Protestant Mission Set March 4 To 8

The Reese Protestant Preaching Mission will be conducted from March 4 through 8 with Dr. Harold G. Basden, pastor of the Gaston Avenue Baptist Church in Dallas, as missionary.

The Sunday morning service will be at 11 a.m. and services each evening at 7:30 p.m. in the base chapel. Special music will be offered and choirs from Lubbock churches are expected to assist.

Dr. Basden is considered one of the outstanding pastors of Texas. He was born in Memphis, Tenn., and grew up there. He received his education in Mississippi College, getting his bachelor of arts degree from that school in 1939. In 1946 he earned a master's degree in theology from Southwestern Seminary and in 1949 he was awarded his doctorate from the same school in Fort Worth.

The doctor is a trustee of Baylor University and is serving on the executive board of the Baptist General Conventions of Texas. He is a member of the Southern Baptist Radio and TV Commission and of the Program Coordinating Committee of the General Convention of Texas. He is married and has two children.

Dr. Basden is a personal friend of Chaplain (Lt. Col.) James D. Taylor and was a classmate in seminary.

All Reese people are invited to the mission services.

More than 1,800 SAC crew members have given their lives to deter aggression.

Seven Proposals For Management Changes Approved

Awards for seven management improvement suggestions have been given military and civilian suggestors at Reese Air Force Base. Some proposals have been forwarded to higher headquarters for consideration of use at other bases.

A $15 award went to SSgt. James L. Pryor for a suggestion on use of an aircraft template which is expected to save $200 a year in manhours and material on the base.

MSgt. Bernard B. Sotola suggested a control surface storage rack, an improved storage facility to protect aircraft control surfaces. A three-day pass and letter of appreciation have been awarded and the suggestion has been sent to higher headquarters.

A suggestion certificate went to Billy D. Turner for a proposal on an engine hoist bumper which prevents damage to aircraft. A certificate went to LaVada Paul for a suggestion to improve building security. Another went to William Averett for a suggestion on electrical terminal protection, an improved safety device.

Charles W. Smith and Nathan C. Mosley received $15 each. Smith suggested better handling of a technical order from which brings annual saving of $180 in manhours to the base. Mosely proposed a dummy pilot rescue stand which saves $300 a year in materials. Both suggestions were forwarded to higher headquarters.

Art Collection Exhibit Closing

Reese Art Originals and Worldwide Collectors' Items Exhibit at West Texas Museum, on the circle, Texas Tech campus, will be viewed for the last time Sunday, Feb. 25.

Art critics have termed the show one of the best ever exhibited at the museum. The items have been gathered in many lands by Reese personnel on assignment. Included in the show are original oil paintings, handcarved wood and metal work in copper, brass, rugs and tapestries as well as rare vases. Ivory jewelry from Hong Kong and Japan has been one of the highlights.

Reese Captains Nominated To Be Air Force Regulars

Five Reese captains, John E. Tynan, Marvin G. Ouren, Jr., William K. Richardson, Charles W. Bainum and Lawrence O. Prestjohn, have been notified of nomination to become officers in the regular Air Force. They have been approved by the President and their names will go to the U. S. Senate for confirmation.

The notification cited that for Fiscal Year 1962, 20,289 captains were considered in the regular augmentation program and 13,343 of those were college men and 6,949 were non-college officers. Of the 7,029 officers selected at regulars, 6,630, or 94.3 per cent, were college men and 399, or 5.7 per cent, were non-college men but possessed outstanding records which indicated excellent officer potential.

The notification said that selections reflected the strong emphasis given to college educations and that officers without degrees should be encouraged to secure them in order to enhance their chances of advancement.

All five of the Reese captains nominated for regular status are college graduates.

Captain Tynan, fuel supply officer, has been at Reese two years and has been in service 13 years. A 1951 graduate of Northwestern University, he has been stationed in England, the Philippines and Korea, as well as in the United States.

