Roosevelt Launches Vast, Nation-Wide Health Program

Many Rejected Draftees Will Be "Salvaged"

FDR Condemns U. S. Because Youth Not Fit For Fighting!

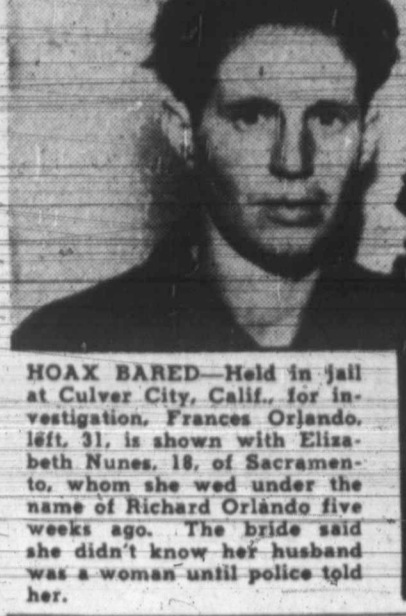

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—President Roosevelt today criticized the nation for permitting conditions which have left 50 per cent of its youth unfit mentally or physically for army service. He inaugurated a program to "salvage" 200,000 of the 1,000,000 youths who have been rejected.

Under the salvage program the federal government will pay medical costs for treatment by local physicians of approximately 200,000 registrants whom local draft boards certify as susceptible to rehabilitation for army service.

The army expects to accept virtually all of these 200,000 after they undergo treatment by family physicians or dentists at federal expense, Mr. Roosevelt said.

Describing the salvage program as only the initial objective, Mr. Roosevelt said that existence of conditions which permit so high a ratio of rejections is an indictment of America.

He said he would launch a long-range program calling for cooperation of states, counties, cities, townships and individuals to remedy the conditions which are the underlying cause of the bad situation.

Reports Claim That Germany Offers Truce

Officers In Berlin And London Deny Armistice Plans

Russian front-line dispatches conceded today that Adolf Hitler's invasion armies were still advancing "over mountains of German corpses" in the Bryansk sector of the 9-day-old battle for Moscow, and simultaneously the British radio reported a new threat developing almost due west of the U. S. S. R. capital.

The BBC said Nazi troops were striking toward the upper Volga town of Rzhev, 125 miles west of Moscow, thereby stretching the main Soviet defense line into a 270-mile arc through Vyazma and Bryansk to Orel.

The Germans reported "forward progress along the entire front" and said one "kettle" of Soviet resistance after another was being wiped out.

As the battle raged violently toward a climax, but still without a clear-cut decision, reports circulated widely in Europe that Germany had offered an armistice to Russia.

A non-Axis informant with highly reliable connections said the German offer was transmitted through Japan and Bulgaria and that Russia was giving them serious consideration because of her critical situation.

Strong Denial Made

Authoritative Russian quarters in London, however, said "there is not one vestige of truth in the report. The Germans know we would not accept an armistice if it were offered."

In Berlin, military spokesmen also vigorously denied reports of peace offers.

Axis-connected informants in Europe only a short time ago said Germany would offer peace before winter set in on the Russian front.

The Germans were now hammering at Moscow from three and perhaps four main sectors, possibly attempting to surround

House Rejects First Efforts To Slash Fund

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The House today rejected the first of a series of Republican attempts to reduce the new $5,985,000,000 supplemental lend-lease appropriation.

By a standing vote announced as 133 to 84, the House defeated an amendment by Rep. Francis Case, R., S. C., to reduce the proposed $1,190,000,000 allocation for ordnance by $100,000,000.

Passage Expected Today

The House met an hour early to consider a series of amendments. Leaders expected passage of the big fund late in the day.

The sharpest fight was expected over proposals to forbid aid to Russia. Leaders expected to defeat that as well as all other major amendments.

The anti-Soviet aid amendment will be considered by one of two Republican members of the appropriations committee, Rep. Robert F. Rich, R., Pa., or Rep. Robert F. Jones, R., Ok.

Are Not Optimistic

They expected considerable support for the amendment to be offered by one of two Republican members of the appropriations committee, Rep. Robert F. Rich, R., Pa., or Rep. Robert F. Jones, R., Ok.

"Lesson For Small Countries"—Reasons For Bloodless Revolt Told By Ousted Panama Chief

HAVANA, Oct. 10.—Dr. Arnulfo Arias, ousted president of Panama, said today that "certain differences" had arisen between his administration and United States authorities and he added caustically that his case contained "a lesson for small countries."

In an interview with Cuban reporters he discussed the situation he left when he fled the little republic incognito before dawn last Tuesday, ostensibly to see an oculist in Cuba.

Considered A Threat

"It appears that they (little countries) haven't the right to raise living standards, achieve economic independence and prosper just because they are small," he said.

"My government wished to grant lands to the United States"

Attendance Is Surpassing All Former Years

Chiefly upon the weather seemed to depend the prospects this morning that an all-time attendance record will be set by the 28th annual Panhandle-South Plains fair.

Attendance during the first four days of 90,110 was a new record, breaking the mark of 89,551 set for the same period in 1935. But, officials pointed out, there still is a long way to go before the total

Tank Output Is Menaced

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—War department officials reported today the bulk of the army's tank production was threatened with immediate stoppage by a labor jurisdiction controversy in the Toledo, Mich., and said they were "gravely concerned over the situation."

The main stoppage is at Hilldale Steel Products company, a subsidiary of the Spicer Manufacturing company at Toledo, Ohio, where department officials said there was also a CIO boycott resulting from the Hilldale dispute.

Makes Transmissions

The Spicer company makes about 10 per cent of the transmissions for all the army's tanks and also for most of the half-tractor and "jeep" combat vehicles.

The Toledo concern reported that unless there was a settlement it would have to halt work tonight on transmissions for the military vehicles and that materials were on hand for about a week's further

Hot Suspects Held In Miley Slayings

FORT WORTH, Oct. 19.—After a telephonic check of fingerprint classifications of two suspects held in connection with the brutal murder of Marion Miley, 27-year-old woman golf star and her mother, Kentucky officers said: "They're the men we want," it was revealed today.

The fingerprint check by long distance telephone came after the two suspects had been arrested and questioned by City Detective Theron Brooks who revealed today that the pair told "widely diversified" versions of their activities Sept. 27, the night of the Miley murders.

Impossible To Be Positive

Identification bureau employees here said that it was impossible to make positive identification by telephone. Monty Montgomery, who make the prints here, said:

"If two fingerprint experts are talking to each other, they can practically make the identification fool-proof."

Officers here said that Lexington police did not reveal whether they believed the suspects here were the murderers or only wanted for questioning.

U. S. Is Ready To Arm Ships

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Merchantmen plying the Atlantic danger zones can be armed just as soon as Congress gives the word, administration leaders disclosed today, because the navy has sufficiently overcome the serious shortage of proper weapons which existed earlier this year.

There will be enough guns on the ships in the Atlantic as soon as the necessary revision of the neutrality act is accomplished, an informed administration source said.

Production Rushed

Although the navy is known to have a great many guns in reserve which were adequate to protect ships against submarines, there was a shortage of anti-aircraft weapons.

Last April 3, however, Congress made $75,885,820 available to correct that situation and shortly

Another Execution Reported In France

PARIS, German-occupied France, Oct. 10 (AP)—German authorities announced today that the 74th person had been shot as reprisal for attacks against the German occupying forces.

The announcement said Gaston Pinot, of Courmelles, in Aisne department, was shot today. He was condemned to death last Tuesday for illegal possession of firearms.

It was said also that 45 militant Communists had been interned at Amiens on orders of the prefect of Somme department.

This raised to 45 the number of Communists sent to concentration camps in that department in the last several days.

American Food Britain's Need

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 10.—Without continued shipments of American food, England would be forced to drop out of the war in a few months, R. M. Evans, administrator of the A. A. A., said here last night.

He addressed a crowd of 5,000 farmers and consumers at the municipal auditorium. He returned last week from a four weeks trip to England where he made a first hand survey of food problems.

Can Take Control

Evans likened the war to an automobile which is rapidly plunging towards the bottom of a deep pit. He said that the American people — particularly farmers — are in a position to take control of this automobile, if they act quickly, and steer it back onto a safe course.

"There is no question," Evans said, "that the conflict that has engulfed Europe, Asia and Africa"

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 10 (AP)—"How much tax" quipped Arthur L. Cox, tax attorney, as he paid off his shine boy the day the new federal levies became effective.

The query evidently worried the boy. Cox saw this sign on his kit yesterday: "Shine 10 cents. No tax."

