Precision Fliers Perform Thursday

Varied Maneuvers Planned For Reese Demonstration

Reese personnel and visitors from the South Plains will see The Thunderbirds, the Air Force aerobatic flying team, in a demonstration of precision flying maneuvers in their supersonic jets next Thursday.

The performance is scheduled to start at 4 p.m. over the Reese flight line. It will run about 25 minutes. Base people will be released from duty at 3:45 p.m. to witness the demonstration.

Maneuvers performed by the precision fliers include slow rolls, loops clover-leaf turns, tight 360-degree turns, and the famous "bomb burst." Four of the F-100s maneuver in a tight diamond formation and one performs solo.

The red, white, and blue supersonic Super Sabres will fly at speeds up to 750 miles an hour. All executions are at low altitude and within a mile of the audience. Smoke trails also help outline various moves.

The Thunderbirds were organized in 1953 to demonstrate to the public skill and ability of pilots and aircraft.

They have performed before more than 21 million people in the United States, Canada, Central America, and South America.

Persons who have seen The Thunderbirds declare their show is the most colorful and inspiring possible.

Golf Course Water Not For Drinking

Renewed suggestion was made this week that persons on the Reese golf course refrain from drinking water from the sprinkler system.

It was pointed out that water used for irrigation through sprinklers is not drinkable, since it comes from Lake Imhoff and has not been purified. Persons visiting the picnic area also are being advised that the same water is used and should not be consumed from outlets there.

A sign pointing out the situation is being put up. A drinking fountain with purified water is located on Green No. 1 for golfers. Parents are being urged to advise children not to drink the sprinkler water while playing on or near the golf course.

OFFICER SPEAKS

First Lt. James K. McPherson, military training instructor, will address seniors of the Shallowater High School tonight at the annual Senior Graduation banquet. He plans to discuss what the future holds for graduates.

AUDITOR RESIGNS

Robert E. Medlar, resident auditor at Reese since November, 1950, has resigned to enter private business. He will leave April 8.

Six Students Win Honors In Graduation

Thirty-two new pilots were added to the Air Force this morning in graduation of Class 60-F in the base theater. The exercise followed a wing and aerial review.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of the Citizens National Bank of Lubbock and former president of Texas Tech, was the speaker. He was presented by Col. L. C. Hess, base commander.

