"Sharing is Caring." That's what the Salvation Army believes as they are now starting to take applications for Christmas assistance, also known as the Angel Tree Program, for those who are in need this Christmas season.

"Our Angel Tree program is our Christmas assistance program for families who need emergency Christmas assistance for the holidays," said Captain Rachel McKain, Corps Officer of the Salvation Army. "This is for children who are 13 and under, or for seniors who are 60 and up. As well as receiving Christmas gifts, each qualifying family will also recieve a Christmas food box with all the fixings for a good Christmas meal, including a ham.'

Big Spring Symphony Guild members enjoy refreshments at their March 2018 Style Show and Luncheon fundraiser. The Guild, which supports the Big Spring Symphony Orchestra and provides annual scholarships for local music students, is currently seeking new members.

By ROGER CLINE

Big Spring is among the smallest cities in the United States to boast its own fullsize symphony orchestra. Helping to support that orchestra is a small but dedicated individuals known as the Big Spring Symphony Guild.

The guild's mission is to support the orchestra not only monetarily, but to educate the local community on the importance of music as a part of our culture.

Right now, the Big Spring Symphony Guild is seeking new members of all ages.

The guild recently presented the orchestra with a check for $10,000, raised by guild activities during 2017 and 2018.

In addition to directly and indirectly supporting the orchestra itself, the guild annually presents the Phyllis Graumann Memorial Scholarship to Howard County students planning to study music in college. In June of this year, the guild presented six of the scholarships, three $300 awards to high school students, and three $150 awards to junior high students. The scholarships can be used to pay for music lessons, music camps, college or anything directly related to furthering the students' music education. Phyllis Graumann was a long-time supporter of the Big Spring Symphony, and mother of the BSSO Music Director and Conductor, Dr. Keith Graumann.

Other outreach programs the guild organizes are "Nutcracker in a Nutshell" and the "Instrument Petting Zoo."

Patsy Ann Tumbleson Perry Lindsev

2A

Patsy Ann Tumbleson Perry Lindsey peacefully passed away in Portland, Oregon on the morning of Oct. 8, 2018, at the age of 78. Pasty was born in Big Spring, Texas on Dec. 3, 1939. She was the eldest daughter of Cecil and Louise Tumbleson. When Patsy was two, the Tumbleson family moved to California where Patsy grew up, got married, had two daughters, Christina and Pamela, and later, married again. Her parents moved back to Big Spring in the 90s. Patsy joined them a few years later with her second husband, Frank Lindsey.

The last many years of Patsy's life in Texas was spent being employed as a receptionist for Partee Drilling. It warmed the hearts of Patsy's family in California and Oregon to know that, while they had been away from her for many years, she was being loved in a way that only Texans can do; demonstrated in an exchange between her daughter and one of Patsy's fellow and favorite co-workers:

Pamela:

"Thank you for being such great friend to her." Jack:

"To be a great friend you have to have a great friend. Patsy is the greatest anyone could have!"

In July of 2017, Patsy moved to Portland, Oregon to be with her daughters. And, while leaving Big Spring wasn't easy, in Oregon, she got to see the seasons change, mountains covered in snow, and dogwood trees ablaze with colorful blooms - all things that she loved.

Patsy Ann was a curious mind, adventurous, a master gardener, a member of the Red Hat Society, a loyal employee, a good friend and a great mom.

She was a character, she was fun, she was loved and she will be missed.

James E. (Jimmy) Wheeler James E. (Jimmy) Wheeler October On (Jimmy)

18, 2018, James Wheeler passed from this earthly world to the arms of his Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

Jimmy was born on August 14, 1936 in Big Spring to Dona Belle and Stanley Wheeler. He resided in Big Spring until moving to Stanton in junior high. He graduated from Stanton High School and went on to The University of North Texas in Denton.

On July 4, 1960 he married Margaret Jeanene Gibson. After their wedding they immediately departed for a 2 year military commitment in Orleans, France. This was a 2 year honeymoon for them and they enjoyed traveling Europe. They made lifelong friends during this time that they still treasure today.

After his military service Jim returned to Stanton to go into the automobile business. Jim was dealer/operator of Wheeler Motor Company in Stanton for the remainder of his years. For him the dealership was much more than a place of business. Jim was there long hours and many of his employees and customers became like family. He never met a stranger and Jimmy loved visiting with his employees/ friends/customers immensely. He had a delightful sense of humor and a twinkle in his eye and a few minutes in his office would leave you smiling. If you ever needed anything from Jimmv. you knew he would be there. His word was true (maybe not on the golf course) and everyone that had the pleasure of dealing with Jimmy knew that he was honest as the day was long. Jimmy enjoyed serving both the Stanton and Midland communities. He was very active for years in Lions Club, church committees, bank boards, hospital boards and auto dealer boards. He was extremely generous and enjoyed the blessing of being able to share with those in need.

During his 60's Jimmy was able to semi retire and enjoyed spending much time in their Lago Vista lake home. It was here that Jim and Jeanene made many new and wonderful friends. Going to Lago was a haven for Jim and his children used to joke that the minute his vehicle headed south that his whole demeanor changed. The hardworking man that knew only how to keep his nose to the grindstone and had never been shopping, learned to love Costco, golf and relaxing.

During the last several years Jimmy was riddled with health issues and pain but he never let on to most people. His motto was get through with grit and no complaints. He treasured his role as a grandad. He was the best "Grumpy" and "Gracoo." His life lessons and lectures on honesty, hard work and compassion dren.

his parents, his brothers, Bill Wheeler and Bob Wheeler.

He leaves behind his best friend and wife of 58 years. Jeanene Wheeler. He is survived by Gib Wheeler, and wife, Melissa of Stanton and Sandra Evans and husband, Dusty, of Midland and Julie Shaw and David Shaw of Midland. His grandchildren are Andrew Wheeler. Aaron Wheeler, Samuel Shaw, Patrick Shaw, Jonathan Shaw and Courtney Evans. He also leaves behind many loved nieces and nephews, one of which is Steve Meier (his office buddy, his Strawberry and betting partner).

In lieu of flowers, the family would like to requests donations to Shriners Children's Hospital, St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, The Methodist Children's home in Waco, or the charity of your choice.

A family visitation will be held at the Branch at NPW in Midland on Saturday, October 20, 2018 from 5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. Memorial services will be held Sunday, October 21, 2018 at 3:00 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church in Stanton.

from right to left on your radio dial. As it approaches midfield it goes through a series of alternating right and left maneuvers to the rear and that sets up the band for a turn. They're still in full step, marching five yards apart. Now

That's the way halftime sounds if you're listening to a broadcast of a high school football game on KGAS radio in Carthage. While Jerry Hanszen is describing the action, listeners hear the band's music in the background, sometimes in the foreground.

"You know you've got the first quarter, the second quarter, then there's halftime," says Jerry. "There are a lot of moms and dads there at the stadium to see the ballgame, but there's also a lot of moms and dads there to

We talk about the countermarches, the flanks and the turns and the music they're playing and all of that, and I try to give a very accurate play by play. We have wireless mikes that we put down on the field and we do our best to pick up the quality of sound that the crowd is listening to."

Jerry, who owns the station, is certainly qualified to call halftime.

"I started out as a high school band director, did that for a while, got out of high school band directing and decided I would sell band instruments. I went to Beaumont, Texas and worked for a music company traveling the southeast Texas area calling on schools. I had the chance to work with high school bands getting ready for marching or performance contests. These days a friend of mine and I now video and stream the entire marching contest for parents back home who can't get to the I've enjoyed every bit of it."

Years ago Jerry used to go with the previous owner of the station to broadcast the games.

"The best seat in the house is in the press box. So I'd carry equipment to the press box, then help him set up for the broadcast. He did the game and I did the halftime. When he decided to sell the station I bought it because it seemed like it would be something I'd enjoy. I've enjoyed it about 30 years now."

The Carthage Football Bulldogs have won the state championship six times.

"I've had the opportunity to broadcast all those championship ballgames and it has been a pleasure to do so. I'm a Bulldogs fan. At games, an announcer calls the plays. I do the engineering and halftime."

prominently Displayed in Jerry's office is a case with six championship rings.

DAILY PRAYER

With You, Lord, by our side we can sidestep the hidden snares in our path. Amen.

Amon Carter and Fort Worth

Amon Carter Sr. was "real deal." This the icon-founder of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram in 1906-was a "mover and shaker" who would gain wide renown.

Never one to sit back and watch, his "MO" was to dive in and deal. He was to Fort Worth and Texas what the energizer bunny is to battery-powered devices, this major player in "all things Fort Worth" for more than 40 vears.

His newspaper had the largest circulation in the South for many years, and its success spawned his entry into electronic journalism. He established Radio Station WBAP in 1922, and its ultimate "clear channel" licensure assured the largest geographic daytime coverage of any station in the USA. In 1948, WBAP-TV was Texas' first television station, beginning with "live" coverage of a visit to Fort Worth by President Harry S. Truman.

A leader in philanthropy, Carter was successful in business from an early age. It may have stemmed from sandwich sales on passenger trains stopping in Bowie, not far from his birthplace in Wise County.

He boldly hawked "fried chicken sandwiches" to travelers. (It was speculated that his profits were enhanced by substituting rabbit for chicken. Rabbits abounded in the rural community.)

"rubbed shoulders" Carter with political leaders, as well as luminaries such as Will Rogers and Bob Hope His friends knew y all accounts, the late they could always find the best of "R&R" at Amon's Shady Oaks Farm.

> Carter is remembered for his "dissing of Dallas." He avoided ever spending a dime in Dallas, and was said to take sandwiches to maintain his vow during day visits there.

> Decades after Carter's death, however. Ruth Carter Stevenson, his late daughter, surprised a Texas Press Association Convention with the revelation that her parents had honeymooned at Dallas' Adolphus Hotel.

Amon's competitive spirit with "Big D" came alive in 1936, when the Texas Centennial Exposition was going full bore at Fair Park. He encouraged visits "to Dr. Dallas for culture and Fort Worth for fun." Many "Big D" leaders were flummoxed that thousands of exposition visitors opted to check out the "frontier exposition" offered by Carter in Cowtown.

