Civic Leaders Tour Patrick, Keesler AFBs

A score of Lubbock civic leaders were guests of Reese AFB and Air Training Command at a tour of Patrick AFB, Fla., and Keesler AFB, Miss., earlier this week.

The group was accompanied by Col. Clyde J. Morganti, wing commander, and Capt. William J. Hubbard, chief, Information Division. They departed Reese Sunday at noon and returned to the base Tuesday afternoon.

The 20 civic leaders making the trip were W. D. Rogers Jr., Bill Blackwell, L. E. Davis, Dr. O. W. English, John A. Logan, J. T. Alley, Dr. Eugene Brown, Dr. James Granberry, Dick Moseley, Dr. L. C. Kay, W. G. McMillan Jr., Rev. O. A. McBrayer, J. T. Talkington, E. H. Phillips, Alex Miller, Chester B. Banks, Dr. J. C. Hart, Charles Waters, Charlie Watson and Carl Stillman.

The group arrived at Patrick AFB Sunday evening and spent Monday touring the facilities of nearby Cape Kennedy, witnessing much of the preparation for today's Apollo Nine launch.

They departed Patrick Monday afternoon for Keesler, arriving that same evening. Tuesday they toured Keesler, had lunch there and arrived back at Reese that evening.

Management Action Saves Base $8,905

Management action by operations personnel has resulted in a projected savings for the base of $8,905.20 for Fiscal Year '69 and $17,810.40 for FY '70 and FY '71.

Previously, winter coveralls were being issued to all incoming student pilots at a cost of $27.15 each. It was found that the item was too bulky for use in the T-37 and T-38 and pilots were not wearing them. The management action merely excludes the issuance of the coveralls, accounting for the savings.

City Water Plan Nears Completion

By A1C Owen McWhorter
Staff Writer

Three years of construction and cooperation between the Civil Engineering Division and the City of Lubbock were culminated recently in the completion of a new water supply system for the base.

The project combines the base water supply with that of the city, resulting in an interrelated system that leaves both using the same pipe lines and water supply.

According to N. F. Mullins of the program development section of Civil Engineering Division, the base is expected to switch over to 100 per cent city water upon approval of funds from ATC by the end of March.

Work was begun three years ago on improving Reese's water supply after recommendations by health authorities and the Civil Engineering Division. Research proved that the flouride content of the water was too high for Air Force and health standards. Additionally, it was predicted that the current wells would not be sufficient in the future at the previous rate of consumption unless further rationing was enforced. It was also hoped that the new system would provide more automation for the base's water supply.

The new system is to provide approximately 1,800 gallons per minute, supplying both the overhead and underground storage tanks on base. In the case of an emergency requiring an exceptionally large amount of water consumption, the system can provide a maximum of 2,000 gallons per minute and water can be diverted directly from the city's supply. Cost of the water to the base will be 29 cents per 1,000 gallons.

According to Guy Wilson, utilities engineer for the City of Lubbock, the control system may be operated in conjunction with the city's system or may be con-

Toastmasters Offer Reesites Program In Communications

An eight-week program in the fundamentals of oral communications and leadership will begin with a demonstration Sunday at 2 p.m. at the youth center for young people of high school age at Reese AFB at no cost.

The program, called Youth Leadership, will be offered as a public service by members of the Lubbock Toastmaster's Club.

John Lipinski, member of the club, said the program has been developed by Toastmasters International, a world-wide public speaking organization and is aimed specifically at young people.

He said the program offers young people an opportunity to learn effective speaking, analytical listening and critical thinking. It also provides practice in properly conducting a conference, committee or meeting, said Mr. Lipinski.

The program Sunday will be only a demonstration of the course. Those interested in participating in the program may contact Mr. Lipinski at ext. 748 or 531, or at 885-9972 after 5 p.m.

Angel Flight Sets Base Car Wash

Rain or shine, tomorrow is liable to be the busiest carwash day ever recorded at Reese AFB.

