Lane Garrsion and Ali Cobrin star in "The Iron Orchard," set for a Feb. 22 theatrical release in the Dallas/Fort Worth and Midland/Odessa areas. Portions of the film were shot in Big Spring, notably at the Hotel Settles.

By ROGER CLINE

This February, Big Spring comes to the Silver Screen... again...as a primary setting in the award-winning movie, "The Iron Orchard."

Although the film has been in circulation through much of 2018 at film festivals – winning the Audience Award at the Austin Film Festival, the Best of Fest at the Lone Star Film Festival, the Special Jury Award at the Dallas International Film Festival, Best Narrative Feature at the Mystic Film Festival, and Best Feature Film at the Rome Prisma International Film Awards, and nominated for several others - the movie's theatrical release will be February 22.

"In the spirit of 'The Last Picture Show' and 'Giant,' I'm excited to bring a piece of mythic Texas to the big screen," said filmmaker Ty Roberts. "With the support of audiences who appreciate a slice of Texas infused Americana, I hope our grassroots theatrical release will make a successful road trip across America. I'm proud to finally bring this beloved and vital novel about love and life in the oilfields to audiences.

The funeral for longtime Colorado City mayor and radio personality Jim Baum, a former Big Spring resident, was held Saturday morning at First Methodist Church in Colorado City. Baum died Sunday, Dec. 16, at the age of Big Spring's Tumbleweed Smith, a friend and colleague of Baum, reminisced on the life of his old chum.

"He's my best broadcast buddy," Smith said. "When I left to go to graduate school in '64, I was working at KBST as news director, and Jim came and took my place. He became extremely popular here, my goodness. Everybody knew ship between the two men was often competitive, it was always one of respect, said Smith.

"We competed. Jim and I competed. When I came back after graduate school, I came back to KBST, and by that time, Jim had gone to KBYG. They offered him a little bit of the ownership, and he worked there. And then he had the chance to buy the Colorado City radio station, so he bought it, and he finally got it paid for. We'd both get up early, and we'd both go to the radio station, or I'd go to my studio, and every once in a while, he'd call me or I'd call him, and we had some wonderful early morning conversations," Smith said. Late Friday, Mulvaney sent agency heads a memorandum telling them to "execute plans for an orderly shutdown." He wrote that administration officials were "hopeful that this lapse in appropriations will be of short duration" — an expectation that was widely shared. With negotiations expected

'The Iron Orchard' is not only a love letter to West Texas, but a cautionary tale about ambition and enterprise which feels as pertinent today as it was in post-World War II America." The Feb. 22 opening date is limited to locations in the Dallas/Fort Worth area and the Midland/Odessa area. It's unknown thus far whether Big Spring is on the list. New York, Los Angeles, and "...additional markets across the state of Texas..." March 1, and then continue to roll out across the United States through March and April.

Said producer Houston Hill: "Starting in Texas, where the oil business is built into the fabric of almost every community there, just makes the most sense for us. Our goal is to follow the successful model created by faith based films but instead of churches, we're focusing on the support from the other religion in Texas: petroleum companies."

Major portions of the film were filmed in and around Big Spring, notably at the restored Hotel Settles.

Executive producer Greg McCabe added: "The Texas oil community has been waiting a long time for this iconic book to make its way to the big screen. I couldn't pass up an opportunity to work with a passionate filmmaker like Ty Roberts, who did an absolute superb job of capturing on film the heartache and the exhilaration of our industry."

"The Iron Orchard" is the story of Jim McNeely (Lane Garrison), a young man thrust into the vibrant and brutal West Texas oilfields in 1939. In a state gushing with oil and filled with ambition, McNeely settles into a small-town community that is slowly overcoming the trauma of the Great Depression. The path before him is riddled with formidable obstacles – overbearing bosses who try to keep him down, powerful oilmen who are reluctant to invest in a fresh face, and women who see salvation in his charms – but he finds a glimmer of hope with his first loves: new wife Lee Montgomery (Ali Cobrin) and drilling for oil. With everything falling into place to ascend to the top of the oil chain, Mc-

Neely stumbles upwards through success and in turn jeopardizes his desperate longing to conquer this brave new world of influence and wealth.

Based Tom Pendleton's 1966 salacious novel of the same name, "The Iron Orchard" harkens back to a time of unfulfilled dreams and tarnished spirits that would either break men unworthy of admiration or shower them with riches.

respected each other. Our kids grew up together and are life-long friends today. I remember, we were both on a news story one time, and KBST didn't have a remote telephone at that time, but KBYG did. So I was sitting in Jim's car after talking to the policemen and everything, and Jim said, (Tumbleweed), 'Bob you want to borrow my phone to call in your story?' That was a big deal. That kind of illustrates the closeness we had in Baum's career led him into the realm of politics. Not only was he the longest-serving mayor of Colorado City, he ran unsuccessfully for Congress in 1978 against a field of a dozen candi-

our competition."

"He ran for Congress, and he went against (Charles) Stenholm," Smith said. "There were 12 people running, and Jim came in third. especially, at the radio Stenholm said that if station. I don't think he weren't running, he would have voted for Jim Baum. Jim has been mayor of Colorado City for, I think, 21 years. Longer than anyone else."

Before all that, baseball figured big in Baum's life as a player in the farm league for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"Jim was a professional ball player for a while," Smith said. "And he was a great collector of baseball cards. He had thousands of them. He was always proud of the fact he played baseball, but he wasn't too proud of the fact he didn't continue with it. But he was the best sportscaster I've ever heard, I think. He was wonderful at doing that. When he was playing pro-ball, he was the catcher, and he would call the plays. he would mouth the ballgame while he was catching a game. He really had a good time doing anything at all like broadcasting. Jim spent most of his life, really, in Colorado City ever took a vacation. He was always there."

Born in Des Moines, Iowa, to James Leroy and Edith Maureen Van Buskirk Baum on Sept. 25, 1936, Baum graduated from high-school in 1954 in Abilene. He spent a couple of years in the National Guard after he had graduated, serving his country and doing his part.

He married his first wife, Margaret Stewart, on May 14, 1960. Together, they had four children and spent 30 years married, until her passing in 1990. After that, Jim met his second wife, Linda Sample, whom he married Feb. 14, 1992.

Baum is survived by his wife Linda Baum of Colorado City; his three sons, Jim S. Baum of Andrews, Bill Baum and wife Sharon of Lindale, and Doug Baum and wife Trish of Valley Mills; by his daughter Laura White and husband Craig of Albuquerque, N.M.; and by eight grandchildren.

If they look like they're interested, I loan them 3 basic tools, a safety glove to keep from cutting themselves, and a leather strap like the old barbers used to use to sharpen their straight razors. I then give them a little book I wrote on how to carve various things." He lets the people keep the tools, glove and strap for 6 months.

"If they enjoy carving, I'll tell them where they can buy the tools. If they don't enjoy the carving or can't handle it, they give the tools back to me and they're not out any money."

He carves manger scenes.

"I have 15 students that I teach in our community. We have a church here called White Bluff Chapel. We had a Christmas Eve service one evening and there was no manger scene. So the following Christmas Eve I presented the congregation with a manger scene with Mary, Joseph, baby Jesus and promised them that I would give them a piece every year to add to this. At his point we have two shepherds, a cow, a donkey, the 3 Kings, the 3 gifts and 3 large camels. The camels were challenging. I have one that's standing, one that's semi-reclining and one fully reclining. I gave each of my students the opportunity to carve a sheep, so they have a hand in this, too. There's probably about 52 pieces in there right now."

The manger scene is on a 6-foot table. He made a stable with Velcro so all he has to do to put it up is snap the pieces together.

He prefers that othexperience the true "joy of giving," and then tell him about it. Mort thinks their blessings might rub off on him.

Truth to tell, Maude is content to "let him be," not unlike letting "sleeping dogs lie." She has been "kitchen busy" for days, lining tables and counters with baked goods and candies. Thus, his absence has been helpful as she prepares for the throng of kinfolks who "come early and stay late.' What Maude doesn't know is that Mort is using his quiet time figuring out how he can divert some of the cash generated by one of the Internet's popular fund-raising programs called "Go Fund Me." He heard down at the general store about the growing popularity of this program that allows potential donors to help meet emergency needs of individuals and ongoing charitable causes.

The "me" part of the name snared Mort's attention. "People are using 'Go Fund Me' to solicit money in their honor on birth-

Check it out at the Howard County Library

Sandra Verdin

From all of us at the library, we wish everyone happy holidays. The library will be closed Monday, December 24 and Tuesday, December 25, but we will reopen Wednesday, December 26. Children's programming, Baby Time and Storytime, will not be meeting for the next two weeks and will resume January 8 for Baby Time and January 9 for Storytime.

This week's reviews are all westerns.
In "Thunderhead Range" (LP W

BOW S) by Sam Bowie, the townspeople of Climax had known Dale Thorne as a kid. A nice man, they said, but soft. When sadistic King Parson married Dale's widowed mother, he took control of the million-acre Thunderhead spread and drove his wife into an early grave.

Dale vowed vengeance and rode out. Three years later he returned, tough as rawhide and ready to match his skills as a gunfighter against Parson's army of outlaws. And so the ground was cleared for a brutal showdown.

Late one warm January afternoon, nine strangers rode into the town of Florence, Arizona in "Nine Must Die" (LP W WEL L) by Lee E. Wells. They had traveled many miles through dangerous Apache country, looking for a place to settle and start a new life. The choice of Florence was the worst mistake any of them had ever made.

For there was one man who, as he watched them ride into town, had decided to kill each and every one of them. A most respected citizen of Florence, he was a man who for many years had been harboring a secret grudge- which only the deaths of these nine would erase- and this made him one of the most dangerous killers the West had ever known.

Saddle tramp Sam

MacKinnon is in trouble in "MacKinnon" (LP W BOG J) by Jonny D. Boggs. Double-crossed by his partners after robbing a saloon and gambling hall, MacKinnon has been left behind in the mountains of southern New Mexico with busted ribs, a banged-up head, no gun, and no horse. Aging lawman Nelson Bookbinder and his Mescalero Apache scout, Nikita, are leading a small posse hot in pursuit of the bandits.

Miraculously, MacKinnon escapes

the law, finds his horse and rifle, and, despite his injuries, sets out on the vengeance trail. Miles away in the desert furnace between Ruidoso and Roswell, nineteen-year-old Katie Callahan has trouble of her own. Her mother has died of tuberculosis, and her worthless stepfather has abandoned the family, leaving Katie with her younger sister and five-year-old half-brother, a busted wagon, a blind mule, little water and food, and her mother's body that needs to be buried. When the wounded MacKinnon rides into that camp, he's faced with a choice. Fate, however, has a few surprises in mind for the saddle tramp, the young woman, MacKinnon's partners, and even that aging New Mexico lawman.

Warner Grayson is in a marrying mood, but Laura Pico is not going to make it easy for him.

