Many NCOs Promoted In June 1 Cycle

Two-hundred and thirty-one Reese AFB airmen were told today by their commanders that their dedication and devotion to duty has earned them another stripe.

That was the result of the June 1 promotion cycle that brought additional stripes to airman first class, sergeants, staff sergeants and technical sergeants Air Force-wide.

A breakdown by rank has Reese gaining 19 new master sergeants, 24 technical sergeants, 55 staff sergeants and 133 sergeants. These promotions will become effective in monthly increments during the next six months, except for sergeants who will be promoted during the next four months.

pany's space division in Downey, Calif., and is best remembered for his vivid descriptions of the nation's moon shots through the medium of television.

In his current assignment, Mr. Gray heads a team of approximately 50 speakers, all with other jobs at North American Rockwell, in bringing the story of the aerospace program to the public, with accent on the Apollo Lunar Program, for which the company is prime contractor under the aegis of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Mr. Gray joined North American in 1950 as associate editor of the company newspaper. His entire career with the company has been in the area of communications. He has worked in the areas of radio, television, motion pictures, displays and briefings. He has been responsible for the writing of news articles, magazine articles and brochures on various company products.

Now deeply immersed in the space programs of the company, he was actively engaged previously with the F-100 Super Sabre, the X-15, and the XB-70 programs.

A native of New Hampshire, he was graduated from the Leland Powers School of the Theater, Boston, before enlisting in the Air Force. Discharged after three year's service, he spent a short, but hectic career as an actor in radio and television in Hollywood.

Offered a chance at reporting for the Hollywood Citizen News, Mr. Gray left the entertainment field. In a three-year career with the paper, he served as photographer, church and aviation editor. He left to take the position with North American in September, 1950. He now makes his home in Palo Verde, Calif.

Mr. Gray's appearances in the Lubbock area are being sponsored through the West Texas Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism society.

Security Police Find Slack Seat Belt Use

Less than half of Reese AFB drivers are using their seat belts.

This is the report from Security Police who made a two-day check of base drivers April 30-May 1 at the main gate. The results showed 967 drivers were not using their seat belts, while 703 were. Percentage wise, only 42 per cent were using seat belts properly.

Wing CO Calls Upon Personnel To Drive Safely

Col. Clyde J. Morganti, Reese AFB wing commander, has called on all base personnel to exercise maximum caution in their driving habits.

In a letter addressed to all commanders and supervisors, Colonel Morganti started off by saying: "The safety of all personnel is a matter of the highest importance of continuing concern to me."

The colonel went on to cite the recent tragic deaths of a Reese second lieutenant and his wife, adding; "This brings to bear the responsibility we all have for continued effective effort in the practice of driving safety."

The wing commander quoted a letter Oct. 23, 1967, urging unit commanders to "vigorously continue to provide an effective program of driving safety education and to take appropriate action against traffic law violators." The colonel continued, "I am seriously concerned about our unacceptable automobile accident rate and will continue to expect commanders to treat, as a matter of very high importance, their taking of administrative and or judicial action as warranted by the circumstances of each case.

"I urge all commanders and supervisors to continue to provide vigorous leadership and training to insure that all personnel practice driving safety and be made to realize the consequences of doing otherwise."

The colonel closed by stating, "I am confident that continued aggressive and vigorous action by all concerned will reduce traffic accidents and safeguard personnel injury."

Daily Activities Seem Routine

By Maj. Johnnie R. Reeder
Chief, Standard Evaluation

Have you ever thought of what a standardized world we live in? Perhaps most of our daily activities seem merely routine, but they do point out the degree of standardized behavior evident in any intelligent, structural society.

The need for standardization varies with different situations and tasks, but it is generally present throughout our lives. Let me cite a few situations:

Stop signs and traffic lights are essentially the same world wide — bankers hours, politics, medical procedures and techniques, food we eat, flying procedures, trains, automobiles, games, and on and on.

You say, So what does this mean to me? or, What difference does it make?

