Off-road ban on City Council agenda Tuesday

By ROGER CLINE
 Staff Writer

Riding an ATV off-road in Comanche Trail Park might soon be against the law.
 At their meeting Tuesday, members of the Big Spring City Council will discuss and vote on whether to ban the use of off-road recreational vehicles in Big Spring city parks. The Council will meet at 5:30 p.m. in their Chambers, 307 E. Fourth St.
 The item on the agenda revolves around whether to approve an ordinance banning the use of the vehicles in city parks. The proposed ordinance reads "It shall be unlawful for any person to operate a Recreational Off-Road Vehicle on the grounds of any city park located inside the city limits."

 Additional wording in the ordinance clarifies "Recreational Off-Road Vehicles are not specifically prohibited at Moss Creek Lake but the use thereof shall conform to Moss Lake rules."

In addition, the ordinance exempts the use of the vehicles by city staff performing their job duties, event organizers and staff in preparation for, during, and during breakdown of a permitted community event, and motorized mobility devices and electric personal assistive mobility devices.
 Vehicles specifically banned by the ordinance include All-Terrain Vehicles (ATVs), Recreational Off-Highway Vehicles (ROVs), Utility-Type Vehicles (UTVs), and any other Recreational Vehicle designed for off-road use.

 The ordinance lays out penalties for violations consisting of fines from $50 to $200.
 In other business, the council will consider appointments to several city boards and commissions. Appointments under consideration include, for the Board of Adjustments and Appeals: Edward Roach and Ron Howell; for the Convention and Visitors Bureau Board: Debbie Wegman;

Americans win economics Nobel for work on climate and growth

By JIM HEINTZ and DAVID KEYTON

Associated Press STOCKHOLM

Two Americans won the Nobel Prize in economics on Monday, one for studying the economics of climate change and the other for showing how to help foster the innovation needed to solve such a problem.

William Nordhaus of Yale University and Paul Romer of New York University will share the 9 million-kronor ($1.01 million) award, the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences said.

Nordhaus has called for the world to combat climate change by imposing a universal tax on carbon. Carbon dioxide, which is emitted when fossil fuels are burned, is a heat-trapping "greenhouse gas" blamed for global warming, and a tax would make polluters pay for the costs imposed on society.

By using a tax rather than government edicts to slash emissions, the policy encourages companies to find innovative ways to reduce pollution.

Romer has studied the way innovation drives prosperity and has looked at ways to encourage it. He told a news conference Monday that his research had given him hope that people can solve even a problem as difficult as a warming planet.

"Many people think that dealing with protecting the environment will be so costly and so hard that they just want to ignore the problem. They want to deny it exists," Romer said. "I hope the prize today could help everyone see that humans are capable of amazing accomplishments when we set about trying to do something."

While the two academics worked separately, their research dovetails on an issue that has become pressing. The question of climate change remains politically sensitive, especially in big oil-producing countries like the United States, which President Donald Trump has pulled out of the Paris accord on fighting climate change.

"It's an ingenious pairing," said David Warsh, author of the 2007 book "Knowledge and the Wealth of Nations" about the award. "Nordhaus has been concerned all along with repairing the damage" to the global environment. "Romer has been writing about the means at your disposal" to attack such a technological challenge.

Per Stromberg, head of the Nobel economics prize committee, said the award is "about the long-run future of the world economy."

Still far off, Michael a growing menace to Florida Panhandle

By JENNIFER KAY

Associated Press

MIAMI — A tropical storm off Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula has rapidly strengthened and could become a dangerous hurricane before an expected midweek strike on the Gulf Coast in the Florida Panhandle, forecasters said Monday.

By Monday morning, Tropical Storm Michael's maximum sustained winds were near 70 mph (110 kph). The National Hurricane Center expected Michael to become a hurricane later in the day.

The storm was expected to move into the Gulf of Mexico, where very warm water temperatures and favorable atmospheric conditions were expected to fuel its strength, Robbie Berg, a hurricane specialist at the Miami-based storm forecasting hub, wrote in an advisory.