In "Mexican Standoff" (LP W TIP G) by Giles Tippette, Warner has just proposed to his feisty partner, Laura, when all hell breaks loose. The beautiful widow Pico shoots down his romantic style-and a telegram from the huge Justa Williams ranch arrives with an offer that grabs Warner's attention: a trip to Mexico to check out some high-priced Arabian breeding stock. That should give Laura time to cool off and consider his proposal.

With $5,500 in gold in one hand and hot-headed ladykiller Ben Williams on the other, Warner heads over the border straight into the gunsights of a desperate don and his well-armed vaqueros.

A crude triangle in red is the mark on the body of Barney Ellis, found murdered in "The Mystery of the Red Triangle" (LP W TUT W) by W.C. Tuttle. Tuck, a part-Indian cowboy who is Barney's friend, swears vengeance. But the red triangle appears again and again. It is not until Hashknife Hartley and Sleepy Stevens come to town that a way is found to solve the mystery. The way Hashknife does it is characteristic of his methods, but the results is startling and unexpected.

May your holidays be full of warmth and cheer, as Hamilton Wright Mabie said "Blessed is the season which engages the whole world in a conspiracy of love."

What'sinaMeme?

By ANNA SCOTT

Definitions:

meme (meem) – a humorous image, video, piece of text, etc., that is copied (often with slight variations) and spread rapidly by Internet users subscriber – on YouTube, a viewer that clicks a

YouTube channel's "SUBSCRIBE" button, main way to show support for a YouTube channel and allows the subscribers to be notified of new videos from the channels they are subscribed to, free to the viewer and provides no monetary compensation to the channel channel – on YouTube, serves as a YouTube user's homepage and platform for their video content they have uploaded to YouTube, can be owned and operated by a person or a business

diss track – a song intended to verbally attack someone else (short for disrespect track)

The Internet has its own rules and culture. Memes are a large part of that culture and spread across the Internet like a sniffle at a daycare facility. For the most part, memes are enjoyed by younger folks that have time to waste on the Internet. That's also part of the reason why they spread so quickly.

Welcome to "What's in a Meme?" This weekly article will try to help guide you through Internet culture and memes. The goal is to keep you updated on what your younger relatives or friends are talking about.

This week's focus is on a crazy chain of events happening on YouTube that is having an impact on the real world.

YouTube is a popular site online that started out as the hub for funny cat videos. Over the years, a new culture developed. YouTube wasn't just for cat videos. People were creating channels dedicated to just about every hobby and sharing their passion with their viewers. If the viewers like the content or the owner of the channel enough, they can click on the "Subscribe" button on their channel to show support and stay up to date with their posts. Like many other sites online, YouTube is free to use and you can post videos for the world to see. This has lead to a global community on YouTube (except North Korea, they're a little resistant to most things global).

For the last five years, one channel has held the title as being the most subscribed to channel on YouTube. That channel is run by a 29-yearold Swedish man that's engaged to an Italian woman and they both live in the UK where he produces comedy videos in English. If that's not enough, he also has received major backlash from the Washington Post. That channel is called PewDiePie. His reign as most subscribed to channel on the site is being threatened by India's largest music label and music video production channel: T-Series.

PewDiePie casually mentioned the upcoming channel in a video before kind of ignoring it. However, the rest of the YouTube community wouldn't stand for a new king and began bringing light to the issue. Thus, the "Subscribe to PewDiePie" meme was born.

One YouTuber by the name of MrBeast paid for advertisements on the radio, in bathrooms, and across all of the bill-boards in Greenville, North Carolina, encouraging people to subscribe to PewDiePie. Proof of this financial feat?

DPS: pack safety on your holiday road trip

Special to the Herald
AUSTIN – The Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) is encouraging drivers to pack safety on their holiday road trips by staying sober and following traffic laws throughout the Christmas and New Year's holidays. In an effort to increase safety on Texas roadways, DPS Troopers will conduct traffic patrols throughout the holiday weekends — Dec. 23-26 and Dec. 31-Jan. 1 — looking for drunk drivers, speeders, seat belt violators and other dangerous drivers. Many local law enforcement agencies will also increase enforcement efforts over the holidays.

"The holidays are a wonderful time of year, and it's up to each and every Texan to be responsible behind the wheel so that everyone makes it home safely to their family during the holidays," said DPS Director Steven McCraw. "Along with other law enforcement partners across the state, DPS will be out in force to identify and remove dangerous drivers from Texas roadways this holiday season."

During the Christmas/New Year holiday enforcement effort last year, DPS Troopers issued more than 86,000 citations and warnings for a variety of violations, including speeding, no insurance and seat belt/child safety seat usage. DPS enforcement efforts also resulted in 400 DWI arrests, 359 fugitive arrests and 277 felony arrests.

DPS wants to remind all Texans it is everyone's responsibility to help protect those working on the side of the road this holiday season by following the law:

Move over or slow down for police, fire, EMS, Texas Department of Transportation vehicles and tation vehicles and tow trucks stopped on the side of the road with emergency lights activated. Also, show the same courtesy to fellow drivers stopped along the Winter weather threats may also be a factor during holiday travel. Texans can prepare their vehicles for winter by checking the battery, windshield wipers (including appropriate freeze resistant-fluid), tire pressure, tire tread and fluid levels, as well as taking time to lubricate door and trunk locks to prevent freezing. Additional tips to prepare for winter weather can be found on the DPS website.

DPS offers the following additional tips for safe travel during the holidays:

TxDOT seeking public input on future of rail in Texas

Special to the Herald

AUSTIN — The Texas Department of Transportation is seeking public input on an update to the Texas Rail Plan, which includes a list of current and future rail projects that the public will have the opportunity to learn about and submit comments. The plan also keeps inventory of all rail lines; analyzes rail service goals and contributions to the economy; catalogs and assesses potential infrastructure projects; and examines finance strategies for projects and services.

The public can review and provide input on the plan via the online meeting. There also is a survey and online form to submit public comments until Jan. 8, 2019. These options provide an opportunity for the public to comment on all rail-related issues in Texas, both freight and passenger, as well as existing and future projects and programs.

The rail system is a critical component of our thriving economy, safely connecting industries, ports and people. Per federal requirements, states must have a state rail plan that is updated every four years to establish policy, priorities and implementation strategies for freight and passenger rail in the state.

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — The Trump administration's decision to make asylum seekers wait in Mexico while their cases wind through clogged U.S. courts was made with crucial details still unknown — a move that creates uncertainty along the border and possibly an incentive for people to cross illegally before the change take effect.

The change amounts to a major shift in immigration policy, forcing thousands of asylum seekers to stay in Mexico in dangerous border cities as they navigate the American immigration court system.

On Friday, little had changed at Mexico's busiest U.S. border crossing, where Mauricio Gomez of Nicaragua joined about 150 others to learn if his name would be called to claim asylum.

"We are aware of the news, but nothing has happened so far," said Gomez, 41, who hoped to join a cousin in Nebraska. "We don't know when they are going to implement it." Details were missing

There's a video titled "I Bought Every Billboard In My City For This" on his YouTube channel. MrBeast took to his YouTube channel again a few weeks after the billboard extravaganza and created a 12-hour long video repeating "PewDiePie" 100,000 times to "scare off T-Series." These two videos were crazy enough that everyone else decided to join in.

Small and large channels across YouTube were posting videos to remind people to "Subscribe to PewDiePie." The efforts were enough to keep PewDiePie above his competition for a whole month before T-Series began gaining ground again.

On December 2, 2018, T-Series closed the gap to 15,000 subscribers only for Twitter to explode in support of PewDiePie. YouTuber jacksepticeye in his Tweet used the "Roses are red" poem template to call on his followers to support PewDiePie. Other accounts that aren't related to YouTubers created similar tweets to spread the message. Subscribe to

However crazy all of this might sound, it's not as far as what one Twitter user by the name @Hacker-Giraffe went. For a little preview and solid summary of his advertisement for PewDiePie, here's the title of the Register's online article: "Giraffe Hacks Printers Worldwide to Promote God-awful YouTuber.' That's honestly one of my favorite things to happen in 2018. Other online sites like Wired and Forbes referred to the mass printer hacking as "PewDiePie

Propaganda" in the title of their articles.

After all of this leg work, the difference between the two channels went from 15,000 subscribers to a hefty 500,000 subscribers in PewDiePie's favor. Don't worry, PewDiePie was also milking the "Subscribe to PewDiePie" trend and released not only a diss track but a whopping thirteen videos centered on the struggle he's having with T-Series gaining subscribers and potentially overthrowing him as king (as of Thursday, but there's probably fresh ones out by the time of print). His latest video is titled "DON'T Subscribe to Pewdipie" and encourages his viewers to watch and potentially subscribe to a list of 28 smaller (less than one million subscribers) channels. What has T-Series been doing about all of this? Nothing. They've just been posting music videos like normal. Good ol' T-Series. The president of T-Series did admit in an interview that they would take great pride in having an Indian channel the most subscribed to channel on YouTube, but they, as a company, have made no move to further or engage with this meme.

In the end, PewDiePie has directed the surge of attention from the meme to help raise money for "Child Rights and You," a nonprofit organization aimed at restoring children's rights with an emphasis on India. In one of his latest videos regarding T-Series, PewDiePie says, "I don't care if T-Series passes me, but this is all too fun. I don't remember the last time I had this much fun on YouTube."

"Subscribe to PewDiePie" is all about the fun and community. So get out there, and subscribe to

Company sues to block order to contain 14-year-old oil leak

31, 2015, file photo shows an oil sheen drifting from the site of the former Taylor Energy oil rig in the Gulf of Mexico, the coast of Louisiana.

By MICHAEL KUNZELMAN

Associated Press

The company that has failed to end a 14-year-old oil leak in the Gulf of Mexico is suing to challenge a Coast Guard official's order to design and install a new containment system to capture and remove the crude before it forms slicks that often stretch for miles.

The federal lawsuit that Taylor Energy Co. filed Thursday in New Orleans asks the court to throw out Coast Guard Capt. Kristi Luttrell's Oct. 23 administrative order. The company faces daily civil penalties of up to $40,000 if it fails to comply with the order.

Luttrell issued it one day after the Washington Post published a front-page story about the leak off Louisiana's coast. The story included a new estimate that approximately 10,500 to 29,400 gallons (39,747 to 111,291 liters) of oil is leaking daily from the site where a Taylor Energy-owned platform toppled during Hurricane Ivan in 2004.

That estimate, contained in a report that the federal government commissioned from a Florida State University researcher, is much higher than previous government estimates and dwarfs the company's own assessment of the leak's volume.

The U.S. said the policy will not apply to children traveling alone or to Mexican asylum seek-

The mechanics may be complicated: Where will immigration hearings be held and how will asylum seekers get there? How will they communicate with attorneys? How will they be returned to Mexico?

Details about implementation and "the circumstances in which people will be shuttled back and forth across the border are not at all clear," said Alan Bersin, a former Customs and Border Protection commissioner who helped negotiate repatriation agreements with Mexico as a senior Homeland Security official under President Barack Obama.

Government protocols are meant to establish uniform guidelines "rather than leave it up to the operators in the field to make it up as they go along," Bersin said.

