10,000 People To Visit Reese At Open House

Reese gates will be open tomorrow to thousands of visitors from the South Plains as the base is the focal point of the area in the 19th annual observance of Armed Forces Day.

Col. Clyde J. Morganti, Reese wing commander, cordially invites area South Plains residents to visit the base during the 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. open house.

Retreat Ceremony Ends Unique Day For Visitors Here

With the first clear sounds of "Retreat," visitors to Reese tomorrow will witness the U. S. Air Force ceremony for ending the official duty day.

At the close of every day (5:30 p.m.) retreat ceremonies are performed at the flagpole in front of Wing Headquarters to pay respect to the flag and to signify the end of the working day.

Armed Forces Day student officers will form a flight to perform the ceremonies at 4:30 p.m.

During the retreat ceremony, a formation of two T-38s and a formation of two T-37s will perform a fly-by.

The Northrop T-38 Talon is a supersonic jet trainer used at Reese in the Undergraduate Pilot Training program. The jet provides student officer training in supersonic and multi-jet handling techniques.

The Cessna T-37 Tweetie Bird is a 400 mile per hour jet trainer used by Air Training Command as a primary jet trainer.

Accidents Continue Despite Campaign

Despite pleas from all levels of command, accidents continue involving Reese AFB personnel. Two accidents within four days resulted in $1,000 in property damage.

In the first, April 30, an airman was involved in a two-vehicle accident off base with some $900 in damage and minor injuries. In the other, May 3, an officer was involved in a two-car mishap in downtown Lubbock with property damages set at $100, but no injuries.

Investigation revealed that both drivers had failed to yield the right of way.

5 Instructor Pilots Promoted To Capt.

Silver bars are rapidly multiplying in the 3501st Pilot Squadron as five first lieutenants became captains. Congratulations on their new trax.

Promoted are Captains Henry L. Carl, Robert L. Cannon, Virgil W. Johnson, Allen F. Kennedy and Norman P. Urban.

The open house has been planned to show the people of the community how the base has progressed and what it has accomplished in the past year.

Various military organizations are cooperating in displays and demonstrations during the open house.

Training aircraft and other aircraft will be on display on the flight line during the day, several buildings will open for inspection and exhibits and displays are being assembled in Hangar P-82.

Girl and Boy Scouts will be manning the refreshment booth.

The first event of the day begins at 8 a.m. The First Annual Armed Forces Day Golf Tournament is designed for maximum participation of golfers from Lubbock and the surrounding area.

Gates will be officially open to the public at 11 a.m. At 11:45 a.m. the base gym will be officially dedicated with key base officials involved in the ribbon-cutting ceremonies. At the same time two T-37s and two T-38 will fly over in formation.

Under Agreement

Canadian Forces Instructor To Be Assigned To Reese

Under an agreement reached last month between Canadian and U. S. Air Force officials, a Canadian Forces instructor pilot will be assigned to Reese AFB.

He is Capt. W. B. Allen, currently assigned to the 416 Squadron, CFB, Chatham, and is one of 12 Canadian pilots who will be assigned to U. S. bases as IPs in the Undergraduate Pilot Training program.

The 14 Canadian IPs began a 30-day Pilot Instructor Training (UIT) course Tuesday, eight of them in T-38s and four in T-37s. Captain Allen will train, and instruct, in T-38s.

Captain Allen has logged 4,000 hours total instruction time, including 2,100 in the T-33, 1,002 in the CF-100 and 512 in the CF-101. He is married and he and his wife have three children. His assignment to Reese is expected about July 1.

The agreement sending the 12 Canadian pilots to U. S. bases came at a meeting at Randolph AFB April 17. The four T-37 IPs will be transitioned into the T-38 at the end of about one year. It was agreed that, to the extent practicable, the Canadian IPs would be given special priority for U. S. Government quarters.