Few Old Men, Once The Boys In Gray, To Meet In Atlanta

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 10.—A few old men who were once the boys in gray will meet here next week, but whether the reunion will be officially that of the United Confederate Veterans is doubtful.

Three former commanders of the organization say it will. The present commander, Gen. J. F. Howell of Virginia says it won't, that he will not attend and that "demotion" faces the trio of one-time commanders who have called Nonagenarian veterans of the war between the states has been as spirited as any rebel yell that rang over the battlefields of the 1860's.

General Howell said the reason he did not call a reunion for 1941 was because no city formally issued an invitation, not even Atlanta.

Three former commanders of the United Confederate Veterans, as fall came with no sign of action by Howell, issued a manifesto last month calling for all able veterans

British Public Demands Quick Military Aid

Prime Minister Is Urged To "Act" In War's Peak Crisis

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Newspaper demands for immediate British action to relieve Nazi pressure on Russia reached an almost hysterical pitch today with assertions that "the peak crisis of the war" has arrived.

Every newspaper in London took up the cry for government action, but there was no indication that Prime Minister Winston Churchill had decided on any step, or that Britain was capable of any move which might slow the Nazi advance on Moscow.

Russia Prefers Military Aid

An authoritative Russian source, underlining the urgency of Soviet needs, said that given a choice between Anglo-American supplies and a British attack on the continent anywhere from Narvik to the bay of Biscay, Russia would choose the latter.

Realizing that possibly not a half dozen persons in Britain would be informed of any British move against the contingent, Russian sources watched anxiously for any hint of action by the government.

In the leading article of the Evening Standard, printed under the caption "There Is Still Time," the newspaper's editor, Frank Owen asserted:

Appeal To Cabinet

"Russia will not fall if imagination and the will to exist among us keep her fighting with us."

"But if Russia does fall the

City Approves Welfare Plan

City commission this morning took decisive steps to insure continued physical and social relief to those in the lower economic brackets, when it authorized Mayor Carl Sifert to sign a welfare contract stripped of lace and ruffles.

The commission's action, which required but 10 minutes, thus put a heel down on a contract that had been proposed by the state department of public welfare and drawn by a committee appointed to represent both city and county commissions, but which did not contain some of the provisions for heavy expenditures it later turned up with, as had been explained to the city commission Thursday afternoon.

Equipment Ruled Out

The contract the commission this morning authorized the mayor to sign with the county commission and the state welfare association, should those groups accept it, provides what was termed the logical fundamentals of the earlier contract, but does not offer to involve the city financially in purchase of highly expensive

Crash Averted After Warning

(By The United Press) BURBANK, Cal., Oct. 10.—The 10 passengers and two other crew members on Pilot Eddy Keisling's big United Airlines plane were thrilled but unharmed today in a dangerous "experimental" landing at Lockheed terminal.

When Keisling prepared to land, a warning light flashed on the control board indicating that mechanism which should lower the left wheel had not functioned properly. Keisling radioed the field to send a plane aloft to fly under him and take a look at the landing gear. The field refused because of the danger of collision in the darkness.

Passengers "Marvelous" So Keisling brought his plane gingerly down to the field and, while maintaining flying speed, "felt" with each wheel for the ground. Both wheels contacted the runway.

Keisling went aloft again and came in to the field twice more at speeds of 80 miles an hour, each time putting a little bit more pressure on the wheels. When they held all three times, he cut his motor and landed on the fourth trip. The landing gear held. Keisling said the trouble apparently was in the automatic warning system, not the wheels.

Stewardess Betty Jarl, who had advised her passengers of the difficulty, said "they were marvelous."

Nairn estate, 3 1/2 miles to the east and slightly south, it was announced Thursday night.

No. 1 Steck reportedly logged first anhydrite at 1,460 feet, 1,767 feet above sea level. It is drilling ahead past 2,000 feet in anhydrite and red rock. Location of the well is 467 1/2 feet from the south and east lines of section 7, block A, John H. Gibson survey.

Gas Volume Increasing The discovery producer, No. 1 Nairn, was being prepared for production. Storage is on the ground. In one eight-hour period of swabbing through casing it yielded 65 to 70 barrels of oil. A slight amount of salt water present has practically been exhausted, while gas volume is increasing. No. 1 Nairn is 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 25, block A, John H. Gibson survey.

Operator will rig up cable tools after pipe has been set, replacing rotary used to reach present depth. The wildcat logged first oil staining and slight porosity at 5,190 feet. Cores from 523-62 feet showed some oil stains and porosity.

Rigging Up Rotary American Drilling corporation No. 1 H. T. Hufnall, new wildcat in western Terry county, is rigging up rotary. It is to be a 3,500-foot test. A projected 7,200-foot Clear Fork, Lower Permian test in extreme northwestern Gaines county, Likins and Hall of Midland No. 1 Dr. E. H. Jones, topped the anhydrite at 2,130 feet, 1,537 feet below sea level. It is drilling below 2,140 feet in anhydrite and red rock. Casing will be set when depth is 2,160 or 2,170 feet has been reached. The wildcat is checking log structurally to nominal Permian failures in the area. Among late completions in the Hockley county, part of the Slaughter field are Magnolia No. 7-E Mallet Land and Cattle Co., for 1,159.60 barrels a day; Texas Pacific No. 3 Mallet for 1,087.44 a day; Stanolind No. 36-B Slaughter for 1,639.44 a day; Texaco No. 36 Slaughter for 1,109.52 a day; Magnolia No. 5-E Mallet for 880.20 a day and Stanolind No. 33-B Slaughter for 832.88 a day.

Gambling Ship Will Enter Lumber Trade

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—A steel-hulled ship that had been used off the Southern California coast as a gambling barge until police intervened will enter the lumber trade. The former gambling ship Tango is being refitted as a windjammer in an attempt to prove that sail can still compete with steam in the world's water trade lanes.

She was originally a schooner when laid down in Glasgow, Scotland, in 1904. Her masts were taken out when she was converted for gambling several years ago. The 360-foot hull was found to be in nearly perfect condition. Her new masts will be of wood and steel, 160 feet tall. Officials of the Trans-Atlantic Steamship company of New York, her new owners, believe she will be the largest six-masted schooner in the world. With a fore-and-aft rig, she will be competing with the few remaining windjammers, nearly all of which are square-rigged. The schooner, renamed the Ma-

Latin America Visualized As Ripe For American Auto Industry

Nation Beating Axis To Punch

By ANTHONY G. DE LORENZO
United Press Staff Writer
DETROIT, Oct. 10.—The automobile industry can look to the vast area south of the Rio Grande—Mexico, Central and South America—as its No. 1 export market when the war in Europe is ended.

C. B. Thomas, vice president and general manager of Chrysler corporation's export division, said a "rush, impossible-to-fulfill demand for passenger cars and trucks already exists in Latin American countries."

"We can't begin to fill the orders which come daily by mail, cable and even by telephone from South America," said Thomas. The situation is entirely different from what it was a few years ago. Then, we were anxious to sell cars and trucks, but were handicapped by the import quotas or exchange restrictions. Today we just don't have the vehicles to ship."

The government-imposed 30 per cent curtailment of new cars output to free men, machines and materials for defense precludes overseas shipment of more than a comparatively small percentage of American-built automobiles and trucks.

Trend Up In 1940
Chrysler shipped more than 47,000 units from Detroit to overseas markets during the 1941 model year, of which more than one-third went to Mexico, South and Central America. Total shipments during the last model year represented scarcely more than half of the units shipped by the corporation during a peak pre-war year, chiefly because of loss of European markets and the restrictions placed on use of cars and gasoline in various parts of the world.

Thomas believes the post-war era will experience greater development of highways and use of passenger cars and trucks in the Latin America.

"We anticipate a fine market in Mexico, where the highway improvement already is noticeable," he said. "Latin Americans are slowly becoming accustomed to going places in automobiles. Heretofore, their travel has been confined more or less to areas close to cities. Now they are moving out, making trips."

Highways Being Extended
A big stimulus to further development of South America's economic resources, according to Thomas, would be extension of coastal highways to interior regions of the vast continent.

For example, he explained, the Argentine produces fine beef, Peru does not. There is no reason why beef cannot be carried in refrigerated trucks from Argentina to Peru in great quantities when satisfactory highways are completed.

Thomas said few European cars were purchased in South American countries, even during the pre-war period.

"Those that were there," he said, "were used chiefly in capital cities because European cars are not adapted to the rough and hilly roads in many sections of South America."