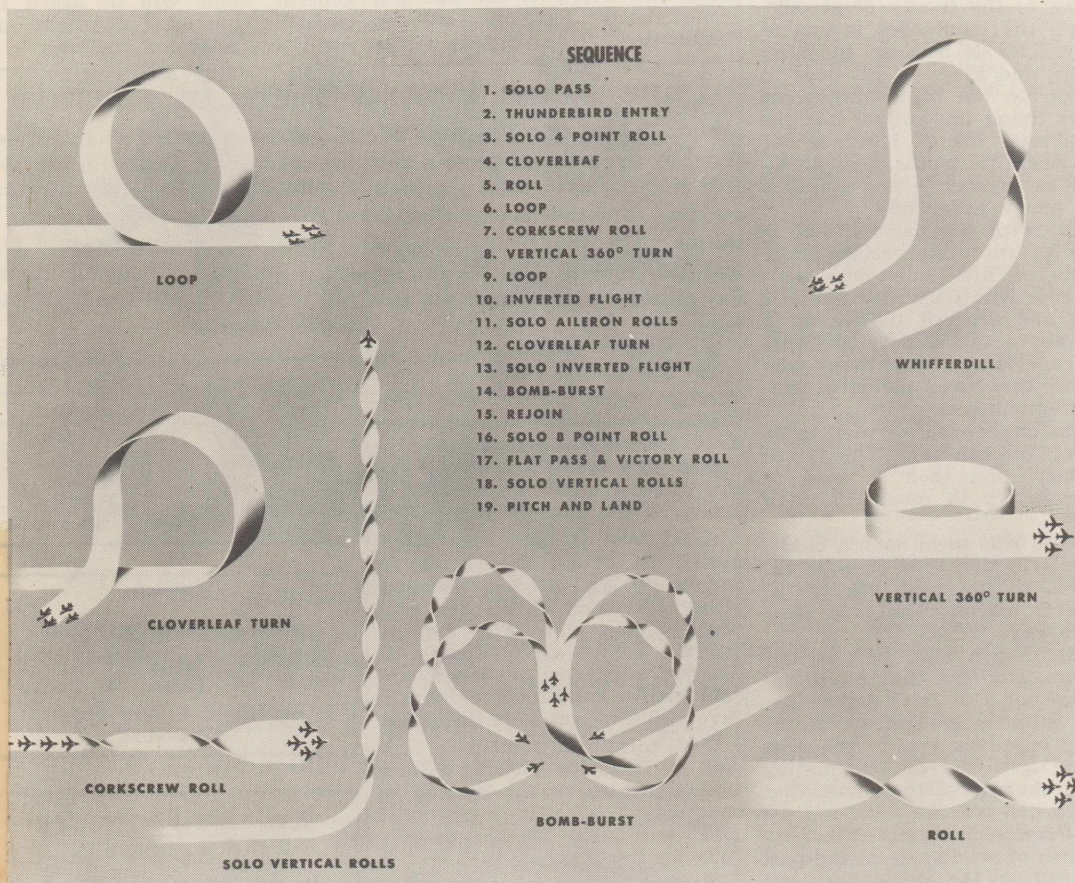

Colonel Hess awarded the Commander's Trophy to 2nd Lt. Martin V. Case, Jr., of Delray Beach, Fla., who has been in service three and a half years and is a former tow reel specialist. He ranked highest among the 31 former aviation cadets in all phases of training at all levels.

Also distinguished graduates were 2nd Lts. Jerome A. Baak of Palisades, Calif., former meteorological major at the University of California; Delbert C. Butler, of Kuna, Idaho, former engineering major at Boise Junior College; Jimmie D. James of Sacramento, Calif., former aeronautical engineering major at Sacramento Junior College; Eugene F. Lavarello of Newburgh, N. Y., former student of the New York State Maritime College; and Raymond F. Sawtelle, Jr., of Waterbury, Vt.

Distinguished graduates received certificates from Lt. Col. Charles W. Sawyer, Pilot Training Group Commander. Wings and diplomas were awarded by Colonel Hess and 1st Lt. Valden L. Robertson, military training instructor, administered the oath of office to former aviation cadets.

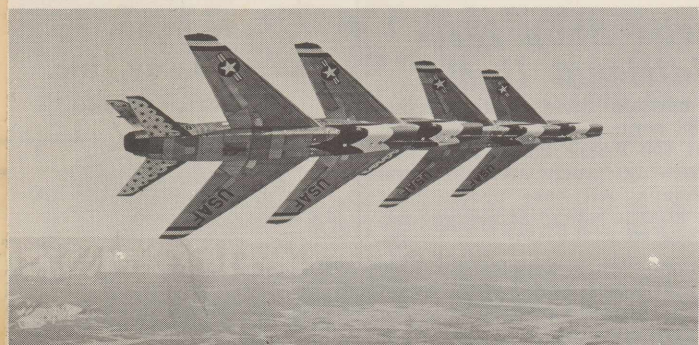

Lieutenant Col. Charles M. Lyons was master of ceremonies and Chaplain Henry C. Bielski gave the invocation and benediction.

Instructors of graduates included Maj. Conrad C. Johnson and Joe Setnor, Capt. Marvin G. Ouren, Jr., James R. Singleton, and Jimmy L. Wood, and 1st Lts. Charles R. Penola, Antonio Lopez, James E. Ward, Gerald J. Hannah, Roger W. Shaw, Nelson J. Sprague, Bill E. Maycomber, Kenneth A. Hartle, George K. Mellott, William H. Black, David H. Reiner, Wells G. Carswell, and Franklin C. Varley.

Medal Awarded For T-33 'Save' By Reese Pilot

First Lt. Vernie R. Pointon, Reese instructor pilot, was awarded the Air Force Commendation Medal at the wing review accompanying the graduation of Class 60-F this morning. Presentation was by Col. L. C. Hess, wing commander, with Maj. John W. Arnette, wing adjutant, reading the citation.

