Reese School PTA To Hear Combat Officer

Maj. Harold J. Hennigar Jr., a veteran of 100 combat missions over North Vietnam, will be the featured speaker at the monthly meeting of the Reese Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association (PTA), Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

A one-hour social will open the meeting, followed by a short business meeting that will precede Major Hennigar's appearance, according to PTA president John

Maj. Hennigar J. Elliff.

Major Hennigar, who flew his combat missions from Korat AFB, Thailand, was shot down over North Vietnam, March 31, 1967 and rescued by the crew of a "Jolly Green Giant," helicopter.

He is currently assigned as chief of officer training and a T-38 instructor pilot. Among his decorations are 7 Distinguished Flying Crosses, 18 Air Medals and the Purple Heart.

Red Cross Volunteers Draw Lubbock Plaudits

By Jim Comeaux

They have been widely acclaimed in recent news stories in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, and are just now getting the recognition they so justly deserve. They are, of course, the Reese Red Cross volunteers.

Over the past year, the Red Cross volunteers at Reese have compiled a remarkable record. Under the leadership of its chairman, Mrs. Edith Franklin, wife of Capt. Carl E. Franklin, the chapter has grown to 44 active members who have put in about 4,500 hours of volunteer work on the various projects.

Mainly these are serving in the 3500th USAF Hospital at Reese. They work as receptionists, in the out patient clinic, pharmacy, X-ray, GYN clinic, laboratory, records, dental clinic, veterinary clinic, in the various wards and in the office of the Red Cross field director at Reese, Mrs. Deanne L. Harris. Co-chairman of volunteers is Mrs. Dennis Boesen and the honorary chairman is Mrs. Paul Stagg, wife of the hospital commander.

Maj. James W. Ward Jr., base operations officer, and Maj. Larry V. Girton, 3501st Pilot Training Squadron operations officer, have been selected to the temporary rank of lieutenant colonel. Effective dates for the promotions had not been released as of press time.

Flight A Given 'Of Month' Title

The 3500th Pilot Training Squadron has selected Flight A as its flight of the month.

In a citation signed by the squadron commander, Lt. Col. Albert S. Martin, it stated: "It is gratifying to me that after a rating of outstanding by both the ATC Evaluation Team and the IG, the high standards desired by the squadron have been maintained in A Flight without any evidence of regression. I congratulate the commander and each instructor pilot in A Flight for an outstanding performance, which I consider a tribute to the self-discipline and desire for excellence of each individual."

Cost Reduction Plaque Handed Col. Morganti

Col. Clyde J. Morganti, 3500th Pilot Training Wing commander, received an Air Training Command first place plaque recently at Air Training Command Headquarters for the base's contributions to the Cost Reduction program. The presentation was made by Lt. Gen. Sam Maddux Jr., ATC commander.

In addition to the primary award given Reese, Lackland AFB's Cost Reduction program was also lauded with a first place plaque. Honorable mentions went to Webb and Laredo AFBs, Tex.

The presentation came in the wake of the nomination of Reese AFB by ATC for the Department of Defense outstanding Unit Award based on effectiveness in the overall Cost Reduction program during Fiscal Year 1968. (See story, page one, Aug. 23 issue of The Roundup).

A total of 18 Department of Defense employees received Certificates of Merit Tuesday from President Johnson in a White House ceremony which climaxed the Department of Defense judging. Four of these employees were of the Air Force, but Reese was not among them. The winning units were the 840th Air Division, Lockbourne AFB, Ohio, and Seventh Air Force.

The former unit effected savings 60 per cent greater than original Cost Reduction Program goal set by the division, and the latter was cited for significant savings in materiel and man-hours despite its combat mission.

Also honored in Tuesday's ceremonies were two individuals. John L. Brock, Robins AFB, Ga., credited with saving the Air Force $1.5 million with his idea for renovating worn barrels of 20mm guns, and Alfred A. Agee, Hill AFB, Utah, who designed a container and developed a more efficient packing arrangement for shipping fin assemblies for 500-pound bombs were those so honored.

Boy Scouts, Dads Plan Fish-O-Ree

Reese Boy Scouts and their dads will have a field day—literally—next weekend at White River Lake, located just south of Crosbyton on State Highway 651.

