The local youth now have somewhere to cool down from the summer heat. The Big Spring YMCA is opening a splash area for the summer. The official ribbon cutting and unveiling took place this morning. "We have been working on this for the past month, and are excited to get it up and running," Dathan Jones, Big Spring YMCA Director, said. When news of the Russ McEwen Aquatic Center not opening - after a crane ran into the side of the facility earlier this year - this season was

Big Spring State Hospital to host Job Fair

Herald Staff Report

Grab your resume, dress to impress and head down to the Big Spring State Hospital Job Fair, July 10 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Texas Health and Human Services Commission's Big Spring State Hospital is hosting a job fair offering onsite interviews and help with applications, according to a press release issued.

The state hospital is looking to fill 145 positions. The facility is hiring for all positions including registered nurses, licensed vocational nurses and psychiatric nursing assistants.

"Our goal is to employ people who want not only to get hands-on experience in the mental health field, but also impact their patients' lives in a meaningful way. Whether in a direct-care or a support role, your contribution will make a difference in the lives of our patients," said Traci Phillips, Big Spring State Hospital Superintendent. "Our staff works hard to provide state-of-the-art care to people who need it, and Big Spring provides its employees a solid foundation in protecting the health, safety and well-being of Texans."

Cowboys and Heels Trade show set for next weekend

By ANNA GUTIERREZ
Staff Writer

The next Cowboys and Heels Trade Show is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, July 13 and 14. This trade show takes place at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

"We have 75 vendors who are participating at this show," says Dani Ramirez, one of the coordinators of Cowboys and Heels. "If you would still like to sign up to be a vendor, we can make room for you. Just go to our website, and all the steps are there on how to become a vendor."

If you haven't been to one of the Cowboys and Heels shows, come check it out next weekend. Admission is free, and everyone who attends is eligible for a door prize.

They have a little of everything including clothing, house décor, specialty food items, along with soaps, bath bombs and jewelry. There will be a gaming trailer set up for the kids; you can drop them off while you shop. There will be new food vendors at this event, as well.

"One of the things we like to do at every show is feature a local non-profit organization," says Ramirez. "At the last show, we had a contest to decorate cakes, and the proceeds from the sale of those cakes went to Happy Day Humane Society. We don't have a non-profit signed up for this next show, and we'd really like to get someone. So if you are a local non-profit and would like to set up a booth, go to our website to get all the information you need."

Mason Quinn Schlechte

It is with great sadness that we announce the passing of Mason Quinn Schlechte, Dec. 18, 1997 to June 28, 2019.

Mason was born in Silver Spring, Maryland, and spent all his school years in Kerrville, Texas. His senior year, he helped establish the Bark in the Park program. He was currently a senior business major at University of Texas Austin. He was active in the Tejas Club. He was also on the wakeboard team and was gearing up to join Texas 4000 on a cross-continent bike ride to raise money for cancer research. He will be dearly missed.

It seemed like Mason never met a stranger. Even during our recent trip in Spain, he'd start interacting with people and they would immediately love him.

He leaves his dad and mom, Warren and Kristie Schlechte; brothers, Braedon and Gabriel (and Katherine - Lubbock); grandparents, LeRoy and Joyce Schlechte (Kerrville), and Jerry and Katie Grimes (Big Spring, Texas). He also was cherished by his aunt, uncle and cousin, Matt, Sheri, and Megan Henry of the Woodlands and Denver, Colorado; and his uncle, Jerry Speight Grimes of Lubbock. He was important to countless other relatives and friends.

Services will be held at the First Presbyterian Church of Kerrville on Saturday, July 6 at 2 p.m.

Donations can be made in his name to First Presbyterian Church of Kerrville, youth program; Texas 4000 (Texas4000.org); or to one of the Tejas Club suicide awareness philanthropies (<https://endowments.giving.utexas.edu/brian-l-harlan-memorial-endowment/>; or utdirect.utexas.edu; select Student Affairs Office of the Vice President in the first box and CMHC - Suicide Prevention in the second box; or, The Trevor Project <https://give.thetrevorproject.org/give/63307/#!/donation/checkout>).

released, members of the YMCA board and staff decided an alternative was needed.