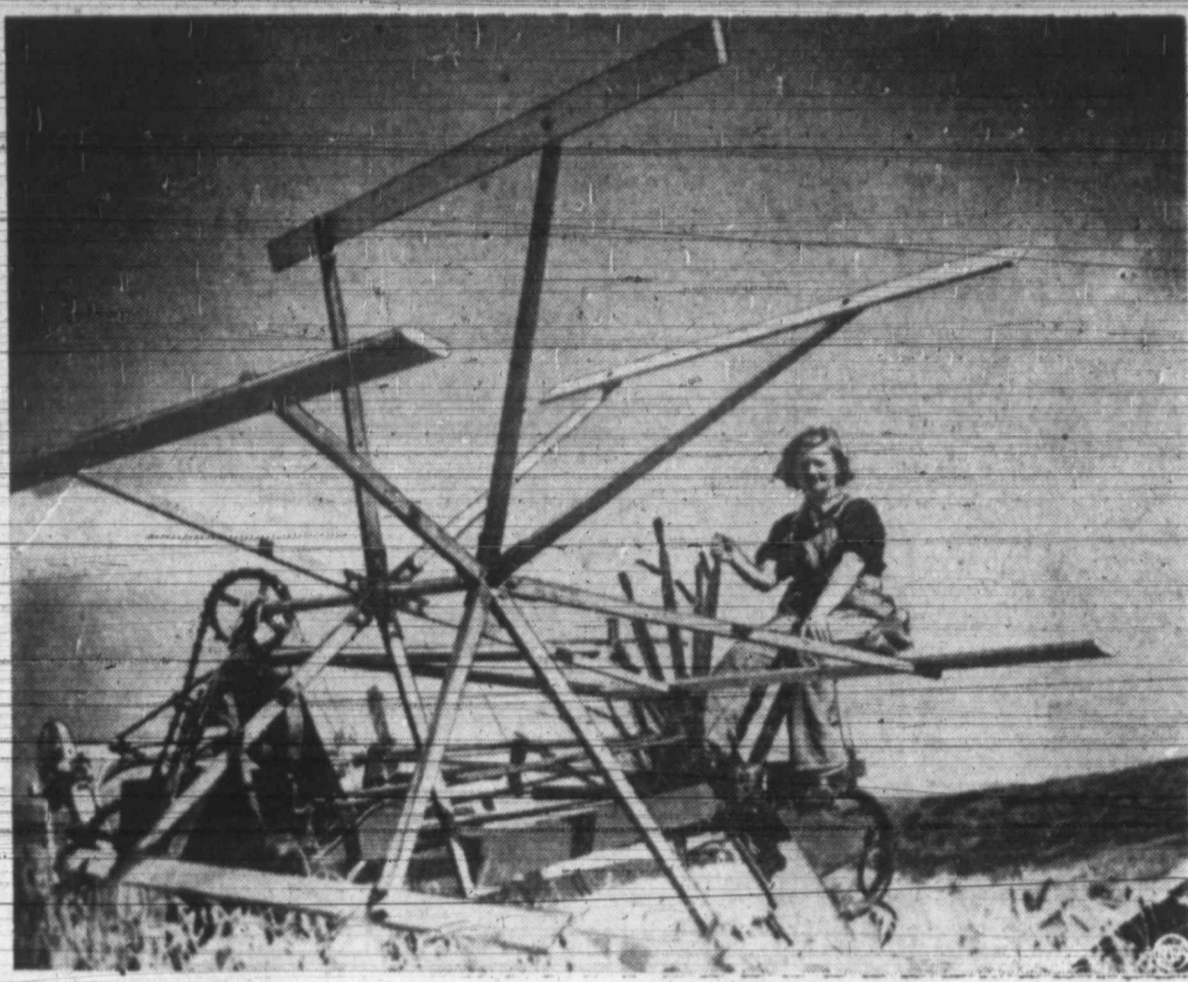

Although Nazi Germany's barter system was responsible for sale of some cars in South America before the war, European manufacturers could not compete with Americans on the basis of quality, according to the Chrysler executive.

South Africa Ranked High
Thomas ranked the Union of South Africa, with a population of 7,000,000 and an area of 500,000 square miles, second as a post-war export market. South Africa, he said, is a "substantial" market now and is improving daily. He listed Australia, China and India as other major post-war markets.

"After those five," he said, "it's a toss-up. It all depends upon the economic trend."

Except for its plants in England, Chrysler's European operations have been suspended by the war. Chrysler's Dodge subsidiary outside London is turning out trucks at the rate of 300 a month, a 33 1/3 per cent boost over the pre-war period.

Chrysler's car-building plant in England now is making nose and

English "Land Girls" Reaping Harvest Of Praise For Raising Record Food Crops

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Service Staff Writer
LONDON, Oct. 10.—If Great Britain's prospects of a record harvest are fulfilled, she will owe it in a very large measure to her army of Land Girls.

Since the beginning of the war over 10,000 women have enrolled in this all-important army.

On the land, as in other branches of vital war work, women have proved their worth and their ability to do things which heretofore were considered men's jobs—riding tractors, ploughing, tilling, and sowing fields—besides tending livestock, dairy farming and market gardening.

Land Is Reclaimed
They work long hours, from grey, cold dawn to sundown, in all sorts of weather, sometimes even during attacks from the air while at work in the fields, and thinking nothing of it. In their ranks mannequins, shopgirls, artists, manicurists, socialites work side by side with farm women.

Thanks to their untiring efforts, hundreds of acres of scrub and gorse have been reclaimed to produce foodstuffs.

On Scrub Land
In Lincolnshire and Nottinghamshire respectively, the country will harvest a heavy crop of oats from 700 acres of land which, until last March, had been under scrub.

Again, in Staffordshire, 300 girls undertook to reclaim 200 acres of beet, thus saving many tons of sugar. Labor shortage endangered the entire crop and women came to the rescue. Many of them were voluntary workers, giving up their spare time and even annual vacations. The usual rate paid to agricultural labor which they were given was handed over to war charities after they had deducted their food and transport expenses.

Farmers Praise Plan
Montgomeryshire farmers were giving up their spare time and some weeks back when 18-year-old Ruth Lloyd ploughed 22 acres of land from dawn to dusk. Driving a three-furrow tractor, it was estimated she had ploughed some 120 miles of furrow—no mean achievement, considering that an average farmer seldom ploughs more than 5 acres a day and even then thinks he is doing well. Although a husky, healthy girl, Ruth Lloyd was not brought up on a farm but interpreted her B.A. studies at Oxford to become a Land Girl.

Farmers are full of praise for woman labor. They declare that girls are superior to male farm hands for certain categories of work. They are far better with livestock, for example. Animals respond to their gentle treatment.

On one farm, a girl in her early twenties is responsible for a flock of 500 sheep and carries on alone through lambing season without any losses at all. Again, girls are more amenable to instruction than men and "catch on" quickly to the work.

Also Attractive
There are daughters of land girls of the last war working on the farms where their mothers started. A mother and her three daughters are working together on a farm in Suffolk. The farmer owner gave them a caravan to live in and put them in charge of the traction-engine-driven hay-press which he hires out to farmers in the district. Wherever the hay-press goes, there goes the caravan with Mrs. Ling and her three daughters, sometimes for three days at a time.

Mrs. Ling, who is the wife of a London policeman, does the cooking and cleans up the "mess" which the hay-press leaves behind. Dorothy, Mary and Joan, aged respectively 24, 20 and 18, feed the machine. Their employer declares that while it is a very tricky job, they have mastered it admirably and have proved themselves every bit as good and reliable as men.

The 1941 Land Girl is slick and miles more attractive than her counterpart in the last war. Clad in workmanlike shirt and dungarees, slacks or jodhpurs, there is no possible resemblance to her predecessors who flapped about in shapeless skirts and blouses, complete with sunbonnets.

BOWLES TO SPEAK

PLAINVIEW, Oct. 10. (Special) C. E. Bowles, cooperative marketing specialist of Texas A. and M. college, will speak at 8 o'clock tonight at a cooperative educational-meeting in Plainview's agricultural building.

Moving pictures will be shown. Farmers of the entire South Plains are invited.

Labor Minister Bevin of Britain has asked all able persons over 65 to register for employment.

We The Women

Teaching science to 17- and 18-year-old boys might be a pretty tough assignment for a woman if she didn't have the liking and respect of her students. At that age boys are likely to have already acquired the masculine viewpoint that women's brains are below the standard of men's—or at least that they run "differently" from men's.

Because she realizes that very few bright young women who has such a job will have made it a point to keep herself well-informed, not just on scientific subjects—but on all matters that seem to interest the boys in her class.

When the Marx Brothers make a movie, she goes to it, so she'll understand the wisecracks that go on in her room during the following week.

When a famous dance band comes to town she makes a point of hearing it.

She reads the sports page of the evening paper so that she will have a broader knowledge of the sporting world than what kind of football season—her high school expects to have. She reads the funnies, too.

