Building Hope Mixer for CASA of West Texas set for May 22

By ANNA GUTIERREZ
Staff Writer

CASA of West Texas is having a Building Hope Mixer CASA Capital Campaign, A Party with a Purpose, on Wednesday, May 22, from 5-7 p.m. The event will be at Star Chrysler Dodge Jeep Ram, located at 821 W. Interstate 20, who is also hosting the event.

“What we’re doing is raising funds to help fund a new building,” says Staci Roseberry, CASA of West Texas Development Director. “Right now we’re renting, but we were donated some lots. We’re inviting everyone, the entire community, to come learn how they can help fund the new building.”

Being in foster care can be a very frightening experience for children. They need an adult who will speak up in their best interests, which is what CASA volunteers do.

Children are being turned away in this area due to a lack of volunteers. Two new volunteers were sworn in earlier this week, but there is a great demand for more. There are no prerequisites to becoming a CASA Volunteer except for being at least 21 years-old, pass an extensive background check, and complete 30 hours of volunteer training.

Trash off marked as success

Courtesy photo

The annual Trash Off took place this past Saturday, after being rained out April 13. According to Keep Big Spring Beautiful President Peggy Skiles, residents who participated filled the container provided by the City for the event. Items consisted of trash that had been dumped on the side of the road, litter from around neighborhoods and other items. KBSB will be picking up trash for the weekly Toasty Tuesday at the corner of I-20 and Highway 350 (Snyder Highway) from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m., on the south side of I-20. The community is encouraged to get out and join the clean up efforts.

Heritage Museum lecture series: The Black Death Next lecture set for Tuesday

By ANNA GUTIERREZ
Staff Writer

Last week’s lecture in the series “Events That Changed History” was about the plague. How much affect have pandemics and epidemics had on the world?

Some historians believe the plague was a contributing factor to the fall of the Roman Empire. Soldiers returning from battle in the Persian Gulf in 165 A.D. could have brought the disease back with them, and plague outbreaks contributed to panic wherever it appeared.

The first major plague pandemic was The Justinian Plague, which began in 541 A.D., and was followed by frequent outbreaks over the next 200 years. Over 25 million people were killed.

The Black Death was the second pandemic, and the subject of this week’s lecture. It is believed to have originated in China in 1334. In 1344, Mongolians were using people who had died from the plague as biological weapons by catapulting the infected bodies over city walls. By 1347, the plague had reached Italy, and from there it spread into France, Germany and England.

It is thought that 30 to 60 percent of Europe’s population was wiped out. People looked for answers or reasons as to why this was happening. Entire Jewish communities were held responsible, and pogroms, violent riots intending to massacre an entire ethnic or religious group, were carried out. Others believed that self-flagellation, the act of flogging, whipping or lashing, would bring about God’s mercy.

This decrease in population created a shortage in laborers, and, as a result, wages rose. And even though there had been a big decrease in population, there were still enough people to fight the Hundred Years War. It did take roughly 200 years for the world's population to recover.

The third pandemic, The Modern Plague, began in China in the 1860s. It had reached Hong Kong by 1894, and it spread over the next 20 years by rats traveling on steamships. This time, there were approximately 10 million death.

It was during this last pandemic that scientist identified the cause of the plague as the bacterium Yersinia pestis, and that it was spread by fleas which infested rodents.

The plague reached the United States around the year 1900 and was brought by rat-infested steamships that came from Asia. Epidemics occurred in port cities. People today can still get the plague, and it is more prevalent in the western United States. There are approximately seven human plague cases reported each year. Today, the illness can be treated with readily-available antibiotics and, of course, isolation, to keep the disease from spreading.

The lecturer for this series, Rufus Fears, concludes that humans, not germs, is how history is made. There have been many other epidemics and pandemics throughout history, and man survives to fight another day.

Please join us next week as we move to the year 1492 and how Columbus changed the world. Lectures are free of charge, and you can bring your lunch to enjoy during the lecture. They occur every Tuesday at 12 p.m. at the Heritage Museum located at 510 Scurry St.

4 tornadoes reported in West Texas, same storm system

David Cline rakes debris while a City of Abilene front-end loader scoops up a pile of tree limbs at the intersection of S. 2nd and Carl streets Sunday, May 19. The National Weather Service on Sunday reported a few tornadoes hit parts of San Angelo a day earlier. Another twister was reported Saturday in Ballinger. Another tornado struck Abilene.

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — Forecasters say four tornadoes struck parts of West Texas in severe weather that damaged some homes and businesses.