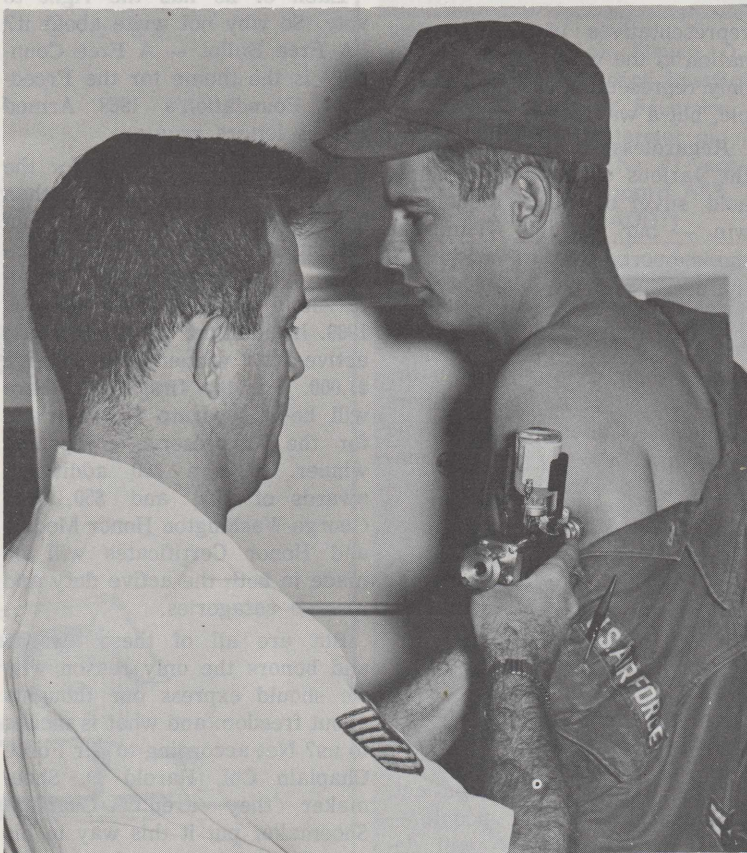

The boys and their dads will attend a Fish-O-Ree Oct. 18-20 at the lake. Dads will be encouraged to bring their own cars, but transportation will be furnished to all who do not.

Those desiring to make the trip will gather at the scout hut at Reese at 5 p.m. Friday. There will be a lake charge of $1 for each person over 12. Scouts over 17, and dads, must have a valid 1968 Texas fishing licenses.

NCOA To Meet Monday Evening

The Reese Chapter of the Noncommissioned Officers Association of America (NCOA) will hold its regular monthly meeting at 5:30 p.m. Monday in the Red Room of the NCO Open Mess. All members and prospective members are asked to attend.

Among the business tentatively on the agenda is a possible vote on a name change for the chapter, and a discussion of the recent dinner-dance sponsored by the chapter on Sept. 27.

Example Influences Child's Life

By Chaplain (Captain) George J. Dabrowski

The captain was worried. He had found some questionable pictures hidden in one of the school books of his eighth grade son. If this was widespread at the local school, he thought the base chaplain should know about it and give him some advice.

"You should see this stuff, chaplain," the captain said. "Why they're worse than the pictures in my 'Playboy!'"

The captain evidently had a blind spot which prevented him from seeing that he might have been at fault in his son's behavior.

The importance of the home in influencing a child's life is something that has been treated in every family guidance course, book and lecture. Our homes stamp indelible characters upon all of us. Our attitudes toward work, recreation, education, reading, food and cleanliness all have their roots in the home.

If the home fails to provide love, security, controls, standards and good example, there is little the school and the community can do to produce a good citizen from such an environment. In exceptional cases, a child may triumph over his lack of home training. It will be a tribute to other agencies if they can repair the neglect of parents or guardians.

FOR THE COMMANDER Personal Safety Is Our Business

By 2nd Lt. Glenn F. Campbell Wing Disaster Control Officer

The primary duties of disaster preparedness personnel can effectively be summed up in three words—planning, training and advising. We must plan the actions to be taken in order to cope with any disaster—both natural and man-made. We must train people to take protective actions to save themselves and their property, and during a disaster we advise the commander on actions that must be taken during any emergency.

Training is our most important duty. During a disaster each person must know how to react if he is to save himself and his family. He must gain this knowledge beforehand and put it to good use when the time comes.

In addition to our planned training programs we are willing to aid any organization or club in preparing a disaster preparedness program. We are available to speak, show films or provide pamphlets and training aids.

It is imperative that every American know all he can regarding his and his family's safety if world conflict should occur, and certainly West Texas weather can give no one any confidence that he will not become involved in a natural disaster.

If your organization or club should desire any assistance you may contact 2nd Lt. Glenn Campbell or TSgt. Walter Ritts at Reese, extension 305. The range of subjects is varied and includes individual protection during natural disasters such as tornadoes, floods, fires, or storms; and during man-made disasters such as nuclear, biological, and chemical warfare, chemical accidents or civil disturbances.

