NCOA Chapter Hears Mayor

The Reese Chapter of the Non-commissioned Officers Association of America (NCOA) held its first social—a dinner dance — at the NCO Open Mess Sept. 27 with some 100 persons attending.

The affair was pronounced a smashing success by the association chairman, SMSgt. Sam Madison.

Principal speaker for the occasion was Lubbock Mayor W. D. "Dub" Rogers Jr., who spoke on patriotism, giving a scathing reprimand to those "who seek to undermine the democratic processes and freedoms fought for by our nation's servicemen." Mayor Rogers was given a standing ovation following his 30-minute speech which received heavy coverage through the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal's Saturday edition.

The mayor was introduced by Jim Comeaux, program chairman. Following his speech, the mayor was presented a certificate making him an honorary member of the Reese Chapter of NCOA.

Also speaking to the group was M. T. "Trigger" Kuykendall, the oldest living member of the association. Mr. Kuykendall, U. S. Army retired, was introduced by SMSgt. Emanuel Helmick, NCO Open Mess steward, as the man who had just celebrated his 58th anniversary of first enlisting in the service. Mr. Kuykendall has been retired for 23 years.

Those in attendance dined on prime rib, and following the dinner, danced to the music of Mel Way and the Wayward Playboys at the Open Mess.

Fuels Specialist Earns Honor Of Wing's Airman Of Month

A fuels specialist of the 3500th Supply Squadron has been named Wing Airman of the Month for October.

A1C Robert F. Concannon, 19, who has only been in the Air Force seven months has won the monthly honor over other base squadron candidates.

"Since his assignment to the fuels laboratory," reports SSgt. Clifford O. Boone, NCOIC of the fuels laboratory, "he has proven himself to be a quick learner and an extremely versatile individual."

In the fuels laboratory Airman Concannon is responsible for the drawing of fuels samples from aircraft, fuel systems and all fuel dispensing points.

"Airman Concannon has worked beyond the normal duty day so as to insure all laboratory equipment was in top condition before leaving at the day's end," stated Sergeant Boone. "Airman Concannon is the type individual that requires only minimum supervision in the performance of any task."

Airman Concannon finished and satisfactorily passed his three-level specialty knowledge test ahead of his fellow airmen.

The airman, from Malden, Mass., came to Reese April 1968 directly from basic training, Lackland AFB, Tex. The airman is single.

Parade Will Usher In Fire Prevention Week

Fire prevention week will be observed throughout the nation Sunday through Oct. 12. At Reese, plans include a parade Monday and a week-long open house at the main fire station.

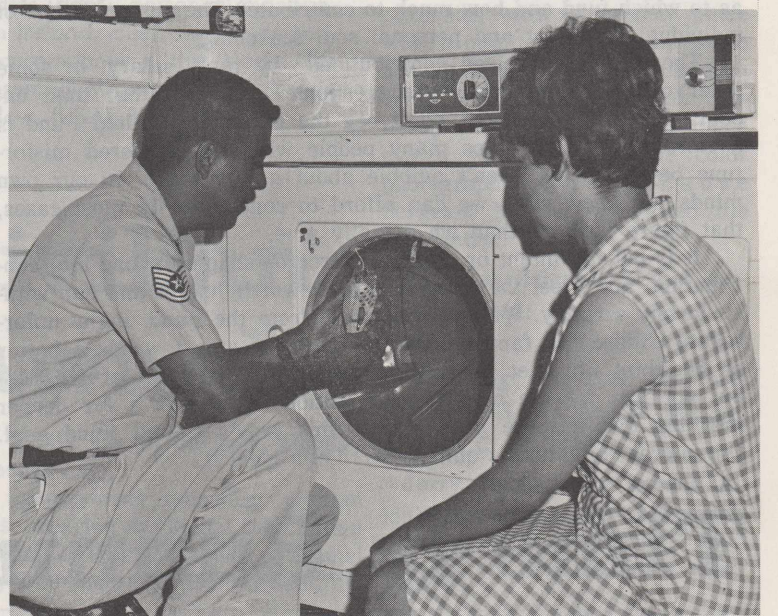

The parade will have the base's fire trucks participating complete with a clown riding atop one of the trucks. The parade will leave from the central fire station at 9 a.m., wind its way through the base, Reese Village, the trailer park and back to the station.

