Big Spring Airport celebrated 90 years

This past weekend the Big Spring Airport celebrated 90 years in Big Spring. The anniversary ceremony took place, during the annual Prairie Dog Fly In on Saturday. Pilots, community members, and Airpark board members gathered together to commemorate memories made over the past 90 years. Pictured above left: the Prairie Dog Fly in weekend kicked off with a screening of the movie “Planes”; pictured above right: pilots and community members discuss memories at the airpark.

For 90 years aviation has been thriving in Howard County. From a municipal airport, to commercial flights, to a military base, to hosting national hang glider competitions, the McMahon-Wrinkle Airpark has seen it all.

This past weekend, the 13th annual Prairie Dog Fly in began with a screening of Disney’s “Planes.” This is the third year a movie has been offered to the public for free.

According to Airpark volunteers at the movie, there were about 60 people – a little more than 40 kids, a handful of teenagers, and their parents – who turned out for the movie night. In addition to being able to watch the movie, kids were able to take part in a photo op and “become a pilot” by taking a photo on a miniature plane; the Big Spring Fire Department was on hand allowing the kids to see a fire truck and an ambulance first hand. There was even an opportunity for the attendees to see the inside of an airplane. Several door prizes were handed out before the movie started.

A collision occurred at Fourth and Owens about 5:10 p.m. Monday, and Big Spring police officers and firefighters were summoned to the scene. The accident caused traffic to be diverted for a short while. No information about injuries was immediately available.

Breaking ground for CASA

By AMANDA DUFORAT

Managing Editor

A long-awaited project for CASA (Court Appointed Special Advocate) of West Texas will be breaking ground Wednesday at 10 a.m. Construction will begin on the new Big Spring location, with construction estimated to last about three months, according to CASA Volunteer Recruitment and Marketing Specialist Hope Stalder.

“In our seven-county service area, Howard County is the second largest county we serve. Our organization provided advocacy to 130 children last year in Howard County alone,” Stalder said.

She continued, “We need a strong presence in this community for these victims. This facility will provide that, along with adequate space so our volunteers and staff can provide quality advocacy for these children who desperately need us.”

CASA received a land donation earlier this year and began fundraising efforts to help fund the project. Over the past few months, several meet-and-greets, participation in Alive After 5s and other campaign awareness events have taken place. Star Dodge has been a big partner in helping raise awareness to this new facility, and the dedication from numerous volunteer and staff members is finally paying off.

“To have a facility in Howard County is an amazing achievement for CASA of West Texas, and for the victims of child abuse and neglect. We are so thrilled to finally break ground,” Stalder said. “We encourage the community to come out and support CASA and youth in foster care.

The groundbreaking ceremony will begin with a blessing and then the first official piece of dirt will be unearthed to begin construction. There will be

Margaret Hull

Margaret Hull, formally of Fredericksburg, Texas, died Oct. 2, 2019, in Granbury, Texas, from complications of Parkinson's disease. She was 93 years old but had been active until the last few years.

Born in Abilene, Texas, Jan. 14, 1926, Margaret was the daughter of John Paul Price and Ruth Carr Price. She attended high school in Big Spring, Texas, where she met and married Raymond Hamby on Dec. 14, 1941, in the parsonage of the Methodist Church at Colorado City, Texas. He preceded her in death from a tractor accident in 1975, when Margaret became the matriarch and leader of the Hamby family. She also was preceded by her parents; a sister, Mary Francis Johnson of Midland, Texas; a brother, John Price of Big Spring; and her second husband, Ted Hull of Big Spring.

She is survived by two sons, Ronald Hamby and wife, Kathryn of Rockport, Texas, and Ken Hamby and wife, Marcia of The Woodlands; daughter, Regina Riemondi and husband, Dan of Granbury, Texas; stepson, Danny Hull of Cortez, Colorado; sister, Eleanor Roberts of Longview, Texas; numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren; one great-great-grandson; and many nieces and nephews.

After being a homemaker and stay-at-home mom for over 20 years, Margaret took a new path when she bought and managed very successfully for 15 years a women's ready-to-wear shop in Big Spring, eventually opening a second store. She moved closer to her son in Fredericksburg, Texas, in 2003, where she was active in the Methodist Church, Red Hat Club, Pedernales Creative Arts Association, Oktober Fest, and a volunteer at Hill Country Hospital. She went to the Granbury area two years ago to be closer to family.

