"Welcome to Stanton. Home of 3,000 friendly people and a few old soreheads," the billboard reads as you enter Stanton, a small farming community on the interstate. "Stanton may be a small, dusty farming community on the interstate, but it transforms and molds into a bustling shopping scene the second weekend of April, June and October," Director of Sorehead Trade Days Shawna Burch said.

Items sold range from clothing and wearable art, to home décor, handmade crafts, antiques and various collectibles.

"There are two food courts, so shoppers can enjoy a wide range of treats from standard fair food to authentic, ethnic delights," Burch said.

Live local music can be enjoyed on the courthouse lawn, featuring bands and musicians from across the region. There is no admission to the event and the parking is free. Trade Days are for everyone to get out with family and friends and have a good time while shopping throughout the hundreds of vendor stands.

Along with shopping, there will be an amusement area for the kids that features a rock wall and a water balloon launcher.

"We will be having a hay ride for the kids where we will take them around the property and talk about what we do for the animals here and show them where they are housed," said Andi Cervantez, Kennel Tech and Animal Caregiver at the Happy Day Humane Society. Raising awareness

Red silhouettes can be found at the courthouse, most of them donning a golden plaque in the middle honoring and remembering someone local who has been a victim of domestic violence. October is National Domestic Violence Awareness month. To help raise awareness about domestic violence, Victims Services of Big Spring has placed silhouettes in the courthouse, and around other places, to bring awareness and recognition for those who have been victims. Also in honor of a loved one who has been a victim of domestic abuse, one local now hosts a pumpkin decorating contest to help spread awareness while getting in the Halloween spirit. The community can go vote on the best pumpkin at Prosperity Bank located at 1411 S Gregg St. during normal business hours. Donations to Victim Services are always encouraged. If anyone is a victim or knows someone who is suffering from domestic abuse, please call Victims Services of Big Spring at 432-263-3312.

Social Security announces 2.8 percent benefit increase for 2019

Special to the Herald

Social Security and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits for more than 67 million Americans will increase 2.8 percent in 2019, the Social Security Administration announced yesterday.

The 2.8 percent cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) will begin with benefits payable to more than 62 million Social Security beneficiaries in January 2019. Increased payments to more than 8 million SSI beneficiaries will begin on December 31, 2018. (Note: some people receive both Social Security and SSI benefits). The Social Security Act ties the annual COLA to the increase in the Consumer Price Index as determined by the Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Some other adjustments that take effect in January of each year are based on the increase in average wages. Based on that increase, the maximum amount of earnings subject to the Social Security tax (taxable maximum) will increase to $132,900 from $128,400.

Social Security and SSI beneficiaries are normally notified by mail in early December about their new benefit amount. This year, for the first time, most people who receive Social Security payments will be able to view their COLA notice online through their my Social Security account. People may create or access their my Social Security account online at www.socialsecurity.gov/myaccount.

Information about Medicare changes for 2019, when announced, will be available at www.medicare.gov. For Social Security beneficiaries receiving Medicare, Social Security will not be able to compute their new benefit amount until after the Medicare premium amounts for 2019 are announced. Final 2019 benefit amounts will be communicated to beneficiaries in December through the mailed COLA notice and my Social Security's Message Center.

The Social Security Act provides for how the COLA is calculated. To read more, please visit www.socialsecurity.gov/cola.

Halloween makes it more than spooky on the road

Halloween Safety for Pedestrians, Bicyclists, and Motorists

Special to the Herald

Halloween means children getting outdoors to enjoy treats, fun, and games. Although Halloween comes before the change back to standard time this year, the days are getting shorter, and the nights are getting longer. With shorter days comes more night driving. Because nighttime driving is more dangerous, it requires extra attention from motorists, as well as pedestrians and bicyclists.

Sadly, Halloween also increases the number of drunk drivers on the road at night. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) reports that from 2012 to 2016, 44% of all people killed in motor vehicle crashes on Halloween night were in crashes involving a drunk driver. NHTSA also reports that nearly two-thirds of all fatal pedestrian crashes and about 20% of fatal bicycle crashes occur in low-light conditions.

The large number of young pedestrians out on Halloween evening makes this an especially dangerous time. That's why Texas A&M Agrilife Extension

Family and Community Health Educator Sandy Taylor, of Howard County reminds motorists, parents and children of the following safety tips to keep in mind during Halloween and all year long.

Tips for Motorists

- Slow down. Watch for children walking on roads, medians, and curbs. Enter and exit drive-ways carefully.
- Be especially alert for children darting out from between parked vehicles and from behind bushes and shrubs. They're excited - and they are not paying attention.
- Never drink and drive - tonight or any night. If you are partying, designate a driver.