A nearby "cow pasture" became a midway of exhibits, sideshows, a "wild west" extravaganza and a musical circus. They had an outdoor amphitheater, and featured Billy Rose, a noted composer, and Sally Rand, an acclaimed fan dancer.

Rose's "show of shows"--produced in record time--was performed on "the world's largest revolving stage.".

Were he alive today, he'd have "hip deep" involvement in at least two mammoth projects, one a trail and the other a train. Both are scheduled for the early 2020s.

He might choose to expend energies to divert the rails from Houston to Fort Worth instead of Dallas. Yep, his "moxie" and contacts might be "rail-benders." ("Passengers can get to Dallas from Fort Worth the best way they can," he might utter. Or, he might have changed their minds about visiting "Big D.")

Costs of both projects are "jawdroppers." The trails--proposed for walkers and cyclists--stretch 64 miles, meandering from Benbrook to Dallas. Cost of the trails is expected to be some $40 million. The 250-mile rail project--featuring Japanese-made bullet trains reaching speeds of 205 MPH--is expected to exceed $12 billion.

Who knows what Carter might have suggested? He wouldn't have counted on bullet trains stopping for sandwiches. He might have focused on the trails, where folks may stop to "smell the flowers," as well as nibble on sandwiches.

Few figures in Texas history compare to this bigger-than-life magnate. The late Jerry Flemmons, an all-time great Star-Telegram writer, captured the essence of this icon in Amon: the Life of Amon Carter Sr. of Texas. It is nothing short of brilliant.

Old-timers remember Amon. His stories are told and re-told, and the jury remains out on whether he actually substituted rabbit for chicken in those sandwiches.

Scenic Mountain Medical Center (SMMC) administration and staff took time to recognize Breast Cancer Awareness month. Wednesday, October 17, 2018 was recognized as Pink Day at SMMC. Staff members came dressed in their Breast Cancer Awareness shirts and pink attire, and they gathered together to raise awareness for all those who are fighting cancer.

Emma Krabill, SMMC CEO kicked off the short celebration with a welcome and reminded those in attendance that, while October may be Breast Cancer Awareness month, we are taking this moment to give recognition to all those who are fighting cancer in whatever form it may be.

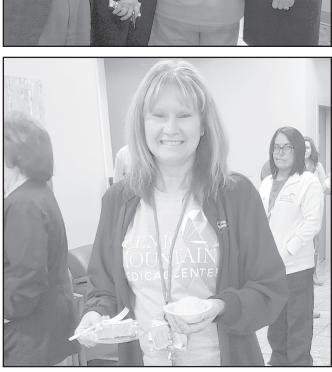

Survivors in the crowd were recognized, and then attendees were able to network while enjoying cake, punch and ice cream (all the color pink of course).

Information on the newly formed partnership with Pink the Basin, a non-profit organization working to ensure all women have access to a mammogram regardless of insurance coverage or financial ability, was also available. Mammographer Ginger Chapman was also on hand to answer any questions attendees may have had.

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — Donald Trump fueled his 2016 campaign with fiery immigration rhetoric, visions of hordes flowing across the border to assault Americans and steal their jobs. Now, in the final weeks before midterm elections, he's back at it as he looks to stave off Democratic gains in Congress.

It's an approach that offers both risks and rewards. He could energize Democratic foes as well as the Republicans he wants to rouse to the polls.

But for the president, the potential gains clearly win out. In campaign stops and on Twitter in recent days, he has seized on a huge caravan of Central American migrants trying to reach the United States through Mexico as fresh evidence that his tough immigration prescriptions are needed.

He tweeted that the caravan was an "assault on our country at our Southern Border." Then, Thursday night in Montana, he told cheering supporters, "This will be an election of Kavanaugh, the caravan, law and order and common sense. ... Remember it's gonna be an election of the caravan."

His assertions got a visual boost Friday when some members of the caravan broke through a Guatemalan border barrier with Mexico. A few then got through to Mexican territory, but most were repelled by police with riot shields and pepper spray.

Trump signaled Friday he thought the strategy was working, telling reporters in Scottsdale, Arizona, that immigration was "a great issue for the Republicans."

On an aggressive campaign blitz, has sought to cast the midterms as a referendum on his presidency, believing that he must insert himself into the national conversation in order to bring Republicans out to vote. Perhaps no issue was more identified with his last campaign than immigration,

Officials: 35 lives, $1.3 billion in timber lost to Michael PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) -Trees brought down by Hurricane Michael's ferocious winds took a heavy toll on life, property and the timber industry in the heavily forested Florida Panhandle, where $1.3 billion in timber was lost, authorities said Friday.

A firefighter became the latest death attributed to the storm when he was killed by a falling tree while helping clear debris with family members more than a week after Michael blew ashore with 255 mph (410 kph) winds.

Fire coordinator Brad Price, 49, of Wewahitchka was on his tractor when he was killed Thursday, the Gulf County Sheriff's Office said on its official Facebook page.

"We love you, grieve with you, and are praying for all of you," Gulf County firefighters said on their Facebook page.

That brought the storm's death toll in Florida to 25, and 35 overall across the South - where, in addition to tree falls, deaths came when the storm decimated homes with winds and storm surge, cut power to those reliant on electricity for medical conditions and swept away cars in flash floods.

Florida Agriculture Commissioner Adam Putnam said that along with the $1.3 er production faaged in 11 of the top timber-producing counties in state. "This is a catastrophic loss to the forest industry in the Florida Panhandle," Putnam said in a news release.

Forest Service Director Jim Karels said the danger grows as the debris dries. The agency is working to clear the debris and establish fire lines that could help contain forest fire, he said.

Iowa basketball coach admits to sexually exploiting 400 boys

IOWA CITY, Iowa — A prominent Iowa youth basketball coach faces potentially decades in prison after admitting to a yearslong pattern of sexually exploiting and abusing at least 400 boys, including former players, their friends and other young athletes.

Greg Stephen, 42, posed as girls on social media to trick the boys into making live videos masturbating. He secretly recorded them showering during trips to tournaments. In some cases he recorded himself fondling nude players as they slept.

after hundreds of women and girls accused him of sexually assaulting them under the guise of medical treatment.

Stephen acknowledged that he had a hard drive containing folders named for 400 different boys, each containing explicit photos and videos that he had amassed over the years through particularly his much-vaunted — and still unfulfilled — promise to quickly build a U.S.-Mexico border wall. To Trump, his pledges are still rallying cries.

"I think it's a big contrast point. All the Democrats are refusing to build the wall. It's a good contrast," said former Trump campaign aide Barry Bennett, who said the caravan was "perfectly timed" for Trump's midterm pitch.

But some warn that as Trump seeks to pump up his base, he could energize opposition. Matt Barreto, co-founder of the research firm Latino Decision, said an elevat ed immigration message could hurt Trump, too.

"I think you run the risk of angering mi nority voters across the board, Latino, black and Asian-Americans and also alienating and distancing from whites, including conservatives and moderates, now that they see what's happening with the family separations," said Barreto, a professor at the University of California, Los Angeles.

Thursday night, the migrant caravan of at least 3,000, many waving Honduran flags and chanting slogans, arrived at the Guatemalan border with Mexico. On Friday, they broke down Guatemalan gates and streamed toward a bridge to Mexico. Most were repelled by Mexican police, but about 50 got through Mexico's dispatching of additional police to its southern border seemed to please Trump. On Thursday night, he retweeted a BuzzFeed journalist's tweet of a video clip showing the police deployment, adding his own comment: "Thank you Mexico, we look forward to working with you!"

Earlier in the day, Trump railed against the caravan on Twitter and declared it was "Democrats fault for weak laws!" He also threatened to deploy the military to the border if Mexico did not stop the migrants and appeared to threaten a revamped trade deal with Canada and Mexico.

Until days ago, immigration appeared to be unlikely to repeat its central role of 2016, as Trump heeded congressional Republican requests to avoid a government shutdown over funding for the border wall ahead of the midterms. And an internal GOP poll presented to the White House last month found that other issues — particularly opposing the "Medicare for All" policy of some Democrats — would better resonate with voters.

While Trump did focus for a time on some Democrats calling for the abolition of the Immigration and Customs Enforcement agency, he largely discussed it as a warning against Democratic control of Washington But the renewed embrace of the polarizing issue reflects a consensus view in both parties that control of Congress will be determined more by turning-out party loyalists than winning over centrist voters.

A vigorous immigration push will likely be well-received in many of the deep-red areas where Trump is campaigning, like his stop in Montana Thursday night. Republicans acknowledge it could play differently in other parts of the country — and might even harm GOP candidates in some selected districts — but they are wagering that as in Prosecutors say Khusyaynova worked for the same social media troll farm that was indicted earlier this year by Mueller. The social media effort outlined by prosecutors Friday largely mirrors Mueller's criminal case against three Russian companies, including the Internet Research Agency, and 13 Russians, including one is a close ally to Russian President Vladimir Putin.

Prosecutors say the conduct singled out on Friday runs afoul of criminal laws that bar foreign nationals from attempting to influence American elections, or from engaging in political activities without first registering with the attorney general.

Asked about the new accusation against the Russians at an appearance in Arizona, President Trump responded that it had "nothing to do with me."

Since at least 2015, the group created thousands of false social media profiles and email accounts that appeared to be from people inside the U.S. and were aimed to "create and amplify divisive social and political content," including on significant current events, such as deadly shootings in South Carolina and Las Vegas, prosecutors said in court papers.

One fake persona, registered to "Bertha Malone," made over 400 Facebook posts containing inflammatory content. Another fake Facebook account, in the name of "Rachell Edison," made more than 700 posts focused on gun control and the Second Amendment.

The Russian organizers of the conspiracy advised that the posts should reflect various viewpoints, and it gave specific instructions to only share articles from certain news websites to correspond to specific political views, prosecutors said.

After one news article appeared online with the headline, "McCain Says Thinking a Wall Will Stop Illegal Immigration is 'Crazy,'" members of the group were told to brand the Republican senator as "an old geezer who has lost it and who long ago belonged in a home for the elderly." They were also told to say that McCain had a "pathological hatred toward Donald Trump and toward all his initiatives."

