Promotion Outlook For Airmen Brighter

LAB HONORED—Members of the base photographic laboratory have been awarded letters of appreciation for assistance in the recent investigation of a B-58 accident near Ralls, Texas. They were praised for aiding the Air Force-Industry Joint Investigating Team. Here MSgt. Claud B. Rushing, NCOIC who is going to Stead AFB, receives his letter from Capt. Robert Carlin, Air Base Group adjutant. Left is A2C Kenneth Fontaine, right is A2C Thomas Sorge. A letter also went to A1C Hughley Moore, another member of the staff.

ATC Saving Million, Half Through Incentive Awards

Air Training Command's military and civilian incentive awards program, aided materially by Reese's contributions, paid off in an estimated first year savings of over a million and a half dollars during Fiscal Year 1960.

In the ATC military suggestion program fewer suggestions were submitted, but more awards were made.

Nearly Half 61-B Graduates Headed For SAC Duties

Strategic Air Command is being assigned almost half of the 39 Air Force graduates in Class 61-B at Reese. Graduation exercises are scheduled for 10:30 a.m., Friday, Sept. 2, in the base theater, following a wing review.

Nineteen of the graduates will go to SAC assignments, nine to Tactical Air Command, seven remain in Air Training Command, four go to the Military Air Transport Service, and two have assignments in the Air Defense Command.

The Rev. David L. Zacharias, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, will be the graduation speaker. A native of Pittsburgh, he is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and Western Theological Seminary.

Prior to coming to Lubbock in 1948, he was assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Albuquerque and was pastor of the Grants Community Church, Grants, N. M.

Class 61-B includes 13 student officers and 26 aviation cadets of the United States, in addition to a German officer, a German cadet, and four Ethiopian cadets. Two Ethiopians were graduated early to permit entry into advanced training. The USAF cadets will be commissioned second lieutenants on graduation.

ATC led all commands in the number of airmen selected for the Airman Education and Commissioning Program.

Date Changed For Elevation Of Top Grades

The more than 60 Reese master sergeants and senior master sergeants hoping for promotion in December must wait beyond that date.

The Air Force has abandoned its "once-a-year selection, twice-a-year promotion" system for E-9's and E-8's and will promote once a year, on March 1.

Complete instructions are going to the field. Under new rules the reassignment cut-off is Nov. 30. Previously it was Aug. 31. The new instructions provide that an airman whose EDCSA is prior to Nov. 30 will be considered for promotion by the gaining agency. If his EDCSA is on or after that date he will be considered for promotion by the losing command.

Chief reason for the change to a once-a-year promotion schedule is simplification of administration through elimination of paperwork stemming from a man's reassignment following his selection for promotion. Under the old system, promotions were made on Dec. 1 and June 1.

USAF headquarters expects to release quotas for E-8 and E-9 late in December. Selection boards will meet early in 1961 to have promotions ready on March 1.

From E-9, chief master sergeant, to E-4, airman first class, the promotion outlook for Reese and throughout the Air Force is brighter for 1961. There are 81,689 elevations programmed, compared to 59,593 in FY 60, and 45,230 in FY 59.

This year the chance is 1-in-29 to make tech sergeant, for instance, as against 1-in-47 in FY 60, and 1-in-61 for FY 59. For other ranks the expected ratio is: CMSgt., 1-3.6; SMSgt., 1-9.4; MSgt., 1-20; SSgt., 1-10.3, A1C, 1-3.1.

Reduction from 44 to 11 in frozen fields for A1C has raised prospects at that level materially.

In the October promotion cycle, 43,263 airmen will be promoted to staff sergeant, airman first class and airman second class, an increase of 14,923.

The Air Training Command quota is 368 to staff sergeant, 1,609 to airman first, and 1,625 to airman second, a total of 3,602.

RATING SATISFACTORY

An ATC Standardization Board team this week visited the base to look at the flying training program for behind-the-line pilots. The team gave Reese a satisfactory rating.

Colonel Assumes Wing Headquarters Duty

Colonel Roscoe B. Woodruff, Jr., 1941 graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, has become assistant to the deputy wing commander at Reese. He came here from duty as professor of air science in the Air Force ROTC at Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N. J., where he served from 1957 to 1960.

The colonel, who was elevated to his present rank last June 13, is qualified as an operations officer, tactical fighter pilot, education and training officer and planning and programming officer. He has served in Germany and Japan, as well as in the United States.