"The Coast Guard's actions were an abrupt departure from the well-verified scientific conclusions in the record and were taken in response to adverse publicity, rather than in response to any imminent and substantial threat to the public health or welfare," the suit says.

A Coast Guard public affairs official, Chief Petty Officer Lauren Jorgensen, released a statement saying, "The Coast Guard is aware of the complaint Taylor Energy Corporation filed today and will respond accordingly. Our immediate focus remains on swift containment of the ongoing oil discharge, and we are continuing on with our plans."

The New Orleans-based company's suit claims Luttrell has "repeatedly engaged in actions that are arbitrary, capricious, an abuse of discretion and contrary to law."

"Indeed, Taylor Energy fears that her actions may cause an environmental catastrophe," it adds.

Taylor Energy has argued that performing more work out at the leak site could be dangerous and cause more environmental harm than good. The underwater mudslide that wrecked Taylor Energy's platform during Hurricane Ivan also buried a cluster of oil wells under mounds of treacherous sediment, preventing the company from employing traditional techniques to plug

Taylor Energy plugged nine wells, leaving 16 unplugged. Federal regulators believe oil and gas is leaking from at least one unplugged well. They have warned that the leak could last a century or longer if left un-

The company has insisted there is no evidence any wells are still leaking. It claims residual oil is oozing from sediment on the seafloor. And, in a court filing several years ago, Taylor Energy said experts concluded in 2014 that the sheens contained an average volume of less than 4 gallons per day.

But a 2015 investigation by The Associated Press revealed evidence that the leak is worse than the company, or government, had publicly reported during their secretive response. Presented with AP's findings that year, the Coast Guard provided a new leak estimate that was about 20 times larger than the company's estimate.

NOT REAL NEWS: A look at what didn't happen this week

By The Associated Press

A roundup of some of the most popular but completely untrue stories and visuals of the week. None of these is legit, even though they were shared widely on social media. The Associated Press checked these out. Here are the real facts:

THE CLAIM: "Three Muslim congresswomen just refused" to sign the oath of office to uphold the U.S. Constitution.

THE FACTS: The false social media post states that anyone who refuses to take an oath of office to uphold the U.S. Constitution should be disqualified from serving and claimed that "three Muslim congresswomen" had refused. There are not three Muslim congresswomen. In the November midterm elections, Rep.-elects Ilhan Omar, a Minnesota Democrat, and Rashida Tlaib, a Michigan Democrat, became the first Muslim women elected to Congress. Representatives for both Omar and Tlaib called claims that they were refusing to take the oath "categorically false." The swearing in ceremony for new members of Congress will be Jan. 3.

CLAIM: "NO CHRISTMAS DEARBORN TREES CELLED ALL XMAS PERMITS"

THE FACTS: Christmas merchandise is on sale in Dearborn, Michigan, despite a post circulating on social media that states such sales are no longer permitted. Mary Laundroche, Dearborn's director of public information, confirmed that the city has no restrictions on the sale of Christmas items. Dearborn, a Detroit suburb, is home to the largest mosque in North America and has one of the largest Arab-American populations. Dawud Walid, executive director of the Michigan Chapter of the Council on American-Islamic Relations, said the false claims are an attempt to spread fear around Muslims. But Jackie Lovejoy, president of the Dearborn Area Chamber of Commerce, said Christmas cheer in the city remains undiminished: "We are dressed for the holidays."

THE CLAIM: "Snapchat filters are a facial recognition database created by the FBI."

THE FACTS: The claim circulating on social media points users to "patent US9396354" as proof of the statement. A Snapchat spokeswoman said the information is inaccurate. She said the patented technology referred to in the post is not used in any Snapchat feature. Snapchat "lenses," which the post calls "filters," allow users on the mobile messaging app to alter faces in photos to manipulate the way they look. She said this feature relies on tracking technology, not facial recognition. Clare Garvie, senior associate at the Center on Privacy and Technology at Georgetown Law Center, confirmed that Snapchat uses feature detection. She noted that use of the process is not unique to Snapchat. For example, the international beauty chain Sephora uses a similar feature to show customers how makeup products would look on their face.

THE CLAIM: "13,506 Marines have applied for Whitehouse Duty(sic) since the inauguration of President Trump. In the previous eight years, no Marines volunteered for this duty, they had to be 'assigned.' Speaks volumes."

THE FACTS: Marines do not typically volunteer to be White House sentries; they are assigned, Maj. Brian Block, Marine Corps communications directorate, told The Associated Press in a telephone interview. "Most Marines who serve at the White House are assigned to that position based on the needs of the Marine Corps, after a lengthy and detailed screening process," he said, "not - except in rare cases - because they volunteered." He said the number of volunteers would be about a dozen, not tens of thousands.

THE CLAIM: "Burglar killed by falling Christmas tree after breaking into home in Huber Heights, OH," by "NBC NEWS 6."

THE FACTS: No such incident occurred in Huber Heights, a southwest Ohio suburb of about 38,000. There is no NBC News 6 station in that area. The false story said a 27-year-old man, who broke into a home in Huber Heights to steal presents, was killed when the Christmas tree fell and pierced his neck, pinning him under the tree. The Huber Heights Police Department referred The Associated Press to a statement on its Facebook page which said: "This is floating around social media, it did not occur."

This is part of The Associated Press' ongoing effort to fact-check misinformation that is shared widely online, including work with Facebook to identify and reduce the circulation of false stories on the platform.

Jonathon Gabehart scores over a Crane defender Friday night in a tough 50-38 home loss.

FORSAN – After playing really well in the first half and leading 26-24 heading into the half the Buffs couldn't hang on for the win with Crane surging early in the third quarter to take the lead. The Buffs struggled shooting the ball going just 12-28 from the field and a disappointing 3-24 from behind the arc. Buffs' guard Kobe Richardson led all scorers with 18 points and added 13 rebounds to get another big double-double for his team while Ryan Buske added 5 points and 5 boards as well in the loss. The Buffs played great defense but really got killed on the boards and will have to address their rebounding issues as they move forward.

Baylorwins 57-47 after holding off big comeback by Oregon

AP nhoto

Baylor guard Makai Mason (10) shots a three-point basket over Oregon guard Payton Pritchard (3) in the first half of an NCAA college basketball game Friday, Dec. 21, 2018, in Waco, Texas.

Associated Press

WACO, Texas — Baylor beat its second Pac-12 opponent in a week, helping erase the disappointment that came between those quality wins.

Makai Mason had 14 points with some key second-half baskets as the Bears beat Oregon 57-47 after holding off a big comeback by the Ducks on Friday — six nights after Baylor's impressive win at Arizona and three nights after losing at home on Stephen F. Austin's game-ending layup.

"Much different feeling after today's game than the last game," coach Scott Drew said. "Basketball and the parity nowadays, and just the different emotions you feel within a week with two great wins, a tough loss."

Oregon (8-4) trailed by as many as 16 points after halftime, but cut its deficit to 47-45 on Payton Pritchard's 3-pointer with 3:32 left. Mason, the first graduate transfer ever to play for Baylor, then hit a jumper and later added a layup and two free throws.

"He did some nice things," Ducks coach Dana Altman said of Mason.
"He hit a couple of big 3s that they needed in a timely manner and then got to the rim and shot a layup."

Pritchard finished with 14 points for the Ducks, whose season-best four-game winning streak ended. Will Richardson had 10 points.

Tristan Clark had 13 points and eight rebounds for Baylor (7-4). Mark Vital had 11 points and eight rebounds before leaving the game with 6 1/2 minutes left after he fell hard and was helped as he walked gingerly to the locker room.

"Mark's going to be fine. Mark's such a warrior, he wanted to go back in the game," Drew said. "That was a hard fall. Certain guys tend to stay down longer than others. He's one of those guys that if he stays down, he's hurt."

A jumper by Vital put the Bears up 37-21 with 15 minutes left. Oregon responded with a 13-2 run when Pritchard had two 3s and assisted on two other baskets.

Pritchard hit another 3 in a 7-0 spurt for the Ducks to get within 45-42 before the teams traded turnovers three times in a row.

Baylor jumped out to a 15-3 lead while Oregon missed 14 of its first 15 shots. The Ducks went more than 11 minutes between Pritchard's jumper in the first minute of the game to Kenny Wooten's putback dunk.

"We were stagnant, the ball wasn't moving," Altman said. "It didn't translate very well what we worked on in practice to the game scenario."

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Providence went all the way down to Texas to get a big win before heading back into the Big East.

Alpha Diallo scored 20 points and Isaiah Jackson scored 12 to send the Friars to a tough 71-65 victory over Texas on Friday night. The Friars earned some swagger they can take back home.

"There's no soft things in our program," Providence coach Ed Cooley said. "I don't like soft."

The Friars (10-3) were anything but soft in a game they never trailed. They outrebounded Texas, held the Longhorns to 38 percent shooting and closed the game out from the line when Diallo made four free throws over the final 22 seconds.

They also made the shots they needed to squelch the few times Texas mounted a rally.

The Longhorns (7-4) had closed within 51-50 before the Friars quickly stretched the lead back to eight, with the key basket coming on a 3-pointer from Makai Ashton-Langford that beat the shot clock.

"It was almost a game-saver," Cooley said. "When he made that shot, I thought we had a shot to win the game."

Texas cut the Friars' lead to 64-62 on a tough layup from Elijah Mitrou-Long to beat the shot clock with 2 minutes left. But Texas' next two possessions saw the Longhorns miss open 3-pointers and they never threatened the lead again.

The Longhorns made a final bid when Matt Coleman III made a 3-pointer with 16 seconds left and nearly forced a Friars turnover. After a video review of the play, the ball stayed with Providence and Diallo made his final free throws.

Jaxson Hayes and Coleman each scored 13 points for the Longhorns. BIG PICTURE

Providence: The Friars had to slug out a win in a game they were controlling throughout the first half when they led by as much as 13. Second-half fouls and struggles handling Texas' full-court pressure defense kept the Longhorns in the game. The Friars' own defense helped bail them out. The Friars forced Texas guards Coleman, Mitrou-Long and Courtney Ramey into nine turnovers.

Texas: The Longhorns had snapped a three-game losing skid when they found their shooting touch from long range.

Column: Aikman shines, Thursday night NFL package a winner

By BARRY WILNER

AP Pro Football Writer

Thursday night football is here to stay, even if it's gone for the rest of

In past years, some — make that many — would have said "good riddance." That would be misguided this year.

First off, Fox's presentation generally was strong and on target. Indeed, Troy Aikman, who has been Fox's lead analyst for 17 years, might have had his best season.

Seemingly energized by having a true national game, in prime time with no competition, Aikman not only was spot-on with his analyses, he was more than willing to criticize play calling, performance and officiating.

Presenting your convictions and then sticking to them is a must for a top analyst, and Aikman came through for viewers the way he did as a three-time Super Bowl champion quarterback for Dallas.

"I think after 17 years of doing it somewhat the same way, this was an opportunity to kind of change up my schedule," says Aikman, who at first had some reservations about balancing his family and business responsibilities.

