"ALLIES DOUBTED!" SAY NAZIS

Reports Claim Slavs' Capital Will Be Razed

Germans To Pound City In Effort To Crush Guerrillas

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The White House disclosed today that government intelligence services had reported Germany was preparing to raze Belgrade, capital of conquered Yugoslavia, because the Nazis are convinced that the Chetniks, Serbian guerrillas, are using it as a base of operations.

Stephen Early, presidential press secretary, said the report had come in last night. Asked the purpose of disclosing military intelligence, he said he expected to see the report printed. But when Roosevelt hoped thereby to deter the German plans, Early said he would not say so even if that was the president's desire.

Mighty Assault Planned

The reports, Early said, according to the declaration of a high German official, declare that "the bombardment to which Belgrade has been subjected will be nothing to compare with what is now in store for the city."

Referring to a memorandum before him, Early continued:

"The Germans have decided to raze Belgrade, which will be surrounded by troops and exposed to bombardment by artillery and from the air. Those giving the government these reports are convinced that the Germans have decided to carry this attack on in the same way as they have done previously in the city of Sabac."

Origin Not Revealed

Sabac is about 50 miles west of Belgrade.

"The exact origin of the report that Belgrade would be destroyed was not given by Early, but last Tuesday the London Daily Mail quoted Gen. Dusan Simovic, Yugoslav premier, as saying that he had received information "this was to be done."

"The Yugoslav government in London already has informed Eden (British foreign secretary) of the atrocious outrage which the Nazi government is preparing," Simovic was quoted as saying. "We have instructed our representatives in Washington and Vatican City to urge the United States government and the Holy See to demand that the Germans abandon their intentions."

City To Observe Traditional Thanksgiving

Lubbock To Close Up Shop Thursday

Most of Lubbock will participate Thursday in the observance of the traditional last Thursday in November as Thanksgiving.

About the only ones who won't participate will be children in city schools who received their "Thanksgiving" holiday last week. They will go to classes as usual, although Dr. W. B. Irvin, city superintendent, has announced that pupils will not be penalized because of their absence if their parents wish to take them on holiday trips.

Arrangements for their absence should be made before or after the holiday with the principal of the child's school, the superintendent said.

Merchants To Close

However, to be closed throughout the day will be member firms of the Retail Merchant's association, banks, city and county offices, FHA offices and Texas Technological college.

Tech classes will not be resumed until next Monday morning.

At the postoffice, windows will be open until noon and one residence delivery will be made, but none in the business district.

The Union Thanksgiving service sponsored by Lubbock Ministerial association will be held in St. John's Methodist church, Fourteenth street and Avenue X, with Rev. D. L. McCree the host pastor. The service will start at 10 a. m. and an invitation has been extended to the public to attend.

Rev. John A. Winslow, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church and president of the ministerial association, will preside. Rev. W. Jack Lewis, associate pastor of First Presbyterian church, will deliver the sermon, his subject being "God's Day Ends With Dawn." Rev. Albert T. Loring, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, will pronounce the benediction. Mrs. C. E. Herford is to be pianist and Mrs. Rex Webster is to sing.

A special service also is planned at 11 o'clock in the First Church of Christ, scientist, 2202 Broadway, according to Mrs. J. J. Modrall. Participants in the program will include T. B. Zellner, first reader, Mrs. Elizabeth Watson, second reader, Mrs. Sam H. Reid, who is to sing, and Mrs. Byron Dickinson, who will play the accompaniment.

Traffic officials joined in a warning to those planning motor trips that the Thanksgiving traffic accident toll usually is one of the heaviest of the entire year. They advised special care in driving.

Charles Gifford, pastor of Gospel tabernacle, said regular Thursday night services would be conducted, with specific attention to Thanksgiving. There will be singing, special reading and a sermon. "You Can Defeat the Devil by Thanksgiving."

"U. S. To Pay Dearly," Is Proud Boast

Even America Will Fail To Help Win War—Ribbentrop

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop declared today that even if the United States entered the war against the Axis she could not prevent the triumph of Germany and her allies.

He told signers of the anti-comintern pact that Germany already has won her campaign against Soviet Russia and said the war now hinges up as a fight with Britain, and her "trans-Atlantic helpers."

Americans To Pay Dearly

The American people will pay dearly for President Roosevelt's policies, von Ribbentrop declared. "It is clear that the American taxpayer must bear the chief burden of this English war against Germany," he said. "The constant pouring of materials out of America without any compensating values will in a relatively short time bring this land to an economic crisis the like of which no land has yet seen."

He added, however, that von Ribbentrop told statesmen of the Axis and its satellite nations, remains the last powerful ally of Britain. He added that Hitler long had calculated upon the hostility of a "small clique of leaders" in the United States.

Outcomes Decided

No matter whether or to what extent the United States delivers war materials to England, the outcome of the war cannot be changed, he declared. Neither, he said, is Russia in a place to make any change.

"If it should so develop that there would be war between the United States on one side and Europe on the other, the responsibility is clearly on Roosevelt," von Ribbentrop said.

He added, however, that any idea of a German military attack on the United States was "fantastic foolishness," and said that charges that Hitler planned world conquest, destruction of religion, and Nazi dominance of South America were products of deliberate propaganda nurtured by the American press.

Von Ribbentrop repeated the German contention that Roosevelt was a "chief instigator" of the war, and questioned whether the American people, whom he de-

Showsdown On Price Control To Be Sought

Bitter Fight Seen Over Proposal To Okay Licensing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—House Minority Leader Martin of Massachusetts said after a conference of the Republican membership today that a strong effort would be made to send the price-control bill back to the banking committee if a licensing provision were re-stored.

A few minutes later on the House floor, two Democrats and Reps. Cox of Georgia and Dies of Texas— took the floor and urged that the measure be re-committed.

Gain Chance To Act

Cox forecast that the substitute "over-all" price control bill proposed by Rep. Gore (D-Tenn.) would be defeated as well as an effort to restore the licensing provision to the selective control bill approved by the banking committee. Such action, he said, would warrant sending the legislation back to the committee "and then we will have a chance to do something."

Dies announced he would vote to send the bill back to the committee. "I refuse to put this power into the hands of enemies of this country," he repeated his allegations that top-ranking officials of the price administration had records of affiliation with Communist organizations.

Tired Of Arrogance

He said Price Administrator Leon Henderson's only response to the charges was to tell the banking committee that "I am not a responsible member of Congress."

Banging his fist on the reading desk, Dies shouted:

"I am sick and tired of the arrogance of bureaucrats who infect this government."

Shouts of approval arose from the Republican side as Dies announced his intention to vote for recommitment.

Meanwhile, Henderson, who had been conferring with Speaker Rayburn during the Republican conference, quoted for newsmen an excerpt from the 1927 annual report of Herbert Hoover as food for thought, stating that "the licensing system, however, is the backbone of all control. Without compulsion there will always be a few slackers in every trade who will profit by the patriotism of the majority and prevent any effective control."

U. S.-Japanese Talks Reach Critical Stage

Americans Warned To Leave Far East In Urgent Appeal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The extended diplomatic conversations between the United States and Japan were reported today to be close to their critical final stages.

Both governments held their official silence on the exact status of the discussions, but an atmosphere of "breathing spell" in the Far East to provide time for more extended discussion of critical issues between the United States and Japan.

The American proposal for a temporary agreement, which would prevent Japanese troops from entering a limited area of the Far East, was reported to have been rejected by Japanese officials.

