During its meeting Tuesday evening, the Big Spring City Council plans to hear proposals to advertise for bids on three city projects; and vote on whether to award a bid for trash containers.

The meeting will be at 5:30 Tuesday in the City Council Chambers, 307 E. Fourth St.

The three proposed bid advertisements are for an irrigation improvement project at the Municipal Golf Course, for the annual street maintenance seal coat project, and for a project to rehabilitate the Beals Creek channel.

According to the meeting's agenda, the current budget allocates $250,000 for "golf course improvements (ex. install control panel with central control system; line pond #7; plant

Spreading thankfulness

By AMBER MANSFIELD

Thanksgiving is a time known for being thankful, and of course all of the food, but what about those who may not get the opportunity to have a turkey meal with their family and friends like the majority of others do? Well for those who may not have a hot meal prepared for them this Thanksgiving, Big Spring Center for Skilled Care (BSCSC) along with P.J. Dominguez, League of United Latin America Citizens, will open its arms to the community for their annual residents, and Jackie Nichols is a Howard County resident.

CASA of West Texas serves children from seven West Texas counties including Midland, Glasscock, Martin, Howard, Dawson, Gaines and Andrews.

After the swearing in, these new CASAs will join the other volunteers in advocating for foster children in the Child Protective Court System. As an officer of the court, they will ensure that the children's needs are recognized and best interests are considered both in the courtroom and in the community.

CASA volunteers are asked to meet with the child regularly and are authorized to interview people in the child's life such as social workers, attorneys, caretakers and teachers. They attend court hearings with the child and report their findings and recommendations to the judge.

"Our volunteers pledge to stay with each child until the case is closed, and the child is placed in a safe, permanent home," said Patty Pisklak, Executive Director of CASA of West Texas. "The advocate is often the only consistent adult presence in the child's life."

"With about 500 children in foster care from the seven counties we serve, there are many more advocates needed," said Pisklak.

There are no prerequisites for becoming a CASA volunteer other than being at least 21 years of age, clearing an extensive background screening and successfully completing 30 hours of training.

If you are interested in learning more about becoming a CASA Volunteer and the rewards that come along with serving as the voice of a child, please visit www.CASAWTX.org.

CASA of West Texas is a member of the National CASA Association, a network of more than 900 CASA programs serving children in 49 states and Washington DC.

10 Things to Know for Today

By The Associated Press

Your daily look at late-breaking news, upcoming events and the stories that will be talked about today:

1. CALIFORNIA WILDFIRES MATCH RECORD

Six more are dead in a swath of Northern California wiped out by fire, raising the death toll to 29 — matching the state's record for deaths in a single fire.

2. WITH MIDTERMS OVER, AN EYE TOWARD 2020

Unresolved races for governor in Georgia and Florida are raising strategic questions for Democrats as they turn their attention to the upcoming battle for the White House.

3. WHAT IS REVIVING MEMORIES OF 2000 IN FLORIDA

Mishaps, protests and litigation are overshadowing the vote recount in Florida's pivotal races for governor and U.S. Senate.

4. WHERE THERE'S A REAL STRUGGLE FOR POWER

North Korea is plagued by chronic power blackouts and energy options cobbled together by Kim Jong Un that are off the official grid and some flat-out illegal.

5. FRENCH LEADER WARNS AGAINST 'ANCIENT DEMONS'

With Trump and other leaders looking on, Emmanuel Macron takes on the rising tide of populism in the U.S. and Europe and urges leaders not to turn their backs by turning inward.

6. FAVORITES FOR AMAZON HEADQUARTERS VASTLY DIFFERENT

Crystal City, Virginia, is a thicket of 1980s-era office towers seeking new economic energy and Long Island City in New York is cultivating a new image as a hub for technology and arts.

7. WHO CALLED CALIFORNIA GUNMAN 'SADISTIC'

Evie Cluke coached Ian David Long on the high school track team a decade ago and she tells AP he constantly lost his temper and she witnessed him assault a fellow coach.

8. TRAINING KIDS TO

KILL AT UKRAINIAN NATIONALIST CAMP

Radical nationalists are teaching kids how to use assault rifles to kill Russians and their sympathizers and being taught to deride LGBT rights, AP learns.

9. MOVE MORE, SIT LESS, START YOUNGER

New federal guidelines on exercise advise starting sooner to get children active to avoid health problems later in life.

10. 'ALL OF US NEED TO LOOK IN THE MIRROR'

That was Eagles coach Doug Pederson after Dallas' Ezekiel Elliott ran for 151 yards and the go-ahead touchdown in the Cowboys' 27-20 win over the defending Super Bowl champions.

Grim search for more fire victims, 31 dead across California

PARADISE, Calif. (AP) — As wildfires raged at both ends of California, officials released another grim statistic: Six more dead in a swath of Northern California wiped out by fire, raising the death toll there to 29. It matched California's record for deaths in a single fire and brought the statewide total to 31 as authorities stepped up searches for bodies and missing people.