Some 40 coeds from Texas Technological College, all members of the college's Air Force ROTC's famed Angel Flight, will conduct a car wash at the auto hobby shop as a fund-raising project. Cars will be washed between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. for $1 with the proceeds going to the Angel Flight treasury to defray expenses for trips and other projects conducted by the group.

Rabies Shot Series Extremely Painful

By SSgt. John F. Feltenberger
Security Policeman

Have you ever had to take a series of rabies shots, or have you ever known someone who did?

When a person is bitten by an animal, the animal is placed under observation for a 10-14 day period. If it is determined that the animal has rabies or if the animal is not found within a relatively short time after the biting, the person who was bitten must take the series.

The series consists of 14 separate shots which are taken over a 14-day period. Each of the shots is taken in the upper abdominal and lower stomach area and, to say the least, they are extremely painful.

For the protection of you and your family, Wing Regulation 125-

6 requires that personnel who reside on base and who have pets must have their pets vaccinated annually. Additionally, personnel are required to keep their pets leashed, chained or penned at all times. This is extremely important because rabies is a highly contagious disease and can, if given the opportunity, run rampant and unchecked among the animal population.

Security Police apprehend animals that are found running loose in violation of Wing Regulation 125-6. These animals are "boarded" in the base kennels, at the cost of $1 per day, until they are claimed by the owner. The owner must then pay the boarding fee and have the animal vaccinated if this has not already been accomplished. Additionally, the incident report is submitted to the owner's commander which relates the details surrounding the violation.

If you have been lucky enough to avoid the ordeal of taking the rabies series of shots, consider yourself fortunate. Help avoid the possibility of you or someone else having to take this series of shots by having your pets vaccinated and penned or leashed.

Hospital Clinic Seeks Your Help

By Lt. Col. Agnes L. Kellam
Chief Nurse, 3500th USAF Hospital

We need your help! In order to provide better care and greater patient satisfaction, the Air Force Clinic is seeking the assistance and cooperation of all personnel.

The Air Force Clinic has set aside the first part of each day, Monday through Friday, to care for military personnel with acute illnesses. Military personnel who are unable to get an appointment or who become ill overnight should report to the Air Force Clinic between 7:45 a.m. and 8:15 a.m. This clinic enables personnel to be treated before reporting to duty. If you do not report for military sick call, you will need an appointment.

Lt. Col. Kellam Adult dependents will be seen by appointment only. When you call for an appointment, please answer all questions about your problems truthfully. If your problem does not need immediate attention, you may be asked to wait a few days before seeing a doctor. This will enable us to care for patients with more urgent problems as soon as possible.

In order to care for children with acute illnesses as soon as possible, a pediatric sick call has been established. If your child becomes ill, call for an appointment. If we are unable to give you an appointment within 24 to 48 hours, you may be asked to bring your child to pediatric sick call.

For problems not needing immediate attention, call for an appointment. Emergencies will be taken care of as necessary. An emergency is defined as a situation where there is a threat to life or limb or there is undue suffering.

Your cooperation will help us provide you with more satisfactory health care and enable a greater number of patients to receive care at the appropriate time.

Some People Never Break 'Sound Barrier'

By SSgt. James C. Davis

Did you know that an unabridged dictionary lists over 14,000 different meanings for the 500 most commonly used words in the English language.

Is it any wonder that communicating "the word" gives us so many problems? We are always told to define our terms and there will be no misunderstandings.

One of the toughest aspects of any accident prevention program is getting "the word" down to the people who are going to have the accident.

With the different advisory materials available these days, it is not too hard to set up a safety program that will impress the commander and his staff. But these are not the people we need to reach.

You, the supervisors who know your personnel, have to break that "sound barrier" and get the accident prevention down to the people you want to hear it.

GED Tests Enable

Anyone Can Finish School

(An AFPS Editorial)

If one dropped out of high school before receiving his diploma, he should investigate the possibility of finishing school while still in service. Or at least acquire a high school diploma or certificate through the General Educational Development (GED) tests offered by his branch of service.