"The aquatic center was one of the activities that allowed the youth to get out and enjoy summer. With that option not in the equation this year, we wanted to make sure they had something to do to combat the heat and have some fun," Jones said.

The YMCA has set up a splash zone that will be available seven days a week throughout the rest of the summer. According to Jones, there are four large obstacle course inflatables and three smaller ones - designed for younger kids

- set up in the old skateboarding area, at the YMCA.

"We are going to offer a day pass for those who want to come out and enjoy the new water area," Jones said. "We are also looking at keeping the area open on weekends after school starts, as long as weather permits."

The new splash area will be available Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., Fridays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and Sunday from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

The splash area is open to all local youth, members and non-members, but Jones said children eight years of age and under need to be accompanied by an adult, for safety.

Something to think about...

RICHARD SCHNEBERGER

"Ask not what your country can do for you; ask what you can do for your country." With these famous words from his inaugural speech, John F. Kennedy attempted to shift the focus of an entire generation off of self and onto the service of others. This week, as we celebrate Independence Day, we are reminded again of how blessed we are to be citizens of the United States. We're also reminded of the costly sacrifices that have secured our freedom. However, if we are not careful, we can begin to take these blessings and our freedom for granted. Rather than overflowing with gratitude and motivated to serve, we can easily develop a selfish focus and an entitled attitude. The same shift can happen in our spiritual life as we begin to take for granted what God has done to spiritually set us free.

I love what N. T. Wright says, "When we learn to read the story of Jesus and see it as the story of the love of God, doing for us what we could not do for ourselves-that insight produces, again and again, a sense of astonished gratitude which is very near the heart of authentic Christian experience."

You see, at just the right time, when we were still powerless, Christ died for the ungodly. Very rarely will anyone die for a righteous person, though for a good person someone might possibly dare to die. But God demonstrates his own love for us in this: While we were still sinners, Christ died for us. ~ Romans 5:6-8 NIV

My prayer is that we would get a genuine glimpse of who God is and what God has done for us. I believe if we really understood who He is and what He has done that reality would radically transform our lives. "When we begin to glimpse the reality of God, the natural reaction is to worship him. Not to have that reaction is a fairly sure sign that we haven't yet really understood who he is or what he's done." ~ N. T. Wright

This week, as we celebrate the blessings and freedom that we enjoy, may our hearts overflow with gratitude and may we be inspired to live lives of extravagant grace and extreme generosity!

At the name Of Jesus

TOM SLOAN

"Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name: That at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; And that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father." Philippians 2:9-11

What do you think about when you hear the name of Jesus? Does His name bring you any comfort? Well, if you are a sinner in need of forgiveness, it will, because He came to seek and to save that which was lost.

When we understand the true meaning and consequences of sin, the name of Jesus stands out as the brightest and most valuable gem because God made Him to be sin for us, that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him.

Jesus performed healing miracles on Saturday because He is Lord of the sabbath, but He is not just Lord of the sabbath, He is Lord of the whole Law...every jot and tittle. He proved this by fulfilling the whole Law when on the cross He said, "It is finished."

The religious leaders of Jesus' day believed that He was speaking blasphemies when He forgave sinners their sins. They said, "Who can forgive sins but God only?" They were right because only God can forgive sins, but they were wrong for accusing Jesus of blasphemies because He is God and He cannot be God without being Lord. But Lord of what? Lord of the whole Law! And because Jesus is Lord of the whole Law, He has all authority and power to say, "Your sins are forgiven you."

Yes, we see God's power in many ways on this earth, but none can compare with His authority, power and willingness to forgive us our sins in the name of Jesus and for His sake.

SCOTUS to hear Montana case on school choice, religious liberty

By DEREK DRAPLIN

The Center Square Undefined

The U.S. Supreme Court will hear a wide-reaching Montana case dealing with school choice and the First Amendment.

The Supreme Court announced Friday that it will take up the case Espinoza v. Montana Department of Revenue, which is being litigated by the Institute for Justice, a libertarian public interest law firm.

The case stems from a scholarship program passed in 2015 by the Montana legislature that would give tax credits to those who donated to private scholarship organizations, which would then give scholarships to students in need who wanted to attend private schools.

The program allowed for scholarships to be used at private religious schools.