Consequently, the boys in her class like and respect her, because she understands their language, and even talks it occasionally.

THINGS THEY WEREN'T "SUPPOSED" TO KNOW
Her attitude toward what a teacher ought to know is entirely different from that of the New York teachers who are up in arms because of a general examination given those seeking first-assistant positions in the city school system. It included such "unschoolteacherish" questions as: "The race horse that became the world's greatest winner in 1940 was Man o' War, Seabiscuit, Level Best, Kayak II, Eighty-Three."

The teachers insist that such questions are "ridiculous, nonsensical, and asinine."

If Johnny, who has to be taught by those protesting teachers, were on the board of education, you can bet he would rule that the questions should stand. Johnny would know the answers to the questions the teachers flunked.

That is a good reason why the teacher should know the answers, too. No student is going to have much respect for a teacher who thinks it is "asinine" for him to be expected to know anything outside the subject which he is paid to teach.

Hallow'en Decorations Used At Birthday Party
Hallow'en decorations lent color to the party Mrs. Gordon Lane, 2405 Thirtieth street, gave for her daughter, Lee Ann, on her fourth birthday recently. A highly embossed cake was served with ice cream and balloons and horns were favors.

Guests were LaWanda Collins, Mary Katherine LaNotte, Mary Lynn, Kay and George Carter, Jean Ann Hale, Earl Howell, Charles Kreiger, Karen Kerr, Scott Woodfin, Betty Marie Taylor of Roswell, N. M., Mrs. J. A. Griffin, of Lamesa, maternal grandmother of the honoree and Mesdames E. L. Burns and W. C. Taylor of Reswell.

Colored movies were taken of the group.

Arkansas Visitor Named Honoree By Her Aunt
Miss Mary Catherine Boothe of Searcy, Ark., was named honoree Wednesday night when her aunt, Mrs. G. F. Kuykendall, 2101 Sixteenth street, entertained with an informal party.

Miss Boothe has been here a week and will leave today for her home. The guest list included Misses Jacqueline Davis, Sara Davies, Jane Prickett, Margery Hills, Catherine McCallum, Audrey Brinkley and Frances Lou Dean.

The group will meet next Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock with Mrs. Lindsey Thompson, 1919 Avenue M. Mrs. J. C. Sanders will discuss "Mine and Thine."

Thursday Quilting Club Meets in Pharr Home
Thursday Quilting club met with Mrs. E. L. Pharr, 2802 Ruby street, Thursday afternoon. Mrs. H. M. Williams, 2624 Alce, will be hostess next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at her home.

Attending were Mesdames Williams, E. J. Reed, R. H. Richard, A. B. Hallman and F. E. Hamilton, members, and Mesdames Roy Wells and Roy Boner, guests.

Salvador has a new law regulating the hours which stores and commercial houses may be open each day and limiting the hours of work of their employes.

FOR WORKING GIRL—$3.95 about is cost of this dress. Nancy is ready for inclusion in a trim wool-like frock of spun rayon. Simulated leather buttons and belt and pin-pleated pockets furnish plenty of trim—no apron frills or doo-dads to interfere with a busy day.

"JACKET-SKIRT" DRESS—This dress is, in one piece, but it achieves the desired "two-piece look." Three shades of grey are used. One in the stylish long-torso bodice, giving the effect of a jacket, two in the softly gathered skirt flounces. This wool frock was among the brightly, colorful New York creations that vied for attention with the ponies at fashionable Belmont Park race track.

RAUBS MILLS, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP)—A quick-thinking housewife blushing received all credit today for averting a freight train wreck.

Two telephone poles were blown across the Pennsylvania railroad tracks near Mrs. Foster Heinbach's home. Knowing a train was due to pass, she dashed up the tracks and flagged the freight.

Her signal cloth was a yep-red flannel.

Bond Election Set Saturday

(Special To The Journal)
MATADOR, Oct. 10—Taxpayers of Matador county on Saturday will vote on a proposed bond issue for $70,000 to improve the county road system, according to W. R. Cammack, county judge.

Each of the four commissioner precincts would be assigned a portion of the issue, if it is adopted. Precinct 1 (Matador) would receive $10,000; precinct 2 (Flomot) $30,000; precinct 3 (Northfield) $10,000 and precinct 4 (Roaring Springs) $20,000.

Would Buy Machinery
 From the above funds it is also proposed to purchase $15,000 worth of machinery necessary to maintain the county roads. It is pointed out by supporters of the program that Flomot school buses must travel 25 miles more daily to get around destroyed roads and bridges and that the Roaring Springs bus travels 16 additional miles daily.

Tax levy would be increased 10 cents per $100 valuation if bonds are approved. Interest would be 3.25 per cent.

Opposition To Plan Sounded

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—Congressional opponents of neutrality law revision decided today they would have to wage an all-out fight against President Roosevelt's request for authority to arm shipping, even though some in their ranks were not dead set against the idea of putting guns on merchantmen.

The big objective, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) explained, was to preserve the law's existing provisions prohibiting American-flag merchantmen from operating in combat zones or voyaging to belligerent ports.

Fear Senate Changes
 However, he said, many opposition legislators had come to the conclusion that unless a substantial vote could be mustered against the ship arming proposal in the House, administration forces in the Senate were likely to seek more sweeping changes, which would end the curb on ship movements.

"There are some who believe that the arming of ships might not be so bad in itself," Taft told reporters, "but when it is linked with a proposal to send those vessels into the war zone, the whole question must be considered."

Fish Makes Threat
 In the same vein, Representative Fish (R-N.Y.), ranking minority member of the House foreign affairs committee, said he would reverse his previous decision to support the armed ship proposal if it became apparent that this was "part of an administration plot to get rid of the combat zone provision in the Senate."

"In that case," he declared, "I will be against the whole darn thing."

President Roosevelt told Congress yesterday, in specifically requesting repeal of the ban on arming merchantmen, that he hoped the legislators would carry out the "true intent of the lend-lease act by making it possible for the United States to deliver the articles to those who are in a position to use them."

Traveling Salesmen To Gather Saturday
 Efforts are being made to swell membership of the newly organized Lubbock Traveling Salesmen's association and all traveling salesmen are urged to attend the next regular luncheon at 12:30 o'clock Saturday in Hilton hotel. Leonard Cole, secretary of the organization, announced this morning.

Saturday's luncheon will be the third meeting of the association. There are approximately 1,000 traveling salesmen from Lubbock traveling a trade territory of approximately 90,000 square miles, it was announced. Cole said efforts would be made to make the association's membership the largest of any civic organization in the city.

C. E. Lawrence, chairman of the program committee, announced that Hop Halsey, state representative of Lubbock, and Collier Paris, sports editor of the Avalanche-Journal, would be guests at the luncheon.

Reservations are not required of salesmen who are not members and wish to attend the luncheon, Cole said.

Nazis Backing Japs' Threats

(By The United Press)
TOKYO, Oct. 10—A Nazi diplomatic offensive gathered momentum in the Far East today—timed to coincide with the big push on Moscow—and the Tokyo press resumed discussion on measures Japan "might be forced to adopt in the north" to meet the expected Russian crisis.

Both official and unofficial Japanese quarters displayed marked pessimism regarding the outcome of the Tokyo-Washington negotiations for an American-Japanese rapprochement. German quarters persistently circulated reports that the talks have already broken down.

War Preparations Rushed
 German Ambassador Eugen Ott conferred at length with Nobuyuki Ito, chief of the government propaganda bureau, and Henrich Stahmer, Nazi diplomat who played the leading role in negotiating Japan's entry into the tri-partite military alliance returned to take up his post as Nazi ambassador to the Nanking government of China.

The Germans were taking the line that the moment had come for Japan to decide on "her next move." The same demand was reflected in newspaper comment which pressed the government to disclose whether any hope exists that the Washington convention will result in a guarantee of Japan's objectives in East Asia.

Japanese military authorities and high government officials were busy speeding up emergency preparations, particularly air raid precautions and food storage arrangements which the press said would put Japan on a complete war time footing to meet an early crisis.

Call For Bids On Houses Is Issued
 Call for bids for the construction of approximately 40 houses for the air corps training school being built west of the city was issued this morning.

Bids are to be received until 7:30 p. m. Thursday, Oct. 15, by Lubbock Homes, Inc., in the chamber of commerce.

The corporation was organized recently for the purpose of making certain that desirable houses will be available for renting to the commissioned personnel of the air base.

The call specifies that bidders are to submit separate proposals on houses and lots. Estimates are that the project will involve construction costing approximately $175,000.