Another 228 remain unaccounted for. Two people were killed in a wildfire in Southern California.

Ten search teams were working in Paradise — a town of 27,000 that was largely incinerated last week — and in surrounding communities in the Sierra Nevada foothills. Authorities called in a DNA lab and teams of anthropologists to help identify victims.

Statewide, 150,000 remained displaced as more than 8,000 fire crews battled wildfires that have scorched 400 square miles (1,040 square kilometers), with out-of-state crews continuing to arrive. Whipping winds and tinder-dry conditions threaten more areas through the rest of the week, fire officials warned.

"This is truly a tragedy that all Californians can understand and respond to," Gov. Jerry Brown told reporters. "It's a time to pull together and work through these tragedies."

Brown, who has declared a state of emergency, said California is requesting aid from the Trump administration. President Donald Trump has blamed "poor" forest management for the fires. Brown said federal and state governments must do more forest management but that climate change is the greater source of the problem.

"And those who deny that are definitely contributing to the tragedies that we're now witnessing, and will continue to witness in the coming years," he said.

Drought and warmer weather attributed to climate change, and the building of homes deeper into forests have led to longer and more destructive wildfire seasons in California. While California officially emerged from a five-year drought last year, much of the northern two-thirds of the state is abnormally dry.

Firefighters battling fire with shovels and bulldozers, flame retardant and hoses expected wind gusts up to 40 mph (64 kph) overnight Sunday.

In Southern California, firefighters beat back a new round of winds Sunday and the fire's growth and destruction are believed to have been largely stopped. Malibu celebrities and mobile-home dwellers in nearby mountains were slowly learning whether their homes had been spared or reduced to ash. Two people were killed and the fire had destroyed nearly 180 structures.

Los Angeles County Fire Chief Daryl Osby stressed there were numerous hotspots and plenty of fuel that had not yet burned, but at sunset he said there had been huge successes despite "a very challenging day."

Celebrities whose coastal homes were damaged or destroyed in a Southern California wildfire or were forced to flee from the flames expressed sympathy and solidarity with less-famous people hurt worse by the state's deadly blazes, and gave their gratitude to firefighters who kept them safe. Actor Gerard Butler said on Instagram that his Malibu home was "half-gone," adding he was "inspired as ever by the courage, spirit and sacrifice of firefighters."

new trees with irrigation)." The agenda item indicates that Golf Course Consultant Mike Painter will provide specifications and bid recommendations.

The budget also allocates $500,000 for the annual seal coat project. The agenda indicates that Jacob and Martins engineering firm will provide specifications, bid documents and recommendations. In addition, the plan is for the city crews to work closely with the Howard County seal coat program to receive a reduced price on the seal coat projects for the two entities.

Beals Creek was inspected by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in July, and the inspection revealed several deficiencies that need to be addressed before its next inspection in July of 2019. In order to pass the 2019 inspection, the city must at least restore the original channel construction of Beals Creek, and develop a five-year maintenance plan for the waterway.

City staff plan to recommend awarding a bid for 216 three-yard trash containers to Roll-Offs USA of Dumont, Okla. The company submitted the low bid for the containers out of four bids received: $530.33 per container for a total of $114,552 total. The Roll-Offs USA bid was almost $130 less per container than the second-lowest bid: $660.11 by Box Gang Manufacturing of Houston, for a total bid of $142,584.

In other business, the council will conduct two public hearings on zoning issues at the start of the meeting, preceding votes on the proposed zone changes later in the meeting.

The first proposed change is from "Neighborhood Service" to "Light Commercial" at the intersection of Wasson Road and West FM 700, more specifically Lot 14, Block 1 of the Thorp Addition. The second proposed change is from "Single-Family (SF-2)" to "Multi-Family Residential." The property involved is Lots 7 through 11, Block 18, Cedar Crest Addition.

The Council will also:

- Present the November Star Employee award to Frank Rodriguez and Robert Diaz.

- Revisit a proposal to make a donation to the Northside Movement, this time with the stated purpose of restoration of the historic St. Thomas Church located at the intersection of North Runnels and Northeast Seventh Street. The proposed donation amount is $10,000, which is not included in the current budget and would require a budget amendment. The money would pay for the church's two front doors and three light fixtures.

- Consider allowing the Big Spring Fire Department to apply for a FEMA SAFER grant, which would be used for hiring nine additional firefighters for the city.

- Consider ordinances which would provide for prorating residential and commercial solid waste collection fees for new accounts, and prorating base water and wastewater rates for new accounts.

Thanksgiving Feast, scheduled for Thursday, November 14.

"It really is just an immense amount of work, and it has had to be done in a fairly short period of time," Christy Brownfield of BSCSC said. "We could still use some sponsors to help us with our Thanksgiving Feast."

The Thanksgiving Feast is a free meal for the elderly, for veterans, and also for those who are in need. Brownfield expressed that this could not be put on without the help of generous sponsors.