He is a graduate of several military schools, including the military management course, jet transition and instrument schools, and the field officers course at the Air Command and Staff School. He holds many decorations, including the Air Medal and two clusters. The colonel is a senior pilot who flew 16 aerial missions in Central Europe during World War II.

He has held numerous high administrative posts. He was a squadron commander, group personnel officer, group administrative officer and group operations and training officer at Grenier AFB, N. H. He was assistant chief of the policy and doctrine division of the deputy for plans in TAC headquarters at Langley AFB.

Colonel Woodruff also served as staff training officer at Stewart AFB in EADF headquarters, and later as group personnel staff officer, Air Base Group com-

The directory is expected to be ready for base distribution next week. It is a colorful publication, containing many pictures and information about Reese. Numerous photographs are in varied colors.

Accident-Free Holiday Period Aim For Labor Day Weekend

Aiming for another accident-free holiday, Reese officials this week placed heavy emphasis on plans for the Labor Day weekend. Several programs to prevent accidents are in effect.

"The Labor Day weekend constitutes a hazardous accident period for off-duty activities," said Lt. Gen. James E. Briggs, Air Training Command commander in a message to Col. L. C. Hess, Reese commander. "Every effort must be made to inform all personnel of the manner in which this holiday period can be safely observed, especially private vehicle operation and water safety."

The Labor Day weekend ends Operation Summersafe, which started Memorial Day.

Safety meetings in the base theater for all personnel are scheduled next Thursday, with Colonel Hess and Col. James D. C. Robinson, deputy base commander, speaking. Judge James P. Kermickel of the Lubbock traffic court also will speak and a film is to be shown. All military and civilian people on the base must attend one of the four meetings scheduled for 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Unit commanders have been counseling all their troops going on leave and/or pass on safety matters, making sure that trips are properly planned.

Colonel Hess has requested by letter that, "Commanders insure trips have been properly planned with particular emphasis on distance to be traveled per day, allowance for detours and weather

A veteran of the Korean conflict, he also has been deputy chief of staff for operations in Crew Training Air Force headquarters, a wing commander in Europe and deputy chief of staff for personnel in ATC.

From The COMMANDER'S DESK

By Col. L. C. Hess, Base Commander

Next weekend — Labor Day Weekend — traditionally marks the end of the summer vacation season. This final outing of the summer causes participation in outdoor activities, water sports, and travel on the highways to reach an all-time high throughout the nation. It is regrettable that the fun, recreation and travel enjoyed on this holiday weekend are too often marred by tragic accidents.

As we approach this holiday, let's resolve that we will not be the victim of an accident. We can do this by positive "accident-prevention" thinking. I challenge each individual to think "safety-consciousness" during the coming week, and apply it over the Labor Day Weekend!

Child Should Be Happy

(Written by Chaplain's Office, USAF)

Air Force life can be a source of great wonderment and excitement for the younger children and a bit of a bore for teen-agers. The little folks find in the hum of airplane engines, the glitter of the BX and the comradeship of the Brownie and Cub Scout groups an interesting world. New sights and new sounds as the family moves from place to place add to the interest. This is not always the case with the older children.

Teen-agers are too old to be thrilled by the giant sized "toys" on the line. They are too young to share the responsibilities that are a part of their parents' everyday life. Friendships are strong in their age group and hence the frequent partings necessitated by PCS moves become increasingly more difficult as they grow older.

Frequent changes of school can bewilder a child, especially when he finds himself face to face with a variety of educational standards that he doesn't quite understand. He may even find a certain lack of interest upon the part of his teachers who classify him as a "transient."

The importance of strong family life is therefore doubly important in Air Force situations. Adjustments must begin in the home with example and instruction coming primarily from the father and the mother. There must be an assurance that frequent moves, the necessity of making new friends and the acceptance of varied standards of living is "normal" for the military family. If anything, the very factors of family life that might be considered "abnormal" for the civilian family, tend to unify an Air Force family. Its members tend to rely on each other rather than finding the necessity for support outside the family unit. A quick look around on an Air Force base will be an assurance that our youngsters are happy children.

What's Your Hurry?

After the 1960 Indianapolis Speedway race, Rodger Ward, winner the year before, had a few comments on driving which are worthy of repeating, especially with Labor Day weekend approaching. Here they are:

"This message is directed at every motorist who will be making a long vacation trip this year. I'm prompted to write it because of the near record-breaking highway death toll last Memorial Day weekend.