"I think that is fair to say 'energized.' It felt more like an event, being the only game, and in prime time. On Sunday afternoon, especially for the late game, it sure seems like that's when most peo-

"We did not feel as restricted to the action on the field; we never feel completely restricted. It certainly freed me up and allowed me to have even more fun within the broadcast."

Fox also wound up with some very solid matchups with intriguing story lines. Yes, NBC had the season opener, a Thursday nighter hosted by the champion Eagles in a rematch of a January playoff game with the Falcons. That wound up 18-12, eerily similar to Philadelphia's previous win over Atlanta. It also, of course, didn't have two teams coming off short weeks.

Then, Fox prospered with three of the better games of the entire season, games that wouldn't have had the same cachet later in the schedule.

Cincinnati's 34-23 victory over Baltimore — look at where those two teams reside now! — was entertaining, with Andy Dalton torching the Ravens with four touchdown passes. It also had the added spice of the Bengals having knocked the Ravens out of playoff contention in the 2017

That would be misguided this year. First prime time has a little bigger of a off, Fox's presentation generally was strong and on target.

A week later — and this was Aikman at his best, even if Jets fans swear play-by-play voice Joe Buck was outwardly rooting for the hosts — the Browns finally got a win, with Baker Mayfield stamping himself as an emerging force in just the third game of his rookie year.

"There were so much expectations with Baker Mayfield in that city. The team had not won a lot of games, and the fans were expecting the team would start to win games, so there was this optimism around the city," Aikman recalls.

"Having been there for the preseason and then we go back in the regular season, you could just feel this energy building and it was a fan base that just wanted to celebrate. And then Baker comes off the bench to lead them to that victory. It was huge and fun to be a part of."

Jets-Cleveland was followed by the Rams' 38-31 shootout victory against the Vikings, when Jared Goff and Kirk Cousins combined for eight TD throws and 887 yards through the air.

For those enamored of the videogame fireworks, well, that was nir-

There was plenty of offense all year, even with only three full days between games. Oddly, the only Thursday nighter with teams coming off a previous Thursday contest, Saints at Cowboys the week after Thanksgiving, had the fewest points, 13-10 for the Cowbovs.

That also was a mesmerizing drama in which Dallas' defense stamped itself as capable of carrying a contender, shutting down Drew Brees and the ultra-prolific Saints. It also might have featured Aikman and Buck's best work.

"I have become comfortable with where I am at within my job, so to speak," Aikman says. "I always have been comfortable with my opinions and how I feel about the play on the field, and how it should be done and how teams should go about playing the game.

"There have been a lot of league issues and things happening as it relates to our game. I am not trying to grandstand or get on a soap box; that's not my nature. I think I have to be honest in how I feel, and I feel strongly enough in my beliefs to feel I am speaking for the majority of the people viewing."

There was a string of nine Thursday nighters, including New Orleans' 31-17 victory over Atlanta on Thanksgiving night on NBC, in which it took at least 27 points to win. The Steelers went for 52 against Carolina, Denver scored 45 vs. Arizona, and Houston got 42 on rest between games mostly would come from defensive players — the same folks who have protested, often with validity, about how the rules are stacked against them. Two teams never made it to the

Thursday night spotlight, Tampa Bay and Buffalo. Nobody missed Three others had Thursday outings, but on Thanksgiving afternoon, when Chicago visited Detroit and Washington was at Dallas. The Eagles, Cowboys, Saints and Falcons all had two Thursday appearances. Aikman and Buck had 14 such games, including Redskins-Cowboys in the late-afternoon Thanksgiving spot. They doubled up Thursday/Sunday assignments seven times.

The longtime partnership Aikman and Buck share made the extra duties much easier to handle.

"Joe is unbelievable, such a ridiculous talent," Aikman says. "Joe is as gifted at his craft as anyone I played with. It's a real marvel how smooth he is and what he sees.

"It's like being married, when you've been around someone for so long you know their habits and patterns, and I know where Joe wants to go right from the start, how he wants to set the tone."

Overall, ratings for the 13-game Thursday night package on Fox, with its simulcast on NFL Network, were up 2 percent over the 2017 season split between CBS and NBC. The average was 14,304,000 viewers, with Chargers-Chiefs in the last of the midweek games shattering the competition at 17.4 million on Fox/ NFLN. That also was a 29-28 outcome in which LA scored a TD and 2-point conversion to win at the very end.

NFL games on Thursday nights are a money maker, so much so that the World Series in October hasn't had a scheduled game that night since 2013. Of course, Fox now has the rights to both, and has no plans to create such a conflict.

Wait, how about the World Series leading into Thursday night football?

Spurs make season-high 19 3-pointers, rout Wolves 124-98

By RAUL DOMINGUEZ

Associated Press

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — There truly is no place like home lately for the San Antonio Spurs, especially after some struggles at the start of the month.

Bryn Forbes scored 22 points and the Spurs set season highs with 19 3-pointers and 36 assists in a 124-98 win over the Minnesota Timberwolves on Friday night. San Antonio won for the seventh time in eight games, and held an opponent under 100 points for the seventh straight time. It's a needed change for the Spurs, who opened the month by losing three of four by 30plus points.

"We had a lot of ups and downs at the beginning of the season, which was expected," San Antonio guard DeMar DeRozan said. "We just stayed patient, continued to chip away at it. We had a great opportunity to come back home in December and having a home stand to try to get our rhythm going and that's where we are at."

and joined the 1972 Milwaukee Bucks as the only teams in league history to have five straight wins by 25-plus points. Minnesota, which has lost 11 straight in San Antonio, has dropped six of seven games overall. Andrew Wiggins scored 15 points to lead the Timberwolves, and Karl-Anthony Towns and Robert Covington had 13 each.

The Spurs' run of blowout losses began Nov. 28 at Minnesota with a 128-89 defeat. San Antonio has since adjusted its schemes to help the team defensively and the changes have made an impact.

"Honestly, I'm enjoying it more, its making things lot easier (since the changes)," Forbes said. "Especially playing a lot more as a team now. Everybody is in the right positions, and I think we're going the right way. We struggled for a bit, and I think we're finally kind of figuring it out."

The defensive energy is also helping the team offensively.

San Antonio was 19 for 33 on 3-pointers and shot 53 percent from the field.

Marco Belinelli had 17 points and Davis Bertans added 15 while combining to shoot 10 for 16 on 3s.

"(The Timberwolves) were really, really helping and shifting on defense," Bertans said. "We had some good looks already after the first pass but then driving and kicking we could find pretty anything wide open."

Minnesota also gave up 14 3s to Sacramento on Monday and 20 to Detroit

"We've got to close out with high hands and run them off the 3-point line and stay to the scouting report," shouldn't get 3s and run them off the line. We've just got to keep running them off the line and not short step it." Minnesota only led for 22 seconds off a 3-foot hook by Taj Gibson with 6:55 remaining in the first quarter for an 11-10 advantage. Rudy Gay scored 14 points, DeMar DeRozan added 12 and LaMarcus Aldridge 10 as the Spurs were able to rest their starters for much of the fourth quarter.

Timberwolves starting point guard Derrick Rose did not play in the second half due to a sore left ankle. Rose had four points, two rebounds and an assist in 16 minutes. Rose, who is unsure if he will be available for Sunday's game at Oklahoma City, said his ankle hurt prior to the game.

"Just sore, really sore," Rose said. "I'll take it as a case of me not really listening to my body."

TIP-INS

Timberwolves: Jeff Teague missed his third straight game due to left foot soreness. Teague was averaging 9.3 points and 10.1 assists in December prior to the injury. ... Minnesota did not have a single player score in double figures in the first half. Tyus Jones was the team's leading scorer at the time with eight points. ... The Timberwolves are 0-6 when scoring fewer than 100 points. Spurs: San Antonio, which plays

Houston on Saturday, is 4-7 in backto-backs. The Spurs are 0-5 on the second night of a back-to-back. ... Aldridge made his second 3-pointer of the season at the close of the third quarter. Aldridge is 2 for 12 on 3s this season. ... San Antonio's previous high for 3-pointers made was 15 against the Lakers on Oct. 22. ... The Spurs made 10 3s in the first half for the second straight game. Their season high for a half is 11 against New Orleans.

LIGHTING IT UP

Belinelli doesn't have any aspirations of competing in the 3-point contest at the All-Star Game on Feb. 17 in Charlotte.

"Nah, I don't know. I just want to win (games)," Belinelli said. "I already won one (3-point contest) in New Orleans. I'm OK with that. I would like to win a championship, I think that's more important."

HAVE A SEAT

The Spurs' blowouts have afforded DeRozan the luxury of sitting for most of the fourth quarter, which he is enjoying.

"It's great to sit out the fourth quarters, be able to rest, especially for me," DeRozan said. "At one point I think I was leading the league in minutes. Being able to sit out some fourth quarters and just to be out there and cheer them guys on is always the fun

Rangers trade Profar to A's in 3-team deal involving Rays

By STEPHEN HAWKINS

AP Sports Writer

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Texas traded infielder Jurickson Profar to the Oakland Athletics on Friday in a three-team deal that included Tampa Bay and netted the Rangers four prospects.

Oakland also finalized a $15 million, two-year contract with free agent right-hander Joakim Soria, giving the A's a reliable and versatile reliever.

The 34-year-old Soria, a two-time All-Star, went 3-4 with a 3.12 ERA in 66 appearances and 60 2/3 innings this year for the Chicago White Sox and Milwaukee Brewers.

He gets $6.5 million next year and $8.5 million in 2020, and he can earn $500,000 annually in performance bonuses for games finished: $250,000 each for 35 and 40. Soria would get a $750,000 assignment bonus the first time he is traded during the con-

No. 22 Army going for 1st 11-win season in Armed Forces Bowl

By STEPHEN HAWKINS

AP Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — During a 10-loss season three years ago, Army coach Jeff Monken saw something that made him believe the Black Knights were on the way to being a good team.

The freshmen from that team are now seniors going into their last game Saturday against Houston (8-4) in the Armed Forces Bowl, when the No. 22 Black Knights will try to complete the program's first 11-win season.

"Didn't have a great start to their careers," Monken said. "But for them to experience 10 losses, seven of them being by a touchdown or less, and they would just continue to come back each week and battle and fight to the end. I saw a fight in that team that encouraged me."

Two weeks after beating Navy for the third year in a row , Army (10-2) is playing in a bowl for the third consecutive season. The cadets have their second 10-win season in a row, and an eight-game winning streak since an overtime loss at Oklahoma on Sept. 22.

Fullback Darnell Woolfolk described that as "such a big disappointment" and said it made them determined not to lose again.

"That definitely let us know that we could play with anyone," linebacker Cole Christiansen said.

Houston, without injured quarterback D'Eriq King and NFL draft-prepping defensive tackle Ed Oliver, has lost three of its four games since a 7-1 start.