In a military atmosphere, regulations and guidelines are written to aid in accomplishing the designated task or mission. Commanders have their rules to follow as does the finance clerk, or supply or maintenance technician.

Just about all jobs are covered by regulations and these have been proven and selected as standardized instructions. As time passes and improved methods are found we have procedures to change old rules and regulations to conform to the new and improved.

The important thing to remember is that we must do our jobs utilizing standardized procedures. If we do this, then we begin to function as a team and a team that knows its job and pulls together rarely tastes defeat, or in our case, witnesses anything other than mission accomplishment.

Everybody's Business

Community relations are something every Air Force base has. Whether or not these are good community relations is, like safety, everybody's business.

Each member of Reese AFB and the Air Force shares the responsibility for assuring that our community relations are the best possible.

One of these responsibilities is the development in the minds of the American people of a greater interest in and understanding of the Air Force and aerospace activities.

All Air Force personnel can share in achieving this goal. Daily access to general information about aerospace and the Air Force through such outlets as The Roundup, The Airman magazine, Commander's Call, pamphlets and information sheets provide a wealth of knowledge.

Also, day-to-day duties make you an expert on a particular phase of the Air Force mission. With this background, many questions from the civilian populace can be answered easily.

As a resident of the local community, personnel of Reese and their families should participate actively in community functions. Outside interests and hobbies such as sports, music, handicraft or art can be valuable additions to these activities.

Many youth organizations are constantly in need of assistance, for example: scouting, Little League, church groups and science clubs. Roles can vary from that of a leader to a guest speaker.

The Reese Information Office is a good place to start. The information officer and his staff maintain—files on local organizations and process—all speech requests. They also keep a file of people interested in speaking engagements, sample speeches and general background information.

Opportunities are unlimited. Even token participation can be most rewarding.

Warm Summer Weather Causes Drivers To Relax Caution

Many Reese AFB personnel have plans for a summer vacation. And nine times out of 10 an automobile figures in these plans.

For the majority, vacations will be remembered as pleasant ones. But for some, grief, pain and even death beckons.

Warm weather, bright sun and dry roads all combine to make good drivers relax after the rigors of winter. The tendency of the average driver is to think summer roads are safe. This is, of course, an inaccurate impression—an impression that often leads to trouble.

Many circumstances contribute to a single traffic accident, but improper driving is involved in nearly every accident.

The National Safety Council says speeding too fast for road conditions is most often a factor in fatal accidents. In some accidents speed and failure to yield the right-of-way cause accidents as well as driver error and inattention to conditions.

These factors, along with drinking-and-driving, contribute to nearly three-fourths of all fatal accidents and to half of injury accidents, the Safety Council points out.

Statistics can be boring. But statistics don't lie. So this summer stay with the majority—the living and healthy ones who had a happy vacation—and a safe one—by using their heads for intelligent driving instead of a windshield ramrod.

A Plan For Your Pay Raise

It's pretty common knowledge that Reese AFB personnel and all members of the Armed Forces are due for a pay raise when the new fiscal year starts July 1. There have been a number of publications that have printed the proposed pay tables, so everyone has a pretty good idea how much of a raise they should be getting.

What are you going to do with your extra money? Have you already spent it or are you just going to play it by ear every month and spend it as you go? Maybe you're planning to invest that extra money every month. There are all kinds of investments—stocks, bonds, scrap metal, soy beans—and all of them have made varying amounts of money in the past.

The big trouble with those investments, however is that it takes a pretty good-size sum to get started. And it also should be money that you can afford to lose—just in case you figure incorrectly and make the wrong type of investment at the wrong time.

There is another type of investment that takes very little to get started, it guarantees a return on your money, it's absolutely safe and it helps the United States in the process.

Of course, we're talking about United States Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares.

With the 1968 Savings Bond Campaign beginning Wednesday at Reese, everyone has the opportunity to get on the "Bond Wagon" and invest his money for his own future and for the future of the country as well.