Your personal safety is our business—let us help you help yourself.

Know What To Do If Fire Hits Your Home

(An ATCPs Editorial)

It's 3:30 in the morning and all is quiet. Then the sound of coughing and shouting from your child's room startles you. You smell smoke . . . Your house is on fire!

What should I do? First of all, don't panic. Remember, panic, at times like this, only makes matters worse. Most people killed in fires could have saved their lives if they had not lost their heads.

Why not think about what you and your family would do if fire struck your home tonight. Plan a course of action. A few simple rules may save lives.

The cardinal rule is to get everyone outside away from the fire. Valuables left behind are never worth the life of a loved one.

After everyone is safely out of the house, call the fire department immediately, from a neighbor's home or a firebox, if necessary.

If fire traps you, feel the doors for heat before opening them. If the door is hot and you are forced to stay in the room, block the door with clothes and furniture to keep out smoke, gasses and flames.

Even if the door is not warm, don't throw it open. Get a solid footing and brace one hip against the door. Put one hand across the check between the door and the jamb, higher than your head. With the other hand, open the door an inch. If there is a hot draft or pressure against the door, slam it shut.

When retreating from a fire, close door behind you. Even a thin door will delay the flames, giving you more time to escape.

If the smoke is heavy, crouch as you hurry along, covering your nose with a wet towel or pillow case to help prevent inhaling hot, toxic gases.

If trapped, you may have to exit through a window. Be sure the door is closed behind you, because open windows cause drafts that fan a fire. If the window is stuck, knock out the glass with a chair or dresser drawer. Use a shoe or other object to clean jagged glass from the frame.

Don't be panicked into jumping from the upper story of a burning building. Help may be on the way.

If you have to go out a window or descend from a roof, back down over the edge, hold onto the sill or gutter and hang down, drop down, bend your knees and roll when you land. Jump as a last resort.

Fire burns one home in the United States every minute, 365 days a year every year. Annually, it kills more than 6,000 people in home fires at the rate of some 17 lives a day.

Capsule Law Auto Accidents May Be Costly

(An AFNS Feature)

Each state has some form of a financial responsibility law. Most states require car owners or operators involved in an accident to show evidence of financial responsibility. This evidence can be in the form of liability insurance, cash, bond or releases.

Failure to produce evidence of financial responsibility results in suspension of the individual's driver's license and sometimes forfeiture of license plates. The most convenient evidence of financial responsibility is liability insurance.

If a driver is convicted of an offense such as reckless driving, or driving while intoxicated, he may be required to file with the state's motor vehicle department a certificate of insurance, cash or bond as a guarantee of ability to pay for possible future accidents.

The requirement applies regardless of whether or not an accident is involved. The driver's insurance company can furnish the required certificate, usually with an increase in premium costs.

Write On Your Rights

(An AFNS Editorial)

Each of us has the right to vote. So why not write about it? "A Free Ballot — A Free Country" is the theme for the Freedoms Foundation's 1968 Armed Forces letters program.

This year the rewards for the best letters are even greater than before. The top active-duty winner in each services will be invited to the Presidential Inauguration in Washington on Jan. 20, 1969. In addition, the number one active-duty winner will receive $1,000. For the first time, there will be a separate $1,000 award for the top reserve component winner. Some 200 additional awards of $100 and $50, and George Washington Honor Medals and Honor Certificates will be made in both the active duty and reserve categories.

But are all of these awards and honors the only reason why we should express our thoughts about freedom and what is means to us? Not according to Air Force Chaplain Col. Harold D. Shoemaker they aren't. Chaplain Shoemaker put it this way in his award-winning entry last year: "... let's speak up for America every chance we get. She offers an unmatched record and unlimited potential for a free world. Let's keep the eagle screaming!" And one of the best ways for all of us to keep the eagle screaming is by actively expressing our individual thoughts about freedom. One of the means of doing this is the Freedoms Foundation's annual letter writing program.

Entries may be in the form of a letter, essay or poetry of 100 to 500 words in length. They must be sent in any time before Nov.

1 to Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa. 19481. Persons designated for awards will be notified by the Foundation.

Don't miss this opportunity to write about the rights you enjoy. Enter the Freedoms Foundation's Armed Forces Letters program. Your Information Officer has further details.

These men and women are the finest amateur athletes in the United States. Behind them lie many years of arduous training and competition — ahead the most important and demanding tests many of them will ever face.

Among these 400-plus members of our Olympic Team will be more than 50 outstanding men and women athletes from the armed forces who have earned places on the team.

Not only will our team be judged on the field of international competition as athletes, but as representatives of the greatest nation in the world. They are not only representing 200 million people, but a way of life as well.