One might have dropped out of formal education, but should keep in mind that the educating process goes on.

Here is where the GED comes in, these tests measure the level of education one has acquired, either formally, or through informal self-education and intellectual growth. The emphasis in the GED tests is to measure one's ability to think clearly, to interpret, to comprehend, and to evaluate.

The tests determine whether one has acquired the equivalent of a high school education.

The high school GED tests, at present, consist of five parts: correctness and effectiveness of expression, social studies, natural sciences, interpretation of literary materials, and general mathematical ability.

The Commission of Accreditation of Service Experience has recommended minimum passing scores acceptable for civilian and military use. This recommendation is of an advisory nature, however, and does not guarantee that any school or state department of education will grant a diploma or equivalency certificate on the basis of GED test. Each state establishes its own standard for the granting of diplomas or equivalency certificates.

The Commission's recommended scores are, however, accepted by all services and most civilian establishments as equivalent to high school graduation. In the case of those who desire to continue their education, some business and trade schools will accept the GED tests as a basis for taking an entrance examination.

If one does not have a high school diploma, the GED tests might be that "knock of opportunity" they have been waiting for and a broad avenue to better things.

See the education officer for further information on a brighter future through education. See him today.

Vice-Conquering Virtue

Meekness Deficiency Causes Much Of World's Misery; It Never Implies Weakness, Indecision

Chaplain (Captain)
George J. Dabrowski

Meekness is the virtue that enables one to overcome the tendencies of anger, revenge and hatred. Meekness purposes love of neighbor, which provides the motives and the means of overlooking insult, injustice and injury.

The vice of anger, to which meekness is opposed, is responsible for very much of the misery in the world today. In man, anger is designated by nature to be a means of self-defense and self-preservation, but, like all the passions in him, it is meant to be under the complete control of reason and free will. This means that even in a man who possesses merely natural virtue, all motivations to anger must be trained to submit to the judgment of reason. A man who possesses supernatural virtue has all the teachings of faith to assist his judgment in deciding against the impulses of anger.

Meekness, in no way, means being weak or indecisive. A person can still be firm, strong, decisive, and possess meekness. Furthermore, mere brute strength, anger, impulsive acting,

Well, it happened. Despite all the programs, all the publicity campaigns, all the warnings — it happened.

The Officers' Open Mess at McGuire AFB, N.J., was extensively damaged by fire last month despite efforts of 150 firemen from McGuire AFB, Ft. Dix and surrounding communities. Damage was estimated at $250,000.

Fortunately, the cost was only in dollars, sweat and destroyed facilities. It could have been lives. About 50 people were inside when the fire broke out — all managed to escape safely.

People tend to think about fire as sort of a bogey-man — it probably exists, but nobody has really ever seen one. People at McGuire AFB have seen one. They can tell you that fire is real, that it does happen.

We read in Judith 9:15: "For Thy power, O Lord, is not in a multitude, nor in Thy pleasure in the strength of horses, nor from the beginning have the proud been acceptable to Thee; but the prayer of the humbled and the meek hath always pleased Thee."

show lack of reasoning. The man who is meek is: kind, charitable, just, reasonable, and above all, loves his neighbor. Meekness, not anger, is the greatest sign of strength of character a person can give. True meekness will prompt a man to forgive; be generous, and patient.

Puzzled Over Income Tax?

(An AFNS Feature)

Items that military personnel sometimes find confusing about their Federal income tax returns include:

Cost of normal uniforms — not deductible. The theory is that for active-duty personnel the uniforms take the place of civilian clothes. However, excess costs and maintenance of utility uniforms over and above clothing allowances, may be deducted if deductions are itemized and if local military regulations prohibit wearing utility uniforms off base except while going to or from a residence.

Uniform allowances — nontaxable. However, all costs of insignia, ribbons, cap devices and silver ornamentation on officers' cap visors are deductible.

Military club dues — not deductible. Membership is not a job requirement.

Credit union dividends — taxable income.

