Fifth "Join in the Journey" Christian Women's Conference offers food, fellowship, and shopping to attendees Oct. 4

By Kay Ellington The Hesperian-Beacon

For a decade Connie Johnson has thought about the needs of Floyd County women less fortunate than herself. The wife of county commissioner Nathan Johnson and employee at Nick Long State Farm came back from a Christian conference in 2004 that was a fundraiser and was moved to start a similar initiative in Floyd County.

"The first Join in the Journey was in 2006, and we had music and speakers at the Unity Center, and by 2007 the Christian Women's Corps launched," Johnson said.

The Christian Women's Job Corps offers Bible study, parenting classes, nutrition training, GED preparation, childcare, testing and training for job interviews, and meals in two ten-week sessions—one in the spring, one in the fall, according to Johnson.

The coordinators of the Journey October 4 at the CWJC are Rev. Nathan Unity Center. Mulder, and his wife, Kathy.

Mulder is also the minister of the First Baptist Church of Flomot.

After four different Journeys, Johnson has learned what can make the day fun and rewarding for attendees. "We do the Journey every other year," she said. "The event is from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 4. The

On Jan. 29, 1987, 42 concerned citizens gathered to discuss and begin organizing the Lockney Senior Citizens. Earl Minter, Laverne Carthel and Lorene Arterburn were a few of the organizers that spearheaded the drive to establish the organization.

With enough interest shown, a second meeting was held where the first board of directors was named for the group. Laverne and Clementine Carthel, Claude Brown, Merle Wofford, OC and Wynona Allison, CL Henderson, Harley and Edna Workman, Earl Minter, Elmer Swafford, Helen Hodel, Willis Reynolds and Velma Harrison were named to the new board.

Hambright to Participate on Honor Flight

By Charles Keaton The Hesperian-Beacon

Former Floydada resident, Gordon Hambright is looking forward to participating in the South Plains Honor Flight that takes place Oct. 1-3. Hambright's daughter, Treva Wilson will accompany him to Washington D.C. along with other veterans and guardians.

Hambright chose to serve in the Navy from 1951-1955 during the Korean War instead of waiting to be drafted where he could not chose his branch of service.

"I felt my time was nearly up with the draft board," Hambright said, "so I joined the Navv and two weeks later I received my draft notice."

Hambright grew up in the Lakeview community of Floyd County so it was an interesting change of scenery when he was sent to San Diego for basic training.

"It was a culture shock," Hambright said, "when I left Lakeview and arrived in San Diego. It wasn't something a farm boy from Texas was expecting."

Following basic training, Hambright was classified as a Teleman First Class, who serves as a telecommunications clerk that includes handling the radio, billing clerk and postmaster duties. Beginning in 1952, Hambright was stationed on the island of Guam where he served out most of his time. He was responsible for the post office at the naval hospital on

"As billing clerk, I would pick up the mail at the base post office," Hambright said, "then I would distribute it at the hospital. I also sold six cent air mail stamps and took the mail back to the main post office."

During his time on Guam, Hambright said that the most memorable action he had was during a massive typhoon. Because of the size of the typhoon, Hambright recalled, they were restricted to their quonset huts and the concrete radio room for five days.

"We knew it was big and slow moving because we were in the eye for 10 hours, Hambright said.

Hambright said he enjoyed exploring the jungles of Guam where he found huts where various prisoners of war were housed as well as the hiding places of the occupying Japanese during World War 2. According to historians, the last of the Japanese on the island surrendered in

In 1954 after two years on Guam, Hambright left Guam and was assigned to the USS Electra (AKA-4) where he served as postmaster during a resupply mission to the Pribilof Islands in the Bering Sea.

"We experience a lot of fog on that trip," Hambright said, "so my duties were

TO OUR DEAR FRIENDS,

In March of 1989, Danny & Vicki Clark purchased Byrd Pharmacy in Lockney, Texas. It has been a joyous 25 years. We have met and become special friends of so many wonderful people. It has been our pleasure to serve as your pharmacist & family for all these years.