An investment in Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares is more than just a safe investment for your money. It's an investment for the future that can mean a new home, a new car, a college education or a hundred-and-one other things for you and your family in the years ahead.

It's also an investment that will help the United States meet the problems that face our country both at home and abroad.

While you're planning for that pay raise, do some planning for the future as well and begin participating in the Savings Bond Program.

Capsule Law

(An AFNS Feature)

To be bound by a contract, you must agree to it. No one can force you into a lawful contract. Thus, no one can just send you a book and make you pay for it, if, for example, you fail to send it back within a specified period of time.

What legally constitutes a "meeting of the minds" so as to bring about an enforceable contract depends largely upon the facts surrounding the agreement or contract and the custom of the trade or business in which the agreement is made.

At the Chicago Grain Exchange, one may enter a contract by merely raising his hand in response to the auctioneer's statement of an offering price. The gesture constitutes a binding "bid." This "meeting of the minds" is sufficient to bring about an enforceable "ask" and "bid."

Worship Together As A Family Mother's Day

By Chaplain (Capt.)
Larry D. Mosley
Protestant Chaplain

National Family Week has been designated as May 5-12. It culminates in Mother's Day which is Sunday. It is an appropriate time to speak to the need for cooperation between chapel and home.

Children and youth are assailed through the entertainment media today with many questionable values regarding sex, money, violence, drugs and liquor, and (you name it).

Where are they getting any offsetting picture of human values? If they are not getting a worthy system of values through the home and the church, they most likely aren't getting any at all!

Having reason to suspect that many youth are growing up completely untrained in the realm of moral and spiritual values, I say is it any wonder that we face upward spiraling statistics on delinquency, unwed parents, drug-abuses, marriage failure and the like?

For heaven's sake, mother and dad, wake up to the fact that the Church and the home need each other!

Through their support of the Church, parents teach by example its importance in the life of the nation. When they neglect the Church, they teach their children that it is of little importance in the lives of people.

Religion and the family naturally belong together. What religion is to accomplish it can do best in the family. What the family must do, it cannot do best without religion.

As a minister, nothing does my heart so much good as to see a family worshipping together. And I can think of no better time to begin such a practice than on Mother's Day.

Give God a chance and he will immeasurably enrich your life together as a family.

Code Changes Through Ages

The history of military justice can be traced back to the creation of armies themselves. In the times of Ghenghis Khan and Attila the Hun, surely justice was swift and sure — if not always justice.

Military justice has progressed a long way since those early times, and it is noted that the process is still taking place. In more recent times, — that is the past 25 years — we have seen the old "Articles of War" changed to the "Uniform Code of Military Justice" and Supreme Court rulings which effect that code.

And now still another major change is being contemplated in Washington. A bill which would amend the UCMJ has been approved by the House of Armed Services subcommittee. Among the major provisions of the bill would be creation of single-officer general and special courts martials.

The bill is designed to make military procedure "conform more closely" with procedure used in criminal trials in U.S. district courts.

According to Maj. Kenneth J. Hodson, Judge Advocate General of the Army, this would "enhance the prestige and effectiveness of the law officer so that his judicial stature and authority in the courtroom would more closely approximate that of a civilian trial judge."

Enactment, proponents say, would speed up military trials. The bill is supported by the American Bar Association and the Federal Bar Association.

Other amendments in the proposed legislation call for: Providing law officers authority to make final rulings on matters customarily determined by the judge in civilian proceedings.

Providing for pretrial open recorded sessions by a law officer to consider and dispose of procedural matters before members assemble.

Permitting law officers to hold open, recorded post trial sessions without members to act upon such matters as remands issued by appellate military courts.

Requiring that the accused in a bad-conduct discharge trial be represented, or afforded the opportunity to be represented at the trial by legally qualified counsel before a special courts martial may adjudge a bad conduct discharge.

Permit appointment of law officers to special courts martial.

Extend from one to two years the time within which a new trial may be granted in cases reviewed by a board of review.

The U.S. House of Representatives is due to act on this proposed legislation in the near future.