Tips for Parents

- Adults should accompany children at all times and supervise their "trick or treat" activities.
- Teach children to "stop, look left-right-left, and listen" before they cross the street.
- Use a flashlight, and wear retro-reflective strips or patches on your clothing or costume to be more visible to motorists.

- Be certain that the mask does not obstruct vision or hearing.
- Ensure that costumes do not impede walking or driving ability.

Tips for Pedestrians (children and adults)

- Before crossing a street, stop at the curb or edge of the road and look left, right, and left again to be sure no cars are coming. Continue to check for traffic while on the street.
- Walk - never run - from house to house or across the road.
- Cross the street only at intersections and crosswalks.
- When crossing at an intersection with a traffic light, be sure to watch for turning cars. Obey all pedestrian signals.
- Walk on sidewalks whenever possible. If there are no sidewalks, walk on the left side of the street facing traffic.

By taking some extra time to make sure drivers, pedestrians, and bicyclists obey the rules, Halloween can be a safe time for all.

principal of Big Spring High School; Rebecca Otto, principal of Big Spring Junior High; Patsy Sanchez, principal of Big Spring Intermediate School; Kaitlin Jeffrey, principal of Washington Elementary; Rosie Lain, principal of Goliad Elementary; Jennifer Chesworth, principal of Kentwood Early Childhood Center; Carmen Wommack, principal of Moss Elementary; and Dana Pannell, principal of Marcy Elementary. Also present was Anderson Accelerated School Assistant Principal Brett Ramsey, whose principal, Heidi Wagner, could not be at the meeting.

"I am so proud," McWilliams said. "Lucky for me, really since I've been here I've had a chance to work with most of them for the three years. Of course, Mike was out and came back, but we've known each other since we were 19 years old. So it's really been a good partnership."

In other business, the trustees approved an amended 2018-2019 school calendar revising the way "Focus Fridays" will work.

"Last year, we brought to you a school calendar, and this year it was to include Focus Fridays," said Assistant Superintendent of Academics and Assessment Dr. Raemi Thompson. "The intent was to identify a skill, focus on a skill, and keep only the kids who needed help with that skill the extra two hours, and send everybody else home, and give them some small group instructional time with those kids. But with the way the new accountability system is, we can't afford to lose any kids. I can't afford to say, 'Ok, Raemi, your kid's going to pass the test, she can go home. She's good to go. We can't afford to do that, because she can't be 'Good to go.' She has to get better. And your kid has to get better. And your kid has to get better. We can't afford to do that anymore."

Instead, the new calendar will give principals some flexibility in planning and scheduling on Friday.

"What we would like to do is go to school all day, every day...and then give our principals the flexibility within a school day to alternate their schedule and have small groups," Thompson said. "They can have a Friday where they say, 'Today we're going to focus on this. Now you go see this teacher today, and you go see this teacher today, and you go see this teacher today, because they teach this skill this way, and that's how you learn."

The new calendar will be easier on the Transportation Department as well, by having one time for afternoon busing, Thompson said.

The new calendar was approved unanimously.

Trustees also:

- Held a public hearing to discuss the Big Spring ISD Financial Accountability Rating and the Annual Financial Accountability Management Report. No members of the public spoke at the hearing.
- Heard reports on superintendent constraints and beginning-of-year progress measures data.
- Accepted a $1,500 donation from Aramark, the company that provides food services for Big Spring schools, which will be used for culinary arts classes at Big Spring High School.

The donation was accepted unanimously.

Reflections: Sunrise Season

I sat in the pre-dawn dark watching the gathering glow in the east. A bird broke the stillness with a solitary song. Soon others joined him in the gathering light until they filled the air with a chorus of calls. It was as if the birds had waited through the long hours of darkness wondering if the sun would return, and, once it did, they were delirious with joy.

We sometimes feel that way, when the darkness closes in on us. We sometimes wonder, as the birds seem to do, if the dawn of light and goodness will ever again dispel the darkness of violence and pain.

I have watched the sun rise over the snow-covered hills of Minnesota, painting the landscape with crimson and gold until ice-covered limbs sparkle like diamonds. I have watched the sun stain the eastern horizon with purple and gray before penetrating the breaking clouds with shafts of gold. I have watched the day dawn over the mountains of Montana and Switzerland. I have seen it transform the sea into pink and purple waves in Hawaii. I watched the sunrise on the first day of the new millennium, bursting above the horizon as a brilliant ball of light in a clear blue sky.