As you know, 2014 has been a year of challenges for the Clark family. Danny's health has prevented him from practicing pharmacy and continuing to do what he has spent his entire professional life doing. He loves pharmacy and all the friends we have been blessed to serve all of these years. It is very difficult to continue with the business as we have for the past eight months. Danny's inability to be productive in the store and continue to be your pharmacist has been quite a strain on him. In order to continue to provide service as we know all of you deserve, we realize that changes need to be made. Through much prayer and soul searching, we have come to the realization that it is time to sell Clark Pharmacy. We are following what we believe to be God's will. He has made so many things evident to us over these past several months. We believe He is guiding us in this direction. We simply must listen to His will. It is quite hard for us to close this chapter of our lives. It is difficult to give up something that we love and to no longer serve our friends in this capacity. We love being a part of your lives and seeing you on a regular basis in our pharmacy. You have touched us in so many ways over the years. Your kindness and concern has been overwhelming through Danny's illness and recovery. We thank you so much for your love and understanding. He's getting better each day. We ask for your continued prayers. We look forward to the many new endeavors we believe God has in store for us.

We are selling Clark Pharmacy to Alisa Peters from Plainview, Texas. She owns Hometown Pharmacy in Plainview and Post. I am certain that she will take care of you, just as we have, for many years to come. Alisa will continue to serve our customers from this location in Lockney. Business should remain very much the same as it is today. She is a good, caring pharmacist and a very kind person. We are anxious for you to meet her and welcome her as the new owner of Clark Pharmacy.

May God Bless You Always. Our prayers will be with you. We love you and loved being able to be a part of your lives for so many years. We have been blessed by each of you!

Danny & Vicki Clark

Buren C. Cates

By Mrs. Lon Davis

My Grandfather J. A. Coins, arrived by train from Lee County, Virginia in January, 1901 with his wife, the former Fannie Hampton, and four children. They were met at the train in Childress by Harv Bowlin who took them to the Sam Rushing home northeast of Floydada to spend the night before moving into a new fourroom house on land five miles north of Floydada. His older brother was an attorney-at-law in Virginia and had traveled west-ward for the purpose of investing in land and had come to purchase the Floyd County land in 1890. Hence, my grandfather was sent to manage the land here and oversee an investment in Roosevelt County, New Mexico. Three children were born in Floyd County; my mother, Lucy Goins; one child was born in Roosevelt County, New Mexico where they lived for a year before returning to Floyd County permanently. J. A. Goins purchased his own land in 1915 five miles east of Lockney and lived there until his retirement in 1927 when he moved to Floydada.

The life in West Texas was hard and how many times my grandmother must have yearned for the gentle rolling hills of Virginia, but if she did, she never mentioned it for she was a woman to accept her destiny without complaint. Even though the six daughters and the two sons worked in the fields and attended rural schools, life was not without entertainment. My uncle who was two years older than my mother was impressed with the "hellfire and damnation" preaching of the early Baptists, and though he failed to recruit his older brother and sisters, he did use his influence to draft his three younger sisters as audience. They were forced to sit through long hours of his preaching, but balked when it came to baptism in the earthen tank, forcing my uncle to baptize all of the unwilling cats and dogs on the place.

My grandfather had an avid interest in politics and was probably the only admitted Republican in the county. Years later when he was in his eighties and one of his grand-children campaigned for a Republican candidate for governor, he made the remark that he was glad to see a descendant with political sense!

Wrestling an existence from the raw Texas Plains and its harsh elements wasn't easy. In his lifetime he saw the transformation of the plains from a buffalo pasture to an agricultural empire.

William D. Cates came to Texas from Tennessee with his wife, who was a Boothe. They lived in Johnson County, Texas and reared their children in a strict Baptist environment. My grandfather, W. A. Cates was a product of this union. He married Belle Looper in Cleburne, Texas and remained in Johnson County where six children were born. Then they moved to Kiowa County, Oklahoma where my father Buren Clifford Cates was born on February 4,1903. My grandfather purchased land in Swisher County and lived there until purchasing land and moving to Floyd County in August, 1919.

W. A. Cates was an autocrat in his home acting as the supreme ruler not subject to restrictions and I was terrified of him probably because I was from the younger set of grandchildren and the novelty of the first born grandchild had long since worn off. My grandmother was a very sweet quiet spoken woman, small in size, but very large in work and taking care of the home and my grandfather who was a

My grandfather was proud of this Baptist Church membership, was a staunch Democrat and could deliver long harangues on both subjects. I remember when his sister, Mrs. Granville Sherrod of Lubbock, a vigorous defender of the Church of Christ faith,, would come to visit and the two of them would spend hours debating theology and politics. How I loved to listen, at a safe distance of course, to these controversial discussions.