Emergency Board Will Review Rail Dispute

FDR Is Making Unprecedented Effort To Avert Walkout By Reconvening Board

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—In a final effort to stave off a nationwide railroad strike, President Roosevelt has resorted to an unprecedented procedure in reconvening a special emergency board for review of some new "facts" that have developed since the board reported on Nov. 5.

The five board members were notified by telephone and telegraph last night to attend a preliminary meeting at the White House tomorrow.

The president asked them to begin their new hearings Friday, allotting one day each to representatives of management and the brotherhoods for testimony, and then report to him next Monday, six days before a scheduled strike of the five operating unions.

Veteran strike mediators said they could not recall a presidential emergency board ever having been called back into session once it had reported on a case.

Both sides in the rail dispute were to hold sessions today to arrange for the new hearings, according to representatives of management and the brotherhoods for testimony, and then report to him next Monday, six days before a scheduled strike of the five operating unions.

English Admit Nazi Rally In North Africa

Germans Reported Crunching Nearer Soviets' Capital

AXIS front-line dispatches declared today that British troops south of Rezegh, scene of a three-day battle of massed tanks, had been encircled and "annihilated" with more than 5,000 prisoners captured, and German military quarters asserted flatly that the Libyan desert campaign could no longer be regarded as a British offensive.

Rezegh is 16 miles south of Tobruk.

British Middle East headquarters said the Germans had rushed up reinforcements to Rezegh and that a big battle was expected there momentarily.

British Claims Advances

A Cairo bulletin reported that the British Tobruk garrison had smashed deeper into Axis siege lines and declared that strong British tank reinforcements, previously held in reserve, were now moving into the forward battle zones to bolster other imperial armored columns which had been reorganizing for a new attack in the Rezegh area.

Other dispatches indicated that the British expected a lengthy struggle.

As the battle yaged into its ninth day, even British reports reflected a sharp setback to earlier hopes for a lightning sweep to knock the Axis army of North Africa.

Nazis Imperil Moscow

On the Russo-German war front, the Russians admitted serious new German gains on the northern and southern flanks of Moscow's defense area, but declared that Red army counter-attacks in the Ukraine had thrown the Nazis back six more miles northwest of Rostov-on-Don, in the sector where the Germans had already lost from 37 to 60 miles.

The Vichy (French) radio, quoting "German front reports," said Nazi mechanized forces had slashed through Red army defenses to

BY RUTH MILLETT

It's true that Mrs. Housewife is going to have to keep a watchful eye on her household allowance this winter, and also that she will have to do some fancy skimming and pinching to make it stretch.

But the woman who is really hospitable won't use that as an excuse for skimping on hospitality. For there are plenty of ways in which a woman can cut down on the cost of entertaining without sacrificing her graciousness as a hostess.

She can substitute informal buffet meals, which she can manage without having any help, for the more formal dinners that took two in the kitchen to swing.

She can get busy and pick out several recipes for low-cost dishes, instead of feeling that no dish is good for company unless it is known to be expensive.

She can cut out the big bridge parties where three or four hostesses invite 50 or 60 women for luncheon and bridge, and which show about as much individual hospitality as a benefit party.

She can — and will probably have to — persuade her husband to substitute a before-dinner drink for a series of drinks, and so feature food instead of liquor at their parties.

CUT "MUSTS" OUT YOUR LIST

She can part with the notion that guests always have to be planned for in advance and entertained elaborately and start extending last minute "Do come home with me for dinner" invitations, which often turn out to be the most appreciated kind.

And one thing she can do to cut down on the cost of entertaining that will make social life even more satisfactory than it has been in the past is to cut completely off her list all the people she doesn't really like. Her hospitality won't suffer from that, because there is no real hospitality involved when a hostess groans before and after extending an invitation.

Miss Betty Jean Jones Is Bluebonnet Belle Nominee This Year

Miss Betty Jean Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hub Jones of 2114 Thirtieth street, is on the list of Bluebonnet Belle nominees at the University of Texas. Three hundred 24 University of Texas co-eds were elected nominees of 1942 by popular vote in campus organizations.

Only 13 of the girls will be chosen for the Bluebonnet Belle beauty section of the Cactus, campus yearbook, but all 374 will be presented at the 13th annual Round-Up revue and ball next March 27.

The University of Mexico was founded in 1553.

Decorations To Be Put Up Soon

Developments were several this morning in connection with plans here for the most elaborate Christmas holiday decorations the South Plains ever has seen.

Perhaps the most important among them was the announcement that the work of putting the decorations in place will be started Friday under the direction of John Graham, superintendent of the city electric plant.

Appropriate Music Planned

Others were the announcement that most of the major details in connection with plans to flood the business district with appropriate music during two weeks of the holiday period have been completed, and the statement by Dr. J. C. Anderson, chairman of the chamber of commerce decorations committee, that every business establishment in the city limits is eligible for the competition for the $50, $25 and $15 cash prizes.

Cost Is Prorated

The street light ornaments are to consist of sleeve shades which will fit over the lamps and green spruce taping to be twisted about the top half of the poles. This cost has been prorated among business houses according to the frontage of streets to be decorated. The decorations committee emphasized that the ornaments will be put up only in those blocks where payment has been made for them.

Relative To The Decorations Contest, Dr. Anderson Explained

Relative to the decorations contest, Dr. Anderson explained he has been asked whether competition was limited to downtown business establishments or was city-wide in nature. He declared that every place of business is eligible and is invited to compete. He suggested, however, that before the judges make their inspections on Dec. 5, the operators of places outside the downtown district which are decorated should call the chamber of commerce. This will insure they will not be overlooked by the judges, who will serve as a secret committee, Dr. Anderson explained.

Non-Jury Cases Hold Attention In Federal Court Rest Of Week

With naturalization matters out of the way, a holiday Thursday, and the jury instructed to report next Monday instead of today as originally planned, federal district court this week will be devoted to hearing of non-jury cases.

Two cases were scheduled to be called this morning on the day's docket. Both are non-jury matters, to be tried before Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, presiding. I. D. O'Neil has filed suit against Mack Oil & Gas Co., and D. D. Dennis seeking damage against J. E. Mabee and others.

19 Become Citizens

No cases are scheduled for Thursday, but it was indicated that one of the cases set for today may last through tomorrow.

Naturalization matters Tuesday afternoon attracted wide attention and a large crowd was present to see 19 persons, renounce their former allegiance and to become American citizens. It was one of the largest naturalization ceremonies in Lubbock, directed and Judge Davidson presided over the session.

The 19 came from 16 different countries or dominions, including three parts of the British empire.

Miss Jeffie Maddox, deputy court clerk, administered the oath of allegiance which the new citizens signed the oath in the clerk's office and were given certificates.

Presented American Flags

Six members of the juniors of the American Legion auxiliary, directed by Mrs. Marvin McLarty, presented American flags to Miss Jeffie Maddox, deputy court clerk, administered the oath of allegiance which the new citizens signed the oath in the clerk's office and were given certificates.

Besides Miss Maddox, others participating in the song were, Florence Carruthers, Carol Ann McLarty, Lorraine Barry, Mary Jo Baber and Betty Jean Baber. Mrs. George Berry, past state president of the auxiliary, representing that group, gave a short talk on citizenship and the audience closed with singing "God Bless America."

J. L. Daffron of El Paso, of the bureau of immigration and naturalization, recommended to the court the 19 persons, including three repeatriates. Judge Davidson asked if the group "understood our form of government and realized the duties of American citizenship." Daffron said he believed they did, from his questioning.