"On May 30 I made a 500-mile trip in a little over 3½ hours at an average of 138.632 mph. The route was around the 2½-mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway, of course, and I was leading the race on the 194th lap with just 6 laps to go for the checkered flag. At that point I was forced to make a decision. I noticed the fabric showing on my right rear tire. If I were to hold the pace I would probably win the race but would also risk a blowout and a serious accident. If I slowed down, I could finish the race in safety but would have to settle for second place at best.

"Practicing what I preach in my lecture on the Champion Highway Safety Program, I decided discretion is the better part of valor. I cut my speed and dropped into second place. A terrific driver and a real sportsman passed me at 146 mph to take a well-deserved victory.

"Now, I had plenty of reason to keep on pushing my car. One hundred and ten thousand dollars worth, to be exact. But I have more reason to live.

"How much reason do you have to push your car and yourself beyond safe limits when you're on that vacation trip? Is it worth gambling on a worn tire in hopes you'll make it home? Or is it worth trying to average 70 mph so you can tell your friends you made Aunt Minnie's house in record time? Is it worth fighting sleep so you won't have to make a stop-over enroute? I wouldn't take a calculated risk for $110,000, yet many motorists risk their lives and the lives of their loved ones every year for no reason whatsoever.

"Believe me, when all you have to gain is a few minutes of time at your destination, it's pointless to push yourself into an accident.

"Maybe that cool cash is the price I paid to live to write this message!"

Soundest Advice On Proper Living Comes From Bible

By Chaplain James D. Taylor

The easiest thing to give but the hardest thing to take is advice. Nothing is less sincere than our mode of asking and giving advice. He who asks seems to have deference for the opinion of friends, while he only aims to get approval of his own and make his friend responsible for his actions. And he who gives repays the confidence supposed to be placed in him by a seemingly disinterested zeal, while he seldom means anything by his advice but his own interest and reputation.

However, he who calls in the aid of an equal understanding doubles his own; and he who profits by a superior understanding raises his powers to a level with the heights of the superior understanding he unites with. It takes nearly as much ability to know how to profit by good advice as to know how to act for one's self.

There is one thing that I know to be true when seeking advice and that is to go to someone who is an authority on the subject and ask that person. If the question is of health, then I would go to the doctor. If the question is of the interpretation of the law, then I would go to a lawyer. If the question is spiritual, then I would go to a minister. We can get all manner of advice even without asking, but be careful to weigh the advice and know that it isn't just a lot of misinformed information that we act upon.

For the best advice in the world on how to live, go to God's Word and make a practice of reading it regularly.

USAF Names Rated Officers On Possible Suspension List

The Air Force has sent to the major commands a list containing 3,799 names of rated officers whose records will be screened by the 1960 Central Flight Status Selection Board, scheduled to meet Oct. 10-21 in USAF.

The initial screening took in the rated service and flying hours of 47,684 rated officers. Records were compared in flying school class groups, with officers judged with their contemporaries. Pilots, navigators and observers were considered separately.

Officers falling below the "record flying participation" of 75 per cent of classmates were then further examined to allow for certain mitigating factors. To balance the record, extra weight was given to officers presently on primary aircrew duty and those with jet flying experience. A break-in-service was also considered.

Officials say 11,680 were in the bottom 25 per cent bracket, but the balance factors acted to exclude 7,881 from the reporting list.

The screening did not involve officers who received their initial aeronautical ratings before July 1, 1941, nor those who received their ratings after Jan. 1, 1955.

The letter, with the names of the 3,799 mandatory reportees, told major commands to place extra effort on reviewing records of all assigned and attached rated officers. Those found to be performing in a substandard manner, or to be lacking in potential for rated positions should also be reported.

Reports to the Flying Board are due Oct. 3. The board completes deliberations Oct. 21 and notifications to those officers suspended will go out immediately to give 60 days notice.

AEROSPACE QUOTE—"... strategic warfare is a highly complex and involved science which demands a vast and unprecedented global support organization, staffed by tens of thousands of experienced specialists. Therefore, even the most revolutionary strategic weapon system — be it a bomber, an ICBM or a missile firing submarine — does not in itself represent strategic capability, just as a destroyer or cruiser by itself does not represent Naval power.

"Indeed, strategic capability is achieved only through the effective integration of weapon systems, organizations and men into a harmonious and centrally controlled entity."