My father worked on the farm, attended Floydada High School, and played football under Coach J. C. Wester. He attended Wayland Baptist College in Plainview, married Lucy Goins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Goins, born in Floyd County on March 2,1905 was, like my father, born the seventh child in a family of

After a venture in Plainview of owning a operating a service station and grocery store, my mother and father returned to Floyd County to engage in farming. Their first land purchase was in 1930 and again in 1937 during the Great Depression years when agricultural prices hit an all time low in this country.

The technological advances were employed in the fullest sense by my father. He always used good equipment and I don't remember that my father ever had an idle moment. When the weather did not permit his working in the fields, he would take that time to repair his equipment or with pencil and paper, would plan and study for the next crop. My mother always worked with my father in his farming ventures and everything was accomplished as a team of two. During the long winter evenings, my father allowed himself the pleasure of reading, Zane Grey being one of his favorite authors. Since he had a exceptional mathematical mind, he must have despaired at his only daughter's complete lack of interest in mathematical equations.

My mother and father were true children of the Texas Soil and gathered up their heritage and transmitted it to me, their only heir. It was a stem code of hard work, a belief in God and patriotism to their country which produced these hardy individuals of the Texas Plains.

Seagraves Takes Advantage of Floydada Turnovers in 44-0 Win

By Charles Keaton The Hesperian-Beacon

Seagraves, led by junior running back Cory Kyle, took advantage of six Floydada turnovers to hand the Whirlwinds a 44-0 defeat in their home opener.

Kyle rushed for 246 yards and four touchdowns as the undefeated Eagles racked up 403 total yards all on the ground.

On a cold, rainy night both teams had issues holding on to the football as the Eagles also turned the ball over five times but the difference was the Eagle defense. The Eagles were able to limit the Whirlwinds to only 59 total yards, all on the ground.

The Eagles struck first with 7:54 left in the first quarter as Kyle took the hand-off and plunged into the end zone from six yards out to take a 6-0 lead. Quarterback Tanner Rodriguez found an opening in the Whirlwind defense and raced to a 14-0 lead on a 39 yard run. With 31 seconds left in the half, Kyle found the end zone from nine yards out to make it 20-0 at halftime.

"The key play of the game was our fumble with about two minutes left in the half," head coach Todd Bandy said, "they scored to go up 20-0 at half. If we hold on to the ball, then maybe it's 14-7 or at least 14-0 at half."

Floydada took the second half kick off but the Eagles forced a turnover and with a short field the Eagles quickly scored on a six yard run by Kyle to take a 28-0 lead with 10:54 left in the third quarter. The Eagles forced another and with 8:59 left in the third quarter, Rodriguez ran it in from six yards out to take a 36-0 lead. With 5:13 left in the third quarter, Kyle found an opening and took off on a 65yard touchdown gallop for the final score of the night to bring the score to 44-0.

"The turning point was when we got the opening kick of the second half then turned it over on two straight possessions," Bandy said. "That led to two Seagraves scores on a short field.'

Offensively, the Whirlwinds were 0-5 passing with one interception. Kyi Baker ran for 28 total yards and Sammy Segura rushed for 15 yards. The Whirlwinds carried the ball 30 times for 59 yards rushing which was all the offense for the night. For the Eagles, they did not attempt a pass but ran 48 times for 403 yards led by Kyle's 246 yards and four touchdowns and Rodriguez, who had 75 yards rushing and one touchdown.

Key players for the week include Jessie Segura and Zack Martinez on defense and Juan Mendoza on special teams.

Friday, Sept. 12, the Whirlwinds will host county rival the Lockney Longhorns in the annual battle for the County Championship.

"In order to win this next game, we have to continue to play hard on defense and execute on offense," Bandy said.

Lockney comes into the County Championship game with a 2-0 record following their defeat of Shamrock 34-21. For the Longhorns, Daylen Gatica had 174 yards passing with three touchdowns and 53 yards rushing to lead the Longhorns to victory. Game time is 7:30 p.m. at Wester Field in Floydada.

Band Together

By Destiny Cabello Junior Editor

The return of Justin Ogden to Floydada ISD has resulted in a renewed optimism among band students. Previously and again, Ogden fulfills his role as the director of the Spirit of the Winds band. Just like his students, he is genuinely exhilarated to come back to Floydada High

"Coming back to Floydada was an awesome opportunity and it felt as if I was returning home," said Ogden.

Ogden was familiar with how the band performed in previous years and selected a "spy-themed" marching

"I thought this marching show was interesting. It was really modern and different. Adding something unfamiliar-yet-fun would compliment us nicely," said Ogden.