The lieutenant "distinguished himself by meritorious achievement" last Oct. 8 when he brought in a T-33, despite a flameout.

"Lieutenant Pointon was instructor pilot in a T-33 type aircraft on a hooded instrument mission. Shortly after takeoff at 600 feet altitude and airspeed of 160 knots, engine vibration was noted, followed by a flameout. Lieutenant Pointon turned toward the field, jettisoned tip tanks, and directed student to raise the hood.

"Other aircraft were too close to active runway for a safe landing. However, Lieutenant Pointon observed that the runway under construction was free of men and equipment and elected to land there.

"At approximately 100 feet of altitude, he lowered gear, flaps, speed brakes, and landed downwind with about 3,400 feet of runway remaining. As soon as brakes were applied the left main tire blew out. Aircraft was controlled to a safe stop with no injury to personnel.

"By courageous and decisive actions in time of emergency, Lieutenant Pointon reflected great credit upon himself and the United States Air Force."

DOGS IMPOUNDED

Stress was laid this week on the base regulation controlling pets. Dogs and cats not on leash or not penned on the base will be picked up and impounded by the Air Police, kept for three days, and if not claimed, will be disposed of.

Higher Proficiency Pay Due

Possible higher proficiency pay for specialists at Reese and other Air Force bases loomed this week. Reese has 13 men on proficiency pay.

Almost two years after it was authorized as part of the Military Pay Act of 1958, the Department of Defense has opened the door to the second category of enlisted proficiency pay, P-2, which will pay an extra $60 per month to some 6,508 Air Force specialists in Fiscal Year 1961.

In a policy guidance statement issued by Charles C. Finucane, Assistant Secretary of Defense for Manpower, Personnel, and Reserves, approval has been given to develop plans for awarding 10,000 P-2 ratings in FY 1961,

Military departments are authorized to double the number of P-2 payments if they elect to match the increase by reducing the number of new P-1 payments originally scheduled for the year. Taking advantage of this "doubling up" provision headquarters spokesmen said they will award the maximum number of P-2s, 6,508.

The Department of Defense announcement said "in order to receive this higher rate of incentive pay, the specialist — in addition to other requirements — must have been in receipt of a lower P-1 rate for at least six months."

Latest figures show about 42,600 airmen drawing P-1 in 112 AFSCs.

Promotions Three Times Yearly Due

Beginning in October all promotions at Reese and elsewhere to airman second class through staff sergeant will be three times a year, instead of quarterly. Details are in a regulation on the press.

Promotion dates are Feb. 1, June 1, and Oct. 1.

Not effected are promotions to technical sergeant through chief master sergeant, which will continue to be made in June and December. Selections for the supergrades, E-8 and E-9, however, will be made only once a year, in late fall, with actual chevron change in two semi-annual increments.

Revision in promotion cycles, while reducing the number of chances for consideration, is expected to increase chance for selection because quotas offered will be greater, USAF headquarters planners said.

Indications are promotions in the next fiscal year may be slightly more than this year.

Wives Learn of Training Operations

A first-hand insight into operations of the 3500th Pilot Training Group was given Reese officers wives Wednesday in another session of the Wives Orientation Program.

A briefing on group strength, policies, actions, student load, experience, and assignments was given at the base theater by Lt. Col. Charles M. Lyons, group executive officer.

Then the wives visited the academics section, where they toured classrooms and were briefed on activities by Maj. Foley Collins, academic director. In the military training section briefing was given by Maj. Roland E. Lane, director, and then a visit was made to the Cadet Club to learn of facilities.

Operation of the cadet barracks was explained on a visit to a barracks and the tour concluded in the 3501st Pilot Training Squadron operations building. Major Richard Condrick, squadron commander, briefed their wives on flying training activities and flight commanders discussed their work. Light refreshments were served in the snack bar.

The tours, each Wednesday, are intended to show the wives details of base operation in order to make their stronger links in the program.

From the

COMMANDER'S DESK

Traditions and customs have long been associated with the military. Although the Air Force is a young Service it has adopted many traditions and customs from other Services. One of these is the salute.