Captain Ouren, flight commander, has been at Reese three years and served in Korea and Japan. He is a 1951 graduate of the University of Minnesota.

Captain Richardson, Officer Club secretary, is a 1953 graduate of Indiana University and has served as adjutant of the Air Base Group and wing during his four years here.

Captain Bainum, graduate of East Texas State College, is an instructor pilot who has been in service since 1955. He is from Friona, Tex.

Captain Prestjohn, aeronautical engineering graduate of Iowa State College, has been in service 10 years. He is an instructor pilot, recently assigned here.

HOUSING REQUESTED

AFNS—A bill is before the Congress calling for construction of 6,773 on-base family housing units at 26 USAF installations in the United States during Fiscal Year 1963. In ATC 200 units would go up at Mather AFB, 200 at Lowry and 190 at Chanute. The Department of Defense is requesting $1.6 billion to finance the total bill.

New XBX Fitness Program Started

The new XBX physical fitness plan for women went into use at the Mathis Service Club this week. It is similar in objective to the 5BX program in effect throughout Air Training Command for all military personnel.

The program for women is mapped to provide proper exercises which will benefit all participants. During March, a period at 9:45 a.m. Monday and Wednesday will be offered for group exercise at the service club.

"Physical fitness for women does not mean bulging muscles, nor is it the exclusive property of men," said Mrs. Betty Jane Wright, club director. "It has been proven that physical fitness has a positive effect on mental fitness. It does enhance and improve such desirable qualities as vitality, appearance and personality."

tains Charles Bainum, John Tynan, Marvin Ouren, Lawrence Prestjohn and William Richardson.

From The COMMANDER'S DESK

By Colonel L. C. Hess, Wing Commander

We at Reese were thrilled along with the rest of the nation Tuesday as Lt. Col. Glenn traveled on his historic ride through space. The orbital shot was a climactic moment in America's scientific efforts toward space exploration.

Aside from the spectacular aspect of the flight, the most striking fact concerning the endeavor, I feel, was the tremendous amount of teamwork performed to accomplish the mission successfully. Thousands of individuals worked together magnificently in an intra-agency and intra-service operation never before seen.

This teamwork was absolutely essential, since it is the primary element necessary in any organized effort toward achieving a specific purpose. The same is true of our operation at Reese. Without the cooperation and teamwork of everyone throughout the entire Wing and associate units, we could not meet our objectives in the same fine manner that we have in the past.

I am confident that even more honors will come to Reese in the future because of the outstanding team effort put forth by all members of this organization.

'We' Are The Nation

Remember when we first studied the Constitution of the United States in grade school? Most of us had to memorize the "Preamble to the Constitution." We didn't know the difference between a preamble and perambulator at the time, but we were struck by the opening words:

"We, the people of the United States . . ."

Perhaps that was the first time we realized that we, as individuals, were an important part of America. We studied and recognized the greatness of certain men and women who saw the promises of America and who dedicated their lives to the welfare of their nation. At the same time, we had a growing consciousness that great leaders by themselves cannot build a nation. They must be supported by other great people; not other "famous" people, to be sure, but great people nonetheless. That's where "We, the People of the United States" came to have meaning for us.

As we grow older we sometimes lose sight of the importance of the individual. How often do we see something wrong in social, economic and political areas and find ourselves saying, "Why don't they do something about that?"

Who are they? The right phrase to use is, "Why don't we do something about that?"

Representative democracy begins with individuals — with us. It works outwardly from there — to our families, our communities, our nation.

We, the people, are guaranteed by Article I of the Bill of Rights the free exercise of speech, of peaceable assembly, of petitioning the government for a redress of grievances. We can and should do many things for ourselves. We, the people, are the United States!

Toastmasters Educate

The Space Age has placed more emphasis on the need for education. Recently, we in the military have learned that education plays a vital role in our promotion and personnel selection system. The big question that concerns most of us is, how can we acquire more education without interfering with our present duties?