The Montana Department of Revenue, however, determined that the program violated the state constitution's "Blaine Amendment" because it allowed for scholarships to be used at religious schools.

The Montana Supreme Court backed the Department of Revenue's argument and later invalidated the scholarship program, leading to the lawsuit.

The Institute for Justice is representing several parents including Kendra Espinoza, a single mother who enrolled her kids in a private Christian school after public school wasn't a good fit.

Lower courts have been split on similar questions over school choice in the past, but Institute for Justice argues "that government may not – consistent with the federal Constitution – prohibit religious options in student-aid programs."

"Although the U.S. Supreme Court held that including religious options in educational choice programs is perfectly permissible under the federal Constitution, the lower courts have disagreed for decades about whether states may nevertheless exclude religious options in these programs," said Erica Smith, an attorney with the law firm. "We hope the Court will clarify that just as the government cannot force families participating in these programs to choose a religious school, the government also cannot ban these families from choosing a religious school. The First Amendment requires government neutrality, not hostility, toward religion."

IJ also said that the Blaine Amendment, which the Department of Revenue used to justify the religious school exclusion, "was designed to discriminate against Catholic schools and students at a time of widespread hostility toward Catholics."

Espinoza in a statement said she hoped the court rules in favor of school choice.

"The Montana Supreme Court's ruling hurts every Montana child who is counting on these scholarships," she said. "For the benefit of families across the state, and the nation, we hope the U.S. Supreme Court restores this program to families that need it to ensure their children have access to a good, safe and meaningful education."

Let Freedom Ring

Deep within each heart, there is the desire for freedom. It is breathed into the very soul of life. Even life begins because a baby fights for freedom. Those imprisoned, enslaved, and powerless know there is freedom available, and some have given their lives and sacred honor for freedom's dream.

God built freedom into every fiber of creation, and He meant for us to all be free and whole, but when my Lord Jesus bought freedom through the blood of His redemption, His cross stamped pardon on my very soul.

So, let freedom ring. Let's shout and sing it out, let freedom ring! Let freedom ring out to every soul in prison, to every lonely heart in despair. Let freedom ring to everyone whose heart is in pain, and whose mind is in dark despondency. Let freedom ring, for real freedom is available to all through Christ the Lord.

Yes, you can be free, and you can sing "let freedom ring."

"Free indeed. Free indeed. Thank God Almighty, I am free indeed." (Martin Luther King)

You are invited to join us each Sunday at 10:50 a.m. as we worship our Lord Jesus Christ. This Sunday, we will learn about FOCUS.

First Presbyterian Church

The Wednesday Lectionary Bible Study, led by Taylor Todd, will not meet this week because of the Pops in the Park event. The Chancel Choir will not rehearse during the month of July. During July, the choir members sit in the congregation.

Vicki McLean is in charge of Take Ten for this Sunday. Danny Kennemur was Lector last Sunday, and ushers were Paschal Odom, Lucy Odom, Jim Little, and Vicki McLean. Gabe Martinez, choir director/organist presented "Let There Be Peace on Earth" on the organ as the offertory.

The "Lunch Bunch" met at Hunan Chinese Restaurant this Thursday at 11:30 a.m. The next meeting place will be announced at the worship service Sunday.

Several members are planning to attend a Rockhounds baseball game in Midland on Tuesday, July 9. Anyone wishing to be a part of this group may call the church office for details.

The lectionary passages for the Fourth Sunday after Pentecost (or 14th Sunday in Ordinary Time) are II Kings 5:1-14; Psalm 30; Galatians 6:1-16; Luke 10:1-11, 16-20. Rev. Taylor Todd will deliver the sermon.

The congregation of First Presbyterian Church takes note that our national government is modeled after the government of the Presbyterian church, and wishes everyone a safe and happy Independence Day.

Please note that our worship service begins at 10:50 a.m. for announcements and parish concerns before our radio broadcast starts at 11.