Judge Makes Talk

In a half-hour talk on the duties and privileges of citizenship, Judge Davidson held the plaintiffs and set the cases for hearing Dec. 9. Two other fair labor-standard cases were continued pending a decision in the Betts case, now before the U. S. supreme court.

New citizens were: Mrs. Gertrude Pilling Cobb, Germany; Philomena Ryan (Sister M. Loyola) from Newfoundland; Lewis Michaelson, Mrs. Rebecca Eeva and Bonich Spector, Russian; Clarence Taylor, Foster, Mrs. Anna Manthey and John Stockinger, Canada; Loyalor Freitag, Poland; Frank Joseph Millic, Yugoslavia; Arthur Egan, Finland; and Esther Stanley, Sweden. Eiler Lovata and Felix Vilacal, Gonzales, Mexico and Valentin Apostle Vachilades, Turkey. Repeatriates were, Anna Biffle H. O'Leary, Mary Ann Seipt and Hazel Pearl Farmer Soucy.

Personals

Pythian Sister Temple Plans Turkey Dinner

Pythian Sister Temple and husbands will attend a turkey dinner Thursday night at 6 o'clock at the Knights of Pythias hall, immediately followed with annual roll call for the Temple.

Judge Davidson Pointed Out That Nation Made Up Of People From Many Countries

Judge Davidson pointed out that the nation "is made up of people from many countries." He sketched the history of the colonies from the beginning to the American revolution. Persons who become, by their own actions, new citizens, must renounce allegiance to their former country and also swear allegiance to their new country.

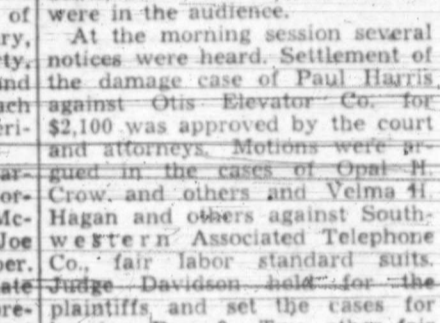

Events that led up to the Revolutionary war were sketched briefly, "the colonies fell out with the mother country because it wanted to tax the colonies without representation." The declaration of independence was signed July 4, 1776, in which the colonies declared themselves a separate nation. A long, hard row had to be traveled before the nation actually came into being, he said. The constitution, as adopted, sets forth the objects of freedom for which the colonists had fought. Americans have security of religious freedom, right of assembly, freedom from imprisonment because of debt and the security of person, life and liberty, Judge Davidson pointed out.

Oath Is Administered

While the oath was being administered, Major Joseph H. Hagan and others against Southwestern Associated Telephone Co., fair labor standard suits, Judge Davidson held for the plaintiffs and set the cases for hearing Dec. 9. Two other fair labor-standard cases were continued pending a decision in the Betts case, now before the U. S. supreme court.

New citizens were: Mrs. Gertrude Pilling Cobb, Germany; Philomena Ryan (Sister M. Loyola) from Newfoundland; Lewis Michaelson, Mrs. Rebecca Eeva and Bonich Spector, Russian; Clarence Taylor, Foster, Mrs. Anna Manthey and John Stockinger, Canada; Loyalor Freitag, Poland; Frank Joseph Millic, Yugoslavia; Arthur Egan, Finland; and Esther Stanley, Sweden. Eiler Lovata and Felix Vilacal, Gonzales, Mexico and Valentin Apostle Vachilades, Turkey. Repeatriates were, Anna Biffle H. O'Leary, Mary Ann Seipt and Hazel Pearl Farmer Soucy.

College Plans Advisory Body

Plans for a faculty advisory committee to the administration of Texas Technological college were announced Tuesday afternoon by Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president.

The committee will consider matters affecting faculty, students and general college problems, and will make recommendations from time to time to the president of the college, said President Jones.

The committee may nominate one of its members for appointment to the administrative council. The committee will be made up of 12 faculty members, four of whom will serve in the order of this scholastic year, four the remainder of this year and next scholastic year, and four the balance of this year and the two succeeding scholastic years.

Defense Stamps Are Bought By Students

Defense stamps worth $260.27 have been purchased by city school pupils, officials reported Tuesday.

Students of Senior High school make their purchases directly from the postoffice or Lubbock merchants. The stamps are bought at $10 or $25 invested in stamps or bonds, it was said.

"I feel that the practice of buying defense stamps is good for children," said Dr. W. B. Irvin, superintendent of schools. "They feel that if they can invest in stamps in their country, the country is partly theirs. Children's taking part in the defense program will strengthen the morale of the nation."

Tank Production

This is the ultimate production goal of the tentative program which would be 33,000 tanks a year, as compared with the present objectives, which call for 1,000 medium and 400 light tanks monthly. Recent reports indicated that delivery of light tanks already had reached the 300-a-month mark.

Barker Picks Navy To Defeat Army, Oregon To Nip Oregon State, Tulsa Over Arkansas

Close Games Expected To Highlight Last Big Week End For America's Grid Fans

BY HERB BARKER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Closing the books on the 1941 football-guessing contest:

Thursday, Nov. 27.
Texas A. and M.-Texas: The Aggies have achieved their first objective—the Southwest conference title—but a bowl assignment still beckons and that should be surety that A. and M. will be "high" for this game even if its traditional rivalry with Texas were not sufficient. Everyone's trying to explain what happened to Texas. Possibly the Aggies will learn nothing permanent happened to Texas. In the meantime, A. & M.

TULSA-Arkansas: This should be close but the Missouri valley champions look plenty tough.

Wichita-OKLAHOMA A. & M.: Probably close. Oklahoma A. and M.

SATURDAY, NOV. 29

ARMY-NAVY: This should be one of the best games of the year. Army seems to cash in more frequently on its opportunities. However, the Cadets appear sadly over-matched with respect to manpower and this ball game goes to Navy.

Nod To Vanderbilt
FORDHAM-New York University: Fordham, decisively.

Tennessee-VANDERBILT: Not easy, for Tennessee has been coming along steadily in recent weeks. Still, the records can't be ignored and this nod goes to Vanderbilt.

TULANE-Louisiana State: Tulane.

MISSISSIPPI-Mississippi State: Conference title hinges on this. On backfield strength, Mississippi.

Georgia Tech-GEORGIA: Frank Sinkwich should be enough to put this one in the win column for Georgia.

STANFORD-California: This could spell trouble for Stanford but the Indians still have a chance for the Rose Bowl and rate the nod.

Oregon Over Oregon State: OREGON-Oregon State: Oregon State needs this one to be virtually certain of the Rose Bowl assignment. Strictly out of the hat.

BOSTON COLLEGE-Holy Cross: Boston College.

PITT-Carnegie: Taking Pitt for obvious reasons.

West Virginia-MICHIGAN STATE: Michigan State.

South Carolina-PENN STATE: Penn State.

GEORGETOWN-Xavier: Georgetown.

Nebraska-OKLAHOMA: This vote goes to Oklahoma.

MARQUETTE-Iowa State: Marquette.

Arizona-KANSAS STATE: Probably close. Kansas State.

RICE-Baylor: String with Rice.

Texas Christian-SOUTHERN METHODIST: Looks like a toss-up.

On the spin of a coin, S. M. U. Auburn-CLEMSON: The coin again... Clemson.

Southern California-WASHINGTON: Washington.

Virginia Tech-V. P. I. V. P. I.