The open house will be held Monday through Friday at the central fire station from 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. Fire fighting equipment will be on display in front of the station and inside. Loud speakers mounted atop the station will play music to lend a festive note to the occasion. This will be augmented with lectures in the base theater on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Also planned is a demonstration of fire drills for the kindergarten children on the base and possibly the same for students at Reese Elementary school.

Throughout the week, firemen will be handing out literature—especially to school-age children — requesting them to take the literature home for their parents to read.

Coincidental with the week, the annual base housing inspection began Tuesday on the base, continuing through today. Fire chief Truett S. Cranford said the inspectors would be looking for danger areas, both in the houses and outside of them. He has requested the cooperation of all base personnel in aiding in keeping fires to a minimum throughout the year.

FIRE CHECK—TSgt. Arnaldo P. Miranda, Reese AFB fire department fire prevention inspector, is a man who believes in bringing his work home with him. To prove it, he is pointing out a deficiency in the wiring of a clothes dryer to his wife, Rosa, at their home at 200 Mitchell Blvd., Reese Village, Tuesday—opening day of a four-day fire inspection in the housing area. Medics Giving Influenza Shot Reese AFB medics today begin their annual war against an old enemy—influenza.

Influenza immunization shots will be given between 9 and 11 a.m. today in the motor pool lounge (building 461), again Tuesday at quality control (building P-52) at the same hours, and finally Oct. 9 at the base theater, also between 9 and 11 a.m. Flying personnel will be given the shots today and next Friday between 2 and 4:30 p.m. in the academic building (building 915).

The immunization is mandatory for all active duty military personnel and is optional for civilians, dependents and retired personnel.

Flu, including its many varieties, is a major cause of absence from the job during the winter months. Through the inoculations, hospital personnel hope to keep this lost time to a minimum.

Year's Training Culminates With Silver Wings Ceremony

Undergraduate Pilot Training (UPT) Class 69-02, 55 members strong, will culminate 53 weeks of training tomorrow with graduation ceremonies set to begin with a 9 a.m. parade on the flight line.

Reviewing officer for the parade will be Brig. Gen. James E. Hill, commander, 825th Strategic Aerospace Division, Little Rock AFB, Ark. Taking part in the event to honor the graduating class will be students from the 3501st Student Squadron.

Following the flight line review, activity shifts to the base theater where the formal graduation ceremony including presentation of silver wings will begin at 10 a.m. General Hill, who commanded the 3615th Pilot Training Wing, Craig AFB, Ala. (another UPT base) from July 1966 to July 1967, will deliver the address.

COMMANDER'S COMMENTS...

Col. Clyde J. Morganti
Wing Commander

Moral Obligation Is Quite Clear!

This week is the kick-off for the United Fund Drive. Each year the Fund appeals to the generosity and conscience of all of us in its constant struggle to obtain enough money to support its program for providing help to the unfortunate. The Fund never really succeeds in raising enough money, although the established goal for any one drive may be attained. The need always exceeds the money available.

We have a goal of $16,000 at Reese and the Lubbock goal is more than $600,000. Our Reese goal is considerably greater than last year, but I feel it is reasonable and is one we will attain if we can somehow convey "the message" to prospective donors — military and civilian.

I am well aware of the fact that all year long there is a succession of fund drives. It seems that one is no more than completed when another follows on its heels. Where does one draw the line as to which fund and how much to contribute? The answer is one of individual judgment and personal soul searching.

There are "suggested contributions" by rank, salary, or some other criteria. Often these "suggestions" irritate rather than encourage donors. However, don't beg the issue. The United Fund is a worthy cause. It helps many people who have suffered misfortune beyond belief. Don't quibble about a fair share. In our own minds, we know what we can afford to contribute. In most cases, that figure is more than we actually give.