If you cannot attend worship, you may listen in on KBST 1490 AM, beginning at 11 a.m. If you wish to have a printed bulletin for Sunday services, please call the church office at 263-4211. ## NazFamily Church

• Acts - The Spirit Unleashed

When a parent tells a child, "Go to bed!" the child knows exactly what to do. But, if a little boy responded to this command in the way that many respond to God's Word, he might say, "Mother told me to go to bed, but what she really means is that I'm tired and she doesn't want me to be tired, but I don't feel tired when I play video games. She just wants what is best for me and though she told me to go to bed, what she really means is to keep playing." We all know that this kind of response from a child will ultimately lead to - discipline. As Francis Chan once said, "When I tell my daughter 'Go clean your room' she doesn't come back two hours later and say 'I memorized what you said.'" If we want obedience from our children, then why do we think our Heavenly Father would expect anything different from His children? Don't miss next week as we continue our study of Acts and explore, What God Really Wants.

Become part of the family of First Baptist Church Sunday at 10:50 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. as they come together in grateful adoration of the Light of The World: Jesus Christ. Music Minister Alan Schantz will lead worshippers in a mix of both contemporary praise music and classic hymns of the faith. Pastor Mark Lindsey continues the summer sermon series titled "Choose Love" drawn from 1 Corinthians 13. Titled "Love Is Not Rude", the message is inspired by 1 Corinthians 13:5, and listeners will reflect on the truth that extending the love of Christ to others involves treating everyone with good manners, and extending kindness and respect equally-with impartial courtesy, and without favoritism or self-promotion. FBC now offers Deaf Interpretation in the morning service. If you need assistance accessing the sanctuary due to mobility issues, use the west circle drive, and someone will be glad to assist you inside and park your vehicle. If unable to attend, you may join the service through the live stream on the church website at fcbigspring.org. (Click on 'MORE' tab, then 'SERMONS').

At 9:30, Sunday school groups meet throughout the building with children gathering in the Good News Garage on the first floor, and teens, college students, and adults meeting in second floor classrooms. Greeters are available to help you find your class.

At 5 p.m., gather for a time of corporate prayer in the chapel. Evening worship service begins at 5:30 p.m. and offers the wonderful opportunity to prepare one's heart for the upcoming week. Pastor Mark continues the message series "Prayer: Seeking God With All Your Heart", and worshippers will continue this impactful journey to a more intimate communion with God. Don't miss the blessing!

"Every Member a Minister"-1 Peter 4:10

Reflection: *Spiritual Awakening in America

In the early 1740s, a young printer in Philadelphia reached an agreement with an itinerant preacher from England to print his sermons and journals. Historians say the agreement made Benjamin Franklin rich and George Whitefield famous. With Franklin's assistance in the printed word, Whitefield's preaching sparked a spiritual flame that ignited Colonial America. In his autobiography, Franklin noted he could not walk down the streets of Philadelphia in the evening without hearing families singing Christian hymns. Many credit the Great Awakening for creating the values that later produced American Independence.

BILL TINSLEY

At noon on September 23, 1857, a businessman named Jeremiah Lamphier waited for others to join him for prayer in a room on Fulton Street in New York. Six people showed up. The next week, 20 came; then 40. They started meeting daily. The crowd swelled to more than 3,000 following the financial panic of October 14. In less than six months, 10,000 businessmen were attending daily prayer meetings in New York. More than 10,000 came to faith in Philadelphia, 5,000 in Boston. At its peak, 50,000 people a week were professing faith in Christ. In Bethel, Connecticut, businesses closed for prayer. Led by laity and crossing denominational lines, the movement swept more than one million people to faith in Christ leading up to the Civil War.

During the Civil War, a little-known shoe salesman from Chicago ministered among the Union troops. Afterward, he gave up selling shoes to win souls. In the last half of the 19th century, Dwight L. Moody preached to over 100 million people in the United States and the U.K. On one occasion, more than 130,000 people assembled to hear him preach.

Following the Civil War, baseball became America's pass-time. A war orphan became one of the most popular players for the Chicago White Sox, arguably the fastest runner in the sport. After his conversion to Christ, Billy Sunday hit the "sawdust trail" and moved America with his passionate preaching. He is said to have drawn more press than WWI, and, like Moody before him, preached to more than 100 million people.