Dislocation allowance — taxable income.

Compensation for employment in open messes, base theaters, and other nonappropriated fund activities — taxable income.

Major Commands Given Quotas For Top Enlisted Promotions

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Major commands have been given quotas for more than 14,600 promotions to grades sergeant through chief master sergeant, effective March 1.

Commands also were advised that Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard airmen on active duty will continue to compete for promotion under the same criteria as Regular Air Force airmen, regardless of planned unit deactivation or individual separation dates.

The March 1 quotas are: to chief master sergeant, 158 regular Air Force, 5 reserve; senior master sergeant, 284 regular, 4 reserve; master sergeant, 1,048 regular, 17 reserve; technical sergeant, 1,905 regular, 8 reserve; staff sergeant, 5,056 regular, 87 reserve; sergeant, 6,049 regular, 0 reserve.

Communications Man Gets Medal

A communications specialist at Reese AFB has been awarded the Air Force Commendation Medal for meritorious service as an air traffic controller with the 1884th Communications Squadron, RVN, from Dec. 13, 1967 to Oct. 12, 1968.

He is TSgt. William M. Bohannon, currently assigned to the 2053rd Communications Squadron. The medal was presented Feb. 18 by Lt. Col. Walter L. Browder, squadron commander.

LICENSE PLATES—This was the scene at the Mathis Service Club during the recent sale of state license plates by County Tax Collector-Assessor officials conducted on the base. Purchasing his plates is TSgt. William C. Colwell. Waiting his turn behind Sergeant Colwell is MSgt. Leopoldo Saavedra. The plates must be displayed on all vehicles operating on state streets and highways by midnight, April 1. (USAF PHOTO)

Reesite Receives Honor

By Jim Comeaux

One of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon a professional engineer has come to a Reese Air Force Base officer serving as an instructor pilot.

Maj. William E. Buesking, 3500th Pilot Training Squadron, has been notified by the Texas State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers of his acceptance as a member of that organization. As such a member, he is duly recognized in the State of Texas as a fully qualified engineer with full credentials as such.

Major Buesking's road to professional engineer was not easy. He entered the Air Force in November 1952 after graduating from Strasburg Community High School, Strasburg, Ill. He was commissioned in 1954 through the Aviation Cadet Program.

His first assignment after pilot training was at Wethersfield

Royal Air Force Station, England and there he began a program of self-improvement that culminated with his emergence as a professional engineer.

This program included three years of part-time off-duty classes through the University of Maryland Overseas Extension where he accumulated 30 semester hours. In 1959 he attended Oklahoma State University, Stillwater, Okla., under the Air Force Institute of Technology and two years later graduated with his degree in electrical engineering. In 1964, Major Buesking received his master of science in electrical engineering from Syracuse University, Syracuse, N.Y.

While stationed at Griffis AFB, N.Y., Major Buesking participated in the on-base graduate program for four years and became the only military graduate in the 10-year history of the program at Griffis.

There followed two tours totaling six years in engineering type assignments which, through his education and experience, qualified him for membership in the prestigious engineering association. On Jan. 27 he met with a six-man board which questioned him at length on his qualifications for membership. He was notified Feb. 1 of his acceptance to the organization.

Major Buesking plans to retire after 20 years of service in November 1972 and plans to pursue his engineering profession in Texas.

The major is married to the former Judith E. Martin and they have three children, Valerie, 8; David, 6; and Darren, 4. He is a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, Eta Kappa Nu honorary electrical engineers society and Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

ATC Family Services Director Visits, Makes Pin Presentation

The staff advisor for Family Services in Air Training Command, WAF Maj. Mary L. Fake was a visitor to Reese AFB last week. She personally presented an award to one of the base's best-known volunteer workers.

Major Fake presented a 1,250 hour pin to Mrs. Marguerite Wiseman in a ceremony at the NCO Open Mess attended by a host of Family Services volunteer workers. Special guest was Mrs. Clyde J. Morganti, wife of the wing commander, who supervises the base Family Service program.