After another article appeared about Mueller last year, members of the troll farm were told to share the article and say that Mueller was a "puppet of the establishment" who had connections to the Democratic state and nonstate cyber actors, Party and "who says things that they said. should either remove him from his position or disband the entire investigation commission."

not by Mueller but by the Justice Department's national security division and prosecutors from the Eastern District of Virginia. There is no allegation in the complaint of coordination with the Trump campaign.

Russian Deputy Foreign Minister Sergei Ryabkov said recently that Russia has no intention to interfere in the midterm elections in the U.S. or meddle elsewhere.

Friday's separate statement about foreign influence in U.S. elections was issued just weeks before the Nov. 6 elections by the Office of the Department of National Intelligence, the Justice Department, the FBI and the Department of Homeland Security.

Given the breadth of alleged interference by Russia, which includes the hacking of Democratic email accounts ahead of the 2016 presidential election, it was notable that the intelligence community identified two other nations in the same statement that did not provide specific examples of foreign meddling.

Meanwhile, Vice President Mike Pence blasted China in a speech saying Russia's influence efforts in America pale in comparison with the covert and overt activities of the Chinese to interfere in the midterms and counter Trump's tough trade policies against Beijing.

But top administration officials have provided little evidence that China's activities are comparable to Russia's massive covert measures that were spelled out in previous indictments obtained by Mueller.

The officials have cited largely public steps taken by China, such as aiming tariffs at politically important states and pressuring U.S. businesses to speak out against the Trump administration.

Other countries are using social media to amplify divisive issues in American society and sponsor content in English-language media, such as Russia's RT and Sputnik news outlets, the security agencies' statement said. They also distribute propaganda and plant disinformation against political candidates, the departments said.

The agencies said they currently do not have any evidence that voting systems have been disrupted or compromised in ways that could result in changing vote counts or hampering the ability to tally votes in the midterms, which are fewer than 20 days away.

"Some state and local governments have reported attempts to access their networks, which often include online voter registration databases, using tactics that are available to But so far, they said, state and local officials have been able to prevent access or quickly mitigate these attempts.

When they weren't traveling together, Stephen often posed as teenage girls on Facebook and Snapchat and used those profiles to trick boys into giving him explicit images. He would offer to exchange nude videos and photos, telling the boys the types of images to produce. He used software to record live transmissions of the boys without their knowledge, and saved those images as well as their chats.

Prosecutors said the victims' folders included at least one explicit video or photo of each, with some containing many different types. The plea agreement says that Stephen "committed sexual acts and sexual contact" on an unspecified number of boys.

The conduct occurred in 2018 and in "past seasons going back several years," according to the plea agreement, which notes Stephen had been involved with the Barnstormers since 2008.

Stephen had initially offered an innocent explanation of the videos of boys showering, telling investigators they were intended to monitor their physical development and were not sexual in nature.

Stephen's conduct was exposed after his former brother-in-law, Vaughn Ellison, discovered a recording device while remodeling Stephen's home in February. Ellison gave the device to police after seeing that it contained several videos of boys showering in hotels in Lombard, Illinois, and Ankeny, Iowa. Investigators obtained warrants to search Stephen's homes , where they found the hard drive and other devices.

Stephen's attorneys have argued that the evidence should be suppressed because it was based on Ellison's unlawful seizure of a device. A judge rejected that argument earlier this month . The plea agreement allows Stephen to appeal that decision to the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals.

If his conviction stands on appeal, Stephen will face a minimum of 15 years in prison and a maximum of 180 at sentencing, which hasn't been scheduled. He has been in custody since his arrest and will remain jailed pending sentencing.

The agreement notes that the potential sentence he faces will be lengthened due to the number and age of victims, the fact that he engaged in sexual acts and contact with multiple boys, and that he had supervisory control over them.

2016 it is still a net-win issue for the president's party.

Trump campaigns Friday night in Arizona, an increasingly competitive state where the message could have a mixed result. He won Arizona by 3.5 percentage points two years ago, compared with Republican Mitt Romney's 9-point margin in 2012.

Ahead of the midterms, polls continue to show that voters consider immigration among the most important issues, though generally falling behind the economy and health care.

However, Republican and Democratic voters have distinctly different views of immigration as a problem facing the country. A recent Pew Research Center survey found a majority of Democratic voters – 57 percent — think the treatment of immigrants in the country illegally is a very big problem in the U.S., compared with just 15 percent of Republican voters who say the same. By contrast, threequarters of Republican voters call illegal immigration a very big problem, ranking the highest for Republicans among the long list on Pew's survey, while just 19 percent of Democratic voters say the same.

Manafort to be sentenced in February; appears in wheelchair

By MATTHEW

8A

Associated Press

ALEXANDRIA, Va. – A judge has set a February sentencing date for Paul Manafort, who appeared in court Friday for a post-trial hearing in a wheelchair and green jail jumpsuit.

The hearing in federal court in Alexandria was largely procedural, but provided the first glimpse of the former Trump campaign chairman since he began cooperating with prosecutors in special counsel Robert Mueller's office. It also resolved the outstanding question of whether Manafort had finished cooperating.

A federal jury convicted Manafort earlier this year on eight counts of tax and bank fraud. The jury deadlocked on 10 other counts, with a lone juror holding out for a not-guilty verdict.

The jury found that Manafort hid from the IRS millions of dollars he earned advising Ukrainian politicians. Then, when the Ukrainian money dried up, they found that he defrauded banks on loan applications by lying about his income.

After his convictions, Manafort struck a plea deal on separate charges in the District of Columbia. The plea deal requires him to cooperate with the special counsel's investigation into Russian interference in the 2016 election. Prosecutors had wanted to wait until Manafort's cooperation was complete before proceeding to sentencing, where he could face as many as 10 years on the Virginia charges.

Ellis, though, expressed concern about waiting too long to schedule a sentencing hearing. The Eastern District of Virgin> ia, known as the Rocket Docket, has a reputation of moving cases along quickly. The more typical procedure in the district is to proceed with sentencing. Then, at a later date, prosecutors can file what's called a Rule 35 motion that would seek a reduced sentence to reward him for any cooperation.

> Prosecutors and Manafort's lawyers agreed that would be acceptable, and Ellis set the Feb. 8 sentencing date. Also, as expected, he dismissed the remaining 10 counts against Manafort, again with prosecutors' acquiescence. Ellis' dismissal of the counts does not preclude prosecutors from refiling them at a later date if they choose.

> Manafort looked frail and had a foot elevated in a sock as he was wheeled in and out of court wearing a jumpsuit that read "ALEX-ANDRIA INMATE" on the back.

Manafort's lawyer Kevin Downing said his 69-year-old client was dealing with "significant issues" with his health as a result of his incarceration but declined to elaborate.

Manafort, whose penchant for expensive suits came into focus during his trial earlier this year, had requested that he be allowed to appear in court in civilian clothes, but Judge T.S. Ellis III denied the request, saying Manafort should be treated like any other inmate.

Also Friday, special counsel prosecutors and Manafort's attorneys released several years of Manafort's tax returns.

The document release comes after The Associated Press requested access to the documents and an attorney acting for the AP and other news outlets got involved.

The documents were admitted into evidence during Manafort's trial and several portions were read aloud, but Mueller's office had withheld them.

Prosecutors say Manafort falsified the documents, leaving off millions in income.

Federal prosecutors open clergy abuse probe in Pennsylvania

Attorney General Josh Shapiro of Pennsylvania speaks at a news conference in the state Capitol after legislation to respond to a landmark grand jury report accusing hundreds of Roman Catholic priests of sexually abusing children over decades stalled in the Legislature, Wednesday, Oct. 17, 2018 in Harrisburg, Pa. Shapiro is flanked by lawmakers and victims of child sexual abuse.

PHILADELPHIA — Federal prosecutors have opened an investigation of child sexual abuse by Roman Catholic priests in Pennsylvania, using subpoenas to demand secret files and testimony from high-ranking leaders in what victims' advocates say is the first such probe ever launched by the U.S. Justice Department.

The subpoenas, served last week, follow a scathing state grand jury report over the summer that found that 301 "predator priests" in Pennsylvania had molested more than 1,000 children over seven decades and that church leaders had covered up for the offenders.

The intervention by the federal government opens a new front of legal peril for the Catholic church, given that investigations into sexual abuse by clergy members have historically been handled exclusively by state and local authorities.

"It's groundbreaking if we're going to see one of the U.S. attorneys pursuing the Catholic cases," said Marci Hamilton, a church-state expert at the University of Pennsylvania and chief executive of Child USA, a nonprofit think tank focused on preventing child abuse. "The federal government has so far been utterly silent on the Catholic cases."

At least seven of the state's eight Roman Catholic dioceses — Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton, Erie, Greensburg, Allentown and Harrisburg acknowledged receiving subpoenas and said they would cooperate or were working with Justice Department officials. "This subpoena is no surprise considering the horrific misconduct detailed in the statewide grand jury report," the Greensburg Diocese said in a statement. "Survivors, parishioners and the public want to see proof that every diocese has taken sweeping, decisive and impactful action to make children safer. We see this as another opportunity for the Diocese of Greensburg to be transparent." There was no indication the Justice Department is planning a nationwide investigation. U.S. Attorney William McSwain of Philadelphia, who issued the subpoenas to the Pennsylvania dioceses, wants to know if priests, bishops, seminarians or others committed any federal crimes.

PHOENIX – An Arizona man who fell to the bottom of an old abandoned gold mine shaft, broke both his legs, fought off a trio of rattlesnakes and went two days without food or water before a friend heard his cries for help is lucky to be alive, said the head of a rescue team.

"He is a very fortunate individual," Operations Commander Roger Yensen of the Maricopa County Sheriff's Mountain Rescue Posse said Thursday of 62-year-old John Waddell.

Waddell owns the land where the shaft is located north of Phoenix and was using a rope to lower himself into it on Monday when he lost control and fell at least 50 feet (15 meters) to the rocky ground. He had a cellphone but no service.

One of his friends, Terry Schrader, had known Waddell was going to attempt a descent and the pair had agreed that he would go look for Waddell if he didn't hear from him.

On Wednesday, Schrader ventured by the shaft outside the town of Aguila.

"As I pulled out my truck I could hear him hollering, 'Help, help!" Schrader told FOX10 Phoenix.

Schrader had to drive out of the area to get a good enough signal to call the authorities.

specialized equipment to the property.