Dock II Posts Zero Defects For 3rd Time

Dock II of the T-38 periodic maintenance section did it again. For the third time in less than two months, the dock achieved the goal of Zero Defects in aircraft maintenance.

On May 2 T-38 aircraft 62-3628, undergoing a 200 HPO (hourly post flight), was inspected with no discrepancies noted.

Mechanics who assisted in the inspection were Sgt. Almus G. Casey, Sgt. William W. Diehl, Sgt. Glenn E. Siebold, AIC Curtis R. Barber and AIC Dudley W. Errington.

Also credited with giving support to the effort were sheet metal, hydraulics, communications, engine change, electrical and egress sections of Field Maintenance.

IPs WORK — IPs of the 3501st Pilot Training Squadron contributed a Saturday in April to construct this addition to the garage at Terry County Auxiliary Air Field for the enlisted crash crew. (USAF PHOTO)

3501st Pilots Show Thanks In Right Way

Fourteen instructor pilots from the 3501st Pilot Training Squadron have chosen a most tangible way in which to show their appreciation to a half dozen airmen and NCOs with whom they work.

The six airmen and NCOs spend from sunrise to sunset at the Terry County Auxiliary Air Field in support of the flying mission of the 3501st T-37 program. This crew must leave Reese AFB before sunrise in order to make the 40-mile trip south in order to arrive in time. They leave at sunset, when flying ends, making the return trip at night. The men man the crash trucks which must stand by when flying is in progress for obvious safety reasons.

In the past, these crews spent their duty day in a small 6 by 10 foot trailer—overly crowded and uncomfortable.

IPs Take Action
Maj. Norman N. White, flight commander of "A" Flight of the 3501st decided to take action. He presented his plan to the IPs and they were quick to volunteer their services.

Choosing a Saturday, the 14 IPs turned out with lumber, hammers, saws and other equipment and constructed an addition to the garage that houses the fire trucks, mobile control unit and other equipment used by the crash crews. The addition was then painted and decorated, and the end result is a large, comfortable room in which the crew can spend its leisure time. Communications equipment is expected to be added in the very near future.

The auxiliary field is used in the T-37 program daily in which to practice landings. The 3501st PTS provides an IP to act as traffic controller when the student training is in progress and a student pilot from the squadron acts as his assistant. The IP crew changes at noon, but for the crash crew, its day continues through sunset.

In addition to their labors, the IPs made a full day of it for the crash crew. The IPs sponsored a picnic following the labor at which the airmen, NCOs and their families were invited to attend. The airmen and NCOs enjoyed the new room, the wives the coffee, and the kids—you guessed it, the fire trucks.

3500th Pilot Training Squadron Scene Of Orientation Visit For Instructor, Student Wives

A flight line orientation was conducted April 26 for the student and instructor wives of "E-2" Flight.

Lt. Col. Albert S. Martin, commander, 3500th Pilot Training

Squadron, gave a welcoming address, and briefed the wives on squadron structure and operations.

After coffee and doughnuts in the flight room, the group boarded a bus and were conducted around the flight line by 1st Lt. Neil Williams. Points of interest on their itinerary were the mobile control unit, flight simulator and a T-38 static display on the main ramp.

The group viewed movies on the T-38 upon the completion of the tour.

Mrs. Albert S. Martin was guest of honor on the tour.

The 3500th PTS extends its congratulations and commendations to 2nd Lt. Jerome P. Smolinski.

In spite of his wife giving birth to twins, a boy and a girl, over the weekend, Lieutenant Smolinski reported for duty on time Monday morning, and competently flew his scheduled sortie.

First AF Day Tourney Slated

The first annual Reese AFB Armed Forces Day Partnership Golf Tournament is scheduled May 18 at the base golf course.

The event is part of a host of activities surrounding Reese observance of that day set aside to honor the men and women of the country's armed services.