The sunrise is the perfect symbol for God's intervention into our world.

When John the Baptist was born his father understood the importance of his son's birth. For nine months Zechariah had reflected on the angel's announcement to him that he would have a son in his old age. He had been mute throughout Elizabeth's pregnancy. But when John was born, his tongue was loosed and he burst into praise. He said, "And you, my child, will be called a prophet of the Most High; for you will go on before the Lord to prepare the way for him, to give his people the knowledge of salvation through the forgiveness of their sins, because of the tender mercy of our God, by which the rising sun will come to us from heaven to shine on those living in darkness and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the path of peace." (Luke 1:76-79).

In every generation, those who have faith have seen the sunrise of God. Darkness cannot conquer it. Corrie Ten Boom and Dietrich Bonhoeffer saw it during the dark days of Hitler's holocaust. Louis Zamparini discovered it after surviving the Japanese POW camps. Rachel Scott and Cassie Bernal bore witness to it during the massacre at Columbine. The Amish of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania gave testimony to it after their daughters were gunned down in a one-room school. Countless thousands have borne witness that light that refuses to be extinguished.

This is what John meant when he wrote, "In him was life, and that life was the light of all mankind. The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it. ... The Word became flesh and made his dwelling among us. We have seen his glory, the glory of the one and only Son, who came from the Father, full of grace and truth." (John 1:4-14).

Bill Tinsley reflects on current events and life experience from a faith perspective. For more info, visit www.tinsleycenter.com. Email bill@tinsleycenter.com.

No Kickers Here

"The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the LORD, make straight in the desert a highway for our God. Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low; and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places plain." Isaiah 40:3-4

I never knew the true meaning of "unconditional" until I saw the marvelous grace of God. Why? Because religion is powerless to remove conditions from the gifts that God has so freely given to us in Christ Jesus. In the Lord Jesus, God removed all the kickers making it ever so easy for sinners to accept His love, mercy and grace.

Exalted valleys, low mountains and hills, straightened roads and rough places made plain - this is what grace does for sinners who have never been able to please God. God sent John the Baptist to straighten out the highway to Christ so that we would no longer have to satisfy the conditions of the Law. Christ eliminated all the religious fine print and in doing so, he teaches us the true meaning of "unconditional".

We know that Christ turned water into wine. And someone has suggested that man has turned that wine back into water by placing conditions on the marvelously scandalous grace of God. There is no miracle in sinners having to be good in order to receive God's favor! If there remains any penalty for sin, then Christ died in vain, and our faith is also vain. If Christ's yoke is not easy, we might as well return to the horrors of the Old Testament covenant. If you want to know the true meaning of "unconditional", listen to Jesus, because He teaches us that...

...grace ceases to be grace the moment it draws a line.

Where Do You Worship?

By DR. LILLIAN BOHANNAN

When I was little, I enjoyed going out with my family on fishing trips to Northern Nevada's majestic mountains. In the early Spring they were still covered with snow until sometimes in late June. We would fish, picnic, and enjoy each other's company away from the busy little town where I grew up. Sometimes we would pick chokecherries, or asparagus that grew along the Humboldt River. I could almost feel God's Creative awe as we were on these trips.

As I grew older I got to see places like Yellowstone, The Redwood Forest, the Pacific Ocean, and so many more of God's Creation. The little Baptist Church took us to Lake Tahoe for Church camp in the summer. All these memories spoke to my heart the need to worship the God I now know and love.

I can worship Jesus wherever I happen to be. I carry Him in my heart of hearts. When He saved my soul at 24 years old, He showed me what worship in Spirit and in Truth means. I see the Creation, and know Someone bigger than you or me had to Create

it. This is The God.

Now when I get an opportunity to go fishing on a stream or lake in the mountains, I can worship the God Who made them for me. When I get the opportunity to take a trip in Texas in the Spring and see the bluebonnets along the Freeway, I can worship the God Who made them for me. When I take a trip to the Gulf, and see the blue waters and waves lapping at the shore, I can worship the God Who made them for me.

But when I got His salvation, something happened inside of my heart that makes me want to share what I have so others can see Him in Creation as well. He died on the Cross so we could see God with our sins forgiven. They won't stand between my God and I ever again. He is the Creator of people as well. He wants our Fellowship. He longs to give us peace that passes all understanding. He wants to show us His splendor, and share with us His glory.

One day soon, He will return and bring His children to Heaven where we will dwell forevermore in what He is preparing for us up there. We will worship Him for all He has done for us. We will see Him face to face and know He did everything He could to get us up there. So it's not a question of where you will worship, but Who?