One rescuer rappelled into the shaft and assessed Waddell's injuries, determining that he had possible ankle and leg fractures as well as friction burns to his hands. He was alert, but dehydrated and was given IV fluids.

Yesen said it took about three hours to lift Waddell the 100 feet (31 meters) to safety.

He was then airlifted to the hospital in Phoenix, about 90 miles (144 kilometers) away. Waddell was in good condition Thursday at Banner University Medical Center Phoenix, said hospital spokeswoman Alexis Kramer-Ainza. She said Waddell was undergoing surgery for two broken legs.

Sheriff Paul Penzone said he had no doubt that the posse, working with his office's Search and Rescue Team, saved Waddell's life.

"Our men and women train year-round for this type of event," he said, "and we are all grateful for this positive outcome."

NEW DELHI — A speeding train ran over a crowd watching fireworks during a religious festival in northern India on Friday, killing at least 58 people and injuring dozens more, police said.

The train failed to stop after the accident on the outskirts of Amritsar, a city in Punjab state, said the state governing Congress party politician, Pratap Singh Bajwa.

Police Commissioner S. S. Srivastava said the police have found 58 bodies so far.

The Press Trust of India news agency said two trains arrived from the opposite direction on separate tracks at the same time giving little opportunity for people to escape. However, the casualties were caused by one of the trains, it quoted officials as say-

India's Prime Minister Narendra Modi said he was extremely saddened by the accident. "Have asked officials to provide immediate assistance that is required." Modi said on Twitter.

A witness said the train didn't even sound its whistle as it sped past the site, where hundreds were watching the burning of an effigy of demon Ravana during the Hindu festival of Dussehra.

"Why did authorities allow the fireworks display so close to the railroad track?," he asked. He told the Republic television channel that he lost two brothers.

Another witness said the victims didn't realize that a train was coming because the fireworks were too loud.

Navjot Kaur Siddhu, a local Congress party politician who was the chief guest at the religious function, said the celebrations take place in the area every year and railroad authorities are alerted to run the trains at slow speeds.

A large number of people live in the area with homes on both sides of the railroad track, she said.

McSwain, appointed by President Donald Trump earlier this year, asked for certain church leaders to testify before a federal grand jury in Philadelphia, though it could be months before that happens because of the time it takes to review the requested documents. He also demanded bishops turn over any evidence that anyone in their ranks took children across state lines for illicit purposes; sent sexual images or messages via phone or computer; instructed anyone not to contact police; reassigned suspected predators; or used money or other assets as part of the scandal.

The subpoenas seek documents stored in "Secret Archives," "Historical Archives" or "Confidential Files," and records related to the dioceses' organizational charts, finances, insur-vided and after some discussion, an agreement was reached to produce documents," the diocese said, adding that it had not heard anything since June.

While the subpoenas hint at possible charges of sexual exploitation of minors and fraud, legal experts said that if federal prosecutors can show that church leaders systematically covered up for child-molesting priests in the past five years, dioceses could also be charged under the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, or RICO, the law originally passed to bring down the Mafia.

The nearly 900-page Pennsylvania grand jury report found that church leaders had engaged in a systematic cover-up by shuffling accused priests around to different parishes and in some cases working to prevent police investigations. Most of the complaints were decades old, and because of the statute of limitations, only two priests were charged as a result of the investigation. Many other priests are dead.

mark cover-up case in 2011 against Monsignor William Lynn, a longtime aide to two Philadelphia cardinals.

Lynn, the first U.S. church official ever prosecuted for the alleged cover-up of child molestation by priests, was arrested on child-endangerment charges. At trial, he said he had merely followed orders from above. A jury convicted him in 2012. He spent three years in and out of prison as his conviction was twice overturned by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. He is awaiting a third trial.

'Beto O'Rourke is Really, Really Bad News"

O'Rourke is not a conservative Democrat. He's not even a moderate. He's a far-left radical, and he has the voting record to prove it. For example:

- O'Rourke voted AGAINST legislation to stop late-term abortions.
- He voted AGAINST legislation to end taxpayer-funding of ance, clergy assignments and treatment of priests.

A representative for McSwain declined to comment, as did a Justice Department spokeswoman.

"This is the first time I have ever heard of a investigation federal into child sexual abuse in a Catholic diocese or church. This is a monumental moment for clergy sexual victims everywhere," said Mitchell Garabedian, the Bostonbased plaintiffs' lawyer who played a major role in uncovering the scandal in the Boston Archdiocese over a decade ago.

Two Eastern Catholic dioceses in Pennsylvania, the Ukrainian Catholic Archeparchy of Philadelphia and the Byzantine Archeparchy of Pittsburgh, also acknowledged they are under investigation.

"I'm thrilled at hearing this information. We have the full weight and attention of the United States federal government investigating the Roman Catholic Church," said Shaun Dougherty, 48, of Johnstown, who told authorities he was molested by a priest as a boy in the Altoona-Johnstown Diocese.

from the Separate Pennsylvania investigation, the Diocese of Buffalo said in a statement Thursday night that it was contacted months ago by prosecutors there with a request to review documents.

Pennsylvania Attorney General Josh Shapiro, who oversaw the state probe, declined to comment on the federal investigation.

In the wake of the report's release, Shapiro said at least a dozen states opened investigations of their own and more than 1,300 accusers contacted his office on a victims' hotline.

The report also led to the resignation last week of Cardinal Donald Wuerl as archbishop of Washington. He was accused of helping to protect some childmolesting priests when he was bishop of Pittsburgh from 1988 to 2006.

This week, the report triggered a showdown in the state Legislature, where Shapiro pushed to give child-abuse victims a two-year window to sue the church in cases otherwise too old to pursue. Church leaders opposed the change, warning it would cripple their ability to fund Catholic charities and enrich lawyers. Lawmakers ended the session Wednesday without taking action.

The difficulty of making charges stick against higher-ups in the church was illustrated when the Philadelphia district attorney's office brought a landPlanned Parenthood.

- He voted AGAINST efforts to repeal Obamacare.
- He voted AGAINST the Keystone XL pipeline.
- He voted AGAINST a resolution opposing carbon taxes that's extra taxes on Texas energy!
- He voted AGAINST legislation to cutoff federal grants to sanctuary cities.
- He voted AGAINST a resolution honoring the brave men and women of ICE, the Immigration and Customs Enforcement Agency.
- He even voted AGAINST legislation to stop the Pentagon from spending your hard-earned tax dollar on sex changes in the military.

Now just to be fair, let me tell you a few things Beto O'Rourke is for....

- He's FOR open borders. O'Rourke said recently that coming into the country illegally should not be a crime.
- He's FOR spoiled millionaire athletes protesting during our national anthem. O'Rourke said that kneeling during the anthem was "not disrespectful."
- He's FOR socialized healthcare and the massive tax increases that would be needed to pay for it.

Buffs outlasted by Ozona in district opener 28-20

BIG HERALD

By JORDAN PARR

Sports Editor

Forsan and Ozona both came out swinging on Friday night, each looking to get their first district win. The Lions and Buffs both put up big numbers on offense in the back and forth game and the outcome came down to the last possession. The Lions picked up 426 yards of total offense and converted five of nine third down conversions. Ozona had 20 first downs in the game and possessed the ball for 25:14 with a ground game that chewed up 373 yards and allowed the Lions to control the clock.

The Buffs put up 353 yards of total offense, possessing the ball for 22:46 while converting four for nine on third down conversions. Forsan moved the chains 21 times in the game and had great balance on offense with 159 rushing yards and another 194 yards through the air. Despite the team stats being so closely comparable it was Ozona's ability to create takeaways (two interceptions) while not turning the ball over themselves that gave them the narrow 28-20 advantage as time expired.

In the first quarter the Lions received the opening kickoff and took the ball right down the field on a 6 play 56 yard touchdown drive capped off by a two yard touchdown run by Ozona' running-back Abraham Rodriguez to go up 8-0 after a successful two point conversion run by Aiden Fuentes. On the ensuing possession for the Buffs, after taking over on their own eight yard line, Forsan answered quickly with an impressive 11 play 92 yard scoring drive that culminated in a 16 yard touchdown pass from Buffs' quarterback Kobe Richardson to his running-back Jonathon Gabehart. Richardson added the extra point to cut the lead to 8-7 with just over five minutes left in the first quarter.

thing going the rest of the quarter and in the second quarter the defensive battle continued. The Lions turned the ball over on downs twice in the second period after long drives and the Buffs had to punt the ball away in their lone possession of the quarter as well. Both teams went into the half needing to make adjustments to get their offenses going again with the score still at 8-7 in favor of Ozona.

The Buffs received the second half kickoff but were forced to punt after picking up just one first down on the drive. Ozona took advantage and put together a 7 play 70 yard scoring drive that was once again punctuated by an Abraham Rodriquez touchdown run, this time from six yards out to make it a 15-7 game after a successful extra point. Forsan was forced to punt again after just five plays on their next possession and again the Lions took advantage.

This time Rodriguez took the the first handoff of the drive 63 yards to pay dirt and really put the pressure on Forsan by increasing the Ozona' lead to 22-7 after tacking on the extra point with just 2:04 left in the third quarter. But the Buffs weren't done fighting yet and on their very next possession Kobe Richardson took the first snap and scampered 72 yards for an unbelievable score to bring the game back within striking distance at 22-13 after a failed extra point.

The fourth quarter started with the Lions driving and eventually increasing their lead again after another long 10 play 63 yard drive that ended with Rodriguez punching it into the end zone again on a 5 yard TD run for his fourth rushing touchdown of the game to extend the lead to a tough to over come 28-13 deficit for the Buffs after a failed extra point.

However, true to their nature and what we have seen from them all year Forsan didn't pack it in. Instead they came out and fought even harder and found an answer to get them back in the game with a courageous 11 play 75 yard drive that led to a 1yard touchdown run by Trey Brockman to cut the lead to 28-20 after Richardson added the extra point with 4:27 left in the game.

Needing a big stop to get the ball back, the Buffs defense delivered and forced an Ozona' after just five plays giving the Forsan offense the ball back with 1:32 left on the clock trailing by eight. Unfortunately, the Buffs just ran out of time as they were driving to try to tie it up. Forsan was marching as time expired having already picked up 40 yards on their last drive before the just ran out of clock.