It is not my intent or desire to force or shame anyone into contributing, but I feel the Fund is a most worthy cause and can withstand any scrutiny. Without assistance from the Fund, many unfortunate children or families will be denied a step towards a better or healthful life. Let us achieve more than our goal of $16,000—but not just for the sake of competition!! There is a far deeper meaning and purpose in achieving this year's United Fund goal. Our moral obligation is quite clear. Let's meet it.

Staff Editorial

Fire Prevention Is A Year-Round Activity

We are asked to observe each year one specific week as National Fire Prevention Week in order to put particular emphasis on recognizing and eliminating fire hazards. This year, the week beginning Sunday (Oct. 6-12) has been designated Fire Prevention Week.

In proclaiming this year's National Fire Prevention Week, President Johnson urged all groups in fire safety activities to observe Fire Prevention Week and to motivate all citizens toward year-round fire prevention activity.

Fire is the third largest cause of accidental death in America—and deaths from fire increased again last year. The threat of fire is constantly with us at Reese whether it be at our duty place or our living quarters. The major causes of fires are unsafe acts of people such as careless smoking, matches left within reach of small children and overloaded electrical circuits.

Our base fire department has planned many activities in observance of Fire Prevention Week including open house at the main fire station and a parade of fire trucks Monday. (See page 1)

We can as individuals observe Fire Prevention Week in a most wise way. Let us seek out fire dangers and correct them without delay realizing each of us has individual responsibility 365 days a year to eliminate fire hazards.

Let us put fire in its proper place—as a friend of mankind rather than an enemy.

Fully Covered?

(An AFNS Feature)

Many people falsely believe they are fully covered when it comes to theft of personal property because they have a broad coverage home insurance policy which includes some theft protection. Certain things are completely excluded from coverage in most homeowners' policies and there are liability limits on others.

Policies should be checked to determine the liability limits on cash, boats, jewelry and furs; items excluded from coverage, such as cars, pets, and trailers; and limits on home furnishings protection.

If the policy does not afford the desired amount of coverage, the limitations can be increased by the addition of specific endorsements or floater policies.

Inner Life Takes Precedence

By Chaplain (Lieutenant Colonel) Isaac M. Copeland Jr.
Base Chaplain

One of the quotations from literature most widely used in recent years is that from John Donne that declares that "No man is an island."

This is deeply true. We are bound together in one bundle of life. We are, as John Donne goes on to say, "diminished" when someone dies. We are debtor to all. Yet there is the reverse side of this truth which ought not to be forgotten. Man is an island. He lives in solitary confinement in the sense that he has a personal, individual life which is his alone.

Someone has called man the "Isle of Man." Each one of us has an inner life that is not a social affair but an individual concern in the sight of God. The Spanish philosopher, Ortega y

Gasset, in his last book has pictured this solitary nature of man's life. He writes: "Each man is an island in that he lives and dies in the solitude of his own consciousness." This private world, Ortega rightly says, is all important, and he thinks it is a tragic loss when that private world is lost in the pressure of "usages" about us. There is a very somber aspect to this, pictured in the solemn words of Kipling's poem "Tomlinson":

The sin that you do by two
You pay for by one.
We live in days when the social quality of our culture is emphasized and this is a thing of great value. Yet we must never forget that each of us has his own personal responsibility which we cannot unload on others or on "society."

Like everything else worth having, the job of being a man is not acquired without some effort or sacrifice. There are always those who will tear down or keep others from attaining their best on the theory that it isn't worth the trouble.

Physical courage is something that we all admire. The man who can face danger without flinching and endure pain without complaining makes us respect him.

But there is another kind of bravery which is just as admirable and that is moral courage. What do we mean by moral courage? It is having the strength of character to do what you know is right in spite of all difficulties and obstacles.

Often you may be "made fun of" for standing by your principles and refusing to "follow the crowd" in something that you know is not right. But the very person who laughs at you cannot help secretly admiring you for your moral courage.