A small memorial service will be held in Fredericksburg at the United Methodist Church at 2 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 10, 2019. The family would appreciate in lieu of flowers that memorial gifts go to either Fredericksburg United Methodist Church; Michael J. Fox Parkinson's Foundation <http://michaeljfox.org/Donate>, or your favorite charity.

Saturday morning the festivities continued with the Fly In Breakfast, which brought in pilots from around the area. Community members, board members and pilots gathered together to reminisce through the 90 years of history built at McMahan - Wrinkle Airpark.

Colonel Jim Little, Director of the Airpark, presented a brief history of the airpark, as part of a semi-formal anniversary ceremony.

"Back in 1911 time frame, planes were flying in and out of here. Planes like to land here," Col. Little said.

Sept. 11, 1929, is the day the city of Big Spring celebrates the founding day of the airpark, but that was not the beginning of aviation in Big Spring, ac-ording to Col. Little.

"Before the base was here, before the airpark as you see it today was here, there were a number of landing strips, so the planes that came in would use those," he said.

According to Col. Little, Big Spring was actually a center of aviation.

"Big Spring was the crossroads, the crossroads of aviation, but the crossroads of a lot of other things," he said.

For the original opening, 15,000 people came out to see the first airplanes come through.

The celebration of the airpark concluded with cake, punch and the take off of numerous planes.

light refreshments offered after the ceremony concludes.

"CASA will continue to recruit, train, and support volunteers who advocate for youth in foster care in Howard County. This facility will allow us to enhance our current services to youth and to our volunteers with the hope of recruiting more volunteers, offering additional training at this facility and hosting meetings to better engage family members currently involved in cases," she said.

Stalder continued, "There are many ways you can support CASA; children are always desperate for more volunteers, and donations are appreciated. Having the community help us spread the word in any way is also always an incredible way to help our organization."

The community is invited to attend the groundbreaking event at the corner of Scurry and 19th.

Coahoma ISD staff took part in a Stop the Bleed training, last week, as a way to be better prepared in the unexpected situation of an active shooter or other act of mass violence. The course was a joint effort presentation between Regional Advisory Council (RAC), Big Spring Fire Department, Scenic Mountain Medical Center and Air Evac. Staff learned ways to effectively and efficiently stop a bleed

Thousands of free trees available to Oncor customers

MIDLAND-ODESSA – For the eighth consecutive year, Oncor is partnering with the Arbor Day Foundation's Energy-Saving Trees Program to give away more than 8,000 free trees to Oncor customers. Oncor customers can receive up to two free trees per household now through Nov. 1 by visiting arborday.org/oncor. The between one-and-three foot trees will be delivered directly to customers this fall.

Oncor customers in the Midland-Odessa area also have the opportunity to instead receive up to two five-gallon trees, which will be available for pick-up Nov. 2 and Nov. 9 at the Oncor Electric Delivery Odessa Service Center.

"Oncor customers and team members look forward to this partnership every year, and we are thrilled to join the Arbor Day Foundation in announcing the start of 2019's Energy-Saving Trees Program," said Gus Ortega, Oncor Area Manager for Oncor. "By giving away and helping to plant more than 8,000 free trees, we are all working together to celebrate energy conservation, environmental stewardship and a reduction in household electricity bills across the state."

The online tool at arborday.org/oncor will allow customers to reserve their free trees, identify the safest and most strategic location for planting, and estimate annual energy savings once the tree matures. Customers will be required to submit their ESI ID to complete the online reservation process, which can be located on their electric bill or by contacting their Retail Electric Provider.

This program also supports the ongoing Time for Trees initiative, a commitment to planting 100 million trees in forests and communities worldwide by 2022, the 150th anniversary of Arbor Day. As part of this initiative, the Arbor Day Foundation has set a goal to inspire 5 million tree planters to join the movement by 2022. Oncor encourages customers to remember that trees and power lines don't mix, and that home and business owners should always avoid planting trees under power lines.

"The Time for Trees initiative is an important step in protecting the necessities of life, but we can't do it alone. We're thrilled to partner with Oncor who has committed to drive change through the Energy Savings Tree program."