In answer to this question, I have found the Toastmasters Club satisfies one of the most important educational requirements and that is the art of communication. Education is the Toastmasters Club's business apart from the formal classroom and standard academic procedure. It is a voluntary association of men who desire to gain facility in the art of communication.

The Reese Officers Toastmasters Club offers the opportunity for any officer to join in with those who have made an attempt to gain more education. Most of our members come into the club to achieve some definite purpose. Their purpose may be to learn to speak in public, to overcome fear, to gain skill in conducting a meeting, or to improve their overall effectiveness in the Air Force. Furthermore, our members learn by doing and without the fear of failure. It is our obligation to help each member adopt the best purpose, and then work to accomplish it.

Since the Officers Toastmasters Club provides an avenue to more education, I invite all officers to attend our meetings that are held at 8 p.m. each Thursday in the Officers Club.

When discussing the art of speech training, I like the way Orison S. Marden phrased his conception of speech training, when he wrote:

"The ability to talk well is to a man what cutting and polishing are to the tough diamond. The grinding does not add anything to the diamond. It merely reveals its wealth."

Chaplain Decries Hasty Marriages, Quick Divorces

By Chaplain Leo E. Pesek

Nowadays the state of marriage is degraded by many people. They enter into marriage hastily, with little thought of its sacred dignity, and with small regard for its obligations. After a few years they tire of each other, obtain a divorce and remarry.

Even if they do not obtain a divorce they try to rid themselves of the burdens of the married state, and selfishly refuse to live up to the obligation of this state, as God has established it. That is the reason for unhappiness in many homes, even among those who possess sufficient material prosperity to give them the comforts and luxuries of life.

To avoid this kind of marriage, anyone contemplating marriage should think long and seriously on its obligations.

CHANGE OF COMMAND—Undergraduate Pilot Training students in Class 63-A move from the T-37 to T-33 phase in a change of command. Students on the left salute as Capt. Charles Penola, Flight 7 commander, gives command to Capt. John O'Shant, commander of Flight 8. Looking on are Lt. Casimir Myslinski, 3500th PTS commander; Maj. George Adams, squadron operations officer; and Captains Richard Watson and James Shankles, assistant operations officers.

T-33 Training Phase Gains Speed In Full UPT Program

Members of Class 63-A have moved swiftly into the T-33 phase of undergraduate pilot training at Reese as the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron has begun the complete UPT program. The squadron has four classes in training and that will be the number from now on.

The class moved from the T-37 phase of training to the T-33 in formal ceremonies Jan. 31 as six months of T-37 training in Flight 7 came to an end and about the same length of training in T-33's started. Captain Charles R. Penola, Flight 7 commander, transferred command of the class to Flight 8 commander, Capt. John W. O'Shant.

Supervising the ceremonies was Lt., Col. Casimir J. Myslinski, 3500th PTS commander. Observing were Maj. George R. Adams, squadron operations officer; Capt. Richard K. Watson, assistant operations officer for T-33's; and Capt. James M. Shankles, assistant operations officer for T-37's.

The UPT course has replaced the former basic flying school concept, which faded out about a year ago. The change started with Class 62-B, which came to Reese after completion of only part of the flying training at primary pilot training school at civilian contract bases.

Class 62-B started training Jan. 9, 1961, after Air Force leaders decided to consolidate all three phases of pilot training at one base to aid the trainee and to give the instructor better opportunity.

Under the former concept, the trainee spent six weeks in pre-flight, six months in primary pilot training at a second base and six months in basic pilot training at a third base. At present the trainee goes to one base and stays there until he becomes a rated pilot at the end of 13 months of training, provided he completes the course.

"... YOU MEAN THEY'RE GIVING ME TAX MONEY!"

A sick pay exclusion can be just like money in your pocket when it comes to federal income tax. What this amounts to is, if you are sick during the tax year and were either hospitalized or ill for more than seven days, you may be eligible for this benefit.

