

Reesites To Receive Asian Flu Shots

Doctors Order 8,000 Doses Of Newest Vaccine

Reese AFB medics are girding for an all-out war against an old enemy—Asian flu.

Doctors at the base said the new vaccine has been ordered, and is expected to arrive at the base in January. A total of 8,000 doses have been ordered. They will be given to active military personnel first, then to dependents, retired personnel and civilian employees as long as the vaccine lasts.

Capt. Rex A. Amonette, MD, said the new vaccine is made up of the actual strain of the Asian flu now prevalent in Hong Kong. The doctor said its effects are expected to be similar to a normal flu shot, and that its result would be prevention of flu, or a lessening of its effects on the individual.

Doctor Amonette said that hos-

Chaplain Section's Management Action Saves Base $287

The chaplain section at Reese AFB has taken management action under the Cost Reduction Program that will result in a saving of $287.06 annually for the base.

Base Chaplain (Lieutenant Colonel) Isaac Copeland Jr. reports that arrangements have been made with Catholic schools in Lubbock to provide daily transportation for children at Reese to the respective schools in Lubbock. The action sharply reduces the requirements of support given those children through attendance at the base Confraternity of Christian Doctrine classes Sunday mornings, thereby resulting in the saving.

An organization of Air Force pilots is looking for prospective members at Reese AFB.

The group is called the Red River Fighter Pilots Association, but has adopted the nickname of the Red River Rats. The only eligibility requirement is that the pilot must have flown combat missions in the Red River Valley, north of the Red River in North Vietnam (Route Package VI).

Those who qualify for membership, and wish to join, are asked to contact Col. Larry Pickett, Maj. David Nichols or Capt. Bruce Lotzbire at McConnell AFB, Kan., 67221, Area Code 316, phone 685-1151.

Base Tour Set For 'Senoritas'

Reese AFB will take on an air of old Mexico Thursday as it plays host to 30 young Mexican students from the National School for Teachers in Mexico City for a tour of the base.

The tour of the base will begin at 10:30 a.m. and is part of a tour of the Lubbock area for the young girls that is annually sponsored by the Junior League of Lubbock. The girls, ranging in age from 16 to 18 years of age, will be accompanied on the tour by their chaperones, other guests from Lubbock, and specially appointed Spanish-speaking guides from the base.

seek out needy families at Reese for help at Christmas time.

Financially aiding the project are the Officers and NCO Wives Clubs, the Protestant and the Catholics Chaplains Fund.

Squadron commanders and division chiefs are being requested to forward to the base chaplain information on needy families within each respective organization deemed deserving of assistance. This information includes the name, organization, local home address of the recipient, the name, sex and age of each child in the family, and the extenuating circumstances surrounding the individual case. The information is needed at the chaplain section not later than Dec. 9.

The chaplain section, in turn, will use the information to mail each of the families a purchase certificate for food at the base commissary. Each purchase certificate will have a suspense date and will be void if not used during the holiday season.

Medal Given Master Sergeant

A master sergeant recently assigned to the 2053rd Communications Squadron, Dewey D. Smith, has been presented the Air Force Commendation Medal at the Nov. 20 Commander's Call at the squadron.

Sergeant Smith's medal was for service at Tuy Hoa Air Base, RVN, during the period of Sept. 20, 1967 to July 19, 1968, just prior to his assignment to Reese AFB Oct. 15.

Also passed out during the Commander's Call were five safe drivers awards. They went to TSgt. Leroy Salmela (four years); SSgt. Clarence W. Barton (four years), SSgt. Anthony F. Burns (two years), Sgt. Michael W. Stauffer (two years), and Sgt. Gregory M. Key (two years).

SAFETY DISPLAY—This display, set up by the base exchange by Field Maintenance Squadron, is one of many set up on the base during "Operation Homesafe" now under way on the base and in nearby Lubbock. Judging of the displays was accomplished Wednesday and the winning display will be announced Monday at a kick-off luncheon at the Embers Steakhouse. (USAF PHOTO)

FOR THE COMMANDER

To Be Responsible Has Responsibilities

Col. Clyde J. Morganti
Wing Commander

By Lt. Col. Albert S. Martin
3500th Pilot Training Squadron Commander

Responsibility is defined as the state of being responsible or accountable, answerable legally, or morally for discharge of a duty or trust.