Bulldogettes take District Match in three sets

By STEVE BELVIN

HERALD Contributing Writer

It took a while for the Coahoma Bulldogettes to warm up, but once they did it was full steam ahead as Coahoma defeated the Colorado City Lady Wolves 25-23, 25-13, 25-13 Saturday afternoon at Bulldog Gym.

In doing so Coahoma recorded their first district win in two tries and Colorado City's league mark falls to 1-2.

Coahoma battled back into the game as hitters Kira Kimball and Mckynlee Overton started to take control thanks to the setting of Zoie Joslin the lead was cut Coahoma finally tied the game at 17-17 with three Joslin service points. Coahoma shed its lead to 24-20 and then Colorado City got to within 24-23 via two big points by Evyn Alvarez.

Coahoma ended the game when Joslin set Julia Cox for a kill on the final point of the game. In fact Cox who had some timely kills throughout the game, also ended game two with a kill shot and ended game three with a service point.

Coahoma coach Jamie Bonner said her team's opening act was not pleasing. "At the first our set and serve was bad," she said. "We came into the game expecting to win. We hustled after every ball, played physical and executed."

The catalyst for the execution was Joslin. Only a freshman, she directed the Coahoma attack with her good sets "We play a 5-1 (offense) and she is our setter. She's made a great adjustment from the eighth grade last year to the varsity this year. The game is so much faster in high school," Bonner said.

Games two and three were no contest as Coahoma continued to pound away at the Lady Wolves' defense. Caitlyn Corley go into the action and Colorado City had no answer.

Kimball and Corley led Coahoma with eight blocks apiece while Overton had seven kills. Kimball led Coahoma with six blocks. "When we get a good pass and a good serve we're all right," Bonner said. "I told them just to play our game and we'll control the tempo."

Coahoma, 9-11 for the season will be action today in Coleman at 6:30 p.m. Colorado City will play in Jim Ned Saturday at 12 noon.

Rays pummel Greinke, Morton clutch vs Astros to win Game 3

By FRED GOODALL

AP Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Charlie Morton to the rescue, again.

Kevin Kiermaier hit a go-ahead, three-run homer as Tampa Bay teed off on Zack Greinke, and the Rays got another clutch playoff performance from Morton to beat the Houston Astros 10-3 Monday and cut their AL Division Series deficit to 2-1.

Facing the team he helped win the World Series two years ago, Morton allowed one run and three hits while striking out nine over five innings. The 35-year-old right-hander is 4-0 with a 0.95 ERA in four career elimination starts, including last week's wild-card win at Oakland.

"It's just what Charlie's done all year," manager Kevin Cash said. "He's got that knack for doing some special things for us, and he did it again."

Astros manager AJ Hinch announced after the game that Houston will start Justin Verlander on three days of rest in Game 4 of the best-of-five matchup at Tropicana Field on Tuesday. Tampa Bay will use Diego Castillo as an opener.

"He's one of the best pitchers in the world. No more complicated than that," Hinch said of Verlander. "He's ready, and it's his game."

The series winner advances to the AL Championship Series against the New York Yankees, who finished a three-game sweep of Minnesota in the other ALDS on Monday night.

Kiermaier got the wild-card Rays going with his long home run in the second inning. Ji-Man Choi and Brandon Lowe added solo shots off Greinke, who has never won at Tampa Bay, and Willy Adames added a solo drive against Wade Miley in the sixth.

Tampa Bay's four home runs matched a franchise record for a postseason game. The Rays also went deep four times against the Boston Red Sox during the 2008 AL Championship Series and did it again during last week's 5-1 wild-card victory against the Athletics.

"For us to put three runs on the board, that felt great. That was huge for us," Kiermaier said. "After that, it's just, 'Hey, Charlie Morton, go do your thing, go do what you do.' And he did just that."

Jose Altuve homered for the Astros, who are one victory from their third straight appearance in the ALCS, and had two of Houston's three hits off Morton. It was Altuve's 10th career postseason home run, tied with Chase Utley for the most by a second baseman in major league history.

Morton, who won 29 games for Houston over two seasons before joining the Rays as a free agent last offseason, departed with an 8-1 lead. Four relievers finished the combined seven-hitter for the Rays, who have never been swept in a playoff series.

Now, they must avoid being "Verlander-ed" — a term coined by Cash after the series opener — in Game 4.