Regardless of the outcome in the various events — how many gold, silver or bronze medals we win — our Olympic Team has the support and best wishes of the entire nation behind them.

There is no doubt that this country is well-represented by our Olympic Team, both on the field and off of it. The members of the 1968 United States Olympic Team have already proven themselves to be winners.

Quote Of Note

(An AFNS Feature)

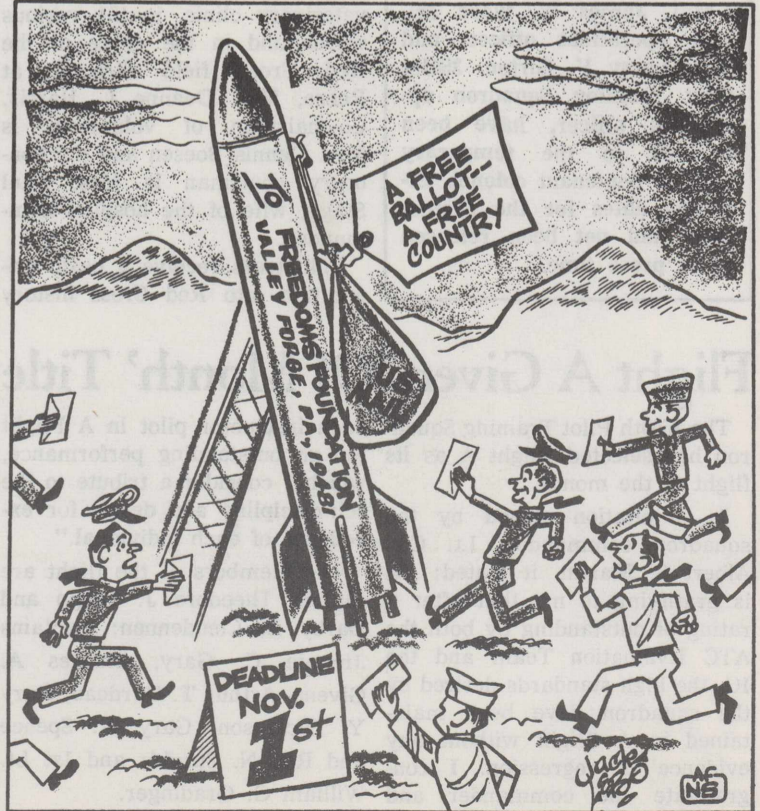

"The Air Force of the future will demand even more highly trained and specialized people. The leaders of that Air Force are on duty today . . . They are smart, eager, and impatient. What we do with our people — and how we do it — will determine, in large part, which of our young people will remain in the Air Force to be those leaders of tomorrow." (Maj. Gen. Robert J. Dixon, assistant chief of staff, Personnel for Military Personnel, Randolph AFB, Tex.)

Lock Your Car

Work has started on the new quarters to be occupied by the wing commander upon completion of the project. The groundbreaking came Monday shortly after the announcement by Base Procurement of the letting of the contract to Jerry Gailey Construction Company of Lubbock. Also under construction is a new parachute training building, which is being built behind the new physiological training building. And concerning this construction, base officials have asked parents to be especially watchful of their children in this area.

Reese Youth Attend Protestant Retreat Camp Near Amarillo

A group of 30 junior and senior high school youth from Reese AFB are back at the base after participating in a weekend retreat at the Ceta Canyon Methodist campground near Amarillo, Tex.

The retreat, sponsored by the Protestant Chaplain's Fund and the Protestant Youth of the Chapel, was directed by Chaplain (Captain) Larry D. Mosley. He was assisted by SSgt. Hiram H. Moseley, Capt. Mark Fant and Mrs. Rose Venable. Transportation for the retreat was furnished by the Reese motor pool.

Theme of the study for the retreat was "Choose Life" and it dealt with Christian answers to teenage problems. Several films were used in conjunction with the study and discussion sessions.

A recreation program of organized outdoor games was provided, including hiking, evening campfire and others. The meals were served by the Ceta Canyon camp staff.

In evaluating the weekend, Chaplain Mosley reported the youth indicated some deep and important life decisions had been made regarding such things as their relationship with God, getting along with parents, choosing a life's work and serving the needs of people and society. They also indicated a keen anticipation of another retreat tentatively programmed for next spring.

Reese Rattlers Ready To Open Hoop Season

The 1968-69 version of the Reese Rattler basketball team will be revealed for the first time next weekend, Oct. 19-20, with a double-header special between the Rattlers and Dyess AFB in the base gym.