The National Weather Service on Sunday reported two tornadoes hit parts of San Angelo a day earlier. Another twister was reported Saturday in Ballinger (BAL'-in-zher). A fourth tornado struck Abilene.

Meteorologist Terry Huber (HYOO'-ber) in San Angelo said Sunday that officials had no reports of anyone hurt in twisters from the same storm system.

Huber estimated winds topping 111 mph hit San Angelo, damaging homes and businesses and downing power lines. San Angelo police tweeted that Bradford Elementary School would be closed Monday due to no power.

Huber says a damage survey team was in Abilene on Sunday. Emergency personnel in Ballinger, 50 miles (80.46 kilometers) southwest of Abilene, worked Sunday to clear debris.

Steers compete in the Southwest Hoops basketball tournament

HERALD photos/Jordan Parr

With Kyler Seymore (photo left) and Abel Clark (photo right) leading the way the Steers competed this past weekend in the Southwest Hoops basketball tournament hosted here in Big Spring. The Steer didn't win the tournament, but they played some good ball and got some great in game experience that will be helping them in their first sanctioned competition with their new squad. The explosiveness and athleticism that have become staples of this team are still very present and you can see a lot of potential in this young team. These are the types of tournaments and games that can pay huge dividends next year in UIL competition. Everyone in Steer Nation is excited to see these young men bring the Showtime Steers back again next season.

Take away George Springer and Jose Altuve, and maybe the Houston Astros start to look a little more beatable.

Maybe.

The Boston Red Sox finally snapped Houston's 10-game winning streak Sunday with a 4-3 victory after Springer left the game with lower back stiffness. The Astros were already playing without Altuve, on the injured list with a strained left hamstring, but that injury did little to slow Houston. Even after Sunday's loss, the Astros have the best record and best run differential in the major leagues. They lead the AL West by 8 1/2 games.

Altuve hasn't played since May 10, so Houston's recent torrid stretch took place largely without him. That's a scary thought for the rest of the American League. In their first four games without their star second baseman, the Astros scored 45 runs against the Rangers and Tigers.

"Our guys are seeing the ball really well and making it tough on them," Houston manager AJ Hinch said while the Astros were in Detroit. "Driving the pitch counts through the roof."

The Astros lead the major leagues in batting average, on-base percentage and slugging percentage. Springer and Alex Bregman are 1-2 in the AL in homers, and Springer is the league's RBI leader. Houston has four of the AL's top 10 hitters in OPS

Houston Astros' Carlos Correa (1) and George Springer (4) celebrate after defeating the Boston Red Sox in a baseball game in Boston, Saturday, May 18.

(Springer, Bregman, Carlos Correa and Michael Brantley) and three of the top six in batting average (Josh Reddick, Brantley and Springer).

Players such as Robinson Chirinos and Jake Marisnick are contributing as well.

"We knew we had built an offense that was very deep and very long, and a lineup that was tough to get through," Hinch said. "In a long year, you're going to need contributions from everybody."

With a pitching staff that includes Gerrit Cole and Justin Verlander, the Astros look as well-rounded as any team in the game. Even the bullpen is making news, with Ryan Pressly setting a record Friday with his 39th consecutive scoreless appearance.

With a 10-game homestand starting Monday, Houston has a chance to turn the division race into a rout after winning it by six games last year and by 21 in 2017.

Elsewhere around the majors: ANOTHER ACE?

Starting pitching depth has been a strength for the Dodgers for a while, and it's been on full display this year. Clayton Kershaw's efforts (3-0 with a 3.40 ERA) have actually been overshadowed by what teammate Hyun-Jin Ryu is doing. Ryu is 6-1 with a 1.52 ERA, and he has a 31-inning shutout streak after pitching seven innings Sunday in a win over Cincinnati.

HIGHLIGHT

Like last year, Bryce Harper is combining an unimpressive batting average (.235) with very impressive power. Harper connected for a 466-foot home run in Philadelphia's 2-1 win over Colorado on Saturday.

LINE OF THE WEEK

Boston's Chris Sale struck out 17 against Colorado on Tuesday night, becoming the first pitcher in major league history to fan that many in a start of no more than seven innings. He gave up three hits in seven innings and left with a 3-2 lead, but the Rockies went on to win 5-4 in 11.

Honorable mention: Kris Bryant of the Cubs hit three homers in a win at Washington on Friday night. Cleveland's Shane Bieber struck out 15 with no walks while shutting out Baltimore on Sunday.