The tournament will be a member guest affair, with members of the base required to play with non-member in order to qualify for the tournament. A member, of course, is one who is eligible to play at the base course. This can be active duty or retired personnel. As a partner, he must have a non-member—or one who is not eligible to play on the course. The tournament is designed for maximum participation of golfers from off the base—those from Lubbock and surrounding area—who do not use the facility.

Entry fee will be $1 plus green fees. For non-members, this will be $2 for green fees—the usual amount charged on weekends at the base course. All of the entry fees will be placed in prizes that will go to the winners.

Under the rules, the so-called Callaway system will be used to determine winners. The exact set-up has not been drawn up as of press time. The scores of both participants will be used to determine the team score. There are indications that prizes will also be offered for low gross and low net in individual play.

As usual at the base course, winter rules will be in effect with respect to lies in the fairway and rough. All other USGA rules will apply.

Soule Leads AFB Bowlers

MSgt. Bert Soule rolled a 212 game for the high game of the Air Base Group Handicap league Tuesday night. Sgt. Jimbo Thompson had high series with a 583. Both bowlers play with the Personnel NCO's.

Personnel NCO's have a 11-5 won-lost record to lead the league. Following are Base Services with a 10-6; Orderly Room with a 10-6; Base Procurement 9-7; Personnel Airmen 8-6; Transportation 7-9; Administrative Services 6-10; and Motor Maintenance 3-13.

Pro-Am Set For Friday

Reese AFB will host a pro-am golf tournament Friday at the base course.

Entry fee to the tournament is $5 to all—both members and non-members.

The tournament is one of two pro-ams scheduled at Reese this year. The other will be held in the fall.

All entrants to the tournament must have an established handicap. Those who do not have a handicap established at the Reese course must produce a handicap card showing their current handicaps.

Prizes will be given to low team, low individual gross, low individual net and low pro. The day-long affair will start at 8 a.m.

By JIM COMEAUX

Sometimes results alone can be very misleading in sports — especially in such relative comparisons as standings.

Witness, for instance, the Air Training Command Bowling Tournament held at Keesler AFB, Miss. As we published last week, the Reese team ended up seventh in that tournament, which on the face of matters would indicate a mediocre performance at best.

However, when the individual performances are put together, it tells a somewhat different story. The team was composed of Don Crowl, manager of the base bowling alley, Bert Soule, Jim Bibbs, Alvin VanDusen, Richard Rachel and Richard Lacy. A total of 15 teams participated in the tournament with Randolph AFB squeaking by to win it by eight pins over Lackland AFB. Sheppard AFB was in third place by only 22 pins out. Reese's team finished but 144 pins out of first place.

In the individual matches, Reese fared even better. Three Reesites — Rachel, Soule and Crowl — finished in the top 20 for the 18 games bowled during the tournament. Rachel and Soule each averaged a more-than-respectable 186 and Crowl a 184.

All the team members agreed the tournament was well conducted and the personnel of Keesler proved excellent hosts for all the visiting teams. It was suggested that any bowlers from Reese planning a visit to Keesler contact Bibbs or VanDusen for information concerning fishing spots in the area — or — Soule and Crowl for first-hand information on the beautiful gulf view from their strolls on the beach each morning after breakfast.

By the way, there is no Junior Bowling slated tomorrow as the junior and senior members of the league will be at Webb AFB for a match between the youth centers of Reese and Webb.

Turning To Golf

The base golf course will see two golf tournaments next week (May 17 and 18). Both are gone into detail in stories on these pages. However, one more word on rules. If you participate (and we hope you do), be sure you are acquainted with the rules. In the pro-am scheduled Friday, the best ball of the four-man team will be used on each hole. This will be net (minus handicap), and the total score will be decided on the basis of the best ball on each hole. All USGA rules will apply for the amateurs, PGA rules for the participating pros.

In Saturday's Armed Forces Day tournament, USGA rules will apply in the partnership match. However, it behooves each member of the member-guest team to acquaint his partner with the rules in effect at Reese. These include the out-of-bounds rule, water and lateral water hazards, pin rule and the others; In both tournaments, winter rules will apply with regards to lies.