We will do well to ponder the thought that a man of integrity is never for sale. He does not ask, What is most profitable for me, but rather, what is right? He does so on the principle expressed in the "Book of Proverbs" (19:1): "Better is the poor that walketh in his integrity than he that is perverse in his lips, and is a fool."

Time Is Running Out

By MSgt. William C. Parker
Chief, Personal Affairs

The unique mark of a free system of government lies in its ability to transfer power by the ballot rather than the bullet. Choice and decision rest in the will of the majority as expressed by each voter exercising his precious right of a free ballot. Air Force military and civilian members need to point the way in using the right and responsibility of their free ballot.

If you are not registered to vote locally and have not as yet requested your absentee ballot, do so now so that your vote can be counted for the men of your choice.

Oct. 11 is the last day on which you can mail your request for an absentee ballot to vote in the general election Nov. 5. Standard Form 76 is the form that is used to request registration and the absentee ballots. This form may be obtained from your unit voting officer, Central Base Personnel Office, post office, bank, Officers' Open Mess, NCO Open Mess or the personal affairs office.

When you receive your absentee ballot, do not open the envelope until the instructions on the envelope have been read. This is important because some states require that the envelope be opened in the presence of a commissioned officer. If there are no instructions on the outside of the envelope, it may be opened as any other mail.

We as free men, owe it to ourselves and other free men to cast our vote. Do not shirk your duty — be sure to vote.

What's Your Opinion?

(An AFPS Editorial)

This is a good year for discussions and arguments. It's a political year and politics have always been one subject on which people are quick to expound.

Why to vote for a specific candidate and not for another will be argued and discussed from now until November, whenever and wherever two or more thinking individuals get together for a bull session.

And certainly other aspects of voting will come up also—how important is one man's vote; why it's important to vote; whether voting is worth the "trouble," etc.

Undoubtedly you have opinions on these and many other related questions. Some of your opinions will be more strongly felt than others and, if expressed well, may even swing some people over to your way of thinking.

During the course of your political discussions, give some thought to sharing your views with others. Not by installing your soap-box on the nearest available corner, but through the medium of the 1968 Freedoms Foundation program.

The topic for this year's Letters Award Program is "A Free Ballot—A Free Country"—one that is right down your alley to talk about as a concerned, active citizen.

Your letter doesn't have to be a literary masterpiece—they're judged on sincerity and understanding of the American way of life—nor does it have to be voluminous, 500 words is the maximum.

The Freedoms Foundation Letter Awards program is your way to share your opinions and your beliefs in the American way of life with millions of other Americans. Stand up and speak up for America with your entry by Nov. 1.

Your letters should be sent to Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa., 19481. You can also obtain additional information on the program by writing to the same address.

This is your chance to be heard — make use of it.

Quote of Note

(An AFNS Feature)

"This year, we can expect 53,000 Americans to die on our nation's highways. We can expect almost 4 million people hurt every day. We can expect automobile fatalities to be the largest cause of death in the 15 to 35 age group." (President Lyndon B. Johnson in Presidential message to Congress.)

Reese Elementary School PTA Mapping Fall Festival Plans

The Reese Elementary School Parents-Teachers Association (PTA) has announced plans for its annual Fall Festival.

The gala event will be held Nov. 2 beginning at 3 p.m. on the school grounds. A spaghetti dinner will be served from 4 to 7 p.m. Prices will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children. A special charge of $2.50 will be offered to families of five or more.

Maj. John Elliff, PTA president, said a host of games and athletic events will highlight the festival. They include the fishing pond, basket throw, doll walk, string pull, bean jar estimate, clown bean bag, cake walk, country store, spin the wheel, pony rides, dart throw game and a variety of goodies to tickle the palate such as cotton candy, homemade candy, popcorn and others.

Chairman of the arrangements is SMSgt. Emanuel Helmick.

QUALITY COUNTS

Not all ideas considered in the Air Force Suggestion Program can be adopted. They stand a much better chance, though, if they're well thought out before being submitted.