Seven Persons Face Liquor Injunctions

Seven persons were enjoined in temporary restraining orders issued Thursday in 99th district court from possession or sale of intoxicants.

Orders were signed by Judge E. L. Pitts.

The defendants were ordered to appear in the court at 9 o'clock the morning of Oct. 16 to show cause why the injunction should not become permanent. The injunctive proceedings were brought by the attorney general's office and the Texas Liquor Control board.

J. E. Hilton, Carl Caywood, Willie Williams and Arnet Morgan were named in one order and J. J. Pipes, his wife, Juanita Pipes, and R. M. Hand were cited in the other.

Both proceedings were brought on the affidavit of Ray Hardwick, deputy supervisor of the liquor board.

It was alleged in the action that cases of liquor law violation had been filed against the defendants Caywood, Williams and Morgan late in September and against Caywood Oct. 3. It was set out that J. E. Hilton could and should have had knowledge of the illegal traffic of liquor in his hotel in 1000-block Avenue G.

Pipes was named this week on six complaints of violation of the liquor statutes, his wife on three cases and Hand in two. Seven other specific offenses were said chargeable to the three, who operate a cafe in 1200-block Avenue H.

Previously in such injunctive cases defendants have been ordered to post $1,000 bond or have their business houses or residences padlocked. Such premises in the past cases would be the hotel and cafe.

YOU TOO can get the benefits of complete uniform steam heat with Gasteam Radiators in YOUR home.

HERE'S WHY—The only way to heat a house uniformly is to use individual radiators at the coldest parts of the house. Cold air is thus warmed as it enters the house, regardless of wind direction, instead of flowing across the floor from room to room in order to get to a large centrally located heater. When you light your home, you put a bulb in every room—you wouldn't think of lighting it with a searchlight. The same idea applies in heating. Use vented Gasteam Radiators and eliminate moisture.

There are Gasteam Radiator sizes to meet every domestic and commercial use. They are easy to install, easy to use, and they are quickly available in your locality.

Lend-Lease Funds May Revitalize Latin America In Near Future

U. S. Money To Spark Defense

BY LAWRENCE S. HAAS
United Press Latin American Editor

The signing of an agreement in Washington between the State Department and the Brazilian ambassador for a loan to Brazil under the Lend-Lease act has accentuated the extent to which the United States is taking the Latin American countries under its financial wing.

The amount involved in the agreement was not made public, although it was believed to be between $90,000,000 and $110,000,000. In exchange for defense materials to be made available to Brazil under the provisions of the agreement, the United States will receive Brazilian raw materials essential to the defense industry but the precise products and their quality will be stipulated later.

Others Considered
Lend-Lease arrangements have been made with the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Paraguay and Uruguay, and it was indicated that similar agreements with virtually all of the other Latin American republics are being negotiated.

Last year a congressional authorization was voted enabling the Export-Import Bank to lend up to $500,000,000 to Latin American nations. This congressional action set a definite limit upon the amount of cash or credits that the bank is empowered to advance.

Disbursements Not Fixed
The aid under Lend-Lease provisions is limited only by the global amount of funds made available by Congress to the executive branch of the government, and it may be apportioned as the president deems fitting and necessary.

As the Latin American countries under the most favorable and prosperous conditions, are not geared economically to build and maintain heavy armament, it would appear reasonable to assume that the United States has accepted the obligation of arming its neighbors.

The layout of cash or its equivalent in military or naval material or supplies to be used for military purposes, apparently is being undertaken by the United States in view of the constant stress laid by American officials on the need for concrete continent-wide cooperation in hemispheric defense.

Wide Field For Aid
Defense cooperation as contemplated in inter-American relations could be subjected to the broadest interpretation. The United States conceivably may view the maintenance of a high standard of sanitary conditions in Latin America, the construction of financial stability, all as falling within the realm of hemispheric defense essentials and Lend-Lease funds thus might be used to stamp out malaria in West Indian islands, to finance public works in Central America and to bolster the national currency in a South American country.

The Argentine Congress has adjourned until next May without authorizing acceptance of $110,000,000 in loans and credits from the Export-Import Bank and the U. S. Treasury. The opposition political groups, which hold a majority in the Chamber of Deputies, blocked action on this legislation because of a purely domestic political conflict with the administration.

Argentina Needs Credits
Argentina is in urgent need of the credits. They are necessary, in part, to obtain new armament, to help finance farm aid through a surplus crop buying program, to provide the sinews for aid to Argentine industry under a program already authorized by the legislation. In accordance with Argentine laws, the credits cannot be accepted without legislative sanction, and speculation has arisen over whether an effort will be made to obtain the credits under a new arrangement that would not require congressional sanction. Thus, the possibility has been explored, at least of an arrangement under Lend-Lease whereby the operation could be made anew. An operation that would bolster the solvency of the agricultural, provide work in industry, strengthen exchange and thereby guarantee the national buying power in foreign trade—all contributing to a bulwark against social unrest—could be regarded in the light of defense needs. SMALLEST FISH

Pandaka pygmaea is the smallest fish known in the world. Reaching a minimum length of 6-16 inch, and a maximum of 7-10 inch, it is found in the waters of the Philippines. Japan's economic penetration into China has so far shown little profit.

MOULDED VERSE
ST. ALBANS, Vt. (AP)—When Poet John C. Long says he "moulds" a bit of verse, he isn't kidding. Long is a moulder by trade along with being an established poet. He jumped straight from a foundry into the fire of rhyming when he was 40 years old, and now, after seven years of writing, has published 73 poems and is soon to publish a new volume. Paris now has no taxi service.

Brave Fight Waged By Russians May Yet Stop Hitler's Invaders

Fury Of Nazi Drive At Peak

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Journal War Analyst

Grim danger still continues to press heavily on the Russian fighting lines, but it's significant that there appears to have been little change in the position since yesterday, excepting possibly in the far south where the Nazis are reported to be forging ahead along the shore of the sea of Azov toward the gateway to the Caucasus.

In the crucial central sector opposite Moscow the Reds seem to be resisting strongly and this in itself is a hopeful, though not conclusive sign for the Allies. Every hour that the Bolsheviks can continue to hold the Hitlerian advance is a golden one for the defense, since the fury of the great German drive probably has reached its peak.

Salients Are Extended

The Nazis claim to have extended the salients which they have been driving into the Red center, and this might be expected.

That battle along the bloody highway to the capital is one of the most amazing conflicts of history. The German soldiers—youths who have been trained to the fine edge of athletes—are flinging themselves into the pit of death with that courage which always has characterized the race. The perfection of the invading war-machine is amazing.

Even more amazing is the fact that it can be stopped. And the manner of its present holding is an epic, for we find civilians now fighting side by side with their soldiers in defense of country and the soil they love.

Claim Reds Are Crushed

The Germans assert that the Russian war is virtually over—that the Reds already are crushed. It may be, indeed, that the Muscovites have been so weakened that they are on the verge of collapse. Only time will demonstrate.

I do not believe, however, that the Reds are beaten. They likely will suffer further reverses. Moscow may fall, and the whole Russian line may be driven back even behind the mighty defenses of the Ural mountain chain.

But the only thing that can knock them clear out of the war, as this column has emphasized before, is a collapse of morale. It would be difficult to find any signs of weakening morale in a Red-fighting front in which civilians—humble folk who know nothing of the art of war—and never have been far from the little farms where they were born—are facing death-dealing terrors which are hard even for the professional soldier to face.

Drawing On Reserves

The Russians report they are drawing on their great reserve in manpower to ease the position on the central front. These troops cannot be expected to have the weight of the fully trained veterans already in the line, but they will ease the Red situation considerably.

There are millions more where they come from, as the Soviet recently called up the military class of 1922—nineteen-year-olds for military service. At the same time there was inaugurated the universal compulsory military training program which contemplates the largest peoples' army in history, involving all men from sixteen to fifty.

WHIRLY'S TAIL 'SHORTENED'—That long tail that's been Whirlaway's trademark went up in a braud for the muddy Travers Stakes at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., which Whirly won, pushing his earnings past $275,000. Jockey Alfred "Slim" Robertson is up.

News Briefs

Plan Cub Unit—Organization of a Boy Scout cub pack among negro boys is planned at a meeting of members of the women's social art club in Dunbar negro school tonight at 8 o'clock. Dr. C. C. Schmidt, South Plains council cub commissioner, is to attend. At 8:30 o'clock, Dr. J. A. Chairman, negro district scout commissioner, is to perfect the organization of a Lubbock district committee. Jack O. Stone, South Plains council executive, will attend.

Fig Gets Award—Custer's Lad 2nd, entry of Miller Bros. of Floyd, was grand and senior champion bear in the Chester White division at the Texas State fair in Dallas; the Associated Press reported.