"He's tough. We've got to enjoy what we accomplished today and certainly hope we can have better at-bats, production, get something going against him," Cash said. "We'll worry about that (Tuesday). Right now, the guys are pretty pumped about what they just did tonight."

Verlander, who pitched seven scoreless innings to win Game 1, has only started on fewer than the standard four days of rest once. That was in the 2011 ALDS, when his first appearance was limited

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Venus Transformation

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Acting honorably is different from simply operating within the expected rules. Honor has more to do with claiming a code you can personally get behind and living by it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). There's a lot to overcome on the mission to connect with and impress others today. For starters, it's pretty easy to say what you don't mean or hear something other than what the other person intended.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). What good can your talents do for you if you don't know what they are? Explore. Try different activities. You'll be surprised at what you have a natural knack for.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Nearly all people who've walked the Earth know the emotion of shame, as it's part of how humans keep one another in line. You hate to see someone shamed and will offer ways to save face and/or overcome shame with honor.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). One way that love comes through is when you notice that you miss someone. When you recognize the pangs of longing as a form of love, it will add a little sweetness to the bitterness.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You'll be punctual without a witness, virtuous without a reason, vigilant without a threat. You're not out to impress anyone. You do what you do because it makes you stronger, healthier and more self-reliant.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). If you didn't have an artistic eye, you wouldn't be drawn to beautiful things. If you're willing to experiment a bit, you'll soon find the right outlet to work through the raw material stirring in your mind and spirit.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

(OCT. 8). Little actions get big reactions over the next 10 weeks when the details of your work excite, inspire and influence. You can turn this into money. Build slowly, and test the integrity of every choice along the way. Ideal partners and investors will come along in May. Your family and network will grow. Capricorn and Aquarius adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 9, 30, 1, 11 and 28.

HALLOWEEN PAN-THEON: VAMPIRES:

As far as monsters and ghouls go, vampires showed up pretty late in the game. Tales of werewolves had been around for many centuries before stories of vampires took the stage. It wasn't until the Middle Ages that the blood-sucking undead started their rise to evil infamy. In the Middle Ages, the plague decimated entire towns, sometimes leaving bloody lesions on the mouths of the afflicted, which were taken as a sign of vampirism. Other diseases of the time had the symptom of sun sensitivity that blistered the skin, adding to the certainty that vampires were real.

Perhaps the most famous vampire was very real indeed. The 15th-century Romanian ruler Vlad III Dracula (of Transylvania, of course) was known for many vampiric behaviors including impaling his enemies with wooden stakes and dining with the dying, dipping his bread in their blood.

To be alive is to dance in the sun. Those who can't are a threat if they decide to leech onto the vitality of others. The vampire legends represent our fear, fascination and fight with death and our quest to hold onto vitality, which, like blood, is a finite resource.

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

Declarer's role bears a strong resemblance to that of a detective trying to solve a murder mystery in that there are nearly always clues to rely on from either the bidding or the play. Declarer is expected to examine those clues and then act on them as circumstances dictate.

Here is an example of good detective work. North-South's bidding was somewhat aggressive, but the final contract was a sound one.

The opening diamond lead was taken by dummy's ace, and the jack of spades was finessed, losing to West's queen. Declarer ruffed the next diamond and then led the king of spades to East's ace.

Back came a diamond, ruffed by South, who drew East's last trump and played the king of clubs. East won with the ace and returned his last diamond, declarer ruffing with his last trump.

By now, South had lost two spades and a club and had to win the remaining five tricks to make the contract. He started by cashing the A-K of hearts, then played the jack of clubs followed by the four. After East produced the six, declarer, whose last two cards were the Q-8 of clubs, had to decide which one to play.

The fate of the contract hinged entirely on this decision. Essentially, South had to determine whether East's last card was more likely to be a club or a heart.

East had played the jack of hearts on the second heart lead, so, assuming that East's jack play was on the level, his remaining card had to be either the ten of clubs or queen of hearts.

South concluded that it could not be the queen of hearts. East had already shown up with two aces, a king and a jack. Had he also held the queen of hearts, he surely would have opened the bidding at his first turn. South therefore finessed the eight of clubs and so made the contract.