The PIT course will consist of a pilot check-out in the respective aircraft, and approximately 35 hours flying time. Academics will include aircraft engineering, flight planning, grading practices and wing and squadron organization.

FOR THE COMMANDER

Respect For Justice Under Law Builds Better Society

By Maj. Anthony Farina
Judge Advocate

Col. Clyde J. Morganti
Wing Commander

On May 1, we celebrated Law Day, USA. May 1 was set aside by joint resolution of the U. S. Congress, as a special day of celebration by the American people in appreciation of their liberties, a day on which Americans reaffirmed their loyalty to the United States of America; a day in which Americans re-dedicated themselves to the ideals of equality and justice under law in their relations with each other as well as with other nations; a day for motivating that respect for law that is so vital to our democratic way of life.

Law Day will continue to be celebrated from year to year by dedicated, loyal and thankful Americans, cognizant of the blessings we receive from justice under law.

Notwithstanding our yearly commemoration of Law Day, it is wholly evident that only through the continued respect by the people of our nation for law and courts on a daily basis that a better society can be built.

If as individuals we go beyond giving lip service to our respect for law and live our spoken principles of high regard for law and order by good example, in following the law and in supporting the courts and law enforcement agencies whenever we have the opportunity, we will play an important part in combating violence and crime on the streets of our country as well as assuring a better life for ourselves and for our children.

Prayer For Armed Forces Day Given By Chaplain Board

By Armed Forces Chaplains Board

Eternal and ever-merciful God who has been the strength of our fathers in peace and war, we ask Your blessing this Armed Forces Day on our Commander in Chief and all the men and women in the service of our beloved country. The heroism and sacrifice of our soldiers, sailors, airmen and marines are an inspiration to freedom-loving people everywhere.

We pray for those who are exposed to danger and peril in defense of our nation and its principles. Guard them from all enemies and enable them to serve nobly and courageously in all their duties. Bring near unto You all who have made the supreme sacrifice for freedom's cause. forever in glory and grateful remembrance.

Help us, oh Lord, to remain strong and faithful. Protect us from the forces which would deny Your children their inalienable rights. Let the flame of selfless devotion to liberty, justice and equality burn as brightly in our day as when our nation was founded.

Armed Forces Day Messages

Throughout our national history we have met and mastered many challenges to freedom. We have succeeded because brave men have been willing to risk their lives for their Nation's security. And braver men have never lived than those who carry our colors today in Vietnam.

Our goal has always been the same—in Europe, in Asia, in our own hemisphere—a just and secure peace.

The true peacekeepers are those men who wear our country's uniform. In Vietnam—and around the world—they perpetuate the ideals which made and preserve us as a nation. Let our thoughts and our prayers be with them on this day.

As Commander-in-Chief, I invite every American to participate in the 1968 observation of Armed Forces Day which honors these courageous men and women of our forces for freedom.

President Lyndon B. Johnson

Americans everywhere can view with pride the performance and preparedness of their Armed Forces. On Armed Forces Day we honor those men and women who serve our country in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps and Coast Guard.

Their contribution to our freedom and safety cannot be measured. Our national security and security of the Free World depend on the maintenance of alert military forces for freedom as a deterrent to any possible aggressor. Every citizen is invited to learn more about our Armed Forces and their preparedness to meet this challenge.

Mr. Clifford

Clark M. Clifford,
Secretary of Defense

On this Armed Forces Day, the members of the Air Force and their fellow servicemen are demonstrating courage, skill and dedication of the highest order as they continue to meet successfully a variety of challenges to freedom. By thus protecting the values of this nation and its allies, our men and women in uniform have earned from a grateful citizenry a renewed expression of admiration, confidence and support.

Mr. Brown

Harold Brown
Secretary of the Air Force

In my long association with the men and women of our land, sea and air forces, I have never known them to display a higher degree of courage, determination and professional skill than at this very hour. On this Armed Forces Day I take particular pride in saluting the impressive and continuing achievements of our people whether in or out of uniform who are upholding the interests of freedom, both in this country and in distant areas.