Since the storm will spend two to three days over the Gulf, "there is a real possibility that Michael will strengthen to a major hurricane before landfall," Berg wrote.

Florida Gov. Rick Scott issued an order for a state of emergency for 26 counties to rush preparations in the Panhandle and the Big Bend area, freeing up resources and activating 500 members of the Florida National Guard ahead of Tropical Storm Michael.

"This storm will be life-threatening and extremely dangerous," Scott said Sunday after receiving a briefing at the State Emergency Operations Center. He warned that storm surge could affect areas of Florida not in the storm's direct path.

As of 8 a.m. EDT Monday, the storm was centered about 120 miles (190 kilometers) east-northeast of Cozumel, Mexico, and moving to the north at about 7 mph (11 kph). Tropical storm winds extended out 175 miles (280 kilometers) from the storm's center.

Forecasters advised residents along the northeastern and central U.S. Gulf Coast to monitor the storm's progress.

Florida's capital city of Tallahassee, which is in the Panhandle, opened two locations Sunday where residents could get sandbags to prepare for flooding.

"While the impacts are still uncertain, our area could experience increased wind activity and heavy rainfall, which could cause localized flooding and downed trees," Tallahassee officials said in a statement.

Tallahassee Mayor Andrew Gillum, who is the Democratic nominee for governor, had planned to campaign in South Florida Monday and Tuesday, but he said he would return to Tallahassee to help with storm preparations.

The city of Pensacola tweeted to residents, "Be sure you have your emergency plan in place."

Fairbairn's FG in OT lifts Texans over Cowboys 19-16

Houston Texans kicker Ka'imi Fairbairn (7) kicks the winning field goal during overtime of an NFL football game against the Dallas Cowboys, Sunday, Oct. 7, 2018, in Houston.

HOUSTON — When DeAndre Hopkins had a chance to make a play in overtime on Sunday night against the Dallas Cowboys, Houston's star receiver was intent on redeeming himself after losing a rare fumble in the third quarter.

He did that with a spectacular 49-yard catch and run that got the Texans in scoring range, and Ka'imi Fairbairn kicked a 36-yard field goal to lift the Texans to a 19-16 win.

Hopkins, who finished with 151 yards receiving, grabbed a short pass from Deshaun Watson and twice spun away from would-be tacklers to stretch the play.

"I fumbled, so I knew I had

Texas A&M outlasts No. 13 Kentucky 20-14 in OT

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Jimbo Fisher has his first signature victory at Texas A&M. It took a little extra time to earn it.

Trayveon Williams twisted into the end zone on a 10-yard run in overtime to give the Aggies a wild 20-14 victory over No. 13 Kentucky on Saturday night.

Kentucky's Miles Butler missed a 43-yard field goal to start the extra period, the ball bouncing back off the crossbar, and the Aggies capitalized with Williams' touchdown run four plays later to hand the Wildcats their first loss of the season.

"Heck of a football game," said Fisher, the former Florida State coach in his first year with the Aggies. "We just kept playing and going on to the next play. And our defense was outstanding."

The Aggies turned in one of their top plays of the night when defensive end Kingsley Keke sacked quarterback Terry Wilson on third-and-2 in overtime for a loss of eight yards. That created a field-goal attempt that was just out of Butler's reach.

"The sack was huge in the game," Fisher said. "Another yard (closer), and the field goal would have been good."

The tide appeared to turn in the Wildcats' favor early in the fourth quarter, when Kellen Mond's pass intended for Hezekiah Jones popped off

Jones' hands and into the waiting arms of safety Darius West, who returned the ball 19 yards to the Kentucky 49. The drive ended in a punt, however, and a 43-yard punt return by Roshaud Paul to the Kentucky 48-yard line with 11:07 left in the game.

Mond tried throwing underneath to Cameron Buckley. The ball glanced off of Buckley's hands and right into those of tight end Jace Sternberger, who scooted 46 yards up the middle for a touchdown and a 14-7 lead for the Aggies.

