very nice one at that. The food is less expensive and paid for with Military Pay Certificates. Most of the troops refer to the Military Pay certificates as "scrip" or "Mickey Mouse Money."

In every American establishment such as clubs, exchanges, and bases this is the only form of money used. At the present time have four kinds of money in my pocket. I have American "greenbacks," English pounds, "scrip," and American Express Travelers Cheques. I have to sit down each night and compute my total cash by adding the value of each of the four before I know how much I have left.

Tour Is Planned

Tomorrow we are going to take a tour of the historic spots of the London area. We will see and get pictures of all the places that I've heard of before. I think that the Strategic Air Command does give the average airman the best chance he can get to see places such as London, Paris, Germany, and many others.

Next week we will go to Paris for a day or so, and I'll write from there next.

—JIM