The band practices daily during the school day and every Monday night. Public performances reflect their hard work and are good preparation for the UIL marching contest on Oct. 18 at Lowry Field in Lubbock, Texas.

"I think our initial performance at the first game was wonderful and the playing reflected that," said Ogden. He is joined this year by assistant band director Rafael Gallastegui.

Squashing the Senioritis Bug

By Tucker Lowrance Staff Writer

Since walking down the main hallway for the first time, students have dreamed about one thing: being a senior. The time is finally here and seniors often feel that this is a period of relaxation. This phenomenon is known as senioritis and it can be trouble.

Seniors this year are tak- Joseph Rosa. ing the initiative to make sure that they don't fall victim to senioritis.

"Some of the things I use to avoid senioritis are staying on track and making sure that I don't fall behind in my classes," said senior Aimee Chavarria, "I make sure that I stay motivated, and don't procrastinate."

Seniors know that in order to make it to graduation, they need to make sure that they stay on top of their schoolwork and don't succumb to senioritis.

"Right now my focus is on graduating and in order to do that I know that I need to be focused on my school work and make sure that senioritis doesn't get to me like it does to many others," said senior

This year, many seniors will come down with senioritis, however some of them are making sure that they nip it in the bud as soon as it rears its ugly head. While it is an exciting time to prepare to move on with the rest of our lives, it is also a time to build and better ourselves – but only if we take advantage of it.

Livestock Producers Urged to Enroll in Disaster Assistance Program by Oct. 1

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2, 2014 - The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) is encouraging producers who have suffered eligible disaster-related losses to act to secure assistance by Sept. 30, 2014, as congressionally mandated payment reductions will take place for producers who have not acted before that date. Livestock producers that have experienced grazing losses since October 2011 and may be eligible for benefits but have not yet contacted their local Farm Service Agency (FSA) office should do so as soon as possible.

The Budget Control Act passed by Congress in 2011 requires USDA to implement reductions of 7.3 percent to the Livestock Forage Disaster Program (LFP) in the new fiscal year, which begins Oct. 1, 2014. However, producers seeking LFP support who have scheduled appointments with their local FSA office before Oct. 1, even if the appointment occurs after Oct.1, will not see reductions in the amount of disaster relief they receive.

USDA is encouraging producers to register, request an appointment or begin a Livestock Forage Disaster Program application with their county FSA office before Oct. 1, 2014, to lock in the current zero percent sequestration rate. As an additional aid to qualified producers applying for LFP, the Farm Service's Agency has developed an online registration that enables farmers and ranchers to put their names on an electronic list before the deadline to avoid reductions in their disaster assistance. This is an alternative to visiting or contacting the county office. To place a name on the Livestock Forage Disaster Program list online, visit http:// www.fsa.usda.gov/disaster-register .

Producers who already contacted the county office and have an appointment scheduled need do nothing more.

"In just four months since disaster assistance enrollments began, we've processed 240,000 applications to help farmers and ranchers who suffered losses," said Agriculture Secretary Tom Vilsack. "Eligible producers who have not yet contacted their local FSA office should stop by or call their local FSA office, or sign up online before Oct. 1 when congressionally mandated payment reductions take effect. This will ensure they receive as much financial assistance as possible."

The Livestock Indemnity Program, the Tree Assistance Program and the Noninsured Disaster Assistance Program Frost Freeze payments will also be cut by 7.3 percent on Oct. 1, 2014. Unlike the Livestock Forage Disaster Program, applications for these programs must be fully completed by Sept. 30. FSA offices will prioritize these applications, but as the full application process can take several days or more to complete, producers are encouraged to begin the application process as soon as possible.

The Livestock Forage Disaster Program compensates eligible livestock producers who suffered grazing losses due to drought or fire between Oct. 1, 2011 and Dec. 31, 2014. Eligible livestock includes alpacas, beef cattle, buffalo, beefalo, dairy cattle, deer, elk, emus, equine, goats, llamas, poultry, reindeer, sheep or swine that have been or would have been grazing the eligible grazing land or pastureland. Producers forced to liquidate their livestock may also be eligible for program benefits.

Additionally, the 2014 Farm Bill eliminated the risk management purchase requirement. Livestock producers are no longer required to purchase coverage under the federal crop insurance program or Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program to be eligible for Livestock Forage Disaster Program assistance.