Texas A&M (4-2, 2-1 Southeastern Conference) appeared to be in control and was trying to drain the clock when Mond fumbled. West was in the right place again, scooping up the ball and returning it 40 yards for a touchdown to tie it at 14 with 4:17 remaining but the game went to OT.

The Wildcats (5-1, 3-1) were trying to improve to 6-0 for the first time since 1950, but their offense was held mostly in check. In an oddity, the Wildcats didn't have an offensive snap in Texas A&M territory until overtime. Wilson's big play was a 54-yard touchdown pass to Lynn Bowden Jr. and the other score came on the West fumble return.

"I wish we could have finished it off and gotten

Talk of Texas: Are Longhorns back after big win over OU?

DALLAS — There was a long pause by coach Tom Herman while considering the obvious questions after Texas extended its winning streak to five games with an impressive victory over three-time defending Big 12 champion Oklahoma in the Red River rivalry.

Are the Longhorns, now a top-10 team again, really back? Ready to be a Big 12 powerhouse again? A play-off contender?

"It's irrelevant to us I think is probably the best way to put it. We're not so concerned about where people think Texas is," Herman finally said in the wake of the postgame celebration. "The people in that locker room, the coaches and players, are the people whose opinions matter the most to us. ... Those are the people that we have to answer to on a daily basis."

These Longhorns (5-1, 3-0 Big 12) have won three games over Top 25 teams since a season-opening loss at Maryland. They mostly bullied their way past Oklahoma except for a Kyler Murray-led rally in the fourth quarter that necessitated Texas true freshman

Deep dig: Indians face familiar 2-0 hole in ALDS vs. Astros

By TOM WITHERS

AP Sports Writer

CLEVELAND — The Indians are very familiar with the postseason hole they're currently stuck in. They saw one just like it last October — from above.

At least they know it can be scaled.

But Cleveland's climb in this AL Division Series seems much steeper than just the 2-0 deficit they're facing after dropping the first two games in Houston. The defending World Series champion Astros have shown their exceptional pitching and extraordinary depth while outplaying the swing-and-miss Indians in every facet of the game.

"They've played pretty much perfect

Murray's knee injury another Spurs concern as season nears

(AP) — The San Antonio Spurs have more injury concerns with a little more than a week remaining until the regular season.

Starting point guard Dejounte Murray's knee buckled and he crashed to the court Sunday in a pre-season loss to the Houston Rockets. He will undergo an MRI exam on Monday.

Murray was driving to the basket against Rockets guard James Harden on a fast break when his knee gave. The third-year player remained on the court for several minutes writhing in pain. Spurs officials brought out a wheelchair to take him off the court, but Murray refused, rising to his feet amid a raucous cheer from the San Antonio fans. Murray tested his knee in front of the Spurs' bench before heading to the locker room with team officials.

It was the second injury in the last two games for the Spurs, who lost rookie Lonnie Walker IV to torn cartilage in his right knee and will miss at least six weeks.

Coach Gregg Popovich didn't have an update on Murray, who took over the starting point guard job from Tony Parker last season.

On the other side, the Rockets are getting healthier. P.J. Tucker started at forward after missing the first two games with a sore back and had 19 points and seven rebounds. That moved Carmelo Anthony to a reserve role, and he responded with 12 points and six boards.

ROCKETS' 108, SPURS' 93
Harden scored 21 points to lead seven Rockets in double figures. He also had nine assists, as did Chris Paul.

DeMar DeRozan scored 22 points for the Spurs.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

BY HOLIDAY MATHIS

to drop into your world. If the other person also has the room, things will develop very quickly. If not, it will be a slow-grow situation.

You'll wind up in an unexpected yet enjoyable conversation. It doesn't have to lead anywhere to add sparkle to your life. But if it does develop into friendship, that will be great, too.

ing nothing, just offering a compassionate heart and perhaps a hug. You're sensitive to what mode is right for the situation, and you'll lead with this understanding.