Given Allotment—An allotment of $108,000 has been made for Lamb County Electric Cooperative, Inc., at Littlefield, the Associated Press reported.

Construction Begun—Texas-New Mexico Utilities Co. has begun construction on a 10-mile highline from Lubbock west to the twin-engine advanced training school at Hurlwood, said H. L. Allen, general manager. Work was delayed by arrival of copper wire, delivery of which was slowed by defense priorities.

SOME SIGN

It took a 255-pound keg of white lead to paint one letter in a large sign which covers the back of a race track grandstand at Ceredo, W. Va. The sign easily can be read from the neighboring state of Ohio.

In peacetime about 5 per cent of the U. S. Army's enlisted strength is composed of medical department personnel.

Granite Shaft At Spindletop

(By The United Press)

BEAUMONT, Oct. 10—A 60-foot, 150-ton granite shaft stood unveiled on famous old Spindletop field today as a memorial to the man who ushered in the nation's modern oil era.

The late Capt. Anthony F. Lucas, who drilled the first wildcat well at Spindletop 40 years ago, was honored by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association with dedication of the monument.

Founded Texas Industry

The famous Lucas well gushed out of control on Jan. 10, 1901, and flowed 800,000 barrels of crude oil in nine days. It founded Texas' $6,000,000,000 oil industry.

Spindletop's anniversary was observed by the association's 22nd annual convention which opened yesterday and will end tomorrow.

Everett de Goyer of Dallas, national director of petroleum conservation and friend of Lucas, made the memorial address. George A. Hill, Jr., Houston oil executive, dedicated the monument.

At the convention today, Lord Marley, deputy speaker of the British House of Lords, will make the principal address, discussing the relations of oil to the Allies' hopes of victory over the Axis.

Officers Are Chosen

The association elected George Sawtelle of Houston as its new president to succeed E. L. Smith, sr., Dallas. Other new officers were J. Cooke Wilson, Beaumont, vice president for the gulf coast district, and B. L. Lefevre, Big Spring, vice president for West Texas.

The 800 oil men and their wives attending the meeting will attend the wildcat jamboree and old timers' reunion at Spindletop near here tonight. Delegates will make a boat tour of this industrial district tomorrow.

Substitutes Bring On Big Quarry's Close

DENVER, Oct. 10. (AP)—The stone quarry from which was taken the marble for the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, parts of the Lincoln Memorial and the Colorado statehouse is to be shut down.

The Yule Colorado Marble company has announced that, because of the use of substitutes, there is little demand for the more expensive marble, and that the quarries on Colorado's western slope are being closed.

The largest piece of marble ever quarried was taken from the Gunnison, Colo., deposit for the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Three weeks were required to lower it from the quarry and a special railroad car was built to handle it.

Cadillacs Are Seen In City

The "finest Cadillac in 40 years" is being shown at Pup Thomas' Cadillac showrooms at 1616 Thirteenth street.

On display at Thomas Cadillac showrooms is the big, roomy Cadillac 61, that again brings a fine car plus economy within the reach of all who spend a thousand dollars and upward for a new car.

Powered with the famous Cadillac V-8 150 horsepower engine—that this year retains aluminum-alloy pistons along with every one of the important Cadillac engineering achievements, the 40th anniversary Cadillac for 1942 has been acclaimed a style and engineering masterpiece of the automobile world.

Standard Features
The long sweep of the extended projectile shape front fender blends harmoniously with a bold front grille and a smart rear quarter to make the 61 Cadillac an automobile beautiful in the tradition of fine car production. Its new body design adds lustre to Cadillac excellence.

Standard on new Cadillacs are the concealed running board, new type emergency brake conveniently mounted on the instrument panel, fabric lined glove compartment and many others, including interior styling by Fleetwood, center-armrest and other tonneau appointments that add luxurious comfort to Cadillac ownership.

Cadillac in 1942 has been building fine motor cars for 40 years and is now in its third year of intense production. And with the automobile industry placing stress on lesser car output, it is more important this year than ever before to buy the best.

In Six Series
And the Cadillac for 1942 ranks far ahead of any of the Cadillac achievements of the past 40 years in performance, economy and beauty. Greater vision through the new, wider V-type windshield is only one of many new safety features incorporated in the manufacture of the 1942 anniversary Cadillacs.

Ball-bearing steering makes the Cadillac for 1942 an easy-handling automobile, responsive to the slightest whim of the motorist. End to end shock absorbers give greater riding ease to the Cadillac automobile this year that are a prime example of forty years of fine car leadership.

The Cadillac is available this year in six series—the popular, economical 61 now on display at 1616 Thirteenth street at Pup Thomas' Cadillac showrooms; the 63, the 60-special, the 67 and 75 Cadillac-Fleetwood and best of all, 1942 Cadillacs are priced well within the reach of any one who plans to pay a thousand dollars upward for a new car this year.

Borger Takes 32-0 Game From Tahoka

BORGER, Oct. 10 (Special)—Jumping the week-end football game, Tahoka and Borger high school teams played a reckless, interesting game here last night, with the District I-A team marking up a 32-0 victory over the scrapping but outclassed Tahoka Bulldogs.

Borger, fast little scab-back, easily was the offensive star of the show as he slashed off tackles through the center and around ends for a counter in each of the first and third periods, and two in the fourth. His touchdown in the third electrified the crowd as he took the ball around the right side, eluded several tacklers and outspurred the field 73 yards for paydirt.

A touchdown he scored in the first period was called back and Borger drew an offside penalty, but on the next play he scored.

Defensively, the work of Elwood Nelson, John Gaddis, Curtis Hillman and Ed Carter, the latter playing his first game after being declared eligible Thursday, stood out in bold relief. Carter once stopped a Tahoka drive on the Borger 1-yard line when he caught Cecil Curry behind the line on fourth

SAN MARCOS WINS GEORGETOWN, Oct. 10 (AP)

Fleet Ted Haese galloping 50 yards for a touchdown turned apparent defeat into a victory for San Marcos Teachers' college over Southwestern university in the final period of their game here last night. A successful conversion after Haese's touchdown made the score: San Marcos 7, Southwestern 6.

Alvin Fredricks, steady ball totter, scored Borger's other counter in the second quarter.

Borger marked up 14 first downs to 9 for Tahoka, and made 227 yards from scrimmage to Tahoka's 149.

Coloradoans Expect Record Beaver Haul

DENVER, Oct. 10 (AP)—A record "take" is believed ahead for Colorado—beaver—trappers; modern counter-parts of the hardy men who roamed the rugged west in the same pursuit generations ago and thereby hurried along the vast region's settlement.

C. N. Feast, director of the Colorado Game and Fish commission, believes that this fall's record-breaking early snowfall in the Rocky Mountain region will make beaver pelts prime earlier than usual. He said that beaver trapping, which last year brought to markets some 12,000 pelts, should be well under way by Oct. 10.

"Beaver trapping was nearly a $150,000 industry in Colorado in 1940," Feast said, "and it promises to be much bigger this year. I think many more pelts will be taken."

For many years beavers were protected in this state. As a result they multiplied and became a nuisance and problem to ranchers and irrigation reservoir operators in some areas. After a state legislative fight, a new law was passed by the Colorado General Assembly covering state trapping of beaver on private lands. Under it land owners get 50 per cent of the proceeds from sale of pelts taken by state trappers on their property.

Mysterious Union Has Government Officials Of Mexico Puzzled

Move Growing Among Latins

BY MARSHALL HAIL
NEA Service Staff Writer

EL PASO, Oct. 10 — A strange new mass movement is rising in Mexico, and it has Mexican government officials guessing.

It is the national Sinarquista Union which its leaders claim now has an active membership of 700,000, with branches in the United States and throughout Latin America.

Some critics say the Sinarquista movement may be the forerunner of totalitarian rule. Its leaders say it will be the salvation of factious Mexico.

Union Is Warned

President Manuel Avila Camacho of Mexico recently warned the Sinarquistas to watch their step.

The word Sinarquista means "without anarchy" and is said to be a blend of rightists and leftists and in-between factions and a "united front" of the "Mexican family." In other words: One party — and

The Union has its fuhrer, a lawyer named Salvador Abascal, who demands and apparently receives blind obedience. The Union has its own banner — a silhouette of Mexico in a circle on a dark field. It has its salute — right hand across the heart. And its mottos:

Have Unusual Ideas

Last summer two Sinarquistas were shot to death by police in a cemetery in the town of Puruandiro, Michoacan, where members had gathered for memorial services. The police ordered them to disband because they had met without a permit, and the shooting followed.