A tent was erected in Los Angeles in 1947 following WWII, and an unknown evangelist named Billy Graham was invited to preach. The three week revival stretched into eight and launched Graham's career. For the next 50 years, Billy Graham preached to over 210 million people in more than 185 countries. He became close friends with Martin Luther King, Jr. in the 1950s and supported the civil rights movement. Graham became a spiritual advisor and confidant to every president from Truman to Barak Obama.

But what about the 21st century? In an era dominated by violence, prejudice, corruption, rising rates of suicide and addiction, our generation seems to be adrift without a moral compass. Who will God raise up to help us discover the spiritual truths that guided the generations that went before us? Our world is desperate for men and women of personal and spiritual integrity who can lift our souls to heaven.

Each of us can make a difference. When Jesus came, John preached to huge crowds (John 1), but Anna prayed (Luke 2:36-38). As did Simeon (Luke 2:25-35). Every day, with every honest decision, with every generous action, with every kindness, every act of forgiveness, and every prayer, each of us can help save a lost and dying world.

Ryu dominates, Bellinger homers and Dodgers beat Padres 5-1

By BETH HARRIS

AP Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Dodgers notched their 60th victory of the season with their ninth straight home win.

And compared to the last couple days, this one seemed rather dull.

"I apologize for the lack of drama, theatrics at the end," manager Dave Roberts said with a smile.

Hyun-Jin Ryu tossed six scoreless innings and All-Star Cody Bellinger hit his 30th career run in a 5-1 defeat of the San Diego Padres on Thursday night.

The Dodgers had won their previous five home games in thrilling walk-offs, one short of the major league record set by the 2000 Kansas City Royals. Bellinger had the winning RBIs on Tuesday and Wednesday.

This one was strictly by the book.

Ryu (10-2) allowed three hits, struck out five and walked a season-high three to become the first Dodgers starter to win a game since June 21, when Walker Buehler struck out 16 in a 4-2 victory over Colorado. The South Korean left-hander had one or no walks in his first 16 starts.

"My last game didn't go so well so I tried to go full-throttle from the get-go," Ryu said through a translator, referring to a 13-9 loss at Colorado last week that was his lone poor outing of the season.

Ryu lowered his major league-leading ERA to 1.73 in his final appearance before starting for the National League in next week's All-Star game in Cleveland. His ERA is the sixth-best in franchise history entering the break.

"He was in complete control," Roberts said.

Ryu is even better at home, with a 7-0 mark and 0.85 ERA.

"He's been the best pitcher in the National League. You can see why," Padres manager Andy Green said. "He pitches on edges all day long. He mixes. He gets to 2-0 counts, he doesn't give in."

Bellinger homered leading off the sixth, sending a 2-2 pitch into right field to join Reggie Jackson, Mark McGwire and Willie Mays as All-Stars 23 or younger with 30 homers before the Players Break. Bellinger is the only Dodger to have done so.

"It doesn't matter who's throwing to him," Roberts said, "he's in such a good place."

Chris Taylor's sacrifice fly later in the inning extended the Dodgers' lead to 5-0.

The Padres dropped their fifth in a row, with JT Chargois striking out their final five batters to end the game.

"We put some grinds to the at-bats, we created some first-and-third scenarios, just couldn't deliver that big swing," Green said.

Dinelson Lamet (0-1) limited the Dodgers to two hits — including Max Muncy's 21st homer — through four innings of his season debut and first start since 2017.

But he found trouble in the fifth.

After Matt Beaty singled leading off, Lamet loaded the bases on back-to-back walks to Taylor and Russell Martin. Ryu struck out before Lamet hit Joc Pederson, scoring Beaty.

Alex Verdugo followed with a sacrifice fly to left field. Taylor tagged up and sprinted to the plate, swiping it with his left hand as he rolled over in beating the tag to make it 3-0.

Lamet missed all of last season after having Tommy John surgery. The right-hander gave up three runs and three hits in five innings, struck out seven and walked two.

"It was a really special moment," Lamet said through a translator, "especially after everything that I went through during the post-op process. It was great to get back out there."

The Padres' lone run came on Eric Hosmer's RBI single in the eighth.

TRAINER'S ROOM

Padres: OF Franchy Cordero won't return before Sept. 1. He's appeared in just nine games this season after sustaining an elbow injury in early April and a quadriceps injury during a rehab game in mid-June. ... Placed RHP Robert Stock on 10-day IL with right bicep strain retroactive to Wednesday. ... Recalled RHP Gerardo Reyes from Triple-A El Paso.