"We believe that everyone should get a good meal on Thanksgiving, and we can't do it without the help from sponsors and volunteers" said Brownfield. "Those who help sponsor will get their name on the Feast Banner, and will get a thanks from us on the radio and other forms of media. This is such a worthy cause to give back, and for us to know that we all have a reason to be thankful, and to share it with others."

The Thanksgiving Feast is slated for Thursday, November 14 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Ryan Hall, located at 605 N. Main. There will be delivery and pick up available. RSVP to PJ Dominguez to get your order in today by calling 432-816-4997. They will be serving while supplies last.

"It's unfortunate that some don't have the means to be able to enjoy a turkey meal, but that's why we try and host events like this so that others know that they live in a world that cares," said Brownfield. "If anyone would be interested in sponsoring,

Veterans Day marked across Texas with parades, ceremonies

Matthew Marcoux, 10, salutes as he watches the parade at the Houston Salutes American Heroes Veterans Day Celebration Sunday, Nov. 11, 2018, in Houston honoring the 100th Anniversary of the signing of the World War I Armistice.

HOUSTON (AP) — Communities across Texas are hosting parades and appreciation ceremonies for Veterans Day.

Houston held a celebration Sunday outside City Hall that included a health fair. A patriotic-theme parade was also part of Veterans Day activities in Houston.

Mayor Sylvester Turner used a Facebook posting to urge people to thank veterans. Turner says Houston is home to more than 200,000 veterans and their families.

The Greater Dallas Veterans Day Parade scheduled for Monday has been canceled due to the threat of severe weather, including possible heavy rain and freezing temperatures.

American Legion Post 15 in Lindale, 75 miles (120.7 kilometers) southeast of Dallas, held a ceremony Saturday featuring U.S. flags and speakers. Amarillo held a parade Saturday to honor veterans.

A wreath-laying ceremony was Saturday at the Alamo in San Antonio.

Texas deputy shot in face during standoff out of hospital

LA GRANGE, Texas (AP) — A Texas deputy who investigators say was shot in the face by a suspect while trying to serve a warrant has been discharged from an Austin hospital.

An ambulance carrying Fayette County sheriff's Deputy Calvin "CJ" Lehmann was escorted to his home Saturday by other officers.

Lehmann was critically injured Nov. 1 during a standoff in La Grange, 70 miles (113 kilometers) southeast of Austin. Authorities say Lehmann was shot while helping serve a warrant on a man charged with failure to register as a sex offender.

Officials say Lehmann has lost vision in his left eye. Further details weren't released.

The suspect, who surrendered after about three hours, was charged with aggravated assault on a public servant.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Office is accepting donations for the wounded deputy.

9-year-old Texas girl wins toy invention contest

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A nine-year-old Texas girl will have the chance to pitch her toy idea at the next American International Toy Fair after winning a contest.

Fat Brain Toys says that Emma Turner of Marble Falls, Texas, won its annual toy invention contest with her idea for a lighted box that attracts bugs.

Emma will also receive a $2,500 scholarship and a collection of prizes worth $500 from the Omaha-based toy retailer.

The winner was chosen by a panel of toy industry veterans after an online vote helped pick the finalists.

Services held for Texas newlyweds killed in helicopter crash

UVALDE, Texas (AP) — Services have been held for Texas newlyweds who died when the helicopter transporting them to an airport to start their honeymoon crashed into a rugged hill.

The crash happened just hours after William Troy Byler and Bailee Raye Ackerman Byler, both 24, exchanged vows Nov. 3 at the Byler family ranch near Uvalde.

The newlyweds were bound San Antonio International Airport when the chopper crashed about 15 miles (24 kilometers) from the departure site. The pilot also died.

A service was held Thursday in Vidor (VY-dur), 15 miles from Orangefield, where the bride was from. A second service was Friday in Bellville, where the groom has family. Plans also included a graveside service at the Byler family cemetery at the ranch.

Investigators are trying to determine what caused the crash.

It's a girl for model Kate Upton, Astro Justin Verlander

HOUSTON (AP) — It's a girl for supermodel Kate Upton and her husband Houston Astros pitcher Justin Verlander.

Upton used her Instagram site to announce the birth of the couple's first child — Genevieve Upton Verlander — and the date Nov. 7. The site features a black-and-white photo of an infant with her hand to her mouth.

Further details about the baby and where the child was born weren't released.

Upton and Verlander wed last November in Italy, after the pitching ace helped the Astros win their first World Series. Upton in July announced the pregnancy, also on Instagram, in a post with the hashtag "pregnant in Miami."

White House: Cemetery motorcade would have disrupted roads

The US flag flutters at half mast prior to a ceremony at the Aisne-Marne American cemetery and memorial in Belleau, eastern France, Saturday, Nov. 10, 2018. President Donald Trump cancelled his visit due to bad weather. More than 60 heads of state and government are converging on France for the commemorations that will crescendo Sunday with ceremonies at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Paris on the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month, exactly a century after the armistice.