—Gen. Thomas S. Power, SAC commander

Signs which say "Yield Right of Way" at Reese street intersections mean just that. They should be approached in the same manner as a "Stop" sign. The approach should be slow and forward movement should continue only if no other vehicle is approaching the intersection. The other car has the right-of-way at "yield" signs. Proper attention to driving at these intersections is necessary. Otherwise there may be an accident, and somebody may get hurt.

Rod and Gun Club Plans Trap Shoot

The Reese Rod and Gun Club will hold a trap shoot beginning at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at the Firing Range located at the northwest end of the base.

Both military and civilians with guests are invited to participate in the event which will last approximately four hours.

Ammunition and weapons will be available by the Rod and Gun Club.

CWO William E. O'Rourke, 19-year veteran, has been assigned supply duty here, reporting from USAF headquarters. He has served in the Pacific, Japan, and Alaska.

Scouts Restoring Damaged Campsite

Work in restoring Camp Haynes, near Silverton, Texas, is progressing and Reese Boy Scouts and sponsors will return for more renovation this weekend, Scoutmaster E. W. Bohl reported Thursday.

Volunteers to assist are sought and should call Sergeant Bohl.

Recently 19 Reese Scouts and others from the base spent two days with pick and shovel, working on roads and other conservation projects at the camp, which has been damaged by vandals. A2C Robert Nies and A3C Jerry Hill of the hospital supervised road work and have volunteered to return.

Recent rains have completely washed away the road bed and two more trips will be needed to put the stretch in shape for use.

On the last weekend trip were Capt. Donald S. Knierim, SSgt. William Kovalchuk, TSgt. George Williams, and Scouts Dean Barber, William Warring, Richard Ford, Mike and Joe Hritz, Barry Patterson, Clay Walker, Larry Auglur, John Knierim, Charles McElroy, Van Grady, Steve Yothers and Ronnie McCall, in addition to Sergeant Bohl.

Assigned from Laredo AFB, is 1st Lt. Frederick H. Faulkner of Central Point, Ore. He has been in service six years.

Sports Report

By A2C ROGER J. GILLARD

The PTW airmen lost to their NCO's in a hot-hitting softball match a week ago Saturday. The score ended 12-10, giving the NCO's a two-year winning streak to brag about.

The airmen were leading 8-2 in the bottom of the third with the non-coms at bat and bases loaded. SSgt. Lester Ludlum slugged a grand slam homer to take them all in. The NCO's made key hits thereafter. Sergeant Ludlum pitched for the non-coms.

A3C Mathew Lonnie was the throwing arm for the airmen until the bottom of the fourth when he was replaced by A2C Clarence Fitzhugh, who wasn't fast enough for the whacking NCO's at bat.

After the game, the Airmen donated funds for the refreshments. Kristine Britain, 10-year-old daughter of Maj. and Mrs. Lewis Britain, captured trophies in the Lubbock Bantam Bowling League of Lubbock last week.

She rolled a 130-136-266 two-game series to take a prize in this category, well ahead of the 246 second place. She also took the trophy for the 155 high game. Kristine rolled a 13-pound ball, one heavier than the 10-pounder most youngsters use.

Batting know-how brought the Officers of the PTW squadron to a 10-3 softball victory among the PTW non-coms in a game held at the local diamond over the weekend. One non-com testified that "it seemed the Officers had most of their strength while at bat."

Golf Notes

By A1C CURTIS BLUE

The Base-Wide Golf Tournament, which began yesterday and continues until Sunday, will determine the team to represent Reese in ATC competition next month. The team will be made up of the best golfers from various squadrons. Nearly 80 golfers are playing now. The course is closed until 1 p. m. each day to personnel not in tourney play. Some 20 trophies will be given to winners. Besides the six men who are to be chosen Sunday to represent Reese, three senior ball pushers will be given the chance to see other seniors in the ATC tournament.

Last week in Intramural League play, Air Police took over first place from the M&S players. ABG is in the second slot, 67½ points; M&S stands with 62½ for third now; Civil Engineers have a solid 58 points for fourth; and the '01st PTS is fifth with 53.

Labor Day weekend will bring another tournament with 36 holes to be played. If interested, sign up at the pro shop as soon as you can.

Last Sunday, in the OWC and Husbands tournament, Mrs. Dotie McCall won first low net; Mrs. Kathrine Byrne took second; and Mrs. Wanda Hess and Mrs. Mary Ellen Warring won the low putts.

For the husbands recognition, Maj. Bill Warring won low net; Maj. Harold Byrne took low net for second; and Col. L. C. Hess came in for the low putt.