Two High Scoring Machines To Clash—Longhorns Facing 17-Year-Old Jinx When They Tangle With Mighty Aggies On Kyle Field

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 26.—Two of the nation's great football scoring machines meet here tomorrow in a game which will produce at least one and maybe two bowl contenders—and the 17-year-old jinx that the home team never is beaten will ride this time on the side of Texas A. and M.

The Aggies, one of the four undefeated, untied squads in the nation, go against the unpredictable Longhorns of Texas A. and M. in a game which will produce at least one and maybe two bowl contenders—and the 17-year-old jinx that the home team never is beaten will ride this time on the side of Texas A. and M.

Aerial Edge To Aggies
The aerial edge goes to the Aggies, who—thanks to sharpshooting Derace Moser and Jitterbug Bill Henderson—have spinned 1,334 yards in eight games. The rushing advantage belongs to the Longhorns, who in the same amount of playing time have rolled up 1,834 yards on the ground.

As go Moser and Henderson, the latter an end whose hand spread is just three-quarters of an inch less than a foot, so will go the Rose Bowl dreams of the Aggies. They've already clinched the Southwest conference title and the Cotton Bowl bid is theirs for the asking, but they'll be out there, pushing in the direction of Pasadena, Calif., and their first New Year's day appearance in the west.

Are Solid Favorites
The Aggies, on the record, are solid favorites to sweep through to the triumph that would be their ninth in a row this season. A. & M. is the only champion in Southwest history to repeat and the Aggies already have run their reign to three straight years. But remember the Texas victory that broke a 19-game Aggie streak a year ago?

The fans of Texas remember it, too, and they are banking on Jack Crain, Pete Layden and the boys who formed what was considered a "wonder" team up until two weeks ago. To that point Texas had crushed everything it faced. Then came a tie with Baylor and a defeat by T.C.U. Now the Longhorns will be fighting to salvage a bowl game for themselves.

Texas Facing Jinx
The statistics show that the Aggies hold the edge in passing, punting, returning punts and total scoring. On offense they have a better record in points yielded.

Wake Forest-TEXAS TECH: Texas Tech.

Miami-ALABAMA: And Alabama in the Friday-night game.

WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY: St. Louis; Toss-up, Washington U.

NEW MEXICO-Wyoming: In the dark, New Mexico.

But Longhorns Must Be Beal

Duquesne Against Missouri Boosted

(By The Associated Press)
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26.—Out of the little, smoke-filled Sugar Bowl committee room drifted the rumor today that Texas A. and M. would meet Duke in the Sugar Bowl classic January 1 if the Aggies manage to roll back the Texas Longhorns tomorrow.

This lineup would match the currently listed No. 2 and 3 teams of the nation—both undefeated and untied.

Might Cancel Game
The report was just a rumor lacking confirmation of denial. The Sugar Bowl is not confirming or denying anything this week, being too busy in that small board room, talking football endlessly and trying to rig up the big bowl game—already a sellout of 73,000.

The rumor had some embellishments. It was said the announcement would be made before tomorrow night, always assuming the Longhorns can be held under control and that possibly the Aggies' final game December 6 with Washington State would be cancelled.

Others In Limelight
If the Aggies fall by the wayside the football fanatics of this town keep pointing at Duquesne and Missouri. Most of those interested agree that from the four teams mentioned will come the Sugar Bowl choices.

Texas A. and M. and Duke are in almost a dead heat for the No. 2 team of the nation in the week's Associated Press poll of sports writers, the Aggies leading by 10 points with 922 votes.

Aggies And Longhorns Rose Bowl Favorites

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26 (AP)—The Texas Aggies and University of Texas are leading in the unofficial "Rose Bowl post card poll" conducted each year by the Los Angeles Times to sound-out public sentiment on possible candidates for the New Year's day football game.

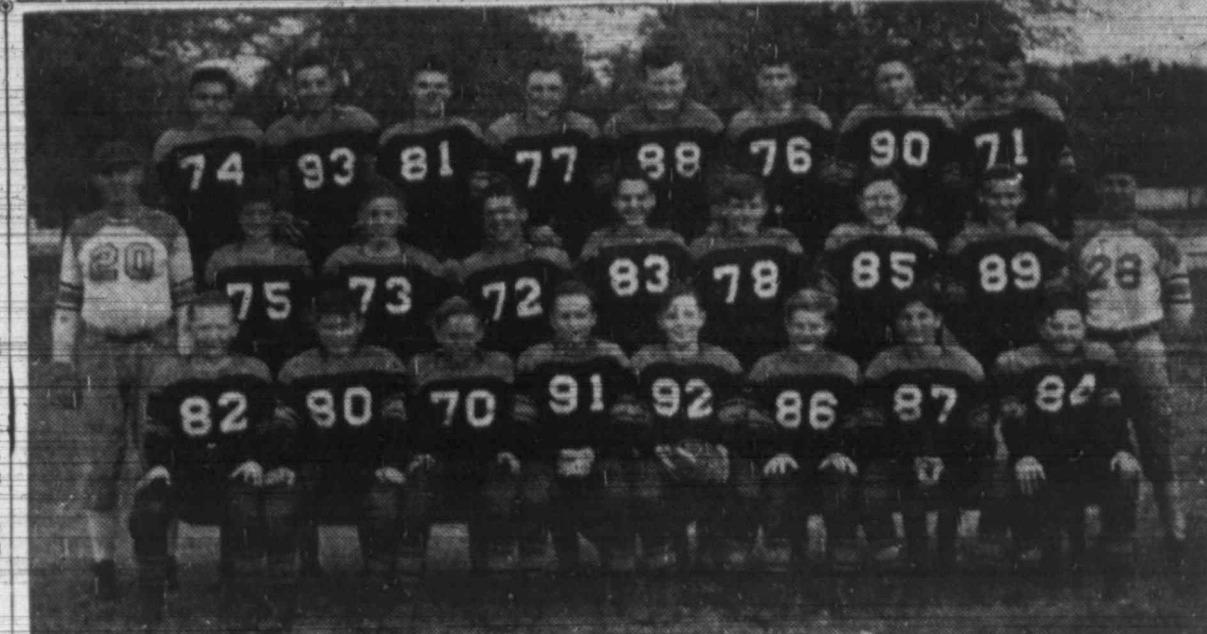

Latest results tabulated by Sports Editor Paul Zimmerman: Texas A. and M. 170; Texas 148; Fordham 82; Missouri 75; and Duke 55.

Big Crowd Expected For 5-B Title Clash

(Special To The Journal)
LITTLEFIELD, Nov. 26.—The biggest crowd in Littlefield's football history is expected for the Thursday afternoon game between the Wildcats and the Brownfield Cubs at Seely field here. Seating capacity is 1,500, and at least that many fans are expected to watch the District 5-A championship game.

It's no secret here that the Wildcats have been working on their defensive and are counting on it to stop Brownfield. Key men in the plans are End Hugo Beyer and the two linebackers, Center Calvin Lippard and Quarterback Babe Hammonds.

Brownfield will be trying for its fourth district championship in the last five years. The lone Cub failure was in 1939 when they won the zone title but lost to Olton in the playoff.

Raiders Leave Tonight

Techsans Set For Deacons

TEXAS TECH'S Red Raiders, bound for their final regularly scheduled game of the 1941 season, will leave Lubbock tonight at 10:10 o'clock.

Saturday morning they'll arrive in Charlotte, N. C., and Saturday afternoon they'll play the Wake Forest Deacons in the second of a series begun here last season when the Raiders won a 12-7 decision.