Fun By The Numbers
Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ANSWER:

Hostile Husband Needs to Stop Animal Harassment

Dear Annie: I am 28 years old, and recently celebrated my second wedding anniversary. I have been with my husband, Tom, for a total of five years, but due to immigration trials and tribulations, we have only been living together full time for two-and-a-half years (first in the United States and now in the United Kingdom).

My issue is my husband's relationship with my beloved 9-year-old cat, Whiskers.

When Tom first began to visit me, prior to our engagement, and then live with me in the United States, he had no issue with Whiskers -- loving him and accompanying him outside into the garden when we had a short-fenced yard at a rental property and Whiskers was not allowed outside alone. This continued until about a year ago, when Tom began to dislike Whiskers.

It started with purring. Whiskers is large and loud, and his purring is certainly noticeable, but I have always thought of this as a "happy noise." Now, Tom will leave the room in a huff if Whiskers starts purring, and he is not allowed on the bed, even though the dogs are when we are not sleeping. My husband is hostile toward the cat, and I have confronted Tom about my suspicions that he is abusive toward Whiskers when I am not around. The cat now avoids him and will run upstairs when Tom gets home. He has denied it, but his actions when he thinks I am not looking make me disbelieve him. I received Whiskers as a kitten from my mother when my 5-month-old daughter passed away suddenly and I was in the depths of the darkest grief, desperately needing something to take care of. Whiskers means the world to me. To be frank, if Tom had acted this way toward Whiskers in the beginning, I would not have pursued a life with him.

I have told Tom how hurtful I find his treatment of Whiskers and reminded him of how important that silly cat is to me. Nothing seems to make a difference.

Why is it so hard for him to love, or just pretend to tolerate, and be kind to this part of my life that is so important to me? Am I asking too much? What should I do? -- Depressed and Confused

Dear Depressed and Confused: It sounds like Tom might be jealous of your close relationship with sweet Whiskers, and he is acting horribly because of it. If he treats your innocent 9-year-old cat this way, I hate to think how he would treat other things that are important to you. You are certainly not asking too much of Tom. In fact, you are not asking enough.

The beginning is always the honeymoon phase, and it sounds like Tom was on his best behavior and pretending to like the cat. Now that you are married and he is feeling more comfortable, his true colors are showing. I am sorry to say this, but those colors are ugly. The fact that the cat runs away from him, and that you suspect abuse, is very telling.

I would speak firmly to Tom and say that you believe that he is hurting Whiskers. Plus, there is nothing silly about a cat. This animal has brought you great comfort during some of the saddest days of your life. Now you owe it to Whiskers to provide him comfort and safety. How someone treats animals says a lot about how they would treat children and other people.

Tom needs counseling for his treatment of Whiskers. The fact that he changed his behavior is even worse. If he is unwilling to go to therapy and talk about his aggressive behavior, seriously consider grabbing Whiskers -- and perhaps your other pets as well -- and walking out the door. Thank you for writing, and I hope your next husband respects all living creatures as much as you do.

Today in History

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 8, the 281st day of 2019. There are 84 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History: On Oct. 8, 1998, the House triggered an open-ended impeachment inquiry against President Bill Clinton in a momentous 258-176 vote; 31 Democrats joined majority Republicans in opening the way for nationally televised impeachment hearings.

On this date:

In 1871, the Great Chicago Fire erupted; fires also broke out in Peshtigo, Wisconsin, and in several communities in Michigan.

In 1934, Bruno Hauptmann was indicted by a grand jury in New Jersey for murder in the death of the kidnapped son of Charles and Anne Morrow Lindbergh.

In 1944, "The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet," starring Ozzie and Harriet Nelson, made its debut on C-B-S Radio.

In 1945, President Harry S. Truman told a press conference in Tiptonville, Tennessee, that the secret scientific knowledge behind the atomic bomb would be shared only with Britain and Canada.

In 1956, Don Larsen pitched the only perfect game in a World Series to date as the New York Yankees beat the Brooklyn Dodgers in Game 5, 2-0.

In 1982, all labor organizations in Poland, including Solidarity, were banned.

In 1985, the hijackers of the Italian cruise ship Achille Lauro (ah-KEE'-leh LOW'-roh) killed American passenger Leon Klinghoffer, who was in a wheelchair, and threw his body overboard.