Houston ranks fourth nationally with 46 points a game, and sixth with 529 total yards per game. The Cougars opened the season with eight consecutive 40-point games, a school record. Only Houston and Oklahoma rank in the top 25 for both passing offense and rushing offense. Ten different Houston players have had TD catches, and eight different players have run for

EXTRA POINTS Army leads the nation in time of possession, at nearly 39 minutes a game. Houston is last among the 129 FBS teams at 25:04. ... The last two Armed Forces have been decided in the final seconds. Last year, Army got the go-ahead touchdown to beat San Diego State with 18 seconds left, then returned a fumble for a score as time expired for a 42-35 win. Two years ago, Louisiana Tech kicked a field goal on the last play to beat Navy 48-45. ... Army or Houston will become the first three-time winner of the Armed Forces Bowl, now in its 16th year. Army has won both of its previous appearances. Houston is 2-2 in the game. California is the only two-time winner.

FINAL EXAMS

Army players got a week off after the Navy game to prepare for final exams. Monken said the final day of exams at West Point was Friday, but the players took all their tests last weekend. Christiansen said he had five exams within about 36 hours. "Very intense,"

HOLDING ON

The Army offense has lost only eight fumbles in 1,710 plays over the past two seasons. The Black Knights have only four lost fumbles this year, and two of those came in the season opener at Duke. Houston's defense has forced turnovers in 16 consecutive games — only two teams have longer active streaks.

It's that time of year again! As 2018 comes to a close and we're all reflecting on what we accomplished, it's time to start looking forward to a new year of goals and growth. Goals give you something to strive towards, encourage you to be your best self, and give you direction in everyday life.

Shown below are 19 goals to set in 2019 that are all focused on improvement and growth.

19 Goals To Set In 2019: 19 Ideas To Inspire You And Get Started 1. Take one self-development

It's always a goal of ours to grow as individuals. And part of that growth is to continue learning. Invest in yourself by taking a course that focuses specifically #### on personal growth. 2. Nurture a living thing.

If you don't have your'e own kids, you wouldn't know that there is something really special about being able to keep something alive. If you're not ready to commit to a pet (me either) then a plant should do it. Whether it's a plant or a pet, they will be relying on you to keep them flourish-

3. Raise your credit score by 50 points.

Better credit means a better life. And in turn, that puts you closer to achieving all of your goals.

4. Negotiate a raise.

In order to make more money, you have to ask for it. The truth is that the majority of your earnings growth takes place during your first decade of work. If you're beyond that, it's not too late for you. But it is time to start asking for what you're worth.

5. Open an investment ac-

Over 70% of Americans said they wanted to learn more about investing. Investing isn't as hard as it seems, but is absolutely something you should be doing!

6. Do a no-spend challenge.

I like doing a no-spend challenge because it makes me more mindful of my purchases. A nospend challenge cuts out all nonessential spending for a month. We live in a society that encourages us to spend on things we don't really want or need. It's about holding off on impulse and non-essential purchases to show yourself that you can live without it.

7. End one relationship that drains you.

We all have relationships in our lives that take more from us than what we have to give. I bet at least one specific person or commitment came to your mind just now. This is the year you need to distance yourself from that person, place or commitment.

8. Aim for less daily screen time.

I will concede here that there are smarter uses for your phone like fitness apps and podcasts, but for me to be spending that much time on social media each week is unnecessary. And I bet a lot of us are doing the same thing. Hopefully by the end of 2019, I will have cut that time in half.

9. Give everything you own a true place in your home.

None of us are immune to building up clutter. A stack of mail here, a pile of returns there, a closet full of things you just don't know what to do with — before you know it, these things are taking over your space. When everything has a home, you'll always know where to find it.

10. Save 5% more money than you did last year.

Going over your budget, how did you do last year? We believe that you should always set financial goals for yourself, no matter how much money you make or how much debt you have. In comparison to last year's goals, how did you stack up to your savings goal? Whether you met that goal or not, take the number that you did save and add five percent. That's your realistic savings goal for this year.

Go over your budget and see how you can cut costs to reach your goal. It's probably not as hard as you think it will be!

11.Drink a minimum of 64 oz of water per day.

Buy a 32 oz water bottle and committed to emptying it at least 2x per day. Fill it up, bring it with you, sip on it, and you'll go through it like... well, water.

12. Read 24 books.

Mix up your genres to keep it of them a book that intimidates

Pro tip: To get through two 300page books per month, you only need to read 20 pages a day on average! That sounds totally doable to me.

13. Go somewhere you've never been before.

Traveling opens us up to new people and new experiences. In turn, these things give us a new perspective on life and can teach us valuable lessons we otherwise never would have learned.

It doesn't have to be to another country! Try going new places around you! Whether it's a small town a few hundred miles away, a new state, or just a new grocery store, there's so much to see and do. Bonus points if you keep a travel journal!

14. Go to all of your doctor's

Primary care, eye, dentist... making and keeping these appointments annually is essential for keeping track of our health over time.

In our younger years, we tend to put off going to these appointments because they're expensive, especially if we don't have insurance. Keep them if you can. This track record will be valuable as we get older. Not to mention, you'll be able to catch any potential health issues sooner.

15. Check your credit report.

When was the last time you checked your credit report? Does it surprise you to know that 79% of credit reports contain errors? Given that stat, there's a good chance yours might be one of them.

You are entitled to a free copy of your credit report once a year at annualcreditreport.com. Working within your rights, they're a step to a better life.

16. Treat yourself to something just for you every single month.

Maybe for you it's something like a treat from your favorite local donut shop, hiking a new trail, hiring a cleaning service, going fishing, a new pair of shoes, a fancy candle or perfume, or upgrading to an Uber Black. Whatever makes you feel indulgent — treat yourself to it every month in 2019.

17. Donate regularly to a cause you care about.

Whether it's your money, time or skills, make this the year you begin to truly immerse yourself in a cause that is close to your

This could be a cause that is close to a political issue. It might be related to a health issue or a place of worship even. If it's something that matters to you, the best thing you can do is supinteresting. Make at least one port the cause in anyway that you can!

18. Do a 5k with a group of friends. Walk or Run:)

Get a group of friends together and sign up for a 5k! You'll get to spend time together and also stay in shape. Can't beat that!

19. Practice patience and kindness. What the world needs now is patience and kindness. We could all be a little kinder to each other and a little kinder to ourselves. Practice daily affirmations, give compliments without expecting anything in return, put your empathy skills to good use on a daily basis. We will all be better off for it.

And there we have it —

19 goal ideas for goals to set in 2019! Which one of these resonates the most with you? Which will you be adding to your to-do list for the upcoming year?

When it comes to iconic Southern dishes, chicken salad doesn't rank high on most people's lists. And yet, it's at the center of luncheon menus, baby showers, church potlucks, summertime picnics, and your own kitchen table whenever you need to throw together a quick lunch or snack. Chicken salad is so simple to make and so commonplace that it doesn't seem like a dish worth celebrating. But that's exactly what makes Chicken salad is any salad with chicken as a main ingredient. Other common ingredients may include mayonnaise, hard-boiled egg, celery, onion, pepper, pickles and a variety of mustards.

There is one particular chicken salad that takes home the gold medal, or should I say the "blue ribbon." Made with chicken breast tossed with grapes, walnuts, celery, onion, and creamy mayo, served on a croissant or all by its self, it is delicious either way! This baby can be found at Blue Ribbon Cafe.

'Today' fares better than CBS after loss of male anchors

NEW YORK (AP) — A year after morning news shows at CBS and NBC abruptly lost male anchors Charlie Rose and Matt Lauer in sexual misconduct scandals, the "Today" show has done appreciably better weathering the storm.

Momentum at "CBS This Morning," the most buzzworthy morning show for a handful of years, stopped dead with Rose's firing. Last week CBS announced the exit of Ryan Kadro, the show's top executive who had worked there since its 2012 launch, leaving an uncertain future.

"Today" is hardly problem-free — remember Megyn Kelly? — but it has the steadiest audience of all three network morning shows. The elevation of Hoda Kotb into Lauer's role is widely perceived

Rose lost his job in November 2017 following allegations of improper behavior with women who had worked with him. Lauer's downfall, also due to reports of inappropriate relationships with women, came less than two weeks later.

The NBC show currently averages 4 million viewers a morning, a 3 percent drop from 2017 before Lauer's exit, the Nielsen company said. CBS has lost 10 percent of its audience in the same period, to just under 3.2 million. ABC's "Good Morning America," the first-place broadcast with 4.1 million viewers, lost 5 percent of its audience.

The long history of "Today" likely helps it absorb hits. The show launched in 1952 and while it has had missteps — it has never recovered the dominance it enjoyed prior to the ham-fisted departure of Ann Curry a decade ago — "Today" viewers can be confident it will be around tomorrow.

"It just has the strongest DNA out of all the morning shows," said Shelley Ross, who produced rivals at ABC and CBS.

For much of the past half-century, CBS has been an after-thought in the mornings, a distant thirdplace broadcast that changed names, formats and personalities as often as an impatient designer changes paint. That's what made "CBS This Morning" so encouraging; with a newsy emphasis, it gained a larger share of the audience in the morning and was now competitive in a lucrative marketplace. Rose, a skillful interviewer who moonlighted on both "60 Minutes" and his own PBS show, teamed with Gayle King and Norah O'Donnell. In retrospect, Rose seemed more important to the success and chemistry of his show at the time than Lauer did. Rose was replaced by former "Face the Nation' host John Dickerson and,

Lauer spent two decades as "Today" co-host, and in his heyday with Katie Couric was part of the most successful anchor team in morning show history. But his reputation took a significant hit with the Curry drama and he wasn't as popular at the end of his run.

"There was concern when Matt Lauer left that they would be hurt more than turned out to be the case," said Garth Tiedje, an analyst and senior vice president at Horizon Media.

In fact, Kotb earned the permanent job beside Savannah Guthrie after "Today" did unexpectedly well in the ratings when she was an emergency fill-in. Kotb's "Q" score, a statistical measure of her popularity, is strong among women — who make up the bulk of morning news show audiences and more than doubles Lauer's last score among older women, according to Marketing Evaluations,

"Everybody loves Hoda," Ross said. "She's a magical part of the equation."

That doesn't mean everything is sunshine and flowers at "Today," which has to be concerned about an erosion of younger women viewers. In in October, Bianna Golo- This combination photo shows Matt Lauer, former co-host dryga was added as a fourth of the "Today" show, left, and Charlie Rose, former co-host of 'CBS This Morning."

> the second week of December, its audience among 18-to-49-year-old viewers was down 23 percent compared to the same week in 2017, Nielsen said. It faces questions about its third hour following Kelly's departure, and the fourth after Kathie Lee Gifford said she was leaving the show. NBC declined to > comment. The "Today" show executive producer, Libby

> Leist, was appointed to her job in January. For all morning shows, the fact that more people wake up with a hand-held computer on their nightstands in addition to a television remote is ultimately a bigger concern than anchors who have > lost their jobs. In the days following Kadro's departure, CBS dealt with damaging news stories suggesting that King was unhappy and considering leaving, and that networks were mulling a top-to-bottom renovation. The network declined comment on the reports or ratings, but said its newsy emphasis remains intact now and for the future.