Gen. McConnell

J. P. McConnell
General, USAF
Air Force Chief of Staff

On this Armed Forces Day, the men and women of Air Training Command can take pride in their important mission of training personnel to maintain a highly efficient Air Force. We can best observe the day by rededicating ourselves to continued professional excellence in meeting our ever-increasing commitments. Our dedication and devotion to duty are vital in the protection of the freedom we enjoy and to the struggle for peace throughout the world.

Gen. Maddux

Sam Maddux Jr.
Lieutenant General, USAF
ATC Commander

Throughout the world today, United States forces are observing the 19th annual Armed Forces Day. This is a special day when our nation pays tribute to the military forces for their efforts to safeguard freedom at home and abroad.

Conversely, it is the day when we in the military make a direct report to the American people by providing special programs, base visitations, and exhibits in order that they may better realize how we are exercising our responsibilities in national defense.

Every commander also uses this occasion to emphasize that each soldier, sailor, airman and marine, wherever he may be, whatever his tasks, contributes directly and importantly to the defense of the United States and the preservation of the freedoms from which its greatness derives.

On this Armed Forces Day, May 18th, 1968, special tribute is owed to our servicemen in Vietnam who, in conjunction with the South Vietnamese, South Koreans, Australians, Thais, Filipinos and New Zealanders, are directly involved in the front line battle for freedom.

Boating Safety Urged

(An AFNS Editorial)

Boating season is here. The sport has become one of America's fastest growing recreational activities, and a record number of boats ply the waterways.

Unfortunately, there is a direct parallel between the number of boats and the number of water fatalities each year.

When you take to a boat, take your boating safety habits with you. In the broad spectrum of boating safety, there are several important things to consider:

SPEED—Be courteous to other boaters. Slow down when passing and maneuvering in the dock area.

OBSERVE RESTRICTED AREAS—Boating presents many dangers to swimmers.

NAVIGATIONAL AIDS — It is easy to become lost in open water. A chart and a compass are a must.

RUNNING AGROUND—Should you run aground on a sandbar or mud flat, remain in the boat. Don't try to swim ashore.

CAPSIZED BOAT—Have adequate flotation devices (cushions or life-jackets) for all passengers.

Should the boat swamp, don't leave it; it will float.

LOCAL REGULATIONS—Comply with policies and regulations established for each body of water you plan to use.

Reese Personnel Have Chance To Share In Worthy Campaign

The American dollar is now the world's most important medium of exchange, a rare source of stability in an unstable world.

This month, the 1968 Share in Freedom Savings Bond Campaign will give Reese personnel the opportunity to do their part in maintaining that stability.

Reese started the 1968 campaign Wednesday and will end it June 15.

By participating in the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds through payroll savings, Reese personnel can give our country a powerful weapon with which to fight and beat inflation.

At the same time we are helping to ease the pressures that push prices up and lead to inflation, we can help ourselves by saving for individual goals and future needs.

This year, more than ever, the Savings Bond and Freedom Share Campaign is considered "top priority" by President Johnson because of the crucial importance of our commitments in Southeast Asia.

Before making a final decision about the amount deducted each payday toward the purchase of bonds, you may want to think over the following savings bond facts.

United States savings bonds come in two series, Series E and Series H. Series E bonds cost 75 per cent of face value and accrue interest until they mature. This is the series purchasable through payroll savings. Series H bonds are purchased at face value and pay interest by Government check every six months.

Freedom Shares, a companion to the Series E saving bonds, are sold only in combination with it and are available only through a regular purchase plan such as payroll savings.

Freedom Shares pay 4.74 per cent interest when held to maturity 4½ years after issue.

Savings bonds now mature more quickly. They pay $4 for every $3 after only seven years.

If a savings bond is lost, destroyed or stolen, it will be replaced free.