The season-opener will not only unfold a new team, but a new coach as well. This year the Rattlers will be directed by Brad Jaworski, an experienced mentor who holds impressive credentials as a player as well.

The team will not be named until next week, and Jaworski has issued an appeal for more material from which to choose between now and then. He reports that only about 10 men have reported for try-outs this far, hardly flooding the courts as he had wished.

The team is practicing nightly at the base gym beginning at 7:30 p.m. Those aspirants to basketball glory are asked to turn out at that time for a quick check by Jaworski.

The initial outings of the season are scheduled at 6 p.m. Oct. 19 and 2 p.m. Oct. 20. Spectators are cordially invited to attend free of charge and root for the team of their choice.

Reese Falcons In Come-Back

Reese AFB's entry in the Youth Football League, the Falcons, came from a disappointing loss in their opening game against the Redskins Sept. 29 to rebound for a 14-14 tie game with the Lions

Sunday at the Smiley Wilson Junior High School field, 30th and Quaker.

Ricky Gauger scored on a sweep around left end and Bob Woodward on a reverse to account for the Falcons' tallies.

Following the game, coach Ray Vickers had high praise for his team. He singled out Pat Harvey and Mike Gaston on the defense.

The Falcons play their next game Sunday at 2:34 p.m. at the O. L. Slaton Junior High School field, 32nd and Q.

FMS Remains Atop Reese Bowling League

Field Maintenance continues its stranglehold on first place in the Reese Intramural Bowling League after three weeks of play at the Reese Lanes. FMS remains undefeated with a 12-0 record, far outdistancing its closest rival, Hospital, which has an 8-4 record.

Helping FMS to the top spot is its top-seeded bowler, Ken Osiek, who has the top series in the league thus far, a hefty 651. Jerry Beck of AFCS holds high game honors with a 277.

The standings after three weeks of play in the league are as follows:

Red Cross Volunteers Take On Many Tasks

(Continued from Page 1) to their ability and desire in areas of the hospital. They are an integral part of "getting jobs done" and raising morale of patients and providing comfort and service to those in need.

Nor does that comfort and service end at Reese AFB. The women workers are very much concerned with those members of the armed forces serving overseas, especially in Southeast Asia.

Two projects of the volunteers are "Operation Shop Early" and "Operation Ditty Bag". The former is an extensive campaign to get shopping done early, and packages mailed early enough for those serving overseas to get them in time for Christmas. This is done through publicity and promotion campaigns, and through personal contact.

Webb Hosts Table Tennis Tournament

Three Reese members participated in the annual Webb AFB Invitational Table Tennis Tournament this weekend. Making the trip to Big Spring, Tex. were Maj. Ching-Jung Li, Sgt. Timothy Johnson and AIC Gregory J. Basting.

Representatives from Goodfellow and Sheppard, both in Texas, were scheduled to participate in the tourney along with the contingent from Reese.

A fourth Reese team member, AIC Dennis E. Easter was unable to make the trip.

Results of Reese's fare in the tourney will be printed next issue. The Mathis Service Club sponsors table tennis competition on base.

"Operation Ditty Bag" has even a more personal touch. At the response to a call from Red Cross workers serving in Southeast Asia, the volunteer workers have committed themselves to producing 100 ditty bags—the bags used by servicemen to carry personal grooming items such as soap, tooth brushes, combs and others. The volunteers sponsor the project, and in this particular case, the Protestant Women of the Chapel at Reese have undertaken the project and have enlisted the aid of every women's organization on the base in the effort to turn out the 100 unfilled bags each month.

The sewing is usually conducted at the Mathis Service Club weekly with the organizations taking turns at the sewing machines.

Several Groups Help

The organizations, with the blessing of the Red Cross volunteers, go one step further and fill the bags. Both the Officers and NCO Wives Clubs and the Career Girls, a group of Civilian women employees at the base, are just three of the many women's organizations who gather items for the ditty bags and fill them. The Career Girls, headed by Mary Lundy of civilian personnel, devoted an entire luncheon meeting Sept. 19 to stuffing the bags with the necessary items.

These bags will make their way to South Vietnam, and to servicemen who welcome them more than those here could realize.

Expansion of the Red Cross volunteer workers program includes training for disasters and first aid. The volunteer program welcomes anyone interested in volunteer service—there are always areas of service.

AIRMEN LOSE RODEO

MARCH AFB, Calif. (AFNS)—An Air Force rodeo team, made up of volunteer riders from March and Norton Air Force Bases, was out-ridden by a Marine Corps team from Camp Pendleton and the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station in an interservice match. More than 7,000 spectators crowded the arena Saturday and Sunday, to watch March's third annual salute to the civilian support of this Strategic Air Command base.