Happiness and the New Moon

When they say that "your happiness depends on (SET ITAL) you(END ITAL)," how does that make you feel? Empowered? Bullied? As if perhaps even the most expert human doesn't understand happiness very well? Probably true, and besides, feelings are never right or wrong. Give credence to your own ideas about happiness. Under this new moon, it's anyone's game.

always a tiny part of your mind too aware that somewhere in the world someone is having the worst day ever. Instead of letting that bring you down, you let it help you feel grateful.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Neuroscientists have captured it on film -- molecules morphing into memories -- so is it such a stretch to say there's actual mass to what you remember? It will certainly feel as if that is the case today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Your warrior nature will be called out in a situation so ordinary and low-key you'll be surprised at your own reaction. In Mr. Miyagi's words, "It's OK to lose to opponent. Must not lose to fear!"

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Social faux pas are easier than ever to make. An unanswered text or the wrong sort of social media comment could cause dissonance. Counteract by being more sensitive and conscientious than you think you need to be.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). No matter how great your day may be going, there's LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Maybe the repetition of certain behaviors seems silly, but if it means something to someone, then its significance should be noted. Rituals matter to people -- unreasonably so! Don't waste time negating this.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Be aware that many don't have the high emotional intelligence it takes to bridge gaps of understanding between people. You do, and you'll be called to use this talent today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). There is an exhausting amount of nuance involved in casual social relationships. The trick is to be sensitive to your place without putting too harsh a limit on your natural instinct.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 8). You'll figure out how you're uniquely strong and lean into that with gusto. You'll dazzle the onlookers, among whom will be old and new connections. More highlights of the solar return: a long plane ride and travels that are the envy of your friends, a pleasing offering to elders, and part two of a key relationship. Cancer and Scorpio adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 10, 6, 40, 7 and 18.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). There are several ways out of the entrapment of false need. Being grateful for what we have inoculates us from a lot of superfluous needy feelings. So does differentiating between need and want.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You've been the "mini-me," and you've had a copycat of your own. These situations usually end in the same way -- with the realization that the similarities between even very similar people only go so far. Today is no different.

ruffs the third club, cashes the king of spades and continues with a spade, and you subsequently lose two diamond tricks to go down one.
Sometime later, it dawns on you that you should have made the contract. Rather than simply assume that the missing trumps would be divided 3-2 — in which case you'd wind up with two overtricks — you should have allowed for the possibility that the trumps might be divided 4-1 (a 28 percent possibility). Had you considered that, you might have seen that you could guard against a 4-1 trump break by playing the three of trumps from your hand at trick two!

The bidding:
South West North East
1♥ Pass 2♣ Pass
2♥ Pass 4♥

This seemingly ridiculous play has much more merit to it than at first meets the eye. After the opponents win the trick, they cannot stop you from scoring the 10 tricks — four hearts, five clubs and a spade — you started with.

Opening lead — queen of spades.
Assume you're in four hearts and West leads a spade. There seems to be nothing to the play, so let's say you win with the ace, ruff a spade in dummy and cash the A-K of trumps. West shows out on the second trump, and you suddenly realize you're in serious trouble.

The deal demonstrates once again that a declarer should always try to arrange the play to cater not only to the most likely distribution of a suit, but also to a less likely one. The chief danger in this deal is that the trumps might split 4-1 instead of 3-2, and declarer should take the necessary steps to guard against that eventuality.

You continue with the queen of trumps and then, trying to make the best of a bad situation, play the A-K-Q of clubs. Unfortunately, East

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Intermediate

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

This Date In History

Today is Monday, Oct. 8, the 281st day of 2018. There are 84 days left in the year. Today is Columbus Day in the United States and Thanksgiving in Canada.

Today's Highlight in History: On Oct. 8, 1998, the House triggered an open-ended impeachment inquiry against President Bill Clinton in a momentous 258-176 vote; 31 Democrats joined majority Republicans in opening the way for nationally televised impeachment hearings.

On this date: In 1871, the Great Chicago Fire erupted; fires also broke out in Peshtigo, Wisconsin, and in several communities in Michigan.

In 1918, U.S. Army Cpl. Alvin C. York led an attack that killed 25 German soldiers and resulted in the capture of 132 others in the Argonne Forest in France.