By JILL COLVIN

Associated Press

PARIS (AP) — Stung by criticism for not attending an event honoring U.S. military dead, the White House says President Donald Trump didn't want to disrupt Paris roadways for a last-minute motorcade to a cemetery in northern France.

Trump had been scheduled to lay a wreath and observe a moment of silence Saturday at the Aisne-Marne American Cemetery and Memorial, located adjacent to Belleau Wood and about 60 miles (100 kilometers) northeast of Paris. The White House cited weather conditions that grounded the president's helicopter for the cancellation.

In the wake of criticism that Trump didn't travel by car to the event, press secretary Sarah Huckabee Sanders issued a statement Sunday that noted the weather and "near-zero visibility" as well as concerns that a motorcade on short notice would have required closing substantial portions of area roadways.

"President Trump did not want to cause that kind of unexpected disruption to the city and its people," Sanders said. She also said the trip to Aisne-Marne was 2½ hours each way by car.

Instead, Trump spent much of Saturday at the U.S. ambassador's residence following a meeting and lunch with French President Emmanuel Macron. Trump was in Paris for events to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the end of World War I.

Attending the cemetery event in Trump's place were the White House chief of staff, retired Marine Gen. John Kelly; the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Marine Gen. Joe Dunford; and several members of the White House staff. The Battle of Belleau Wood was a critical conflict in the war and a pivotal encounter in Marine Corps history.

The determination to ground Marine One, the president's helicopter, due to bad weather is made by the Marine Corps and the White House Military Office, which then presents the recommendation to the White House in collaboration with the Secret Service, according to a Secret Service official.

Paris was covered in clouds with drizzling rain through most of Saturday.

On Sunday, Trump attended a scheduled event honoring American war dead at a U.S. cemetery just outside of Paris.

Varsity Bulldogettes win home opener

Special to the Herald

COAHOMA - The Bulldogettes raked in a whopping 21 points in the first quarter and added 35 more over the course of the match for a decisive 56-27 win against the McCamey Lady Badgers Saturday in their first home game of the year.

Coahoma's performance on the court was a major improvement over last Tuesday's loss against the Andrews Lady Mustangs said head coach Jim Kinnear.

"I think we improved 100 percent from Tuesday night to today (Saturday) in a lot of aspects of the game," he said. "On defense, we didn't lose our composure. Against Andrews we went through a period where we gave up 14 unanswered points. We didn't have that today."

Although for a brief time in the fourth quarter the team lost discipline, they quickly regained focus, Kinnear added.

"They (McCamey) were kind of playing sloppy and that made us play sloppy, but I called that time out, and we gathered our composure, and it was good," he said.

Caitlyn Corley led the Bulldogettes on offense with a team-high of 15 points for the game followed by teammate MaKynlee Overton with 11.

It was Overton who jump started the Bulldogettes into action by sinking the ball in the net after the first 1:15 of play. Following her lead, teammate Cassie Grant buried her shot from behind the arc and 40 seconds later added another 3-point basket to her game stats. Paige Atkins piled on 5 points to the Bulldogettes score included a 3-pointer at the 3:35 mark.

After that, Kenzi Canales sank her first of five baskets of the day when she grabbed a ball batted back into play by teammate Abby Lopez, who prevented a Bulldogette turnover. Jovi Gonzales wrapped up the first quarter for Coahoma by nailing a basket as the Bulldogettes heading to the second up 21-7.

Both teams settled into defensive mode for the next round. McCamey netted 4 more points and Coahoma added 9 thanks to baskets by Overton, Corley, Canales, and Ashley Romero. In all, the Bulldogettes headed to the locker rooms with a comfortable 30-11 halftime lead.

Once the mid-game break was over, both teams were back on the floor ready to play. The McCamey squad had its best quarter of play in the third netting 12 points, however, the Bulldogettes were far from content in their lead.

Corley and Overton were dominating at the post. Combined, the two brought in 15 of 17 points for Coahoma. Overton nailed two baskets and one free throw while Corley netted four field goals including one from behind the arc. She also added more one point to the scoreboard earned at the charity strip.

Like the second quarter, the game settled down for the fourth. Coahoma added another 9 points thanks to Corley, Canales, and Romero and held the Lady Badgers to 4 before the final buzzer sounded.

"It was a total team win," Kinnear said. "I thought we rebounded the ball real well, and we shot a little better tonight than we did Tuesday night. Everybody contributed."

With a long season ahead of them, the Bulldogettes (1-1) are focused on refining their skills to prepare for a tough district season, Kinnear said.

"I told the players there are three seasons, the preseason we are in now, the district and the postseason, so we are building to that second season, the district race," he said. "If we win some along the way, that's great, but we are focused on district."