The acquiring or possessing of responsibility is a unique concept.

Lt. Col. Martin who is responsible when something goes wrong, and ask, "What happened?", then you have never had anyone really responsible.

Giving a man all the authority which he is capable of exercising and for which he will assume responsibility is good business. Properly done, authority must be delegated and redelegated in writing to the lowest levels at which sound decisions can be made. Delegation is followed by publication of policies and establishment of clear standards which leave no doubt as to the commander's desires. If this is done, individuals are less confused about their responsibility and take pride in their own and the command's mission accomplishments. Valuable training is also gained by delegating responsibility and decision-making process at lower level echelons. This is the essence and substance of true military leadership.

This concept of responsibility holds equally true regardless of rank or position; for example, to the A1C crew chief on the flight line to insure his aircraft is ready for flight; to the supply technician for the adequate supplies; to the personnel specialist in wing headquarters for selecting the proper individual to fill the vacant jobs; to the instructor pilot who is responsible for the lives and careers of four student pilots; to the commanders who are responsible for the welfare, education and safety of the assigned personnel.

To be responsible has responsibilities, and to discharge it properly has self-satisfaction and a true sense of mission accomplishment.

Narcotics, Happy Life Do Not Go Together

(An ATCPs Editorial)
By James V. Glazener,
Agent for the Bureau of Customs
Treasury Department,
Laredo, Tex.

Texas Tea, Pot, Weed, Grass, Mary Jane, Loco Weed, Sweet Lucy, Love Weed, Rope, Reefer, Joint, Stick, Coke, C, Carrie, Snow, H, Horse, White Stuff, Harry, M, Morphie, Hard Stuff, etc. . . . it doesn't matter by what name you call marijuana, morphine, or cocaine. In general, it means only one thing to you . . . trouble, sorrow, disgrace and perhaps the beginning of the complete destruction of your ever leading a normal, happy life.

The United States Treasury Department is made up of several branches, one of which is the United States Custom. The enforcement of the customs laws is performed by United States Customs agents. Just one of the functions of the customs agents is to prevent the smuggling of narcotics into the United States and to apprehend those persons guilty of this offense.

What happens if you are caught with any narcotics in your possession upon returning to the United States from a foreign country?

Your automobile, aircraft, boat, truck, motorcycle, or any other vehicle or vessel will be seized and, in many cases, forfeited to the United States Government. You will be arrested, placed in jail pending a Commissioner's hearing where you will be given an opportunity to make a bond for your release pending the day that you will appear in Federal Court for trial.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, whoever knowingly with intent to defraud the United States imports or brings into the United States marijuana, heroin, cocaine, morphine or any other narcotic drug contrary to law or smuggles or clandestinely introduces into the United States any of the above which should have been invoiced, or receives, conceals, buys, sells, or in any manner facilitates the transportation, concealment or sale of any of the above narcotic drugs after they have been imported or brought in, knowing the same to have been imported or brought into the United States contrary to law, or whoever conspires to do any of the foregoing acts, shall be imprisoned for not less than five or more than 20 years and, in addition, may be fined not more than $20,000.

For a second or subsequent offense, the offender shall be imprisoned for not less than 10 or more than 40 years and, in addition, may be fined not more than $20,000. Whenever on trial for a violation of the narcotic laws, if the defendant is shown to have, or to have had, the narcotic in his possession, such possession shall be deemed sufficient evidence to authorize conviction unless the defendant explains his possession to the satisfaction of the jury.

In most cases, military personnel that are convicted of these offenses in Federal Court, receive a discharge from the service under other than honorable conditions.

Many of the offenders when released from Federal penitentiary are still young men facing life and a future with a bad discharge in one hand and a parole from a Federal penitentiary for a narcotic conviction in the other. It doesn't take a person with a Ph.D to see what kind of a future a person can expect who holds these two pieces of paper.

Law Protects Pay

(An AFNS Feature)

The Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act prohibits any state other than the serviceman's legal residence from taxing his military pay.