With regard to the pro-am tournament Friday, the entry fee of $5 will apply to all golfers — whether or not they are members of Reese.

Rod, Gun Club Meet Set This Weekend

The Reese AFB Rod and Gun Club will sponsor a small bore rifle match at the base rifle range tomorrow and Sunday. All rifle shooters have been invited to participate.

The four-position matches will be fired at 50 yards. Entry fee is $1 per match, or $6.50 for all matches. A total of 84 first-place trophies will be handed out in both individual and team events including for each position and aggregate, in sub-junior, junior and senior competition.

Optimists Hear Colonel Speak Morning, Evening Of Same Day

Reese's Information Office is looking for people with stories to tell.

A major function of the Reese AFB Information program is to inform the public about Air Force activities. One of the principal methods of accomplishing this task is through the Reese AFB Speaker's Bureau.

Composed of speakers from most organizations at Reese and from almost every rank, the speakers voluntarily accept speaking engagements from civilian schools, clubs and organizations.

A record of sorts, was established recently by one of the bureau's leading orators, Lt. Col. Howard J. Pierson, 3500 Pilot Training Squadron operations officer.

Colonel Pierson began the day with a 6:45 a.m. talk to the Sunrise Optimist Club, then followed it up the same evening by delivering a talk to them on Tuesday Optimist Club. This is the first time in the bureau's history that a speaker appeared to different organizations in the same day.

Instinctive Reactions Credited With Saving Student Pilot's Life

Instinctive reactions to a mid-air emergency by 2nd Lt. Joseph H. Cartwright, 3501st Pilot Training Squadron, Class 69-04 "A" Flight, were credited with the safe landing of a T-37 "Tweety-Bird" here Tuesday morning.

As the young student pilot was flying a solo mission in the local area, one of the two jet engines on the dual-seat trainer was "lost" leaving Lieutenant Cartwright facing a situation that many of his instructor pilots have never faced, landing the trainer with only one engine.

Resorting to the hours of training provided to all students to prepare them for such a situation, the lieutenant followed his checklist and made a perfect landing.

Later, while talking with Lt. Col. John H. Koller, 3501st Pilot Training Squadron commander, Lieutenant Cartwright agreed that the value of teaching student pilots to make instinctive moves probably prevented a serious accident.

"There were so many things to do at one time," explained Lieutenant Cartwright, "that if some of the moves hadn't been by reflex, I probably wouldn't have made it."

"This emphasizes the value of training pilots to make automatic moves whenever they're faced with in-flight emergencies," concluded Colonel Koller, as he congratulated Lieutenant Cartwright on a job "well done."

Sgt. Fienhold

Former Reesite Joliet Recruiter

SSgt. Robert E. Fienhold, previously assigned to Reese AFB's Personnel division, has completed the special U. S. Air Force recruiter course at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Sergeant Fienhold will be an official Air Force recruiter at Joliet, Ill. He was picked for the special assignment as a volunteer with an outstanding military record.

The sergeant was trained in 11 areas of study, including the Air Force job classification system, testing procedures and community relations to broaden his qualifications for presenting the facts of Air Force career opportunities to young men and women.

Sergeant Fienhold, a graduate of Pontiac High School, Pontiac, Ill., is a veteran of the Korean War.

AUSTIN AMERICA — EXCITING NEW SEDAN — BOLD AND PRACTICAL! FILLS SECOND FAMILY CAR NEEDS

Whether it's a trip to the station or across the nation, the new Austin America offers years of economical driving ease and comfort. Distinctive British engineering is the reason. Front wheel drive, transverse mounted engine, dual hydraulic braking system, and a fully automatic transmission provide the car with amazing road-holding properties, interior spaciousness, and ease of handling. Powered by a four-cylinder 1,275 c.c. engine, the Austin America accelerates from 0-60 m.p.h. in less than 18 seconds — and provides up to 30 miles to the gallon. The Austin America is priced at $1,895 in Lubbock, Texas.