Here enters a feature that puzzles the gun-toting Mexican politico. The Sinarquistas refuse to carry arms; they believe in non-violence — and even court martyrdom. "Hate an easy and comfortable life," says one of their "Rules of Sinarquistas."

Principles Studied

Just what are the Sinarquistas driving at? They have promulgated sixteen basic principles, the most important of which are:

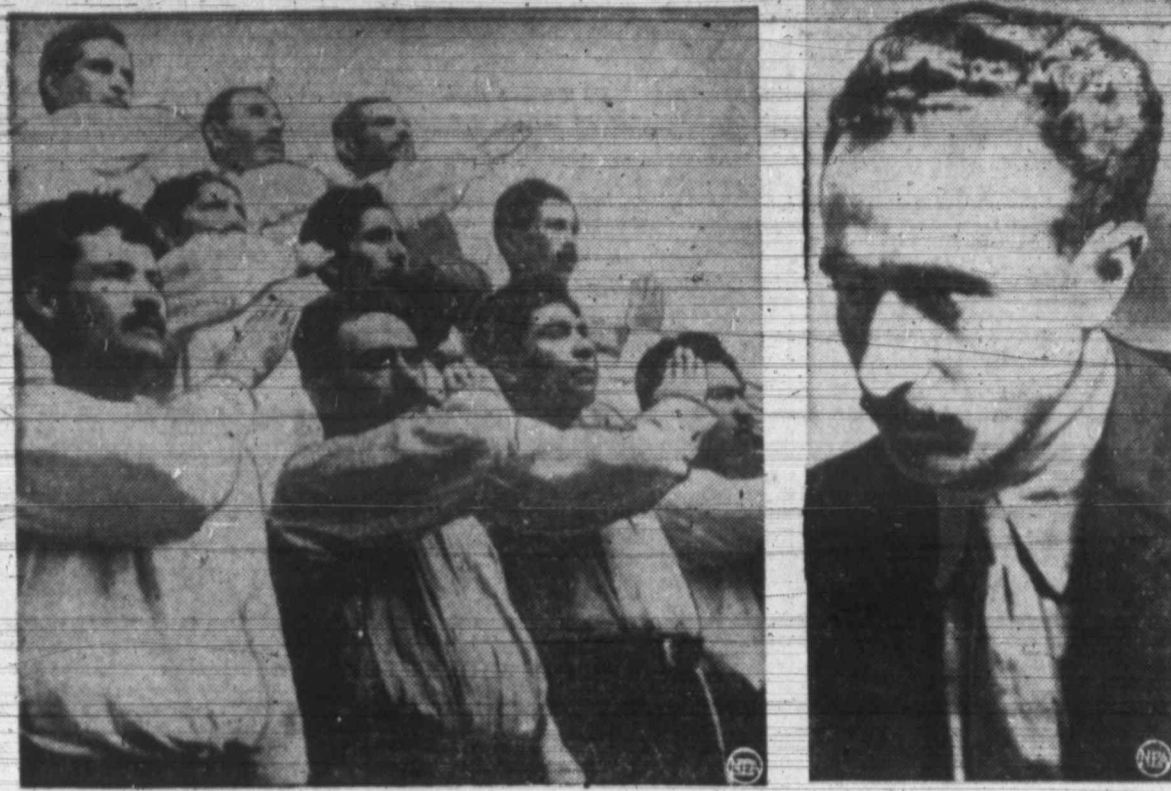

"We proclaim the real union of the Mexican family . . .

"We condemn the Communist tendency to unify all countries into a sole universal republic . . . and will defend the independence of Mexico.

"We repudiate the anti-patriotic trend to divide the people into leftist, rightist, revolutionary and reactionary parties . . .

"We refuse all symbols foreign to our nationality. The Nazi swastika, the Communist Red Star are not ours . . .

"We affirm the right of private property. To the Communist cry of 'All Proletarians' we pro-

PRINCIPALS IN MEXICAN MOVEMENT—Like most totalitarian movements, Mexico's mysterious National Sinarquista Union has its own salute, which some of its members are pictured giving. The Union has a banner, a fuhrer, and martyrs, too. The lawyer-leader of the Union is Salvador Abascal, who quit his law practice to lead Mexico's new mass movement towards a "united front of the Mexican family."

claim 'All Owners.' "Sinarquism condemns race hatreds. We urge close collaboration between labor and capital."

Refrain From Voting

Salvador Abascal quit his law practice four years ago to organize the Union in the Mexican city of Leon, Guanajuato, with a nucleus of 400 humble followers. The Union undoubtedly has grown. At a command from Abascal 30,000 Sinarquistas marched in parade in Morelia when President Avila Camacho visited there — despite an order from the military commander to disband.

Abascal is a quiet, slender, studious man who apparently tries to avoid any resemblance to dictators. Just how the Sinarquistas expect to gain control of Mexico is not clear, since they refrain from voting in elections. They evidently seek to convert everybody to their ranks.

Sailor Strikes Match To Fire Up Trousers

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 10 (AP)—Amateur fire fighters in Halifax found a blaze to their liking in a local restaurant when a sailor's trousers caught on fire. The seaman was attempting to light a match on the seat of his trousers when the fire started.

By the time city fire equipment reached the scene of action, persons in the restaurant had quelled the conflagration with a few well-placed smacks.

Man Gets Expenses 43 Years After Trip

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Oct. 10 (AP)—In 1898, Norman F. Ramsey, now a brigadier general in charge of the army arsenal here, returned to the United States from the Philippine islands, where he had been stationed during the Spanish-American war.

From 1898 until last summer, Congress periodically passed a bill granting mileage to Philippine veterans. Each time it was vetoed. Now, 43 years later, Ramsey has received a $382.94 check representing mileage.

MELVIN SISK RENAMED

LEVELLAND — Melvin Sisk, formerly of Slaton, who has been manager of the Hockley County Board of Development, was re-elected, it was announced by the board of directors, W. B. Little is president.

county and by the city of Lamesa, employs enrollees for woodwork and trains them in welding. Full quota is 40 boys.

Snyder has related woodworking with 40 youths enrolled. John Spiece and James Cowan are supervisors.

As in the Lubbock project, in which Harvey P. Christian is supervisor-teacher, wood working can be done in related projects both in work and in training. Furniture for various tax-supported agencies on a production basis is a big item.

Taxpayers are being saved large sums of money through the making of furniture and other articles in the shop at Texas Tech; one of the officials pointed out. He estimated that the $7,000 worth of equipment soon would be paid for in savings.

The same is true, he said, at Lamesa. X. R. Banks and Louzon Tinsley have charge of that project.

South Plains Agencies Aid In Preparing Youths For Defense

Three agencies are cooperating to prepare South Plains youths for work in defense industries and the employment record of such boys throughout West Texas bespeaks a job well done.

At Snyder, Lamesa and Lubbock, the National Youth Administration, the Texas State Employment service and the vocational division of the state department of education administer special defense projects.

Object of the projects is to train young men to step into vital defense industries and take jobs.

Records of the state NYA office show that 827-boys left training projects to enter defense work in August throughout Texas.

The NYA sets up and operates the training shop, pays a supervisor and boys in part-time labor, and furnishes equipment. Jennings Lewis, area-director with offices in Lubbock, supervises the NYA part of the projects in all three cities.

Supervisors and teachers are furnished by the education department and Pascal Bueker of Big Spring, district vocational supervisor, is in charge of that phase of the program for all three projects.

The Texas State Employment service has the job of selecting and referring workers to the various projects. At the end of training period the agency also is responsible for placing the youths in industry.

Supervisors Listed

TS&ES directors nearest each project handle that part of the work. W. B. Winn is in charge in Lubbock; E. D. Wilson of Sweetwater, at Snyder, and O. R. Rodden of Big Spring, at Lamesa.

Representatives of the three agencies from the local contact administration and it is through their approval that boys are selected for training. Vacancies exist in each of the projects, Lewis said.

Youths work 160 hours a month and receive a total of 60 hours training. They receive $24 each a month.

Saving To Taxpayers

Twenty boys are assigned to the Lubbock project at Texas Technological college. They are employed in the woodworking shop and have woodwork as related training.

In some of the projects, such as that at Lamesa, work and training may not be related. The Dawson county project, sponsored by the

Iceland Goes On Water Wagon As War Dries Up Liquor Stock

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Oct. 10 (AP)—Iceland is going dry—slowly but surely. All liquor consumed here except native beer and a spirit Icelanders call "Black Death" comes in by boat. And boats are used for far more important things these days. A one per cent beer of surpassing flatness is the only alcohol beverage available in the capital's hotels and restaurants. The wine monopoly has sold out its stock and closed for the duration of the war. Soon all liquor except the beer and whisky supplied to British troops and officers' messes will be gone. Even the British supplies are dwindling. British officers, accustomed to gin and bitters (called gimlet before meals and whisky-and-soda afterwards) are down to a ration of a third of a quart of whisky per week. Of course, there still are "ways and means." As in America's prohibition days, the thirsty may buy a quart of Scotch from a taxi driver—at 200 kronur, or about $16 a bottle.