The danger in responding to ratings weakness with big changes is that it could play into a narrative of CBS being less able than its rivals of being able to settle on one type of morning show for the long term.

"It's always hard to fight against the pull of history if it's a long trajectory," Tiedje said. "But I also think that shouldn't cloud the decisions that need to be made for the future."

Well, it's certainly no "Spider-Man: Into the Spider-Verse," but this week's movie, Jason Momoa's solo excursion into the DC Extended Universe as Aquaman, reprising the role from 2017's "Justice League" with a full-blown origin story, isn't bad.

"Aquaman" starts with the meeting of Thomas

Curry (Jengo Fett himself, Temuera Morrison), a Maine lighthouse keeper, and Atlanna (Nicole Kidman), a mysterious, strangely-dressed beautiful woman who washes up on his rocky shore. She tells him she is the princess of Atlantis, and the two fall in love and have a son, young Arthur (portrayed by twins Tainui and Tamor Roger Kirkwood).

Unfortunately, Atlanna was running away from an arranged marriage to the not-so-nice Atlantean king, and his soldiers find her. She fights them off, but decides to return to Atlantis to forestall any further attacks for the baby's sake. She assigns her advisor Vulko (Willem Dafoe) to train Arthur in the ways of Atlantis (swimming, fighting, that kind of thing). We later learn that the king has had Atlanna put to death for defying Flash forward to a year after the "Justice League" movie. A group of frogman divers attempt to pirate a nuclear sub, but a grown up Arthur Curry (Momoa), aka "The Aquaman," intervenes, beating up the pirates, rescuing the crew, and, after father-son pirate team Jesse and David Kane (Michael Beach and Yahya Abdul-Mateen II) try to kill him, refuses to rescue Jesse, who is trapped beneath a heavy missile as the sub sinks.

Meanwhile, in Atlantis, King Orm (Patrick Wilson) desperately wants to unite the undersea clans and attack the surface world. During negotiations with King Nereus of Xebel (Dolph Lundgren), another underwater tribe, Atlantis is brutally attacked by an oddly familiar looking nuclear submarine. Many people are killed before Orm heroically kills it with his trusty trident, slicing a big gash in its side. Nereus agrees to join the cause. Nereus' daughter, Princess Mera (Amber Heard), refuses to cooperate, and heads to the surface to find Arthur to convince him to depose Orm and take over as king of Atlantis.

Later, we witness Orm paying off David Kane for engineering the attack, and Kane offers to work for Orm for free for a chance to kill Aquaman.

Arthur and Mera return to Atlantis to meet with good old Vulko, to discover where to look for a magic trident that will give the wielder command over the sea. Orm's men find them and capture Arthur, and there's a duel between Orm and Arthur. Arthur is almost killed before Mara rescues him, and the pair take off to hunt down the trident.

I'll stop the narrative there. Not too many more actors to report, except for one beauty: There's a giant sea monster in this movie, and it's voiced by Julie Andrews. Nice.

Anyway, I'd say "Aquaman" is better than your average DC superhero liveaction movie. It's big and flashy, and has way too much cheesy Star Wars prequelesque CGI. Momoa's laconic, irreverent style and casual willingness to fight just about anything that shows up in this movie is definitely the most entertaining part of the film.

The story is pretty faithful to what I understand of the comic book story, with a few tweaks. A couple of people survive that I don't think are supposed to be alive at this point.

Otherwise, it's pretty straightforward fare. Not the best I've ever seen, but not bad. Seven and a half stars out of 10.

Audrey Geisel, widow of Dr. Seuss, dead at 97

NEW YORK (AP) — Audrey Geisel, the widow of children's author Dr. Seuss and longtime overseer of his literary estate, has died.

Random House Children's Books announced that she died Wednesday at age 97. She died "peacefully" at her home in La Jolla, California.

Dr. Seuss, whose real name odor Geisel, died in 1991 and two years later Audrey Geisel founded Dr. Seuss Enterprises. Numerous publishing projects followed, along with the Broadway show "Seussical." She also served as executive producer for some film adaptations of his work, most recently "The Grinch," which came out last month.

She was a Chicago native whose parents broke up when she was little and who as an adult would be in the middle of two broken marriages. She and Theodor Geisel, who was 17 years older, were both married to others when they began an affair in the 1960s. Theodor Geisel's first wife, Helen, killed herself and Audrey Geisel sent away the two daughters she had with her first husband after she and the author married in 1968.

"They wouldn't have been happy with Ted, and Ted wouldn't have been happy with them. He's the man who said of children, 'You have 'em and I'll entertain 'em,'" she told The New York Times in 2000. "Ted's a hard man to break down, but this is who he was. He lived his whole life without children and he was very happy without children. I've never been very maternal. There were too many other things I wanted to do. My life with him was what I wanted my life to be."

Johnson's "Reaching for the Moon" is an autobiography for middle graders that will be published next fall, Atheneum Books for Young Readers announced Thursday. Johnson was one of the pioneering

Stock indexes sink again, adding to days of huge losses

This photo shows the exterior of the New York Stock Exchange on Thursday evening, Dec. 20, 2018. Stocks went into another slide Thursday in what is shaping up as the worst December on Wall Street since the depths of the Great Depression, with prices dragged down by rising fears of a recession somewhere on the horizon. The Dow Jones Industrial Average dropped 464 points, bringing its losses to more than 1,700 since last

AP Markets Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. stocks are falling again Friday as big losses for technology and internet companies and retailers add to the market's woes this month.

Former market favorites like Amazon and Facebook took some of the biggest losses as investors remained nervous about the health of the global economy and the prospect of a lengthy partial shutdown of the federal govern-

Markets have suffered wide losses over the last week. The major U.S. indexes have fallen more than 11 percent in December, and without a substantial gain over the final days of trading, they are headed for their single worst month since October 2008, when the market was being battered by the effects of the global financial crisis that led to the Great Reces-

Investors around the world have grown increasingly pessimistic about the global economy's prospects over the next few years. It's widely expected to slow down, but traders are concerned the cooling might be worse than they previously believed and that the U.S. could eventually tip into a recession.

After a sharp early gain, the S&P 500 index retreated 24 points, or 1 percent, to 2,443 at 12:30 p.m. Eastern time. The S&P 500, which is widely used by funds that track the U.S. market, has fallen 16.6 percent from its high in September.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average sank 142 points, or 0.6 percent, to 22,176. The Nasdaq skidded 142 points, or 2.2 percent, to 6,385. The tech-heavy index is on pace to finish 20 percent off its record high from August. The Russell 2000 index of smallercompany stocks lost 24 points, or 1.9 percent, to 1,301.

Amazon fell 5.2 percent to $1,385 and Facebook gave up 5.5 percent to $126.11. Apple lost 2.4 percent to $153.02.

The market's plunge comes even as the Federal Reserve projects that the U.S. economy will grow 3 percent this year, the fastest since 2005, and about 2.3 percent next year, and two years of further increases after that. But as interest rates rise and regions the U.S. does a lot of business with, like Europe and China, also slow down, those estimates might be harder to reach.

Trade tensions between the U.S. and China, the two largest economies in the world, are not the only reason for the expected slowdown in economic growth and corporate profits, but they are adding even more uncertainty to a picture that already looks

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. economy expanded at a solid 3.4 percent annual rate in the third quarter, slightly slower than the previous estimate as consumer spending and exports were revised lower. The economy is expected to slow further in the current quarter.

The Commerce Department said Friday that growth in the gross domestic product, the economy's total output of goods and services, was revised down from an earlier estimate of 3.5 percent. The still-strong performance followed a sizzling 4.2 percent advance in the second quarter and a moderate 2.2 percent increase in the first quarter.

Economists believe that economic growth is slowing in the fourth quarter to around 2.5 percent. For the full year, GDP growth is projected to top 3 percent — the best showing since 2005.

President Donald Trump has often cited the upturn in economic growth as evidence that his economic program, which includes a $1.5 trillion tax cut passed last year, has lifted the economy to a stronger growth path.

US durable goods orders up 0.8 pct., led by defense spending

By CHRISTOPHER RUGABER

AP Economics Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Orders to U.S. factories for long-lasting goods rose at a modest pace last month, but the gain was driven entirely by demand for military aircraft. Excluding transportation equipment,

The Commerce Department said Friday that durable goods orders rose 0.8 percent in November, following a sharp fall of 4.3 percent the previous month when orders for commercial and military aircraft plunged. Orders in November, excluding transportation, dropped 0.3 percent. A category that reflects business spending plans declined 0.6 percent, the third drop in four months.

The figures suggest that U.S. factory output, while mostly solid for now, may slow in the coming months. The Trump administration's trade battles have caused many U.S. trading partners to impose tariffs on American goods. Exports of U.S. manufactured products fell sharply in the July-September quarter.

A weakening global economy is also weighing on exports. China's economic growth is slowing and Germany, Europe's economic engine, saw its economy shrink in the third quarter.

This May 21, 2018, file photo shows a row of washing machines for sale at Lowe's Home Improvement store in East Rutherford, N.J. Orders to U.S. factories for long-lasting goods rose at a modest pace last month, but the gain was driven entirely by demand for military aircraft. Excluding transportation equipment, orders fell. The Commerce Department said Friday, Dec. 21, 2018, that durable goods orders rose 0.8 percent in November, following a sharp fall of 4.3 percent the previous month when orders for commercial and military aircraft plunged.

U.S. business investment in capital goods such as industrial machinery, computers and cars has stumbled in the second half of the year after rising at a healthy clip in the first six months of 2018. That slowdown will weigh on growth in the final three months of the year.

The economy expanded at a healthy 3.4 percent annual rate in the third quarter, according to a separate report from the Commerce Department Friday. But most economists forecast a mild slowdown in the fourth quarter to a roughly 2.5 percent to 3 percent

The Trump administration has said that its corporate tax cuts, which cut business taxes from 35 percent to 21 percent, will lead to a sustained burst of business spending on long-lasting equipment that will fuel robust economic growth. Yet the drop in business investment since the summer suggests otherwise.

One potential future drag on investment spending is the recent sharp drop in oil prices, which have fallen below $50 a barrel. That typically causes drilling companies to cut back on their purchases of steel pipe, machinery and other drilling equipment.

ECONOMY

However, analysts believe that the boost from the tax cut and increased government spending Congress approved last February will begin to fade in 2019. They are forecasting growth will slow to around 2.7 percent in 2019. Some analysts believe that by 2020, GDP growth may be barely above 1 percent or could slip into a recession that year.

The Trump administration insists that the impact from the tax cuts, deregulation and tougher enforcement of trade agreements will keep the economy expanding at a sustained rate of 3 percent in coming years.

The GDP report on Friday was the government's third and final look at the July-September quarter. Driving Friday's downward revision was an even bigger decline in exports of a category that includes industrial machinery, as well as slower consumer spending on non-durable goods such as gasoline and other energy prod-

Consumer spending, which accounts for 70 percent of economic activity, still grew at a solid annual rate of 3.5 percent.