The origin of the salute is not known; however it is known to have been used by knights during the age of chivalry as a gesture of recognition, friendship, and confidence. It is still used universally in one form or another by military components of all nations and its meaning is still the same — recognition — friendship — confidence.

Failure to render the salute or the execution in a half-hearted lackadaisical manner is an act of discourtesy. We should be proud to exercise this time-honored tradition which has been passed down to us through the ages. It should always be rendered with pride and confidence.

Let's make a snappy smart salute one of the trademarks of Reese Air Force Base.

Polaris Most Important

In an article of major importance in a recent AIR FORCE Magazine the Chief of Staff discussed "Air Force Progress Toward The Future." Among many important points, the article presented the Air Force position regarding the Polaris IRBM.

"To set the public record straight," wrote Gen. Thomas D. White, "there has never at any time been an attempt on the part of the Air Force to take this weapon away from the Navy. We are not submarines. The Air Force has been assigned the primary responsibility for the strategic air offense of our Nation and has been responsible for bringing it to its present highly advanced state. It should be obvious that a strategic offensive effort may well lose much of its effectiveness if it is not closely controlled and directed. It is in this light that the Air Force has proposed to combine all strategic forces — no matter what the parent Service may be — into a single strategic command, answerable to and directed by the Secretary of Defense through the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"This concept, in my opinion, is not a radical departure from any other of the unified commands within the Department of Defense. In fact, I consider the Air Force proposal directly in line with the spirit and intent of the Defense Reorganization Act of 1958 — its sole purpose would be to guarantee the most effective strategic offense possible."

Hazard Fought

Reese officials have taken steps to halt another safety hazard. The hazard has developed as workmen come to work in the morning and leave at night. Too many people are getting in and out of automobiles on the traffic side of the cars and dangers of someone getting hit have risen.

The Ground Safety Council has taken note of the hazards and has moved to bring an end to them. Too many people, it appears, are rushing across streets in the evening to get into autos which will carry them home. Too many people in the morning are getting out of cars into traffic moving along to other areas.

It sometimes is difficult for drivers to have a clear view of conditions, especially in the weather which has been present part of the time lately. It would be relatively easy for people to get hit as they move into traffic on foot.

Reese people are urged to get out of cars on the auto side away from traffic and to use more caution in "bucking" traffic. No one wants to get hurt or see anyone else suffer injury.

The Roundup

A SELECTION BOARD to select Regular Air Force lieutenant colonels will meet in May in Washington. About five days will be required and those selected will be notified about three weeks after the board finishes its work.

THE AIRMAN MAGAZINE for March discusses the Air Force in Latin America, nuclear safety devices, the airman career program, and other important matters.

FIRST TERM AIRMEN going into the career force for FY 1961 will total 21,000 as a result of the 55-45 retention program, USAF says. It is estimated 22,600 will seek to reenlist. Quotas are due soon. Some first termers permitted to re-up will be retrained. Quicker promotions are expected to result for those retrained.

REESE PEOPLE this week were urged to give close reading to TIG Briefs which contain discussion and Air Force policy on many phases of service operation.

FINAL JOB — George Howton, graphic arts supervisor, works on his last job here. He's putting final touches on a drawing of the base golf course which will be prominently displayed in the clubhouse. Howton is going to the 12th Air Force.

Rhymes of the Times

Right Living Man Finds All Things Possible In God

By Chaplain George J. Worner "WHAT'S POSSIBLE?"

There is a sign in a General Motors plant that reads: "According to the theory of aerodynamics, the bumblebee is unable to fly. This is because the size, weight, and shape of his body in relation to the total wingspread makes flying impossible. But the bumblebee, being ignorant of these scientific truths, goes ahead and flies anyway — and makes a little honey every day."

Man, with his calculations, is ready to rule out certain basic aspects of life. However, there are those who trust God and His Word and proceed to live on a level above the anxiety and turmoil experienced by so many who live on the lower plains of material emphasis.

Jesus challenged all men to be perfect. We can say, "This is impossible," and then proceed to not even try to meet His challenge.

Those who meet such a challenge will find it is possible to approach the good life by a faithful attempt daily to live God's way.