Prayer garden dedicated to Scouts electrocuted on lake

By KEN HEDLER

Longview News-Journal
HALLSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Hallsville High School senior Colton Clark had envisioned constructing a prayer garden at his church as part of earning his Eagle Scout badge as a member of Boy Scout Troop 620.

But the project took on new meaning last year when troop members Will Brannon, 17, Heath Fauchaux, 16, and Thomas Larry, 11, were electrocuted last year when the mast of their sailboat struck a power line at Lake O' the Pines. All three died as a result of the accident, which has also led to relocation of power lines at the reservoir north of Longview.

"Heath was one of my best friends," said Colton, who was at the dock onshore when the accident occurred. "This (project) is kind of our tribute to their legacy."

With the goal of earning the Eagle Scout badge and honoring his peers, Colton oversaw a project that took nine months and involved building a prayer garden at First Baptist Church of Hallsville and placement of "The Old Rugged Cross" and boulder.

Colton, a lifelong Longview resident and church member, was the star attraction Sunday afternoon during the dedication and grand opening ceremony, the Longview News-Journal reported.

More than 80 people attended the 45-minute ceremony that started in the garden and concluded where The Old Rugged Cross stands. Family members of the three boys who died did not attend because they planned a private ceremony, Youth Pastor Porter Brewer said afterward.

Colton, son of Bobbie and John Clark, began the ceremony by standing in front of an archway at the garden, which contains bushes native to Israel, rocks, benches and a statue of Jesus kneeling in front of a white cross.

"I have been praying for weeks that it would not rain," Colton told the gathering. He said the Eagle Scout badge is one of the final projects in Scouting, adding his project needs to undergo review by the East Texas Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America and at the national level before he earns the badge.

Colton, who is considering studying to become a minister after he graduates in 2019, made several references to his faith during his presentation.

"I knew from the start that my project would be for God," Colton said. Pastors led congregants in prayers.

He said Heath's father visited his house two weeks after the sailing accident and "told us how they were feeling."

Referring to some of the rocks in the garden being imported from the Garden of Gethsemane in Israel, Colton said, "I wanted to make it authentic to Israel."

Colton talked about some of the logistics, such as hauling a 1,200-pound statue of Jesus from Waco. Referring to passing motorists, he said, "A lot of people on a Sunday saw Jesus in a trailer."

He thanked everybody who made his project possible, and said his family endured "many nights of pure stress."

Invited to speak by Colton, church trustee Carol Greer said she could not recall such a project before at the church, which is 148 years old. Colton and Greer concluded the ceremony at the garden by cutting a purple ribbon in front of the archway.

The ceremony moved to the grounds outside the children's ministry, where a 17-foot-high Old Rugged Cross stands above a boulder that weighs 3,000 pounds.

"It's real good for the community," troop member Caden Reel, 13, said about the garden while walking to see the boulder and the Old Rugged Cross. "I think it is something that everybody can come together to pray."

The boulder contains a marker "in loving memory" of the three boys.

Opinion: I will choose God over country faster than you can say treason

By TRENT REED

It seems people are more concerned about a football player kneeling during the national anthem than standing for Biblical truth.

It also seems people are more worried about a business decision to use a person who has peacefully protested practices he believes are immoral and unethical than they are about standing for God.

I've seen recent social media posts by friends and family showing disdain for Colin Kaepernick's decision to begin kneeling during the anthem in protest of the oppression of people of color in the United States and ongoing issues with police brutality.

Though he sought the approval from many veterans, people despise his protest, which on the national stage has been seen as being disrespectful to the military and the nation. So they protest the NFL and a sports brand.

If we saw aggressive compassion for Jesus rather than a divisive issue, we might worry less about such issues because they most likely would not exist.

How many have made this Nike campaign into a bigger deal than it should be, but say nothing about the Catholic church's sex scandal?

Yet as members of the Catholic church are protesting across the United States, speaking out against sexual abuse by church leadership, crickets chirp on social media. There's an eerie silence, aside from angry posts about Kaepernick kneeling and the occasional Tasty recipe.

"The campaign is pushing for survivor justice, transparency, accountability and civil recourse," according to Washington's Top News regarding the allegations against the Catholic church.

"Lorenz says they are also calling out leaders within the church, including Cardinal Donald Wuerl and Cardinal Theodore McCarrick."

It seems people have forgotten we are "one nation under God." They have forgotten that God comes before country.