The Buffs put up one heck of a fight and worked their tails off to get back into a game that it looked like the Lions had taken by storm early in the third quarter. But that's this Buffs' team for you, they never quite, never gave up and fought till the very end. This is the perfect example of a game where you feel like if there was just a little more time this Buff team could have pulled it out. Despite the tough loss, Forsan should be proud of this team and their never say never mindset. That attitude and character was never more apparent than it was this Friday night.

Antelopes stymie Coahoma's offense in 34-7 route of the Bulldogs

By JORDAN PARR

Sports Editor

Abernathy's defense proved to be too much for the Bulldogs to overcome this Friday in a 34-7 loss to the Antelopes to drop to 0-2 in district play. Coahoma was held to just 169 yards of total offense in the game and turned the ball over twice through the air. With only nine first downs and just 62 yards through the air, the Bulldogs couldn't ever get anything established on the offensive side of the ball. Behind a pick six by the Antelope defense, eventually it was just too much for the Bulldogs defense to overcome despite playing great defense early. With a defensive score by Abernathy really putting Coahoma behind the eight ball the Antelopes wore down Coahoma and started putting together scoring drives on offense as well. Abernathy picked up 16 first downs, 403 total yards of offense and racked up an impressive 305 yards on the ground as they controlled the clock. Even though they turned the ball over twice through the air, the Antelopes were able to control the tempo of the game and keep the Bulldogs playing catchup throughout. Neither team could get anything going in the first quarter offensively trading possessions back and forth until Abernathy broke the stalemate at the beginning of the second quarter with a 19 yard touchdown run by Adrian Macias to go up 7-0 after a successful extra point with 10:45 left in the half. On Coahoma's next possession Abernathy's Joseph Sanchez picked off the Bulldog' QB and returned the interception 72 yards for another score to increase the Antelope's lead to 14-0 with 7:54 remaining in the half. The Bulldogs were forced to punt by Avry Burns to cut the Abernathy' lead to 14-7 with just 2:21 left in the first half. The lead despite completely dominating the Bulldogs offense throughout.

In the third quarter once again Coahoma couldn't get the ball moving and had to punt the ball away. With 7:27 left in the quarter, Abernathy's Bryson Daly broke a twenty yard touchdown run to extend the Antelope's lead to 20-7 after a failed twopoint conversion. Neither team was able to get on the board again in the

The Bulldogs were forced to punt on their next possession but got a Bulldog WR Brant Gartman trying to find an opening Friday night huge 55 yard pick six of their own against Abernathy in a disappointing 34-7 district loss.

Antelopes ran out the first half clock on their next possession to go into half with a narrow 7 point third and Abernathy took the air out of the ball and ran the clock to take a 13 point lead into the final period.

In the fourth, both teams traded defensive stops before Abernathy put together another scoring drive capped off by another Daly rushing touchdown, this time from two yards out. The Antelopes took a 27-7 lead after a successful extra point and left the Bulldogs really scrambling to try to get on the board with just 5:09 left in the game. Coahoma was unable to get anything going on their next possession and Abernathy took advantage of the opportunity and put the game on ice with another scoring drive. This time Macias ran it in himself from 30 yards out to put the final touches on an impressive 34-7 victory for the Antelopes.

The Bulldogs' inability to get their offense in gear really left their defense vulnerable and kept them on the field way to long and way to often. Despite giving up 34 points, Coahoma's defense really played hard and showed a lot of heart the entire game. The Bulldogs will have to find answers on offense if they want to keep their defense out of bad positions as district play continues. Coahoma has really struggled on the offensive side of the ball in consecutive weeks of district match ups. As long as the Bulldogs are unable to get defenders out of the box with their passing game look for more and more teams to stack their defenses against the run and force the Bulldogs to be one dimensional.

Aguilar, Brewers beat Dodgers 7-2, send NLCS to Game 7

AP Sports Writer MILWAUKEE — Ryan Braun slid across home plate and raised his arms in sheer joy.

A big lead, a bruising bullpen and a boisterous crowd have the Milwaukee Brewers all set up for Game 7.

Jesus Aguilar sparked Milwaukee's slumping lineup with three RBIs on a pair of two-out hits. and the Brewers beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-2 on Friday night to even the NL Championship Series at three games each.

"I don't think about me. The most important thing, at the end of the day, is win games," said Aguilar, who had driven in just two runs in the playoffs. "Tomorrow it can be somebody else. Tonight, it was me."

same frenzied crowd that booed Manny Machado vociferously after he tangled with Aguilar while the series was in Los Angeles. Dodgers rookie Walker Buehler faces journeyman Jhoulys Chacin, with wellrested relief ace Josh Hader looming in the bullpen for Milwaukee after a surprise day off.

It's the first Game 7 for the Brewers since losing to St. Louis in 1982 in their only World Series appearance. The Dodgers dropped Game 7 of the World Series last year to Houston.

"Got to get them tomorrow. We got one more game," Machado said. "They played good baseball today. So, we just got to play a better one tomorrow.'

David Freese led off this Game 6 with a home run that quieted Miller Park — but just for a moment.

Backed by raucous fans waving yellow towels that read "ONE TOUGH CREW," Milwaukee rebounded from consecutive losses at Dodger Stadium with the same formula it used to win > the NL Central during a breakout season.

The Brewers won 7-2.

Some timely hitting by Aguilar and company produced an early lead, and Corey Knebel and Jeremy Jeffress led the way in another shutdown performance by Milwaukee's tough bullpen.

"Anybody, anywhere, anytime,' Knebel said. "We're ready to go."

Los Angeles was looking for its second straight NL pennant and some time to prepare for the mighty Boston Red Sox in the World Series. But losing pitcher Hyun-Jin Ryu was tagged for four runs in the first inning, two on a double by Aguilar that sent Braun sliding home.

After Wade Miley pitched into the fifth inning in his second straight start — he faced only one batter in Game 5 — Knebel, Jeffress and Corbin Burnes closed it out with hitless relief. Knebel got the win and Burnes retired the Dodgers in order in the ninth, setting off a wild celebration for the crowd of 43,619.

Manager Craig Counsell considered bringing in Hader, especially in the eighth, but Aguilar scored on a wild pitch in the seventh and singled in Lorenzo Cain in the eighth. The extra room helped persuade Counsell to give Hader another day of rest. The rocket-armed reliever hasn't pitched since Tuesday in Game 4.

"Best-case scenario for sure for us,' Counsell said.

Freese drove in both runs for the Dodgers. The rest of the Los Angeles lineup managed just three measly singles. Hounded by boos all night long, Machado went 0 for 4 with two strikeouts.

"You know what? I'm focused on the game," Machado said. "Try to go pitch by pitch, drive in runs. Do what we got to do on the field. We didn't execute today."

The 35-year-old Freese was a surprise choice for leadoff hitter by Dave Roberts, and he made his manager look quite good when he started the game with a drive to right-center for his ninth career postseason homer.

Freese also connected in the first inning of the previous NLCS Game 6 in Milwaukee, helping the Cardinals win the pennant in 2011. It was just his fourth time in the leadoff spot in his 10 years in the majors.

But the Brewers put together a quick response that set the tone for the rest of the night. With runners on first and second in the bottom half of the first, Aguilar lined an opposite-field double into the corner in right.

Mike Moustakas followed with another RBI double and scored on Erik Kratz's single to make it 4-1. The Brewers managed just three runs in the previous two games in Los Angeles.

"It was huge to be able to answer back in the AP photo first inning after the great, two would have been awesome. To put up four right there just gives us a lot of confidence."

Christian Yelich and Braun combined for another run with consecutive doubles in the second, and then it became a question of strategy for Roberts and Counsell with Game 7 on deck.

Roberts used starting pitcher Rich Hill in the eighth after Kenta Maeda struggled, staying away from key reliever Pedro Baez and closer Kenley Jansen. Counsell stayed with Knebel for five outs, giving him his first pro plate appearance with the bases load ed in the fifth — he struck out — and Burnes worked two perfect innings.

"There's the thought of trying to go to your 'pen in the first inning or the second inning, but there's a significant cost potentially for a potential Game 7," Roberts said. "So I just felt that we needed to get some more innings out of Hyun-Jin to keep our highest leverage guys available for a potential Game 7."

Air Force gets first conference win 41-35

LAS VEGAS — For Air Force, trailing at halftime means nothing. The Falcons improved to 4-1 this season in such games.

road, and that's a credit to the opponent who we played, UNLV. At the same time, we might have made it a little bit more difficult than we needed to, though."

Gilliam, who was making his third start in place of injured starter Armani Rogers, was 26-of-38 passing for 261 yards and three touchdowns and one interception. The sophomore averaged 186.5 yards passing in his previous two starts for the Rebels, who rank 123rd nationally with just 123.7 yards per contest. Lexington Thomas rushed for 108 yards and two touchdowns for UNLV. "We came out in the second half and did not play much better on defense until toward the end, created some turnovers," UNLV coach Tony Sanchez said. "Offensively we did some good things. We had our opportunities though we sputtered at inopportune times. They fought their tail off for four quarters, they were down big, got themselves back

The Rebels held a 21-20 lead at halftime, but Air Force (3-4, 1-3 Mountain West) wasted no time in jumping on a UNLV defense that has allowed 150 points and 1,672 yards in its last three games.

The Falcons — which tallied 572yards of offense - scored 21 unanswered points in the third quarter to pull ahead 41-21. The Rebels' defense has allowed more than 500 yards in four of their seven games this season.

Sanders completed 9 of 11 passes for 217 yards and one touchdown and rushed for 173 yards and three TDs.

Ronald Cleveland had three receptions for 100 yards and one touchdown for the Falcons. Cleveland has caught a pass in a team-best eight straight games, and 10 of his last 11.

The Falcons snapped a four-game road losing streak, and improved to 16-6 all-time against UNLV, including 8-4 in Las Vegas. Air Force has won three straight in the series, including its last two at Sam Boyd Stadium.

The Falcons held off a late rally by UNLV, which erased a 20-point deficit with 5:45 left in the third quarter by scoring 14 unanswered points.

Hardaway and Enes Kanter each scored 29 points for the Knicks. Kanter tied it on a threepoint play with 15.9 seconds remaining but all they could manage for a final shot after Le-Vert's basket was a long 3-pointer by Hardaway that wasn't close.