Next: Coahoma hosts the Post Lady Antelopes at the CES competition gym Tuesday. Game time is 5 p.m. for the JV and 6 p.m. for varsity.

Special to the Herald

COAHOMA - Katlyn Johnson had a game high of 18 points for the JV Bulldogettes helping to lead the team to a 50-25 victory over the McCamey Lady Badgers Saturday.

Madison Rogers added 12 points to the overall Bulldogette score while Layla Salinas sank in two 3-point baskets.

Overall the Bulldogettes scored in the double digits except the second quarter where they were kept to only 9 points. By the half, the Coahoma JV squad was up by 11 with the game at 24-13. Johnson contributed to 11 points in the first two quarters of the match and Salinas, 8.

Returning from the locker room, Rogers went to work knocking in all 11 points Coahoma earned in the third quarter. The Bulldogettes wrapped up the game over the Lady Badgers by adding 15 more points in the fourth thanks to baskets by Johnson, Rogers, Maddie Scott; Vada Cortez, and Karissa Beeman.

Elliott takes giant leap needed to lift Cowboys past Eagles

Dallas Cowboys running back Ezekiel Elliott (21) hurdles over Philadelphia Eagles defensive back Tre Sullivan (37) during the first half of an NFL football game, Sunday, Nov. 11, 2018, in Philadelphia.

By DAN GELSTON

AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA — Ezekiel Elliott took one giant leap that may have saved Dallas' season.

But it was Elliott's go-ahead 1-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter that helped the Cowboys finally hurdle the Super Bowl champs.

The Cowboys showed a second-half spark — and cooled the hot seat for coach Jason Garrett a few degrees — in a 27-20 win over the Super Bowl champion Philadelphia Eagles on Sunday night.

Cowboys owner Jerry Jones burst into the locker room and channeled his inner Ric Flair with a "Wooo!" that perked up the winners. Jones hit the locker room like a politician stumping for votes, shaking hands with anyone within reach.

"Now that was a win, I'll tell you right now," he said to a small circle of Cowboys.

The Cowboys are just 4-5 but the victory steadied a franchise that saw Garrett again under fire and Hall of Fame quarterback Troy Aikman call for major organizational changes for a franchise far removed from the Super Bowl heyday.

Elliott and Dak Prescott quieted the doubters after a dazzling Sunday that put the champion Eagles' season on the rocks.

"You can imagine the way Jason Garrett, his resolve before the game," Jones said. "I asked him before the game, 'You feeling any pressure?' (Garrett replied) 'It just makes me want to go out and do more to turn this thing.'"

Elliott made highlight reels and kept the Dallas' NFC East title hopes alive when he extended a play in the first half. The Cowboys tried a fake punt on fourth-and-2 from their 31 and Jeff Heath took a direct snap and ran three yards. A few plays later, Elliott hurdled Tre Sullivan on a 32-yard run to the Eagles 8. Michael Bennett sacked Prescott on third down and Brett Maher kicked a 31-yard field goal for a 6-0 lead.

Was it Elliott's best bound over a defender?

"I'll leave that up to you guys to decide," Elliott said.

Jones was positive it was Elliott's finest.

"We've seen him make that move before," Jones said. "But I don't know when I've ever seen him totally clear it."

While the Super Bowl champions are reeling, the Cowboys didn't exactly look a serious threat to the NFC East crown. Prescott had 270 yards passing, tossed for one touchdown and also ran for a score. Elliott also had a TD reception, against an Eagles secondary depleted by injury.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Power Pluto-Capricorn Conjunction

Power is responsibility, and responsibility is power. To assume power without assuming responsibility is impossible. False power may present a temporary illusion, but it will always be shattered by the emergence of true power. This is the message of lunar conjunction of Pluto in Capricorn, the station of both power and responsibility.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Somewhere along this timeline, you're going to decide to stop forcing yourself to do other people's version of fun and stick to the version that's all your own. Why not now?

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). When hearts break, they don't heal all at once. In William Shakespeare's "Othello," Iago says, "How poor are they that have not patience! What wound did ever heal but by degrees?" You may still feel it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Your life flows best when you recognize what you need and you give yourself those essentials plus a pinch more for luck. But no more than a pinch! Because going too far past the essentials would set you back or get you stuck.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Setting yourself up to succeed will involve recognizing what and how much you can do and seeking help for the tasks that are likely to go beyond those limits.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You'll step into a teaching position today. The education will go beyond you when you choose your pupils well. Who is likely to pay it forward? Who with ties to the group needs the information most?

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). The one you think of as a hero didn't aim for the role but landed there quite by accident. Having much preferred an easier, more ordinary route, this person found that life had other plans. You, too, will rise to the occasion when the time comes.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Physical, mental and emotional self-care is rooted in many practices (e.g., eating your vegetables, exercising, facing your fears) that unfortunately don't seem like fun at the outset but are nurturing of your best self.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). When the situation calls for small talk, there's no getting out of it, so you might as well use it for the opportunity it is. All conversation is a kind of personal brochure that shows people who you are and what you can do for them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Part of doing the right thing is doing it at the right time. Arguably, part of what makes it the right thing is that it's right in a certain moment. If you took the action too far out of context, it would no longer hold such virtue.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Ever heard of "compassion fatigue"? It's the sort of burnout that comes to those who care for and help everyone but themselves, to the extent that they become undernourished at all levels. Don't let it happen. Be the priority today.