To Drill In Shreveport
Thursday afternoon the Raiders are due to work out on the Centenary field at Shreveport, and Friday on the Georgia Tech field at Atlanta. They'll start the return trip immediately after the game, arriving here early next Wednesday morning.

The Raiders were to drill on home soil this afternoon, with a pretty stiff session in order.

One of the roughest scrimmages of the season was staged Tuesday afternoon, with more than 1,000 students looking on. The season's final pep rally was conducted in the stadium at 5 o'clock, and the Raiders really cut loose on a luckless freshman outfit for the benefit of the cheering students.

Teams With The Same Coach Will Tangle

SAN JOSE, Calif., Nov. 26 (AP)—Coach Ben Winkelman will trot his San Jose State college Spartans onto the football field here tomorrow night for a game with Coach Ben Winkelman's Moffett Field fliers and if this seems confusing consider the state of mind of Ben Winkelman.

He's the coach of both teams and would just as soon be someplace else for this game. The former University of Arkansas player and mentor at a Fort Worth High school and at Stanford university, assumed the double duty role this season.

A Few Punts 'N Passes—Interscholastic League Given Headache By Eligibility, Ties

BY JOE PIERCE
Journal Sports Writer

Musing on sports:
Regardless of who wins the state high school football championship this year, there's always going to be an argument about who had the best team. The Masonic Home Masons had the football players, but somebody else had the birth certificates.

And if the District One representative should win the state championship, there'll be a legitimate doubt that it really belongs in the trophy case of the victorious school.

Which brings up this: It's high time the Texas Interscholastic League did something about remedying a couple of bad situations—the eligibility rules and the setting of ties.

That eligibility business is the worst of all. First thing you think about when somebody says "ineligible" is Masonic Home, but that isn't the only case of ineligibility this season. Lufkin, one of the early favorites in the state race, was beaten by the rules, with the aid of a tough Neogoches team.

These are the guiding principles that the rules as laid down by the Interscholastic league, and if the rules seem a little tough, remember that it sometimes takes a tough rule to check over-enthusiastic fans, players and coaches.

The real solution, we think, lies in placing a deadline for the filing of protests—a deadline that takes effect well before the first conference games and will not allow any forfeits whatever.

Records can be checked as well before the first of September as they can be after the middle of November. Louis Burress' birth certificate was on file in the Tarrant county have used ineligible players, and it's very well to say that the rules are too complex and should be simplified.

Maybe so, but those aren't the real answers. Ninety-nine percent of the ineligibility cases come up after the schools have already made every reasonable effort to discover anything in a player's life history that might make him ineligible.

The rules are complex, certainly. But that can't be helped. It's sometimes a pretty hard job to keep high school athletics on an amateur plane, which is where they belong, and it's pretty hard to remember that athletics should be subordinated to scholastic work.

It's all very well to say that the schools just shouldn't

U. S., British Navies Plan Cozier Cooperation In North Atlantic

Formal "Joint Action" Seen

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Naval sources today said the North Atlantic convoy system would be reorganized in the near future to provide greater cooperation between the United States and British navies.

There was a possibility that some steps would be taken to formalize joint action by the two navies to protect the convoys.

Still on "Patrol Duty"

The new system, it was said, probably will be similar to that employed with noteworthy success toward the close of the last war when both British and American cargo carriers sailed in the same convoys under the escort of naval vessels of both nations.

Under the present arrangement which was worked out as an "informal" one—American naval vessels provide protection not only for U. S. flag merchant ships sailing to Iceland but also to British merchantmen for a distance approximately half way across the ocean.

The American naval vessels, under present orders, do not shoot Axis war vessels on sight, still are ostensibly on "patrol" rather than convoy duty.

Ship Arming Speeded

Under the reorganization, it was said, it was likely that American and British vessels jointly would escort convoys all the way across the Atlantic.

American cargo vessels, carrying lend-lease supplies, would move in a convoy from U. S. ports to a point in the Atlantic where they would be joined by a convoy of British ships from Canada and sail as a single convoy for the rest of the journey under dual protection.

Meanwhile naval officials said the first of the American merchant ships to be armed probably would be ready for service within a few days. The ship is the West Nohno, which is being equipped with a deck gun at New York.

SUNSET WINS TITLE

DALLAS, Nov. 26 (AP)—Sunset won the right to represent district 8-AA by defeating Woodrow Wilson 21-6 at the high school stadium last night. Sunset meets Amherst Carter Riverside in a big district game in Fort Worth, Dec. 6.

Mythical 4-B Team Chosen

Twenty-seven football players draw recognition today as outstanding in their district with release of honor teams from District 4B as chosen by coaches of the circuit.

The teams were selected, one for each zone and one for the district as a whole.

The north zone team included 12 players, one extra being named because of a tie in the balloting. Fifteen were named in the south zone, ties in the voting also accounting for the extra.

The Cooper team was not considered in the balloting, since it did not compete for the district championship and did not play a representative schedule.

All other teams were represented on the all-district eleven except Southland, which had two strong candidates in Tackle Russell and Back James Field, but failed by a narrow margin to get either on the top team.

Here are the teams, as selected by vote of the coaches and compiled by the Avalanche-Journal Sports Department:

WESTERNERS WILL BE Ready If Selected

Nobody knows what the district 1-AA executive committee will do when it meets at Plainview Saturday night.

But one of the things the Lubbock Westerners are certain: If they are chosen to represent the district, they'll be ready. They've worked out every day this week, and are slated to do a couple of hours of heavy duty practice Saturday night.

The south zone team:

FOR NAME: End—Eugene McKee; End—Robert Lyles; End—McWhorter; Tackle—Clyde Warren; Tackle—Ola Pope; Tackle—Russell Oden; Guard—Harvey; Guard—Clark; Guard—Ray Bevers; Center—Claude Godwin; Back—Robert Beasley; Back—Harold Smith; Back—Bert Smith; Back—Billy Shaffer.

Honorable mention: Centers: Muehrbeck, Ropes and Simmons; Framship: backs, Fritz, Meadow. Honorable mention also should go to Glen McDaniels of Cooper and Glenn Barrett of Cooper, backs who were not considered in the balloting because their team did not play for the district title.

That Girl on Broadway says women who really know how to raise children are kept too busy to write or tell about it.

Electricity travels at a rate of 11,600,000 miles a minute, arriving, no doubt, just a few seconds behind bad news.

Whether you celebrated last week, or will celebrate this week, be thankful today—tomorrow—and every day, that: You are an American!

You live in this great section of the United States of America.

Be thankful you're an American, because it is a privilege which Fortune has granted to only 130 millions of the countless millions of human beings on this planet; and because it is a more precious privilege today than it has ever been before.

Be thankful you live in this great South Plains country, far removed from overcrowding and strife and all the other ills the older, more thickly populated areas of the nation are heir to.

Be thankful, because your home section is one with a future, and not one dropping slowly to decay.

Be thankful, as a Texan, for Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin and Jim Hogg—for the Alamo, the Big Bend, the Coastal Plains, the Brush Country, the El Paso Valley and the Lower Rio Grande Valley, and for the Piney Woods as well as for your own High Plains.

Be thankful for Texas' glorious history and the precepts and objects of Texas that were written in blood at San Jacinto and at Goliad.

And be thankful again that the surface of the great empire that is Texas has always been scratched and that there are ample resources left for countless generations to come.