Lunar Conformation

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Many who consult an advisor will only heed the advice if it's what they already were planning to do. This isn't the open attitude that leads to the best choices. You're different. You'll decide not to decide and go into things ready to listen.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). You'll be productive and, even better, your influence is potent now, so the things you work on and make will have an impact. This is a good time to carefully consider what you want that impact to be.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You sense what people would like to believe about themselves and, if it aligns well within you, you'll support the notion. And maybe their vision is also the truth, or will become the truth with the right support.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). The artistic types around you will inspire you to draw up something from your own creative well. That well isn't filled with just one thing. There's sweetness and bitterness and a full range of emotion, all acceptable.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). It never works out to have so much respect for your idols and superiors that there's none left over. The trick is in having great respect for all but to start with you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You believe that it's better to be friendly than cool. It's more important to treat people well and be agreeable than to have elevated status due to superior taste and means. Cold elitism is boring.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Just as the long arm of the law correlates with the leg span of criminality run amok, your own resources for self-control will grow to match the wildness inside. You can trust life's balance system today.

By HOLIDAY MATHIS

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Though it's an unconscious process, you train people how to talk to you with what you respond to and how.

Talk can be a powerful reward, as can a certain kind of look, laugh and warmth.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). All things have their own ebb and flow. Even seemingly permanent landscape features such as mountains and canyons were once something else. The same goes for your emotional landscape.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). To breathe deeply is to accept a miraculous gift. Don't wait until the stress bunches up or until living demands more oxygen. Take the gift now. It will elevate what's normal to the realm of the exquisite.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). While most people, for various reasons, take a degree of effort to be with, there are those who feel as comfortable to be near as your favorite

T-shirt. Seek them out today.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). You only tease the ones you know and love best. You understand the level that will entertain and endear them. Even so, go carefully today because it will be so easy to miss the mark.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (May 20). This solar trip sees you embracing more facets of yourself. As you learn and integrate different aspects of your personality, even ones you used to reject, you become ultimately more powerful, loving and capable. The excitement of the next 12 months will include an envied invitation, some upscale living and a water journey. Cancer and Capricorn adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 9, 14, 4, 49 and 30.

Annie's Mailbox

When Friends Fill Void Left By Family

Dear Annie: My husband and I moved to another state following our retirements a few years ago. We moved to a resort town six hours away from my brother "Billy" and his wife, "Patty." We encouraged them to visit, but they gave one excuse after another. Billy eventually told me that they were "just homebodies" who don't like to travel.

My husband, "Bob," has been quite ill. In the last year, he was hospitalized six times and had to be ventilated five times. Billy was aware of my husband's dire condition but did not once call or text to offer any support. I thank God for our friends who supported us through visits, calls, messages, emails, prayers, etc.

Recently, I found out that through a friend that Billy and his wife had flown to our aunt's home for a visit, 1,500 miles away. They lied to me by omission. Then Patty texted me a few days ago, asking if I wanted them to come sit with me. Seriously?! Where were they the nearly 20 weeks Bob was in critical care units? She thought he was still in the hospital, though he has been home for nearly eight weeks. I know being here during my husband's illness and hospitalization would not be fun, but I would have done it if they had been in our position.

And then there's my aunt. She and I have always been close. When I told her I had given the doctor permission for Bob to be placed on a ventilator, she said, "Are you sure you are doing what Bob wants?" Bob and I had that conversation several times, and each of us knows the other's desires when it comes to this subject. How dare she ask such a thing?

I am trying to forgive Billy, Patty and my aunt for their ignorance, but it is a long arduous process. I have asked the Lord to have patience with me, because I can't just tell myself I forgive them with my whole heart without meaning it. I won't have true peace in my heart until I do. -- Bent but Not Broken in Missouri

Dear Bent: Your family dropped the ball here. Thank goodness your friends picked it up. My advice would be to focus on what your friends have done for you instead of what your family hasn't. Gently steer your feelings in the direction by keeping a gratitude journal and writing down five things for which you are grateful each morning or night. When we fill our hearts with gratitude, there's less room for anger.

Now, I'm not saying you don't have a right to be angry. You and your husband have had an incredibly difficult two years. But as it seems really important to you to resolve this conflict with your family, consider giving them another chance. They'll never be able to change what they did in the past, but perhaps they're trying to change how it is in the future: Patty finally reached out. Take her up on the offer to come for a visit. Don't be afraid to have a heartfelt conversation with her and Billy about how much you would have liked to have seen them sooner.