In 1934, Bruno Hauptmann was indicted by a grand jury in New Jersey for murder in the death of the kidnapped son of Charles and Anne Morrow Lindbergh.

In 1945, President Harry S. Truman told a press conference in Tiptonville, Tennessee, that the secret scientific knowledge behind the atomic bomb would be shared only with Britain and Canada.

In 1956, Don Larsen pitched the only perfect game in a World Series to date as the New York Yankees beat the Brooklyn Dodgers in Game 5, 2-0.

In 1970, Soviet author Alexander Solzhenitsyn was named winner of the Nobel Prize for literature.

In 1981, at the White House, President Reagan greeted former Presidents Carter, Ford and Nixon, who were preparing to travel to Egypt for the funeral of Anwar Sadat.

In 1982, all labor organizations in Poland, including Solidarity, were banned.

In 2001, The United States pounded terrorist targets in Afghanistan from the air for a second night.

In 2002, A federal judge approved President George W. Bush's request to reopen West Coast ports, ending a 10-day labor lockout that was costing the U.S. economy an estimated $1 to $2 billion a day.

In 2004, thirty-four people, most of them Israelis, were killed when suicide bombers blew up the Taba Hilton Hotel in Egypt.

on the Pakistan-India border, killing an estimated 86,000 people.

Ten years ago: After a day of bouncing higher and lower, Wall Street plunged again. The Dow Jones industrial average lost another 189 points to close at 9,258 — the sixth straight day of losses for the Dow. German farmer Karl Merk, who received the world's first complete double arm transplant, told reporters that incredulity gave way to joy when he woke from surgery to discover he had arms again. Japan's Osamu Shimomura and Americans Martin Chalfie and Roger Tsien won the Nobel Prize in chemistry.

Five years ago: The White House said President Barack Obama would nominate Federal Reserve vice chair Janet Yellen to succeed Ben Bernanke as chairman of the nation's central bank. Britain's Peter Higgs and Belgian colleague Francois Englert won the Nobel Prize in physics for helping to explain how matter formed after the Big Bang. Phil Chevron, 56, the guitarist for the boisterous Anglo-Irish band the Pogues, died in Dublin.

One year ago: Harvey Weinstein was fired from The Weinstein Company amid allegations that he was responsible for decades of sexual harassment against actresses and employees. Vice President Mike Pence left the 49ers-Colts game in Indianapolis after about a dozen San Francisco players took a knee during the national anthem; Pence tweeted that he wouldn't "dignify any event that disrespects our soldiers, our flag or our National Anthem." President Donald Trump and Republican Sen. Bob Corker engaged in an intense round of back-and-forth bashing on social media.

to make a play," Hopkins said. "There was a lot of guys downfield but I wasn't trying to go down easy. A field goal would win the game and I knew that. I knew where I was, and I felt guys coming around me."

Coach Bill O'Brien said Hopkins approached him after the fumble and simply said: 'I'll make up for that.' Watson knew he would do that when he threw the ball his way.

"Playmakers make plays whenever we need him, and that was a situation where we needed him to make a play," Watson said. "I threw it up for him to make a play, and he did what he had to do."

The Cowboys got the ball first in OT but had to punt when Zach Cunningham stopped Ezekiel Elliott for no gain on third-and-1. Coach Jason Garrett defended his decision not to go for it.

"We just felt like at that point in the game, the way our defense was playing, the idea was to pin them down there," he said.

Houston was just 1 of 5 in the red zone on Sunday, with Fairbairn making four field goals to help the Texans to the victory.

It is Houston's first win over the Cowboys (2-3) since the team's first game on Sept. 8, 2002, ending a three-game losing streak to Dallas. The Texans (2-3) did it in front of a franchise-record crowd of 72,008, which was peppered with plenty of Cowboys fans.

Houston defensive end Jadeveon Clowney didn't realize the Texans hadn't beaten the Cowboys in 16 years, but did understand the importance of the victory.

"This is a big win, not just for us but for the city of Houston," he said. "Cowboys are America's No. 1 team. For us to go out there and win at home was very big for us. We needed that win."