In 1997, Scientists reported the Mars Pathfinder had yielded what could be the strongest evidence yet that Mars might once have been hospitable to life.

In 2002, A federal judge approved President George W. Bush's request to reopen West Coast ports, ending a 10-day labor lockout that was costing the U.S. economy an estimated $1 to $2 billion a day.

In 2004, thirty-four people, most of them Israelis, were killed when suicide bombers blew up the Tabá Hilton Hotel in Egypt.

In 2005, a magnitude 7.6 earthquake flattened villages on the Pakistan-India border, killing an estimated 86,000 people.

In 2017, Harvey Weinstein was fired from The Weinstein Company amid allegations that he was responsible for decades of sexual harassment against actresses and employees. Vice President Mike Pence left the 49ers-Colts game in Indianapolis lis after about a dozen San Francisco players took a knee during the national anthem.

Ten years ago: An Arizona sweat lodge ceremony turned deadly as some participants became ill and collapsed inside the 415-square-foot structure; three died. (Motivational speaker James Arthur Ray, who led the ceremony, was convicted in 2011 of three counts of negligent homicide and served 20 months in prison.) A powerful car bomb exploded outside the Indian Embassy in Kabul, killing 17 people. Romanian-born German writer Herta Mueller won the Nobel Prize in literature.

Five years ago: President Barack Obama told top military commanders at the Pentagon that he was confident the U.S. would keep making progress in its fight against the Islamic State group. Thomas Eric Duncan, a Liberian man who was the first person diagnosed with Ebola in the United States, died at Texas Health Presbyterian Hospital Dallas 10 days after being admitted. U.S. researchers Eric Betzig and William Moerner and German scientist Stefan Hell were named recipients of the Nobel Prize for chemistry for giving optical microscopes much sharper vision than was thought possible.

One year ago: President Donald Trump said he had no plans to fire Deputy Attorney General Rod Rosenstein. The Nobel Prize in economics was awarded to American researchers William Nordhaus of Yale University and Paul Romer of New York University; Nordhaus was honored for his work on the economics of climate change, and Romer had produced research showing how governments can advance innovation. The New York Yankees lost by the largest margin in the team's long post-season history, 16-1, to the Boston Red Sox; Boston's Brock Holt became the first player ever to hit a single, double, triple and home run in the same post-season game. New Orleans Saints quarterback Drew Brees became the NFL's all-time leader in yards passing during a 43-19 win over the Washington Redskins.

49ers stay perfect, dominate Mayfield, Browns in 31-3 win

By MICHAEL WAGAMAN

Associated Press

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP) — Richard Sherman has a strong message for anyone still doubting the unbeaten San Francisco 49ers.

"Don't flip-flop," Sherman said after the 49ers thumped the Cleveland Browns 31-3 on Monday night. "If you said we weren't going to make it, you said we were some way early on, stick with that position. Hold it. Don't try to give us credit now. At least stick by your word because I want you to sound like an idiot at the end. We know what we have in the building."

What the 49ers have is their best start since Joe Montana was throwing touchdowns to Jerry Rice.

But it wasn't the passing game that carried San Francisco past Cleveland. A steady, pounding running game and a dominant defensive effort did the trick this time.

Matt Breida ran 83 yards for a touchdown on San Francisco's first play from scrimmage, Baker Mayfield was harassed into his worst game as a pro, and the 49ers stayed unbeaten for their best start in nearly 30 years.

Even then, there were some questioning San Francisco's legitimacy.

"I feel like they're going to say that all year about us," said Breida, who had 114 yards on 11 carries. "I don't think anyone expected us to be 4-0 this year, to be honest. Probably expected us to be 0-4. They can say whatever they want. All that matters is who's in this locker room."

Tevin Coleman added a 19-yard score as part of a dominant ground game on a day when quarterback

Jimmy Garoppolo passed for 181 yards and kicker Robbie Gould missed a pair of field goal attempts and had a third try blocked.

San Francisco (4-0) joined the 5-0 New England Patriots as the only remaining undefeated teams in the NFL. It's the first time the 49ers have won their first four games since 1990.

"It's a good start is really all it is," Garoppolo said. "We have a good mindset in that locker room."

The Browns (2-3) are headed the opposite direction after losing two of three, with fresh concerns about their young quarterback.