Dodgers: OF A.J. Pollock (right elbow inflammation) began a rehab assignment at Class A Rancho Cucamonga and will rejoin the team in Boston after the All-Star break.

WINNING ON THE FOURTH

The Dodgers have won six straight games on the Fourth of July, tied with Boston for the second-longest active winning streak on the holiday, trailing only Oakland with eight.

They also tied their longest Fourth of July streak set from 1960-64.

UP NEXT

Padres: LHP Eric Lauer (5-7, 4.22 ERA) is 3-0 with a career 1.46 ERA against the Dodgers. He won those three games last year, becoming the first Padres rookie to win three straight starts against any single divisional opponent since Jimmy Jones in 1987.

Dodgers: LHP Clayton Kershaw (7-2, 3.23) makes his last start before appearing in the All-Star Game. He is 19-6 with a 2.02 ERA in 36 career outings against the Padres, averaging 9.43 strikeouts per nine innings.

Revolution overcome weather delays, Revolution in 2-1 win

COMMERCE CITY, Colo. (AP) — Teal Bunbury scored his 50th MLS goal and the New England Revolution beat the Colorado Rapids 2-1 in a match that included three weather delays Thursday night.

The game was delayed for an hour before kickoff due to lightning in the area and had two more lightning delays lasting a total of more than two hours during the first half. The match ended 15 minutes after midnight, more than five hours after it was scheduled to start.

Bunbury opened the scoring in the eighth minute, chest trapping Edgar Castillo's cross and tucking a right-footed shot into the far corner. Juan Fernando Caicedo headed home Carles Gil's free kick to give the Revs (6-8-5) a 2-0 lead in the 52nd minute.

Diego Rubio pulled Colorado back within one in the 71st minute. The Revolution's Matt Turner made a diving save in the 89th minute to preserve the win and New England improved to 4-0-3 in its last seven games.

The Rapids (5-10-4) had their seven-game unbeaten streak snapped.

LA GALAXY 2, TORONTO FC 0

CARSON, Calif. (AP) — Zlatan Ibrahimovic scored twice, Efrain Alvarez had an assist in his first MLS start and the LA Galaxy beat Toronto FC.

The 17-year-old Alvarez curled in a wide cross that looped over the Toronto FC defense. Ibrahimovic headed it while jumping backward, finishing into the right side of the goal in the 75th minute.

Ibrahimovic made it 2-0 for the Galaxy (11-7-1) with his 13th goal of the season in the 89th minute. He settled Emil Cuello's cross and tapped it past Toronto FC goalkeeper Quentin Westberg. It was Cuello's first professional assist.

Toronto FC (6-8-5) had its best chance in the 52nd minute when Alejandro Pozuelo's shot was tipped over the bar by Galaxy goalkeeper David Bingham.

FC DALLAS 2, D.C. UNITED 0

FRISCO, Texas (AP) — Santiago Mosquera and Dominican Badji scored and FC Dallas beat 10-man D.C. United.

Mosquera opened the scoring in the sixth minute with his first goal of the season. Badji scored from close range off the rebound of Mosquera's saved attempt to make it 2-0 for FC Dallas (8-7-5) in the 65th minute.

Wayne Rooney was shown red for an airborne challenge from behind, but referee Nima Saghaei changed it to yellow in the 33rd minute after video review. D.C. United (8-5-7) went down a man in the 73rd when Luciano Acosta stepped on Paxton Pomykal.

D.C. United had a five-game unbeaten streak snapped.

Nationals look to stay hot versus Royals

A look at what's happening around the majors today:

ROLLING

The Washington Nationals go for their ninth win in 10 games when they host the Kansas City Royals in the opener of a weekend series. Washington has gone 26-10 since May 24 to move a season-high four games above .500 at 45-41. Anthony Rendon hit his 20th homer to lead the Nationals to a 5-2 victory over the last-place Marlins on Thursday, completing a three-game series sweep. Kansas City, another last-place club, has dropped four in a row and seven of eight overall. Brad Keller pitches for the Royals after he went 1-3 with a 4.76 ERA in six starts in June. Rookie right-hander Austin Voth gets the ball for the Nationals.