The interest rate on your bonds is guaranteed to maturity.

As a valuable plus, E-bonds carry an optional automatic 10-year extension privilege beyond maturity.

E-bonds may be redeemed for full purchase price, plus accumulated interest any time after the first two months.

There are tax advantages. E-bond interest is exempt from state and local taxes. Federal income taxes on E-bonds may be deferred until you redeem them.

'101 Critical Days' Accident Campaign Plans Announced

HQ. ATC (ATCPS)—Air Training Command officials have announced plans for base-level participation in the annual "101 Critical Days" accident prevention campaign.

The campaign was initiated in 1946 by the U. S. Air Force to reduce injuries and fatalities during the high-accident potential period from Memorial Day through Labor Day.

This year, the period will run from May 25 through Sept. 2.

Officials stress the need for vigorous participation in the campaign by all command personnel.

Quote of Note

(An AFNS Feature)

"I have the impression that many people in this country take our still existing nuclear superiority for granted and, in fact, place less and less importance on its preservation. The reason may be that our strategic nuclear strength has achieved its primary purpose of deterring nuclear aggression for so long that the threat of it has lost much of its initial frightfulness. In my opinion, such complacency is extremely dangerous because of the still growing nuclear strength of the Soviets and the nuclear potential of such aggressive nations as Communist China. I submit that there can be no more urgent task for the continuing protection of our national security than to maintain our margin of nuclear superiority in the face of any advances potential aggressors may make." (Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. John P. McConnell, Air Force Association Convention, Atlanta, April 4, 1968.)

Armed Services Sending Most Mail By Air

HQ. ATC (ATCPS)—More than 75 per cent of all mail addressed to personnel overseas is now air-lifted, according to a recent U. S. Air Force Postal and Courier Service announcement. Postal officials say this increased use of airlift means that relatives and friends of personnel overseas can now enjoy much faster transportation of letters and parcels and at less cost than was formerly paid for air mail service. There are three airlift services available for speeding packages to overseas servicemen, they said. These are Air Parcel Post, Parcel Airlift (PAL) and Space Available Mail (SAM).

Officials say that for packages weighing two pounds or less, Air Parcel Post is the fastest and most economical airlift service available. Packages up to 30 pounds and 60 inches in length and girth combined are accepted for PAL.

AF Instrument Pilot Instructor School Commemorates Silver Anniversary

RANDOLPH AFB, Tex. (ATCPS)—A banquet commemorating the silver anniversary of the U. S. Air Force Instrument Pilot Instructor School (IPIS) will be held here tomorrow.

Former commanders and instructors are invited to attend. Several notable pioneer aviators, whose reputations have been closely associated with instrument flying, have also been invited.

Highlighting ceremonies will be the first annual presentation of the Col. Joseph B. Duckworth Award to the Air Force unit or individual contributing most to the advancement of instrument flying during the preceding year.

The award is named for the late Colonel Duckworth who is known as "father of modern instrument flying."

The Air Force Nurse Corps has more than tripled in number since 1949.

3500th Names Captain Fant IP Of Month

Capt. Lewis M. Fant, Flight E-1, has been selected as Instructor Pilot of the Month of April in the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron. Captain Fant was cited as such in a letter from his squadron commander, Lt. Col. Albert S. Martin.

In the citation, Colonel Martin stated that Captain Fant was outstanding in many areas. He said that during April he acted as the assistant flight commander for 15 days, he was aircraft commitment officer, the flight scheduling officer, and was undergoing check-out as senior Runway Supervisor Unit (RSU) controller. He also flew 41 IP hours with his four assigned students and an additional four instructional "Buddy IP" rides.

Colonel Martin stated: "Captain Fant's outstanding performance, professionalism and military bearing serve as an excellent example for other officers of the Air Force. I am proud to have him as a member of the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron, as he is the most deserving officer I know for the award of Instructor Pilot of the month for April 1968."