If the above conditions were met and you were on active duty you may be eligible for this tax-free income. You will need forms signed by your doctor and the finance office as well as the federal form which must be completed. Consult your legal office for any answers to any questions on taxes you may have!

"... WHATTA YA MEAN I OWE STATE INCOME TAX!"

You may have State income tax liability without knowing it! Being in service does not remove the applicability of this tax to you. If your home state has such a tax, you must pay it, subject to any exemption for service personnel it may give.

Even if your home state does not have income tax, you still may have to pay it to another state. A part-time job, after duty hours in a state which imposes such a tax, will probably make you liable. Failure to pay the tax could mean "big trouble." Check with your legal office for all the answers!

Perrin Accountant Wins Slogan Cash

Erline H. Rogers, an accounting technician of the Perrin AFB finance office, has been named the latest winner in Air Training Command's "Janie Dollar Slogan Contest." This makes two weeks in a row that a Perrin AFB contestant has submitted the $10 winning entry.

Erline Rogers' jingle reads:

You take tools home ferr personal use;
Janie's elf mourns yerr thrift abuse.
It proves yer frugal ways are lax,
Because 'tis you who pays the tax.

Perrin AFB is the only triple contest winner. Moody AFB boasts two winning quips, while James Connally AFB, Randolph AFB, Sheppard AFB, Stead AFB, Lackland AFB and Keesler AFB each have one contest winner.

For those who haven't heard about ATC's "Janie Dollar Slogan Contest," the program promotes Air Force-wide Project Money Tree with thrift jingles which encourage military and civilian personnel to practice economy and "stretch" the Air Force dollar.

All Janie Dollar slogan entries should be written with a bit of Scottish brogue and limited to 25 words. Entries should be sent to your base Office of Information, who will forward them to Command headquarters for judging.

Youth Activities Program Proves Success Here

Vigorous programs intended to benefit Reese boys and girls of various ages are continuing here through combined efforts of many leaders, Leonard Maranto, youth director, stressed this week. Most of the programs are on a year-around basis, with special activities carried out during summer months.

Listed among activities on Maranto's records are teen clubs, boys' physical education classes, basketball, trampoline classes, Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Air Explorer Scouts, Girl Scouts, Sparky fire club, children's matinee, Protestant Youth of the Chapel, dancing classes, Easter egg hunt and summer activities.

Directing all activities is the Youth Council, composed of representatives of many organizations and headed by Lt. Col. Casimir Myslinski.

All dependents in the seventh and eighth grades are eligible for membership in the Junior Teen Club and boys and girls in the ninth through twelfth years of school may join the Senior Teen Club. Each club has weekly activities of business and social nature, including dances, roller skating, ice skating, bowling, picnics, miniature golf and swimming. Mrs. J. L. Johnson is chairman of the Teen Club Advisory Council and AIC Ted Decker is recreation leader of the clubs.

The boys' physical education classes are divided into two age groups, 6 to 11 and 12 to 18. They meet each Saturday for instruction by Airman Joseph Baker. The younger class is working on formalized calisthenics, tumbling, stunts, pyramids, games and relays. Tentatively selected for a public demonstration is April 28. Each child who participates in the demonstration and successfully passes the class period will receive a certificate.

The older boys are working for a similar demonstration and plan to exhibit a few judo and karate techniques and precision drill. Both classes end April 28.

Two teams, including 35 dependent boys, have been participating in YMCA-sponsored basketball leagues in Lubbock. The Reese Senior team, coached by 1st Lt. Art Draut, completed the season with a 4 win - 3 loss record to place fourth in the league. The junior High team, coached by AIC Walter Simboli, is still competing and is in third place on a 4-2 record.

Lessons for boys and girls of all ages are given in the trampoline classes Saturday afternoons in the gymnasium, with Lt. Draut as instructor.