With God a vital part of our life, we will find that all things are possible. Our faith determines to a great degree how full or empty our lives are. In the area of the spiritual, the calculating mind robs one of the riches that come when we live with a trust in a Provident Loving Father.

Words of wisdom from the past tell us that the world hath not seen the tremendous results that could come from a life wholly yielded to the will of God. Really great things are possible for anyone and through anyone who will trust God and walk in faith.

Major Lewis J. Britain and Capt. Robert F. Ehrhardt of base supply have been named outstanding in the Air Force new "categorization" program. They will be issued special identification cards and will have the identification "A" for this calendar year. This qualifies them for possible assignment as supply managers of higher category supply accounts and other critical supply positions. Also named outstanding was Maj. Edward Kubin, former Reese supply officer.

Stadium Drive Plans Laid

Final plans are being perfected this week for Reese's part in the Air Force Academy Foundation campaign to raise 3½ million dollars for an Academy stadium.

Major Richard Condrick has been named project chairman and other key workers will assist in seeing that everyone on the base has opportunity to contribute. Throughout the Air Force, the campaign will cover 30 days, starting April 15.

Plans call for a 40,000-seat stadium to be ready for use during the 1962 football season.

The Air Force Academy, youngest football power of the nation, has no sports palace or access to one, Major Condrick pointed out. "Most college level schools impress themselves on the national scene slowly, year-by-year," he commented. "Not the Air Force Academy. It has arrived in three years.

"The Academy does not have a stadium, it does not have a sizable alumni to finance such a structure. Federal money cannot be appropriated for a stadium."

The Secretary of the Air Force, the Chief of Staff, and major air commanders have enthusiastically endorsed the campaign started by the non-profit foundation.

"This is one of the rare fund drives that should have everything going for it," Major Condrick said. "First, the money will be used strictly for Air Force purposes. Second, in a drive of this scope, even the size of the goal, everyone can contribute and still no one need be badly hurt in the pocketbook."

After the 30-day campaign, the general public will be asked to assist in financing the spacious Air Force Academy stadium.

Nine Reese People Share In Awards

Management improvements offered by five military persons and five civilians have been approved by the Incentive Awards Committee. Cash went to the civilians and recommendation for three-day passes were made for the airmen.

A/1C N. H. Wiley proposed an UHF aft section antenna pull-through cable which will save $166.98 a year here in manpower. A/1C Daniel P. Luce suggested a signal system on pumper type fire trucks which improves safety practices and fire fighting.

A/1C Wallace R. Jones suggested use of a rubber stamp in improving an office procedure. MSgt. Raymond G. Parker proposed a flap wing wire stop to improve safety. CWO Fleagle E. Stewart suggested shadow board cabinets for hand tools which will save $2,390 a year here in tools.

Cash totaling $75 went to Mrs. Nell M. Bean for devising a form that expedites record keeping of commissary sales. It is estimated ATC will save $2,000 annually through the form.

Nathan C. Mosley received $20 for a suggestion on modification of the fire bottle rack, estimated to save $357.60 a year here.

William T. Burney and James

E. Purcell suggested a hand wheel for opening oxygen cylinders, receiving $15 for the annual saving of $237 in materials here.

Clyde E. Merriott received $10 for a proposal on an additional tow bar for the MB-1 to eliminate traffic hazards.

Bowling Results

Wives League

The Alleycats held a substantial lead in the Officers Wives Bowling League this week on a 30 win, 10 loss record. Far behind, with a 23-17 mark, the Stumblers held second spot, just ahead of the Spares, 22-18, and the Pin Splitters and Pinballs, 21-19 each.

The Spares turned in a 625 high game and 1,639 series, while Peggy Wachtel had the 193 high game and Marty Freeman a 501 series.

Officers League

Officer Bowling League teams were closely grouped this week as three teams tied for first place and the 11th place Comanches were only four games out of the top spot.

The Pin-Busters won, 3-1, from the leading M&S Controllers to move into a tie for first place. The Flight 9 Hustlers whipped the PTG Spoilers by the same 3-1 count to go into a tie, also. The Controllers, Hustlers, and Pin-Busters all have won 24, lost 16 games.