Nova Scotia Cow Has An Envious Record

NAPPAN, N. S., Oct. 10 (AP)—Lord's Model is the distinguished name of a cow in Nappan but that is not her only distinguishing feature. In nine lactation periods she produced 69,969 pounds of milk and 4,089 pounds of fat. This feat puts Lord's Model in a class with eighteen other cows in Canada which have produced 4,000 pounds of fat or over. She is the first cow in Nova Scotia to qualify in this class. Lord's Model was imported from Jersey Island some years ago and since that time she has been on

SMYER BOY PROMOTED

SMYER—Preston Wynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Wynn, who has been at Fort Bliss, was sent to Angel Island, Calif., for service in the Philippines. He enlisted with the anti-aircraft unit of the 200th Coast Artillery regiment. Forwarding a check of $70 to the mayor's fund for air raid victims in Oxford, England, the Hon. Mrs. Pakenham said the money had been raised by stripping the gold braid from the Life Guard's uniform of her father-in-law, the late Earl of Longford.

Benefits Of Liberal Teaching Are Cited

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP)—Students of liberal teachers learn more rapidly and study harder than pupils of non-liberals, the American Psychological Association was told by Dr. Harry M. Mason of the U. S. bureau of agricultural economics. He said a national study of higher education and secondary schools disclosed a direct ratio between liberalism of instructors and the learning ability of pupils.

Teachers with liberal opinions not only stimulate their pupils to have more liberal views, Mason said, "but also motivate them to read more, display more interest in current events and participate in more activities."

Dr. George W. Hartman, Columbia University professor, joined in a plea for liberalism of education, but emphasized that educational liberalism was far ahead of public liberalism in the upper classes.

In a survey of 777 bankers and advocates of progressive education, he said, every teacher showed a higher liberalism rating than the highest ranking banker. The average liberalism rating of bankers was only 16.69 per cent, com-

"V" For Victory Game New Rival For Bingo

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 10 —The outlawed game of Bingo shortly may be supplanted by a new game here—"V for Victory." The game, as described by persons familiar with it, differs only in that cards instead of grains of corn are used and that when a row has been filled with cards, the successful players shout, "Victory!" instead of "Bingo!" Police are considering whether it is permissible to play "V for Victory" after numerous calls from churches and social clubs.

Iona Island Naval base was established at the turn of the century, having been bought by the Navy from private owners who used it as a public picnic and recreation grounds...

At the time the base was established, about 1901, it was thought that the island was large enough to care for any expansion necessary.

Curly came down with him the following day. They began cutting huge holes in the hull. They wore metal suits, with lines fastened to the Aurora's winches by a boom.

Curly observed, "Now all we need is a bottom to put the ore in." And, as though in answer, one of the crew shouted, "Ship to starboard!"

Jim saw a ship, crawling like an insect across the horizon. He went to the chartroom and got binoculars. His face clouded as he examined the craft through the glasses.

He said, "It's that Cuban schooner, Curly. The one we met a couple of months ago, before we found the Sonora."

"And that means trouble, eh?" Curly asked.

"It'll be back tonight, Spike. It'll be back tonight, Spike. It'll be back tonight, Spike."

Secret Voyage

YESTERDAY: The stranger offers Jim Mallory $25,000 if he will tell him the location of the Sonora and break his contract with Jeffrey Hammond.

EMPTY HOLD CHAPTER IX The Aurora rode out a gale during the next three days. Jim made his second descent to the sunken ship when the sea calmed, and found that task had become more difficult.

The water boiled as the blast went off, and the Aurora's hull gave a shudder. Bits of wreckage floated up.

Curly observed, "Now all we need is a bottom to put the ore in." And, as though in answer, one of the crew shouted, "Ship to starboard!"

PAY INCREASES IN THE ARMED SERVICES

Despite the truly frightening tax burden this nation already carries, the opposition likely would be negligible if Congress should give consideration to any of the various proposals that pay increases be provided for men in our armed services.

It is true, of course, that the pay that enlisted and drafted men now receive is "velvet." It is true, also, that men in the services of the United States are the next-to-best paid in the world—ranking behind the Australians.

But it also is true that it does not appeal to the American sense of fair play that one young man receiving $21 per month may be called upon to die while another young man who happens to belong to a labor union considers himself free to strike upon his job and thus help to deny our soldiers, sailors and marines the weapons upon which their very lives may depend.

A reasonable increase for the men now receiving the least—and of whom the nation may soon expect the most—would seem a matter of equity and of justice.

Furthermore, it might prove the most effective tonic possible to the lagging morale about which there has been much talk.

him out of the suit, and Curly's face wore a strained tight expression. He said nothing before the crew but jerked his head for Jim to follow him to the captain's cabin.

There, he said, "Spike, that forehead is empty." Enough had happened because of the Sonora that nothing more could be surprising.

"The ore is there it's slim pickings. The Sonora is a small tub, and even a full cargo of manganese wouldn't have made you rich. Are you going to cut into the ore?"

"I'll tear the Sonora apart," Jim replied, "and if I don't get my money out of her I'll have a chat with Mr. Jeffrey Hammond."

"Yes, but if there's no salvage I can't collect a cent."

Blacksheep opened the door and stuck his ebony head in. "Spike, a boat's comin'!"

Jim picked up the revolver at the desk and went to deck. The craft was far off across the blue water, but he was sure it was not the schooner they had seen the night before.

Curly came up, asking, "What do you make of it, Spike?"

"It's a yacht, Hammond's, I think. And I hope so. I want to talk with that man."

"It may be a trap, Spike. You've led him to the Sonora's position, and we know somebody wanted badly to know where she went down."

"This is no trap, Hammond won't work that way."

"You Don't Need to Fill Out the Last One"

BY PETER EDSON Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—Existence of a huge, governmental propaganda machine has frequently been charged, and has been looked upon with considerable fear and trembling.

There is in the Office of Government Reports a section known as the United States Information Service. One of the OGR functions is to take all the information huddled and pressed together, pulled out by the government agencies and built them down for the information of all the government agencies.

Then there is the United States Civil Service, which grades and classifies all government employees. But USCS can only guess at how many information specialists there are in government service today.

CONFLICT WITH LAW CITED

ONE thing that makes it extremely difficult to get any official estimates on the size of this human machinery of information spreading is that there is a law against it, passed by Congress back in October, 1913.

"No money appropriated by any act shall be used for the compensation of any publicity expert unless specifically appropriated for that purpose."

The term "publicity" as used in this act has been interpreted to cover activities which might be said to advertise functions or services rendered by any government agency or which might be put out with the idea of obtaining public support for the continuation or expansion of existing departmental activities.

Today, however, this anti-governmental-propaganda law is practically dead—dead letter. It is cited now and then in hearings before the Appropriation Committee when some federal department of cabinet rank, or some independent agency is presenting its budget and its request for funds to continue operations. But in every case, the government agency will reply in effect that it has no publicity experts, that it is engaged in no propaganda-like activities.

Technicality, that may be a correct answer. But it still cannot screen the actual existence of the huge public information-spreading machine in Washington principally, but scattered all over the country—in practically every one of the thousands of administrative branch offices which the federal departments maintain.

FROM CONVENIENCE TO CANCER

THE existence of this complicated service of information can be justified on many counts, the principal one being that, in a democracy, the citizens are entitled to know what their government is doing. And many government ment agencies, in the acts of Congress creating them, are specifically charged with the task of furnishing the public with information.

No newspaper man could function in Washington today without the help of these information specialists and in most cases, the government public relations men are former newspaper men who have a definite knowledge of what newspapers and trade papers want, and see that they get it.

At the same time, in the constantly increasing complexity of government, with new bureaus springing up so fast that they crowd each other out of Washington, the original good intentions and noble motives of the public information sections have been perverted to an amazing degree.

The growth of the public information machine in Washington began with the New Deal, and with the superimposing of the defense effort on the New Deal, the public relations racket has become a government cancer.

FAIR WEEK . . . THIS WEEK! BUT COLD WEATHER AHEAD

It is important this year to have your car checked for winter driving. Anti-freeze supply is limited, therefore you should have your car checked to see that radiator hose and heater hose are in first class condition. Don't lose your anti-freeze because of faulty connections. The manufacturers say . . . "check your anti-freeze and your car early . . . if you wait you may be disappointed."