Cub Scouts are in Pack 548 and are from 8 to 11 years of age. About 35 boys meet weekly in five dens and one meeting monthly includes parents. Captain Floyd Longwell is Cubmaster.

The wing-sponsored Boy Scout Troop 548 has 45 boys meeting weekly, with SSgt. George Williams as Scoutmaster.

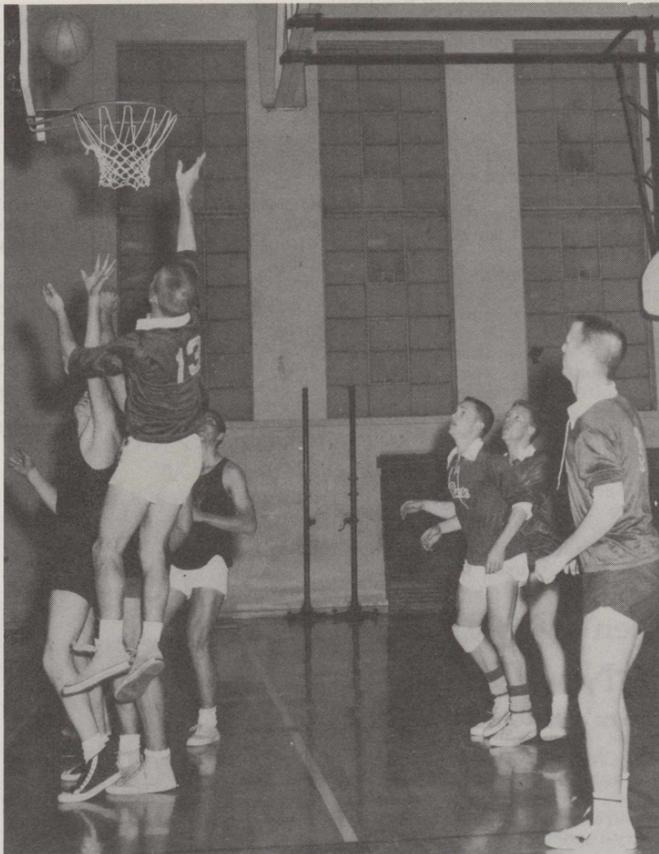

Explorer Scouts Squadron 548 is for boys 15 to 18 years of age. It meets weekly with Lt. Col. Dwain Rockie as leader.

Mrs. Walter Malin is neighborhood chairman for the Girl Scouts, in six troops on the base. About 100 Girl Scouts from 6 to 15 years of age participate.

The Sparky Fire Club is for prevention of fires in the home. About 100 members from 6 to 10 years of age are active and meet monthly under direction of Truett S. Cranford, fire chief.

All children may attend the children's matinee each Saturday in the base theater.

Chaplain Jerry L. Rice supervises the Protestant Youth of the Chapel which meets each Sun-

TWO MORE POINTS—Alan Johnson goes high to flip in another basket and two points for the Senior High team in YMCA basketball competition. Phil Johnson, Vic Correll and Byron Sawyer are ready to aid on a rebound.

TRAINING—Reese dependent boys halt regular weekly exercise in the base gym to pose for the camera. They are participating in the vigorous youth fitness program here.

day evening for worship and social activities.

Professional dance instruction is given every Monday and Wednesday nights in Building 641, with Mitzi Mabus as instructor.

The annual Easter egg hunt for children from 1 to 12 years brings youngsters from far and wide to hunt for about 4,000 candy eggs which are searched for in efforts to win prizes.

The Youth Council is mapping a summer program which will include arts and crafts, girls' physical education classes, Little League baseball, Pony League baseball, softball, Junior Rifle club, Library Book club, Slim-nastics, swimming lessons, tennis lessons, golf lessons, vacation Bible school, a Girl Scout day camp, and a summer playground program.

"Reese is doing everything possible to carry out the President's Youth Fitness Program and the Air Force programs to assist dependents," said Maranto.