LOS ANGELES — These new-look Clippers like each other.

With stars Blake Griffin, Chris Paul and DeAndre Jordan cleared out, Los Angeles is looking to compete with a mix of veterans and youngsters who came together to earn their first win of the season.

Danilo Gallinari and Tobias Harris scored 26 points each and the Clippers rallied in the fourth quarter for a 108-92 victory over the Oklahoma City Thunder on Friday night. "They just want to win and they're over themselves," Clippers coach Doc Rivers said. their first lead of the game, 49-48, on a 3-pointer by Patrick Patterson to start the third. George took over offensively for a stretch, highlighted by a 3-pointer in which he got fouled and made the free throw, that helped Oklahoma City lead by nine.

The Thunder fell to 0-2 without Russell Westbrook, who has a right knee issue.

"He's missed everywhere," said guard Raymond Felton, who had 10 points off the bench.

Lou Williams, last season's Sixth Man of the Year, added 17 points off the bench. He hit a clutch 3-pointer to snap a 90-all tie and give the Clippers the lead for good midway through the fourth.

The Clippers outscored the Thunder 37-15 in the final quarter, when 7-foot-3 Boban Marjanovic scored 10 of his 13 points and Gallinari led the cheers from the bench.

"When you see the energy and the fans on our side, we were just having fun," Gallinari said.

Paul George led the Thunder with 20 points before fouling out with 1:13 remaining in the game. He was 7 of 27 from the field in part because of the defense of Avery Bradley and Luc Mbah a Moute.

"They made it a hard night on George," Rivers said.

Steven Adams had 17 points and 18 rebounds, including 12 on the defensive glass for the Thunder.

"We've got to execute better, we've got to run offense, and we're not going to be able just to rely on guys just trying to create and manufacture shots," Thunder coach Billy Donovan said. "We have to do it together."

The Clippers led by 17 points in the first quarter. They were up by two at halftime before the Thunder took a nine-point lead in the third.

Los Angeles opened the game on a 16-0 run while the Thunder missed their first six shots. But Oklahoma City never took the lead despite twice pulling into a tie.

GEORGE'S URGENCY

Westbrook had an arthroscopic procedure to treat stiffness and inflammation in his knee on Sept. 12. He averaged 25.4 points, 10.1 rebounds and 10.3 assists last season.

While he's gone George is putting some pressure on himself.

"I've still got to get this group ready to go," he said. "I've got to get this group ready to win games regardless if Russ is out there or if Russ is not." MVP Marjanovic drew "MVP" chants in the fourth and it made the Serbian smile.

"Thank you for that but everybody knows it's not real," he said. "It's fun because people support me."

Rivers laughed, too, noting similar chants had been heard in Toronto and Utah. "It's Game 2," he said. "It must be the new chant around the league. Early voting."

UP NEXT

Thunder: Host Sacramento in their home opener on Sunday. The Thunder won three of the four meetings last season.

Clippers: Host Houston on Sunday in the return of Chris Paul, the Clippers' career assists leader.

One thing that often comes up among people is their desire for a real way to honor their lost loved ones. Doing something concrete and meaningful that pays tribute to the life that was lost is one way people are often able to find closure, by taking what they remember to be the best part of their loved one and making an effort to share those qualities and attributes with others.

There isn't much more of a fitting memorial to a loved one, in my opinion, than the continued sharing of those things that mattered to them most.

That's what one local family did to honor a special someone in their family who had a place in their heart for Halloween.

"My husband, Kirk Allen, loved, loved Halloween and had been decorating and giving out candy for years," said Darlynn Allen. "He just passed away on Nov. 2, 2017 from cancer. Last Halloween was the first year he didn't get to decorate, and I know that was hard for him. This year it was our son's idea to decorate one last time for Kirk and so that's what me, my two sons, and daughter in law did." loved one, and this tribute can help you to find a purpose for your grief. Carry on their work.

"Kirk started decorating in 2004 with just a little bit of decorations," said Darlynn Allen. "Then each year it just a little bit bigger and bigger. Then when our kids got older and didn't want to trick or treat

they loved to dress up and help give out candy,

my two sons would try and scare people, and my daughter dress up as Ariel from the little mermaid and the girls

just loved her." Darlynn also said that now this year her son's children

after they get done trick or treating on Halloween that they want to come and try and spook the trick or treaters just like Kirk and Darlynn's children did.

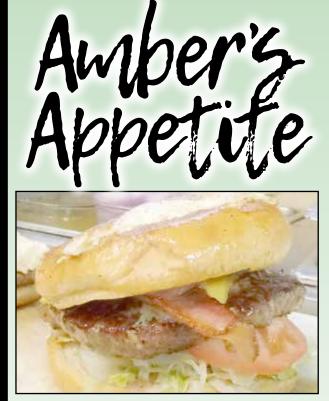

BIG HERALD

"It was so amazing because on Saturday, Oct. 6 was the only day we all could get together to decorate we battled the wind the whole time. But as soon as we were done, I don't know if you saw them, there were this crazy amount of butterflies that came through town and went right over and in the yard," said Darylnn. "I took it as a good sign that Kirk was proud of us." Stop by and see the Allen house on Halloween and get some treats and maybe a few tricks., at 1404 Runnels.

Kirk's love for Halloween and commitment to making others smile during this holiday inadvertently started a tradition, even though for a while, that will last through memories of his family and all those who can remember that over the top house decorated for Halloween on Runnels Street.

The other day while I was driving, I saw something written on a window that peaked my interest... the "Champ" burger. Now everybody knows a champion is the best, the winner, the top dog, so you best believe I had to find out what made this burger a champ. As it turns out, the Champ burger is literally the champ.

Chef Al won the local West Texas Burger Battle for his winning Burger. It has double meat, pepper jack cheese, hatch green chiles, bacon, and the best part, a fried egg that rests in a hole cut out of the middle of the burger. May I present to you fellow Big Springers...the Champ burger.

The Champ burger can be found at Terry's Retro Drive In.

Forty years ago, Nick Castle, a William Shatner mask, and a creepy, repetitive piano theme gave the world the granddaddy of all slasher horror films (that is, son of the great-granddaddy of all slasher films "The Texas Chainsaw Massacre") – "Halloween."

This weekend, the latest sequel to the franchise featuring insane slasher Michael Myers (not Mike Myers, he just married an axe murderer) is out, and it's a pretty cool homage to the original film. One nice bit of awesome: Not only is Jamie Lee Curtis reprising her role as 1978's sole survivor Laurie Strode; but two of the original actors who portrayed the killer himself - Castle, who plays the masked "Shape" version of Michael Myers; and Tony Moran, who plays the unmasked killer (who you don't see that much are in the new movie. Castle only reprises his role in one scene; James Jude Courtney does the heavy lifting in the Michael Myers role in the new movie.

Just like in real life, it's 40 years later in Haddonfield, Illinois. Podcast journalists (think "Serial") Aaron (Jefferson Hall) and Dana (Rhian Rees) are using the anniversary as an excuse to attempt to interview Michael Myers and others connected with "the Babysitter Murders" 40 years ago. They travel to Smiths Grove Sanitarium, where they meet Dr. Ranbir Sartain (Haluk Bilginer), Myers' new psychiatrist following the death of Dr. Loomis. After they unsuccessfully try to provoke the killer to speak, the opening credits roll.

For fans of the original Halloween film, the opening credits are amazing. In the 1978 movie, the opening credits flash on the screen in an orange gothic font, flanked by a flickering candlelit Jack-o'-Lantern. Distinctively, a thin diagonal cut connects the 'Lantern's nose hole to its mouth hole. The new movie flashes its credits in the same color and font, starting next to a pile of decayed mush. As the credits roll, the Jack-o'-Lantern slowly undecomposes (recomposes?) and reforms into a very similar carved > pumpkin, complete with candle and nose/ mouth cut. Very cool.

After the credits, we meet some of the other characters: Laurie's granddaughter Allyson Strode (Andi Matichak); Laurie's daughter and Allyson's Roger mother Karen (Judy Greer); Allyson's dad Ray (Toby Huss); Allyson's boyfriend Cameron Elam (son of Lonnie Elam from the first film - Dylan Arnold); best friend Vicky (Virginia Gardner), Vicky's boyfriend Dave (Miles Robbins), Oscar (Drew Scheid), Cameron's best friend; and, stealing the show from a comedy perspective, Julian (Jibrail Nantambu), a little boy that Vicky babysits. 1978 "Halloween" veteran P.J. Soles (who played Lynda) has a cameo as a teacher.

Anyway, on the day before Halloween 2018, Michael is being transferred from Smith's Grove to a maximum security prison when the bus crashes and Michael escapes. He wanders into Haddonfield just in time for Halloween.

I won't spoil any more for you than I already have. One interesting thing to look for in this new "Halloween" is scenes that mirror scenes from the original. There are quite a few. The movie also works to portray Laurie and Michael as mirror images of each other, which is an interesting twist. 2018 "Halloween," of course, does stoop to a few cheap jump scares, as do most horror movies these days, but they're not egregious. The movie does feel like a return to old school slasher horror done right. I'm giving the new "Halloween" eight stars out of 10.

Northeast Texas man writes of fun, fears in autobiography

By NEIL ABELES

Texarkana Gazette

AVINGER, Texas (AP) — Roger Geiger of the community of Eagle Landing has accomplished a task that is rare, especially for a first-time author.

The Texarkana Gazette reports he's written a book about his own life that is hard to put down.

For example, here is the first line of the opening chapter from his autobiography, "Face the Bear":

such a varied life that continues today at the Geiger home in Eagle Landing. He volunteers with the Texas Ramp Project, which builds wheelchair ramps for those who can't afford them. He also is a member of the Caddo Basin chapter of Texas Master Naturalists and is president of the International Organic Trout Anglers Association.

"That last is a pretty much a tongue-in-cheek organization for a handful of guys who like to fish for the rest of my life. Let the bear find fun on his own. I've got a future to open."

In lighter moments of the book, Geiger tells of the best definition of why he fishes. In all of his world travels, its heights of spectacle and despair, he returns home to woods, wilderness and water. It's likely all fishing enthusiasts would concur.