Also on the base was still another major in the Women in the Air Force, Maj. Joyce K. Vorce, WAF staff director for ATC. And while Major Fake lunched with Family Service personnel, Major Vorce had lunch with the four WAFs stationed at Reese. They are 2nd Lt. Some Base Enlisted Men May Volunteer For Aircrew Duty

HQ. ATC (ATCPS) — Air Training Command personnel, in grades airman first class through master sergeant, desiring aircrew duty may now volunteer for "Palace Dragon," according to a recent command Personnel announcement.

Palace Dragon is a program recently established by Air Force to have enlisted personnel in 10 career fields volunteering for duty into various aircrew positions in Southeast Asia.

In addition to holding one of the eligible Air Force Specialty Codes, volunteers must be able to successfully complete a Class III flying physical examination and must submit a volunteer statement under the provisions of Air Force Manual 39-11.

Command Personnel officials emphasized that a Palace Dragon volunteer statement is a volunteer statement for SEA flying status only. It is not, they said, a volunteer statement for SEA ground duties.

Personnel in the following AFSCs are eligible to volunteer:

- | AFSC | TITLE |
|-------|---------------------------------------|
| 204XO | Intelligence Operations Specialist |
| 273XO | Aircraft Control and Warning Operator |

- | | |
|----------|---|
| 274XO | Command and Control Technician |
| 291XO | Communications Center Specialist |
| 301XO | Aircraft Radio Technician |
| 301XOA | Airborne Command Post Communications Equipment Technician |
| 363XO | Communications and Relay Center Repairman |
| 431XOB/C | Helicopter Mechanic (Jet) |
| 431XIA | Aircraft Maintenance Specialist (Recip) |
| 431XIF | Aircraft Maintenance Specialist (Turboprop) |

In clarifying the positions offered, Personnel officials said that the 431X1 personnel would serve as Illuminator Operators on AC-119G/K and AC-130 gunships; 431XO personnel on UF-1F helicopters; 301XO on EC-121 reconnaissance aircraft, and the remainder in Airborne Command and Control aircraft.

All ATC personnel interested in volunteering for Palace Dragon are urged to contact the Consolidated Base Personnel Office, T-1, for detailed information.

Youth Basketball Honored Tuesday Coaches, Players

Players and coaches participating in Reese AFB's youth basketball activities were honored Tuesday evening during a banquet at the NCO Open Mess.

Principal speaker for the occasion was Bob Exum, director of the Y-M-C-A sponsored Youth Basketball League in Lubbock.

Highlight of the program came with the presentation by Mr. Exum of the runners-up trophies to the Reese Eagles and the Reese Blues, runners-up in their respective divisions of play in the recently-completed city play-offs, and the coveted sportsmanship trophy to the base Eagles, the second consecutive year the Eagles have won the award for sportsmanship.

Maj. Ronald Gauger presented plaques to the five coaches of the three teams and the coaches in turn presented trophies to the players.

About 150 persons attended the banquet.

Badminton, Squash Try-Outs Set
Personnel desiring to try out for the 1969 ATC Badminton and Squash Championships scheduled April 7-12 at Lowry AFB, Colo., should contact the base gym no later than March 10.

It's not too little to carry too much.

And it's not too much when all you're carrying is a little.

The new Volvo 145 is big enough to do what station wagons are supposed to do. Its cargo compartment gives you 67 cubic feet of space. Which is room for enough groceries to fill six large refrigerators.

But on the outside, the Volvo 145 station wagon is no longer, higher or wider than the Volvo 144 sedan. Which makes it small enough to do two things that Volvos are supposed to do—park easily and get good gas mileage.

It's also two things that a Volvo is expected to be—long-lasting and reliable. Volvo's reputation for holding up wasn't gotten by breaking down.

So if you come in and buy a Volvo 145, you won't have to keep coming back to have us fix your wagon.

'Waterloo' Title Of New Book

Military historians will find some great reading in David Howarth's "Waterloo: Day of Battle" now available at the Reese AFB library.