By HOLIDAY MATHIS

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). If you are to devote yourself entirely to your challenge, you'll need to put on blinders of a sort, to keep yourself from looking back or sideways. There is only one goal, and it is ahead.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Even in the closest of families, things get tricky around money. It's best avoided today. This Greek proverb will steer you well: "Eat and drink with your relatives; do business with strangers."

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

(Nov. 12). Welcome to your year of exceptional timing. In love, games and social fun, your impulse will auspiciously align with opportunity. More highlights this solar return: You'll accomplish something you didn't think you could. An event will go down in your personal history. And there will be a windfall to help you meet a goal. Pisces and Virgo adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 9, 40, 21, 10 and 30.

ASTROLOGICAL QUESTION: "I'm a Scorpio, and maybe that makes me cynical, but I have a request for the general public: Stop telling me what to do! I'm tired of seeing posters and canvases and wall vinyl suggesting that I Live, Laugh, Love, Dream Big, Believe, Be Kind, etc. I'm sick of all the memes with clever sayings and quotations. Does your T-shirt really need to tell me your philosophy of life? Same for the bumper of your car. Just because I'm driving behind you doesn't mean I want you to tell me how to vote or what to read in the Bible or anything else. When did everyone get so self-righteous and bossy? From now on, I will only be friends with or follow people who maintain healthy social boundaries and respect my right not to know their opinion when I haven't asked for it. OK, that's all I've got. Thanks for the horoscopes."

I suppose that as the writer of the horoscopes, I am as guilty of telling you what to do as any meme or wall vinyl; they're only suggestions, of course. Your Scorpion intuition is the only advice you really need. Thanks for writing!

CELEBRITY

PROFILES: What do Justin Timberlake, Christina Aguilera and Britney Spears have in common with Ryan Gosling? They were all stars of Disney's "Mickey Mouse Club." The child star turned A-list movie star was born when the sun, Mercury and Uranus were in sizzling Scorpio. During his birthday solar return, Gosling can be seen walking on the moon as Neil Armstrong in "First Man."

Breaking the Gift Limit?

Dear Annie: With the upcoming gift season, I have a question regarding dollar limits set by clubs.

Say an amount is set at $10. Does that mean the gift value or the dollar amount spent on the gift? Recently, I had a coupon for candles that were "buy one, get one free." This allowed me to purchase the $24 candles for $9.50. My friend said I should not give them at a $10-limit party because I would make other gifts look cheap. This has come up several times before. What should I do? The club parties are starting soon! -- Anxious in Florida

Dear Anxious: Would your friend like to bring in appraisers on the day of the exchange to inspect every gift and ensure compliance? The fact is that it's silly to try to stringently regulate the value of gifts in an exchange. As long as you're respecting the spending limit (and not looking for loopholes, e.g., giving away an expensive possession that technically cost you nothing), you're fine. Happy gifting.

Dear Annie: This is in response to the letter from "A Very Grateful Mom" and your answer to her.

Ten years ago, my 15-year-old son was walking home from school, when he was hit by a car driven by a 91-year-old man. It was a tragic accident, and my son died three days later. His father and I decided to donate his organs to see something positive come out of this tragedy. My son was generous and loved to give, so we wanted the end of his life to have meaning and have his giving spirit live on by donating his organs.

Several months after my son's death, I received cards and letters from some of the recipients. The woman who received my son's heart thanked us and let us know that she was now going to church and that she would now be able to see her own son get married. At that point in time, I wanted to just crawl into my son's grave and die. I have never answered that woman, and I do not plan to. She must have forgotten that someone had died for her to live on. It was also a painful reminder that I would never see my own son get married.

I am appalled that "A Very Grateful Mom" was more or less complaining that the donor family had not contacted her. She should remember that in order for her own daughter not to have had to walk through death's door, someone else's child did.

There is no getting over the loss of a child. Time does not heal all wounds. Show some compassion and stop making demands on families. In other countries, contact between donor and recipient families is not permitted within the first year. Sadly, that is not the case in the United States. Please remind your readers to remember that organs come from people young and old, fellow human beings who were loved and belonged to families that will not celebrate another chance at life but will have to come to terms with death, grief and lives forever changed. -- Grieving Mom

Dear Grieving Mom: I am so incredibly sorry for the loss of your son. It sounds as though he had a beautiful spirit. Your letter brought me to tears.