The book itself, Geiger said, is another example of how he "faced the bear."

CLINE

"For as long as I live, you could blindfold me, toss me on a plane, throw me out in that town, and I'd know I'm in Dakar."

That's the capital and largest city of Senegal, the westernmost city of Africa. How did this Northeast Texan get there?

And that's the secret of this book. Geiger takes vou with him on his autobiographical journey.

At the recent Avinger Wine Festival, Geiger had a vendor's table, displaying his book. There he said of his life, "I've had a very event-filled life. Lot of travel around the world. Lot of tragedies. My book is about my transitioning to something like wisdom. How I survived. How I faced the bear."

And with that intriguing title, he tells of his adventures full of love and life.

As examples, he has tells of the following:

- Making and exploding gunpowder as a young boy.

- While with an oceanography college in Florida, seeing a missile come from under the water and break the surface into the sky. Probably from a Port Canaveral submarine, he theorizes.

Battling the North Sea off the Shetland Islands on board a research vessel in foul weather when water sweeps him into the sea for a moment.

- As a 24-year-old and with alcohol involved, outrunning a Saudi Arabian army checkpoint across the desert late at night.

- Guiding the lost leader and a mentally-challenged youth group across five lakes and rugged portages in woods of Northern Ontario.

— Finding a girl from Hughes Springs, Texas, he called "Parker" because, being a Yankee, he was unfamiliar with "Jerre." as a girl's name. He accompanied her to the marriage altar, however, 38 years ago.

 And, at the book's conclusion, an event, which won't be revealed here because of its impact, that is every father's dread.

It should be evident that this is not a typical autobiography. It's written with an open style that offers opportunities for the reader to put himself alongside the author.

"Yes, I've been there, done that," the reader says. And it's not a bit pretentious. Whoever edited this writer allowed Geiger to write as if he were thinking out loud.

Geiger came to Eagle Lake in retirement by following his Hughes Springs bride, Jerre Lynn Parker Geiger. He had worked in the Texas public school system for 20 years in Forney, Texas.

He'd been raised in Toronto, Canada, and had trout with bait. It's not very big or serious," he said.

More locally, he is a leader with the Eagle Landing Homeowners Association, the governing body that takes care of the lake and airfield runway.

"I'm actually chair of the Simpson Lake committee. We have to test and try to make sure the lake environment stays healthy," he said.

And now he also is a published author. Of the book's tile, "Face the Bear," one needs an explanation.

It means, when one is in dilemma, turn and face that difficulty. The bear's role in this actually occurred to Geiger's father. As a child fishing with his father in northern Ontario, the two had come upon a brown bear. His father faced it and chased it off.

The same happened to Geiger himself another time. He had a bear to face. He learned in instances of life, love, health, danger and tests of character, a person must face one's fear and, whenever possible, turn the threatening situation into an opportunity.

Yet, there was one time he could not. Geiger fully tells of a darkest moment and writes, "I grasped the futility of looking back to face the bear dancing behind me."

Still, he comes to know that the bear was always going to be present.

"And I didn't want him to leave," Geiger finally says. "Clearly my only goal should be that of living

"I never set out to be an adventurer. But those I've told some of my adventures to have said, 'Write a book.' So this opportunity presented itself. I haven't had an adventure in a while, and I suspect I'm overdue. Time to face the bear."

The handheld device of trader Robert Oswald is reflected in his glasses as he works on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange, Friday, Oct. 19, 2018. Strong earnings are sending U.S. stocks higher Friday at the end of a choppy week of trading.

By MARLEY JAY

AP Markets Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. stocks gave up an early rally Friday and are bouncing between small gains and losses in late afternoon trading, capping a week of unusually choppy trading.

Consumer products maker Procter & Gamble is on pace for its biggest gain in 10 years after reporting strong sales of beauty products in its latest quarter. Retailers are down and smaller companies dropped again after a report showed U.S. home sales fell for the six month in a row.

While stocks are on track to finish the week slightly higher, most of the market's recent gains have been swiftly followed by losses. The S&P 500 hasn't risen two days in a row since Sept. 20, the last day of a three-day string of gains. That was also the day of the benchmark index's most recent record high. It's down 5.6 percent since then.

KEEPING SCORE: The S&P 500 index lost 2 points, or 0.1 percent, to 2,765 at 3:05 p.m. after it fell 1.4 percent on Thursday. The Dow Jones Industrial Average gave up most of an early gain. It jumped as much as 229 points early on but in afternoon trading it was up 36 points, or 0.1 percent, to 25,415.

The S&P 500 has fallen for three weeks in a row, but is on track to rise 0.1 percent this week.

The Nasdaq composite sagged 38 points, or 0.5 percent, to 7,446.

The Russell 2000 index of smallercompany stocks lost 19 points, or 1.2 percent, to 1,541. The Russell 2000 is at its lowest in almost six months as investors worry that the U.S. economy could slow and interest rates could rise, a bigger challenge for smaller companies.

LOOKING GOOD: The world's largest consumer products maker is on track for its biggest gain in a decade. Procter & Gamble said sales of fabric and home care products edged higher in its latest quarter while beauty products revenue jumped 20 percent. The maker of Tide detergent, Pampers diapers and Gillette razors posted a bigger profit than analysts expected and its stock added 8.6 percent to $87.15.

HONEYWELL SOURS: Aerospace and building components maker Honeywell lagged the rest of the market. It posted a bigger profit than analysts expected, but it also said it is seeing more signs of inflation in its business as a result of the tariffs the U.S. and China have placed on imported goods. Honeywell slid 0.8 percent to $153.93. Industrial companies have skidded recently as investors worried about the results of those trade tensions.

THE QUOTE: After an early rally, the market settled back into its usual pattern from the last two weeks, as companies that depend on economic growth struggled and those with more "defensive" qualities did better. That's happened as investors worried about a few threats to growth: rising interest rates, trade tensions between the U.S. and China, and this week, some sluggish reports from the housing sector.

"We don't see too many other yellow or red flags right now, but that's certainly one of them," said Mona Mahajan, U.S. investment strategist for Allianz Global Investors. Mahajan said that company earnings aren't doing much for the stock market right now because investors know the next two quarters should be strong, and they're concerned that growth in 2019 will be worse than expected.

Big technology and consumer-focused stocks were mixed. Apple rose 1.4 percent to $219.12 while Amazon fell 0.6 percent to $1,760.69. Among household goods makers, Pepsi rose 2.2 percent to $110.32 and Coca-Cola added 1.7 percent to $46.40. Electric utility Duke Energy rose 2 percent to $82.91.

BONDS: Bond prices slipped. The yield on the 10-year Treasury note rose to 3.19 percent from 3.17 percent.

ASIA: China said economic growth sank to a post-financial crisis low of 6.5 percent in the third quarter. Chinese finance officials launched a media blitz to shore up confidence in the country's sagging stock market. China's economy has gradually

What's at stake if investors begin to shun Saudi Arabia

A man enters Saudi Arabia's consulate in Istanbul, Friday, Oct. 19, 2018. A Turkish official said Friday that investigators are looking into the possibility that the remains of missing Saudi journalist Jamal Khashoggi may have been taken to a forest in the outskirts of Istanbul or to another city — if and after he was killed inside the consulate earlier this month.

By DAVID McHUGH

AP Business Writer FRANKFURT.

Germany (AP) — The disappearance of a Saudi journalist last seen entering the kingdom's consulate in Istanbul has shaken confidence in the country as a place to do business, with potential consequences for billions of dollars in investments going into and out of the country.

It's a blow, analysts say, to efforts by Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman to convince the world that the country is a reputable place to strike the deals needed to power a wide-ranging transformation of the economy.

As allegations emerge that Jamal Khashoggi was gruesomely murdered, political pressure to isolate Saudi Arabia is increasing.

Here is a look at the Saudi leader's economic plans and what is at stake if business leaders begin to shun the country.

Q: Why does Prince Mohammed need foreign investors?

A: The crown prince wants to diversify the economy away from oil and transform its business and political model. For years, oil revenues paid for plenty of government sector jobs and benefits. That model has come under strain amid a growing population and a period of low oil prices.

The prince's Vision 2030 strategy foresees the creation of a vibrant private sector. As part of that, he wants to develop new industries like alternative energy, tourism entertainment. Projand ects include a new business zone near the Red Sea called NEOM that would focus on advanced manufacturing, renewable energy, artificial intelligence, and biotechnology.

Saudi Arabia has its own companies in more traditional fields like construction, which would get a lot of that investment. But the country would need technology, expertise and financing from outside to carry out Prince Mohammed's ideas. He wants, for instance, to have his Public Investment Fund — the state-backed investment vehicle — raise more money by selling a stake in chemicals company SABIC to state oil firm Saudi Aramco. Analysts say Saudi Aramco would likely have to borrow to make the deal happen. The PIF itself has already borrowed $11 billion from international banks.

in-"Foreign vestment is a main pillar of Vision 2030," said Sebastian Sons, an expert on Saudi Arabia at the German Council on Foreign Relations. "The old tradition is on the brink. Diversification of the economy is strongly needed and Vision 2030 is the strategy for that.'

Q: How would the Khashoggi disappearance affect that?

A: Foreign investors already had doubts about the country amid regional conflicts like a blockade of neighbor Qatar and a brutal war rebels against in Yemen. Saudi Arabia ranks 92nd out of 190 countries on the World Bank's ease of doing business index, which measures things like ability to enforce contracts and get goods in and out of the country. Another cloud was cast over the business environment when Prince Mohammed locked up several dozen members of the Saudi elite in Riyadh's Ritz-Carlton hotel and seized what the country's attorney general said was more than $100 billion in assets.

The Khashoggi scandal comes at a time when "the private sector is cowed and hurting in many ways," said David Butter, an analyst with the Middle East and North Africa program at the Royal Institute of International Affairs in London.

The hotel incident shows that "they don't know if their assets are safe from sequestration." And grisly details reported in news media about Khashoggi's alleged killing "are just going to make the private sector even more worried," he said.

The war in Yemen has led to horrors such as an air strike by the Saudi-led coalition that killed 40 children, but the Khashoggi incident is harder to play down as a regrettable mishap of war. Butter said Prince Mohammed's image as the "face of future reform is now much more difficult to sustain."