Be thankful today that you are a Texan, however humble!

AND BE THANKFUL, as an American, for George Washington and Valley Forge and the Boston Tea Party, for Miles Standish and Thomas Jefferson, for Robert E. Lee and for Nathan Bedford Forrest. For Abraham Lincoln and for Patrick Henry and for the patriots who played Belvoir Wood and at Chateau Thierry.

Be thankful for Concord and Lexington, for Fort Mifflin and for Francis Scott Key's "Star-Spangled Banner." For the ringing challenge of "Don't shoot until you see the whites of their eyes," and for "Damn the torpedoes, full steam ahead," and for "Stand firm. Don't fire unless fired upon. But if they mean to have a war, let's start it here." And for "Don't give up the ship," and for "Our Country, in her intercourse with other nations, may always be right. But right or wrong, our country!"

Be thankful for free speech and a free press and for the right of the people peacefully to assemble—as yet untrampled by ruthless dictators.

Be thankful for the Bill of Rights, and for the Constitutions of the United States and of Texas.

Be thankful for free schools, the right of ballot, the right to worship as one sees fit, for the highest living standards the modern world has ever seen.

Whether you celebrated last week, or will celebrate this week, be thankful men, women and children of Lubbock and the South Plains. For to you kind Providence has emptied its golden horn.

Be thankful today—tomorrow and every day!

There's even a bright side to the new income tax schedule.

You can at least be thankful you won't be taxed on what you think you're worth!

A GREAT many people know that the geographical center of the United States is near Topeka, Kans., but few, if any, in these parts know that the nation's population center now rests on a peaceful farm in Sullivan county, Indiana, just a little east of the Indiana-Illinois line.

Mr. M. Phillips Lubbock, land man, is particularly interested in the location of the U. S. population center because it lies adjacent to a farm which his family has owned for 50 years and which is worked by his brother, Paul.

Roughly, the population center is 225 miles almost due south of Chicago.

People living in the area are planning to appropriately mark the center for all the world to see.

They're planning the erection of a marker with a red flash at the top, to call attention to the point both day and night.

For The Love Of Pam

BY VIVIAN GREY
(Copyright, 1941, For The Journal)

CHAPTER 30
THE LIE

Pam turned then to meet the girl's gaze.

"You'll forgive me, I hope," the girl said. "But I just had to come in and look at this tree. It's the most beautiful thing I've ever seen."

Pam smiled. "Most people down here call it the orchid tree," she said sweetly. "I—" and then Pam paused. Something was coming to her with a chill sense of apprehension. Something familiar about the girl that in some vague way was alarming. Suddenly Pam knew it was the girl of the beach. The girl who had waited for Jerry and had walked away with him. It swept over Pam in a chill wave that since that hour Jerry had been different. Not his usual self. She looked at the girl searchingly.

"You were going to say something," May Frisbee prompted.

"Was I?" Pam was confused. It was difficult for her to pretend.

"Yes, you were telling me about this tree," May looked around. She couldn't let the conversation end there. "And that's those lovely flame-colored flowers."

"That's what it's called," Pam said quietly. "Flame vine. Or botanically—begonia." And then: "Won't you sit down?" She indicated the chair beside her, just vacated by Jim.

"Thanks," May dropped into it. She breathed a little sigh and turned to Pam. "You know, this is the first kindness I've had since arriving in this little hamlet. It almost brings tears, if you know what I mean."

"Surely you haven't found us so unfriendly?" Pam asked gently. She was trying to think, trying to connect the girl with Jerry. Obviously she wasn't of his set. She couldn't be a relative. It might have been a chance meeting. Occasionally she would see people with whom she stopped to ask directions, especially in a and sufficient reason that the feline always nosed into paper sacks, wastebaskets, packages—in fact, into everything brought into the Bynum home.

Mrs. Bynum also has a pet duck called "Waddles," for the way the fowl waddles.

And from Seminole, Jamell Aryan writes that he has a dog named "Joe Louis," and the pooch's christening came about in this way:

"In 1936," reports Jamell, "the day that Joe-Louis was to fight Tommy Farr, a little white dog came to our house. I fed him and he stayed with us. When I asked mother what to name him, she suggested that we wait until after the fight and name him for the winner. Ever since, he has answered to the name, 'Joe Louis,' and everybody in the neighborhood knows him."

(Many Lubbock and South Plains people have pets with unusual names, or pets that are "out of the ordinary" in some other way. The Plainsman will be glad to hear of more of them. Drop him a card bearing the information, please.)

IT'S FUNNY, but when a woman complains to a doctor that she's all tired out, the first thing he does is look at her tongue.

At a recent meeting of the Lubbock Knife & Fork club, the guest speaker was a man who had led seven expeditions into the Arctic regions.

Next such an attraction should be a man who has spent a winter in Amarillo!

That Man on Avenue Q says the upper crust is not always the toast of the town.

Alcohol was first distilled in Arabia—which doubtless accounts for those tales about Arabian Nights!

DON'T be surprised if "shin plasters"—paper-money-of-less-than-$1 denomination—begin pouring from the Bureau of Printing and Engraver's presses. Idea men in the Office of Production Management and the Treasury at Washington are discussing ways of saving metal for national defense. One method would be substitution of paper for quarters, half-dollars and other hard money. The principal idea is to conserve nickel, a really critical defense metal. There is no shortage of silver.

The idea of resurrecting "shin plasters" was broached after the boys had run into difficulty and eventual defeat in putting through their scheme. One of those who was to increase the proportion of Monel metal in five-cent pieces. That sounded good—until somebody pointed out that vending machines have magnets to reject phoney nickels. Not being in-charge of the coins had been cheapened, the machines would decide they were spurious. Last year the government used nearly 500 tons of nickel in minting the coins that bear the image of Thomas Jefferson. (The buffalo nickel is no longer made.) This may not seem impressive in print, but the OPM and Treasury say the tonnage is significant now that every possible ounce of important metal is being roused to defense plants.

DALLAS' LINDBERGH BOULEVARD

The controversy raging in Dallas over the attempt to change the name of Lindbergh boulevard emphasizes the inadvisability of bestowing such an honor upon today's hero, or upon those in political power at the time.

When the Dallas boulevard was named, Lindbergh was perhaps the most hysterically acclaimed young man in the history of the nation. Today he is one of the most bitterly assailed. That is liable to happen to anyone. As the Dallas officials knew, and should have considered, when they chose the name, today's hero has a pretty good chance of becoming tomorrow's goat.

The same is true in a more aggravated degree with political figures. The honored and powerful official today may be discredited, if not in disgrace, tomorrow. Cities like New Orleans, Kansas City and Memphis, to mention a very few, can testify to this fact. They, and many other cities, have had the experience of giving to a public work the name of a man who subsequently went to the penitentiary.

So, when names are selected for streets, parks, public buildings and the like, it usually is wise to limit consideration to those whose qualities have been proven by the test of time after their retirement to an even way of life. Such a precaution safeguards against future regretful bitterness, and usually it still allows time for the bestowal of flowers upon the living.

winter vacation place where living was leisurely.

"Oh, perhaps—May was eager to talk—"I'm being unfair in judging the whole town by one man. My fiancé that was. Had me come down here, and then I fanned me as well a bunch of air as any balloonist could use."

"I don't understand."

"Turned me down flat, if you need plain English," May said with an excellent imitation of concealed hurt. "What I really suspect is that he's got someone else. But he should have thought of that before he asked me to come down."