"Indeed, I count everything as loss because of the surpassing worth of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord. For his sake I have suffered the loss of all things and count them as rubbish, in order that I may gain Christ and be found in him, not having a righteousness of my own that comes from the law, but that which comes through faith in Christ, the righteousness from God that depends on faith — that I may know him and the power of his resurrection, and may share his sufferings, becoming like him in his death." — Philippians 3:8-10.

We should care more about God than we do about one guy upset with social injustice. That does not mean we should not care about righting injustice. It means we should look at the situation the way God does.

No brand, sports star or country should be worshipped as an idol. Remember, God has told us idolry is a sin.

Patriotism is love for one's country and there is nothing wrong with loving your country.

I love the USA and am ecstatic about the freedoms we all share. However, if it comes between God and my country, I'll choose God faster than you can say treason.

Duffey's QB draw for score pushes Texas Tech past TCU 17-14

By STEPHEN HAWKINS

AP Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Texas — Jett Duffey got his first start for Texas Tech with two other quarterbacks hurt, and one of them actually replaced him after halftime.

After McLane Carter played only one series on his sprained left ankle that wasn't ready for full-speed action, Duffey returned to throw a 62-yard touchdown pass and scored the go-ahead touchdown on a 38-yard draw play as the Red Raiders beat TCU 17-14 on Thursday night.

"I was really proud of Jett. That's such a hard situation, first start ever and at halftime we're going to try something else," coach Kliff Kingsbury said. "Then have to put him back in, and find a way, dig deep, be mentally tough enough to handle that, make enough plays to win the game. I can't say enough about his mental toughness."

Duffey held on to the ball just long enough on his touchdown run with seven minutes left, on the first play after a punt by TCU (3-3, 1-2 Big 12). The score stood after a replay review.

Defender Trevon Moehrig-Woodard knocked the ball loose right at the goal line, and it rolled forward through the end zone. It was immediately signaled a touchdown for the Red Raiders (4-2, 2-1).

"They caught us in a blitz," TCU coach Gary Patterson said.

"The coaches on the Tech sideline they were waiting on that draw," TCU defensive end Ben Banogu said. "They saw we were in a three-man front and we got back in coverage and they kind of took advantage it and we didn't tackle."

Carter suffered a high left ankle sprain in the first quarter of the season opener. True freshman Alan Bowman replaced him, and was the nation's leading passer before a crushing blow in the last game that left him with a partially collapsed lung.

All three Tech quarterbacks took part in pregame warmups, though Kingsbury said Bowman was still staying engaged and was never going to play.

Carter took over after Duffey had only 40 yards passing and 37 rushing before halftime. Carter was 2-of-3 passing for 12 yards, but was sacked on consecutive plays on his only series.

Duffey finished 13-of-24 passing for 190 yards, including a 62-yard touchdown in the third quarter to Ja'Deion High, who was wide open at the 30 and ran the rest of the way — on a play that Kingsbury rushed his offense to the ball after seeing the desired coverage.

Texas wants to get keep the edge that fueled early success

By JIM VERTUNO

AP Sports Writer

AUSTIN, Texas — Texas has spent half the season fighting to shake off the recent years of failure with an underdog's attitude to beat all doubters.

The result has been a five-game win streak and a rise to No. 9, the Longhorns' highest ranking this late in the season since 2010. They've climbed back to the top of the Big 12, but in the process lost their role as underdog — likely for the rest of the season.

Their challenge now is how to keep that edge as the Longhorns (5-1, 3-0 Big 12) head into Saturday's match against Baylor (4-2, 2-1) just a week after a huge win over archrival Oklahoma.

"Winning is addicting, and so it feels good. I like this kind of addiction," Texas senior defensive end Charles Omenihu said.

Omenihu said for this group of Longhorns after three straight losing seasons from 2014-2016 and a 7-6 finish last year. Win Saturday and the Longhorns are bowl-eligible. In mid-October.

ber. That hasn't happened since 2009.

"We understand what's at stake this week, and every step we take throughout the season makes the next week that much more important," second-year Texas coach Tom Herman said. "I liked the way the guys carried themselves in the locker room."

Baylor also looks like a program on the rise under second-year coach Matt Rhule. The Bears were 1-11 last season in the first year of his rebuilding project. An upset win Saturday would be a big leap for a program trying to get back to Big 12 contender status. Baylor has lost three in a row to Texas.