To learn more about USDA disaster relief program, producers can review the 2014 Farm Bill fact sheet at www.fsa.usda. gov/farmbill, the LFP program fact sheet, http://go.usa.gov/5JTk, or contact their local FSA office.

The Livestock Forage Disaster Program was made possible through the 2014 Farm Bill, which builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past five years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for the taxpayer. Since enactment, USDA has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. For more information, visit www.usda.gov/farmbill.

County commissioners review proposal for upgrading phone and internet system, hear presentation on possible new wind and solar farm

By Kay Ellington The Hesperian-Beacon

Floyd County Commissioners reviewed a proposal from Venture Communications Lubbock to upgrade the county's telephone and internet system in their monthly meeting Monday, Sept. 8.

Szenttornyay, Imre chief operations officer Venture, walked commissioners through a bid that would eliminate residential routers from courthouse and department, and upgrade the county campus internet capacity to 50 mgs.

Szenttornyay noted that the prevalent use of residential routers did not provide the county the security level that it might want to prevent hacking and data theft, but that Venture's proposed new system would implement class and commercial class security.

The proposed cost to the county would be $72,000. Szenttornyay said that Venture had evaluated the county's phone and internet contracts and would save the county ever written any of those enough in costs to pay for itself in 36 months.

Szenttornyay said that proposal Venture the would bring fiber optic wiring to the street level of the courthouse and inside the courthouse and sheriff's department would install Category 6 copper cabling to support the 50 mg pipeline of data. Upgrading to 50 mg would improve upload speeds in county offices by five times and download speeds by 20 times, he said, and noted that $30,000 of the $72,000 estimated cost was for wiring.

The proposal also provides for a public area of internet access separate from the county's secured data which would give the public a wifi hotspot at the county courthouse or sheriff's office.

Commissioner Lindan Morris asked Szenttornyay if Venture was familiar with USDA grant money available to upgrade rural areas to high speed internet. Szenttornyay said he was aware of the funds and that some of their governmental clients had paid them with those feels that the new system funds, but that he had not grants and offered to put the county in touch with someone who had.

In other court activity Jon Burke from Apex Clean Energy spoke to commissioners about a potential new wind and solar energy project that his company was considering east of Floydada.

Farm contracts were approved by the four commissioners with the county judge abstaining.

The court voted to approve keeping sheriff's fees to post a citation for probate at $10 for the upcoming year. The vote was 4-0 because Commissioner Morales had to leave.

Because Morales had to leave his request to sell two vehicles was tabled until the next meeting.

The court voted to approve the installation of a county water line on east side of CR149, north of FM 97, across from CR140, and it also voted to approve the forfeiture asset report. Both votes were 4-0.

The court took no action on infrastructure

Assignment: Texas The Swift Fox - Part 2

The Swift Fox in Texas Three species of fox live in Texas. The most common two are the red fox and the gray fox. The gray fox is found over much of Texas while the red fox (an import to Texas) is found chiefly in the eastern part of the state. Due to their nocturnal nature, both red and gray foxes are seldom seen by the general population.

The swift fox, due to their scarcity in numbers, is seen even less. Historical records indicate that the swift fox was found over most of the western half of Texas from the Rio Grande around Del Rio north up through the Panhandle and in nine other states covering the United States Great Plains. Indiscriminate poisoning aimed at other predators like coyotes and habitat degradation ultimately led to the species' demise.

From the 1986 until the mid 1990's biologist with the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department suspected that the small fox didn't exist any longer in Texas. After a two year investigation into the existence of the species throughout its historical range, biologist Kevin Mote only discovered the fox in two counties of its original range.

Once a candidate for listing as a threatened species by the United State Fish & Wildlife Service (USFWS), the fox was removed from the candidate list in the mid-1990's even though the USFWS thought that inclusion was warranted. The USFWS, instead, threw the swift fox conservation problem back to the states and encouraged each state's wildlife agencies to tackle the problem from a grassroots effort. Now state agencies work with private and public landowners to voluntarily conserve the species wherever they are found.

In Texas, swift fox are generally listed as a fur bearer species and therefore legal to trap. However, the scarcity of the species makes it unlikely most will ever see one in wild. In size, the swift fox is small and not much bigger than a large house cat. Standing about a foot high at the shoulders and just shy of three feet long from nose to tail, swift foxes weigh an average of six pounds. Essentially, males and females are identical in appearance as they are light tan in color with a black tipped tail and black patches on both sides of their muzzle. These black markings make them easy to distinguish from both red and gray foxes.