"It would seem you've had a raw deal," Pam answered politely. "It hasn't been fair, surely."

"Fair? I'm beginning to think we don't know there is such a word!"

"I'm sorry," Pam said softly. "And it hurts. I tell you it hurts to have a thing like that handed to you after you've believed in a man. They sat in silence for a while. A mocking bird in the Australian pine looked at them pertly, trying with his own chirpings to urge them to conversation to which he might add his amusing accompaniment. May turned to Pam suddenly and shrugged.

"But why I should be telling you my trouble? You seemed sweet and sympathetic, though."

Hard Luck Story
"Sometimes it helps to talk," Pam said gently. "I'm sorry you should come here to unhappiness. I always like to think of this island as the place where everyone finds happiness."

"Maybe most people do," May said as she rose. "Maybe I'm just the girl holding the unlucky number."

Pam made no effort to detain her. She wondered why she should be glad when the girl left, but she did have a definite sense of relief.

It was a few days later that Pam met Lenore uptown selecting post cards at a drug store. Pam considered a moment and then felt she must speak. This was a sort of Providence-given opportunity.

"Would you mind if I talked to you a minute? She asked of Lenore, who stared at her as if she didn't recognize her, and then "Pam! Wait, please!" Their was something imperative in his voice. "Oh, you're the girl I was talking to." May Frisbee didn't wait for the introduction Jerry had not intended to give.

"Yes," Pam said and paused, too startled to say more.

"I've been telling Jerry my troubles. May went on over Jerry's effort to silence her. "Just as if," with a bitter, hard little laugh, "he wasn't the cause of them!"

Pam was glad May rambled on, allowing her silence with which to cover her confusion. Jerry the cause of this girl's troubles? Jerry must be the man she had been talking about that afternoon. Suddenly it all seemed clear to Pam. Jerry's strangeness of late, his constraint and apparent worry—his being late for appointments, his preoccupied manner.

"I've been thrown out of my hotel-room," May's words stood out suddenly in Pam's consciousness.

"Thrown out?" Pam echoed.

"Yes, darling." May was laughing. "Hadn't you heard that hotels here to collect their bills?"

Washington Torn Up Over Aluminum Wrangle

BY PETER EDSON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26—The way Harold Ickes has been carrying on about Jesse Jones and the contracts made by the Defense Plant Corporation for production of aluminum for defense purposes, you may have gained the impression that Harold thinks Jesse is such a lowdown, contemptible, anti-New Deal rascal that he would be guilty of hauling his eggs to market the matter is that to start a fight in Washington these days is to walk into any group of defense experts which includes everybody in town and say "Aluminum!" real quick, like that.

The argument will start at once, and end up no telling where, for the subject is so broad and so complicated that people will be writing books about it for the next generation.

The scrap goes back to April, 1937, when the government began its anti-trust suit against the Aluminum Company of America, which suit the government lost. The defense angles date from the first of the famous under-estimates of defense requirements for aluminum was made.

HYSTERICAL HEIGHTS
The dispute is still on, but the climax of hysteria on the subject came in September when Ickes screamed into the picture with a letter which amounted to give Jones unshirred, public hell for a $52 million contract Jones' Defense Plant Corporation negotiated with the Aluminum Company for construction and operation of one 400-million-pound aluminum plant in Arkansas, and three aluminum plants at Massena, N. Y., Bonneville-Dam, Ore., and some place in Arkansas.

The combined output of which would be 340 million pounds of aluminum a year. Alumina, as you know, is the intermediate stuff made out of bauxite clay, from which aluminum is made.

Ickes charged that this was a "damnable contract" because its provisions did not protect the government's interest, but instead "strengthen and extend the monopolistic position of the Aluminum Company of America."

Jones has not made public his reply to the Ickes letter. He says this is one of the best contracts the government ever made. Instead of extending Alcoa's "monopoly"—a monopoly which a United States court has now declared non-existent—Jones' position that this contract finally gives the government power to control national production of aluminum, and thereby to break the control Alcoa had on production and price. At the time this contract was made, Jones also negotiated an agreement with Alcoa to cut the price on aluminum ingot 2 cents a pound to save the government and other consumers from $15 million to $25 million a year.

PLANTS TO SPARE

tract was negotiated is that for normal business purposes the country is now building excess plant capacity. In 1939, the company's total aluminum consumption was 300 million pounds. Defense plans call for a total annual production capacity of five times that amount by 1943.

In this aluminum contract, the company leasing the government-owned plants agrees to keep the plants operating at the same rate which the firm operates its own plants. Thus, if demand for aluminum after the war is only 50 per cent of the defense requirements, both Alcoa's plants and the government plants will be operated at half capacity instead of the government plants closing down and permitting Alcoa to get all the business. If demand should fall to 40 per cent of capacity, or below, the lease may be canceled, but there is nothing to prevent the government from leasing its plants to other operators, staying in the aluminum business as a competitor to Alcoa and selling government aluminum at an "over" price. Ickes himself has estimated this might yield the government a profit of $3,825,000 from the operation of the Bonneville plant alone. But if DPC decides that Alcoa is making too much money from operation of the government plants, then the government can force Alcoa to cut its price under threat of cancellation of the lease. These are some of the reasons Jones thinks he has driven a typical Jones bargain and made a good contract for the government.

PROGRAM TIES IN
CLOSELY connected with the government's huge program for expanding aluminum production five times the pre-defense period rate is the magnesium expansion plan . . . Magnesium, lighter still than aluminum, is also stiffer but more brittle. Pure magnesium burns with intense light and is used for flares. . . Used as an alloy with aluminum it makes a stronger and lighter and tougher metal than either is used pure. . . Principal source has been from water, oyster shells and electric power, though it is also made from alumite ore. . . Germany has used up to 700 pounds of magnesium per plane, but U. S. bombers use up to 5000. . . U. S. magnesium production in 1939 was seven million pounds. . . Expansion calls for ultimate production of 400 million pounds a year. . . This added to planned 1.8 billion pounds aluminum production, will give a total U. S. light metal production of two billion pounds a year. . . In post-defense era, this presages a light metal revolution in U. S. industry.

The Love Of Pam

(Continued From Editorial Page) with anger. "Anyway, I've got to go somewhere and your meanness isn't going to cut me out of the one place I can find shelter."

"You don't need shelter. The thing you need is to get out of town and do it fast!"

"With what?"

"No one needs to tell you how to do things, May. You can find more ways to do the things you want to than any other ten women could! For just once in your colorful and adventurous career, do the decent thing—keep out of Pam's home and life. You're wasting time here, anyway."

"Time for one thing I've got plenty of," May said, grinning over her anger.

"There isn't one decent impulse in you, is there?"

"Jerry, please—Pam's voice was gentle. She was sorry for the girl. She had no understanding of May's type and could think only of how she herself would feel if she suddenly found she had no home."

"Pam"—Jerry didn't wait for her to finish—"don't try to argue this out with me. You just haven't any idea of what you're talking about in this particular case. You have no understanding of the situation. May is like no woman you've ever met. She's a complete parasite. You can't have her in your home."

"Don't quarrel, please," Pam said. "There's no reason for it. My house is large. May can stay there until she gets ready to leave. I want to do that much."

"Pam, please," Jerry begged.

"Why must you be this way?"

"Won't you believe that in just this one instance—I know best? Get on your bike now and roll home, dear May and I will battle this out, and then tonight I'll come see you."

"He's right about part of it, kid," May said to Pam. "You'd better be on your way. Jerry and I will fight this out better alone."