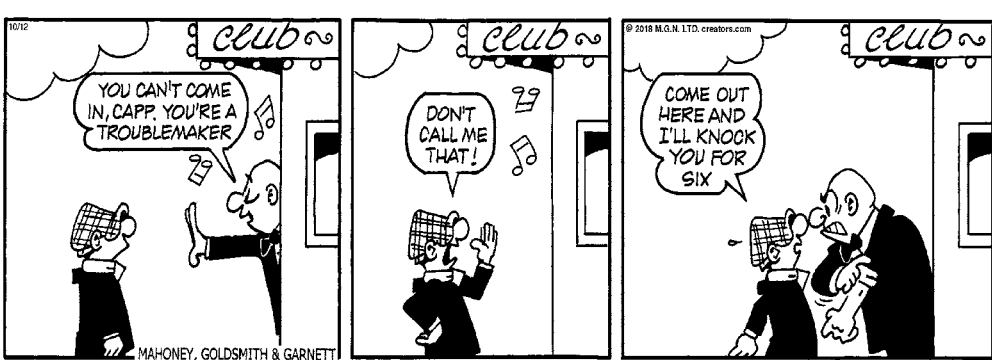

"I told them all the time in camp how special I think they are. I said, 'You're believing in what we're doing, you're doing it day-in and day-out, without any evidence. It's just faith right now. And when you start to win, you'll say it's all worth it,'" Rhule said.

Five things to watch when Baylor and Texas play Saturday:

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Libra Sun Requests a Breath

You're not alone if you feel like there's a tyrant in your mind running you too hard. This part of our psyche has a tough job to do, balancing the demands of the world against the requirements of the human animal, and the angels of the higher mind. These last days of the Libra sun in 2018 remind us to take a breath in the name of balance.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). "Please show me how to do this for myself?" This is the request that will grow your skills, increase your personal power and ultimately give you more control over your destiny than you had before.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You may be focused on improving yourself when actually what's needed has nothing to do with getting better at a thing, rather it's about letting go of the thing that's keeping you small.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Just like a snack food engineered for a crave-worthy balance of sweetness and saltiness, the balance of spice in your personality is getting someone addicted to you.

Bidding quiz

You have the following hand:

♠ A9 ♥ K1082 ♦ K74 ♣ AJ63

1. Your partner bids One Spade, you respond Two Notrump (13-15 points, balanced, stoppers in unbid suits), and partner bids Three Spades. What would you bid now?

2. Your partner bids One Spade, you respond Two Notrump, and partner bids Three Hearts. What would you bid now?

3. Your partner bids One Spade, you respond Two Notrump, and your partner bids Three Diamonds. What would you bid now?

4. Your partner bids One Diamond, you respond One Heart, and partner bids Two Notrump. What would you bid now?
* * *

1. Four spades. Partner does not sound keen about notrump, and there is no reason to override him by insisting on notrump. He is almost sure to have a six-card spade suit, which makes the A-9 adequate support, and he is also likely to have a singleton or small doubleton in one of the side suits, which makes notrump play risky.

It is true that your 4-4-3-2 distribution with at least one stopper in each side suit strongly suggests notrump play, but you can't turn a deaf ear to partner's preference for suit play.

2. Four clubs. The possibility of a slam suddenly looms on the horizon, and the best way of announcing this development is by bidding four clubs. This does not mean you just found a club suit you previously overlooked; it merely implies a heart fit, first-round control of clubs and a potential slam if partner has the right hand.

Partner may have any one of the following hands and go on to a slam in hearts if you make the encouraging cuebid of four clubs:

♠ KJ742 ♥ AQ953 ♦ A8 ♣ 10
♠ KQ872 ♥ QJ964 ♦ — ♣ KQ2
♠ QJ1062 ♥ AQ73 ♦ A5 ♣ K7

3. Three notrump. This hand is better adapted to notrump play than suit play, considering partner's first two bids, and the best way of expressing this view is by insisting on notrump. Partner is not, of course, required to go along with your suggestion if he feels he has not yet fully described his hand, such as when he holds a highly distributional hand (six spades and five diamonds, for example).

4. Six notrump. Partner should have 18 or 19 high-card points to jump to two notrump, since your heart response might have been based on only six points. Partner is asking you to continue bidding if you have any more than that.

Since partner could not have known that you had 15 points when he leaped to two notrump, you are entitled to raise him to six on the assumption that the combined hands contain at least 33 points — the number needed for a small slam.

Springer super for Astros as they look to repeat as champs

By KRISTIE RIEKEN

AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON — Ask Houston manager AJ Hinch to name the best thing about George Springer and he rattles off a laundry list of qualities he admires in the outfielder.

When he finishes that list, he adds a final thought.

"I'm not sure there's a perfect player," Hinch said. "But he's pretty close."