If an airman is a legal resident of Virginia and is stationed in New York, only Virginia can impose an income tax on his military pay. The Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Act prohibits New York from taxing his military pay, so long as the airman maintains his legal residence in Virginia.

The act does not apply to the serviceman's wife's earnings. In the example above, if the wife works in New York, she may be considered a resident of New York for tax purposes and be required to pay taxes there as well as in Virginia, where she retains a legal residence.

Quote Of Note

(An AFNS Feature)

"The military airlift force is not only a military investment, but also a national investment in airpower for security. It is in the national defense interest to manage it wisely and utilize it effectively in times of peace as well as in time of emergency." (Brig. Gen. Maurice F. Casey, Air Force director of Transportation, Washington, D.C., Oct. 28, 1968).

Airmen Face Decision

(Staff Editorial)

This is a message for the young airman. The one who stands on the threshold of a decision on whether or not to remain in the Air Force.

Certainly foresight comes much harder than hindsight, but if hindsight can be believed, then you may be on the verge of the most important decision of your life.

Now, more than 20 years after the end of World War II, the most common phrase heard among those veterans of that conflict is, "I wish I had stayed in for 20 years." More than 20 million men had that opportunity, and some did stay. Today, those men are reaping the rewards of an early retirement, along with the many benefits that come from such a retirement. Those veterans who left the service did so voluntarily. Some, today, bitterly regret their decision, and others, wistfully think of what might have been. Very few—if any—are ever overheard to say he's glad he stayed out.

This early retirement, possible at age 37, is the fruition of 20 years of duty, often at sub-standard pay, and often at places at which you'd rather not be. But at retirement, you begin to receive the dividends of those inconveniences through retired pay and practically all the benefits you had while on active duty. If your lifespan is the norm, you may expect to receive this pay and benefits for nearly twice as long as you actually served on active duty.

Retirement is only one benefit of the service and it is true that its value is somewhat long-range to say the least. Others, much more immediate, are such cash-in-hand benefits as the Variable Reenlistment Bonus, promotions and invaluable training. It's hard to think of retirement as a benefit when you are young. But nevertheless, it is there. Try to project yourself into the future—to when your normal 20 years would be up. What would your decision be then?

The Ladder Of Thanksgiving

By Chaplain

(Lt. Col.) Isaac M. Copeland

There are two classes of people, someone has said—those who take things for granted and those who take things with gratitude. Even among those who would insist that they belong in the latter classification the gratitude may be at a superficial level. There is a sort of ladder of thanksgiving on which one may rise, and his spiritual growth could well be measured by finding how far up the ladder he has moved.

At the lowest level, there is thanksgiving for obvious material blessings. It summons us to appreciate our prosperity as a nation and the abundance of things showered upon us.

At a somewhat higher level, there is gratitude not only for material benefits, but also for the many-sided richness and graciousness of human life. We are reminded to count our many blessings and to think of them all as gifts of the Creator.

This, however, does not yet carry us to the level of thanksgiving that St. Paul has in mind when he bids us as Christians to "give thanks every day for everything." When we reach this level, we are able to accept with unshaken trust even the painful experiences of life. We may not understand them but we have faith to believe that they are not wholly removed from God's providence.

Beyond this, there is still a higher level of thanksgiving where we begin to see that gratitude is the very heart and center of the Christian life. The redeeming love of God is a gift which I can never merit but which I joyously accept. Gratitude is the one appropriated reaction for a man who knows himself to be the undeserving recipient of divine grace which has done for him what he cannot do for himself. "The thing which is unconditionally and inescapably demanded of a man," one theologian has said, "is that he should be thankful."

At what level do you find yourself on this ladder of thanksgiving?

Holmes Named Most Valuable In Tournament

Reese AFB's flag football team went undefeated last week to take the Air Training Command Flag Football Championships at Sheppard AFB, Tex.

The Reese squad quickly dispatched two foes on Nov. 19, the opening day of the tournament, beating Chanute AFB, Ill., 40-14, and Williams AFB, Ariz., 36-6.

This set the stage for the Rattler's game against the pre-tournament favorites, Webb AFB, Tex. Regulation play ended with the score knotted at 6-6, but Reese won on penetrations.