The Wing Wizards dropped a 3-1 contest to Operations and slipped to fourth place with a 23½-16½ mark.

Operations rolled a 2,530 high series and the Dust-Devils hit a 915 high game Wednesday night. Major Thomas Manjak scored a 219 high game and 1st Lt. Ronald Tingley a 582 series.

Intramural League

Intramural Bowling, scheduled to end April 21, sees Hospital and M&S fighting for first place with 26 wins and 10 losses each. The 15 teams are in the ninth week of the winter league.

A/2C Robert Urban, PTW, topped 211 pins to take high individual game last week, while 1st Lt. Roger W. Engebretson, '00th PTS, rolled a 550 for series.

High team game and series went to M&S with its 888-2,558.

Girl Scouts Hold Anniversary Dinner

Members of Girl Scout Troop 133 and their parents attended a buffet dinner last Saturday night in the Girl Scout House on the base in observance of the 48th anniversary of National Girl Scouting.

Scouts participating were Lorine Bearden, Louise Correll, Michelle Craig, Theresa Heskett, Jane Johnson, Ellen McCain, Judith Phillippe, Diana Prindle, Doris Spell, Susan Williams, and Patricia Wilshere. Special guests were Mrs. Fern Turner and Marjette Conn.

Mrs. Herbert Craig is troop leader, Mrs. Victor Correll and William Prindle assistant leaders, and Mrs. Carleton Wilshere chairman of the mother committee.

College President Speaks Before PTA

Dr. Frank W. Mattox, president of Lubbock Christian College, will discuss "Child and Teacher Relationship" at the Monday night meeting of the Reese PTA in the school cafeteria. The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m., followed by a social hour. Major Frederick F. Shriner, PTA president, is to preside.

SERVICE DISCONTINUED

Dependent eye care at the base Hospital has been discontinued, Maj. Charles Ford announced this week. Optometric care for dependents will be resumed when a military optometrist is assigned to the base.

Optometric services for military personnel will be continued through use of civilians, it was said. Appointments will be necessary.

First Lt. Harvey Wayne, Reese optometrist, has left the base, making necessary the change in service until a successor is assigned.

Sports Report

By A/3C Roger J. Gillard

A new policy has been set up concerning base gymnasium usage, officials stated Tuesday. Girls will not be allowed to use the base gym, with the exception of specially scheduled events. Boys under 13 years of age will not be permitted in the gym unless accompanied by an adult. ID cards will be shown.

Installations won the base volleyball championship playoffs last Friday, with '01st PTS runner-up. Squadron competition in volleyball has ended for the season.

Base Team Forms To Enter Tourney

Selection of a base volleyball team was in process this week, with team practice scheduled to begin April 9. The organization, made up of top players of various squadrons, is to represent Reese in the ATC Northern District tournament April 16 at Perrin AFB. A/2C Thurston Mosley of Air Base Group will coach the base team.

TICKET PRICE CUT

Admission to Lubbock professional wrestling matches has been cut for Reese personnel. Half price has been put into force for anyone showing an Air Force ID card on purchase of tickets at the Fair Park Coliseum Wednesday nights.

Air Force needs advanced manned space systems, says Gen. Thomas White, Air Force chief of staff, because "our future offensive and defensive missions, as we reach farther out in aerospace, will be analogous in principle to those missions we now conduct at the lower altitudes."

Bowlers Qualify In First Round

Seven low-score bowlers qualified over the weekend for further playoffs in competition to select a six-man team to represent Reese in the ATC Northern District tournament April 2-3 at Lowry AFB.

The seven, high scorers in competition between bowlers with averages of 165 and less for the season, are A/1C Jimmy Holland 180, TSgts. Don D. Parker 180, Alfred Martin 174, Joseph J. Hritz 173, and Donald E. Johnson 167, SSgt. Grady Roney 168, and MSgt. Arnold Ingraham 166.

These men will roll with those with averages over 165 on March 27. The six-man team will be named on that date.

The first military aircraft, delivered in 1908, had a top speed of 44 mph and a ceiling of slightly over 100 feet.