Deshaun Watson threw for 375 yards with a touchdown and an interception for the Texans, who won in overtime for the second straight week.

Dak Prescott had 208 yards passing and a touchdown but threw two interceptions for the Cowboys. Elliott, who entered the game as the NFL's leading rusher, was limited to 54 yards rushing.

"We just haven't gotten it going on offense," Prescott said. "I don't know if there's one thing you can pinpoint, but we've got to figure it out."

The Texans were driving late in the fourth quarter when Xavier Woods intercepted Watson, who threw under heavy pressure, with 10 seconds left and returned it 15 yards to give Dallas the ball at its 47. Kareem Jackson nearly intercepted Prescott on the next play before his Hail Mary on the last play of regulation was knocked down in the end zone by receiver DeAndre Hopkins, who came in to play defense.

A 27-yard pass interference call by Byron Jones on a ball intended for Hopkins got Houston to the 1-yard line in the third quarter. But two failed running plays followed by an incomplete pass forced another field goal which gave the Texans a 16-13 lead with about 8 1/2 minutes remaining.

The Cowboys tied it up on a 48-yard field goal with less than six minutes left. That drive was highlighted by a 44-yard pass by Prescott to Tavon Austin that he made after escaping sacks by J.J. Watt, Brandon Dunn and Zach Cunningham.

Prescott's second interception came when Johnathan Joseph broke up a pass and rookie Justin Reid caught it just before it hit the turf in the third quarter. The Texans drove to the 3-yard line on the ensuing possession before the drive stalled and Fairbairn kicked a 21-yard field goal to tie it at 13-13.

Hopkins fumbled after a catch early in the third quarter and it was recovered by Jourdan Lewis and returned to the Houston 16. The Cowboys regained the lead when Prescott found Allen Hurns in the back of the end zone on a 3-yard touchdown pass that made it 13-10.

The Texans drove to the 2-yard line later in the second but Watson's pass on third down fell incomplete and they settled for a 20-yard field goal to push the lead to 10-6.

INJURIES

Houston RB Lamar Miller, who dealt with a chest injury this week, was active but did not play. ... Texans CB Kayvon Webster left the game in the first quarter with a quadriceps injury and didn't return.

Cowboys: Host the Jacksonville Jaguars next Sunday.

Texans: Host the Buffalo Bills next Sunday.

baseball to this point," Indians third baseman Josh Donaldson said following Saturday's 3-1 loss. "We have had a couple mistakes the first couple games, and now, it's our time to respond."

Or another Cleveland baseball season will end before the leaves change colors.

Houston's in complete control heading into Monday's Game 3.

Astros aces Justin Verlander and Gerrit Cole dominated Cleveland's hitters in Games 1 and 2 as Houston's pitchers combined on consecutive three-hitters. The Astros piled up 24 strikeouts against one of the league's most balanced lineups, which is batting a combined .100 in this ALDS. The Indians' offense was so anemic Saturday that they didn't have a single at-bat with a runner in scoring position.

If not for Francisco Lindor's solo homer, Cleveland would have been blanked.

The Indians returned to Progressive Field on Sunday for an optional workout, and Cleveland's players seemed relaxed despite their perilous postseason predicament.

"We're OK," manager Terry Francona said. "I'd rather be up 2-0 than down 2-0. But it's still the first one to get to three. And I'd rather have a chance than no chance. I mean, I understand that the odds start to go not in your favor. But been on both sides of this, and come back and had people come back on us."

"So rather than spend a ton of time thinking about all that, we need to figure out a way to beat them, because the first two games, they've really kind of had their way with us. We need to change that."

Francona will tweak his lineup for Game 3. With left-hander Dallas Keuchel starting for Houston, Francona will add two right-handed hitters: right fielder Brandon Guyer and Yandy Diaz, who will replace Edwin Encarnacion as the DH. Encarnacion will move to first base, replacing Yonder Alonso.

As bleak as things appear for the three-time AL Central champions, who will give Mike Clevinger his first postseason start with the season on the line, only have to look back to last October for inspiration. As painful as that might be.