On the Wednesday morning when I encountered the band of foxes, five of them lay sunning on the side of their burrow. From what I could tell, three of them looked to be juvenile while two were a little bigger - perhaps a male and a female. My snap hypothesis seems reasonable since breeding occurs from around January through March and the young are born in the Males and females, while monogamous through the breeding season, often pair up with different mates from season to season. Each fall, however, the fox establish pair bonds and spend the rest of the fall and winter hunting and denning together until breeding season begins. Once bred, a 51 day gestation period ensues.

A swift fox will give birth to four or five pups in a litter and nurse them until they are six or seven weeks of age. Therefore, about the time I saw the band of foxes lying outside of their burrow, the young trio were probably on the verge of being weaned and leaving the den to fend for themselves and establish territories of their

By this time, the group had a couple of ideas for the location of a Senior Citizens building. OC Allison was chosen president, Laverne Carthel was chosen vice president, Virginia Sissney was chosen as secretary, Hazel Johnson was chosen as treasurer and Dottie Stansell was chosen as publicity director.

In just a few short weeks, the group had held several fund raisers and had received enough donations that in March, they purchased the old Lena Fay Store on West College and began the chore of repairing and renovating it to use as the Center. The purchase price for the building and land was $10,000.

By April, the group had secured over $17,000 in donations and was beginning the repairs to the building. In early May, the group had over $27,000 in donations and 140 mem-

Throughout the summer, the group continues to hold various fund raisers including suppers, raffles and garage sales as they worked to add bathrooms, a paved parking lot and kitchen space into the building. Many volunteers spent countless hours working to make the building usable as a place to have a meal or gather and visit with friends.

In September, the group had over $42,000 in donations and other funds and announced a grand opening and open house for Oct. 11. As of the grand opening, the group had 188 members who paid a $10 annual fee to be a member of the Senior Citizens Center. Then Mayor Dan Smith cut the ribbon on the grand opening and over 200 people came to the opening to see the new Senior Citizens Center.

Today, as in 1987, the Center operates debt-free thanks to donations, fund raisers and annual dues. Renee Armstrong, Center Director, provides a hot noon meal Monday through Friday and has an all-you-can eat fish fry every Friday evening.

This Sunday, Sept. 14, the Lockney Senior Citizens Center will host it's annual barbeque lunch fund raiser from 11:30 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. Armstrong plans to serve pulled pork, ribs and sausage as well as all the trimmings and des-

The Lockney Senior Citizens Center provides a gathering spot for local seniors as well as a place for community events. Currently the Lockney Rotary Club meets on Fridays at noon and the seniors have a pot-luck dinner each Thursday night along with cards and dominoes. For the past two years, the Center has also allowed Floyd County 4-H to host a fund raiser in support of the South Plains Honor Flight. The Center is available for various kinds of gatherings by contacting Armstrong at 806-652-2745.

According to Johnson, "This year we are pleased to have as our speaker, Atha Sue from right here in Floydada. With her beautiful quilts, she will show us how God pieces our lives together one square at a time. Janee Harrison from Plainview will be speaking along with more information about the Floyd County Christian Women's Job Corps."

Sherman and Tammy Aten will provide praise music. Plus, there will be food, door prizes, gift bags and shopping. Schott's Catering, a local firm, will be handling the lunch.

"A very powerful feature of the Journey," Johnson said, "is the prayer room. Men come in and pray for the group all day long."

This year's silent auction will be a little different as donated items such as handmade quilts and Kenneth Wyatt and Jill Warren prints have been placed throughout the community at First National Bank of Floydada, Happy State Bank, Prosperity Bank, Heart's Desire in Lockney, and Nick Long State Farm. Floyd County residents can bid on the silent auction items now as they are out and about.

Join in the Journey proceeds go for the Floyd County Christian Women's Job Corps New Options for Women. The conference will be from 10:00a.m. to 3:00 p.m., and the tickets are $20 (includes lunch). For more information, call Connie Johnson at 806-983-3441 or Karen Houchin at 806-983-5556.

Above: In late January of 1987, 42 people began the discussion of forming a senior citizens organization and less than nine months later, the organization had formed, bought a building, and renovated the building and grown to 188 members. Right: Numerous volunteers worked throughout most of 1987 to prepare the old Lena Fay Store to become the home for the new Lockney Senior Citizens organization.