I do want to note that "A Very Grateful Mom" was not complaining that no one in the organ donor's family had reached out; she just said that she hopes one day someone will so that she can properly thank the family. Your letter helps illuminate why that may not happen. Thank you for the insight.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Opening lead — eight of clubs. In this deal from the 1997 world team championship final between France and the United States, judgment rather than superior card play or systemic bidding differences played the key role in a substantial gain for the French.

The bidding shown occurred when Bobby Wolff and Bob Hamman, for two decades one of the world's foremost pairs, were North-South for the U.S., with Michel Perron and Paul Chemla East-West for France. Hamman's opening club bid was strong and artificial, and by the time it was his next turn, the opponents were in five clubs. Hamman elected to make a forcing pass, whereupon Wolff rebid his diamonds.

Hamman now showed his true colors by bidding five hearts, and Wolff was at the crossroads. He knew that a cuebid of six clubs, showing first-round control of clubs and implying interest in a grand slam, was the correct bid, but he feared that if only a small slam could be made, his cuebid might provoke the opponents into taking a profitable sacrifice at seven clubs. So he settled for a raise to six hearts, figuring that plus 1,430 or 1,460 was better than setting seven clubs doubled four or five tricks.

Wolff was correct in this regard, since seven clubs doubled would probably have gone down five for 1,100 points. But the tactic did not allow for the possibility that the French pair at the other table might bid and make seven hearts for a score of 2,210.

Wolff's "less is more" strategy did indeed backfire when Christian Mari and Alain Levy reached the grand slam despite similar interference by Eric Rodwell and Jeff Meckstroth. The 750-point difference gave the French a pickup of 13 IMPs, which helped them capture the world title that year.

Tomorrow: Better safe than sorry.

Newsday Crossword BARTENDER'S TASKS by Gail Grabowski Edited by Stanley Newman www.stanxwords.com

The United States military is one of the most comprehensive, effective and respected armed forces in the world. Without the tireless commitment of military personnel — from the soldiers on the ground to the support staff behind the scenes — America could not be the world power it is today. Each branch of the U.S. military has a unique mission, and here is a brief rundown of what those missions entail, courtesy of Military.com and the U.S. Department of Defense.

United States Army
The Army is one of the three military departments that reports directly to the Department of Defense. The Army conducts operational and institutional missions around the world, typically handling land-based missions. The Army also guards U.S. installations and properties throughout the world.

United States Navy
Serving to protect the freedom of the seas, the Navy is another branch of the military that reports directly to the Department of Defense. Among its many missions, the U.S. Navy serves to make the seas safe for travel and trade.

United States Air Force
The Air Force also reports directly to the Department of Defense and trains for and maintains global superiority in air, space and cyberspace. Air Force personnel fly planes, helicopters and even satellites.

United States Marine Corps
The Marine Corps is a component of the Department of the Navy. It carries out global missions on both sea and shore, and serves as an expeditionary force. Marines are a rapid-reaction team and are usually the first boots on the ground in a conflict.

United States Coast Guard
The Coast Guard safeguards maritime interests through both civil and military missions. The Coast Guard operates around the world and in domestic waterways and ports.

United States Army National Guard
The oldest branch of the U.S. military, the National Guard serves as a complementary force to active duty. Those in the National Guard are trained to be versatile, providing for humanitarian aid, domestic emergencies, combat missions, and homeland security operations.

The Air Force Reserve, Air National Guard, Army Reserve, Coast Guard Reserve, and Navy Reserve are the other branches made up of servicemen and servicewomen who primarily work civilian jobs but may be called to full-time military duty if necessary.

The U.S. Armed Forces are headed by the President of the United States. The Secretary of the Department of Defense reports directly to the Commander-in-Chief. The DOD controls each military branch, except for the Coast Guard, which is overseen by the Department of Homeland Security. Learn more about the U.S. military at dod.defense.gov.

Ehlinger's 4th TD lifts No. 15 Texas to 41-34 win at Tech

By STEPHEN HAWKINS

AP Sports Writer

LUBBOCK, Texas — Sam Ehlinger had gotten No. 15 Texas down the field with some nifty runs. The sophomore quarterback then took a shot at the end zone — and got the winning pass.

Lil'Jordan Humphrey outleaped a defender inside the 5 and then pulled him along to the end zone for a 29-yard touchdown with 21 seconds left, giving the Longhorns a 41-34 victory over Texas Tech after blowing a 17-point lead in the fourth quarter.

"I have so much confidence in him," Ehlinger said.

"He's as good a jump ball guy as there is in the country. We're already in field goal range," Longhorns coach Tom Herman said. "If we get one-on-one coverage, we're going to try for the win."

With Ehlinger's fourth TD pass, and second to Humphrey, the Longhorns (7-3, 5-2 Big 12) snapped a two-game skid that had cost them the Big 12 lead. They stayed a game behind co-leaders No. 6 Oklahoma and No. 7 West Virginia with two games left to determine who plays in the conference championship game Dec. 1.

Next up for the Longhorns is No. 23 Iowa State, the team they are tied with for third place.