Lastly, I encourage you to seek out help in the form of counseling or a caregivers support group. The hospital staff might be able to help connect you with the latter. I know you are bearing a heavy burden right now, but no matter what, you do not have to bear it alone.

The bidding:
North East South West
1♣ 2♣ 2NT 3♥
Opening lead — eight of spades.

History does not record the declarer on this hand played many years ago, so South will have to be remembered only by the name of Anonymous.

East-West were playing weak jump-overcalls, and East's two-spade bid was designed only to harass his vulnerable opponents. West's three-heart bid was more of the same. These tactics proved successful, though, because they jockeyed North-South into a poor three-notrump contract.

West led a spade, and South won with the jack. Declarer could see only eight tricks, with little hope of a ninth. He knew that if he gave up a club trick to try to establish the suit, the defense would be in position to run five or six heart tricks.

But South considered the matter carefully and came up with an ingenious scheme to steal the contract. At trick two, he led the three of hearts!

This apparently suicidal play worked out just as declarer had hoped. West did not go up with the ace of hearts, which would have settled South's hash immediately, but made the normal play of the queen. East, forced to win the trick with the king, then returned a diamond.

Declarer took it in his hand, led the nine of clubs and ducked it to East's queen. The party was now over. East returned another diamond, and declarer finished with 10 tricks consisting of two spades, four diamonds and four clubs.

South had realized that West's heart holding could not include the A-K-Q or he would have led the suit originally. Declarer therefore placed East with a singleton honor, which he hoped was the king or ace.

West could have saved the day, of course, but how many players do you know who would have gone up with the ace of hearts at trick two?

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Today in History

Today is Monday, May 20, the 140th day of 2019. There are 225 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History: On May 20, 1927, Charles Lindbergh took off from Roosevelt Field on Long Island, New York, aboard the Spirit of St. Louis on his historic solo flight to France.

On this date: In 1521, Ignatius of Loyola was wounded by a cannonball while defending Pamplona against the French; during his convalescence he turned to religion, becoming a leader of the Counter-Reformation and the founder of the Jesuits.

In 1873, Levi Strauss and tailor Jacob Davis received a U.S. patent for men's work pants made with copper rivets.

In 1899, taxi driver Jacob German was pulled over and arrested by a police officer riding a bicycle for speeding down Manhattan's Lexington Avenue in his electric car at 12 miles an hour at a time when the speed limit was 8 mph; it was the first recorded speeding arrest in U.S. history.

In 1915, Israeli soldier-statesman Moshe Dayan was born at Deganya Alef Kibbutz.

In 1932, Amelia Earhart took off from Newfoundland to become the first woman to fly solo across the Atlantic. (Because of weather and equipment problems, Earhart set down in Northern Ireland instead of her intended destination, France.)

In 1939, regular trans-Atlantic mail service began as a Pan American Airways plane, the Yankee Clipper, took off from Port Washington, New York, bound for Marseille, France.

In 1948, Chiang Kai-shek was inaugurated as the first president of the Republic of China (Taiwan).

In 1959, nearly 5,000 Japanese-Americans had their U.S. citizenships restored after choosing to renounce them during World War II.

In 1961, a white mob attacked a busload of Freedom Riders in Montgomery, Alabama, prompting the federal government to send in U.S. marshals to restore order.

In 1985, Radio Marti, operated by the U.S. government, began broadcasting; Cuba responded by attempting to jam its signal. In 1993, an estimated 93 million people tuned in for the final first-run episode of the sitcom "Cheers" on NBC.

In 1998, the government unveiled the design for the new $20 bill, featuring a larger and slightly off-center portrait of Andrew Jackson.

Ten years ago: In a rare, bipartisan defeat for President Barack Obama, the Senate voted overwhelmingly, 90-6, to keep the prison at Guantanamo Bay open for the foreseeable future and forbid the transfer of any detainees to facilities in the United States. A commission published a damning report on decades of rapes, humiliation and beatings at Catholic Church-run reform schools in Ireland. Suspended NFL star Michael Vick was released after 19 months in prison for running a dogfighting ring to begin two months' home confinement. An Indonesian C-130 Hercules military plane carrying troops and their families crashed in East Java province, killing 99 people. Kris Allen won the eighth season of "American Idol," defeating fellow finalist Adam Lambert.