The reader can feel the shock of battle almost as if he were there. The book follows the fortunes of men of all ranks on both sides and some women, too.

Followers of the newest fad—bottle collecting—will finally have a price guide in John C. Tibbits' "1200 Bottles Priced". This book, also available at the base library, gives prices one should pay for antique bottles, how to trade and many other tips for collectors.

The three Reese entries — the Eagles, Blues and Whites — all lost first-round games. Cannon AFB was the runner-up in the Midget Division, while Boys Club Mohawks were the runner-up in the Pee Wee Division. The tournament proved the popularity of youth basketball as huge crowds jammed the base gym both days of the tournament.

The Reese Eagles leave today at 1 p.m. for Abilene, Tex., where they will represent Lubbock and the base in the regional play-offs of the Y-M-C-A sponsored Youth Basketball Tournament. They were the runners-up in the city play-offs two weeks ago and as such are eligible for the regionals. A win there will send the Eagles into the state championship play-offs, and if successful there, to the national tournament.

Driving Range Planned Here

Some good news for Reese AFB golfers came out of a Feb. 19 meeting of the Central Base Fund Council — a new golf driving range, complete with 300 dozen golf balls.

The Council voted a total of $1,400 for the purchase of the balls and for a ball gathering vehicle. Current plans call for the driving range to be located at the same spot as now, except that it will angle away from the fourth hole so as not to endanger golfers playing that hole. The practice area is now used only by those persons owning their own practice balls.

The project is not expected to be fully operational until this summer.

Air Force Southern Command Featured In February Airman

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Airmen of the Inter-American Air Forces Academy, Albrook AFB, C.Z., provide the cover story in the February issue of The Airman. "Bridging the Gap" tells how a special group of Air Force noncommissioned officers teach their Latin American counterparts.

A companion piece tells of "U.S. Air Forces Southern Command's Job in Latin America." It's all about men who diligently protect the "big ditch" and concurrently strive to better relations between the U.S. and its Panamanian neighbors.

There are two articles devoted to "Men on Mountaintops." That's where several Air Force Communications Service specialists ply their trade high atop Mount Cimone in Italy and Mount Patara in Greece.

From the Air Weather Service comes the story of the "Part-Time Weatherman" of the Air National Guard. A report from England finds airmen of the Air Force "Trading Tricks of the Trade" with the Royal Air Force.

Winding up the February issue is a "Special Report on Marijuana," a definitive study about drug abuses.

Red Cross Offers First Aid Course

Reese RN Club Needs Members

The RN Club at Reese AFB is looking for registered nurses from among the dependents here to enlarge its membership.

The club, composed of registered nurses, is formed to provide a professional organization for the wives of military personnel who are RN's. Programs are planned to keep members informed about trends in nursing.

A current project of the club is the presentation of classes to expectant parents in the military community. The club meets on the first Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the hospital conference room.

For additional information, call Mrs. Mary McGauley, president, at 795-4042 or Mrs. Diane Mardis, secretary, 765-9689.

Water . . .

trolled from a panel located on base. The system also includes alarm systems connected to the water and sewage systems, automatic pumping stations and regulators.

Rich in flouride, the natural water in this area should be deflouridated before consumption. Reese officials determined that it would be more efficient to connect with the new supply rather than install deflouridation facilities for the base. The new supply has a flouride content of approximately .8 parts per million, well within the plus or minus one part per million recommended as the standard. High flouride content is believed to be an efficient decay preventive in natural water up to a point at which the flouride becomes a hindrance to tooth health. Also, high flouride content is believed responsible for brown tooth stain. The current concentration of flouride in the water supply is believed to be both sufficiently high to help prevent decay while low enough to prevent tooth stain.

The original cost of the project was estimated to be $387,000 but the final tally is expected to be far below this estimate. Lt. Col. Marvin S. Buckberry, chief, Civil Engineering Division, said that the new supply is not expected to alter current water rates but that it is too soon to make any prediction on this.