Turkish authorities say Khashoggi was killed. The Saudis have denied involvement.

Q: Are people losing faith in Saudi Arabia as a business destination?

A: Foreign business and political leaders are dropping out of next week's Future Investment Initiative, an annual event started last year to showcase the country as a place to do business. Among those cancelling are U.S. Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin, JPMorgan CEO Jamie Dimon, Ford Motor Co. Chairman Bill Ford and Uber CEO Dara Khosrowshahi.

Sons of the German Council on Foreign Relations, said the no-shows "are a serious indicator for Mohammed bin Salman that he is losing trust, that Saudi Arabia is not seen as the ideal place to invest."

Q: Why are the Saudis investing abroad as well?

A: They've been buying stakes mainly in technology firms to diversify their revenue and show the country as forward-looking and techfriendly place.

The sovereign fund has invested $3.5 billion in Uber, for example. It has pledged $45 billion for the SoftBank Vision Fund, a private equity fund that has taken stakes in

See SAUDI, Page 11C

President Donald Trump led to higher tariffs. The Chinese government tightened controls on lending last year to rein in a debt boom, but that, too, has affected the economy.

Hong Kong's Hang Seng rose 0.4 percent Seoul's Kospi added 0.4 percent. Tokyo's Nikkei 225 shed 0.6 percent.

EUROPE: Germany's DAX lost 0.3 dispute between Beijing and U.S. percent. London's FTSE 100 gained 0.3 percent and the FTSE MIB was little changed. Tensions between European Union officials and Italy's new government sent Italian stocks and government bond prices lower Thursday. Italian bond prices turned higher Friday and yields slipped.

ENERGY: Benchmark U.S. crude slowed for years, even before a trade percent and France's CAC 40 sank 0.6 rose 0.7 percent to $69.12 per barrel in to $1,228.70 an ounce. Silver rose 0.3 New York, Brent crude, used to price percent to $14.65 an ounce. Copper international oils, gained 0.6 percent to $79.78 a barrel in London. Wholesale gasoline rose 1.2 percent to $1.91 a gallon. Heating oil inched up 0.3 percent to $2.30 a gallon. Natural gas added 1.6 percent to $3.25 per 1,000 cubic feet.

METALS: Gold dipped 0.1 percent gained 1.1 percent to $2.78 a pound.

CURRENCY: The dollar rose to 112.58 yen from 112.20 yen. The euro rose to $1.1513 from $1.1465.

This question sometimes leads to improvement, sometimes survival, sometimes exhaustion and decline. Be mindful of your energy levels, and take that into consideration as you strive for improvement. There's a time to push and a time to pull back. Accept stress levels that are appropriate and healthful, and avoid levels that are relentless and anxiety provoking.

Declarer sometimes finds he has all the tricks he needs to make the contract and yet can't cash them because of insufficient communication between his own hand and dummy's. Entry problems of this sort may be impossible to solve in a particular hand, but there are times when a little ingenuity can provide the right answer

Take this case where South was in four hearts and West led two top clubs, East discarding a diamond on the second one. West then made the Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

best play of a low club, which East ruffed and South overruffed. At this point, declarer thought he would make the contract without difficulty, since he appeared to have 10 tricks consisting of five hearts, four spades and a diamond. But when he played the ace of hearts and East showed out, cashing all 10 tricks suddenly became a serious problem.

Declarer realized that if he drew the remaining trumps first, he would not be able to get back to his hand to cash the jack of spades, and if he attempted to cash the A-K-Q of spades first, it was virtually certain that West would trump one of them. Faced with this dilemma, South came up with an unusual solution that salvaged the contract. He decided to play East for the king of diamonds because it was improbable that West would have passed originally with the A-K-Q-10-3 of clubs and the diamond king

Accordingly, South drew three more rounds of trump and discarded dummy's ace of diamonds on the last one! He then cashed the A-K-Q of spades, reducing his hand to the jack of spades and Q-3 of diamonds.

When he next led the ten of diamonds from dummy, East was without recourse. He won the trick with his king, but then had to concede the last two tricks to South's jack of spades and queen of diamonds.

"This incentive will foster economic revitalization and promote sustainable economic growth," Mnuchin said in a statement.

But some critics say the new rules and the way the program is set up will benefit real estate developers and Wall Street funds, and will pull investment toward more well-off areas that need it least.

"The real estate industry is completely excited and mobilized about this, and now is getting paid through massive tax cuts," said Timothy Weaver, a professor at the State University of New York in Albany who has studied similar development programs.

He said the program "doesn't have anyway."

Under the rules, the investments are open to individuals, corporations, partnerships and real estate investment parlor, for example. Participants can take their profits from unrelated investments and plow them into an opportunity zone fund, avoiding paying taxes on those gains until the end of 2026. Depending on how many years they hold the investment, they can reduce their eventual tax bill by up to 15 percent.

Investments within the zones held for 10 years or more are entirely free of capital gains taxes.

A new rule sets up a 70-30 split for determining if certain businesses are eligible for the tax break. Provided that at least 70 percent of a business's "tangible" property sits within a zone, it is considered eligible even if the rest is outside the zone. An example would be individual locations of a restaurant chain, some inside and some outside.

With 30 percent of the properties allowed outside the zones, many of the new jobs could come in already booming areas, Weaver suggested. Conventional economic development programs generally require all of a business's property to be within the affected area, he said.

Brett Theodos, principal research associate at the Urban Institute, estimates that only about 10 to 15 percent of the zones will attract investment, and that around 10 percent could get 90 percent of the money invested.

The 8,761 census tracts — in every state, the District of Columbia and five U.S. territories – now officially beckoning to investors as opportunity zones encompass some 35 million people. Based on Census data, the zones have an average poverty rate of about 32 percent, compared with the national average of 17 percent.

Governors in the states and territories put forward their choices for areas to become special development zones. Every choice – 100 percent of the areas proposed — was blessed by the Treasury Department after a four-month review.

The choices "indicate only minimal targeting of the program toward disadvantaged communities with lesser access to capital," Theodos wrote in a research paper.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. Christian artist Tauren Wells won four awards including new artist and contemporary Christian artist of the year at the 49th annual Gospel Music Association's Dove Awards.

Wells, who was the former lead singer for Christian rock group Royal Tailor, performed "Known" from his solo debut album. "Hills and Valleys," during Tuesday's award show from Lipscomb University in Nashville, Tennessee.

Wells also won awards for pop/contemporary album of the year and also got an award for being a "While it's great to pose for all these pictures and getting to hold all these trophies, this doesn't matter as much as what is happening inside our hearts," Wells said.

Cory Asbury, a worship pastor in Kalamazoo, Michigan, rode the success of his No. 1 Christian single "Reckless Love" to three awards for song of the year, worship song of the year and worship album of the year. He said the song has connected to a lot of people through church services and on the radio.

Sela Ward had wanted to return to New York. She just didn't know "FBI" would get her there.

The two-time Emmy winner is back in a CBS crime procedural, after her stint on "CSI: NY," with the new Tuesday drama from "Law & Order" mentor Dick Wolf. She hadn't been cast as the chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's New York field office originally, but she joined the show in Episode 2 as Dana Mosier, who's in charge of agents played by Missy Peregrym and Jeremy Sisto, among others.

"It's nice to have the heavy load on younger ones," the pleasant Ward muses. "I'm really enjoying it, and I'm just so happy to be rooted in New York. I've been trying to get back there for years, and this gives me a real purpose for being there. I scoot back (to home in Mississippi) to recharge my engines, though. It's my little slice of heaven.'

Admitting that she's "still finding" her new character, Ward maintains that's "the real challenge when you're doing these crime-procedural shows. That's not inherent to the formula, so as an actor, you're always fighting for nonverbal ways to tell the audience something about these people. I'm still working on that.'

Ward also made an impact last season on "Westworld," and while it might appear to its viewers that her work is done there, October 21 - 27, 2018 her "FBI" schedule lets her be available if the HBO series should need her services again.

"I made sure of that at the beginning," Ward confirms. "I really like the character work in that show, and it's so out-of-thebox creatively, I have great respect for it. And I love being part of it."

tasty tv 'A Chef's Life: The Final Harvest' caps five seasons for award-winning PBS docuseries

Just as the growing season is ending in much of the United States, so is the run of PBS' "A Chef's Life" - and its makers intend to send it out in a blaze of Southern Airing Monday, Oct. 22 (check local listings), the hourlong special titled appropriately enough "A Chef's Life: The Final Harvest" follows chef and restaurateur Vivian Howard and husband Ben Knight as they host a harvest dinner of epic proportions in a cornfield adjacent to their Deep Run, N.C., home, joined by children Theo and Flo, Howard's parents John and Scarlett, farmers Miss Lillie Hardy and Warren Brothers, and staff of their nearby Kinston restaurant Chef & the Farmer, as all writing had no title and no firm premiere Award-winning series.

"We've done something really fun with the primary cast of characters that have shown up many times over the years ...," Howard notes. "They all have little segments where they talk about their experience on the show, and there's some fun flashback sequences with all of them." Also on tap are a handful of bucket list items that Howard has always wanted to tackle on the series, including a harvest favorite that some refer to as "Southern kimchi ⁱ

"It's called chow chow," Howard explains, "and chow chow is a relish that is historically made from what's left in your garden at the end of the growing season. So that would often be things like green tomatoes - because the tomatoes won't ripen because of the shorter length of the day with less sunlight. Cabbage. Peppers, which are always hanging in a garden until the garden is plowed up. So those would be the quintessential ingredients in chow chow. And chow chow is a relish that we put on a lot of rich foods here in the South to kind of balance them.'

Even as "A Chef's Life" is ending, Howard is hard at work on a series that at this mark the end of summer and celebrate five date, with each episode focusing on a single seasons of the Daytime Emmy and Peabody dish that transcends cultures, be it a broth, a dumpling or a way of cooking greens.

"In this series, I learn from friends of mine who live in and around the South .. who are of different cultures," she says. "Some of them are immigrants. I study and learn from a Native American tribe, the Lumbee Indians. I spend some time on Edisto Island (S.C.) with a Geechee Gullah cook. So we're learning from the different voices from the South that we haven't always heard from. And the hope is to show us how we're all more alike than we are different through the foods that we share."