"Yes, please go," Jerry begged gently. "Please, Pam. It isn't going to help for you to be here."

She looked at Jerry for a moment, then said quietly:

"But I'll expect you to bring May, Jerry, not to come without her." She was sorry the moment the words were out. There had been a strange change in Jerry's face. But she added: "Don't come without May."

Something about his expression—his unsteady, besides, she didn't like the ultimatum. Hadn't she liked them. They were stupid and unfair.

Pam mounted her wheel and pedaled away. There was nothing further she could do. She was hurt, yet she was sorry for Jerry. She did not understand the situation. Her experience had never given her a parallel for May's behavior.

It was well into the evening before anything happened that gave Pam an idea how things were going. A taxi drove to her door at dusk. May got out and came up the steps.

"Fine way to begin a friendship, by borrowing," May was laughing. "Could you lend me taxi fare?"

"Surely!" Pam went to her purse and counted out fifty cents. May had no baggage. The hotel was holding it for her bill.

Work Of Junior Red Cross Is Explained

Work of the Junior Red Cross made up almost entirely of school children, was explained to supervisors, principals and teachers in city schools by Miss Ivy O. Hendricks of St. Louis, assistant to the area director of the organization, at a meeting in K. Carter school Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Stella Thurman, principal of K. Carter school, is Junior Red Cross chairman of Lubbock city schools and Mrs. R. L. Hooten is chairman for county and independent schools. Assignments for work for government hospitals are secured through Miss Thurman and Mrs. Hooten, when schools wish to participate. City schools enrolled in Junior Red Cross have recently provided needed articles for Camp Berkeley, and Mrs. Hooten reported that county schools have sent more than 30 boxes to children in England. During the Christmas season gifts will be sent to Texas orphans.

Expected To Enroll

International objectives of the Junior Red Cross are to guide altruistic tendencies, to give practice in assuming social responsibility, to develop an intelligent interest in public health and to build up better world understanding. As an example of the last objective, Miss Hendricks mentioned exchange of books of school work with other countries, by paying a nominal classroom fee which entitles the room to monthly materials. There is no individual membership fee.

All but four city and four county schools are members of the Junior Red Cross, Miss Hendricks announced, and these are expected to enroll later.

U.S. Action Worries Axis Leaders

Vichy Is Under Pressure Now

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Journal War Analyst

Herr Hitler's camp would appear from Nazi and Fascist newspaper comment to be as much exercised over the American occupation of Dutch Guiana as any other recent development — and taking the long view of the war situation perhaps the wisemen of the Axis are right.

No clearer indication of the powerful moral effect of this move could be had than has been evidenced in the angry outburst of the German and Italian press. That moral effect, which reaches round the world and touches not only the Axis and its supporters but their enemies, would seem to be more important at this juncture than the military consideration.

Striking Determination

We have a striking demonstration of the determination of the United States to protect not only its own interests but those of other nations in this hemisphere.

We also have a display of Pan-American cooperation in Brazil's quick approval, and that's of vast importance to the outcome of the war.

The general effect must be to impress all nations with the idea that Uncle Sam means business. One would expect it to encourage Pan-American solidarity, to raise the morale of the Allies and their friends, and to provide food for reflection among those nations like Turkey which are trying to tread a straight path of neutrality.

To Restrain Vichy

Last but far from least—and this likely is what worries Hitler most—the American move is calculated to have a restraining influence on the Vichy government which just now is under heavy pressure to make more concessions to Germany. Among the things which the Fuehrer desires most is use of French colonies for military and submarine bases, and the occupation of Dutch Guiana next door to French Guiana is bound to make the French government give consideration.

One purpose of sending our troops to Guiana presumably is to be in positions to keep the Germans out of the French colony. That might provide the Nazis with a useful submarine base, especially if the Nazis should force Vichy to give them Dakar, across the way on the western hump of Africa.

Festering With Disease

It is to be hoped, however, that it won't be necessary for any of our boys to be sent into French Guiana. It is a festering spot which festers with disease under the killing equatorial sun. I've seen a lot of hell-holes in various parts of the world, but French Guiana heads the list. The notorious Devil's Island, which is part of this colony, is a paradise compared with the mainland.

French Guiana is nothing but a penal colony. Its sole industry is watching the prisoners wear their lives out in this inhospitable zone of utter despair. Cayenne is the only settlement of any consequence, and of its ten thousand unhappy inhabitants at least twenty-five per cent are dragging themselves about the dirty streets with leprosy, coming into contact with those who are unafflicted. The town has no sanitary arrange-

EDITOR'S NOTE: Letters from readers are solicited at all times and on all subjects. However, no letter of more than 500 words will be considered for publication, and all letters holding or implying the motive of any editorial firm or corporation must include for publication the true name of the author. The Editor shall be the sole judge as to whether or not letters may be published and cannot engage in correspondence concerning them.

EGGS AND BRITAIN

Dear Plainsman: When I went into a Lubbock cafe this morning to order breakfast, I was informed that there were no eggs available. Easterners are accustomed to hearing about shortages because these commodities are being sent to England. But that is one reason I am out here in this section of the country. I wanted to go to the West where the English influence is not so strongly felt and where one does not have to do without a satisfactory breakfast because all of the eggs, milk, etc., are being shipped over to England.

As I was satisfying myself with some toast and coffee, I wondered if Churchill were doing without eggs for his breakfast. Or what about the Duke of Windsor? He probably had half a dozen pheasant eggs for his breakfast.

Everywhere one goes in America today, the question is not whether he is patriotic to the good old United States, but if he is patriotic to England. My ancestors were English, but I am an American. I feel no patriotism to England and I am an American first—even at breakfast time. I want to sit down to a good old American breakfast and since coming West, I am disappointed in finding the solid Americans of this section of the country having to do without things so that England may have more.

After reading a number of common sense editorials and columns, I thought you, as a representative American citizen, would like to have an Easterner's reaction to the mess he finds throughout our nation. When a fellow cannot have eggs for breakfast in a free country full of hens, I think it is time to call a halt to some of the give-away, lend-lease-lose methods of our administration.

Jim Rosecrans
En Route West.

(Dear Mr. Rosecrans: Thanks for your letter. Like yourself, I am something less than an Anglophile. Believe the only use our dear, dear, British cousins have for us is what they can chisel us out of when the going gets tough for the richest empire in world history, upon which the sun never sets, etc. However, you must have gotten into the restaurant before its daily supply of eggs arrived. There's no shortage of hen-fruit here—and despite Senator O'Daniel's claims, upon a recent visit East I had no trouble getting all the eggs I wanted in New York, Washington and Baltimore, as well as on trains. Very truly yours, The Plainsman.)

Croslin Speaker At Carpenters' Dinner

Six hundred fifty persons dinner guests of Lubbock carpenters union Tuesday night in the Cotton club, heard Lloyd Croslin, assistant county attorney, discuss current events.

Walter Davies was toastmaster. Arrangements for the dinner were made by a committee composed of Dex Vessels, C. H. Tisdell, O. E. Monk and V. B. McBride.

The Green brothers orchestra, which includes three sets of twins and is composed of Lubbock carpenters, played during the program. Byron Terrell offered invocation.

The program included songs, with guitar and banjo accompaniment. Clarence Nowell and Keith Kritzer tap dances. Mary Virginia Carr and Dolores Webb, vocal solo. Mrs. Karlene Watts, accordion solo. Miss Frances King, and a square dance exhibition.