"You can't have mistakes. You can't have turnovers. You can't have drops. You can't have penalties," Cleveland coach Freddie Kitchens said. "Offensively, that kind of summed us up. We just shot ourselves in the foot too many times."

Mayfield had a horrible game. The No. 1 overall pick last year, Mayfield completed 8 of 22 passes for a career-low 100 yards, had a 13.4 passer rating, threw two interceptions, fumbled twice and was sacked four times before being pulled in the fourth quarter.

It's the first time in Mayfield's 18 career starts that he failed to throw a touchdown pass.

"It was like one step forward, two back," Mayfield said. "No rhythm for the offense to get into. And when we did, we just got down in the red zone and didn't finish. The inconsistency is killing us right now."

Things were rough all around for Mayfield. San Francisco defensive end Nick Bosa poked fun at the Browns quarterback after forcing Mayfield into a hurried incompleteness in the second quarter. Bosa, the second overall draft pick, got up and pretended to wave a flag and plant it in the turf as the crowd roared. It was a clear shot at Mayfield, who planted an Oklahoma flag in the turf after leading the Sooners to win over Bosa and Ohio State in 2017.

"I think everybody knows what that was for," Bosa said. "Just wanted to get payback. He had it coming."

San Francisco forced four turnovers overall. The 49ers were coming off a bye and had two weeks to prepare, while the Browns flew cross-country.

It showed. Breida raced past the Browns' front line and went untouched on his long touchdown run, waving to safety Demarious Randall as he sprinted into the end zone with the 49ers' longest run of the season.

Fans at Levi's Stadium barely settled back into their seats when Sherman picked off Mayfield near midfield, setting a rough tone for Cleveland's second-year quarterback.

Breida and Coleman combined for 211 rushing yards as San Francisco outgained Cleveland 275-102 on the ground.

"It's something you always want to do as a coach," 49ers coach Kyle Shanahan said. "It's the easiest way to win. You play real good defense and you can run the ball, that takes some pressure off a lot of people and doesn't put you in a lot of risky situations."

to one inning by rain.

"The thought process is five-game series are pretty crazy and we've got to win. Never know what can happen," Verlander said. "You can't put all your eggs in one basket and say if we lose tomorrow, we've got Justin and Gerrit (Cole) for Game 5. It's a crazy game."

The Astros won the first two games with a pair of dominating pitching performances from Verlander and Cole, who combined to limit the Rays to one unearned run and five hits with 23 strikeouts over 14 2/3 innings. Houston's other pitchers have allowed 12 earned runs in 11 1/3 innings, an ERA of 9.53.

With Morton on the mound, and returning home for the first playoff game at Tropicana Field in six years, the Rays were confident they would find a way to get back into the series against Greinke, an 18-game winner who was 8-1 with a 3.02 in 10 starts after being acquired from Arizona at the trade deadline.

Kiermaier's homer to right-center whipped a crowd of 32,251 waving bright yellow rally towels — more than twice the 14,734 the Rays averaged during the regular season — into a frenzy. The party continued when Choi homered with two outs in the third and Lowe led off the fourth with an opposite-field shot that made it 5-1.

Morton, meanwhile, remained perfect in potential postseason elimination games, including a pair of Game 7 victories during Houston's 2017 World Series run. He shrugged off yielding Altuve's homer and throwing 31 pitches in the first inning to hold the Astros' potent lineup in check while his offense was building a comfortable lead.

"I've seen this out of Charlie," Hinch said. "When you get him early, get some opportunities early, you have to maximize them if you can. Same thing he did in the wild-card game. He settled in nicely and got them through five innings."

GREINKE'S STRUGGLES

In six career regular season appearances at Tropicana Field, including five starts, Greinke is 0-4 with a 4.45 ERA. His start Monday was his first at the domed stadium since May 2, 2010, when he was a member of the Kansas City Royals. Including Monday, he's allowed eight homers in 36 innings.

Greinke was pulled after 61 pitches, and his ERA over 12 career postseason starts rose to 4.58.

HOMER STREAK

The Astros have homered in 28 consecutive games, including the first three of the ALDS. It's the second-longest streak in major league history. The New York Yankees homered in 31 straight games from May 26 to June 30 of this season.

UP NEXT

Cash plans to play matchups with his bullpen after Castillo in Game 4.