AT THE TROP

Brendan McKay makes his second career start when the Tampa Bay Rays host the New York Yankees in the second of a four-game series between the AL East's top two teams. McKay, one of baseball's top prospects, pitched six scoreless innings in a 5-2 victory over Texas in his major league debut Saturday. McKay, a two-way player, was selected by Tampa Bay with the fourth overall pick in the 2017 amateur draft. Masahiro Tanaka pitches for division-leading New York. Tanaka was hit hard in his last start against Boston in London, recording just two outs and allowing six runs and four hits.

WORTH WATCHING

Two of baseball's best are expected to face off when Houston Astros right-hander Justin Verlander pitches against Mike Trout and the Los Angeles Angels. Trout is batting just .132 (5 for 38) with two homers and 11 strikeouts against Verlander. But Trout, who turns 28 in August, is in the middle of another big year. Verlander is coming off a so-so June, going 2-1 with a 4.02 ERA in six starts for the AL West leaders. He is 13-9 with a 3.10 ERA in 26 career starts versus the Angels.

CLAYTON VS PADRES

Dodgers left-hander Clayton Kershaw struggled in a loss at Colorado on Saturday, but he gets to face one of his favorite opponents on this turn through the rotation. Kershaw is 19-6 with a 2.02 ERA in 36 career starts against San Diego. He went 1-0 with a 4.15 ERA in two May starts versus the Padres. Eric Lauer pitches for San Diego. The lefty is 3-0 with a 1.46 ERA in four career starts against the Dodgers.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). It's like your life is perfectly sized for certain manner of living and then when one thing changes -- a visit, travel, an event -- the basics of self-care go out the window. It's better when exercise and time to yourself is a higher priority.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Being satisfied doesn't always come naturally. Some find it easier than others. To get satisfied when you're not requires that you notice and allow yourself to be influenced by an entirely different set of factors.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21).

Getting comfortable around different types of people will be the challenge of the day. Only the most confident and classy take this on, as the easier thing is to avoid those who are different.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). The social lessons learned at an early age still apply. You can do it one of two ways. Either figure out who likes you and, if it's mutual, hang around that person. Or, you can figure out who you like first, which is the best way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). There are easy things to interpret

By HOLIDAY MATHIS

(most television and movies, typical design concepts, familiar faces) and then there are harder things (books, poetry, fine art and complicated people). All are completely worth it!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You prefer to bring the big picture into being through a certain mental evenness. This requires that you break large tasks down into small ones and then plot them out with a reasonable schedule over time.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Some of the three scariest words in the English language are, "Can we talk?" While it's fine to let loved ones know how you feel, today it's also safe to assume that your actions have told them already and will continue to do so.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (July 5). Tender loving care is an exchange that must be cultivated. You'll be brilliant at it this sort of give and take and will be rewarded with what can only occur with the pure joy that comes of people learning each other over time. A professional accolade in October will be followed by an opportunity to pivot toward your dreams. Virgo and Scorpio adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 8, 12, 1, 10 and 4.

WEEKEND LOVE FORECAST: ARIES: To live, as Will Rodgers suggested, "in such a way that you would not be ashamed to sell your parrot to the town gossip" is harder some weekends than others. TAURUS: The first understanding of an exchange is apparent. Deeper meaning will settle in over time. GEMINI: Knowing a lot about a person isn't the same thing as knowing a person. CANCER: No need to rush. It's richer when your experiences with a person add up slowly. LEO: An idea might be good, brilliant even, but if it's not right for you, it's not right. VIRGO: There's so much that can only happen when you trust other people. If you don't, figure out why not. LIBRA: Saying "no" to one experience is easier when you know what you're saying "yes" to instead. SCORPIO: You should be the one to make the plans. You do it the best! SAGITTARIUS: People who want to take a more important role in your life should have to prove themselves first. CAPRICORN: Somewhere in this hubbub, stop and ask, "Who is taking care of me?" AQUARIUS: You know just who to call when you need an influx of fun. So, what are you waiting for? PISCES: This inkling you're having about someone is dead right. Go forward in confidence.