The Federal Reserve on Wednesday boosted its key policy rate for a fourth time this year but lowered its outlook for rate hikes next year from three down to two. The projection of fewer future rate hikes failed to calm Wall Street investors, who sent stocks sharply lower. They had been hoping for the Fed to declare a pause in its rate hike campaign.

spending in the final three months of the year. Economists closely watch consumer spending because it accounts for about two-thirds of economic activity.

Business spending is showing signs of slowing, leaving more of the burden on consumers to power the economy. A gauge of business investment in large equipment such as machinery and computers fell in November for the third time in four months, according to a separate report Friday.

A measure of inflation tied to consumer purchases slipped, rising 1.8 percent from a year ago, down from last month's 2 percent annual

That could add to recent pressure on the Federal Reserve to pause its interest rate hikes, since the Fed usually takes such steps to forestall rising inflation. Yet with gas prices falling, inflation is likely to continue to decline in Excluding the volatile food and energy categories, inflation rose 1.9 percent in November from a year earlier. That's slightly faster than the previous month's 1.8 percent but below the Fed's 2 percent target.

The Fed raised its benchmark interest rate Wednesday for the fourth time this year but signaled its rate hikes will likely slow soon. Fed policymakers now expect two hikes in 2019, down from a previous estimate of three.

The pickup in spending is eroding Americans' savings, suggesting that consumers could pull back in the coming months. The savings rate fell to 6 percent in November, the lowest since March 2013.

The economy expanded at a strong 3.4 percent annual rate in the July-September quarter, down slightly from a previous estimate, the government said in a separate report Friday. Consumer spending rose at a healthy 3.5 percent pace in the third quarter.

morning trading John Williams, the president of the New York branch of the Federal Reserve, said in an interview with CNBC that the Fed is aware the U.S. economy might weaken more significantly next year. The Fed raised interest rates earlier this week and signaled that it expects to raise them two more times next year. Investors aren't sure how much that will impair the economy, and the stock market tumbled as they worried the Fed just wasn't concerned about that

"What I think the Fed is trying to do is soften the rhetoric a little bit by saying 'we're going to be monitoring the economy and we acknowledge that things have eased a bit," said Sam Stovall, chief investment strategist for CFRA.

Defense contractors fell after President Donald Trump said he's withdrawing U.S. soldiers from Syria in an unexpected move. Media reports say the administration might also pull large numbers of soldiers out of Afghanistan. Lockheed Martin fell 1.5 percent to $261.23 and Raytheon shed 2.3 percent to $154.29. Athletic gear maker jumped 6.2 percent to $71.71 after a better-than-expected third-quarter report. That helped shoe retailer Foot Locker, which gained 2.9 percent to $49.33.

The market's big losses this month are an outlier because December is generally the strongest time of the year for U.S. stocks. Traders often talk about a "Santa rally" that adds to the year's gains as positions are closed out and people adjust their portfolios in anticipation of the year to come. Barring huge gains, this will be the worst December for the U.S. market since the 1930s.

Germany's DAX rose 0.2 percent and the FTSE 100 in Britain added 0.1 percent. France's CAC 40 was little changed. The Hang Seng index in Hong Kong rose 0.5 percent while South Korea's Kospi inched up 0.1 percent. The Japanese Nikkei declined 1.1 percent. All of those indexes have taken steep losses this year. The DAX, Hang Seng and Kospi have all plunged at least 20 percent since early January and the Nikkei is down 17 percent since early Octo-

Oil prices have declined 40 percent from recent highs amid concerns over a glut in the market and the slowing economy. Benchmark U.S. crude dipped 0.1 percent to $45.86 a barrel in New York. The international standard, Brent crude, declined 1 percent to $53.83 a barrel in London.

Bond prices were little changed. The yield on the 10-year Treasury note stayed at 2.79 percent.

The U.S. dollar also ticked higher after two days of sharp losses brought on by fears about the economy and slower increases in interest rates. The dollar rose 111.28 ven from 111.11 yen. The euro fell back to $1.1391 from $1.1469 and the British pound skipped to $1.2648 from $1.2671.

Capricorn Cosmic Pride

With many getting together with family and friends in these Capricorn-sun moments leading up to the Christmas holiday, it will be pretty tempting to go on about whatever might impress the company. Whereas pride is attached to achievement and status, its ego-less cousin, dignity, can live inside us regardless of our successes or failures.

ARIES (March

21-April 19). The unconventional wisdom is that unconventional wisdom doesn't exist. If a thing works, it works for many other people, too. All you have to do is dig around a bit to see who else is using it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Come up with a name for the feeling you're having -- something all yours, to encompass both the sweeping scope and the minute specificity of the emotion. It will help you move through or use the feeling to good effect.

GEMINI (May 21-

June 21). There are different definitions for the word pride, some focusing on a feeling of self-respect and worthiness and others focusing on a feeling of superiority and conceit. Pride is a precarious matter. Go cautiously in its expression.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). A return to merriness will have to do with letting go of a few things, especially things that won't matter in a week or even tomorrow. Clinging tightly to things that will inevitably pass can only lead to misery.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Go on and make your rules, and then try to follow them. One a day is enough at first. Establish habits. Paradoxically, the more disciplined you are the freer you'll be.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Every day, you tolerate people who have different values, styles and preferences. Usually, it's not a problem, but it still takes self-control to live and let live, which is why it could be very relaxing to just stay home today.

FORECAST FOR THE WEEK AHEAD:

The glow of the Venus and Neptune trine (not to mention the quick Mercury and Jupiter conjunction) that presided over last week's winter solstice celebration brings a halo of hope for the Christmas and Kwanzaa celebrations of the week. We're probably going to need it. Mercury and Neptune form a square that could impair our judgment and communication a touch. Why not view this cosmic marker as the yellow sign cautioning us to check ourselves? Do the diagnostic hookup that will check levels of privilege, attitude, balance and whatever particular weakness one might be prone to. Essentially, this is about managing expectations. When in doubt, place those low. It will increase satisfaction and delight, as reasonable things can be suddenly taken for the miraculous blessings they most of mankind's history, So try not to let the lights, bells, hubbub and excess all our complaining, this is still one of the safest and most exciting times to be times, and if South handles the play He wins the diamond with the ace, leads the ten of spades, which wins, and continues with the queen. Let's say West covers with the king (his play doesn't really matter). Declarer takes the ace, cashes the ace of clubs and returns the four of spades to his own deuce and West's seven!

West plays the Q-10 of diamonds. but instead of trumping either one, South discards two hearts from dummy and two clubs from his hand, leaving this position:

North ♠ J 9 ♥A 4865 West East ♦ 9 8 7 6 5 4 ♥KQJ ♣K Q J South • 8 6 ♥652 49

When West plays another diamond, South ruffs in dummy, discarding his last club, but East is stuck for a discard. If he discards a heart, declarer cashes the ace of hearts, ruffs a club, ruffs a heart and claims the rest. If East discards a club instead, South ruffs a club, plays a heart to the ace and ruffs another club to score the rest. As we said, bridge can sometimes be a very strange game.

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Holiday Sweet Tooth

Dear Annie: I have an addictive personality, and this time of year is really tough for me. Starting with Halloween, I can't stop eating sweets. Usually, the residual candy lasts for weeks, and even if I remove it from my house, it's all over the office or clients' offices. Then, moving into Thanksgiving and desserts, I can't help myself. Once December starts, all the holiday gifts start arriving, and many are sugar-based. Come New Year's, I've been on a two-month junk food binge. I am active and exercise regularly. The balance of my diet is healthy. And generally between January and October, I'm able to control my intake of sweets. I believe I'm healthy, and I do get annual physicals, so nothing indicates any health concerns from my annual junk food binges. But I'd like to figure out a way to get better control of my impulses during this time of year. Any advice? -- Seasonal Sugar Addict

Dear Sugar: There's always tomorrow to start a diet when that fresh apple pie comes out of the oven. Whether it's with candy or baked treats, the key is to enjoy in moderation. Sugar can be addictive, and as with all addictions, there are plenty of professionals and support groups to help. A nutritionist could help you understand your body and plot a healthy eating regimen with you. Focus on addressing your sugar intake day by day. Keep an active record of your daily food consumption, and make yourself accountable for every sweet you consume. Try not to completely deprive yourself, and learn to appreciate the moment on the lips.

Dear Annie: This thought has been bothering me for some time. My longtime good friend "Alice" slurps her soup and some other foods. She is a lady who has always otherwise had great table manners. She is a highly educated and elegant person. She is not at all aware that she is slurping. I know that she would be devastated if she knew it. So my question is: As one of her best friends, do I tell her or not? -- Somewhere on This Planet

Dear Somewhere on This Planet: I wouldn't recommend this if you two weren't good friends or if she didn't care so much about table manners, but given both of those facts, I think you could gently point out the slurping to her. If our best friends don't tell us when we've got egg on our faces, who will?

Dear Annie: Just a comment on an answer you gave to "Why?!" -- who wrote to you concerning her retired husband, who insists on using the "wrong" plastic bags for leftovers. Why not suggest that they discontinue use of those bags altogether and utilize reusable containers, such as Pyrex or Tupperware? That could help cut down on the amount of plastic waste heading into the ocean. -- Lori W.

Dear Lori: Excellent point. Over 267 species have been harmed by plastic pollution in the ocean, and about 100,000 marine animals are killed by plastic bags every year. We should all be taking every opportunity we can to avoid contributing to this massive problem. Thanks for writing.

'Laverne & Shirley' star, 'Big' director Penny Marshall dies

By JAKE COYLE

AP Film Writer

NEW YORK — Penny Marshall, who indelibly starred in the top-rated sitcom "Laverne & Shirlev" before becoming the trailblazing director of smash-hit big-screen comedies such as "Big" and "A League of Their Own." has died. She was 75.

Michelle Bega, a spokeswoman for the Marshall family, said Tuesday that Marshall died in her Los Angeles home on Monday night due to complications from diabetes. Marshall earlier fought lung cancer, which went into remission in 2013.

eight-season run between 1976-1983. the nasal-voiced, Bronx-born Marshall starred as Laverne DeFazio alongside Cindy Williams as a pair of blue-collar roommates toiling on the assembly line of a Milwaukee brewery. A spinoff of "Happy Days," the series was the rare network hit Yorker. about working-class characters, and its self-empowering opening song ("Give us any chance, we'll take it/ Read us any rule, we'll break it") foreshadowed Marshall's own path as a pioneering female filmmaker in the male-dominated movie business.

"Almost everyone had a theory about why 'Laverne & Shirley' took off." Marshall wrote in her 2012 memoir "My Mother Was Nuts." "I thought it was simply because Laverne and Shirley were poor and there were no poor people on TV, but there were plenty of them sitting at home and watching TV."

Marshall directed several episodes of "Laverne & Shirley," which her older brother, the late filmmakerproducer Garry Marshall, created. Those episodes helped launch Marshall as a filmmaker. When Whoopi Goldberg clashed with director Howard Zieff, she brought in Marshall to direct "Jumpin' Jack Flash," the 1986 comedy starring Goldberg.