The playoff Ringer Tournament between Mrs. Betty-Jane Wright and Mrs. Flo McGuire, who tied for low net last week, was won by Mrs. Wright by a one-stroke lead over Mrs. McGuire.

At Cannon AFB last week—Reese lost a return match, 12-6.

Bowling Results

The top-notch 3505th Field Maintenance Squadron bowling team held on to its slim lead to capture the Summer Intramural Bowling League title, a game and a half ahead of Hospital. The '05th held the lead the entire season, but never too far ahead. It ended the season by downing Air Base Group for the fourth time.

Team members of the winners received individual trophies, in addition to the team trophy. They were 2nd Lt. Joseph Platz, MSgt. Francis St. George, now first sergeant of the PTW, TSgt Donald Johnson, SSgt. Grady Roney, and A2Cs Jerry Hayman, Leroy Immel, Ralph Newton and Church Turney. Airman Immel was team captain.

Hospital was awarded the runner-up team trophy. No roll-off between leading teams are planned, as in the past.

The Winter Intramural play will start September 6. The base bowling alleys are closed until Monday for resurfacing of the lanes.

Mixed Couples League

Finishing strong in latter weeks of the season, Major and Mrs. Robert Hill and 1st Lt. and Mrs. Ronald Tingley won the Mixed Couple Bowling League title. They had 42 wins, 14 losses after Wednesday night's play.

The leaders most of the season, Capt. and Mrs. Gordon Freeman and 1st Lt. and Mrs. Howard Geddes, finished second on a 39-17 record, with Captains and Mmes. Bernard Nelson and William Richardson in third place, 36-20.

The Freeman - Geddes team rolled a 1,936 high series and 661 high game Wednesday night.

Lieutenant Tingley topped 619 pins for the high individual series, followed by Capt. Ira K. Espe, 616. Captain Espe had a 228 high game and Lieutenant Tingley a 223.

Marty Freeman had a 489 high series for women, followed by Peggy Wachtel, 446. June Richardson rolled a 179 high game, with Mrs. Wachtel 175.

Youthful Celebrity Advises 'Hard Work, Faith In God'

By Dian Wilhite and Cheryl Roubal

Brenda Lee, 15-year-old darling of the Teen-Age set, came to Lubbock a couple of weeks ago and proved herself to be just as natural as most teen-agers.

She sang enthusiastically to an enthusiastic crowd in the Lubbock Auditorium, along with "The Casuals," Bob Beckum, Johnny Preston, and the "Argyles." Brenda's band provided support.

Between shows, the young girl singer gave a warm and enjoyable interview to the two reporters for the Reese Teen Club. She gave answers for 15 minutes and then insisted on talking another half hour about nothing in particular — just visiting with a couple of other girls of her age.

She signed autographs for 11 Reese youngsters, autographed for a long line of other "kids," and then went back to talking. She probably would have visited all night, but time came for the second show.

Brenda wasn't feeling well, in addition. She was full of excitement which upset her. But few people knew it. She gave a real performance, on and off the stage.

Young Miss Lee had a hard go before she arrived in Lubbock. She'd been on the road three weeks, traveling in a station wagon with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Beckum. Her mother generally goes along, but she had to skip the trip in order to move into a new home in Nashville, Tenn. The young singer attended public high school in Nashville last year, as an "A" student. She excelled in English and drama and was captain of the cheerleaders.

Clothing offers a problem for the 4-foot, 11-inch Brenda, but by careful shopping on tour and filling in at Lord and Taylor's in New York, she manages to keep her stage wardrobe glamorous.

"Ever try to buy a size 3 shoe? It's not easy," she commented.

She prefers very casual clothes and feels she has as much social life as most teens, despite time on tours and other professional commitments. She has an older sister, and a younger brother and sister to give her advice, but she seems to have cornered all the talent in the family.

"I certainly enjoy being a celebrity," Brenda giggled. "But I always look forward to being home between tours to be with the family and just pal around with my best girl-friend next door. Boy Friends? Well, there's none special."

She doesn't want to follow in any footsteps, "just want to be myself."

"Advice for Teens? Most certainly. Work hard and have faith in God."

We visited with everyone in the Friday night cast, and they all were just friendly folks. The Casuals were a hit, especially when Gary Miles sang "Look for a Star." Bob Beckum, who got his start with Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts, and Johnny Preston, were real hits, too. Johnny sang "Cradle of Love," "Running Bear," and "Feeling So Fine."

Brenda sang many songs which has on Decca records. Her favorite is "I'm Sorry."