Last year's World Series MVP hit three homers during a sweep of Cleveland in the AL Division Series, and the Astros look for him to keep delivering as they prepare for Boston's powerful lineup in the AL Championship Series beginning Saturday.

"There's nothing not to like about Springer," Hinch said. "His makeup's good, his effort's good, his competitiveness is off the charts, he's happy when he comes to the ballpark every day, blends in well with all aspects of the clubhouse."

Springer's three homers are tied with Yankees slugger Aaron Judge for the most this postseason and his six hits rank third in the playoffs. It's a continuation of the work he did in helping the Astros to their first World Series title last season.

In 2017, Springer hit six homers, five doubles and drove in nine runs in the postseason. Most of his damage came in the World Series when he hit five homers.

The leadoff man came one shy of the MLB record when extended his streak of postseason games with a home run to five with a solo shot in a win over the Indians in the ALDS opener. He didn't homer in Game 2, but made up for it by connecting twice in Game 3 to help the Astros complete the sweep.

Springer tries not to get too wrapped up in statistics, but knows what people expect in October.

Houston Astros' George Springer reacts after hitting a solo home run off Cleveland Indians starting pitcher Mike Clevinger in the fifth inning during Game 3 of a baseball American League Division Series, Monday, Oct. 8, 2018, in Cleveland.

"This is a result-oriented time of the year," Springer said. "But for us it's about doing anything that you can for the team. So just sticking with that mentality."

Springer's teammates rave about what he does on the field and the attitude he brings to work every day.

"Unbelievable teammate, unbelievable player," third baseman Alex Bregman said. "Stepped up huge for us last year and then is stepping up huge for us now. Definitely fun to be on his team. He loves to compete and do anything to help the team win. We love George."

A two-time All-Star, Springer was the 11th overall pick out of UConn in 2011. He made his debut in 2014 and since then has become one of Houston's most consistent and dynamic players, part of a young core that helped the Astros morph from league laughingstocks to World Series champions in just a few short years.

Springer hit a career-high 34 home runs last season and had 22 this year. It's the type of power rarely seen in a leadoff hitter, but his pop combined with speed has been a great combination for the Astros.

He believes the experience this team gained in capturing the franchise's first title last year will help the Astros as they get deeper into this postseason. Springer also thinks Houston's success last year has given the team a certain calmness this season no matter what challenge it encounters.

Springer is rarely seen without a smile and you can often find him cracking jokes to his teammates or dancing around the clubhouse. Despite the importance of the situation, he believes it's important to remember that even though the stage is much bigger, they're simply playing the game they love.

"This is obviously a game where the higher up you go the harder it gets so you want to try to make things simple," he said. "You want to try to have as much fun as you possibly can and just enjoy it and try to keep yourself and other guys loose."

Prescott doesn't feel need to preach unity with Cowboys

By SCHUYLER DIXON

AP Pro Football Writer

FRISCO, Texas — Dak Prescott took plenty of time away from the cameras trying to explain why he thinks the Dallas offense is close to breaking through the struggles most responsible for the Cowboys' losing record.

The quarterback at one point looked for help in his description from Cole Beasley, the receiver who sounded off recently about the frustration his group feels in a sound bite that was perceived as a shot at Prescott.

In short, Prescott sees no issues of unity with the Cowboys (2-3) trying for the third time to get back to .500 with a home game coming off a rough road trip. Jacksonville (3-2) visits Sunday.

"That's why I give these guys a lot of credit because we talk, we communicate," Prescott said Thursday. "There's not any beef or any tension from when I go see them on the sideline. It's great communication. They allow me to do that and we can be straightforward with each other."

Newcomer Allen Hurns has joined Beasley in trying to defend a receiving corps struggling to replace Jason Witten and Dez Bryant and getting the criticism that figured to go with it.

The former Jaguars player also caused a stir by suggesting that a particularly poor play call resulted in Prescott's second interception against Houston in a 19-16 overtime loss.

Hurns didn't back down, but coach Jason Garrett and Prescott didn't necessarily agree that the call was so terrible. Offensive coordinator Scott Linehan brushed it off as a non-issue.

"I don't put any stock in that as being critical," Linehan said. "I'm the first one if you had a better play against that coverage to say we could have a better call there. You don't have to put that on Allen Hurns. He's busting his butt and we're really happy with what he's doing."

The Cowboys have the 30th-ranked passing offense in the NFL and the second-fewest touchdowns. The receivers haven't really earned the right to second-guess because they aren't producing.