Space Available Travel Clarified

Department of Defense directives have clarified guidelines for space available travel abroad Military Airlift Command aircraft to and from the United States and foreign countries.

Military "hops" had been suspended March 6 in an effort by the Government to curb American spending in foreign countries.

Primary aim of the revised directive is to eliminate vacation trips from the United States and its territories and possession to countries outside the Western Hemisphere.

All other types of space available travel are allowed.

'Crew Chief' Title Goes To Sergeant Michael R. Hutson

The 3501st Pilot Training Squadron has named—in a unique way—a "Crew Chief of the Month" for April. He is Sgt. Michael R. Hutson, who was cited for his outstanding skill as a T-37 crew chief and for his "exemplary bearing and appearance."

The award of crew chief of this month is a new one originated by the pilot training squadrons as a means of demonstrating their appreciation for a fine job. It is unique in that the title is designated solely by ballots cast by students and instructors.

Sergeant Hutson's assignment as T-37 crew chief is his first in the Air Force. But already he knows what his second assignment will be. Shortly after being named "Crew Chief of the Month" he received his orders for Khorat Royal Thai Air Base, Thailand, where he will be a crew chief on Republic F-105 Thunderchief. He is due to leave Reese at the end of June.

The sergeant comes from Wichita, Kan. and is single. His selection to the honor brings with it two tickets to a dinner and movie.

Airman Davis

Refueling Specialist Wins May Honors For AOM Award

A "professionally outstanding performance" of duties has won for AIC Jerry M. Davis the distinction of Reese AFBs Airman of the Month for May.

Since his assignment to the mobile refueling section as an aircraft refueling unit operator, Airman Davis "has proven himself to be a quick thinker and an extremely versatile individual," stated MSgt. Samuel F. Madison, fuels superintendent.

"He has worked in both the T-37 and T-38 areas, always servicing aircraft in a safe and expedient manner . . ." Sergeant Madison cited.

Prior to entering the Air Force in September 1967, Airman Davis completed 28 semester hours at Adrian College, Adrian, Mich. He was graduated from Pontiac Northern High School, Pontiac, Mich. in 1966.

Since his assignment to the fuels branch in November 1967, he has satisfactorily completed the 3-level Career Development Course (CDC) and is presently taking the 5-level CDC.

He attained a 90 percentile score in his 3-level Specialty Knowledge Test.

The airman is not married.

Pilot Goes Regular

Lt. Col. Albert S. Martin, commander, 3500th Student Squadron, recently administered the oath of office to 1st Lt. James J. DeMilita.

Lieutenant DeMilita was integrated into the Regular Air Force shortly after reporting for duty at the squadron.

He returned from Da Nang AB, Republic of Vietnam after completing his combat tour in the F-4C.

Sergeant Tyler

To Youth Center

Sergeant Tyler Goes On Loan

A 21-year-old Reese AFB sergeant has been assigned to the base youth center for three months as assistant youth director.

In this capacity, Sgt. Terry L. Tyler will assist Harold Green, center director.

While Sergeant Tyler is new to the center, he is anything but new to youth activities on the base. Shortly after arriving at Reese in August 1966, he took on the task of assistant coach for the base fourth Football League team helping to guide it through an undefeated season, and the championship.

Later, Sergeant Tyler took over as head coach for the Little League basketball team on the base, then following that as assistant coach for the Little League baseball team, which finished second in league play.

In the fall of 1967, it was back to the Youth Football League—and another championship team. The cycle was completed when he coached the Little League basketball and baseball teams last year. Currently, he is equipment manager for the league, and will manage the Little League baseball team this year.

One would think that this would be sufficient youth activity for anyone, especially a 21-year-old bachelor NCO. However, he finds time to act as scoutmaster for the Reese Boy Scout Troop 548, and is honorary member of the Pre-Teen Club which meets Friday nights and the Teen-Club, which meets Saturday nights.