Annie's Mailbox

Advice to Be Patient

Dear Annie: I just read the letter from "Missing My Son" and felt compelled to write a response. I, too, was in a bad marriage for 17 years. We only had one child, a son. I was trying to stay in the marriage for the sake of our son, but after many months of therapy, and the therapist making a comment that the longer our son remained in the volatile environment, the more likely he would be to treat women the same as I was being treated, I filed for divorce. Our son was 9.

My ex continued to treat me (and our son) horribly for the next nine years, until our son was headed to college. I made every attempt to be civil with my ex, as I didn't want to deal with his vengeful acts. Though my ex rarely saw our son after our divorce, our son put his dad on a pedestal. Mind you, my ex had been cheating on me for many years and eventually moved in with the lady a year after our divorce, but my son still idolized his dad.

I started dating a wonderful man a year after my divorce and married him 10 years later. My son never cared for him, and I discovered that my ex fed my son many lies about him. My son hated me for remarrying, refused to come to our "family only" small wedding, and did not speak to me for two years. I was devastated.

I stayed in touch with my prior marriage counselor, as he was excellent. He gave me confidence that my son would eventually come around, and the therapist was right. I was elated once my son finally started speaking to me again. I've been married for 10 years and my son calls me almost daily. We're very close, and I believe he finally realized I was the one who truly loved him and taught him valuable life lessons. I'm proud of all his accomplishments, especially becoming an architect, which he dreamed of as a child, and that I provided much love and encouragement to make him see he could reach his goals. (The only sad part is that he has insane student loans, but that's another matter.)

Please tell "Missing My Son" to be patient. I'll admit, I was a wreck during the two years my son didn't speak to me, as I had no other children. I prayed extensively during that time and feel blessed that our relationship has mended. I'll pray that her son will realize life is too short to punish his mother like this. If only I could talk to him, I'd attempt to make him understand the pain he's inflicting on the one who lovingly brought him into this world. -- Sending Prayers to Missing My Son

Dear Sending Prayers: Thank you for sharing your letter. Through therapy and your commitment to having a loving family, you did it. You didn't let your son's anger get in the way of your love for him. Instead, you allowed him to be angry over the divorce and were patient with him. Your patience and love paid off, as they usually do.

Send your questions for Annie Lane to dearannie@creators.com.

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker
Test your play

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Three Notrump, and North leads the six of spades. When you play the king from dummy, it wins the trick, South following with the four. How would you play the hand?

West: ♠Q 5 2, ♥A K 8, ♦A Q J 4, ♣J 10 9
East: ♠K 7, ♥Q 6 3, ♦10 9 8, ♣A K 8 6 3

2. You are declarer with the same hand at Three Notrump, but this time when you play dummy's king of spades, South wins with the ace and returns the ten. How would you play the hand?

1. In notrump, you usually try to develop tricks in your longest suit (in the present case, clubs), but that doesn't make it the right play in all cases. In this instance, the correct suit to play is diamonds, not clubs. At trick two, you should lead the ten of diamonds and let it ride if South follows low. Even if the ten loses to the king, you are assured of nine tricks consisting of one spade, three hearts, three diamonds and two clubs. North can't profitably return a spade, and you are home free whatever else he leads. Of course, if South has the king of diamonds, you will make at least 10 tricks.

tricks by repeating the finesse. If you were to tackle clubs instead of diamonds and South had the guarded queen, you could go down after South returned a spade through your queen.

2. The situation changes completely if South wins the first trick with the ace and returns the ten. Instead of South being the player to whom you're afraid to lose the lead, North becomes the player you fear most. He presumably has the spade length (most likely five of them) and can therefore set you if he gains the lead after the spades become established.

Accordingly, you should duck the ten of spades at trick two and win the next spade with the queen. Now you can safely lead the jack of clubs and finesse. If South wins with the queen and returns a diamond, you rise with the ace and collect nine tricks — four clubs, three hearts, a spade and a diamond. There is no need to get greedy by taking a diamond finesse. You might wake up in the hospital if partner is the excitable type.

If South should happen to have a spade to return after taking the queen of clubs, you needn't be concerned. In that case, the opposing spades were originally divided 4-4, and the defenders can't score more than four tricks.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