"Jumpin' Jack Flash" did fair business, but Marshall's next film, "Big," was a major success, making her nails," recalled Danny DeVito, who the first woman to direct a film that starred in Marshall's 1994 comedy grossed more than $100 million. The 1988 comedy, starring Tom Hanks, round ball with the best of them.

The honor meant only so much to the typically self-deprecating Marshall. "They didn't give ME the money," Marshall later joked to The New Marshall reteamed with Hanks for "A League of Their Own," the 1992 comedy about the women's professional baseball league begun during World War II, starring Geena Davis, Madonna and Rosie O'Donnell. That, too, crossed $100 million, making $107.5 million domestically.

More than any other films, "A League of Their Own" and "Big" ensured Marshall's stamp on the late '80s, early '90s. The piano dance scene in FAO Schwartz in "Big" became iconic. Hanks' reprimand from "A League of Their Own" — "There's no crying in baseball!" — remains quoted on baseball diamonds every-

On Tuesday, Marshall's passing was felt across film, television and comedy . "Big" producer James L. Brooks praised her for making "films which celebrated humans" and for her helping hand to young comedians and writers. "To many of us lost ones she was, at the time, the world's greatest den mother."

Marshall's early success in a field where few women rose so high made her an inspiration to other aspiring female filmmakers. Ava DuVernay, whose "A Wrinkle in Time" was the first $100 million-budgeted film directed by a woman of color, said Tuesday: "Thank you, Penny Marshall. For the trails you blazed. The laughs vou gave. The hearts vou warmed."

In between "Big" and "A League of Their Own." Marshall made the Oliver Sacks adaptation "Awakenings," with Robin Williams and Robert De Niro. The medical drama, while not as successful at the box office, became only the second film directed by a woman nominated for best pic-

Carole Penny Marshall was born Oct. 15, 1943, in the Bronx, Her mother. Marjorie Marshall, was a dance teacher, and her father, Anthony, made industrial films. Their marriage was strained. Her mother's caustic wit — a major source of material and of pain in Marshall's memoir — was formative. (One remembered line: "You were a miscarriage. but you were stubborn and held on.")

"Those words are implanted in your soul, unfortunately. It's just the way it was," Marshall once recalled. "You had to learn at a certain age what sarcasm is, you know? When she says it about somebody else, you laughed, but when it was vou, vou didn't laugh so much."

During college at the University of New Mexico, Marshall met Michael Henry, whom she married briefly for two years and with whom she had a daughter, Tracy. Marshall would later wed the director Rob Reiner, a marriage that lasted from 1971 to 1981. Tracy, who took the name Reiner, became an actress; one of her first roles was a brief appearance in her mother's "Jumpin' Jack Flash." Marshall is also survived by her older sister. Ronny, and three grandchildren.

Marshall's brother Garry, already established as a writer, coaxed her to move out to Los Angeles in 1967. She studied acting while supporting herself as a secretary — a role she would later play on "Happy Days." Her first commercial was for Head & Shoulders opposite a then-unknown Farrah Fawcett.

"I just cannot bring myself to accept that the homely person on the screen is me," Marshall told TV Guide in 1976. "I grew up believing an actress is supposed to be beautiful. After I saw myself in a 'Love American Style' segment, I cried for three days. I've had braces put on my teeth twice, but they did no good."

ge 18 ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE December 23 - 29, 2018

(Writer's note: Though Ralphie isn't a real person, he well could be, as played by Peter Billingsley in the 1983 movie "A Christmas Story" – which will have its annual marathon Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 24 and 25, on both TBS and TNT. Here's an imagined chat with Ralphie today, as if he actually did exist ... with, be forewarned, some "Story" spoilers.)

At Christmas, many people look forward to that one special gift

– but arguably no person ever wanted a particular present more than Ralphie Parker did.

From the moment his eyes met a Red Ryder air rifle that was positioned prominently in a store window for the holidays, it was just about the only thing on his mind. He daydreamed about it ... he dropped ample hints about it ... he even hid an ad for it inside one of his mother's magazines. His wish would come true, but Ralphie remembers both the ups and downs of the relentless crusade he waged back then.

"I can still hear it now: 'You'll shoot your eye out!,"' he recalls. "How could so many adults know exactly the same words to say to destroy a kid's hopes? To be honest, I thought I'd be going without what I really wanted that Christmas, until my father mentioned the one last package hidden behind the tree. When I saw it, it was so tall and long, I just knew what had to be inside the wrapping.

"And who knew it would be my father who came through in the end?," adds Ralphie. "He who cherished a leg lamp, and took strange pleasure in fighting with a furnace and a neighbor's dogs? Part of my delight that Christmas was in seeing the boy that was still inside that man, and it's a feeling I've tried to keep for myself, especially in raising my own children."

Birthdate: Circa 1935; the actual date is debatable Birthplace: Hohman, Ind.

Current residence: Chicago ("I wanted to be someplace bigger than Hohman, but still with that midwestern feel.")

Marital status: Married with two sons ("Just like the family I was born into.")

On his memories of the Higbee's department store window display at the holidays: "Oh, you could just tell from the looks on all of our faces – pressed right up against the glass in some cases – what a big event for kids it was to see that display in its full glory. In this era of malls and big-box stores, there's just no way it could be the same ... but what a very, very special thing that was."

Favorite Christmas food: "You're kidding, right?

Favorite author: "I certainly would have to say Mr. Jean Shepherd. I mean, without him, I wouldn't exist."

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL Steffy passionately defended Taylor to Liam and Hope, while Brooke visited Bill in a bid to earn his support where Taylor is concerned. Bill was surprised, however, by what Brooke wanted him to do. Sally told Wyatt his love is reciprocated. Hope demanded that Liam make a firm decision over whether he wanted to have a family with her or with Steffy. Emma let Xander know he is going to be interviewed by a major fashion magazine, and Xander was quick to pass that news along to Zoe. Reese pressured Zoe as to why Brooke hated Taylor, who confronted Brooke in her office and accused her of trying to keep Liam and Steffy apart. When Maya returned to town, she immediately felt uneasy about Zoe's relationship with Xander and Forrester Creations. Later, Maya delivered some shocking news about Rick to Brooke.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES John uncovered Gabi's secret at the same time Abigail was trying to get information about her from Kayla. Victor made Chad pay for betraying Sonny. After Hope confronted Ciara about dating Ben, they got into a fight. As Gabi feared Julie would expose her secret, Sonny and Chad were rushing to save Julie's life. Sonny told Will they couldn't see each other anymore, while Hope and Rafe argued about Ted. Eli and Lani grilled Gabi about Julie's fall. Sarah urged Chloe to let Eric raise Holly, and things got pretty heated between the two women. Claire and Ciara called a truce when they heard about Julie. Abigail made secret plans to cut ties with Stefan. Gabi prepared to take drastic measures to ensure that Julie stayed quiet. Rafe tried to get Ted and Stefan to bury the hatchet. Jennifer and Hope rallied around Doug who was frantic with worry about Julie. JJ did everything she could to save Haley's life.

GENERAL HOSPITAL Carly stepped in to help, while Sam was in an anxious mood about something. Jason offered his support, and Laura had reason to feel proud, but something left Liz feeling stunned. Margaux came across a lead, while Lulu grilled Chase for some information she needed. Cameron found himself in way over his head. Daisy tried to be supportive. A frustrated Carly unloaded on Jason, and Liz also was feeling furious. Valentin drew closer to his primary goal. Sam received a message that she found troubling, while Carly and Sonny found themselves at loggerheads. Chase tried to get closer to Willow. Peter grappled with his feelings, while Obrecht held her tongue. Aiden was forced to deal with disappointment. Oscar resolved to help those around him. Anna felt she owed a debt to Maxie. Jordan confided in Sheila.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS Arriving at the Ashby home seeking Mattie, Reed instead found a depressed Charlie, who revealed Shauna had broken up with him. Preparations were well under way for the Jabot holiday party, where Fen was working as a waiter for the GCAC. Aware that Billy, still hurting over Phyllis, was reluctant to attend the bash, Jack asked Victoria to give him a nudge, and she was successful after she agreed to go along as Jack's date. Rey brought Nikki to the station for more questioning, particularly about her attempts to befriend Mia. Fen nearly got fired on the spot while waiting on Ana and Devon at the club, where Fen committed the gaffe of asking Devon about his demo. Lola eagerly accepted when Kyle invited her out for a big romantic evening, but she was so exhausted she wound up oversleeping and missed their date.

BY GEORGE DICKIE

Self-taught chef Sierra exudes creativity on her YouTube channel 'La Cooquette'

ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE

Maria Sierra is passionate about food and that comes through in spades on her YouTube channel

With videos shot in English and Spanish, the vivacious native of Honduras shows her more than 640,000 subscribers and other viewers how to prepare simple and easy recipes of her own creation, ranging from American favorites such as

Eventually her videos took off and Sierra was Chicago-style deep dish pizza and barbecued ribs leaving behind her previous career in marketing to more exotic fare like Argentinian empanadas and frogs legs a la provencal. There are also dishes inspired by television ("The Simpsons" donuts) and movies ("Harry Potter" butterbeer), as well as comestibles that result from her own experimentation (a fried plantain burger).

"I loved discovering new flavors, new flavor combinations," she explains. "I never liked measuring when I'm cooking. Only when I'm baking, it's known that you have to follow a recipe otherwise it won't work sometimes. So when I'm cooking something that doesn't require that, I just go at it. And I don't care, I just like mixing stuff together."

Interestingly though, the self-taught chef freely admits she wasn't always adept in the kitchen. She began the channel (www.youtube.com/ lacooquettefood) in 2013 after moving from Spain to Los Angeles. There, she and her husband Alvaro Hernandez, an aspiring filmmaker, were taking extension courses at UCLA when they discovered she had a flair for explaining things on camera. The trouble, however, was at that point she wasn't much of a cook.

"I was bad," Sierra recalls with a hearty laugh "You can actually talk to my friends and my husband, they can attest to that. Like they would eat my burnt cookies just out of pity."

But recognizing that they may have the nucleus of a web series, they honed their techniques she in the kitchen and he behind the camera. to make cooking videos full time, thus enabling her to stay home with her young daughter.

"I love being my own boss. I love being an entrepreneur," she says, "It's really good to ... be able to work from home but then you also have to be very well-organized with your time. And sometimes it's really hard to divide, 'OK, let's set this time for personal time and let's not talk about work.' Luckily we actually hired a full-time employee now. She films and edits most of the recipe videos for 'La Cooquette.'

Sierra's other passion is travel and she and Hernandez like to make short food documentaries wherever they go, telling the stories of cities, towns and villages through the local cuisine.

"Sort of like ... Anthony Bourdain," she says. "In that way, we were really inspired by him and we have some episodes on that, telling really the story of the mom-and-pop shops, not just the typical places that people go to. We really make an effort to know what the locals eat and what really is their everyday type of food because we believe that it tells a lot about not only the people