The sergeant is a member of the 3500th Organizational Maintenance Squadron, and is on loan from that organization for three months. Last September he proved his ability at his regular job by being named Squadron Airman of the Month, Maintenance Man of the Month and by attaining an outstanding rating by I. G. inspectors. He worked in the T-38 maintenance office.

Two Tournaments At Course Set For Weekend

Tournament activity is in full swing on the Reese AFB golf course.

Today, a pro-am tournament is in progress, with a special Armed Forces Day Tournament set for tomorrow.

Today's action sees pros and amateurs from throughout the South Plains competing for prizes. The four-man teams began play at 8 a.m. and is continuing throughout the day.

Tomorrow's tournament is billed as the first in what is hoped to become an annual series. Members of the golf course, meaning those eligible to play, will team up with a non-member, or a person not eligible to play normally at the base course, to form a partnership team. The so-called Callaway system will be used. In that system, the score on holes may be deducted from the total score, with the number depending on the total score turned in.

The entry fee will be $1 per person ($2 per team), plus green fees. All of the entry fees will go into prizes for the winners.

The tournament is being held to point up Armed Forces Day, with the emphasis on having non-members participating along with members.

Rifle Champ's Son Is Chip Off Block

AMARILLO AFB, TEX. (ATCPS)—The son of the 1967 Air Training Command high-power rifle champion is proving to be a "chip off the old block."

Ron Bohlander, 15-year-old son of SMSgt. Ray C. Bohlander, champion shooter and non-commissioned officer in charge of small arms training branch at Amarillo, recently broke the national junior .22 caliber pistol record of the National Rifle Association. The old record for the .22 caliber pistol in the junior league had been a 133. Ron shot a 150.

The young pistol shooter also established 11 new records in .38 and .45 caliber competition at a tournament held at the Amarillo Rifle and Pistol Club.

Army Volleyballers Win Title
DOVER AFB, DEL. (MNS)—Army's volleyball team won six straight matches to win the inter-service championship at Dover April 23-25.

The defending champion Air Force team, looking for their third straight title, finished third with a 2-4 record.

By James Comeaux

Armed Forces Day is a good time to talk about a group of men who are possibly the best friends Reese AFB ever had. This group, of course, is the Armed Services Committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce headed by one of the nicest and most personable men in Texas, Jack Davis. What has this to do with sports? Plenty, just read on.

It is more than just rumor that this group has expressed the opinion that it would, through the Chamber, like to do something for the base in somewhat more tangible form (if that's possible) than they have in the past. The thing that is still in the rumor stage, however, is what form this will take.

Many people, especially those who hang out at the base golf course, feel this will come in the form of an additional nine holes to the base course—long restricted because of its nine-hole layout. This has sent countless would-be golf course architects to the drawing board in an effort to figure out where those extra holes would be placed.

New Layout Not New

This is nothing new. In the eight years I have been playing on the Reese course, this has been almost a constant source of discussion among those who would like to see the course enlarged.

You should see some of the layouts I have seen—some of them actually on paper. Some are a nightmare of criss-crossed holes that would make it economically more feasible to move the base hospital to where the club house is now located. On others, it would take a bevy of guides to direct golfers from one hole to the next. Others would endanger low-flying airplanes. Still others would turn some holes into nightmares that would turn Arnold Palmer gray overnight.

And then there are those people who say that it absolutely, positively and irrevocably cannot be done.

Now comes this new idea for your consideration. Why not turn that part of the course over which holes 1, 2 and 9 play into a pitch-and-putt course similar to the Treasure Island course on Fourth Street? Make hole number four the starting hole of a regulation nine that would include the practice area (and greens), making it a nine-holer with two sets of tee boxes.