"To battle back like we did, after a heartbreaking loss on a two-point conversion, will certainly pay dividends in the overall confidence of this team," Herman said, referring to the 42-41 home loss a week earlier when Mountaineers quarterback Will Grier ran for the 2-pointer in the final minute.

Texas went 75 yards in seven plays for the winning score at Texas Tech (5-5, 3-4), whose 17 consecutive points in just over 5 1/2 minutes included recovering an onside kick. The Red Raiders tied the game on Jett Duffey's fourth TD pass, a 9-yarder to Antoine Wesley with 1:45 left.

Ehlinger started the final drive with runs of 3 and 18 yards, then had a couple of short completions before a 12-yard run that set up his game-winning pass to Humphrey, who finished with eight catches for 159 yards. Devin Duvernay also caught two TDs while Ehlinger completed 22 of 34 passes for 312 yards.

"Let one go that we feel like we shouldn't let go," said T.J. Vasher, who had two TD catches for Tech. "Texas played a pretty good game but we're never OK with a loss. So everybody's pretty upset right now."

Wesley had eight catches for 171 yards and two touchdowns for the Red Raiders, who lost their third game in a row.

Duffey had 524 total yards in his second start in place of injured Alan Bowman, completing 37 of 47 passes for 444 yards and running 17 times for 80 yards. But he also had three crucial turnovers before the late comeback, throwing a pick near the end zone and fumbling twice on runs that ended inside the Texas 20.

"It would have been easy to fold after that last fumble, but he competes his tail off," coach Kliff Kingsbury said. "He had a great look in his eye the entire time. ... He gave us a chance to win with his mental toughness there at the end and the way he competed."

THE TAKEAWAY

Texas: The Longhorns were coming off consecutive losses by a combined four points. Their last four wins haven't been overwhelming — by a combined 21 points, with the win at Tech the largest margin in that span.

Texas Tech: The Red Raiders missed a chance for consecutive wins over Texas for the first time in 20 years. As much as the win in the regular-season finale in Austin last year likely saved Kingsbury's job, and got them bowl eligible, this loss could cast doubt on his future again. The former Red Raiders quarterback is now 35-38 in his six seasons as coach, and they still need one more win to get to their 16th bowl since 2000.

EHLINGER'S RECORD STREAK

Ehlinger broke the Big 12 record for most consecutive passes without an interception. The sophomore extended his streak of passes without a pick to 280, breaking the mark of 273 set by former West Virginia quarterback Geno Smith.

STUFFED ON 4th DOWN

When the Red Raiders tried to convert fourth-and-1 from their own 34 before halftime, Duffey was immediately stuffed and Texas needed only four plays before Keaontay Ingram's 2-yard TD run to go up 17-7.

BOWMAN SITS OUT

Bowman had another four-night hospital stay after taking a hit in last week's 51-46 loss to Oklahoma, leading to a recurrence of a partially collapsed lung the standout true freshman initially suffered earlier this season. He was on the sideline before the game, but not in uniform.

UP NEXT

Texas is home Saturday night to play Iowa State, which has a five-game Big 12 winning streak.

Texas Tech plays at Kansas State next Saturday.

The Cowboys will need a win at Atlanta (4-5) next week and then a win Nov. 22 against division-leading Washington to really establish themselves as a playoff contender. It's a leap of faith larger than anything attempted by Elliott that the Cowboys can wrest their way into the NFC playoff picture.

But for a night, it was enough.

"We had no choice but to win," said Elliott, who cupped his hand to his ear as he walked off the field to boos.

Garrett, who has yet to lead Dallas to even an NFC title game, knew the magnitude of the rivalry game.

"We were in a challenging situation," he said. "We had to come up here and win a football game."

Both teams felt the pressure even before former President George W. Bush performed the coin toss. The Cowboys and Eagles got into a small pregame scuffle that ended on the sideline before players were ushered back into the tunnel.

Dallas took a 10-3 lead into the half before Elliott and Prescott got rolling. Elliott ran in from the 1 to give Dallas a 27-20 lead after Prescott completed passes of 24 yards to Amari Cooper and 23 yards to Allen Hurns on the drive.

It was the kind of drive that might have impressed Aikman. Aikman, who won three Super Bowls with the Cowboys, said this week "there has to be a complete overhaul of the entire organization."

The Cowboys just shrugged it off as just another controversy that didn't concern them.

"We're Dallas Cowboys. You guys love to talk about us, you guys love to make stories," Elliott said. "We're used to ignoring all the extra stuff and focusing on us." Eagles fans were spotted transporting a Cowboys coffin into Lincoln Financial Field, perhaps as a symbol of some sort of burial of Dallas' season.

Don't hold those last playoff rites for the Cowboys just yet.

"When you're feeling low and you see the Grim Reaper," Jones said,

"and then you come in and have your team perform the way these guys did, I promise you, it is a special feeling."