Five years ago: In Kentucky's primary, Senate Republican leader Mitch McConnell dispatched his tea party challenger, Matt Bevin, with ease; Democrats chose Alison Lundergan Grimes to oppose McConnell in the fall (McConnell went on to win). Pennsylvania's ban on gay marriage was overturned by a federal judge. A group of retired professional football players filed suit against the NFL, accusing the league of cynically supplying them with powerful painkillers and other drugs that kept them in the game but led to serious complications later in life. Two car bombs hit a busy bus terminal and a market in the central Nigerian city of Jos, killing at least 118 people.

One year ago: Venezuelan officials declared socialist leader Nicolas Maduro the easy winner of the country's presidential election; his leading challenger questioned the legitimacy of a vote marred by irregularities.

Today's Birthdays: Actor-author James McEachin is 89. Actor Anthony Zerbe is 83. Actor David Proval is 77. Singer-actress Cher is 73. Actor-comedian Dave Thomas

Rangers score 2 runs in 10th, rally past Cardinals 5-4

Associated Press

ARLINGTON, Texas — Texas Rangers manager Chris Woodward hadn't planned on using Danny Santana, a day after he was hit in the right ankle by a fastball from Carlos Martinez and forced to make an early exit.

But Woodward learned 40 minutes before game-time Sunday that Santana said he was totally fine. Good enough, certainly, to be a pinch-hitter.

Santana delivered, connecting for a pinch-hit home run in the eighth inning and then scoring the winning run in the 10th on a sacrifice fly by Nomar Mazara off Martinez that lifted Texas over the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4.

"The kid is pretty special, to take 97 in the ankle off the bone and come in and hit a pinch-hit homer the next day and have a huge walk the next at-bat — says a lot about who he is," Woodward said.

The Rangers rallied for two runs in the 10th and won for the fourth time in five games. The Cardinals dropped their fifth straight series and haven't won consecutive games since taking five in a row from April 27-May 1.

Santana said through a translator that he was one of the first players in the clubhouse on Sunday morning, took treatment, had his ankle taped and declared himself available.

Santana said that after running from first base to third in the 10th inning on the game-tying single by pinch-hitter Willie Calhoun, he knew he could run home if need be.

Both teams blew leads in the late innings.

ninth off Texas reliever Chris Martin made it 3-all.

The Cardinals went ahead in the 10th when Harrison Bader doubled off Jeanmar Gómez (1-0) and scored on a sacrifice fly by Paul DeJong.

Rougned Odor opened the Texas 10th with a single off Jordan Hicks (1-2), Santana walked and Calhoun had a tying single.

Hicks threw 39 pitches, the most of his two-year major league career.

Cardinals manager Mike Shildt, who was ejected in the fourth by plate umpire Jeremie Rehak after Fowler was called out on a 3-2 pitch, said he had no issue with Hicks' workload.

"We knew he had a count at 40 we were going to hold pretty firm to," Shildt said.

Martinez, the two-time All-Star who made his season debut Saturday following shoulder trouble, entered and intentionally walked Shin-Soo Choo to load the bases with no outs. After Logan Forsythe struck out, Mazara lofted a flyball that scored Santana.

Paul DeJong drove in three runs for the Cardinals.

St. Louis starter Jack Flaherty gave up two runs on four hits with two walks and five strikeouts in six innings. Choo led off the first with a home run.

Rangers starter Drew Smyly sought his first win since Sept. 13, 2016, having missed the next two major league seasons following Tommy John surgery. He pitched four innings, allowing two runs in the first.

ANYWHERE, ANY-TIME

José Leclerc, who has been everything from a closer to an opener for Texas this season, matched a career high for strikeouts in a game with five while pitching the fifth and sixth innings. Leclerc has 23 strikeouts in his last 12 1/3 innings, including all three batters as the opener on Friday.

Woodward said he'll return Leclerc to the closer's role later this season but currently sees him as "our version of Andrew Miller back in the Cleveland days."

SHORT HOPS

Calhoun has hit safely in all five games since being recalled from Triple-A Nashville on Wednesday and is hitting .476 (10 for 21). ... Choo's home run landed in the upper deck in right field and was his third homer in his past four games. The homer was the first run scored off Flaherty in the first or second inning in his 10 starts this season. ... Yadier Molina had his third stolen base of the season on the back end of a double steal, tying him for the most by a major league catcher this year.

Cardinals: RHP Michael Wacha (3-1, 4.93 ERA) will make his fifth career start against the Kansas City Royals on Tuesday and his first at home. Wacha is 3-1 with a 2.56 ERA against Kansas City.

Rangers: LHP Mike Minor (4-3, 2.61 ERA) will open a home series against the Seattle Mariners on Monday. Minor has five starts of seven or more innings pitched with two or fewer runs this season, already the most by a Ranger during the past two seasons.