To Take Load Off Course

Such a plan (in my estimation) would take a big load off the course itself. Many people, especially the beginning golfers, would utilize the shorter nine and for more than one reason. Many people just like pitch-and-putt golf. Also, with the work hours changed, making quitting time 5:15 p.m., the need arises for some "quickie" recreation after work hours. Also, there are numerous golfers who like to get out and sharpen up their shore games. There are other reasons, too, the least of which is not the possibility that sometime in the future, some other benevolent group may wish to add lights to the pitch-and-putt course.

As to the regulation course, by virtue of it being a new layout would add tremendous interest. Reese golfers have been playing over the same nine holes so long that boredom has crept into their games. New holes and a new layout would alleviate this situation. The nine could start at what is now four and end on what is now three. Two of the three holes could easily be taken up in the practice area, and it should be no trick to find space for another.

So there you have it, dreamers. Get out those drawing boards and pencils and go to work.

Fire-Power Display At Base Rifle Range Highlights Events

One of the most effective weapons since World War II will be on display Armed Forces Day tomorrow.

The new M-16 rifle, attributed by many Vietnam veterans as the best in the world, will be demonstrated by Reese marksmanship instructors for visitors during the open house.

TSgt. Wilfred Jamison, SSgt. Theodore Dobkins and SSgt. James Whitehead will show visitors how the M-16 will disintegrate concrete blocks, penetrate 1/4 in. steel and tear apart water buckets. Automatic firing along with accuracy firing will be exhibited.

Two members of the Texas National Guard (Company C, 2nd Battalion 142nd Infantry) will be firing the Browning automatic rifle and the .30 caliber machine gun at the demonstration on the base rifle range slated for 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. SSgt. John H. Ray and SSgt. David E. Walker will do the firing.

ATC Management Engineering Program Has Immediate Requirement For NCOs

Air Training Command Management Engineering program has an immediate need for experienced NCOs. All NCOs selected for the program by the Management Engineering Detachment at Reese will be trained immediately, assured Headquarters ATC.

This training consists of an eight week course at Lowry AFB, Colo.

Although the course and the work itself are technical in nature, the educational requirements are such that an applicant must have a working understanding of algebra and a logical mind.

"This is not only your opportunity to enter an interesting and rewarding career field but also to gain the experience and knowledge that civilian industry is looking for," stated 2nd Lt. F. L. Karlin, detachment chief.

According to Lieutenant Karlin, the career field has excellent promotional opportunities. In the last promotion cycle, he cited, 78 per cent of the staff sergeants were promoted to technical sergeant in the 733X1 career field.

Although seldom done before, Management Engineering is now accepting E-4s if they indicate both career mindedness and good potential.

Personnel interested in the Management Engineering career field should contact Lieutenant Karlin or TSgt. Owen Zacherson, ext. 600, 713 or 267.

The first military flight nurses began training early in World War II.

52-C Grad Named Commander Of 3501st Student Squadron

A lieutenant colonel who left Reese AFB 16 years ago after graduating from Class 52-C has been named squadron commander of the 3501st Student Squadron.

He is Lt. Col. Howard J. Pierson who took over his new duties Monday.

Air University Seeks Overseas Returnees For ROTC Positions

Reese enlisted personnel in the administrative and personnel fields who have returned from overseas duty may apply at the base personnel office for duty in the Air University's Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) program.

Several vacancies in the program exist for career noncommissioned officers in grades sergeant through master sergeant in the administrative field and in grades staff sergeant and technical sergeant in the personnel field.

These slots are at major universities and colleges throughout the United States where the Air Force ROTC program is conducted.

The normal tour of duty at these detachments is three years, Monday.

Colonel Pierson entered the service in May 1951 and went into pilot training at Reese, training in the B-25. Since then Colonel Pierson has flown a total of 16 different aircraft, logging more than 6,500 hours. He is a veteran of Korea and Vietnam, and has been awarded two Distinguished Flying Crosses, the Airman's Medal, Bronze Star, 17 Air Medals and the Air Force Commendation Medal.

Colonel Pierson was operations officer of the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron before his new assignment. He is a native of Bloomfield, N.J.