The Indians jumped out to what appeared to be a commanding 2-0 lead in the ALDS before New York stormed back and won three straight to advance, denying Cleveland a return trip to the World Series and extending the club's title drought to 70 years.

The Yankees paved the comeback trail. It's up to the Indians to follow it.

"It might be a little unfortunate that we know it can be done," said usually reliable reliever Andrew Miller, who replaced starter Carlos Carrasco in the sixth inning and gave up Marwin Gonzalez's go-ahead, two-run double in Game 2. "We certainly have a day to regroup. That's how I'm looking at it."

TEXAS

Cameron Dicker's 40-yard field goal with nine seconds left to win 48-45.

Texas moved up 10 spots to No. 9 in the new AP Top 25 poll on Sunday, the first time the Horns have been a top 10 team after September since 2009 — when they won their last Big 12 title and were the national runner-up.

"It would be foolish for me to not understand the big picture," said Herman, who later recoiled a bit at even the mention of the College Football Playoff.

"We've taken some really big steps here the last few weeks. I'm not going to deny that. I'm not going to downplay that for these players," he said. "They have some taken very important steps in this program's development and its progress."

Oklahoma (5-1, 2-1), a playoff team two of the last three seasons, slipped four spots to 11th in the AP poll. The Sooners have won 27 of their last 30 regular-season Big 12 games — two of those losses are to Texas.

"We have been as good as anybody in the country the last three years of responding to the very few losses we've had," Oklahoma coach Lincoln Riley said. "We've got a track record right there that you could put up against team in the country, and that's absolutely what we expect to do again."

The Sooners have a week off before they return to the Dallas-Fort Worth area to play TCU on Oct. 20.

The highest-ranked Big 12 team, and the league's only remaining undefeated, is No. 6 West Virginia (5-0, 3-0). The Mountaineers go to Texas on Nov. 3, and host the Sooners the day after Thanksgiving, and a week before the Big 12 championship game.

Texas and Oklahoma both had more than 500 total yards Saturday and combined for the most points in their 113-game series that dates back to 1900, and has been part of the State Fair of Texas since 1929.

Both dual-threat quarterbacks — steady Texas sophomore Sam Ehlinger and Sooners highlight-maker Murray — accounted for five touchdowns while throwing for more than 300 yards.

"It hurts and I am disappointed," said Murray, the Major League Baseball prospect who might have played his final game against the Longhorns — unless there is a Big 12 championship rematch.

that victory, but I am proud of our team," Kentucky coach Mark Stoops said.

The Aggies snapped a six-game losing streak to Associated Press Top 25 opponents, including losses this season to top-ranked Alabama and then-No. 2 Clemson.

"It was a big win for the Jimbo era, and a big win for us this season," Williams said.

The Aggies were playing their lone home game in October, before hitting the road for three consecutive SEC games.

"This is another step forward, but we're never satisfied," Mond said.

THE TAKEAWAY

Texas A&M: The Aggies' defense smothered Benny Snell (13 carries for 60 yards), and was opportunistic in the fourth quarter and overtime. Snell entered the game leading the SEC with 133 rushing yards per game.

Kentucky: A charmed season took a hit for the Wildcats, but Kentucky could stay in the mix in the SEC East — with the Nov. 3 home game against Georgia carrying huge ramifications.

POLL IMPLICATIONS

The Wildcats are sure to drop at least a few spots following the loss, while the Aggies might re-enter the polls following a brief appearance in mid-September at No. 22.

KEY NUMBERS

The Wildcats were held to 178 total yards and 70 rushing yards, easily their lowest totals of the season. Texas A&M's Trayveon Williams outgained Kentucky by himself, with 210 all-purpose yards (138 rushing, 72 receiving).

HE SAID IT

"We pride ourselves on stopping the run, and that's what we're going to do from now on, every game." — Texas A&M linebacker Tyrel

Dodson.

MIGHTY MANN

Braden Mann's punt of 82 yards in the second quarter was the Aggies' longest since Bobby Goff's boot of 86 yards in 1944, and third longest in program history. Mann's punt also was the longest in Football Bowl Subdivision action so far this season.