Leonard scores 36, Raptors beat Bucks 118-112 in 2 OTs

TORONTO — Pascal Siakam felt guilty about a pair of missed free throws and the extra minutes they added to his teammates' night.

Fortunately for Siakam and the rest of the Raptors, Kawhi Leonard didn't seem to feel any fatigue.

Leonard scored 36 points, including eight in the second overtime, and Toronto beat Milwaukee 118-112 on Sunday night to cut the Bucks' lead in the Eastern Conference finals to 2-1.

Leonard made 11 of 25 shots and went 12 for 13 at the free throw line in more than 52 minutes of action, a playoff career high.

"At the end of the game, Kawhi said he played an hour of basketball," Siakam said. "I told him 'My bad.'"

Leonard had nine rebounds and five assists despite appearing to be bothered by some leg discomfort. He said he would keep fighting and playing.

"I mean, it's 52 minutes and it's in the playoffs, so you definitely feel it. When you play 30 minutes, you feel it still," Leonard said. "Just got to not worry about it, get my treatment and move on to the next one."

Leonard's previous career high in playoff minutes was 46, set with San Antonio against Miami in Game 6 of the NBA Finals on June 18, 2013. The Spurs lost that game in overtime, then lost Game 7 two days later.

Siakam had 25 points and 11 rebounds, Norman Powell scored 19 points before fouling out, and Marc Gasol had 16 points and 12 rebounds. The Raptors will try to draw even when they host Game 4 on Tuesday night.

Giannis Antetokounmpo had 12 points and 23 rebounds before fouling out with 4:24 to go in the second overtime. Antetokounmpo shot 5 for 16.

"They were just playing better than us," Antetokounmpo said. "Whenever we got close, they'd hit some shots and take the lead back to seven or eight. At the end of the day, it wasn't our best game. We can get a lot better."

Toronto won despite guards Kyle Lowry and Powell both fouling out in the fourth quarter. Siakam also missed a pair of free throws with 7.4 seconds left in regulation that could have iced the game for the Raptors.

"It's tough," Siakam said. "Those are shots that you practice and think about every day."

Siakam redeemed himself by blocking a potential tying shot by Brook Lopez with 43 seconds to go in the second overtime, leading to a layup for Leonard that put Toronto up 114-110 with just over 30 seconds to play.

George Hill scored 24 points and Malcolm Brogdon had 20 for the Bucks, who lost for the first time in five road games this postseason. Milwaukee is 10-2 overall in the playoffs.

"We were right on the cusp of winning a game when we didn't play that well," Bucks coach Mike Budenholzer said.

The Raptors led 103-99 with 1:26 to go in the first overtime but Hill tied it at 103 by making a pair of free throws with 14 seconds left. Toronto used its final timeout to draw up a play for Leonard, who let the clock run down to 3 seconds before driving for a jumper that missed, sending it to a second extra period.

Hill's tiebreaking basket to begin the second overtime put Milwaukee up 105-103, its first lead since the opening basket of the game.

Gasol answered with a 3 and Leonard finished a fast break with a left-handed dunk, putting Toronto up 108-105 with 3:13 left.

Khris Middleton shot 3 for 16, but one of his baskets tied the score with 2.2 seconds to go in regulation. He finished with nine points.

After suggesting Saturday that he might change his lineup, Raptors coach Nick Nurse stuck with his normal starters, but gave Powell 30 minutes, the most he's played in any game this postseason.

"We just played a lot tougher, man," Nurse said. "We were up guarding and we were physical and we were ready to play tonight."

Toronto fell behind 9-0 early in a blowout loss in Game 2, but turned that around in Game 3. After Antetokounmpo made a layup for the opening basket of the game, Siakam replied with a hook shot, Gasol followed with a 3 and the Raptors didn't trail again in regulation.

Powell scored 10 points on five shots in the first, including a pair of 3-pointers, and Toronto led 30-21. Gasol, who had eight points in Games 1 and 2 combined, also made two from long range and scored eight in the first.

"After a tough Game 2 personally, you want to come out and get rid of the bad taste," Gasol said.

Gasol played with five fouls for part of the fourth quarter and the entire overtime.

"He's a big reason why they were able to win," Budenholzer said.

Leonard scored 11 points in the second and Lowry added eight, but Pat Connaughton made two of Milwaukee's five 3-pointers as the Bucks closed the gap. The Raptors led 58-51 at halftime.

Toronto took a narrow 77-75 lead into the fourth.