But everyone agrees it's a combination of protection, Prescott's accuracy and their shortcomings.

"That kind of comes with the territory here," Beasley said of the criticism. "And I do feel like we've gotten a lot of it. But a lot of other people have too. So it's not just us. It's just kind of how it goes. Whether it's true or not, we've still got to go in and just do our job."

The Cowboys have the NFL rushing leader in Ezekiel Elliott, but Prescott is still close to the bottom of the league in key passing efficiency categories two years after setting a rookie passer rating record as NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year.

To illustrate how he thinks the team is close, Prescott points to a play late in regulation against Houston when tight end Blake Jarwin was open for a big gain but J.J. Watt got to the quarterback before he could make the throw. Had the Cowboys converted that play, they likely would have been in position to kick a winning field goal.

"That's why you can't let outside of here seep into your head or get into your head," Prescott said.

yards rushing last week to Kansas State's Alex Barnes.

KICKING GAME
Has any freshman kicker ever looked more confident than the winking, grinning Cameron Dicker did last week for before booting Texas' game-winning field goal against Oklahoma?

Dicker shook off a few misses from the previous two games to deliver when Texas needed it most. He may never face a bigger pressure moment than that.

Baylor kicker Connor Martin shook off three missed field goals and a missed extra point to kick the game winner with 8 seconds left last week against Kansas State.

"At the end of the day, what was really cool was that it was him," Rhule said of Martin. "He had the look in his eye when he went out to kick that last field goal like, 'I'm knocking this through.'"

RUNNING BEARS
Baylor has three running backs averaging 5.3 yards per carry or better. Rhule said he expects to get back John Lovett, who didn't play last week because of concussion symptoms. Lovett is the Bears' second-leading rusher with 233 yards and three touchdowns.

FOURTH QUARTER
Texas hasn't trailed in the second half since early in the third quarter against TCU three games ago. But the Longhorns have been outscored 28-3 in the fourth quarter the last two games.

TECH

Duffey also had 16 carries for 83 yards.

The final drive for TCU ended when Shawn Robinson desperately scrambled from one side of the field to the other on fourth-and-1 before the ball appeared to slip out of his hands and was intercepted by Adrian Frye in the final minute.

Robinson was 26-of-45 passing for 290 yards with two touchdowns and two interceptions.

The Frogs were up 14-10 when KaVontae Turpin streaked past a defender and into the end zone to make a 31-yard TD catch with 11 minutes left. Turpin had six catches for 120 yards.

"This program's been here before gentlemen," Patterson said. "It doesn't look good when you're 3-3 and you're looking right down the middle of Oklahoma and they have two weeks to prepare for you."

THE TAKEAWAY

Texas Tech: The Red Raiders were held to 353 total yards, well below their national-best average of 591 yards a game. They had also scored 48 points a game. But Duffey made enough plays, especially the two big touchdowns.

TCU: The Horned Frogs had their eight-game home winning streak snapped. They had 411 total yards, but couldn't overcome mistakes. They had three turnovers, including an interception in the end zone, and had a missed field goal attempt.

"We've got better players than what we did," Patterson said. "We can't turn the ball over. Our running backs have got to secure it better."

ANOTHER WIN IN FORT WORTH

It was the third time the Red Raiders won in their last four trips to Fort Worth. They needed multiple overtimes in each of the previous two wins. In the other game during that stretch, TCU won 82-27 in 2014.

FORMER PUPIL

Johnny Manziel, who won the Heisman Trophy as a freshman at Texas A&M in 2012 when Kingsbury was his offensive coordinator, attended the game during an open week on his CFL schedule. Kingsbury became his alma mater's head coach the next season.

"I've been begging him since 2013 to make it to a game," Kingsbury said. "I just told him thanks for finally coming. It's only been six years."

HOMETOWN DUEL

Texas quarterback Sam Ehlinger and Baylor's Charlie Brewer were high school rivals in Austin. Ehlinger burst onto the national scene last week with his power running and five total touchdowns rushing and passing against Oklahoma. Brewer is quietly having a good season at Baylor and has developed into one of the Big 12's most consistent passers. The Bears will need maybe his biggest game yet to pull off an upset.

"They have a ridiculously high-powered offense that can run and throw the football," Herman said.

INGRAM BREAKS OUT

Texas freshman running back Keaontay Ingram keeps getting a bigger role in the offense. His 13 carries for 86 yards last week both were season highs, but he hasn't scored a touchdown in four games. Ingram is a big, shifty back who seems close to getting that big breakout game. He could get his chance against a Baylor defense that gave up 250