On Nov. 21, Reese knocked off the host team, Sheppard, then sat back for a one-day rest Nov. 22 as the losers fought for the right to play Reese in the finals Saturday morning. Sheppard came up as the Rattler's foe, but they fared no better than before, losing to Reese 38-16.

Furthermore, Willie Holmes Jr., a member of Reese's Supply Squadron, was named Most Valuable Player of the tournament. Holmes played offensive end and defensive safety for the Rattlers.

Other members of the Reese team are Marvin A. Shackelford, the coach, and players Frank Karlin, Arnold Connelly, Walter Staritsky, William Stevens, Robert Thompson, Bruce "Gypsy" Van Allen, Phillip Wertheimer, Ronald Chesshir, John Gambardella, Kenneth Hyde, Kenneth White, Neil Sommers, and Earl "Trey" McFarland, the project officer.

WASHINGTON (AFNS) —Seven hundred fifty Air Force family housing units, all destined for enlisted men, are among 2,000 units to be constructed by the Department of Defense at a cost of $40 million in Fiscal Year 1969.

The program calls for 300 units at Holloman AFB, N.M.; 250 at Mountain Home AFB, Idaho; and 200 at George AFB, Calif. Air Force construction will consist of two, three and four-bedroom units.

CLASS GRADUATES
KEESLER AFB, Miss. (AFNS) —Presentation of diplomas to 43 students marked graduation of the first class from the Personnel Specialist Course since its move here from Amarillo AFB, Tex., in June. The 12-week course covers the basic principles of the personnel carrier field.

Plans also call for 750 Navy units and 500 for the Army. Housing units will be located in 14 projects in 12 states.

An Air Force spokesman said that construction at the three Air Force bases would begin in the spring with first occupancy not expected before late 1970.

Most Improved Golfer Chosen

Joe Jenkins, a familiar figure on the Reese golf course this past year, will have his name in golf-dom's best-known publication, the Golf Digest Annual.

Jenkins' name will appear with others throughout the nation who have improved their games the best over the past year in a section of the Annual, due to hit the news stands Dec. 12.

Jenkins started the year shooting in the 90's, and culminated his drive to improve his golf when he won first flight of the Base Championship Golf Tournament during August.

Last year's winner from Reese was Bill Murray, who now works at the course. Both golfers received their coveted golf certificates from golf pro Ken McGuire, who submits the names to Golf Digest.

Supply Leading In Winter Golf

Rattlers now stand at 0-4 in league play. Saturday's game saw Goodfellow grab an early lead, then extend it to a 95-77 victory. For Reese, Wally Williams scored 23 and Harold Shutter 21 points. Sunday, the Rattlers tried some delaying tactics, but they were to no avail as Goodfellow won 73-62. Shutter turned in another 20-point performance. Outstanding in both games was Wayne Thibodeaux as the team's playmaker, and scoring 14 points in Sunday's tilt.

The team has no games scheduled this weekend.

After the first month of play in the Winter Intramural Golf League, Supply holds a commanding 4-0 lead over seven other teams in the league.

In last week's play, Supply bested Student, 3-1, while OMS and FMS were winning matches and AFCS was tying ABG #1. The standings as of Monday were as follows:

pital records show that 11,000 persons—including all military, retired military and dependents using the hospital facility—are eligible for the Asian flu vaccine. He pointed out that the initial order of 8,000 doses should accommodate them all, but additional doses will be ordered if necessary.

Doctor Amonette said the vaccine would be given with the "shotgun" type syringe. He said an additional unit may be borrowed to speed up the process of inoculating base personnel. He further stated that tentative plans call for mass inoculation of military personnel in the base theater on a Friday, allowing the weekend to recover from any after effects.

The doctor said that every person at Reese should be aware that the shots will be given, and when the announcement made, be at the appointed place to obtain them. He said the effects of Asian flu are dangerous and can even cause death. He urges all eligible persons to take the shot when available.

Coach Blocker will appear at the base theater, along with his coaching staff, at 6:30 p.m., to present a slide presentation of the accomplishments of the Frenship High School football team which this year finished second in district 4-AA play.
